Approval, Values, Pay Not Firm

Service families living in inadequate Government housing at the Presidio and its sub-posts will have to wait for a while before they receive cash settlements for the difference between fair rental value of their below-par quarters and the housing allowance to which they would be entitled if they lived off post.

Such payments, retroactive to 1 January or subsequent date prior to 1 July on which individuals concerned may have occupied the quarters, can not be made until the fair rental values are established by the District Engineer, San Francisco.

Establishment of such values is contingent upon approval of the quarters as sub-standard by Department of the Army; to date, DA has only given the "go-ahead" on four sets of quarters at Presidio, 40 at Fort Cronkhite, and 24 at Fort Barry.

When fair rental values have been determined, occupants will be so notified and paid.

However, the bulk of dwellings here believed to be sub-standard were reported this week to DA and approval is expected in the near future.

Colonel Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer, Presidio, yesterday advised personnel who live on post NOT to contact the local Billeting or Finance Offices in regard to whether their quarters are inadequate or when they will be paid. They will be notified, he said, as soon as such information becomes available.

All payments will be based on DA Circular 35-49, 7 April 1958.

Under the law, announced three months ago, housing units declared sub-standard will be altered or improved, converted to other uses, or torn down by 1 July 1960. In the case of renovated quarters, the service family in residence will not receive a fair rental allowance as of the first day of the month following the month in which the alterations were completed.

New Retired Pay Effective On 1 June

Military personnel who retired this month will be officially relieved from assignment and duty as of 31 May and will have their retirement pay computed under the new pay bill which becomes effective 1 June.

Personnel who had retired previously, of course, will receive the new pay rate as of 1 June. Those who retire subsequent to the effective date of the new pay bill will be paid under the new bill.

According to finance officials at Sixth U.S. Army, there have been a number of requests by retired personnel for definitive information in regard to pay status of those individuals who retired in May.

No Force Outs!

The Army has announced that no involuntary release of reserve officers on active duty is anticipated during 1959, as the reduction of force will be accomplished by normal losses such as retirements, resignations, voluntary releases from active duty and deaths.

In Key Job

A former Army air defense commander for San Francisco, Col. D. A. Ranney, has been named acting deputy chief of staff for administration and logistics at Army Air Defense Command headquarters.

Boy Scouts get tips in marksmanship scoring from Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander, prior to the opening tomorrow of the Explorer Bivouac here. Tom Burke (with target rifle) and Burke Pease, shown with Colonel Rau, will be among the more than 300 Explorer Scouts to be billeted here during the three-day program.

Win Top Awards

Two officers from Battery C, 740th AAA Msl. Bn. last week received awards for meritorious service from 22 Jan 57 to 21 Jan 58 and because of C Battery's results at the annual Service Practice at Red Canyon Range, New Mexico.

CWO Donald P. Randolph, IFC Officer, received the Commendation Ribbon and Metal Pendant, while CWO Dale M. Flansburg, Missile Officer, was given the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Commendation Ribbon.

Presidio To Host Giant Explorer Scout Bivouac

Presidio will open its doors tomorrow to San Francisco Explorer Scouts when some 300 youngsters between the ages of 14 and 17 stage a three-day bivouac here.

Six barracks buildings and a special mess hall are being made ready to accommodate the Explorers; an aid station also will be available.

In an all-out effort to boost scouting activities, Presidio staff leaders are completing arrangements to make spare time as pleasant as possible for the boys.

A Saturday night dance, to tunes of a five-piece band, coupled with intermission movies and refreshments will highlight social activities. The dance will be held in Harmon Hall.

In addition, the Pest theater, service clubs, and PX will be open to the visitors. Gymnasium and swimming facilities at Letterman Army Hospital also have been earmarked for use by the Scouts.

To further marksmanship programs, the Scouts also will have access to the Presidio Indoor Rifle Range, the Skeet Range and the Pistol Range.

Sponsored by the San Francisco Council, the bivouac will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Official events have been scheduled for the Saturday session. They will include orienting, pioneering, field first aid and optional events such as marksmanship, safe driving, basketball free throw, trail tent pitching, bait casting and survival.

Religious services will be conducted Sunday morning; during the afternoon, Scouts will be treated to demonstrations of various types of aircraft.

In addition, Sunday afternoon also will feature a demonstration of safe driving by winners of the 90.3-mile driving test for Scouts to be held tomorrow along a pre-arranged route throughout San Francisco.

An Ear'y Bird . . .

As of 1 October 1958 male enlisted personnel will be required to own one each Army Green Uniform. Early selection and fitting of these uniforms at the Quartermaster Clothing Sales Stores is encouraged in order that the personnel may avoid a possible delay caused by a last minute rush to purchase the new uniform.

Newly Assigned

CWO Joseph F. Fouke was recently assigned to C Btry., 740th AAA Msl. Bn. (NIKE) at Sharp Park. He was formerly an instructor at the 1st Guided Missile Brigade at Fort Bliss, Texas.

40 Ed Experts Due At Area Conference Wednesday

Approximately 40 delegates from the eight Western states are expected here Wednesday to attend the third annual Sixth U.S. Army Educational Development Conference at Fort Scott Officers Club.

C. G. Schoenborn, Chief of Sixth Army G1 Education Branch, will serve as general chairman for the three-day conclave which closes Friday afternoon. The educators are slated to evaluate current scholastic programs within the Army area and determine what improvements might be required to afford educational opportunities commensurate with atomic age requirements to officers and enlisted men.

Highlight of the conference will be cocktails and dinner Wednesday night at Letterman Army Hospital Officers Club. Guest speaker will be Dr. David G. Schmidt, Chief Psychiatrist at San Quentin Prison, who will discuss "Personality Problems." Cocktails will be served at 1800; dinner will be at 1930.

Registration and administrative announcements Wednesday morning will be followed by a welcoming address by Col. J. G. Ondrick, Sixth Army Deputy Chief of Staff, and an outline of conference goals by Sixth Army Acting G1, Col. Richard J. Stillman.

"Trends of the Educational Development Program" will be analyzed by CONARC Senior Education Advisor Wilmot B. Jacobs, followed by a discussion of USAFI plans, policies and operations by Dr. Wilbur L. Brothers, Deputy USAFI Director.

The afternoon session will be

devoted to panel and general discussion on "Preparatory Instruction" and talks on the Army command management system by two representatives of the Sixth Army Comptroller: Bernard Kahn and A. D. Cooperstein.

Thursday's agenda calls for four sectional get-togethers to discuss a number of recommended topics, followed in the afternoon by a general report and a talk on the University of Omaha final semester plan by Frank D. Barnes, Education Coordinator at Fort Ord. The final session will concern counseling techniques.

Wrapping up the conference Friday, delegates again will split into groups, this time to discuss mutual problems, hold a general session, and learn more about USAFI services from Dr. Brothers. A final critique will close the conference.

Colorful Rites

Unknown Soldiers

"Here Rests In Honored Glory An American Soldier Known But to God." These words inscribed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier have for many years been the symbol of America's willingness to fight for the freedom it loves.

Soon, God will keep watch over two more "sleeping" soldiers as they "rest in honored glory" in Arlington National Cemetery.

Tomorrow ceremonies will be held in Washington, D. C., to honor the unknown servicemen of World War II and the Korean War.

Selection of a representative for the brave lads who died in the trans-European phase of World War II was made on May 12 at the Epinal American Cemetery and Memorial, Epinal, France.

Representing the trans-Pacific phase of World War II was a soldier chosen at Hickam Air Force Base, Honolulu, Hawaii, from among six men brought from Manila American Cemetery in the Philippine Islands and the National Cemetery of the Pacific in Honolulu.

The three soldiers "met" off the Virginia Capes and were put on the U.S.S. Canberra.

A Medal of Honor winner made the selection between the two World War II Unknowns and the soldier not selected will go to his final rest in the beautiful depths of the sea.

After bidding a last farewell to their companion, the two chosen ones made their journey "home" aboard the U.S.S. Blandy.

Tomorrow, after two days' lying in state, the soldiers will begin an hour and twenty minute long funeral procession to their places of honor in the Arlington Cemetery Amphitheater.

As a final tribute to not only these men, but all who have died for America, Taps will be played at the end of a half-hour funeral service.

"All is well, Safely rest, God is nigh, and Goodnight."

GB, US Atomic

Clocks Don't Agree

Efforts are currently under way to settle a difference of one part in slightly over a billion in British and American measurement standards.

The discrepancy of approximately one vibration per one billion vibrations exists in the radio comparison between "atomic clocks" in Great Britain and the United States which are based on the unvarying vibrations of the cesium atom and generally accepted as the most accurate standard available. In an attempt to close this gap, the U.S. Army Signal Engineering Laboratories at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, have shipped two cesium beam standards to Britain for comparison.

Known as the Atomichron, the atomic clock has a possible accuracy of one part in 10 billion and is used to measure frequencies and time intervals. It was discovered last summer that the frequency of radio signals controlled by the cesium standard at the National Physical Laboratory at Teddington, England, varied by nine parts in 10 billion from the frequency of similar equipment in the United States, or approximately 10 times the theoretical accuracy variation.

The atomichron, which in terms of time has an accuracy of one second per 300 years, is of tremendous importance to the Army Ballistic Missiles Agency at Huntsville, Alabama. One clock has been installed in the Agency's Guidance and Control Laboratory, which develops the uncannily precise systems which steer the Army's giant rockets in flight. Two others are used by the Missiles Firing Laboratory which launches the Army rockets from the Test Center at Cape Canaveral, Florida. They are capable of extremely accurate velocity measurements down-range during flights of the Redstone and Jupiter ballistic missiles.

Manufactured by the National Company of Melrose, Massachusetts, the device utilizes cesium atoms, whose resonance frequency never changes. By coupling a radio frequency source to the cesium atoms passing through a chamber, it becomes possible to "lock on" to the natural phenomenon instead of other standards that require periodic calibration.

Today's modern Army's twin emphasis on technical skills and ability to lead men constitutes the heart of the Army's long-range personnel objectives. These may be summed up in one word: QUALITY.

Vaccination against smallpox was introduced into the United States in 1800 by Dr. Benjamin Waterhouse, an Army surgeon.

As the firepower and mobility of Army weapons and equipment increase, the individual soldier becomes more, not less, important. He must have a higher performance potential than ever before.—(DA PAM 355-11)

New Finance Officer For Sixth U. S. Army

Colonel Ralph A. Devine, Post Comptroller from 17 Dec 1957 to 20 Feb 1958, has been named Sixth U.S. Army Finance and Accounting Officer.

Since joining the U. S. Army Air Corps as a 2nd Lt. 16 years ago, the 49-year-old Colonel has served as Finance Officer on several posts in Arizona and Europe.

Major postwar and Korea assignments he has held include Chief, Civilian Pay Roll Administration Division, Office, Chief of Finance, St. Louis, Missouri; Chief, Retained Accounts Division, Army Finance Center, St. Louis, Missouri; Comptroller, Frankfurt Military Post; and Chief, Finance and Accounting Division, Office of the Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.

The Colonel holds the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

A native of San Francisco, now residing with his wife Sarah in San Rafael, Colonel Devine attended the University of San Francisco, graduated from Stanford, and while in military service completed two years at Wharton School of Commerce and Finance in Pennsylvania.

$1930 In Cash Awards To Presidio Civilians

Department of the Army award certificates, along with $1,930, were presented this week to six Sixth U.S. Army headquarters and five Presidio of San Francisco civilian employees.

Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, presented Sixth Army awards, and Col. Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer, presented Presidio awards.

Mr. Joseph L. Nawrot, Adjutant General Section Mail and File Supervisor, received a superior performance award of $200, in addition to a suggestion award and $150. He suggested the "Use of a Single Form to Obtain Both Certificates of Transfer and Receipt for Registered Documents" which is now being used Armywide.

Comptroller Section winners were: Mr. Abner Kuperstein, Supervisor Management Analyst who received $200 for superior performance of his duties during the period 18 November, 1956, to 30 November, 1957; Miss Joan Cannon, clerk-stenographer, received $100 for superior performance of duties; Mr. Earl Reinke, Organization and Methods Examiner, received $25 for his suggested method of "Processing of ROTC Requirements for Qualification in Arms Course Badges" which has been adopted by the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics.

Chemical Section winner was Miss Vivian Hoffman, Administrative Assistant. She received $200 based on an "Outstanding" rating.

Mrs. Anita Koontz, Provost Marshal Section, received her award of $200 for carrying out her assignment as Clerk-Stenographer in a high degree of competence and dependability that far exceeds even the capabilities of an exceptional clerk-stenographer.

Mr. John H. Laster, Post Ordnance Heavy Duty Equipment Leader, received an additional award of $55 for "Redesign of Input Shifter Shaft."

Post Engineer Section personnel winners included: Mr. Emmett Dean, Maintenance Foreman, Plumbing, Heating and Steamfitting Unit, $200 for consistent superior performance of work; and

Mr. Frederick Fowler, Electrician Foreman, Utilities Division, $200 for his constant dependability and competence that far exceeds the capabilities and responsibilities of a foreman.

Mr. John Peters, Construction and Maintenance General Foreman, received $200. He has worked without an Executive Officer, and his actions and decisions during the period 1 January, 1957, through 1 January, 1958, have been 100% acceptable.

Mr. William Utis, Supervisor General Engineer, received $200. His judgments have proven to be correct without exception.

Mr. Hirouki Nakaji, Supervisory General Supply Officer, Sixth U.S. Army Transportation Section, received a check for $200 based on an "outstanding" rating.

General Palmer

On Memorial Day

"Ninety years ago, Gen. John A. Logan, Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued an order designating the 30th of May as a day when the graves of soldiers would be decorated. Since that day in 1868, when the memories of the Civil War were fresh and its veterans young, the 30th of May has been dedicated to honoring all the dead in our nation's wars, and all soldiers who lie at rest after lifetimes of military service.

Memorial Day is a recurring reminder of how profoundly personal is each American's stake in the survival of the United States. To us in the Sixth United States Army, it is both a reminder and a source of resolution.

We shall keep ourselves trained and ready at all times to defend our land and its people. We of today shall be perpetually alert to protect for our future generations, the freedom and greatness of the United States that our predecessors cherished, and for which they gave so much to secure."

Only Yesterday

Memory Was Hope

The trouble with Memorial Day is that it officially comes only once a year. Annually, the 30th of May, we stand over a grave, or we look at a photograph, and we think—now is the time to remember.

And we do remember. But it hurts. And as the days pass by, we repress the hurt, and the memory dims or disappears.

But is a memory so precious that we can only take it out of its jewelled box once a year? Must we preserve it, lest it become tarnished with use?

No.

A memory is a gift which, like a hope, becomes more priceless and more beautiful with each day it lives. It is not for us to ask why, nor is it for us to attempt an understanding.

But this much we must believe. That it is better to have a memory, than to have nothing. Our memories become stronger with each day that passes. A memory is a blessing. And for this, we are humbly thankful.

Kids Learn Fast, But

Daddy's Love Is Burning

Three-year-old Patsy Sue lay in convulsive agony—the smouldering victim of a cigarette . . . and carelessness.

Even her shrieks in terror couldn't blunt the terrible stench of scorched flesh. Mercifully, she died.

And so did 1300 other youngsters less than five years old—all killed last year in fire accidents.

You can kill your child, too. Here are the five best ways, according to statistics recently released by the City and County of San Francisco:

- Let him play near a fire, or with matches, so that his clothing will catch fire.
- Encourage him to play around the fireplace, or hot ashes, or hot stoves.
- Keep gasoline and kerosene where he can get at it easily.
- Make sure he stands near the stove when water is being boiled or greasy dishes are being fried; it helps to have these pots near the front of the stove where fumbling, inquisitive hands can upset them.
- Disregard faulty electrical appliances and wiring, and flick cigarettes and matches anywhere around the house.

Because only two youngsters have died in fires at the Presidio during the past seven years, we have to assume you love your child enough to keep a tight reign on fire hazards—especially in the home.

Those parents who want their children uncooked might well start a fire safety program in the home. Any youngster two years old, or older, can be taught the meaning of "hot" and learn respect for fire through harmless experience.

But, can the parents?

Presidians To Play Key Memorial Day Role

Recently Promoted M/Sgt. Pedro Tamayo, B Btry. 740th AAA Msl. Bn. (NIKE) receives congratulations from Lt. Col. C. P. Samson. Capt. Robert Monroe stands by with promotion orders. M/Sgt. Tamayo is in his 29th year of service.

QM Civilian Retires After Top Career

With a relaxed smile, Mr. Lisle L. Hickey, Administrative Officer, Sixth U.S. Army Quartermaster Section, said, "I'm just going to take it easy until I get thoroughly bored."

And so, on 31 May 1958 a 41-year civilian career with the Quartermaster Corps will end.

On the eve of his retirement, Mr. Hickey was awarded a Department of the Army Commendation for Meritorious Civilian Service by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commanding General at the Presidio of San Francisco. This is the second highest civilian award.

Mr. Hickey began his Federal service with the Western Department in San Francisco. In 1924 he came to the Quartermaster Section Ninth Corps Area at the Presidio. During World War II, when the headquarters was moved to Fort Douglas, Utah, and became the Ninth Service Command, Mr. Hickey was among the first group of employees to be transferred.

Supply Expert To Retire, Teach At SF College

Major General Henry R. McKenzie, Executive Director of the Military Subsistence Supply Agency, with headquarters in Chicago, will be reassigned to the Presidio 1 July for the purpose of retiring. He should arrive here 1 August.

A 29-year Army veteran, the West Point graduate expects to join the faculty of San Francisco State College in September as a professor in industrial management.

Succeeding Gen. McKenzie will be Maj. Gen. Hugh McKintosh who will report to his new assignment 1 August.

College Class Deadline Set; Ed Center Urges Early Call

Registration for classes at San Francisco State College ends Wednesday, 4 June. Personnel desiring to enroll in the following classes must either telephone the Army Education Center, Ext. 3189, or enroll in person at Bldg. 258.

The following classes will begin the week of 9 June:

• I.P. 122. International Politics (3 units)—Monday and Wednesday, 1830-2100. The international political process from the viewpoint of the national state. Identification of the major geographic and sociological phenomena which form the environment of world politics. Consideration of the differences between physical power and psychological power and studies of the transmutation of nationalism into internationalism under conditions of nuclear world

Army Commander To Give Two Addresses

Presidians tomorrow will pause with millions of other Americans to pay tribute to the men and women in uniform who have sacrificed their lives to preserve our freedom.

Memorial Day observance here will open at 1000 with a parade down Lombard Street, from Van Ness Avenue to the Presidio. Participating will be the Presidio Color Guard, the Fort Mason Band and marching members of various San Francisco veterans organizations. In addition, mobile missile displays from Sixth ARADCOM will augment the parade.

Following the parade, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, will address visitors at 1100 at the San Francisco National Cemetery. The ceremony, to be held at the Cenotaph, is sponsored by the Citizens' Committee for the Proper Observance of Memorial Day.

Other Presidio personnel who will actively participate at the graveside rites will be riflemen who will fire a commemorative volley, a color guard and the Sixth Army Band.

In addition, three Army chaplains will officiate at the invocation and prayer ceremonies: Lt. Col. Theodore E. Curtis, Presidio Chaplain; Lt. Col. Sylvester J. Baumgart, also of the Presidio Chaplain Section; and Maj. William Z. Dalin (Res.).

Tomorrow afternoon at 1500, Gen. Palmer will again be a guest speaker at Memorial Day observances. He will address San Franciscans at St. Mary's Square, Chinatown, during a program sponsored by the Joint Committee on War Memorial Services of the Cathay Post, American Legion, and the Chinatown Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A procession through Chinatown prior to the General's address will include members of the Sixth Army Band and the local Color Guard.

Elsewhere, a two-part ceremony is planned at Golden Gate Cemetery, San Bruno. Following a Memorial Day Mass at 0930 for the Knights of Columbus, a concert by the Pacific Division U.S. Marine Corps Band will precede the presentation to the cemetery by the AMVETS of a 25-note, English-type electronic carillon.

Korean War hero, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean (Ret.), Medal of Honor holding former Deputy Commanding General of Sixth Army, will be principal speaker at the AMVETS observances. Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Sixth ARADCOM Commander, also will participate.

A Jewish memorial service will be held tomorrow at 1100 at Eternal Home Cemetery, Colma.

A Memorial Day eve ceremony will be held tonight at 2350 at Lotta's Fountain on Market Street at Kearny. A Color Guard and two buglers from the Presidio will participate in the program sponsored by the Frederick G. Bunch Post, American Legion.

Sub-Standard

Assignments to quarters determined inadequate will be on a voluntary basis.

However, if an assignment is made to such quarters after 30 June during the month that the quarters are determined inadequate (determination becoming effective on the first day of the following month), basic allowance for quarters does not accrue for the remaining portion of that month nor will any rental charge be made.

Persons assigned as described above will be paid the fair rental rate established for the housing.

For persons who occupy quarters when they are determined sub-standard a military pay order and DD Form 137 (Application for Basic Allowance for Quarters for Members with Dependents) must be furnished to the appropriate Finance Officer before retroactive payments can be effected.

San Francisco's Civic Center, increasingly the site of large national conventions, contains six auditoriums, capable of seating a total of more than 16,800.

740th Master Sergeant Has 22 Years Overseas

With 29 years in the Army, 22 of which were spent in the Philippines, newly promoted M/Sgt. Pedro Tamayo's past ranges from the calm to the tempestuous.

"For six months I was in a concentration camp. One time they interrogated me for 40 hours with a gun in my stomach. I told them nothing!"

"I was the intelligence man for a guerrilla unit. I was a policeman in the town so I could come and go. In my pocket I carried paper and made sketches of the layout. These I gave to the guerrillas, and I could warn the people in advance of a Japanese raid."

When he looks back to the day he enlisted at 18, Sgt. Tamayo says the time has gone quickly.

"From 1929 to 1949 I was in the Philippines. Then I went to Japan for a year and then came to Fort Ord. I was with the 1st Field Artillery."

In 1956 his hitch ran out, and Sgt. Tamayo reenlisted for the San Francisco Air Defense. He has been with B Battery of the 740th AAA Missile Battalion ever since.

Sgt. Tamayo's decorations include the Philippine Liberation, the Philippine Independence, Korean Campaign Unit Citation, Good Conduct Medal with three loops, and the National Defense Service Medal.

"In a year I retire. Then I'm going back to Manila and I'll bring my wife and children to America. My second boy is already here. He studies engineering at San Francisco State. My oldest boy is studying medicine in Manila. I have six children, and right now my biggest ambition is to have the whole Tamayo family under one roof again. We haven't been a complete family in seven years."

LAH Commander To Retire; Gen. Smith Here In August

Letterman Army Hospital Commander Brig. Gen. Paul S. Fancher will retire in the near future and be replaced, probably in August, by Maj. Gen. Stuart G. Smith, currently head of Brooke Army Hospital at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Specific details about Gen. Fancher's retirement — to include the date, programmed ceremonies, possible awards, etc., were not available at press time because the LAH commander is out of the city.

General Fancher, 54-year-old specialist in internal medicine, was commissioned in the Army Medical Corps in 1930, after which he attended the Army Medical School and the Medical Field Service School (1933) and served in various medical capacities prior to 1941.

During World War II, he briefly was commander of a medical training battalion in Virginia, prior to being named first commander of the newly-activated 76th General Hospital. He remained at the head of the 76th throughout the invasion of Europe.

During the last stages of the war, Gen. Fancher was Chief of the Hospitalization Division, European Theater of Operations.

After tours at Walter Reed Hospital and the Far East, he was made Chief of Professional Services, LAH, in July 1955 and in October became Deputy Commander.

In September, 1956, while a colonel, he was named Hospital Commander. He was promoted to brigadier general the following March.

His decorations include the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star Medal and the French Medaille d'Honneur and Service de Sante.

General Smith, 58-year-old native of Illinois, has been Commanding General at Brooke Army Hospital since June, 1954. His reporting date here has been set as 1 August.

San Francisco is one of two communication centers in the nation linking all of the world's continents, according to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

XV Corps Leads Donors In Annual AER Drive

XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) this week gained a double distinction in generosity as the third week of the 1958 Joint Army Emergency Relief-Army Relief Society fund campaign drew to a close.

With just one week remaining in the annual drive to replenish the till of the Army's own emergency loan and grant organization, the XV Corps turned in $29 to raise the unit's total, in three separate donations, to $170.50. No other unit return equals this total and no other organization has made more than a single donation.

Other receipts this week boosted the campaign total to $405.05, or 9.05 per cent of the Presidio goal of $4,471.80. In addition to the moneys from XV Corps, $42.50 was received as follows:

Sixtieth MP Det. (CI), $13.50; Armed Forces Courier Service, $19, and an individual donation of $10 from M/Sgt. Weldon M. Eastman of the Presidio Comptroller Section.

Receipts from the Hole-in-One Tournament (see Sports) and a Monte Carlo Night held Saturday at the Presidio Officers Club, have not yet been turned over to Deputy Campaign Director Maj. Charles Dong, but are expected to be sizeable.

The bulk of troop donations are anticipated Saturday, the military pay day. Arrangements have been made within units to provide soldiers ample opportunity to contribute.

Another program expected to supplement individual and unit donations will be the "Carnival Dance" 5 June at Presidio Service Club, featuring a variety of fundraising carnival booths and taxidancing to the tunes of the Tom Cats.

Rifle, Pistol Tests Start At Benning

The 1958 U.S. Army Rifle and Pistol Matches opened this week at Fort Benning, Ga., with nearly 1,000 competitors, match officials and guests present at the opening ceremonies.

Some 120 match competitors will be retained as shooters selected to represent the U.S. Army in the National Matches to be held at Camp Perry this summer.

In the first match of the meet, the Army .22 caliber rifle event, M/Sgt. William Krilling of the Army Europe rifle team won first place by totaling 1093 points out of a possible 1200.

New G. I. Bill

A bill calling for educational benefits to servicemen whether they served during peacetime or war has been introduced in the House of Representatives.

If passed, this proposal would allow post-Korean Conflict veterans who served 90 days or more on active duty to begin school within three years after discharge.

CMH Winner Will Attend Burial Rites

One of the nation's most highly honored men—a Congressional Medal of Honor winner—M/Sgt. Louis C. Moshier will attend Memorial Day Services at Arlington Cemetery.

Sgt. Moshier was retired from military service in 1932. He won his country's greatest honor during a clean-up campaign against the savage and fanatical Moros at Bagsak Mountain, in Jolo, P. I., in 1913 when he was a Philippine Scout under the command of the late General John Pershing.

In fierce hand-to-hand fighting against the enemy, armed with German Mausers and native bolo knives, the young soldier climbed over the dead in his unit, entering no-man's-land unescorted and uncovered, to carry back a wounded man fallen 20 yards from enemy lines.

Sgt. Moshier, a life member and chaplain of the George Washington Post 114, American Legion, lives at 1414-A 20th Avenue, San Francisco.

Explorer Films Out

Two new films of defense and scientific interest will soon be released for both public and military showings.

Explorer I is a 9-minute black and white film produced by the Army. It gives an account of the satellite launching including certain pre-launching activities such as fueling, testing and final assembly.

The Department of Defense has produced Your Defense. This 22-minute black and white film discusses the latest developments in weapons, carriers, planes and missiles.

"Lester Lanin Goes to College" on Epic's latest release. This is smooth popular music played by a man who has been in the dance business for years.

For the wee Scots in the area, Columbia has released a bit o' bonnie Scotland, the Bridge of Doon, better known as "Brigadoon." This new recording is decorated with the tartan tones of Shirley Jones and her husband Jack Cassidy.

For those with longer hair, Mercury has come forth with a new interpretation of Brahms Second Symphony with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, Anatole Dorati conducting.

And those who prefer the atmosphere of a small intimate club in their own home, will be pleased to hear that Mercury has put out a new recording of Ruth Olay, entitled plainly and simply "Olay!"

From Angel's new group of reissues, "Great Recordings of the Century." Those among you who love Schubert will be particularly thrilled to hear Artur Schnabel's much prized and until now exceedingly rare performance of the B Flat Major Sonata made in London in 1939. Probably no other recording of the B Flat Sonata can compare to this one, which holds sweet lyricism and strong rhythmic propulsion in admirable balance.

Another reissue in this series is Fritz Kreisler playing the Beethoven Violin Concerto with the London Philharmonic conducted by John Barbirolli. This 1936 recording is a memento of Kreisler's art when he was sixty-one years old.

Prize Winning Plaque for Food Service superiority was won by C Battery mess, rated First among the more than 50 Nike Air Defense Batteries on the West Coast. Capt. Arthur Sheppard, 9th AAA Msl. Bn. and Sfc. George Parsons hold plaque presented to them by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw.

Top College Men Visit RAADCOM Air Facilities

A preview of careers in US Army Aviation was unfolded for three University of San Francisco ROTC cadets recently when the Sixth Regional Army Air Defense Command headquarters invited the university's trio of honor students to a briefing at the unit flight section in Crissy Field.

Sponsored by Lt. Colonel Charles F. Ottinger, Associate Professor of Military Science and Tactics at USF, Cadets David D. Lewis, Richard F. Melo and Ronald C. Crivelli were conducted on an introductory flight tour by Capt. Jack H. Gerber, the aviation section commander, and Lt. Winfield C. Frank, assistant Maintenance officer.

Among aircraft types made available for the ROTC program at Crissy Field were the H 23—a reconnaissance helicopter, an H 21 light cargo helicopter, and an LD 23 command liaison plane.

The ROTC tour was followed by a question and answer period on billeting and housing, food and recreation as they applied to the three prospective Army Aviation officers after they receive their degrees and ROTC commissions from the university June 8. Cadet Ronald C. Crivelli has already applied for a Regular Army commission.

The U.S. Army Aviation program is made available to college and university ROTC students nation-wide. Its purpose is to stimulate the interest of graduate students in military aviation careers and to throw open to them the doors of a profession which has not lost its challenge through overcrowding in the specific field of military aviation.

The prospective aviation officer drawn into service through the ROTC program begins his military career immediately after university graduation. Preliminary training starts with the Basic Officer course covering 18 weeks at a given military installation, thence to San Marcos, Texas, for the primary flight course. An 18-week follow-up course at Fort Benning, Georgia, prepares the way for the Advanced Tactical course at Fort Rucker, Alabama, for three more months, on completion of which the newly-fledged Aviation officer is placed on active duty with a flight unit.

Upon completion of his training, the graduate officer is free to choose Stateside or foreign service flight duty.

Wins Promotion

Richard E. Jewett, IFC Officer at A Battery in Ft. Funston, has been promoted to first lieutenant.

The 1956 Bowling Green State University graduate was also a Distinguished Military Graduate and was commissioned 2nd Lt. in the Reserve in 1956.

After completing the Guided Missile School in Tex., Lt. Jewett was assigned to Ft. Funston as IFC Officer.

The 23-year-old officer now resides on Noriega Ave. with his wife and son.

Just Wouldn't Happen

Believe it or not, but .22 rimfire cartridges will not explode in boiling water. Prompted by reports that a youngster was seriously injured by the explosion of a .22 shell which fell into pot of boiling water, a national rifle association experimented by boiling a shell ten minutes. Total result—the powder got wet.

New Capeharts Okayed

If Congress approves a $1.7 billions housing bill recently submitted by Department of Defense for dependent quarters, the Army would stand to gain 12,569 units in the United States and overseas. Of these, 11,477 will be Capeharts.

Drama His Hobby
Lt. Col. Thomas E. Baker

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

"There still is enough ham in me to make me enjoy acting," he said leaning back in his chair. This was Lt. Col. Thomas E. Baker at his desk in Letterman Army Hospital. The bay was a deep clear blue behind him. The morning was bright, the Colonel was wearing his Army greens, his deeply chiseled face and resonant voice might have belonged to a professional actor. The whole effect was that of a technicolor slide.

"For me, the theatre is just a hobby, but I love it very much. I did quite a bit of drama work when I was in college, and afterwards I worked in summer stocks in Pennsylvania as an actor," he said. "It is still my first love, but it is theatre, I prefer. I find it more satisfying. The director has to pull the play together. It is more challenging to make the thing come out as a whole, rather than dealing with limited and specific aspects of theatre. As a director, it is my responsibility to control the acting, the stage and all its intricacies, and to bring the play, as a living unit, to the audience."

At the present time, Col. Baker is directing a one act play, "Nude With Nike," a winner in the recent Star Presidian play contest.

"Amateurs' are wonderful to work with. They respond to direction and are anxious to learn. There are eight parts in 'Nude With Nike,' and I quite expect that we'll turn up a pretty fair production of it."

Col. Baker paused a moment and pulled from his desk a copy of the program "Teens in the Twenties," a musical revue he produced and directed last year.

"We did this in the spring of '57. The Youth Activities Council asked me to do this, and we are tentatively considering doing another. Frankly, I would like to see much more local interest in theatre. I think we could do quite a bit here with theatre groups. It is hard work, and time consuming, but I think it is very satisfying."

When asked about his acting again, he replied, "I prefer doing serious work. When I was doing summer stock, I did some Shakespeare. I was Julius Caesar, and Shylock in 'The Merchant of Venice,' and in Macbeth, I was King Duncan. He is the one who is killed in the second act," he laughed.

Seven Parts Unfilled In Play Productions

Seven parts remained to be filled in the three one-act plays scheduled for performance on 13 June, Entertainment Director Harry Helman announced today. Those interested in auditioning for the acting and walk-on roles should contact him at the Little Theatre, Bldg. 117.

Col. Thomas Baker is the director of "Nude with Nike," written by Pfc. Wolcott W. Hubbell, Jr. Those in the cast are Cammy Mirabella, Delores Shoemaker, Pfc. Ed. Maxy, Pfc. Bill Soule, and Tom Baker, Jr. There are three vacant parts in this play.

"Five Minutes to Dawn," a drama by Pvt. David Sofield, is being directed by Pfc. Gene English. The cast includes Lou Comadurian, John Swilp, Bert Pease, and Pfc. Gene English. One speaking and three walk-on parts must still be cast.

Don Canty directs "The Wrong Slant," written by Sp3 Linden Chiles. The complete cast includes M/Sgt. George Provo, Pfc. Ed Maxy, Cheryl Norton, and Lee Schussman.

Dance Night Change

The Presidio Service Club weekly dance, normally held Thursday night, this week will be held Friday at 2130. Persons who attend the Service Club's Memorial Day Picnic will be returned to the post in time to attend the dance. At the dance, music will be provided by The Checkers and refreshments will be served.

Vegas Night Friday

"Night in Las Vegas," a dance-carnival, will be a major attraction at Presidio Service Club No. 2, Fort Baker, on Friday 6 June at 1930 hours. Dance hostesses will be present to assist in conducting the program, and the various concessions will be operated on a fund-raising basis. Proceeds will go to the Army Emergency Relief Fund.

Bondshu To Academy

Arthur Bondshu, son of Col. and Mrs. Lowell Bondshu, has recieved an appointment to West Point. The appointee, whose father was an officer at the Presidio and is now on duty at Fort Leavenworth, will report to the Academy on 1 July, 1958.

Queen Contest Set

The Lazy Y Round-up Penny Carnival, with a taxi dance and queen contest, will be held at the YMCA, 166 Embarcadero on 6 and 7 June.

movie previews

"THE LAW AND JAKE WADE"—A partner in a hold-up gang of the early West breaks with his gun pals, becomes a marshal, but finds he cannot hide from his past.

"BADMAN'S COUNTRY"—As a sheriff, Pat Garrett (George Montgomery) is told to hang up his badge if he expects a certain young widow to marry him. He becomes embroiled in a vicious gunfight, foils the hold-up plans of outlaw Cassidy (Neville Brand) and then rides to a new future.

"HIGH SOCIETY"—A young, beautiful socialite who has shed one husband because she has no regard for human frailty and who is about to take on another.

"WILD HERITAGE"—A drama of the tribulations of young people during the lawless years of the frontier.

"HELL CANYON OUTLAWS"—A western town feels the terror-filled rule of a quartet of giant gunslingers when the sheriff is fired. Tension mounts as the villainous quartet takes over until the townspeople finally prevail upon the former sheriff to return to his post and restore order.

"LIFE BEGINS AT 17"—A young law student interested in one girl dates her sister to win his way into the family. He does eventually, but with it he also creates a major family upset.

your turn next?

Looks like the only time Presidio soldiers remember Army Emergency Relief is when they're in a financial scrape.

Last year, the local AER office shelled out almost $30,000 in loans and grants to hard-pressed military personnel and their dependents.

Yet, when the time comes to replenish the cash that will never be returned to AER, generosity at PSF seems to be out of fashion.

Our goal—$4,471.80—represents only 15 per cent of the money loaned or given away last year by the Presidio AER. To date, only slightly more than 9 per cent of the goal has been collected.

Saturday is military pay day. Don't rush by the jar marked "AER." Stop long enough to drop in a dollar or two.

You'll help yourself if you do.

books in review

How much do you know about the social security policy and practice in the U.S.? A theoretical analysis of this is made in E. M. Burn's book, Social Security and Public Policy. The subject is considered from the point of view of the public agencies, the individual and the family, and has a great deal of comparative material on other countries.

What is The Staff Role in Management? In this book, R. C. Simpson probes the failures of staff and line officers to achieve a more harmonious relationship. He gives suggestions for heightening an organization's total efficiency and morale and makes an appeal to staff officers to think of themselves as generalists rather than specialists.

J. A. Patton and C. L. Littlefield, in their book Job Evaluation, pay particular attention to such topics as techniques of job analysis, winning acceptance for job evaluation, criteria for selecting the most appropriate evaluation method, and evaluation of executive positions. They also give a wide selection of case problems based on actual business situations.

The making of a manager is discussed by L. A. Apple in Management in Action. In this compilation of selected writings by the author, he tells the art of getting things done through other people and gives a distillation of operating practices, grouped under the headings of: Spirit and character of an organization; effective leader; valley of decision; management of men; management and communication and Tools and techniques.

A fascinating tale of loyalty, intrigue, war with Israel and Britain's activities in the Middle East is given in Sir J. B. Glubb's book, A Soldier With the Arabs. It is a personal narrative of the author's long period of service in Jordan as Commander of the Arab Legion.

A fresh study of the inception, development and present status of the Palestine problem and the conflict between Zionism and Arab nationalism, based on the author's experiences as Middle East correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, is presented in Israel and the Middle East, by H. B. Ellis.

What do you know about resources? A World Balance Sheet, by R. R. Doane covers the extent, distribution and relative depletion of the world's physical resources in relation to their present rate of consumption, their monetary counterpart valuation, and the population, showing comparative changes over a 70-year period.

An over-all view of the practical uses of micro-recording from the standpoint of retention and storage of recorded information, and the types of equipment available, techniques and criteria to be used in selecting a microrecording program is shown in Microrecording, by C. M. Lewis and W. H. Offenhauser.

Information Processing Equipment, by M. P. Doss, describes and illustrates the latest methods of equipment for preparing, reproducing, utilizing and storing all types of information.

50 Entrants Set For Presidio Golf Tourney

Drummey, Gritts Power Toreros To Key Win

In the only game played last week, the Toreros' power-loaded bats knocked out 10 hits and 13 runs for a walloping 13-3 victory over Vacaville in the latter's home field.

Roger Sawyer, dependable Torero pitcher, received credit for the win. In the seventh, however, he was relieved by the sensational Wes Stock, who struck out the next five batters with the greatest of ease.

Proves Big Stick
Mike Drummey

Big stickers for the locals were Mike Drummey and Charley Gritts, who knocked in three runs apiece, which were more than enough to win the game.

Coach Hal Fischer used a total of 15 men in this practice game in an attempt to seek out new talent to replace several key men who are leaving the service shortly.

The team is still eagerly awaiting the opening of the tough Bay County League, made up of some outstanding semipro teams in Northern California, which has been delayed because of certain technical complications facing several of the teams.

Brownlee Named To Key Fencing League Post

Election of officers for the Northern California Division, Amateur Fencers League of America, was held last Thursday, and Col. Laurance Brownlee was elected as a member of the Executive Committee.

Also holding office during the 1958-1959 season will be Wm. O'Erien of LAH, Auditional Governor of the Executive Committee; M/Sgt. Severo Pasal of LAH, head of the Sabre Bout Committee, and Ed Purdy of the Presidio, Chairman of the Epee Bout Committee.

The Letterman fencing team is busy training for the U.S. National Championship and the Pacific Coast Championships, but took time out last Friday to put on a three weapons exhibition for the Teenage Club.

A Final Trophy

The last of the six perpetual Interservice Trophies was gained recently by the Army when its mittmen pounded their way to the Interservice Boxing Title.

In addition to the boxing trophy, the Army also holds trophies for baseball, track, golf, tennis and field.

All the awards will be kept for one year or until competition is held again.

Colonel's Ace In Hole Wins AER Golf Meet

"I was reaching for my next ball, without even the faintest idea of having scored a hole-in-one," remarked Col. Donald K. Armstrong, Sixth Army G4, after becoming a member of the unique hole-in-one club in this week's Post AER Tournament.

Using a Number 8 iron, Col. Armstrong lofted his sixth shot a distance of approximately 100 yards into the cup, to become one of the very few golfers ever at the Presidio to accomplish such a feat.

Witnessing this rare shot were six other golfers, including Capt. Charles Monges and Sp3 Al Sutton. Col. D. K. Armstrong

Colonel Armstrong, off his outstanding performance in the hole-in-one tourney, will be a player to watch in next week's intramural golf tournament. He will be awarded the grand prize of the tourney, the hole-in-one trophy.

Other top participants of the three-day tournament were M/Sgt. Richard E. Haines, XV Corps, who won the male military division by missing the hole by only 2'6 3/4". Capt. Monges was second with a 2'9 1/2" miss.

In the male civilian division, Mr. Harry Helman, Post Entertainment Director, took top honors driving his ball only 3'3 3/4" from the cup. In second place was Mr. E. Loconsolde with a 6'4" miss.

Major Rayna Anderson copped first place in the female military division with an 8'3" shot.

In the female civilian group, Mrs. Charles Monges barely missed the cup by a mere 7 1/2" to win first prize in her division, while Mrs. Gustafson took second place with a 15'4" miss.

Rained Out

Last Thursday's softball game between the Post team and the Stubby & Tom nine was rained out.

Tonight the locals are scheduled to tangle with the tough 2400 Club, last year's runner ups in the City Softball League. The game will be played at Rolph No. 2 diamond at Army and Potrero Streets, beginning at 2100 hours.

During hot weather black bears like to lie in damp places where they sometimes remain semi-dormant for as long as a few days.

Routen High In Garrison Victory; Signal's Snyder Posts Week's Best

Led by the 594-213 of Dodson, the Garrison bowlers rolled to a 4-0 win over the Compt-Rollers in the Bay Bowling matches held this week. High scorer for the losers was Routen with 456-162.

AMMRU racked up a score of 4-0 over G-1, whose high bowler was Ross, 585-203. Top man for the winners was Wehrheim with 545-194.

In the Triple Aces match with AGR, the Aces gained a 3-1 victory and they were led by Salisbury with 514-193. For the AGR team, Anderson bowled 527-188.

High man for the week was Snyder, 559-198, who helped the 6A Signal team defeat Hq. Co.

Qualifying Rounds Start On Monday

More than 50 of Presidio's best golfers, the biggest sign-up in the past five years, have entered the Post Intramural Golf Tournament which is slated to get underway early Monday morning.

The first day of play will be for qualifications only. Heading the list of top golfers already signed up, are Sp3 Jimmy Jones who placed seventh in last year's open division, and newcomer Sp3 James B. Green, who was runner up in the 1954 Kentucky State Amateur Golf Tournament.

Also entered are Capt. Charles Monges, a returning veteran of last year's squad which took second place team honors in the Sixth Army Tournament, and Capt. George Reuss, officer in charge of the Post golf team.

In the Senior Division, Col. Donald A. Armstrong, who scored a hole-in-one in this week's Post AER Tournament, and Col. Robert H. Chard, appear the best in their division.

There are many dark horses, however, that may land some of the top spots.

The best four open division scorers in the final 54 holes and the top two in the senior division will be selected for the Post team which will compete in the Central U. S. Army tournament at Ft. Ord on 23-27 June.

Deadline for entering the tournament is today at 1200 hours.

Pollution Extends

It was reported this week by the Fish and Game Department that pollution damage from Los Angeles' White Point sewer outfall near San Pedro has extended to an area near Point Vicente, five miles west of White Point.

The sea bottom, last summer covered with dense plant growth, is now showing signs of becoming barren and the only living objects are sea urchins and a few abalones.

"This is further evidence," said the Department, "that the White Point outfall, like a creeping malignancy, is making its effects felt in a wider area each year."

WACs To Meet Oakland In League Opener

The WAC Softball Team is busy practicing for the Women's Interservice Recreation League which will begin this week.

Participating in the event will be Mather, Letterman Army Hospital, Oakland Army Terminal, Hamilton Air Force Base, Travis, Fort Ord, and the Presidio.

First game for the Presidio girls will be on 5 June against Oakland, 1800 hours, there.

The hard-hitting players, who took first place in the Sixth Army last year, are still in real need of a coach. Anyone interested should call Sgt. Mary Phillips at the Sports Office, Ext. 3968 or 2282.

Tennis Team Picked

The four man 436th AAA Missile Bn. Tennis Team was selected after a double elimination tournament held at the Travis Air Force Base 12-15 May.

Winners, Sp/3 Willard S. Dakin, Suisun Battery, Battery B; Sp/3 Quentin A. Ruchte, Hdqs. Battery, 29th Artillery Group; PFC William A. Stoops, Hdqs. Battery 436th, and PFC David A. Crow, Hdqs. Battery, 29th, will participate in the San Francisco Conference Area Tennis Tournament against the three other missile battalions in the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command.

Doubleheader Opens Pony League Season

Presidio Pony Leaguers Thomas Lee Sparks and Max Land receive some hot pointers from San Francisco Giants Ray Jablonski and Paul Giel, as the Presidio youths prepare for the coming season which opens Saturday.

Game Action Slated For All Four Teams

The Presidio Youth Pony League kicks off its 1958 season this Saturday afternoon with all four teams slated to see action.

In the first game of a doubleheader beginning at 1300 hours, the Pirates tangle with the Dodgers, with a clash between the Braves, last year's champions, and the Tigers billed for the nightcap.

This year the teams appear to be more evenly matched than last year when the Braves virtually ran away with the pennant.

Organizations on the Presidio, and its sub-posts, are supporting the four teams by way of furnishing coaches, managers, and team representatives.

Supporting the Braves is XV Corps; the Dodgers, Presidio and LAH; the Pirates, Sixth U.S. Army Hq.; and the Tigers, 30th Artillery Group.

Play is divided into two halves with a scheduled playoff set for the end of the season between the two winners to determine the Post champion.

Double headers are slated for every Saturday afternoon with night games scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays. Games are played at the league field, located just off Lincoln Blvd., behind the 30th Engineer Motor Pool.

Lilliput Team VenturesForth At Modesto

Presidio's two man track team of Bill Neider, ace shot-putter, and high jumping Ernie Shelton, will participate in this Saturday's Modesto Relays.

Last week, Shelton took second place in the Occidental College Invitational with a 6 foot 6 1/4 inch jump. Winner of the event was Bob Avant of the USC frosh team, who cleared the bar at 6 feet 7 1/4 inches.

Word was received this week by the Post Sports Office that in accordance with a Department of State exchange program, the United States will send a track and field team of 74 persons to the Soviet Union on 20 July for a match in Moscow.

These men will be selected from the results of the Men's National AAU Championships to be held at Bakersfield on 20-21 June.

Win Two Trophies

C Battery's Volleyball Team was presented two trophies this week, one for winning the 1958 Post Championship and the other because they were the 1958 National League Volleyball champions.

Yanks Beat Cards 5-4; Stay In League Lead

The Yanks of the Golden Gate Little League maintained their half game lead over the second place Giants as they nosed out the Cards, 5-4, in the first game of last Saturday's doubleheader.

The league leaders got off to a fast start as Ken Teasdale homered with none on in the first inning to put the Yanks ahead, 1-0.

In the fifth, the Yanks collected three more runs, making the score 4-0. The Cards, however, retaliated in the sixth by scoring four runs to tie the game.

The Yanks pushed across the winning run in the last inning on a walk, two stolen bases and a single.

Winning pitcher was Jimmy Martinez.

In the nightcap, the Giants kept pace with the Yanks as they walloped the last place Cubs by the score of 8-1.

The Giants collected four big runs in the second inning to ice the game.

Last week, the Cubs and the Yanks were rained out after two innings of play which saw the Cubs in a surprise 6-1 lead over the Yanks.

In the top game of this week's slate the Yanks were scheduled to face the Giants on Tuesday night.

Salmon Tested

The first phase of a test to determine whether young salmon can successfully be transported by barge downstream and acclimated to changing water conditions on the way has been completed.

About 2,000 salmon were put aboard a tuna clipper at Sacramento and taken to Sausalito, where one-third of the fingerlings were released. The rest are under observation by the Fish and Game Department.

Army Ace Third

An Army golfer, Mason Rudolph, from Ft. Chaffee, Ark., placed third in the $20,000 Memphis Invitational golf tournament and had a score of 269.

Rudolph led for two rounds but was defeated by Billy Maxwell with a 267 and Dr. Cary Middlecoff who took second with 268.

Sign Up Now For Presidio Tennis Try

The Post Intramural tennis tournament is slated to begin on 6 June.

Personnel are reminded that deadline for signing up is 1200 hours, 4 June, with the Post Sports Office, Bldg. 122, Ext. 3968.

There will be an open and senior division, with trophies awarded to the winners in both the singles and doubles brackets.

Favored to win the singles crown again this year, is last season's Post champ Capt. Frank W. Sample, who played outstandingly in the 1957 Sixth Army Tournament at Fort Ord.

LAH Downs MRU For Sixth Straight; 21st Engrs Keep League Slate Clean

The high flying LAH softballers won their sixth straight game, defeating MRU by the score of 9-6, to lead the Presidio intramural softball league after the third week of play.

Gilmore and McNamara led the winner's hitting parade with three hits apiece, with the latter driving in three crucial runs.

In other Presidio League games, fourth-place MRU bounced back strongly to hand the 16th BPO nine a 26-16 shellacking. The winners had a total of 26 hits, led by Frankenbery with four for six.

The consistent 21st Engineers won another game, shutting out the pesky Air Defense School nine, 8-0, in a Ft. Scott League contest. Zakraysck, the winning pitcher, allowed a total of five hits.

The Air Defense School came back strongly to trounce the last-place A, 740th AAA team, by the walloping score of 21-0. All but one of the Defense School batters went to the plate six times.

Led by Schmidt, who collected four hits, including two home runs, the Air Defense School racked up their second win of the week as they defeated fifth-place Hq. 30th Engrs. by the count of 12-2. Goff was the winning pitcher, allowing only three scattered hits.

In theremaining Ft. Scott League games, he third-place 537th Engineers eam won a forfeit from C, 740th AAA, and C, 470th won as a result of a forfeit from A, 740th, who failed to show up for the game.

In the Ft. Baker League, front-running Sixth RADCOM continued to dominate play as they convincingly trounced A, 9th AAA, 15-7.

Big gun for the winners was their pitcher who, besides allowing the opposition only two hits, collected two hits which drove in three runs. The other teams were idle.

New NATO Pamphlet

An unnumbered pamphlet titled "The North Atlantic Treaty Organization" will be distributed through AG publications channels. This pamphlet contains the most current information on the organization and activities of NATO and is an excellent reference material.

At Half Mast

Today marks the second of three successive days the American flag will fly at half mast at U.S. military installations throughout the world. By Presidential proclamation, the flags have been lowered in tribute to the two Unknown Soldiers, one of World War II and the other from the Korean Conflict, who will be interred tomorrow at Arlington, Va., National Cemetery.

The bodies of the unknown dead lay in state yesterday in the rotunda of the nation's Capitol, and again will lie in state today prior to funeral ceremonies tomorrow.

Lao Army Chief

Colonel Ouan Ratikoun, Chief of Staff of the Lao National Army, will arrive in the United States on Monday, 26 May to visit Army installations in this country.

Colonel Ouan will start his tour in Washington D. C. on 27 May. Included in his tour are stops at Fort Ord and the Army Language School, Presidio of Monterey, California.

Fitness Report

"A Report to the President of the United States on the Fitness of American Youth" has been distributed by the Department of Defense to military installations stateside and overseas.

This report enables those concerned to be fully informed on the aspect of community relations and to take appropriate action with respect to requests for cooperation in community projects designed to improve the physical fitness of American youth.

Brigadier General Samuel E. Gee, Assistant Commanding General, 7th Infantry Division, Korea, has been ordered to Camp Irwin, California.

16 Will Win Degrees At S.F. State

Sixteen officers and two enlisted men will receive their Bachelor of Arts Degree from San Francisco State College in June.

Earning their degrees through the college program offered on-post by the Army Education Center are: Col. Stuart Davis, CWO Raymond H. Dennis, CWO George Goodrich, Capt. Leaman C. Harvey, Lt. Col. Alvin Hulsey, Major Robert Lippincott, CWO William K. Luzader, Pfc. Laurence Manzer, Capt. Clement A. McGarry, Major Charles J. Powell, Lt. Col. John F. Varneli, Major Horton Weiss, Lt. Col. Robert C. Warren, Major William I. Corcoran, Sgt. Raymond Tiffany, Major Florence Shulman, Capt. John K. Yamanchi, Lt. Col. Hilmer O. E. Johnson.

ROA Convention

The 32nd Annual National Convention of the Reserve Officers Association will be held at the Ambassador Hotel in Atlantic City, N. J., from 25-28 June.

Guest speakers will include Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker; Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower, Personnel and Reserve, William H. Francis Jr., and the Air Force's Chief of Scientific Research, Dr. George Valley.

A film, "The American Economy" produced by World Affairs is now available in Signal Corps equipment exchange.

This movie features Dr. Gabriel Hauge, the President's Special Assistant for Economic Affairs, who discusses various aspects of our economy.

You may die this weekend!

You may die this weekend.

You may drown, be accidentally electrocuted, slip in the bathtub, fall from a high place, or even pass quietly in your sleep.

Your best chance to die, however, will be on a crowded highway. Either in, or as the result of, a recklessly driven car traveling at high speed.

Chances are it won't be a lonely death. Others will die or be injured or maimed with you. There will be highway patrolmen, ambulance drivers and the passing curious on hand for your death.

You'll have music, too. The cries of the other injured. The weeping of loved ones. Screeching sirens. The whole "Cacophony of Needless Tragedy" will herald you on your way to eternity.

Your death will also bring immortality. An odd sort, true, but nevertheless you will live forever—as a statistic. You'll be victim number blank in the year 1958. Etched eternally in the accident addenda of useless death.

Yes, you may die this weekend. And it's a shame! For, you could live. You could live if you:

- Stay off the crowded highways.
- Obey all traffic regulations.
- Make courtesy your driving byword.

Simple enough? Well, do it, and you'll be around to read about the 350 automobile deaths (Memorial Day Weekend) that the National Safety Council has predicted for this holiday.

Wade, Soza, Edwin Score In All-Army

Latest results received from Fort Benning, Ga., site of the 1958 All-Army rifle and pistol matches, show that through the seventh day of match competition, Sixth U.S. Army marksmen have garnered 31 medals, six of them for first place. One was a team score.

The firing, which has attracted high-scoring entrants from Army units throughout the world, opened 26 May. No team standings have been released.

Place breakdowns for the local marksmen were:

Rifle—2 first place, 4 third place, 3 fourth place, and 2 fifth place.

Pistol—4 first place, 3 second place, 4 third place, 5 fourth place, and 4 fifth place.

Though only men who placed in the top five in each event were named in Department of the Army messages, it was learned that Presidio pistoleer Sfc. Antonio Soza took sixth place in the International Rapid Fire .22 Caliber Pistol Match.

Individual performances were:

Sfc. Antonio Soza, Presidio: first place, Camp Perry Course .45 Caliber Pistol Match, score 295-16X, setting a new course record; second place, Service Pistol Slow Fire Match, score 189-5X; fifth place, Center Fire Slow Fire Pistol Match, score 189-6X; sixth place, as noted above.

M/Sgt. James Wade, Presidio: first place, International Slow Fire .22 Caliber Pistol Match, score 536; third place, U.S. Army .22 Caliber Individual Pistol Championship, score 879-37X; third place, Camp Perry Course .45 Caliber Pistol Match, score 295-11X; fifth place, Service Pistol Slow Fire Match, score 186-5X.

Sfc. Paul Link: third place, Center Fire National Match Course (Pistol), score 291-10X.

Lt. Gen. Hunter Liggett carried this sword during the Indian Wars while serving with the 5th Infantry Regiment and later in the Philippines during the Spanish-American War. It is one of four swords recently loaned to the San Francisco Air Defense School by Edward W. Spalding, Assistant Chief of the Sixth U.S. Army Transportation Section's Plans Division. Accepting the 1872 model Regular Army Officer sword is Capt. Louis G. Spizzirri, School Commandant.

Top Sword Collection Loaned To AAD School

Four historic Army swords recently were loaned to the San Francisco Army Air Defense School by a Presidio civilian employee and will be displayed there indefinitely, in the Conference Room, as mementos of the bloody battles of the Civil War, the winning of the West and the Spanish-American War.

The swords are part of the collection of Edward W. Spalding, Assistant Chief of the Sixth U.S. Army's Transportation Plans Division. A collector since boyhood, Spalding at one time had more than 60 swords; but he sold his collection about five years ago and just recently resumed the hobby.

"Presented by Maj. Gen. Ormsby McKnight Mitchel, C.O., 10th U.S. Army Corps, whilst on his death bed, at Beaufort, S. C., to his son, Cadet O. M. Mitchel. Oct. 30, 1862." is the inscription on one of the swords. Gen. Mitchel, a classmate of Confederate leader Gen. Robert E. Lee (West Point, '29) was named Adjutant General for the State of Ohio in 1846 and later led the Army of Ohio into Alabama during the Civil War. He was, incidentally, the first man to fire a cannon from a railroad flat-car.

Another sword is the one reputed to have been worn early in the career of Lt. Gen. Hunter Liggett, who later became commander of the First Army and then Chief of Staff to General John J. Pershing during World War I. The sword, an 1872-model regulation

Army officer's sword, was supposed to have been used by the General while he served during the Indian Wars with 5th Infantry Regiment and during the Spanish-American War while he was with the 21st Infantry Regiment in the Philippine Islands. The sword later was presented by Gen. Liggett to Gen. Malin Craig, former Army Chief of Staff.

An old 1850-model Staff and Field Officer's Saber, believed to have been used at the Battle of Shiloh during the Civil War, also is in the collection. Its full history is unknown.

Newest of the swords is the Presentation Sword of Col. (later Gen.) George Washington Stuart. It was presented to him in 1938 by the Regular Army Instructor Group of the Oklahoma National Guard.

NCOs Get New Rates; "Buck" Sergeant Back

The Army is going to completely revamp the present NCO rank structure in the near future, Department of the Army announced this week.

Highlight of the change, slated because of the recent authorization for two additional enlisted pay grades, is the resurrection of the old "Buck Sergeant" rating, familiar to soldiers of two world wars.

The structural remodeling also will call for new insignia of rank, the Army said, but such insignia will be furnished the individuals concerned without cost.

A statement revealed that "Pay grades E-8 and E-9 will be utilized to accommodate the key leadership positions . . . such as first sergeants, sergeants major and . . . technically qualified non-commissioned sergeants, first sergeants or sergeants major, as appropriate.

But, institution of the new grades calls for changes in the titles and insignia of some of the lower grades of non-commissioned officers:

E-7's will be called "platoon sergeants" or "sergeants first class," depending upon their assignments.

E-6's will become "staff sergeants."

E-5's will remain as "sergeants," but the insignia will carry no

30 E-8's, E-9's Here

Sixth U.S. Army this week received allocations from Department of the Army for two new pay grades, E-8 and E-9.

Seven men will get ratings as sergeants major in the higher grade; there will be 23 new first sergeants (E-8).

A Sixth Army spokesman reported that no breakdown for posts, camps and stations has been made at this time.

Although the two pay grades also call for master sergeants in other highly critical MOS's, DA has announced that promotions—to be phased over a four-year period—will first be made in the two ranks named above.

officers in the critical areas and to accommodate selected highly critical specialist personnel." Promotions into the newly authorized grades will be phased over four years; first promotions, however, will be limited to first sergeants and sergeants major.

Persons occupying these pay grades will be known as master "rocker"; therefore the old "Buck Sergeant" rating will be returned to the ranks.

Indications are that E-7's and E-6's will drop one "rocker" each.

Top Planners Meet Here To Mould Key Program For Annual Crusade

Key groundwork for the military aspect of the annual United Bay Area Crusade slated this Fall was laid this week when the Planning Committee met here with top officials of general campaign staff.

During a session held Monday in the Conference Room at Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters, William W. Davison, Vice President of Standard Oil of California and General Chairman of the UBAC, and Mrs. Clarita N. Robinson, UBAC Coordinator for Military Activities, met with planning committee representatives and public information officers of various military installations within the five-county Bay Area (Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo).

Col. Richard J. Stillman, Acting Sixth Army G1, is General Chairman of the Military Planning Committee.

One major change from last year's campaign is that in 1958 donors will not be required to use exclusively the collection envelopes, but rather may make open contributions. The envelopes, however, will still be available.

No military goal, to include that for Sixth Army or the Presidio, has yet been established, but Maj. John J. Early of Sixth Army Information Section, Information Officer for the service phase of UBAC, said that during another planning session slated for 20 June here such goals may be established.

Official dates for the Fall campaign are 22 September through 31 October.

At Tuesday's meeting specific aspects of the forthcoming campaign which were discussed included organizational structure and the development of "fair share" goals by the various armed forces.

The over-all Military Committee will encompass the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, and Coast Guard.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, has been named Chairman.

Co-Chairmen are Rear Adm. G. L. Russell, Commandant of the 12th Naval District; Maj. Gen. Sory Smith, Commander of Fourth Air Force; Maj. Gen. George F. Good, Jr., Commanding General of the Marine Corps Department of the Pacific; and Rear Adm. R. E. Wood, Commander of the Western Area and 12th Coast Guard District.

A Good Place For Extra Dollars

If you're a soldier, you'll be among several thousand at the Presidio who will receive a fatter paycheck at the end of June, thanks to the new salary hike okayed last month by the President.

But, what are you going to do with the extra dollars? Are they already spent — new shoes, an extra payment, flashy sportswear for the coming summer months?

Why not use those dollars to invest in United States savings bonds?

You won't miss the money; you never had it before.

Is your section or unit one of those which didn't toe the mark and reach the 65% participation goal? Whether it is or isn't should make no difference. By setting a little aside now, you'll feather your future nest.

..that's using the old body!

The Dept. of the Army has announced that a battery vest has been developed which utilizes human body heat to keep dry cells warm and active for radio operators in extremely cold weather.

U.S. Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, N. J., came up with the idea, which is to place dry cell batteries in a vestlike garment worn beneath parkas to capture body heat. A cord is used to plug in standard Army radios.

The battery vest has been undergoing tests in Alaska where Signal Corps communications engineers found the technique extremely valuable.

Today our military forces are deployed throughout the world. The members of these forces and their families — men and women alike — provide opportunity for greater individual contact with the citizens of many lands. Through these contacts our peaceful objectives and principles can become better known and understood throughout the world. — OSD Report.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Niccoll

Summer brings not only sunshine but also dreams of travel into foreign lands. This week the Inquiring Reporter took the privilege of interrupting those dreams just long enough to ask this question: THE QUESTION: Given the opportunity, which foreign country would you visit and why?

ANSWERS

Margaret Thompson, clerk, Training Division Section G3.—

Austria! I would go directly to Austria. I've never been in Europe, but I'm sure I would love Austria. I think of it as a beautiful country, very green in the spring, and in the winter covered with snow in the high mountains. As long as it never gets hot, I'd like it. I think I'd like Vienna. I love music, you know, Strauss waltzes and things like that. I love the opera, too. I'm sure the people in Austria must be very friendly because their music is so gay. If I were to take a trip, I'd go alone, and I'm sure if I went to Austria I'd have a wonderful time. I wish I could say that I liked Austrian food, but I've never had any. But if it is like the music, I'm sure I'd really like it.

Margaret Thompson

Emma Cushman, clerk - typist, Reserve Forces Division of G3 Section.—

Well, I don't know exactly. But since I have relatives in Italy, I'd probably go there. I'd like to meet them and see what their way of life is like. Also, since I am of Italian descent, I'd like to learn about the country's history. It has all that wonderful church music, too. And, of course, the Vatican is loaded with famous works of art. And I must admit that I think living for a while in southern Italy, in the sun, on a beach, you know—just sort of doing nothing—would be absolutely wonderful! But I'd only do that for a while. This wouldn't be a permanent trip. It'd just be a visit. Really, I'd be happy in California forever!

Pvt. Oliver W. Baker, draftsman, G4 Section, 6th Army Headquarters.—

I'd like to go to Japan to study the customs there. I've heard a lot about it, but the only way to know something is to see it for yourself. How do the people live there, what are the conditions, is the cost of living high? That sort of thing. I have never been out of this country, but I believe I would enjoy living in Japan.

Pvt. Oliver W. Baker

Sp3 Raymond Breed, 16th Base Post Office.—

Well, if I had the chance, I'd go right back to Germany. I was stationed in France, but I took some side trips into Germany and really liked it. The Germans seemed very much like Americans, in their way of life, their clothes; even some of their words are easy to understand because they sound so American. I think Germany is a beautiful country. It's filled with history. When I was there, I went to Hitler's mountain resort, Berchtesgaden. It's really beautiful and I'd like to go back there again. The Rhine Valley is beautiful, too.

42 Year Service-Civilian Career Ends With Award

A colorful 42 years' combined military and civilian service for his country ended this week for Harry Krenkel at the Presidio of San Francisco. He was presented a Sixth U.S. Army Engineer Employee Association plaque by Col. C. P. Joyce, District Engineer, at an informal ceremony.

Mr. Krenkel, General Engineer with the Building and Grounds Division, Sixth U. S. Army Engineer Section since 1951, was commissioned a Second Lieutenant of Field Artillery in France in 1918.

In 1919 he transferred to the U. S. Public Health Service and remained there until his transfer to the U. S. Marine Hospital, Carville, La., where he was Administrative Officer for the hospital until 1928, when he returned to San Francisco and work at the Marine Hospital. In 1941 he was recalled to active duty as a Major.

ENDS 42-YEARS
Harry Krenkel

Mr. Krenkel was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon for "Efficient Engineering in the Maintenance of Fortification Protection of San Francisco and Bay Cities." He retired as a Colonel in 1946.

Following World War II duty, Mr. Krenkel returned to the Marine

Hospital in San Francisco as Personnel Officer until his transfer to the Presidio.

Rebel yell and then

A Barrel of Blood

The boys from Texas stepped forward and chided "What's the matter with you Yankees" and last week's Irwin Memorial Blood Bank blood drive was 60 pints richer.

Standing in formation last Thursday, nearly a hundred instructors and students of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Scott heard a plea for blood and were asked if there were any volunteers.

A lanky Texan jumped forward, surveyed the immobile group and hollered "Come on, you Texans." The response was electric. Every Lone Star Stater took the step. Then, in body, they hurled the challenge that sparked almost the entire formation to action.

That afternoon, at the 740th AAA Missile Battalion Headquarters, SFAADS soldiers accounted for 60 of 81 pints of blood collected, though a number of volunteers were unable to donate.

Painless Injection

Oh Happy Day!

Washington (ANS)—Army Medical Service officers have been conducting tests and studies on a new anesthesia jet injector device that gives painless dental injections, the Department of the Army has announced.

Marking the first basic change in the history of dentistry's injection methods, the injector shoots into the tissue a small quantity of the liquid that travels at a speed of about 700 feet per second.

Regarding the announcement, the Surgeon General of the Army, Major General Silas B. Hays, stated that Army dentists should be able to give painless anesthetic injections with the device to service personnel in the not too distant future.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

He is an incredible man. His history, his early life, is so filled with drama that he might have stepped from a Dostoevskian novel. He is Russian, he is dynamic and there is a bit of a philosopher in him; yet he lacks a dour pessimism, which, if he were fiction, would certainly exist.

William V. Nazarovoff is real. There is nothing fictitious about him. He is, in simple language, a grey-haired man, slightly thin, who works as Supervisor of the Quartermaster Furniture Repair Shop.

What makes William V. Nazarovoff extraordinary is that he has already met face to face an enigmatic challenge which to some of us exists a remote 8,000 miles across the sea in Moscow.

"We could imagine the revolution against the old regime coming, but we did not know it would lead into Communism. The Civil War broke out in 1918. I had just graduated from high school so I joined the Siberian White Army of Admiral Kolchak. His army fought for the people's representation."

As Nazarovoff spoke, his piercing brown eyes looked like all the world, reflecting the life he had seen and led. His voice was quiet, his accent strong.

"The Civil War lasted five years. In November of 1922 we crossed the border into China. That was after the 'Ice March.' There were about 40,000 of us in the March. That included the Army and the families and civilians who wanted to leave. We retreated through Siberia that winter, fighting the whole time. Each man had to take care of himself. There was little organization. We had to find our own food and clothing. The Ice March was about 7,000 miles long. We did it on horse and sledges."

Nazarovoff spoke calmly, as if he were telling something he had read about. Yet it was apparent through his forceful restraint, that he remembered vividly each scene he was describing.

"We came to Vladivostok, a port in far eastern Siberia. Here we reorganized, fought another year, and lost. We crossed the border into China, the Army came to an end, and I became a civilian. I then went to Harbin and for three years took any sort of work I could get. I applied for a visa, but the quota was filled. So it wasn't until 1926 that I entered America. I came right here, and here I have been ever since," he said gesturing in the direction of San Francisco.

"You see, I had decided that what I was fighting for already existed in America. No dictators. No elimination of classes. Here exists the people's representation, which is what the White Army of Admiral Kolchak was fighting for in Russia."

When asked what would have happened to him had he remained in Russia, Nazarovoff said, "In Russia, I would have had no life. I was a member of the middle class, and the middle class — well, it was eliminated!"

Army Relief Drive At Record High

NCO Retreat Parade Set For Today

There will be a Retreat Parade conducted by Noncommissioned Officers on the main parade ground at 1600 hours today. The Sixth U.S. Army Band and two marching Battalions will be present.

Lt. Col. James F. Young will be the reviewing officer. The Commander of Troops will be M/Sgt. Edmund J. Gedroc. Sfc. Louis A. Frye will be the adjutant. Commander of the 1st Battalion will be M/Sgt. George S. Van Kirk, and M/Sgt. Robert J. Carr will command the 2nd Battalion.

Group Soldiers In Memorial Day Parade

Approximately 50 men from Headquarters Battery, 30th Artillery Group, Fort Barry, and 70 students from the San Francisco Army Air Defense School were participants in the annual San Francisco Memorial Day Parade held last Friday.

The seven division parade moved down Lombard Avenue, commencing at Van Ness, through the Presidio main gate and to the National Cemetery.

The procession terminated at the National Cemetery where Lt. General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U. S. Army Commander, addressed visitors. The ceremony at the cemetery was sponsored by the Citizen's Committee for the Proper Observance of Memorial Day.

Complex Structure of the Nike is pointed out by M/Sgt. John H. Arthur, enlisted Chief of launcher and assembly area training, to a group of SFAADS students.

AADC School Aims At Building Top Soldiers

Often referred to as "West Point, Jr." is the San Francisco Army Air Defense Command School located at Ft. Scott.

Established in October of 1957 in accordance with the Army Air Defense Program to establish a defense level school to supplement the existing Army training facilities, the San Francisco school as of this week has already graduated some 691 students.

The purpose of the school is to provide the students, ranging from privates fresh out of basic training to officers, with a thorough knowledge in the missile field. The school is capable of turning out retrained missile soldiers, advanced individual training classes, officer orientation classes, command inspection classes, and any schooling requirements that might be thrown at the defense.

There are 18 highly-qualified instructors assigned to the school who teach over 20 courses related to the defense program. They range from 20 hours to 8-week courses for advanced basic trainees.

In addition to providing missile training, the fact that the students are soldiers first and students second is emphasized. The "spit and polish" at the school is an example of a well-run, highly organized institution that serves as an example for all military schools.

Goal Passed As Final Week Ends

A whopping $2,762.19 was turned over to the 1958 Army Emergency Relief-Army Relief Society fund drive by the Presidio Officers' Open Mess last week to boost the local collections to more than 111 percent of the campaign goal.

Incomplete returns to date reveal that Presidians have already donated $4,969.85. The goal was $4,471.80.

The total from the OOM represents receipts from a recent "Frontier Night" staged by the club expressly for AER-ARS. Other sums turned in since last report zoomed the past week's net to more than $4,500. Previously, only $405.05 had been collected.

Presidio Deputy Program Director for the drive, Maj. Charles Dong, reported that further moneys are expected from the bulk of Nike installations surrounding the Presidio, Post and Sixth U. S. Army Staff Sections, and special Service Club activities.

"Very rewarding" is how he termed the campaign. "It's evident that the soldiers of the Presidio lent their enthusiastic support to this drive. They were asked to help themselves and their own; they did so unhesitatingly. But the unit and section AER representatives are the ones who deserve a special pat on the back. Without their hustle, this campaign could not have been a success."

Deadline for turn-ins, Major Dong reminded, is 10 June. Non-reporting fund drive representatives "should contact me as soon as possible so that final totals can be determined and the money transferred to using agencies."

Totals collected to date in addition to that of the OOM, are:

"Hole in One" Golf Tournament—$68.50; Presidio Headquarters: Ordnance—$5; Finance & Accounting—$3, S1—$13, Chaplain—$20, Special Services—$10; U. S. Army Garrison: Hq. Co.—$115.37, Co. A—$42.25, Co. C—$170.80, Co. D—$76.

16th Base Post Office—$66; 30th Engineer Group—$202.72; Dispensary—$66; Recruiting District—$59; Presidio NCO Club—$402.50; 163d Military Police Co.—$123.93; XV U. S. Army Corps (Reserve)—$179.50; Btry. B, 9th AAA Missile Bn.—$15.80; 197th Ordnance Det.—$7.50; United Services (PSF) Golf Club—$10; 60th Military Police Det. (CI) —$13.50; Armed Forces Courier Service—$19.

Sixth Army Headquarters: Hq. Co.—$104.15; Finance & Accounting —$10, Chaplain —$18, G2 —$280.14, Adjutant General—$51, Signal—$35; Anonymous Donation —$10; M/Sgt. Weldon M. Eastman (PSF Comptroller)—$10.

Area Stars to Korea

Two Sixth Army area generals have been assigned to the Eighth U.S. Army, Seoul, Korea, Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker announced this week.

Major General William M. Breckinridge is Commanding General, U.S. Army Training Center (Infantry), Fort Ord. Brigadier General Charles F. Tank is Commanding General of the U.S. Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific, Fort Mason. Their new assignments will become effective in October.

'Simulator' Wins Cash Award For Young Missile Officer

When 1st Lt. Harry A. Comeskey graduated from West Point (Class of '56) he elected to follow in his father's footsteps and make a military career in air defense.

Little did he know that two years later his training in missilery would lead to $65 more in his bank account.

Son of a World War II anti-aircraft artilleryman (now Lt. Col., Army Reserve) Harry A. Comeskey, the young (26) Launcher Platoon Leader for C Battery, 441st AAA Missile Battalion:

● Became aware of a fallacy in the training of launcher crewmen in booster circuit checks. "... it was found that crewmen were memorizing the Booster Continuity and Launcher stray voltage checks without actually understanding what an abnormal check was.")

● Developed a "Circuit Condition Simulator" to simulate both normal and abnormal readings for a circuit check.

● Entered a Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command electronic device contest—Second Place, $15.

● Entered a similar all-ARADCOM contest—First Place, $50.

A check for $50 was presented this week to Lt. Comeskey by Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Sixth ARADCOM Commander.

Development of the device is interesting in itself.

Using surplus materials "kumshawed" from the Navy, the lieutenant first built a Single Continuity Check, tested it, and found the results gratifying.

But, a kink still remained in testing launcher circuits. Why not add another set of instruments for such readings, suggested M/Sgt. Anthony Moeder, a platoon sergeant with the battery. Lt. Comeskey did. The resulting apparatus was a general "Circuit Condition Simulator."

Capt. Sylvanus Wooldridge, Battery Commander, injected the push to enter the device in the local competition. After it gained second place, the selection board forwarded it to ARADCOM.

"This device," said its inventor, "was developed to be used by an instructor in teaching launcher crewmen stray voltage and booster continuity checks" as prescribed by regulations. Simply, the device is attached to the check apparatus and simulates flaws that could be found in electrical systems.

Lt. Comeskey's current assignment is his first permanent one since his graduation from the Military Academy. However, he previously attended instruction on guided missiles at Fort Bliss, Tex., and completed Ranger training at Fort Benning, Ga.

Deadline Monday In Certification For Academies

Senator Thomas H. Kuchel announced this week that he will have vacancies to fill next year at all four of the Nation's service academies.

Deadline for certifying candidates to take the Civil Service Commission examinations will be 9 June. Applicants must be between 17 and 22 at the time they would enter in the summer of 1959.

Senator Kuchel will have two principal appointments, plus the usual alternates, for the Military Academy and the Naval Academy. He also can nominate eleven men who will compete for one vacancy at the Air Force Academy, and ten aspirants for the Merchant Marine Academy which makes final selections after further scrutiny of all nominees.

First '50' Okayed In EM College Program

Department of the Army has selected "approximately" 50 enlisted men to begin college training in June under a two-year education program administered by the Chief of Ordnance.

Sixth U.S. Army AG Schools Branch has reported that no word has been received here as to whether any of the 14 applicants from the eight Western states has been accepted.

This program should not be confused with the new expenses-paid, on-duty Army Enlisted Training Program in Civilian Educational Institutions which would allow qualified EM to enlist for up to four years of college.

A spokesman for the Schools Branch explained that the Ordnance program is one of several sponsored by the various technical services and is not restricted to enlisted personnel. On the other hand, the new DA set-up is open to all qualified persons and offers a variety of courses.

To date, 32 applications from Sixth Army soldiers have been received for the new program, which begins with enrollments this fall. Applications had to be forwarded to DA prior to 1 May and approval or disapproval of them is expected shortly.

Under the Ordnance program, selected applicants would enter Purdue Technical Institute on 6 June or the Milwaukee School of Engineering on 26 June. Some 25 EM will attend each school for two calendar years. Both groups will take a course in the Guided Missiles and Special Weapons Technician Field (Electronics Technology Curriculum).

The 50 persons who will enter the two schools were selected from more than 700 applicants.

Summer School Students Should Register Now

Presidio personnel who intend to send their children to the summer session, kindergarten through ninth grade, should register now at the home school or at the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258.

Parochial school students of the elementary and junior high level registering for a public summer school should register at Miss Hogan's office, Board of Education, 135 Van Ness Ave.

High school registrations for the session 16 June to 8 August should be made at the home school. These will be accepted on the following priority scale: completing graduation, English deficiencies, failures, raising of grades.

Japanese Mayor Here

Yasuki Onuma, Governor of Miyagi, Prefectural Governor of Sandai, Japan, this week visited the launcher area of "A" Battery, 9th AAA Missile Battalion at Fort Cronkhite. He was accompanied on his visit by Lt. Col. Thomas E. Bristol, Battalion Commanding Officer, Capt. Albert F. Baenziger, Commander of "A" Battery, 9th AAA Missile Battalion, and A. Kira Niskiyama, Japanese Consul General of San Francisco.

Top Student Body

Some 1300 students are attending the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School, the third largest educational institution in Alabama.

The 87 building campus contains equipment unofficially valued at more than $75,000,000 and offers 40 courses in various phases of Army and Air Force guided missiles.

Seek Applicants For Presidio Job Vacancies

Vacancies at the Presidio now include Administrative Clerk, GS-301-5, $3,670 p/a; Mail and File Supervisor, GS-305-5, $3,670 p/a; Clerk Stenographer, GS-312-4, $3,415 p/a.

Other openings are:

Engineering Drafting Reviewer (Electronic), GS-818-6, $4,080 p/a; Property and Supply Supervisor, GS-2040-6, $4,080 p/a; Recreation Leader (Social Activities and Services), GS-188-6, $4,080 p/a; Placement Assistant GS-212-5, $3,670 p/a.

A separate signed application should be submitted for each position which is desired and applications must be filed no later than 6 June with the Civilian Personnel Division, Building 227.

Recently Assigned

Two officers, recently assigned here, received awards this week.

Major PAUL C. WILEY, newly assigned Commanding Officer of Headquarters Company, Sixth U.S. Army, received a certificate of achievement this week for outstanding service as Advisor, 101st Korean Service Corps, for sixteen months in Korea.

Captain WILLIAM B. CHICK, now attending an eight weeks Nike-Hercules school at Fort Bliss, Texas, prior to departing for his new assignment in Alaska, received the Commendation Ribbon with metal pendant from Lt. Col. C. P. Samson, Commanding Officer of the 740th AAA Missile Battalion.

Missile NCOs Rescue Two In Plane Crash

Two heroic San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command noncoms this week instinctively shunned personal safety in the face of disaster and raced 150 yards across a field to drag two survivors from the flaming wreckage of a C-124 Globemaster which had plummeted earthward just seconds after having taken off from Travis Air Force Base.

The crash, which occurred about 1445 Tuesday, claimed the lives of six other persons aboard. The plane was bound with 20,000 pounds of cargo for Hickam AFB, Hawaii, on the first leg of a trip to Japan; eight crew members were on it.

Commended by Travis AFB officials for gallantry were: Sfc. Edwin J. Berg and Sgt. Forrest C. James, both of B Battery, 436th AAA Missile Battalion, stationed near Travis.

The split-second tragedy and the two soldiers' heroism Tuesday afternoon was reconstructed for the Star Presidian by a Travis spokesman as follows:

The two sergeants were returning to their outlying unit from Battalion Headquarters at the Air Force base via Route 12 when they saw the giant aircraft dip to the left, falter and smash to the ground in flames.

Seeing one man stagger from the wreckage, they leaped a fence and dashed to help him. Before they arrived, the stunned survivor collapsed — his clothes smoldering from a brush fire.

They pulled the dazed victim to safety and, at the same time, found another airman lying unconscious nearby. He apparently had been thrown from the plane by the impact of the crash. He also was burned.

Sgt. James treated the first man for shock while Sfc. Berg carried the other to safety. At that point, Air Force emergency crews arrived and took charge.

Another soldier from the same battery, Sp3 Harold Strickland, had by that time reached the scene. The Air Force ambulance driver, being alone, asked for someone to accompany the less seriously injured man to the hospital. Sp3 Strickland volunteered.

The unconscious airman was moved to the hospital by helicopter. Latest report is that he is still in serious condition and is unconscious most of the time. His fellow-survivor, however, is now able to sit up and can talk without difficulty.

One interesting sidelight; When the two missile sergeants first reached the scene of the crash, the dazed airman they had rushed out to help begged them to leave him alone and save the others, thinking all or some of his companions were still alive.

Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks, Commander of the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense), commended the heroism of Sfc. Berg and Sgt. James. "It was extremely fortunate," he said, "that they were present at the time of the crash. Their immediate action taken in this emergency is typical of the caliber of soldier demanded in today's Army Air Defense missile units."

New VA Test Could Aid Diagnosis

Development of a new test which may be helpful in diagnosis of mild diabetes was reported this week by Veterans Administration after extensive clinical evaluation at the VA hospital in Dallas, Texas.

Sodium tolbutamide is injected in the patient's vein, and the response of the blood sugar level is analyzed 20 and 30 minutes later. Non-diabetics show a rapid decline in blood sugar level, whereas the level in diabetic patients falls much more slowly.

These results were reported by Drs. Roger H. Unger and Leonard L. Madison of the Departments of Internal Medicine of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School and the Dallas VA Hospital, on the basis of tests in 100 non-diabetics and 75 diabetics.

Wins Promotion

Second Lieutenant Earl M. Lunceford, a member of the 9th Bn. at Ft. Baker since April 1957, recently received his silver bars.

The former football standout with Oklahoma State University and the Calgary Stampede some day plans to return to Oklahoma State and take up coaching.

Married and the father of two children, the new First Lieutenant lives with his family in Sausalito.

30 NCO's End Special Study At AAD School

Thirty missile non-commissioned officers will graduate tomorrow from the first class of the San Francisco Army Air Defense Command School's NCO Command Course.

During graduation ceremonies, which will feature a talk by Sixth U.S. Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, 47 other soldiers will be awarded certificates attesting to their completion of SFAADS Course E-2 (Second Eight Weeks of Basic Training).

The second group represent the third class of basic trainees to have been graduated from the School since its inception last September.

Strength Drops

Washington (ANS)—Army procurement during April totaled 27,139. There were 13,102 inductions through Selective Service, 6,405 new recruits, 7,009 reenlistments, and 623 reservists coming on active duty. On 30 April, Army strength was estimated at 905,638 compared with 911,578 on 31 March, a drop of 5,940.

Keeps Army's Best Foot Forward

Tucked away in the corner of the Letterman Army Hospital basement is the small office and hallway waiting room of a unique specialist whose unsung efforts are essential to keeping the Army on its feet.

He is 2nd Lt. Donald M. Swanson, MSC, second podiatrist in the history of the U.S. Army to receive a commission in his field. One of eight commissioned podiatrists, Lieutenant Swanson represents 50 percent of the total number of commissioned podiatrists in the Sixth U.S. Army area. The other is located at the U.S. Army Hospital at Fort Ord.

A podiatrist, incidentally, is a foot specialist whose skills must take him through simple corrections of minor foot injuries to foot surgery.

Lieutenant Swanson, who enlisted in the Army in August 1956 when commissions in podiatry were first offered through the Medical Specialist Corps, served in enlisted status until he was awarded gold bars April 3, 1957. The first officer to be commissioned as a podiatrist was called to active duty in January 1957.

After basic training at Fort Dix, N.J., Lieutenant Swanson "sweated out" his commission several months at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and, after commissioning, remained there for additional training before being sent to his first assignment—Letterman Hospital.

When the 25-year-old (this May 31) New Jersey native who calls Connecticut home, arrived at LAH May 31, 1957—on his birthday—he replaced an enlisted podiatrist and dug in to clear the excessive load of patients.

Podiatrist Ponders over one man's foot problems as he checks X-rays in his LAH office. Lt. Swanson is one of eight commissioned podiatrists in the Army.

Doctor Swanson, whose waiting room is always full, specializes in treating foot problems which cannot be handled at dispensary level or as a consultant in difficult cases being treated elsewhere.

In addition to seeing patients from the Presidio and San Francisco areas, he also is called upon to treat personnel from many outlying areas, some as far away as Sacramento.

When queried on the degree of success he has enjoyed in treating feet, the doctor smilingly ducked the question, but did note that the "results are very gratifying."

Among cures to very painful maladies which Doctor Swanson has effected immediately have been treatment of ingrown nails; tenomy, or the severing of tendons to eliminate contracting toes; and treatment of short limbs which can be corrected by proper lifts and special shoes.

Other discrepancies, of course, require more extensive treatment and often relief cannot be immediately provided.

Doctor Swanson told your reporter that whenever he can knock off for a little vacation, he plans to head for Pebble Beach for some golf or move out for the mountains and some skiing. He didn't disclose whether his wife, Sandra, was as enthusiastic about the sports as he is.

The lieutenant holds a doctor's degree from Temple University.

Television Producer now with the Army. Pvt. Stuart Blue is designing and building the sets for the three one-act plays to be performed 13 June. Blue was formerly assistant producer of the television show "Queen for a Day."

Play Casting Completed; Blue Will Design Setting

All acting and walk-on parts in the three one-act plays have been completely filled, Entertainment Director Harry Helman announced this week. The plays, which have gone into nightly rehearsals, are scheduled for performance on 13 June.

The sets have been designed and constructed by Pfc. Stuart Blue, former assistant producer on the television program "Queen for a Day." Of particular note is the set for the play "The Wrong Slant." It is a replica of the interior of radio station KLAH.

"The Wrong Slant," written by Sp3 Linden Chiles, is directed by Pfc. Don Canty. Pfc. J. Eugene English directs "Five Minutes to Dawn," by Pvt. David Sofield. And Lt. Col. Thomas Baker directs a play by Pfc. Wolcott W. Hubbell, Jr., "Nude with Nike."

Wins Photo Award

WAC M/Sgt. Olive M. Hinchcliff was awarded a photo album and a certificate Monday in Colonel Rau's office for having won the Inter-Service Photography Contest, First Place, Professional Color Class.

The Inter-Service contest was open to military personnel in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. The album the sergeant received contains reproductions of all photos submitted in the Inter-Service contest.

Workshop Underway

A three day seminar conducted by the General Services Administration at Fort Baker, "Correspondence Management Workshop," is being attended by 19 officers and warrant officers of 6th ARADCOM headquarters and the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense).

"THE VIKINGS"—The swashbuckling story of history's fiercest warriors who terrorized a nation and made a legend that has lived for centuries.

"THE LIGHT IN THE FOREST"—A veteran scout leads a pioneer through hostile Indian country and later helps in establishing peace in the new territory.

"BULL WHIP"—A lone cow-hand wins a cattle ranch and a beautiful girl as the unexpected result of a bargain he makes to escape hanging.

"KING CREOLE"—A young high school student renounces his part in a juvenile gang to become a successful rock 'n roll singer.

"THE LONE RANGER AND THE LOST CITY OF GOLD"—The Lone Ranger and his cohort Tonto bring swift justice to a gang of outlaws trying to find and sack a lost city of treasure.

Which records will be best sellers this month? It's hard to tell from the wide range of selections newly released. But if you wish to make a guess, clip the coupon below and send to the Star Presidian, Building 87A. Records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Records, Inc., 262 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

The background music to "A Farewell to Arms," composed by Mario Nascimbene, is out now on Capitol. The score captures the authentic atmosphere of a savage and futile war fought in the snow of the Alps. Two main themes are apparent. War is represented by the cannonade of percussion, and love is carried by the music of the strings.

Apropos to the current Cow Palace activities, RCA Victor has released a timely turn-about entitled "A Billy Graham Crusade in Song." It features Beverly Shea, with the Graham accoutrements to back him up, singing, among other things, "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," "The Lord's Prayer," and "America the Beautiful."

For something a little more quiet, Decca has put out a bit of mood music, "Hollywood at Midnight," Andre Previn at the ivories, with a subtle rhythm accompaniment, fingers some quiet interpretations of "Too Late Now," "Laura," "My Foolish Heart," and "Invitation."

Those who prefer something more esoteric in their record collection might be interested in a disc released by Caedmon, "Hearing Poetry," from Dryden to Browning. This selection of poetry, from the seventeenth through nineteenth century, is narrated by Mark van Doren.

The Franck D minor symphony has an excellent recording on Columbia with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra. This symphony, with its restless, changing harmonies and its chromatic and diatonic melodies operates from a sustained to a high emotional pitch. Ormandy captures its mood and projects it with direct clearness into the listener.

80 Girl Scouts Awarded Badges At Final Meet

A Court of Awards ceremony at the Service Club last week climaxed the year of Girl Scouting and honored eighty Girl Scouts of five Presidio troops.

Following the invocation by Chaplain Pease, and welcoming words by Shirley Davenport, Col. Charles G. Rau, Post Commander, spoke on "Time for Inventory," which reviewed the many advantages of Scouting. Mrs. Raymond Bunshaw, Neighborhood Chairman, then introduced each troop for presentation of badges earned during the year. Of special significance were the Curved Bar Awards—the highest in Scouting—earned by Pamela Duncan, Mary Goodwin, Johanna Hackney and Margo Stahl, Troop No. 61, and presented by District Director Miss Sonya Gansheroff.

Seniors in Troop No. 5 welcomed a large group from Intermediate to Senior status in a "Crossing the Bridge" ceremony, and were themselves recipients of Silver Wings in connection with their recent study of aviation. Special Office Aide Bars were presented to Susan Parts, Martha Still and Cheryl Pease.

The Intermediate Troops No. 61, 73, 162 and 163 received a total of 227 awards, and twelve of their members advanced to First Class Rank. Special recognition was given by the Neighborhood Chairman to the untiring and faithful efforts of the various leaders and troop committees.

AAA Families Start Move To New MCA Housing

This week 12 families of men stationed at Battery B, 441st AAA Missile Battalion, San Ramon, California, began moving into Military Construction Authority housing units located near the Battery Area.

The MCA housing units were built in order that men holding key jobs might live in close proximity to the Nike Missile sites.

Twelve units were opened of which three are officer units. The $16,500 two and three-bedroom homes are equipped with gas stove, garbage disposal unit, electric ventilator, electric refrigerator, tile floors and patio.

The MCA housing is the first housing of this type to be occupied by members of the 441st AAA Missile Battalion. The homes were officially opened by Lt. Col. Grant W. Allison for the Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, California.

Also present at the formal opening were: Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks, Commanding Officer, 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.); Lt. Col. Roy H. Lundgren, Commanding Officer, 441st AAA Missile Battalion, and 1st Lt. William L. Ponder, Jr., Commanding Officer, Battery B, 441st AAA Missile Battalion.

The greatest anti-aircraft artillery force ever assembled for one undertaking to that date helped secure the Normandy beaches on and after D-Day, June 6, 1944, when the Allied landings in France took place.

SC Carnival Would Swell AER Coffers

"By any other name . . ." tonight's Fort Baker Service Club attraction should swell the coffers of the 1958 Joint Army Emergency Relief-Army Relief Society.

Redesignated "AER Carnival" from "Las Vegas Night," the fund-raising program still will feature a variety of games and contests designed to funnel dollars to the soldiers' own aid groups. It begins at 1930.

Highlighting the carnival will be such events as darts, nail pounding and card games. In addition, a food concession will offer hot dogs, drinks, and home made cakes and pies.

Following the carnival, there will be a dance. Dance hostesses also will help manage activity booths during the carnival.

Toros Upset Kops In Presidio Keg Play

The King Pin Keglers rolled to a 4-0 victory over the SFAADS this week in the Presidio Bowling League. Top score was the 541-189 of Andresen, while the losers' top man was Horn with 525-188.

In the match between the Islanders and the Shafter, Given, with 515-175, helped the Islanders rack up a 4-0 win. High for the Shafter was Opozda, 541-184.

Keystone Kops suffered a 4-0 defeat at the hands of the Toros, and even though their top man bagged a 502-176, he couldn't match the 550-200 rolled by the Toro's Havrilla.

Wilmoth bowled high for the week with 581-208, but didn't keep his team, Hq. Co. 6A, from losing 3-1 to 60th CI Det. Top kegler for the winners was Ogle with 503-179.

Wrong Time, Right Team In Hoop Win

The 740th AAA's Bravo hoopsters dug out their old togs this week and nailed down undisputed championship in battalion basketball by sinking the rival Charlie Battery quint, 80-65, in tournament finals Monday night at the Fort Scott Gym.

The championship tilt had been postponed since the end of regular play.

Big gun for the victors was Frohlich, whose 23 points sparked his teammates to a 36-35 half-time lead and then pulled the Bravo contingent into a commanding lead in the latter stages of the scrap.

High-scoring ace Hubie Brown of the Charlies netted a red-hot 38 tallies, but could not carry his weak-hitting supporters to victory.

Young mountain lions shed their spotted coats when they are about six months old.

First Ball of the Pony League season is thrown out by Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, CG of XV U.S. Army Corps, as (l. to r.) Coach Thomas Hancock of the Tigers, Col. Robert Rhine, officer in 6th Army G-3 section, Col. Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer of Presidio and Coach Larry Davenport of the Dodgers look on.

Cleo Didn't Play?

The history of billiards is tangled in a mild dispute. Shakespeare, quite unconsciously, fixed the game as something that was played prior to the Christian Era. In "Antony and Cleopatra," written about 1607, when billiards was an established game in England, Shakespeare had Cleopatra saying to her lady-in-waiting: "Come let us go to billiards, Charmain." Some historians sized upon this bit of fiction as proof that billiards was a game about 2,000 years ago. But that appears to be an error as billiards is now considered to be the indoor development of the outdoor game of lawn bowls with original rules that are quite similar to those which govern the game of croquet. Its origin is fixed as about the 14th Century, and the place as England.

Fawn Rate High

Evidence compiled by California Department of Fish and Game managers indicates that the high fawn survival of the 1956 crop and the apparent good survival of the fawn class of 1957 should result in a bumper crop of bucks and high deer kill in 1958.

Toreros Take Service Title At Nevada

In the first Memorial Day Armed Forces tournament in Nevada last week the Toreros defeated the Navy by forfeit and then trampled Stead Air Force team 11-0.

Roger Sawyer, winning pitcher, threw a one-hitter and struck out 13 batters.

Tonight the Presidio boys are slated to travel to Healdsburg to clash with the Packers. This will be the opening game for that town's team and a civic celebration will be held before the match.

On 8 July the Toreros are scheduled to enter the state tournament at Pittsburg and will face the Veterans of Foreign Wars in their first game.

If the Presidio baseballers win, they then play the tournament favorites, Del Monte Meats.

Despite popular belief, weasels don't suck the blood of their prey. They do sometimes kill more than they can eat at once, but this surplus food is usually stored for future use.

Reuss Leads Early Play With Top 75

At the end of three days of play in the Post Intramural Golf Tournament, Capt. George Reuss, officer in charge of the Post Golf team, leads the field with a 75.

Close behind him are Jacobs, Carroll, Welch, Ward and Rogers.

Also in the tournament are Col. Donald K. Armstrong, who last week lofted a shot 100 yards to score a hole in one and win the AER Golf meet, Capt. Charles Monges, second in the AER male military division, and 1954 Kentucky State Amateur Golf Tournament Runner Up, Jimmie Jones.

Other top men in the tourney include Thraikill, 80, Caylor, 82, Splane, 85, Barker, 85, Browning, 85, Hale, 87, Mohr, 82, Anderson, 89, and Allan, 90.

A record 84 entrants began the qualifying rounds on Monday and the end of the day found Capt. Ruess ahead with a score of 73. Following him were Welch, 74, Jacobs, 76, Monges, 78 and Carroll, 79.

The field was narrowed to 44 for the 54-hole tournament, and the top four open winners as well as the top two winners in the senior division will compete in the Central Sixth Army Tournament at Ft. Ord from 23-27 June.

... but a hound dog?

Dog racing traces its history back to ancient times, when it was classified as "coursing." Dogs of high speed, such as Whippets, Greyhounds, Afghans and others were used thousands of years ago to track down animals that had food value. Coursing had its origin centuries ago in almost forgotten lands and then was exported to England, where it gained considerable popularity as early as 10 centuries ago — perhaps earlier.

Teams Tie As Intramural Softball Hits Mid Mark

First half of play in the Ft. Scott softball league ended with a tie between the 21st Engineers and the Honor Guard.

The second half should prove to be very exciting, as the Air Defense School, only a game behind the top two teams, trounced the 21st Engineers in a practice game.

30th Group Stars Grab Bird Titles

The usual strong athletic representatives from 30th Artillery Group, Fort Barry, emerged from the 6th RAADCOM Badminton Tournament at Fort Lawton, Washington, with both the singles and doubles championships on May 27 and 28.

Sp3 Morris Rubin of the 740th AAA Missile Battalion went undefeated in three matches to capture the singles crown. Final standings in the singles division were: San Francisco 3-0, Los Angeles 2-1, and Seattle 0-2.

The 436th AAA Missile Battalion duo of Sp3 C. J. Daigle and Sp3 K. R. Wilhoit brought home the doubles crown for 30th Group by squeezing by a hard-fighting Los Angeles duo in the final match of the doubles event. Final standings in the doubles division were: San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles 2-2, and Seattle 0-2.

UNDEFEATED Morris Rubin

In the Ft. Baker League the 194 Ord. and the 6th Rad Com may be battling it out for the championship.

LAH is still on top in the Presidio League with seven wins and no losses.

Anyone interested in coming into the leagues should contact Sgt. Mary Phillips at 3968.

Shoring Things Up

Among the projects for which funds were allocated at the last meeting of the Wildlife Conservation board were a launching ramp, floating piers, riprap, fill and a small parking area at Nick's Cove on Tomales Bay, amounting to $33,100.

Still a Religion

Bowling, called America's No. 1 indoor sport with its 20,000,000 participants, dates back to ancient Germany, where the practice originally was part of a religious ceremony.

The color of trout flesh does not aid in identification as many fishermen suppose. The color depends on the kind of food the trout has eaten.

Count Your Many Mussels But Please Don't Eat Any

California mussels are pretty strong.

As a matter of fact, from 1 May through the end of October each year, they flex enough to kill a man in 15 minutes.

These little denizens of the deep waters of San Francisco Bay and coastal waters generate an alkaloid poison nearly like and with the punch of strychnine.

The State Board of Public Health has slapped a six-month quarantine on the toxic shellfish; but, because poisonous mussels look just like the tame variety, health officials recommend that all mussels be labeled "unfit for human consumption" during the danger period.

Real source of the poison, however, is not the mussel; it's Gon-yaulax catenella, a microscopic organism found in plankton, which serves as food for mussels and

Because it is heat stable, boiling or steaming does not destroy the poison. Mussels may be used as bait during quarantine, but should be opened and placed in cans plainly marked "For Fish Bait Only."

As an added note, the State Health official recommend that the dark meat of clams be ignored — eat only the white meat. Clams, they say, should be thoroughly cleaned and steamed and should be dug only in areas free from sewage contamination.

Strikers Move Into Second In Keg Race

The Rafael Nike Strikers took three games from the first place Islanders this week to move into second place in the 9th Missileer Bowling League. The fine bowling of Most (498-171) sparked the team sweep. Lundahl with 445-181 was the top man for the losers.

A 505-193 series for the Five Niners by Caddes helped them rack up a three game win over the Baenziger's Rangers. High man for the losers was Hopperdietzel with 539-210.

Oozlefinsches suffered a 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Angels, whose top man was Trafton with 486-178. Top scorer for the Finches was Beam, 547-192.

Harrison Spins Two Hitter As Pirates Win 7-0

The Sixth Army Pirates began action in the Presidio Youth Pony League by racking up a 7-0 victory over the Presidio & L.A.H. Dodgers, with winning pitcher Harrison allowing only two hits.

In the nightcap the 30th Artillery Group Tigers nosed out the XV Corps Braves 5-3. Foley, winning pitcher, gave up 6 hits for 3 runs while losing pitcher, Mlaker, gave up 6 hits for 5 runs.

Another double header is slated for this Saturday at the League Field just off Lincoln Blvd., behind the 30th Engineer Motor Pool.

No.3 Army Team Tops Pac League Bowling Scramble

Hq. Co. 6th Army No. 3 vaulted into the Pacific Summer Bowling League lead this week by taking four games from the Mail Maullers. High for the new leaders was Wilmoth with 533-191, while Stevens rolled a 482-181 for the Maullers.

A 2-2 split with the Retorts put the A.A.A. Sparks in second place. The two leading bowlers were Beeky, 516-210, for the Sparks and Haurilla, 488-171 for the Retorts.

Stabile, with 462-166, picked up a 6-7-10 split to lead the Hq. 6A No. 2 team to a 4-0 victory over the Regioners. Top man for the losers was Ploen with 442-164.

Final score in the match between the Comptrollers and the Newcomers to the Presidio WAC softball team are (l. to r.) Pfc. Rachel Kurashima; Sp3 Marjorie Rinke; Pfc. Mollie Edwards and Pvt. Claudette Schlemans.

Sports 'Chuting 'Delaware Cup' To Army Team

A 77th Special Forces team from Ft. Bragg captured the coveted "Delaware Cup" and annexed the first Easter Parachuting Championship at Wilmington.

Competing against two other Army divisions, one Marine, six collegiate, and five private sport parachute teams, the 77th took first place in the only event of the meet, a "jump-and-pull" from 2,500 feet in which landing accuracy only was scored.

This marked the first time Army "sky markers" have been permitted to compete with civilian groups in "jump" competition. This is in keeping with the newly-published AR 95-19 which permits Army personnel to participate in properly-supervised sport parachute activities.

WAC Softball Team Shows Fine Form

The Presidio WAC Softball team has been training this week for the Women's Inter-Service Softball League which began for them last night when they came up against Oakland Army Terminal there at 1800 hours.

With only one casualty thus far this season, the girls are working to defend the Sixth U.S. Army Women's Softball title and the Runners Up Championship for the Bay Area Armed Forces Women's League, 1957.

Boasting a 2-0 victory record, the local ladies are looking forward to a good season this year. Coached by Sfc. Samuels, their hopes for coming out 1958 champions are high.

Horseshoe Champ

Sporting his newly won crown for his defeat of Sp3 Charles Prather in the individual horseshoe championship, M/Sgt. Marvin, Battery A, teamed with Cpl. Joe Smith to down Prather and Sp3 Bill Hodson for the doubles title. This gave the "A" boys a clean sweep of the 9th AAA Msl. Bn. tournament.

Private In Win

Private First Class Helmer Hansen, representing the Presidio, finished sixth during the Pacific Association of the A.A.U. Long Distance Running Meet held at North Beach on 1 June.

The winner, James King, from Stanford, established a new record of 39.25.

Hunter Training

In just the first two months of 1958, nearly 10,000 youngster received hunter safety training in California, according to the Department of Fish and Game.

Baby river otters are called pups. Their eyes are closed for the first month of their lives and they sometimes remain in the den for as long as three months.

Yanks Down Giants 3-2 Hold Single Game Lead

The Yanks of the Golden Gate Little League stretched their lead to one game as they racked up a 3-2 victory over the Giants last Tuesday.

After getting off to a fast start with two runs in the first, the league leaders waited until the 4th to make their move and gain their final run.

Winning pitcher was Ken Teasdale.

Eight full innings were played Thursday before the Cubs trampled the Cards 17-14.

At the end of six innings the two teams were tied 14-14, and they remained scoreless through the seventh.

Fast action in the eighth saw the Cubs bat in three runs to win the game. Winning pitcher was Steve Thompson.

In Saturday's double header the Yanks again showed their power by crushing the third place Cubs 15-3. Jimmy Martinez, winning pitcher, allowed only one hit.

Ken Henderson pitched the Giants to a 6-5 win over the Cards in the second game of the day.

The game between the Yanks and the Cubs, originally rained out, was played Tuesday night, and had some excitement when J. J. Hill slammed a home run in the first to put the Cubs on top and with the pitching of Steve Thompson, they stayed on top to defeat the Yanks 9-7.

This week's double header will see the Cubs battling the Giants and the Yanks trying to keep their lead by trouncing the Cards.

| STANDINGS |     |      |
|-----------|-----|------|
| Team      | Won | Lost |
| Yanks     | 7   | 2    |
| Giants    | 6   | 3    |
| Cubs      | 3   | 6    |
| Cards     | 2   | 7    |

Set Shot Tops

The one-hand set shot in basketball was popularized by Hank Luisetti, the great Stanford University forward who played in the middle '30's. It has proved to be a more effective scoring weapon than the two handed shot up to about a distance of eighteen feet from the basket. It can be made quicker, while on the move, and is harder to block and easier to rebound because of the position of the play. It is excellent when using a fast breaking attack.

Fraus, Sample Top Seeded In Presidio Tennis Play

Three returning champions from last year's Post tennis team head a small but talented list of tennis hopefuls who were scheduled to begin play yesterday in the annual Post intramural tournament.

Captain Frank W. Sample, defending singles champion, Col. R. H. Rhine, last season's senior division champion, and Sp3 Sylvia Bernardino, female titlist, will attempt to retain their crowns as they compete against some 15 other players.

Also included in the list is Sp3 Pat Fraus, a newcomer to the Presidio and a former tennis instructor at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

The winner and runner-up in the open single, the senior, and female divisions, will be chosen to represent the Presidio in the Sixth U.S. Army Tournament to be held at Ft. Ord on 23-27 June.

Play will continue during the weekend and will be completed some time next week.

Colonel Robert Rhine, 1957 Senior Division champion, will be out to recapture the title this year.

Although competition is expected to be tough, because both Sample and Rhine are members of the U.S. Leach Cup Team, this will make the Presidio's entry in the Sixth Army Tennis Tournament very strong as both men are capable of winning in that type of competition.

Post Gun Club Adds City Title Awards to Case

Team trophies for winning the San Francisco C League Small Bore Rifle Championship were presented to the Presidio Gun Club at the annual San Francisco Rifle Association Award Dinner held last week in Milbrae.

Participating members of the Presidio team who had a winning record of 14 wins to one loss are Pfc. Charles Edwin, M/Sgt. Wayne Steward, Sp. Norman Teslik, M/Sgt. Douglas Sheridan, Sp3 John Alexander, Capt. Richard Jones, Sp3 Shirley Rodenhizer and Sp. King Westerhold.

Individual trophies were also given to Edwin, high shooter in the C League; Teslik, best shooter in sharpshooter class, kneeling position, and Rodenhizer, tops in offhand in the Tyrol class.

Edwin, Teslik and Alexander are now representing the post at the National Matches.

Lynch Tennis Singles Champ In 9th Tourney

Glenn Lynch, 9th AAA Msl. Bn., won the singles crown in the 30th Artillery Group double elimination tennis tournament held from 21-28 May, at Fort Scott.

The singles champion and runner-up, Thomas Falgien, Hq. Battery, teamed together to cop the doubles division.

Both the champions and the runners-up will represent the 30th Artillery Group in the 6th Regional competitions at Camp Hanford, Washington, from 8-12 June.

Key Seminar On Strategy Starts In June

The fourth annual National Strategy Seminar will be held 10-13 June at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

More than 200 graduates of the Army War College and 70 civilian and military leaders will be addressed by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker, General Nathan F. Twining, and General Maxwell D. Taylor.

The basis for seminar work will be committee study, with the guests assigned to regular 12-15 member groups. The committees will each draft proposed strategies, based on the knowledge the students have gained through their study at the college and refined in collaboration with the seminar guests.

Set Light Plane Mark

Saturday an L23D, a twin engine Beechcraft, arrived at the Presidio after a record flying time of 13 hours and 50 minutes from Washington, D. C.

The plane, which was piloted by Maj. Robt. D. Holliday, Commanding Officer 6th USA Flight Detachment, and Capt. Frederick L. Clapp, 6th USA Flight Detachment, was the third and last of its kind to be delivered to the Presidio.

It carries two crew members and four passengers and will be used as a carrier for ranking military personnel.

Pollen TB Factor?

Sarcoidosis, a tuberculosis-like disease, may be caused by pollen from the Eastern pine tree, the Veterans Administration research announced this week.

Two chemicals found in wax from the pollen also are found in the tuberculosi microbe, and are similar if not identical to materials found in sarcoidosis lesions by British investigators.

Set Formal Opening For New Library

The formal opening of the new library will be held 12 June at 2000 hours. Approximately 400 people, including civilian librarians from nearby posts, have been invited to attend.

The Sixth U.S. Army band will play. Chaplain Paul N. Pease will offer the invocation, and Colonel Charles G. Rau will deliver the dedicatory address.

After the ceremony a tour of the library will be conducted by the staff, and refreshments will be served.

No Gay Blade This

The most treasured blade in the world is the Divine Sword of Japan. It is over 2,000 years old and is called the Rusanagino Tsurugi. It was brandished by Prince Yamato Takeruno Mikoto, and legend has it that he first used it to cut down blazing grass which surrounded him and then whirled it with victorious result at his enemies in Eastern Japan. When the sword was moved to Nagoya, over 500,000 people took part. Thus one of the largest crowds in history assembled to pay homage to a fencing device of only legendary value.

Post Safety Record Tops On Weekend

Presidians escaped the rash of Memorial Day weekend traffic accidents without a single fatality, it was reported by Post Safety Director Henry E. Bennett.

Nor have any reports of injuries incurred in vehicle smash-ups been received, he said.

Other accidental deaths were not the lot of any soldiers or civilians here.

Bennett attributed the Presidio's excellent showing during the holidays, when 33 persons died from traffic accidents in California alone, to the combined emphasis on safety by both military and civilian information mediums, posters, and the efforts of safety personnel and police cooperation.

Soldier Singer Wins 740th's Best Laurels

A member of the "Mis-sileaires," Sp/3 Robert W. Michaels, Crd Spare Parts Technician from B Battery, 740th AAA Msl. Bn. at Fort Scott, has been named Battalion Soldier of the Month.

The 24-year-old soldier likes photography and hi-fi as hobbies and holds the league record for three-game series in bowling.

Residing in San Francisco with his wife and son, Michaels will spend his three-day pass with his family and will spend his $25 award on a War Bond for his boy.

New Smoke Screen

Washington (ANS) — Army Chemical Corps scientists have developed a new aircraft smoke tank that allows jet planes to lay down a smoke screen to conceal paratroop jumps and other combat operations. The new tank can form a complete smoke curtain from 500 feet to the ground in about 25 seconds as compared to from 5 to 25 minutes for previous types.

Washington (Army News Service)—The Department of the Army has announced a sweeping change in the traditional insignia and titles of its enlisted pay grades that is specifically aimed at enhancing the prestige of enlisted personnel.

In line with the recent revision of the military pay structure and the new enlisted E-8 and E-9 grades that were passed into law by the 85th Congress, the Army has completely changed the rank and insignia of its non-commissioned officers in Grades E-5 through E-7. Specialist rank and insignia has also been changed. In addition, it has added a new insignia and rank for the super E-9 grade.

The Army said these new enlisted insignia of rank will enhance its personnel's prestige because the elevation from E-5 through E-7 increases their significance in that the number of EM wearing these insignia will be reduced.

Approximately 25 percent of the Army's enlisted personnel will be affected by the change in rank and insignia, a spokesman said.

The size of the specialist insignia will be increased to that of the non-commissioned officer. However, the eagle will be retained.

Under present planning, no immediate date has been set for the conversion. The changeover is expected to be made on an evolutionary basis as replacement of uniforms or insignia is required.

There will be 400 Armywide enlisted appointments to pay grade E-8 this month—100 to Sergeant Major and 300 to First Sergeant. These quotas will be limited to First Sergeants and Sergeant Majors of divisional-type Infantry, Artillery, and Armor units together with training regiments of the training centers. This will be expanded during the first quarter of

Open House To Welcome Old Soldiers

The 183rd birthday of the Army will be observed at the Presidio today in conjunction with the first annual Retired Personnel Open House.

The observance is being made under an Army-wide policy aimed at keeping retired personnel in touch with modern day Army.

Some 303 retired officers and enlisted men of San Francisco are expected to attend today's event. Plans are also under way for a future open house when facilities will be extended to retired personnel residing in other sections of the Bay Area.

A retreat Parade will be conducted on the Main Parade Ground today at 1600 hours.

Reviewing officer will be Col. Charles G. Rau, or designated representative. Lt. Col. James F. Young will command the troops, while Capt. James E. Corum will act as adjutant.

Four battalions, the Sixth Army Band and colors will participate. Commanding the first battalion will be Maj. Roscoe C. Cartwright; the second, Maj. Charles Dong; the third, Maj. Ranald E. Steiner; the fourth, Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol.

- The program is scheduled as follows:
- 0930-0950 — Welcoming Address by Colonel Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, and Orientation. Presidio Theater, Bldg. 99.
  - 1000-1440 — On Site Exhibit Scenic Bus Tour (departing every 20 minutes from Main Parade Ground.)
  - 1130-1330 — Lunch at the Presidio Officer's and Non-Commissioned Officer's Open Messes and Enlisted Messes.
  - 1600 — Retreat Parade, Main Parade Ground.
  - 1930 — Presidio One-Act Play Production, Presidio Service Club.
- In addition to the program, the following displays will be on exhibit:
- Nike-Ajax Display by 30th Arty. Gp. (Air Def.); Ammunition, Bombs Display by 548th Ord. Det.; MP Vehicles, Weapons; Mobile

Open House Set

A birthday observation of the Army will be held by the 30th Artillery Group, Fort Barry, tomorrow, 14 June. There will be an open house from 1900 to 1400 hours in order that interested persons may see how missile units in their area function.

Battery A, 441st AAA Missile Battalion, will participate in a special flag day ceremony at Alameda, California where all branches of the Armed Forces will have color guard units represented.

Wins Decoration

The Army's Commendation Ribbon was awarded to 1st Lt. John F. McMahon, Missile Officer for the 9th AAA Missile Battalion at a retreat ceremony last week on the Ft. Baker Parade grounds.

Awarding the ribbon was Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, Commanding Officer of the 9th Battalion.

DA Cites Key Defense Role Assigned STRAF

Washington (ANS)—The Strategic Army Force (STRAF), located here in the United States, plays a key role in backing up all units of the Army Team deployed overseas.

Presently STRAF consists of seven Army divisions and supporting units. It has two essential elements of strength:

- (1) The Strategic Army Corps (STRAC), a versatile force kept in a high state of readiness and prepared to move anywhere in the world on short notice.
- (2) The STRAC reinforcement, an active training force consisting of three divisions.

STRAC is the four-division combat-ready force aptly called the "fire brigade" of the Army. This force is poised and ready to fight—any time, any place, around the clock.

Supporting units give STRAC staying power and the ability to sustain itself in extended ground combat. Its forces can employ an arsenal of weapons ranging from the bayonet to the atomic warhead.

The Army's combat forces overseas and STRAC are always in a high state of fighting effectiveness. They are ready if trouble comes. They have the means and know-how to deal with the brushfire war. And they can apply the degree of force necessary to counter any threat and avoid the risk of an all-out nuclear war.

New AUSA Head

Washington (ANS)—The Adjutant General of the Pennsylvania National Guard Major General Anthony J. Drexel has been elected President of the Association of the U.S. Army, effective this month. He won the election in a mail referendum of the membership.

Flu Shots Ahead

A new Polyvalent influenza vaccine giving protection against Asian, Swine, A, A-prime, and B strains of the disease will be administered during October, 1958, to all Army personnel on active duty, the Army Surgeon General's Office announced this week.

The new flu vaccine will be given as a single one cc subcutaneous injection to servicemen and to all others age 13 and over.

Better Service, Management Key Commanders Conference

More realism and enthusiasm in carrying out training missions; strict attention to good maintenance and proper utilization of equipment; constant check on management procedures and procurement programs to assure the Army is getting the best dollar value and attention to installation and personal appearance were some of the key areas stressed in the Sixth Army Commanders Conference at the Presidio on Tuesday.

Sixth Army Commander Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer made the opening and closing remarks as other members of his staff gave presentations in their specialized assignments.

On hand for the conference were commanders, or their representatives from the eight western state area. Included were: Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, 6th RADCOM, Fort Baker; Maj. Gen. Francis M. Day, X Corps (Res.) Fort Lawton; Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, XV Corps (Res.) PSFC; Maj. Gen. William M. Breckinridge, Fort Ord; Brig. Gen. John H. McGee, 4th Inf. Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Brig. Gen. Walter A. Jensen, Camp Irwin; Col. Charles G. Rau, CO, Presidio; Col. Milo F. Gray, Ft. MacArthur; Col. Walter W. Abbey, Yuma Test Station, Yuma, Ariz.; Col. Roland C. Bower, Jr., Fort

Exam Deadline

A closing date of 16 June has been set for acceptance of applications for the Federal Service Entrance Examination. Card Forms 5001 AB must be postmarked or filed not later than that date with the 12th U.S. Civil Service Region, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Civilian Personnel Office, Bldg. 227, or telephoning 2349.

Well-traveled Bottle with a note from a Korean seaman was discovered on Crissy Field Beach by Sp3 Robert Martin, Sixth U.S. Army Flight Detachment.

Delays Saki Bottle

Water works many changes on the earth's surface. It crushes rocks to sand, and makes valleys from mountains.

It also washes up Saki bottles on the beach by Crissy Field.

Last Friday around noon Sp3 Robert Martin, Flight Detachment Sixth Army, was walking on the beach and found a large bottle, a misty sea green, lying in the sand. There was a note in the bottle, written in ink by a clear script.

"Please, do you like exchange any letter with me. I hope it that I have to make friends among the different lands. I'm a Korean, now, student in ship for training. Address to follow: Lee Hee Chul, Cadet M.S. Korea, Far Eastern Marine Transport Co., Seoul, Korea."

Anyone having an empty Saki bottle and not knowing what to do with it, might try answering the letter of Lee Hee Chul. Postage courtesy of Pacific Ocean.

It's Your Home

Keep It Beautiful

Keep your post clean! Over 12,000 civilians last year were taken on guided tours of the Presidio and hundreds of tourists pass daily through this Post.

It is your responsibility as a member of the Army to keep the Presidio in the best possible condition.

In addition to carrying out this responsibility through daily police calls and personal initiative, Post headquarters announced this week that once a month all personnel at the Presidio will participate in a field day in which all the areas not normally covered by daily police details, will be tended to and beautified.

Get out and do your share to make this post the most beautiful in the Armed Forces!

Nearly 15,000 professional civilian engineers are employed by the Army, today. Two-thirds of them are engaged in research, design, development and testing of new weapons, equipment and techniques. Others are engaged in civil works and military construction. These skilled engineers, together with the physicists, mathematicians, metallurgists, bacteriologists, chemists and biologists constitute a large part of the scientific nucleus of our modern Army and contribute materially to a progressive Army through scientific achievement. — ANS

More than 800 reserve officers, this year, are taking part in the United States Army Reserve's Research and Development Unit program. By their training and professional scientific backgrounds, these officers contribute—along with other R&D efforts—to a progressive Army through scientific achievement.

Now they've developed a device that simulates combat wounds! It's a training aid for field medics, called the "War Wound Moulage Kits." — ANS

MOS Test Aid Due In Field This Month

The first MOS Proficiency Test Aid (DA Pamphlet 12-091, May 1958) designed to assist first sergeants and sergeants major in preparing for examinations under the Army's new Enlisted Evaluation System has been sent to all Army installations. Post Headquarters, however, has not as yet received the pamphlet.

While the pamphlet lists only the study references of manuals and regulations to be reviewed by the prospective examinees, instructions for taking the test are generally outlined.

Tests may cover any of the subjects a soldier must know to perform any duty in his skill level, as outlined in the job specifications for each MOS.

The questions, averaging 100 to 125 in number, will be multiple choice. About three hours will be allowed to complete the exams.

MOS test results, an element of the Army's new Enlisted Evaluation System, will be incorporated prior to the end of the year in competitive composite scoring by job field for proficiency pay awards and promotions.

A message to the field accompanying DA pamphlet 12-091 said other MOS Test Aids will follow in the near future that are designed to be used by enlisted personnel to prepare for the upcoming MOS Proficiency Tests.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Niccoll

Words being our business and the means by which humans communicate, we were somewhat fascinated with the following thought. The Inquiring Reporter decided to put our readers on the spot with

THE QUESTION: How much of what you read do you believe?

ANSWERS:

Mrs. B. E. Etcheber, Communications Specialist, Sixth Army Signal Corps: I think it all depends on who wrote the article. I always look for a by-line, and if I have faith in the writer, then I generally believe what is written. This holds true in television. If I hear a news commentator whom I like and who I think is honest and intelligent, then I believe what he says. Too many people will accept things on face value. I think one must take all things into consideration before believing something. One thing I have noticed, which I believe is a good thing, is that in the schools the children are being trained to do their own thinking and evaluation.

Sp3 Joe De Rosa, Sixth Army Engineers: That's a good question! Sometimes I believe what I read, but it all depends on what I'm reading. In a newspaper, for example, you have to realize what are the editorial policies of the paper. You've got to figure that one way or another, everything gets slanted. In reading editorials, you must keep in mind the view of the paper. I think Time is a good magazine. It gives an unbiased point of view, and it is more independent than most newspapers. As a matter of fact, all newspapers should be approached with reservation. Words can be manipulated. They can contradict or aid any subject. I think most people take things for granted, they believe what they read.

Pfc. Carole Mosher, Signal Drafting Section: I think I believe about three fourths of what I read. Basically, on the other fourth, I use my own ideas. I believe more what is written in newspapers than in magazines, because newspapers have on the spot reporters who are right there to get the facts. Yet I suppose everyone has a tendency to color their point of view. I'm sort of gullible, but I think most people are. Everyone wants to trust everyone else.

Mr. Henry E. Bennett, Post Safety Director: Most of my reading is in technical fields. So I of course believe that. Newspapers I think are mostly filled with trash. They give us a lot of so-called news that we are not really interested in. Somehow they manage to sell newspapers. It is incredible some of the things which are written about. Even some well known reporters, because they have a reading public who trust them, are able to start a trend of public opinion. I think this holds true in international news. It is very easy to turn a phrase or color an idea so that the whole direction can change. No. Very definitely, I do not believe everything I read.

Blindness Ahead

For Many Says VA

About one in each 19 men over the age of 50 is faced with possible blindness from the eye disease, glaucoma, a survey announced by Veterans Administration indicates.

VA said the finding emphasizes the importance of frequent and thorough eye examinations for persons in this age group so that the disease can be detected in time for early treatment.

Use of improved techniques for examination of all veterans over 50 coming to the clinic during the past three years has revealed signs and symptoms of developing glaucoma in 140 of 2,600 patients.

Dr. Jacques Landesberg, the clinic's chief of ophthalmology, said glaucoma is a disease in which pressure builds up within the eye causing progressive blindness and ultimate destruction of the optic nerve.

Since deterioration from chronic glaucoma is gradual and with no particular early discomfort, victims usually are not aware of this disease in its earlier stages, he said.

In addition to usual eye examination, Dr. Landesberg's program for detection of glaucoma included routine measurement of pressure within the eye, by use of an instrument called a tonometer, and taking of color photographs with a camera especially designed to photograph the back of the eye.

Dr. Landesberg said the photographs are useful to show cupping of the optic nerve head.

Nine Win Suggestion Awards Cash At Post

Nine civilian employees assigned to the Post Signal, Ordnance and Quartermaster Sections received cash awards and Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificates this week from Col. Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer.

Sharing a $200 award were Mr. John McKittrick and Mr. John Larkin, Signal Section Maintenance Shop employees. The award was granted the employees for a suggested method of "Repair to Cells Used in Powering the NIKE Guided Missile."

Other team award winners were Miss Dollie Kingery, Signal Section clerk-typist, and Mr. Jerry Rankin, Quartermaster Section Office Appliance Repairer. The two divided $30 for a suggested "Modification of Executive IBM Typewriter." A frame attached to the front of the typewriter holds and allows easier viewing of material used by the typist. Estimated savings the first year are $568.

Mr. Edward Jee, Ordnance Electronic Fire Control Systems Repairer Foreman, was awarded $25 for an "Interlock Override Switch Installed in NIKE Ordnance Power Cabinets."

Signal Electronics Equipment Inspector Mr. Anton Nachbaur received two awards, $15 for a "Handwheel Adaptor" which gives an additional two inches clearance and greater safety for the protection of the hands of equipment operators, and $10 for a "Sensitivity Control Locking Device" which serves to lessen the maintenance of tactical type equipment. Estimated savings are $709 a year.

Mr. Wolfred Bauer, Administrative Officer, Signal Pictorial Division, received an award of $15 for a "Nonremovable Identification Tag used for Loan Equipment." This enables the section to permanently identify the smallest of items.

Mr. Anthony Pagano, Signal Electronic Repairer and Installer received $15 for devising a method of "Prolongation and Saving of Life of Coils of Electronic Equipment." Savings in the first year are estimated at $458.

Mrs. Dorothy Hay, Signal Telephone Supervisor, was awarded $10 for suggesting that a direct line telephone be installed on the end of the switchboard at the telephone exchange, enabling a simplified method of reporting switchboard troubles directly to the test board.

New MSC Award To Be Presented

A special medal endowed by Col. Joseph Carmack, retired Army Medical Service Corps officer, to the Brooke Army Medical Center will be presented at today's graduating ceremonies to the career officer of his corps making the highest scholastic rating in the School's company officer course.

Tops Lady Soldier Poll

The saying that beauty and brains don't mix has certainly been disproved by the WAC of the Month, Sp3 Patsy Wright.

Now attending San Francisco State College at night, the lovely brunette is a top notch student as well as an excellent WAC.

Following basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala., the 24-year-old attended school in Ft. Gordon, Ga., and upon graduation was assigned to the communications section here on the Presidio.

Future plans for Patsy include a career in the Army and, at least her friends say, a trip to Alabama to attend Officers Candidate School.

Recently Assigned

Second Lieutenant HAROLD E. CLINE, U.S. Army, has been assigned Post Pictorial Officer.

The lieutenant, who resides here with his wife, Mary, and their two children, was commissioned from the Reserve Officers' Training Corps as a second lieutenant in Nov., 1957, when he came on active duty.

Following officers basic course at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., he remained there to train in the Pictorial Unit Commanders Course. On completion of training he was immediately assigned to the Presidio.

The sports minded lieutenant, who enjoys hunting and fishing in his off-duty time, is a graduate of Seattle University.

Top Area Soldier

Sp3 Jerome K. Hansen has been named "soldier of the month" for the San Francisco-Travis area of the Army Air Defense Command. A native of Sioux Falls, S.D., Hansen is a computer operator with Battery A, 436th AAA Missile Battalion at Travis AFB.

47 Earn High School And College Diplomas

June and scholarly pride were bursting out all over at the Presidio this week, and last, as 47 tired but happy soldiers won their war of the books.

Last week (see cover photo) 11 of these doughty warriors were on hand to claim their sheepskins from San Francisco State College.

Yesterday afternoon another small company (36) joined in the commencement exercise at Benjamin Franklin Adult High School for their high school diplomas. They included:

Sp3 Fannye Bailey, Sp2 Albert Bass, SFC Susie Boykins, M/Sgt. Harrison Breaux, Sp2 Harry Carroll, Sp2 Julius Cieply, Sp2 Earl Cunningham, Sp2 Ethel Dailey, Sp3 George Day, Sp2 Willie Dunlap, SFC Joseph Galloway, Margaret Galloway, SFC John Gentz-

Sgt. Duane Morrow, AD/3 Ronald Nelson, Sp2 Charlie Nix, SFC Alfred W. Prince, SFC Bent Ram-skov, Sgt. Robert Renn, SFC Robert Roberts, SFC Frank Samuel, Sp3 Richard Schlemmer, Pfc Melvin Sorrells, Sgt. James Stewart, Sp2 Allene Taylor, M/Sgt. Edward Terry, SFC Joseph Ventura, M/Sgt. Cathey Wimberly, SFC Boyce Yow.

Teen Age Club President Roger Rowe receives the winning records of the month from Christine Johnson of the Star-Presidian.

Looking on are (l. to r.) Diane Powell and M/Sgt. Daugherty, Teen Age Club Director. Albums were those selected as the top sellers for May.

Enthusiasm, Hard Work Spark Drive

With $2,467.86 above and beyond its goal of $4,471.80, the Army Emergency Relief-Army Relief Society fund drive came to a smashing end this week.

The per cent, of the minimum goal achieved during the campaign conducted during the period 1-31 May was 155.18.

Commenting on the successful campaign, Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, stated, "Percentage-wise, this has been the most successful Army Emergency Relief Drive in recent Presidio history. This outstanding accomplishment is directly attributable to the enthusiasm and hard work of staff section and unit representatives. To each of you, who gave so unsparingly of your free time and imagination, let me congratulate you on a job well done."

Special Activities turned in the largest sum of any group, $3,438.69. The Veterinary Food Inspection Detachment had 100% participation.

Although the drive is ostensibly ended, Major Charles Dong, AER Officer, said that donations will be accepted at any time.

Any guesses this week for the best-selling records of the month? Just clip the coupon below and send to the Star-Presidian, Building 87A. Records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Record, Inc., 262 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

The soundtrack from "Cowboy" has been released by Decca. The music, by George Dunning, describes the life and times of a cowboy in colorful, vivid, and often exciting sounds. Among the selections on the disc are, "A Cowboy's Life and Death," "Mission Meeting," and "Cowboy Hangover."

Decca is also offering some smooth mood music, "On Wings of Song," Mischel Piastro conducting great melodies of the masters, among which is the title number by Mendelssohn, and Hungarian Dance No. 6 by Brahms. Those who enjoy the old familiars and prefer a traditional and recognizable interpretation will find this record more than pleasing.

If there are any Baroque fans among the readers, you might be interested in hearing a new Westminster release, "Scarlati Sonatas for Harpsicord" with Fernando Valenti. These sonatas, which demand a delicate preciseness, are brilliantly executed in the best eighteenth century manner by Valenti.

"A Study in Abe" is a study in poetry and prose about the sixteenth president written by the man himself, and Carl Sandburg, Edwin Markham, and Vachel Lindsay. The disc, released by Decca, reproduces the voices of Sandburg, Walter Huston, Orson Welles, and Agnes Morehead.

Among the re-issues by Angel's Great Recordings of the Century is the string trio of Alfred Cortot, Jacques Thibaud, and Pablo Casals doing the Haydn Trio No. 2 in G, and the Schubert Trio No. 1 in B-flat. Recorded in 1926, after 21 years of playing together, these famous performances were, and still are, hailed by critics as definitive.

CO's Anniversary Message

Since its establishment 183 years ago the United States Army has been in the vanguard of American leadership and progress. Not only has the American Soldier been an outstanding pioneer in military tactics and technology, but because of his unique interchangeability—as soldier and citizen—he has provided a progressive challenge to the best in military leadership and planning.

Today he stands alone as the best equipped, best trained, best educated and most dedicated soldier in history. A living testimonial to the "look to the future" spirit that has kept the American Army alert and ever ready to defend the principles of the Republic.

In marking our anniversary today let us look back with pride on the great accomplishments and grand traditions of our service, but let us never forget for a moment that the future will depend on the flexibility of mind, progressiveness of thought, inventiveness and devotion of the individual soldier.

Fiscal Year 1959 to include other than one-half of the time in temporary pay grade.

An official spokesman said the Army plans to have approximately 3,500 E-9's and 11,000 E-8's by the end of FY 1962. These promotions will come from upgrading present E-7 positions.

Over a four year phase-in period, the Army expects to promote E-9's as follows: 800 in 1959, 1,600 in 1960, 2,500 in 1961, 3,500 in 1962. The E-8 breakdown includes: 2,500 in 1959, 5,000 in 1960, 8,000 in 1961 and 11,000 in 1962.

For the present, to be appointed to E-9, a soldier must have 18 years active federal service, 16 months in pay grade E-8, be in a regiment, battle group, or their components. An E-8 must have 15 years active federal service, 14 months in E-7, and be in a regiment, battle group, or their components. Both will be promoted on a "best qualified" basis. However, commanders may waive not more

This new plan, which became effective 1 June, offers more competition and no grade jumps. Officers reverting to enlisted status will not be offered pay grade E-8 or E-9. Under present legislation, officers may revert to the highest permanent grade held prior to commissioning. If they have no prior EM status, they will be given pay grades consistent with qualifications and the needs of the Army.

The Army expects to implement the Enlisted Evaluation System beginning 1 October, 1958. The system will provide an objective evaluation of EM Armywide for proficiency pay and promotion to E-9 and E-8 purposes. Included in the system will be MOS Proficiency Tests and completion of the Commander's Evaluation Form from which an aggregate score will be computed for Armywide competition.

Message of the Secretary of the Army

To the Members of the United States Army:

On the occasion of the 183d Anniversary of the United States Army, we recall with pride the tremendous contributions it has made to the development and the security of our Nation throughout its history. At the same time we look ahead, supremely confident that the Army will meet whatever challenge the momentous future may hold with a like spirit of dedication, and with equally splendid achievement.

Today's new Pentomic Army is ready to carry out its vital mission under any circumstances. It is a powerful, mobile combat force, armed, equipped, and organized for any kind of war—limited or unlimited, atomic or non-atomic—in which it might be called upon to fight in the defense of America. It is characterized by balance and flexibility. It is superbly led at all levels of command. Courageous, devoted, and highly trained soldiers are the fundamental substance of its strength.

Because our Army is prepared for war in any of its varied forms, it is a mighty pillar of peace. Because nearly half of it is deployed overseas in support of the global system of mutual security upon which we place major reliance for our national safety, it is an ever-present and potent deterrent to communist aggression wherever it might be attempted. It is not only guarding our national interests on the ground, but also playing a major role in air defense, and in pushing back the frontiers of space.

Never since it was established in 1775 has our Army borne graver responsibilities than it does today as an indispensable member of our dynamic ground, sea, and air Defense Team. We can all be very proud on this Anniversary that we are a part of the great, modern United States Army.

WILBER M. BRUCKER
Secretary of the Army

Message of the Chief of Staff, United States Army

To the Members of the United States Army:

In the span of the last 183 years the United States Army has served our great Nation to insure its security. While the Army has fought successfully in limited and unlimited conflicts, it has also undertaken military measures to erect barriers against the outbreak of armed conflict in times of peace.

Today, we in the Army honor the past while setting our course for the future. From its early exploration of the earth to its present exploration of outer space, the Army has kept pace with changing times and technology. Measuring the impact of the military atom, the Army has, over the past decade, greatly increased its firepower and modernized its military staying power. As we face the future let us be conscious of the ever current need to increase our military capabilities so as to deter warfare and prolong this era of peace.

We can best accomplish our mission by continuing to have an Army of talented men and women devoted to the profession of arms and to the purpose it serves. While we live and work in a military age of missiles, machines, and megatons, the Army's vital strength lies in the ability of its soldiers to manifest determination, skill, and human courage—the only ultimate weapons of man. These, unlike weapons and equipment, never become obsolete.

On this anniversary I wish to express to all members of the Army my pride in their skilled performance of duty throughout this past year of vital service to the United States.

MAXWELL D. TAYLOR
General, United States Army
Chief of Staff

Soza Wins Individual Competition

The Sixth U.S. Army pistol blue team, led by Presidio's crack marksman, Sfc Antonio Soza of Hq. Co. USA Garrison, copped the service pistol team championship for the second straight year with a record shattering 1127 points, including 37 bull's eyes, in the final days of the U.S. Army Rifle and Pistol Matches held at Ft. Benning last week.

Other members of the blue team were Presidio's M/Sgt. James L. Wade of Hq. Co., Sixth U.S. Army; Sgt. Donald W. Jaynes, CDEC, Ft. Ord and Pfc. Vincent H. Esberend, Ft. Lewis (4th Div.).

Sixth Army, whose pistolshooters garnered a total of 108 awards, including 24 medals awarded on team competition, made it a clean sweep in the service pistol event as their gray team took second place with 1125 points and the red team gained third spot with 1122 points, all breaking the old All-Army record of 1115.

Soza, who was the third best shooter of the meet with an aggregate score of 2579, including 76 bull's eyes, easily swept to victory in the service pistol individual championship event with a total of 854 points, six full points better than that of runner-up M/Sgt. David Bullington of Third Army.

Third Army dominated the last few days of rifle competition as they won the U.S. Army Rifle team championship with a scorching 1164, including 149 bull's eyes, obliterating the old record of 1447, and the infantry trophy rifle match with a total of 839 points.

Presidio's Pfc. Charles Edwin scored impressively for Sixth Army by winning first place in the combined slow fire rifle match with a score of 148, including 12 bull's eyes.

Message to the Sixth United States Army

The American Army has been an integral part of our national existence for 183 years. The men and women wearing its uniform look back on almost two centuries of Army participation in the most significant and crucial hours of American history.

In honoring the Army anniversary, we have in mind, in addition to those who fought and won the glorious campaigns, the soldiers who opened the West to settlement; who explored, mapped and cleared the way for our civilization; and who earned years of peace for their country, years in which the prosperity and strength of the United States were forged.

From its role in the building of the nation's greatness, comes a portent of the Army's future. American security and Army power are synonymous. In keeping with our country's expanding world leadership, the Army will continue to build a versatile and mobile fighting force, powerful enough to keep the peace and capable to wrest victory from any aggressor.

Now, and in the years ahead, as in the many decades of our Republic which have passed into history, our Army continues to be the keystone of American military strength.

With full knowledge of its great responsibilities and high traditions, let us all in the Army service dedicate ourselves anew on this occasion to the Army, to the achievement of its mission, and to the cause of democracy which is ours to uphold.

CHARLES D. PALMER

Yes, a soldier is many things at many times and in many climes, but most of all he is yours . . . mine . . . ours. Thank God! (kse)

New Look Set

For Lady Soldiers

Three new uniforms will soon be available to women in the Army. A new summer service uniform will be integrated into the uniform system next summer. And in the fall of 1960, women will begin wearing a new Army Green uniform.

This week a new white dress uniform was approved for wear by members of the WAC, Army Nurse Corps and Army Medical Specialist Corps.

The design of the new white outfit is similar to the Women's Army Blue uniform but there is no gold ornamentation on the uniform or hat. The authorized fabric is 6.2 ounce dacron-rayon gabardine, and authorized accessories are white shoes, shirt-waist, handbag, and gloves; black neck tab; and summer shade stockings.

The first civil works program for the Army Engineers was authorized by Congress in 1824. From that time to the present, Army Engineers have been leaders in the development of techniques and equipment in their vast field of improving rivers and harbors for navigation, and in harnessing major rivers of the United States for flood control, for the generation of electricity and related uses.

"Sometimes the doing of one's duty involves SACRIFICE. This may mean the loss of personal comforts, money, health, or sometimes life itself. Sacrifice means losing one-self in a cause bigger than self. A sense of duty often calls for this kind of sacrifice." (DA PAM 16-5)

"New conditions require for solution and new weapons require for maximum application, new and imaginative methods," General Douglas MacArthur has said. "Wars are never won in the past."

For almost exactly 136 years now, the eagle has been the Army's insignia for the rank of colonel. It was adopted on June 11, 1832. — ANS

"No victory is assured," General Omar N. Bradley once said, "until the man on the ground takes possession by his physical presence on the enemy's soil."

The three winning one-act plays held in connection with the Presidio Open House for Retired Personnel will be produced this evening at 2015 in the Presidio Service Club.

"The Wrong Slant," by Sp3 Linden Chiles, is a dramatic portrayal of a young soldier who tries to drown disappointment in alcohol and receives some straight talk from an old sergeant. It is directed by Don Canty. Those in the cast are M/Sgt. George Provo, Pfc. Ed Maxy, Cheryl Norton, Lee Schussman, and Sp3 Linden Chiles.

A provocative farce, "Nude with Nike," by Star-Presidian Associate Editor Wolcott W. Hubbell, Jr., deals with a retiring colonel with a taste for the aesthetic who bumps heads with the Army and the community when, as a parting gesture, he hires a nude model for the post art class. Colonel Thomas E. Baker directs the play and those in the cast are Cammy Mirabella, Delores Shoemaker, Pfc. Ed Maxy, Pfc. Bill Soule, Thomas Baker, Jr., Bryan Ramsey and Wallace Norton. Victor de Wilde, nationally known abstract painter and civilian illustrator with Sixth U.S. Army Comptroller Section, will play the role of the artist.

"Five Minutes to Dawn" is written by Pvt. David R. Scofield and directed by Pfc. Eugene English. It is a tense portrayal of two condemned soldiers sweating out execution by their comrades while waiting in a dingy Okinawan hut in the waning days of World War II. The cast includes Bill Call, Charles Wiener, Pfc. Eugene English.

Former S-P Reporter Markets First Book

Star Presidian alumnus (56-57) Richard (Have Camera — Will Travel) A. Lewis is expected to make quite a splash with his newly published, this week, "Poor Richard's Guide To Non-Tourist San Francisco."

Lewis, who got his idea, he says, "while slaving over a hot camera and cold typewriter at the old S-P, and trying to make a Spec 3's pay last over a month of zestful living," is now a working newsman on the Redwood City Tribune.

As the title suggests, the booklet is an inside guide to off-beat San Francisco. Quaintness and low cost key Poor Richard's selections as he guides you, often philosophically, through "Bohemia, jolly beer joints, jazz and things cultural."

From the Anxious Asp to Yee Yun's, Poor Richard has a reveling word for the "San Francisco that Teenagers' Specialist

Dr. Biehuse

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

"What the teenager looks for, what he needs and wants, is trust from his parents and his own independence. He needs to feel that he is beginning to be treated as an adult."

Major Frederick C. Biehuse, Chief of the Pediatric Service at Letterman Hospital, sat in his living room. From upstairs came the distant voices of his five children.

Major Biehuse has instituted the new and first known Army clinic designed especially for treatment and diagnosis of teenagers, their physical and emotional problems.

"All too often, the parent tends to look on them as children. He fails to realize that the teenager is not a child. He is in transition, and this period of change is a matter of give and take between the adolescent and the parents. The teenager must do his part to show he is ready for adult independence, and at the same time the parent must not hold down his child, but must give him credit for being a budding adult. In our work, we try to approach the problem from both sides.

"The two most important things for a parent to do is to have trust in his child and to be consistent with him. How else can a child be expected to go in the right direction?"

Major Biehuse spoke with the authority of a medical man and a father. "Parents should stop working so hard at being parents. They should enjoy their kids and break the barriers. That way, indirectly, the problems get solved. Sometimes they fail to realize it but although a teenager won't admit it, he likes to do things with the family. The fathers should take their sons on fishing trips and the mothers should take the girls shopping. One thing I have learned is that generally the teenagers do not have a favored parent. And there is very little sibling rivalry.

"Our clinic is purely for the teenager. It is his clinic, his special place where he can find medical help. We try to provide a relaxed atmosphere where there is plenty of time to talk. That is the greatest complaint of the teenager. He says, and we believe it, that the parents just don't take time to sit down and talk with the adolescents."

Ancient Art Enjoys Revival At Ft. Baker

The age-old sport of horseshoes was recreated at the Fort Baker Athletic Field on June 9 and 10 when the 30th Artillery Group's annual tournament was played to decide the singles and doubles champions who will represent the Group in Regional Competition later this month.

The clash of the metal shoes and stakes was echoed throughout the small Army post on Monday as CWO Donald P. Randolph, Integrated Fire Control Warrant Officer, from "C" Battery, 740th AAA Missile Battalion, won the singles event.

A host of calls to the 30th Group Special Services Office the following day revealed the widespread interest in the game of horseshoes in the 30th Group Command. Captain Maurice R. Klerekoper, S-3, 441st AAA Missile Battalion called challenging the singles winner to a play-off match during off-duty hours in the near future, thus throwing his talents into the challenger ring.

In the doubles division, Sp3 Charles Prather, Launcher Crewman, "B" Battery, 9th AAA Missile Battalion and M/Sgt. Marvin Brimmer, Integrated Fire Control Chief, "A" Battery, 9th AAA Missile Battalion found the proper teaming to emerge with the doubles championship.

The singles and doubles champions will represent 30th Group in 6th Regional competitions at the Fort Baker Athletic Field 24-27 June.

Fencers Vie In Nationals This Month

Presidio-Letterman's crack fencing team added several new laurels to their bulging trophy case and qualified for the right to compete in the U.S. National Championships in New York (29 June-5 July) by their excellent showing in the Pacific Coast Fencing Championships at the Statler-Hilton Hotel and the L.A. Athletic Club, last weekend.

Battling stern opposition in nine separate events, Col. Laurence Brownlee earned a third place in the Group I Senior Foils.

Severo Pasol garnered a fourth place in the same event.

Larry Kauffman rallied to a tie in the initial match of the Group II Foil even, but lost a tough rematch, finishing third in the finals.

In the foil team championship battle the local trio of Brownlee, Baker and Pasol lost the title by a single point.

Curling, a game played on ice, now has three major organizations in the United States; the Grand National Curling Club of America, the Mid-West Curling Association and the United States Women's Curlers Association.

A Btry Regains 740th Keg Lead In 4-Game Sweep

A Battery from Ft. Funston took four games and the 740th Bowling League lead from Ft. Scott's B Battery this week, with high man McClennan rolling a 540-211. The best the losers could muster was a 523-179 by Stevens.

Sharp Park's Battery C suffered a 4-0 smashing at the hands of D Battery from Newark, with Wilkins leading the winners, 441-154, and Brown on top for the losers with 449-158.

Humble Hamilton Twice As Sawyer Burns Ten

The Torero baseballers continued their winning ways over the past week by winning four straight games, defeating Healdsburg 8-1, Hamilton AFB in a doubleheader, 6-4 and 7-5, and Santa Clara Kays 2-0.

Against the Santa Clara Kays, a team composed of former professional players and college stars, southpaw Roger Sawyer threw his finest game of the year, striking out twelve batters and giving up only two hits.

The locals were held hitless until the top of the tenth when with two away Ken Carroll walked. Sawyer followed and pumped a triple to right center, scoring Carroll. Julian, the next batter, drilled a single to center scoring Sawyer and that was the old ball game.

In the Healdsburg game, which celebrated the opening of the Russian River resort town for the summer, West Stock fanned 11 batters to add another victory to his impressive record.

Mike Souza, Ken Carroll and Paul Bilafer were the top stick-ers for the Toreros, with Souza collecting four for five.

In the Hamilton games Roger Sawyer won his second game of the week with a brilliant six-hitter, striking out a total of 10 batters. Newcomer Terry Maddox led the attack with three for four.

The Presidio team journeys to San Jose tomorrow to play the strong Regal Pale nine beginning at 2030 hours.

Next week, Travis Air Force invades the Presidio for a two-game series.

Post Softball Team Drops Heartbreaker

The Post softball team lost a heartbreaker to the Frantessa nine last week by the count of 1-0.

The locals played an outstanding defensive game, pulling a total of three double plays, but were only able to collect four scattered hits off Pitcher Coffey.

Nick Themely, last year's pitching sensation for the 21st Engineers, returned to action and allowed only five hits and no runs until the fatal eighth when Frantessa managed to push across the winning run.

The local team, made up mostly of 21st Engineers, plays a City League game every Thursday night.

Upsets Mark Bowling Play

Routen, with a 535-181, led the Compt-Rollers to a 3-1 victory over the league leading AGR team during play last week in the Bay Bowling League.

High man for the AGR keglers and also high for the series was Andresen with a 582-218.

The JAGS, spurred on by the 515-202 of Burman, rolled over the AMMRU bowlers 3-1. Top scorer for the losers was Bowles, 491-190.

A 4-0 victory over the Vet's was racked up by the Satellites, whose top kegler was Parks, 551-215. Showing his power for the Vet's was Druba, 545-202.

Satellites also scored a 3-1 victory over the Garrison team. The 555-203 of Dodson topped the losers men.

Hq. Co. 6A with top man Goodrich bowling 498-171, trampled the Islanders 4-0. Given was high for the losers with 473-167.

Hq. 6A No. 3 took 1st place in the Pacific Bowling League by gaining a 3-1 win over the Honor Guards. Top men were Erlencotter, 482-174 for the winners and Huff, 454-180 for the Guards.

Second place was taken over by Hq. 6A No. 2 when they defeated the AAA Sparks 3-1. High for Hq. was the 447-158 rolled by Hedricks, while the losers' Weltley had a 503-177.

Routen, 501-168, for the Compt-Rollers and Stephens for the Mail Maullers, with 545-191, led their two teams to a 2-2 split.

By picking up a difficult split, Aiello scored a 474-181 and led the Regionees to a 3-1 gain over the Retorts. Best kegler for the losers was Havrilla, 533-177.

The frontrunning King Pins of the Summer Presidio Bowling League maintained their two game lead over the second place Toros by splitting their series with the rising Keystone Kops, 2-2.

Beveridge rolled the highest series and game of the week, a 595-219, to lead the Kops, while Andresen topped the league leaders with 547-187.

The Toros kept pace with the King Pins as they also split their series, 2-2, with the last place Air Defense School Keglers. Iwai was high for the Toros with 484-183, while Wilcox's 466-166 was best for the cellar dwellers.

The hot 60th CI bowlers climbed to within a tie of the first division by toppling the fading Islanders, 4-0. Kirtley was best man for the winners with 461-163. Pacing the Islander attack was Lundahl with a mediocre 449-159.

The Shafter's and Hq. Sixth Army tied for fifth place, battled to a 2-2 tie. Wilmoth rolled a respectable 553-192 to lead the Hq. Co. keglers while Wolf topped the Shafter's with 470-163.

Tigers Stay On Top In Pony League Play

The high flying 30th Artillery Group Tigers of the Pony League made it two in a row this week as they walloped the Hq. Sixth Army Pirates by the score of 12-4, to lead the league after the second week of play.

Foley received credit for the Tiger win, while his teammates collected a total of 8 hits.

In a game called because of time limit, the Tigers and the Presidio-LAH Dodgers played to a 12-12 tie.

The XV Corps Braves, last year's champions, held on to second place as they dealt the hapless Pirates their second straight loss of the week, by the count of 5-4, in an extra inning affair.

The Pirates outhit the Braves, 6 to 5, but were unable to come through with timely hits. Winning pitcher was Tom Mlakar.

The Braves won their second game of the week as they went on to hand the last place Dodgers a 4-3 loss.

Tom Mlakar, a returning veteran from last year's championship squad, allowed his opposition only three scattered hits to receive credit for the win.

Giants Take Second Half Lead In GG League Play

The Giants of the Golden Gate Little League began the second half of play in winning style as they collected two wins over the past week, nosing out the Cubs 6-4, and upsetting the Yanks, first half champions, by the count of 5-2.

In the Cub game, pitcher Billy Ameral of the Giants dampened a last inning effort by the Cubs when they loaded the bases to receive credit for the win.

Against the Yankees, Mike Frye struck out a total of 10 batters to lead the Giants to their second win of the week.

Henderson of the Giants and the Yanks' Teasdale banged out two doubles apiece.

In the only other game played, the Yanks edged the Cards, 7-5, in an extra-inning affair, which saw the losers pull a triple play, the first one of the season.

With the score tied at 4 and 4, the Yanks collected three big runs in the top of the seventh. The Cards, last season's champions who have been having trouble getting started this year, threatened in

Horseshoe Winners

"C" Battery from Sharp Park took both the singles and the doubles titles in the 740th AAA Missile Battalion Horseshoe Tournament last week at Ft. Funston.

During the round robin elimination type event Sadler and Hicks from "C" Battery defeated McClellan and Walkley, representing "B" Battery, to win the doubles championship.

Strikers Wax Angels; Gain League Lead

The Rafael Nike Strikers rolled over the Angels 4-0 Friday night to gain a half game lead in the Missileer Bowling League.

Tollieson's 537-222 and Culy's 527-193 sparked the win. High for the losers was Fuller's 459-177.

Baenzinger's Rangers won 4 from the Islanders to move into second place and drop the Islanders from first to third in the league standings. Best effort for the Islanders was Hinkle's 531-209, while Hopperdietzel's 533-220 led the Rangers.

The Oozlefinches came through with a team effort of 2786, the high team series in the league to date, to take the Five-Niners 3-1.

Bristol's 557-193 was top for the winners and Cadde's 439-182 was high for the losers.

Wins Golf Tourney

Sergeant Gene R. Burnett, Battery "B," recently racked up a score of 276 to win the 54 hole 9th AAA Missile Battalion golf tournament held at the United Services Golf Course.

A total score of 292 by Sp3 William Bolitho "B" Battery gave him second place and enabled Battery "B" to make a clean sweep of the tournament.

Favorites Lead First Round Tennis Tourney

Captain Frank W. Sample, last year's tennis singles champion, defeated Sp3 Philip Smith of the 21st Engineers (6-0) (7-5) as the double elimination open Post Tennis Tournament moved into its quarter final round.

Top contenders against Sample for the championship in this round will be Lt. William Teachout, who defeated PFC Leonard Woodside (6-1) (6-2), and Lt. Robert Hartfield who defeated Sp3 Ed Johnson (8-6) (7-5).

In the senior division Col. Robert Rhine will play Col. James Cavins for the post championship. Col. Cavins came back from the losers' bracket to defeat SFC Guray (6-0) (6-2) and earn right to play for the championship.

Two entries from each division will compete in the Sixth Army Tournament at Ft. Ord from 22-27 June.

Also competing at Ord will be the only two members of the female division, Sp2 Sylvia Bernardini and Sp3 Pat Fraus, who will play each other for the distaff title this week.

AD School Upsets Engineers Take Presidio League Lead

The Air Defense School came from behind this week to take over the lead in the Ft. Scott Intramural Softball League by upsetting the highly favored 21st Engineers 4-1.

Both winning pitcher Goff and losing pitcher Themely gave up three hits.

In other Ft. Scott League games the Honor Guards trounced the 30th Engineers 10-0. Leading the hitters was Williams with three runs for three hits.

Malinskin pitched a four-hitter to lead the 537th Engineers in a close 3-1 victory over the 30th Engineers.

Sergeant Murray Jacobs, a member of the 30th Engineer Group and a darkhorse in the contest, came out victorious in the 1958 Presidio Open Golf Tournament with a 227 over the 54 hole course.

The new champion and the other top men in the open division—Jones (who placed seventh last year), Reuss and Monges—will represent the Presidio at the Central Sixth Army Tournament to be held at Ft. Ord from 23-27 June.

The eight low medalists in the open division, and the four low medalists in the senior division as well as the winning open division team will compete in the Sixth Army Tournament at Ft. Lewis from 21-25 July.

Winning seniors who will represent the Presidio in the events are Colonel Robert H. Chard and Colonel Harold W. Browning.

Colonel Browning has been playing golf since about 1939 and played for the 4th Army area during the 1948 and 1949 Army Tournaments.

WACs Drop 1 To OAT; Then Down Marines

The Presidio WAC Softball team took their first defeat of the year last Thursday when Oakland Army Terminal edged them out with a score of 6-4.

An early lead gained by Oakland during the first two innings of the nip and tuck game eventually gave them the win.

In a contest against the S.F. Marines Tuesday night the local gals fought all the way for a 7-3 win over the lady leather-necks.

Puccio, the winning pitcher, gave up only 4 hits the entire game, but it was a home run by Uyeda in the 5th which sparked the team on to victory.

Friday will see the Toreras in action again when they meet Matherson AFB at 1800 hours on the PX Field. This will be the second league game for the girls.

CG Cites Education Needs In ADS Talk

"One of the most important things in the Army is the schooling system," said Lt. General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, in an address delivered at commencement exercises at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School last week.

Addressing the school's largest ceremony since its establishment in October, 1957, General Palmer stressed the fact that schooling in the military is a continuing process and that regardless of how much time one has in the military, continued learning must be carried on either through organized formal instruction, such as the San Francisco Army Air Defense School or in self-education.

Thirty students were graduated from the Non Commissioned Officers first Command Course of the NCO Academy. All the members of the course were Sp-3 or higher and the course was designed to give present and potential NCO's a foundation for future leadership positions.

The school's third class in the Advanced Individual Training Course was graduated with 47 Privates completing the course. This course is designed to give soldiers just out of basic training their required second eight weeks of instruction. It re-emphasizes basic soldiering as well as prepares the soldiers for assignment to missile units.

The graduates were presented with certificates of completion by General Palmer. The Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, also presented special awards to the honor graduate of each of the two courses. Sergeant First Class Charles E. Bethel, "A" Battery, 740th AAA Missile Battalion, was named honor graduate of the NCO course and Private John C. Woody, "D" Battery, 9th AAA Missile Battalion, the honor graduate of the advanced individual training course.

The invocation and benediction were presented by Chaplain (Capt.) Paul M. Pease. Captain Louis G. Spizzirri, School Commandant, made the announcements. Lt. Colonel Curtis M. Banks, Commanding Officer, 30th Artillery Group, introduced General Palmer. Colonel William F. Spurgin, Chief of Staff, 6th Region Army Air Defense Command, represented General E. J. McGaw, Commanding General 6th Region.

General Litter Faces Tough Battle Plan

As part of an effort to make the Presidio the most beautiful and well kept Post in the Armed Forces, Post Headquarters announced this week that the old Army custom of a monthly field day will be revived.

Once a month, all personnel assigned to the Presidio will form a skirmish line to police and tend all areas that are beyond the limits of routine police detail. This is traditionally the method used to supplement routine area cleanup assignments at posts, camps and stations throughout the Army.

"Since the Presidio is open to the public and the fact that thousands of civilians visit this post yearly, the grounds here should be maintained in the best possible condition so as to reflect credit on the Army," stated Col. Charles G. Rau. "Beyond that many of these areas represent potential fire hazards."

The date of the first field day will be announced later.

Library Opening

The formal opening of the new library took place last night. Several hundred people attended.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Colonel Charles G. Rau. Chaplain Paul N. Pease offered the invocation. The Sixth U.S. Army Band played.

Birthdays Noted

Congratulations on their 183rd anniversaries were sent this week by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commander U.S. Sixth Army, to the United States Corps of Engineers, the Army Finance Department, the United States Infantry, and the Quartermaster Corps.

Former Army Official To Key Defense Post

Washington (AFPS) — President Eisenhower has named Charles C. Finucane, former Under Secretary of the Army, to be Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower, Personnel and Reserve).

Mr. Finucane, who resigned from his earlier Pentagon post last April, will replace Assistant Secretary William H. Francis, Jr., who died 24 May.

Mr. Francis' death brought one of the "really great losses" to the Defense Department, Secretary Neil H. McElroy said at a news conference on 29 May.

A Yale University graduate in industrial engineering and a WWII Navy veteran, Mr. Finucane is a Spokane, Wash., businessman. He was Assistant Secretary of the Army for Financial Management from August 1954 to February 1955, when he was nominated by the President to be Under Secretary of the Army.

CHARLES C. FINUCANE

Now in the Pacific northwest on personal business, Mr. Finucane is expected to take office about 1 July. His present appointment is subject to Senate approval.

Parade Today

A Retreat parade will be conducted on the main parade ground today at 1600 hours.

Reviewing Officer will be Col. Charles G. Rau, or designated representative. Commander of Troops will be Lt. Col. James F. Young, with Capt. James T. Pooler acting as Adjutant.

Two battalions, the Sixth Army band, and colors will participate. Commanding the first battalion will be Maj. Vernon Eastin, while Maj. William Byrum will command the second.

"Family Days" Slated On Post 4th Of July

The Presidio will join forces with the National Safety Council again this year to stage three days of "at-home" activities over the Fourth of July weekend.

"Family Days" has been designated with the hope of keeping the public off the crowded highways and safe at home for the three-day holiday.

At the Presidio, bus tours to Fort Point and Crissy Field, displays, and walking tours in the historic "old garrison" area south of the Parade Ground will be featured. Each bus will be staffed with an Army guide.

Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander, has stressed that the entire tour and visit to the post can be easily accomplished without the use of a car.

The number 45 bus stops only a few feet from the Parade Ground; on-post transportation to all points of interest will be provided by the Army.

The activities on the post will begin each morning during the three-day holiday at 1000 and continue until 1530 hours. On the Fourth of July a picnic style lunch will be available on the parade ground.

Medical Speakers

Major General Silas B. Hayes, the Army Surgeon General, and Maj. Gen. Paul S. Robinson, Chief, Medicare Program, OTSG, will arrive in San Francisco Monday to attend the American Medical Association Convention, where Gen. Hayes will speak.

SF Celebrates 182d Birthday

A colorful celebration commemorating the 182nd anniversary of the founding of San Francisco will be held 26-29 June. It will include among other things a special concert by the Sixth U. S. Army Band, an anniversary Mass in the historic Mission Dolores, and a concert of Spanish music.

Those interested in obtaining a complete program schedule and making reservations for the various events may do so by writing to the California Historical Society, 2090 Jackson Street.

San Francisco was launched as a settlement by the Spanish five days before the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There, near the present site of Mission Dolores, a crude chapel was built and was named Mission San Francisco de Asis.

The various ceremonies to be held have been planned to call to mind the city's fascinating history.

Super Grades Given To Lewis, Ord, Irwin

None of the 30 allocations for pay grade E-8, granted recently by Department of the Army to Sixth U.S. Army, were reallocated to the Presidio.

CWO Andrew W. Nawrocki, Chief of Sixth Army AG Enlisted Personnel Services Unit, said yesterday that the "initial allocations went to Fort Lewis, Fort Ord, and Camp Irwin."

CWO Nawrocki did not disclose exact figures of allocation distribution.

He said the distribution was in accordance with DA instructions that they be awarded to designated positions in Army Training Centers and in specific Infantry, Armor and Artillery MOS's.

Seven of the 30 men promoted under this allocation will be known as "Master Sergeants" and presumably will fill sergeant major positions; the other 23 will be "First Sergeants."

Initial allocations in the new pay grade, E-9, is not anticipated prior to the last quarter of Fiscal Year 1959 because one of the prerequisites for the position is eight months in grade E-8.

With the advent of an E-8 "Master Sergeant," CWO Nawrocki said that no official word has yet been received in regard to stripe changes in NCO grades E-7, 6 and 5 and that men in such grades will continue to wear the same insignia

New Vet Info

Two brochures discussing the benefits available to veterans and their dependents have been released by the American Legion, Department of California. Those interested in obtaining copies of these informative booklets may do so at the Star-Presidian office, Building 87-A.

Lt. Gen. Powell Tours Eight Days In Sixth Army

Lieutenant General Herbert B. Powell, Deputy Commanding General for Reserve Components, CONARC, is presently on a tour of the Sixth Army area.

After paying an official call on Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, and Maj. Gen. Robert N. Howze, Jr., Deputy Commander for Reserve Forces, at the Presidio Friday, Gen. Powell visited the XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) and then proceeded to Ft. Ord to observe the Combat Development Experimentation Center.

His 8-day tour will end tomorrow at Seattle where he will attend Governors Day Ceremonies.

Newman Visits Here

Major General Aubrey S. Newman, recently ordered to duty with Headquarters, U.S. Continental Army Command from his post as Deputy Commandant of the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk, Virginia, visited this Headquarters, last week.

Eight From Engineers Win Suggestion Cash

Eight Army civilian employees of the Presidio Engineer Field Maintenance Shop in Sausalito, and Sixth U.S. Army Engineer Section, were awarded $310 and Department of the Army Suggestion Award certificates, for inventing a "Communicator Dressing Device," estimated to save the Government $97,657.50 during the first year of use.

Col. Frank Ratliff, Post Executive Officer, presented awards to: Sven Evans, Joseph Knipschild, William Mote, Egill Oddson, Herbert Parker, Loyd Osborn, and Joseph Westbrook.

The group spent well over a year in adapting the device. It is used on field-type communicator and slip ring dressers used for maintaining generators and converters found largely on NIKE equipment.

Previously, equipment would have to be moved by heavy equipment from the field to the shops. With this communicator, two men go to the field and can usually complete the repairs in less than one hour's time.

This device has been adopted for use at local NIKE sites, and now will be adopted at installations in the Sixth Army Area. It has also been forwarded to Department of the Army for possible further application.

Mr. Parker also won an additional award of $40 for a suggested "Device to Pack Wayne Pump Co. Hydraulic Cylinders in Use on NIKE Installations."

T. Lee Butler, Engineer Equipment Inspector, received an additional award of $15 for suggesting a "Relocation of Sediment Bowl on Compressor, Missile, Capping, RIX Models."

Service Goal Due For '58 UC Drive

Military goals for the forthcoming United Bay Area Crusade, slated for this Fall, are expected to be determined here today during a meeting at 1330 in the Sixth U. S. Army Conference Room, Bldg. 38, of the Inter-service Planning Committee.

A Presidio spokesman said that if exact goals are not set, at least a plan for determining such goals will be formulated.

The Committee, headed by Col. Richard J. Stillman, Acting Sixth Army G-1, includes representatives from all military installations in the five-county Bay Area.

On Monday, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander and chairman of the over-all Military Committee, will meet at 1330 in the Fort Scott Officers' Club with installation commanders and other representatives from each Army post in the Bay Area to discuss Army participation in the annual fund drive.

Birthday Noted

In a message to the members of the Army Ordnance Corps, General Maxwell D. Taylor, United States Army Chief of Staff, congratulated them on their 146th Anniversary.

He stated that they have made valuable contributions to the development and improvement of our weapons and technical equipment and he wished each of the soldiers much future success.

Congratulations were sent this week by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer to the Adjutant General Corps on its 183rd anniversary, to the Signal Corps on its 98th anniversary, and to the Chemical Corps on its 40th anniversary.

To Spend 30 Million

Construction work at Veterans Administration hospitals totaling more than $30 million has been awarded to contractors since 1 January, 1958.

In California the VA is spending $45,000 in construction work at the San Francisco VA Hospital (Fort Miley) and $31,363 at the Los Angeles VA Center.

New Library Opens; Boasts Top Facilities

During an impressive ceremony last Thursday the new $172,000 Post Library was officially opened.

Before receiving a pair of scissors from librarian Sp3 Judith Hudson to cut the traditional ribbon, Col. Charles G. Rau addressed an audience of about 150 people.

The colonel told the group that the new structure, located on Moraga Ave., between the post exchange and the Presidio Officers Club, has been desired for a long time.

He also made the wish that it would "stand for many years as a testimony of the good will and vision of the men and women whose efforts have made its creation possible."

Following the ceremony coffee and cake were served by the library staff.

One of the most striking aspects of the Spanish designed building is the glass wall facing the parade ground and the San Francisco Bay.

Mrs. Elizabeth Boch, Presidio chief librarian, feels that the new library is the most important library development in Presidio history.

Included in the building are a 38 by 80 foot central reading room, a special children's room and a military science room. There are also three soundproof listening booths, a work room, an office, a storage room and a staff room.

Although there are about 13,000 volumes on the shelves now, that figure will be raised as soon as an anticipated 1,300 children's books arrive.

Sixth Army Commended

As Polio Time Nears

A commendation plaque from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in recognition of the Sixth Army's all-out polio inoculation drive was presented this week to Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander.

The award is based on the Sixth Army's immunization program, begun last April, in recognition that the Sixth was the only Army to conduct such an emphatic and concentrated campaign.

During the months of April and May, the Spring prelude to the polio season, nearly 5,000 men were vaccinated in Sixth Army dispensaries.

By the end of July, nearly 40 percent of the troops in this area will have received inoculations, resulting in a total of 30,000 protected from the disease. By this time next year, it is predicted the total will reach 75 per cent.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

As we left her house, the photographer said to me, "These are the people you never hear about."

Miss Laura Frances Owen belongs to that group of people in the world who paradoxically are famous and yet unknown. She has lived a full life for 84 years. For 64 of those years she has been a teacher. She was unable to estimate how many students she has taught, yet it is just those students who total the unknown quantity wherein her fame lies.

Her school is an old house just a few blocks from the Presidio. It is big, complicated, filled with symbols of her devotion to learning, to her students, to the men who defend her country.

"I only teach boys who are willing to learn. Those are the only ones I can help."

Miss Owen (though many call her "Mother" Owen) herself teaches English, history, mathematics, French, and physics. She holds rigidly to her ideals of education. One teacher per student, two hours of studying per one hour of lesson.

"My purpose is to put young men through the Point (U.S. Military Academy). There they can obtain a solid education, and they come out as commissioned officers."

It would be an understatement to say that Miss Owen finds satisfaction in teaching. She is at once a teacher and a scholar. Learning with her is definitive. To her, learning involves not only books, but life.

"Mother Owen"

She told us of a time, one of the many times, she was visiting in Letterman Hospital. She passed a bed, and a soldier called out to her "Mother Owen!" Did she remember him? "Of course I remembered him. He was a boy from Tennessee. He had been one of my students. He said to me, 'What would have happened to me if I hadn't found you in '43?'"

Miss Owen did not say exactly what influence she had had upon him. But it was apparent from her tone of voice, her expression, that his life had been changed, pointed in a better direction through her influence.

"I love people, but not their sins. I get angry with them if they can not keep from doing wrong again."

Despite the fact that she had innumerable boys under her tutorial guidance, she approaches each as an individual. "Individual instruction is the best. I expect a great deal of my boys. They must work hard, and they must live good lives. I respect any man who lives up to a true religion, and any man who lives up to himself."

There, in that old house, lives a woman who will never die. She has more than a name. She has a pervading spirit, a living intellect which has left its mark on many boys and changed the direction of their lives as men.

Miss Laura Frances Owen, "Mother Owen," student of learning, teacher of life.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Niccoll

Last Friday being the Open House for Retired Personnel, and it also being such a clement day, the Inquiring Reporter took a stroll on the Parade Ground and asked the visitors

THE QUESTION: What was the most difficult problem you have had to face since your retirement?

ANSWERS

Hubert Crandell, Ret. Capt., 5930 California Street: My biggest problem was re-adjustment to civilian life. I still miss the Army all the time. I miss the companionship which Army life offers. In the Army you belong to something. In civilian life you are just another nonentity. I was in the Corps of Engineers for 7½ years. The Army Engineers function as pioneers to everything. They are the best educated men in the service.

Daniel D. Coons, Ret. Lt. Col., 3154 Baker Street: I don't see that retired Army men have any problems to face. We had an excellent life in the Army, and after that, life automatically adjusts itself. I was in the Army for 24 years. I retired in 1938 because of my heart, but in 1941 was called to desk duty. The retired military man is blessed because he is protested with excellent medical installations to protect his age. He is in a preferred position and can expect longer life. Here in San Francisco retirement is particularly enjoyable because of the Presidio and its facilities.

C. A. W. Dawson, Ret. Col., 1369 Hyde: My biggest problem has been how to keep busy. But somehow or other I manage to do that. You know after a long career in the Army (I was in from 1913 to 1944) certain readjustments must be made. For seven years I was commanding officer of the troops on the Cambrai, the St. Mihiel, the U.S. Grant, and the Republic. I travelled over 475,000 miles by sea. So I guess after retirement, life does change somewhat. I'm past president of the Retired Officers Group in the Bay Area. I still like to come over here to the Presidio, and to Fort Mason, where I was retired from.

I. Kanister, Ret. Major, 3114 Gough: The biggest problem was adjustment to civilian life. The first year was the hardest. I felt like a lost sheep. Even now, once in a while, I still have the feeling that I'm in the service, or that I'm on a long leave of absence. I was in thirty years. Ten of those were at Letterman.

Sofield Has Best Play; "Nude" Cast Takes Bows

The three winning one-act plays were performed at the Service Club last Friday night to more than one hundred enthusiastic theatre goers.

Their applause determined the prize-winning play of the group, "Five Minutes to Dawn." An award cup and $25 were presented to the author, Pvt. David R. Sofield.

Second prize of $15 went to Sp3 Linden Chiles, author of "The Wrong Slant."

Pfc. Wolcott W. Hubbell, Jr., Associate Editor of the Star-Presidian, received third prize of $10 for his play, "Nude with Nike."

A panel of judges determined the best actor, actress, and director.

Sp3 Ed Maxy received an award as best actor for his roles as the male lead in "Nude with Nike" and the second male lead in "The Wrong Slant."

The best actress award went to Delores Shoemaker for her role as the confidential secretary to the unit commander in "Nude with Nike."

Pfc. Eugene English earned the award as best director for his work in "Five Minutes to Dawn."

Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander, presented the first annual one-act play awards to

Volunteers High

More than 1,300 men volunteered in April for duty in NIKE missile units of the Army Air Defense Command. April was the first full month of enlistments under a recently revised regulation permitting new enlistees volunteering for USARADCOM to choose the metropolitan area in which they wish to serve.

Presidio Ladies

Have Active Club

The Presidio Woman's Club, long an active and vital organization in the social functions of the Presidio, has a full schedule of worthwhile projects.

To steer the forthcoming activities are the newly elected officers: Mrs. Charles G. Rau, president; Mrs. Rudolph Nuss, 1st vice president; Mrs. Harold A. Davenport, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Louis L. Greenfield, 3rd vice president; Mrs. John Anderson, recording secretary; Mrs. James E. Corum, corresponding secretary and newsletter editor; Mrs. Charles F. Helderman, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Disney, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. Edwin L. Johnson, retired representative.

Although the next regular meeting will not take place until the Welcome Tea scheduled to open the fall calendar of events on 4 September, the summer months at the Presidio will be busy and fruitful ones with Club projects going steadily forward.

On 16 June the incoming and outgoing Boards of Directors met for a business session at the home of Mrs. Charles D. Palmer, Honorary President.

A wide-ranging Youth Activities program, under the sponsorship and with financial aid of the Club, will also go into its vacation phase. The Club operates the Post Thrift Shop for the benefit of the Youth Activities Fund.

A Post Dispensary Assistance Project, launched this spring, combines both youth and adult welfare in an endeavor to improve and brighten the outpatient facilities at the dispensary.

A second phase of the dispensary project is the inauguration of a Gray Lady program projected for later this summer. The local Red Cross will give a four-hour course on 29 July to instruct ladies in the duties to be performed.

The summer Youth Activities calendar, long a major interest of the Presidio Woman's Club, will be crammed with events ranging from College Club doings to Pony League softball tournaments and Brownie and Cub Scouts Day Camps.

The College Club has scheduled a "Get Acquainted" buffet at the Recreation Hall, Fort Scott, on 24 June. 1 July through 5 August the club will meet Tuesday nights at the Fort Scott Officers' Open Mess with the last meeting, a "back-to-school" dance.

Qualified young officers desiring a tour in the strategically important Middle East are urged to apply now for enrollment in the Army's four-year Foreign Area Training Program. Prerequisites are outlined in AR 350-23.

30th Engineers Revert To Battalion

Combat, Globe-Trotting Mark 18-Year History

The 30th Engineers, organized as a Battalion more than eighteen years ago, has had personnel located over the face of the globe. Africa, Hawaii, Guadalcanal, Guam, Iran, Alaska, have all been far more than mere names on a map for its men.

On 1 September, 1939, the day the Nazis crashed into Poland and set the world aflame with World War II, the unit was activated as the 30th Engineer Base Topographic Battalion, composed of 4 officers and 164 enlisted men selected from the 29th Engineer Base Topographic Battalion, then stationed at Portland, Ore.

Following the entry of the United States into World War II, numerous cadres were drawn from the 30th Engineers to activate other topographic organizations in every theater of operations.

One of the organizations built around a cadre from the 30th Engineers was the 660th Engineer Battalion. This organization returned "home" to the 30th in 1954, and has since performed the extensive surveying required of the parent organization.

Review Parade Slated For Redesignation

Ceremonies accompanying the 30th Engineer Group reorganization will feature a review parade and changing of the colors Tuesday.

The 30th Engineer Group colors and the 660th Engineer Battalion colors will be retired, and the former 30th Engineer Battalion colors, which were retired when the Battalion achieved Group status in 1954, will be presented to the command.

A parade will follow in which the entire Battalion, assisted by the Sixth U.S. Army Band, will pass in review. Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander, will be among the many guests invited to view the ceremonies.

Following the official ceremony, officers and guests of the Battalion will attend an informal gathering at the Fort Scott Officers Club.

More Accurate Survey

In a greatly simplified explanation, surveying by occultation is a method of measuring distances on the earth's surface by observing and electronically recording the exact moment when a star is eclipsed by the moon at points near the extremities of the line to be measured.

Later, the distance between the two points can be accurately computed by the use of electronic computing machines. This method of surveying has the advantage of obtaining extremely long measurements without traversing the intervening terrain and is the only way measurements can be made for any great distance over water.

The 30th Engineers are now participating, with the U.S. Army Map Service Far East, in the Pacific Occultation program. This program is planned and supervised by the Army Map Service in Washington, D.C., with the long range objective of determining, with new, higher accuracies, the size and shape of the earth and the relative positions of the world's land masses.

In November, 1943, the Battalion departed Newport News, Va., arriving in Casablanca on 4 December, 1943. While in North Africa, the unit effectively performed its mission of making war-time maps, and was awarded the first of two Meritorious Service Unit Plaques "For Superior Performance of duty in the accomplishment of exceptionally difficult tasks in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations during the period from 1 August to 31 October, 1944."

With the African mission accomplished, the 30th was deployed, intact, to the Pacific in 1944 to assist in the mounting offensive against Japan.

The second Meritorious Service Plaque was awarded "For outstanding devotion to duty in the performance of exceptionally difficult tasks from 15 March to 15 September, 1945." The 30th Engineers remained in Hawaii until December, 1949, when it returned to the United States and located at the Presidio.

From here, on a seasonal basis, high priority surveys of Alaska were conducted from 1950 through 1955. During the winter months, extensive survey operations were conducted in Southern California.

On 5 March, 1954, the 30th Engineer Base Topographic Battalion was redesignated the 30th Engineer Group (Topographic Survey).

Millions of Maps

The map reproduction company of the 30th Engineers is the 99th Engineer Company. The 99th is equipped to print millions of military maps per month in a theater of war. Its record of map reproduction in two theaters during World War II still stands as an example and inspiration to its present members.

Twice Commander
Lt. Col. Vernie Slayter

Col. Slayter Still Heads "Battalion"

Lieutenant Colonel Vernie Slayter, until Tuesday Commanding Officer of the 30th Engineer Group, will continue to head the unit when it is redesignated a battalion.

Group Commander since 6 January, 1958, Lt. Col. Slayter previously was Executive Officer since July, 1957.

The 27-year Army veteran once before served in a command position with the 30th when it was a battalion after World War II: Survey Company Commander, Battalion Executive Officer and Battalion Commander.

Lt. Col. Slayter enlisted in the Army in 1930 and eight years later was awarded a reserve commission as a second lieutenant, in which capacity he was called to active duty in 1940.

Mission Remains Same; Two Units Inactivated

Reorganization will be the theme at Fort Scott Tuesday when two units of the 30th Engineer Group will be inactivated and the Group itself redesignated the 30th Engineer Battalion.

Headquarters & Headquarters Detachment of the 660th Engineer Battalion, and the 521st Engineer Company will be inactivated in this reorganization.

The Group has been anticipating the change for the past several months and gradual reductions in Group responsibilities and manpower have already taken place.

The first official phase of this reorganization took place on 24 March, when the 549th Engineer Company was inactivated and its personnel and missions were taken over by the 537th Engineer Company.

Tuesday, men of the 660th Engineer Battalion will be absorbed as a group into the newly designated 30th Engineer Battalion. Most of the men and aircraft of the 521st Engineer Company will be assigned elsewhere within the Army. Air support responsibilities will be taken over by the Aviation Section of the 30th Engineer Battalion.

Although the number of authorized personnel within the 30th will drop from approximately 800 to 480, there have been relatively few reassignments caused primarily by the reorganization. The major reduction in personnel will be absorbed through natural attrition.

There have not been any abrupt changes in operations, either; and the Battalion will carry out basically the same functions and missions of the Group. Survey operations in Iran and Eastern California will continue, as will all photo-mapping, model-making and reproduction work.

Lt. Gen. Robert N. Young, former Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, in a message congratulating the 30th Engineer Group on its eighteenth anniversary, said:

"The changing aspect of the battlefield in the atomic age will in no way diminish the importance and value of topographic services. Instead, the global scope of our defense needs will enhance the need for them."

It is with these words in mind that the 30th Engineer Battalion will continue to fulfill its mission of providing topographic maps for the U.S. Army throughout the world.

3-D Terrain Models Made Only By 171st

A three-dimensional terrain model or plastic relief map? The 171st Engineer Detachment can furnish them both. Or, if what you need is a photo-map, the 21st Engineer Company can do the job.

The only such unit in the active army, the 171st is continuing to test various methods of producing three-dimensional terrain models and plastic relief maps.

Operating with a variety of materials obtained locally or through regular supply agencies, this unit's peacetime experience will result in improvement and standardization of model and relief map-making methods and equipment for use in the field during wartime.

The large-scale terrain models which it produces, showing detail in any desired degree, are always in demand for assault planning and special operations.

And its corollary product, standard maps printed on plastic and heat-formed to show relief in three dimensions as well as by contour lines, opens a new field for the Corps of Engineers in its topographic service to the Army.

Photogrammetry, the science or art of obtaining reliable measurements by means of photography, is the key to the military map compilation of the 21st Engineers. The skilled technicians of this unit are engaged in producing detailed map manuscripts and color-separation drawings with the high degree of accuracy and quality required to produce a map which meets the National Standards of Map Accuracy.

While continuing with present map compilation projects, the unit is training technicians and supervisors, providing photo-evaluation support to Air Force aerial photographic units, and testing newly-developed Engineer mapping equipment.

Recently, it has converted its color separation process, one of the most time-consuming operations in the mapping sequence, entirely from the traditional ink drafting to the more rapid method of plastic scribing.

Scott. The diamond photo offers a bird's-eye view of the battalion area at Fort Scott; at the upper right, a specialist is checking a three-dimensional aerial photograph, and just below, a helicopter assigned to the 30th takes off for an aerial inspection trip.

Pvt. Herman A. Celosse

Top 30th EM Was Sergeant In Dutch Army

A former member of the Dutch Army, Private Herman A. Celosse, of the 99th Engineer Company, has been selected as the 30th Engineer Group Soldier of the Month.

Pvt. Celosse served in the Dutch Army for two years before coming to this country, and in comparing it with the United States Army, he said, "There is a great similarity between the two. . . . However, discipline in the Dutch Army is much more rigid than it is here."

Born in Amsterdam, Holland, Pvt. Celosse moved to Indonesia when he was only a few months old. When the Japanese invaded Indonesia during World War II, Herman was sent to a concentration camp until the war's end.

In 1946 he returned to Holland and was graduated from college in 1953, then drafted into the Dutch Army and attached to an infantry tactical demonstration unit, where he attained the rank of sergeant.

After completing his tour of duty in Holland, he came to the United States and settled in Oakland in July 1956.

He worked at the Marchant Calculating Machine Company until he was drafted in October 1957. Pvt. Celosse completed his basic training at Fort Ord.

As Soldier of the Month, he received a certificate of achievement from Lt. Col. Vernie Slayter, Group Commander, will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days and will receive a three-day pass.

Army Science

The Army has been identified with scientific education and progress for many years. Many of the great accomplishments of the past and present can be attributed either directly or indirectly to Army foresight and effort. The launching of the first Explorer last January is one of hundreds of examples of the Army's contributions to National progress.

A Lot of Blood!

Over fifty pints of blood were donated by members of the 9th AAA Missile Battalion during the battalion blood drive for June.

Iran Survey Project Aids MAAG Program

Operating as the topographic section of the U.S. Military Advisory Group to Iran is a small overseas detachment of the 30th Engineers. Their mission is to carry out the Iran survey project, which was assigned to the 30th in June, 1956.

The project is accomplishing three missions: connecting the basic geodetic control network of Turkey, Iraq and Pakistan, through Iran; establishing a line of geodetic level stations based on sea level, for use in mapping and construction in Iran; and training Iranian technicians in surveying and mapping techniques.

The problems of supplying and maintaining American surveys in Iran originally limited the size of the 30th Engineers' detachment to 5 officers and 21 enlisted men. This limit was later raised to an authorized strength of 47, and there are now 44 men from the 30th in Iran.

The Imperial Iranian Army furnishes about 150 officers and enlisted men for the project. After receiving training by the U.S. advisors, these Iranian personnel conduct the field survey under supervision of the 30th Engineers' men.

Add New Machine To Superspeed Combat Family

In keeping with the tempo of modern warfare, the Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory, in conjunction with Kleinschmidt Laboratories, has developed what has been described as the world's fastest message printer and code puncher, the first in a new family of superspeed combat teletypewriter units.

The new device prints out messages at 750 words a minute—12 times faster than the average typist, five times faster than normal conversation, and more than 10 times faster than standard teletypewriter equipment.

The device has no keys. Instead, a whirling wheel rimmed with letters prints the high-speed messages.

As part of a combat communications center, the machine will be able to rush high-priority messages to widely dispersed mobile command posts.

GI's Launch Redstone Under Field Conditions

A year of intensive training by elements of the Army's 40th Field Artillery Missile Group culminated recently when troops of the self-sufficient tactical unit made two unassisted successful launchings of the 200-mile-plus range Redstone rocket.

The two launchings marked the first time Army troops have fired the long-range ballistic missile without outside help.

The Group's A Battery, 217th FA Missile Battalion, made the first historic launching, but did so from Cape Canaveral, Fla., under exceedingly favorable conditions.

But the first real field test was made Monday at Desert Sands, N. M., by men of B Battery, 217th. Launched under simulated combat conditions, the missile proved its effectiveness as an over-sized mobile artillery punch.

The Redstone, capable of delivering either a conventional or an atomic warhead, was launched from a lightweight superstructure rather than from the usual service tower.

SFAADS Graduates 46 2d Class Gunners

The San Francisco Army Air Defense School of the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) held graduation exercises in the Fort Winfield Scott Chapel last Saturday for 46 students completing the Advanced Individual Training Course 4. All members of the class graduated as Second Class Artillerymen.

Col. Iver A. Peterson, Deputy Chief of Staff, 6th Region Army Air Defense Command, was the principal guest speaker.

Top honor graduate of the class was Pvt. Oliver A. Zwoll, of Battery B, 9th AAA Missile Battalion. He was presented with an award for his achievement by Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, Commanding Officer, 9th AAA Missile Battalion.

Other dignitaries attending the commencement exercises were Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks, Commanding Officer, 30th Artillery Group; Capt. Louis G. Spizzirri, School Commandant; and Chaplain Edward G. Carson, 740th AAA Missile Battalion, who delivered the invocation.

Bring Your Own!

Heidelberg (ANS)—Headquarters, U.S. Army Europe here has disclosed that newly-arriving "USAREUR families" must furnish their own china and glassware in the future.

A USAREUR Quartermaster spokesman said funds for procuring these supplies are no longer available and further purchase is ruled out by the current code of procurement.

Consequently, Service families scheduled for assignment in the command are now being advised to forward their own dining and kitchen utensils.

Check Firepower

Striving to increase firepower within infantry companies, in consonance with the Army's new pentomic concept, researchers in the Infantry School's Weapons Department are testing the advisability of replacing the standard 90 mm. assault gun on the M-56 armored personnel carrier with a 106 mm. recoilless rifle.

If approved, the modified M-56 would not be available for issue until 1962-65. The M-56 was selected for tests after a survey of existing vehicles which could carry personnel and heavy weapons.

San Francisco's Jackson Square, unique wholesale furniture and decorator center, occupies some of the city's oldest buildings, dating from the 1850s, now completely restored.

Academy Grads Mostly To Arty And Infantry

West Point, N.Y. (ANS)—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy delivered the commencement address to the 574 graduates of the United States Military Academy Class of 1958. There were four foreign students (two from Thailand and one each from Peru and The Philippines).

Approximately 75 percent (428) of the class were commissioned Second Lieutenants in the U.S. Army and 142 (approximately 25 percent) received commissions in the U.S. Air Force.

This is the last year the 25 percent quota of USMA graduates will be commissioned in the Air Force. In the future, 87½ percent of the graduating class will receive Army commissions and the remaining 12½ percent will be divided into the Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force.

Assignments of 1958 graduates to the Army branches include: Armor, 49; Artillery, 155; Corps of Engineers, 54; Infantry, 129; and Signal Corps, 41.

Lt Col Samson Named Exec O At 30th Group

Lieutenant Colonel C. P. Samson last Monday assumed the duties of Executive Officer for the 30th Artillery Group (Air Def), at Fort Barry.

Prior to his joining the San Francisco Army Air Defense as Commanding Officer of the 740th Missile Battalion on the 22nd of May, 1957, Lt. Col. Samson has been assigned to the General Staff at Headquarters, Army Forces Far East, Japan. He has spent a total of 9 years in the Philippine Islands and the Far East Command, and is a survivor of the Bataan Death March and the subsequent internment as a Japanese POW.

Lt. Col. Samson is a graduate of Oregon State College, class of 1938, and was commissioned a Regular Officer in the U.S. Army under the Thomason Act. This year, he celebrated his 20th year of continuous service as a commissioned officer.

He has graduated from the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, the Advanced Artillery Course at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, the Special Weapon Course at Fort Leavenworth; and the Associate Surface-to-Air Missile Course, at Fort Bliss, Texas.

740th Top EM Going For 20

Private First Class Robert L. Harbick, Jr., was recently selected as the 740th AAA Missile Battalion (Nike) Soldier of the Month. Pfc. Harbick, a member of D Battery, competed with representatives of each of the other batteries and walked off with a three-day pass and a check for $25 for being the best soldier in the battalion.

A native Californian, born and raised in Merced, where his mother and father still reside, he was drafted in 1954, sworn in at Fresno and sent to Fort Ord for basic training.

His first assignment upon completion of basic was with the 55th FA Bn at Fort Sill, Okla. He stayed at Fort Sill until December 1956, when his tour was up, and then returned to Merced and civilian life.

Home and life as a civilian were good, but Harbick missed the old Army days. In January of this year he reenlisted for the San Francisco Army Air Defense Command and was assigned to his present unit.

Pfc. Harbick is an Assistant Chief of Section in a Launcher Platoon and swears, "I won't leave the Army again until I have completed at least 20 years."

He will spend his pass time in Merced with his mother and father, where he will look up some of his friends and tell them how to get into the NIKE, where he feels they belong.

AF Academy Cadets Visit Missile Unit

The 30th Artillery Group, Fort Barry, played host to 60 members of the class of 1961 of the United States Air Force Military Academy who visited the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Winfield Scott and "B" Battery of the 740th AAA Missile Battalion recently.

Captain Robert Wagers, Training Officer, San Francisco Army Air Defense School, briefed the cadets on the organization of the United States Army Air Defense Command and Lt. David Birmingham, Missile Officer, 30th Artillery Group, explained the operation of the Nike Ajax missile system.

At "B" Battery, 740th AAA Missile Battalion, the cadets observed the fueling of an Ajax missile, the missile storage facilities, and toured the Launching and Integrated Fire Control Areas.

Generals Moved

Two generals have been reassigned to and from this area, the Department of the Army announced recently.

Maj. Gen. Emil Lenzner, Deputy Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D.C., has been assigned to the Army Electronic Proving Ground, Fort Huachuca, Ariz. His new assignment will be effective in July.

Brig. Gen. Charles F. Tank, commanding general of the Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific, Fort Mason, Calif., has been assigned to the Eighth Army, Seoul, Korea.

Cap Cover Change Gets Green Light

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army has taken a significant step forward in its Uniform Program with the recent adoption of a service cap frame with interchangeable green, blue, and white covers for optional purchase and wear by officers and warrant officers.

The new interchangeable-type service cap will afford officers considerable convenience while traveling and costs less than two of the caps if they are purchased separately.

Some officers are presently required to own two and in some cases three different uniforms with associated caps. Now, the three interchangeable covers and cap frame can do the job.

Officer and warrant officer personnel should make sure that each part bears a quality control certificate number when purchasing the new cap.

Mule's Brother

A three quarter ton platform type personnel cargo carrier will be built by Willys Motors for the Ordnance Corps.

The new vehicle can carry six people and also may be converted into a truck with nearly 50 square feet of cargo area by merely folding the seats. Its load capacity is 1500 pounds.

A top speed of 60 miles an hour may be reached by the four cylinder carrier, and it will climb grades up to 60%.

Lot Of Paperwork

More than 135,000 pieces of incoming correspondence are received monthly by the Personnel Records Branch, The Adjutant General's Office in Washington, D. C. Hand stamping the date and time of receipt on each item required 3,840 manhours per year. On a suggestion, an electric perforator was installed that can perforate 20 sheets of paper in one operation, thus eliminating 81 percent or 3,120 manhours of effort during the year.

101st Airborne Opens Key STRAC Exercises

Washington (ANS)—The Army, co-jointly with the other services, will conduct a series of field exercises during Fiscal Year 1959 specifically to test the mobility and alertness of its new Strategic Army Corps.

A force tailored to deal with limited wars and to move promptly to potential trouble spots anywhere in the world, STRAC's mission is to be operationally ready on a moment's notice.

The 101st Airborne Division will kick off the training with Exercise DARK CLOUD at Fort Campbell, Ky., in November, 1958. Approximately 17,000 troopers will be employed during this full-scale airborne division operation.

A battle group of 1,600 troopers from the 82d Airborne Division will move by air to Panama for Exercise BANYAN TREE during January, 1959. This battle group will participate in a jungle warfare exercise during its 10-day stay there.

A battle group of 1,600 troopers from the 101st Airborne Division will be airlifted by the U.S. Air Force to Alaska to participate in Exercise CARIBOU CREEK in January-February, 1959. This ex-

'Trip To Moon' Keys Summer Reading Plan

Registration and classes for the Summer Reading Sessions at the Main Library and Fort Scott Library began 16 June.

This year, the theme is "A Rocket Trip to the Moon." Upon registration, each child will receive a model rocket-ship which will be placed on the earth. Each time he reads and gives an oral report on a book, his rocketship will be moved forward one planet. It will take ten books, and thus ten moves, to advance him to the moon.

In order to be eligible, a child must be able to write his name and to read.

Records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Records, 262 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

For those of you who wish to remember the ivy-covered days of yore, lend an ear to "College Drinking Songs," sung by the Blazers, released by ABC Paramount. They do, among their many selections, "In Bohemia Halls," "Landlord Fill the Flowing Bowl," "Little Brown Jug," "Far Above Cayuga's Waters," and "Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech."

That southern boy with the sideburns, which were recently shaved off by an Army barber, has a disc out, "Elvis' Golden Records," released by RCA Victor. These 14 golden discs are somewhat of a musical phenomena. A disc is golden after a million copies have been sold, and Elvis managed to do this 14 consecutive times. Among the selections are: "Hound Dog," "Heartbreak Hotel," "Love Me Tender," and "Don't Be Cruel." The Soviet Army and Chorus and Band in a Program of Favorites has been recorded by Monitor. "Wait for your Soldier" is a war song, "The Cliff on the Volga" is an old folk song, and "A Toast to Friends," is a boisterous drinking song.

The literati in this area might be interested in a record put out by Caedmon, "Chaucer's Pardoner's Tale and the Nun's Priest's Tale from Canterbury Tales." It is read in Middle English by Robert Ross. No translation can ever capture the vitality and genius of the original nor hope to duplicate the extraordinary lilt of the metre.

Chemical Corps Has Hot Time In Alabama

Fort McClellan, Ala. (ANS)—The U.S. Army Chemical Corps School here is loaded with radioactive real estate! These grounds are being used for both training and tests and play an important part in the development and teaching of technical "know-how" for nuclear battlefield tactics.

The main "hot" area at the school is a tract about 600 yards long and 250 yards wide, containing 400 point-sources of radioactive cobalt. Each of these sources can be raised from its own small well, if desired.

Two important research projects were conducted at the school during the past year. One was a study of the feasibility of using standard Army aircraft for radiological surveying and the other was an investigation of the use of metal shielding on engineer heavy equipment for protection against gamma rays.

In the future, it is expected that many other defense facilities will use this testing ground. The facilities are available to other military agencies upon request through channels to the Chief Chemical Officer, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C.

"QSL" Cards Set For Hams Who Monitor Moon

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army has announced that the Signal Research and Development Laboratory at Fort Monmouth, N. J., is going to send all amateur radio operators who pick up moon signals an acknowledgement or "QSL" card.

Before launching each U. S. satellite, the transmitter and antenna of the Diana moon radar at Fort Monmouth, N. J., bounces signals off the moon to check that Minitrack stations and amateur radio receivers are tuned to the transmitters aboard the U. S. Satellites.

The amateurs notify the Laboratory of the American Radio Relay League at West Hartford, Conn., as soon as they begin receiving the moon-bounced signals. These "Hams," the Army says, make a direct contribution to the U. S. satellite program with their assistance during the calibration period.

Lt. Col. James H. Cavins, Sp3 Smith, Sp2 Bernardini, and Sp3 Fraus will leave for Fort Ord to represent the Presidio in the Sixth Army Tennis Tournament, which begins Monday and extends throughout the week.

Pacific Keglers In 3-Way Tie

The end of last week's matches in the Pacific Bowling League found Hq. Co. 6A No. 2, Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 and the AAA Sparks in a three-way tie for first place.

Hq. No. 2 took three games from Hq. No. 3 with Logan's 541-196 leading the winners and the 547-214 of Wilmoth top for the losers.

Walkley rolled a 546-190 for the AAA Sparks when they blasted the Honor Guard 4-0. The best the Guards could muster was a 480-161 by Jackson.

The Regioners are one game behind the leaders after a 3-1 victory over the Mail Maulers. High men were Ploen, 455-158, for the Regioners and Stephens, 521-178, for the Maulers.

Retorts, led by Home's 451-168, suffered a 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Compt-Rollers, whose top kegler was Routen, 530-204.

The Kingpins, led by the 579-223 of Andresen, racked up a 4-0 win over the 4th place Islanders this week to hold first place in the Presidio Bowling League.

Top keglers for the losers was Given with 498-176.

In second place, the Kops trampled the 60th CI team, 4-0, with high man Beveridge rolling a 566-214. Ogle was best for the 60th with 452-168.

Opozda, with 535-193, helped the fifth place Shalters smash their way to a 3-1 victory over the last place SFAADS, whose top bowler was Horne, 414-160.

A 575-225 scored by Wilmoth led the seventh place Hq. Co. 6A into a 2-2 split with the third place Toros, whose best man, Havrilla, mustered a 528-203.

Nick Themely Gains On Last Year's Form

The powerful Post Softball team, backed by the fine pitching of curve artist Nick Themely, won their fourth game of the season, dumping the Pacific Service Employees Association nine, by the score of 6-1, to hold on to second place in the S.F. Minor League.

The locals are now only one game away from the first place Stubby and Tom nine, which they were scheduled to play last night in a showdown game. If the locals should succeed in defeating them, a playoff game will have to be played to determine the champion of the first half of play, which concludes this week.

Themely, who last year made local headlines with his terrific pitching performances, including several no-hitters, is slowly regaining his old form as he allowed only three hits, striking out 11 and walking only one.

The locals got three big runs in the third when Julian reached first on an error. The next batter, Shultz, was hit by the pitcher, and with one out, big Ed Johnson got on an error while Julian scored. Hard-hitting Ed Kornaga followed with a smashing double to right center to score Shultz, while Johnson later scored from third on a long fly ball off the bat of Nellie Goff.

Big stickers for the Presidio were Fernandez with two doubles and Kornaga with a triple and a double.

WAC Nine Buries Ord, Mather NAS

Presidio's WAC softball team collected another win Tuesday when they came from behind to take Fort Ord, 6-1.

The score was 1-0 in favor of Fort Ord up to the top of the sixth when the local went to work and collected four runs. They added three more runs in the seventh to cinch the victory.

Top hit for the girls was a triple in the fourth by Uyeda.

Winning pitcher, Puccio, gave up only six scattered hits during the game.

Another win was gained for the team when they came from behind again in a game last Friday with Mather to win 17-16.

The lady softballers played their fourth league game last night with LAH. Results were not available at press time.

AF Pentathlon Hopefuls Training In 5 Events

Candidates for the U.S. Armed Forces Pentathlon team that is scheduled to compete in the 1958 CISM championships at Athens, Greece, 5-14 July, arrived in Nuremberg, Germany, recently to begin training.

A six-man team will be selected on the basis of competitive trials. The five events will include: shooting with the service rifle in slow and sustained fire over a 200-meter range; obstacle run over a 500-meter course; grenade throwing for accuracy and distance; free-style swimming over a 50-meter course with four obstacles; and a five-mile cross country run.

How popular is clamming? On one wintry day on Monterey Bay 340 persons, by actual count, were digging for Pismo clams during an afternoon low tide.

$101,000 For Sports

Thirteen combination asphalt and concrete 120x60-foot athletic courts are nearing completion throughout the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command. Completed, they will cost $101,000.

The courts were designed primarily for basketball, volleyball, tennis and shuffleboard; but, in addition, they may be used for outdoor bowling, paddle tennis, push ball, goal hi, deck tennis, and sacket.

D Btry, 740th Splits Pair In Softball

The first game of a double-header last week during the 740th AAA Msl. Bn. Softball League play saw D Battery from Newark take a 17-4 trampling from Battery B.

In the second game the losers once again began to show their power by pulling a game with A Battery out of the fire in the last inning to win 6-5.

Wright pitched both games, but Cassidy, who played backstop during the first game, was moved to shortstop for the second match.

At the end of play in the second inning it looked like a carbon copy of the first game, as A got off to a 5-0 lead.

Then Wright found the secret and held them hitless as his teammates cut down the lead against them, making it 5-4 as they came to bat in the last half of the last inning.

Cassidy led off with a fly which was dropped by the center fielder and left him safe on first.

Willingham followed with a hit over the shortstop that put him on second and Cassidy on third.

Next batter, Roback, hit the first pitch through the box and into centerfield to drive in Cassidy and then Willingham for the winning run.

Neider, Shelton Aim For Slots On U.S. Squad

The Presidio track team, made up of two outstanding performers, shotputter Lt. Bill Neider, Hq. Co. USA Garrison, and high jumping Sp3 Ernie Shelton of XV Corps (Res.), left this week for Bakersfield to compete in Saturday's National AAU Track and Field Championships.

A 74 man track squad will be selected at Bakersfield to represent the United States in a match with the Soviet Union scheduled for 20 July in Moscow. This is in accordance with a U. S. Department of State Exchange Program.

Wild geese have been known to fly as fast as 60 miles an hour and as high as 29,000 feet.

LAH, SFAADS Keep Local Softball Leads

The high-flying LAH softball nine, behind the fine six-hit pitching of Nakao, blasted Hq. Co. USA Garrison 17-2, this week, to remain in first place in the Presidio League.

The League leaders collected a total of 15 hits off pitcher Chuck Schmidt of Hq. Co.

The USA Training Group kept pace with LAH by shutting out MRU, 4-0. Both teams are undefeated in league play. LAH has a 7-0-1 record, while the Training Group is in second place with a 6-0-2 record.

In the tight Ft. Scott League race, the third place 21st Engineers walloped the 99th Engineers by the count of 10-3.

Zakrajsek received credit for the 21st win. His teammates garnered a total of 8 hits, including home runs by Shultz and Baum.

The San Francisco Army Air Defense School still holds first spot with an 8-2 record, with the Honor Guard nine right behind them with a 7-1 record.

There was no action this week in the Ft. Baker League. Sixth RAADCOM leads with 5-2-1, while the 194 Ord. holds second place with a 4-2-1 record.

The top ten batters of the three combined leagues after over a month of play are: Thornton, 16th BPO, .500; Wait, SFAADS, .500; Weatherwax, USA Tng. Gp., .474; Levinson, USA Tng. Gp., .463; Mahon, Teenagers, .550; Beveridge, Honor Guard, .440; Kornaga, 21st Engrs., .440; King, 16th PBO, .438; Mahoney, Sixth RAADCOM, .438 and Hubbel, SFAADS, .438.

New Pentathlon Proves Mystery To Average Fan

Washington (ANS)—If you have ever heard of the Modern Pentathlon you are better informed than the average sports fan. And if you can name the five Pentathlon events you are in the superior class.

The Modern Pentathlon, defined as "five (penta) contests (athlon)," has been an Olympic event for 46 years. The team is composed of only four athletes (three team members and one alternate) and its five events are all classified as "minor sports" in the United States. It has become known as the "military event of the Olympics."

The five events include: Shooting (pistol or revolver—20 shots at 25 meters); Fencing (epee-dueling sword); Cross-country run (4,000 meters); Riding (5,000 meter cross-country) and Swimming (300 meter free-style).

In the only other game played, the Pirates bounced back from their loss to the Braves earlier in the week to hand the Dodgers a 9-6 loss.

Both teams collected 5 hits apiece, with Cecil Harrison receiving credit for the win.

Pony League games are played every Tuesday and Thursday evenings beginning at 1800 hours, with a doubleheader scheduled for Saturdays starting at 1300 hours.

Games are played at the Pony League diamond located behind the 30th Engr. Motor Pool, off Lincoln Blvd. near the 25th Ave. Gate.

Tigers Upset, 16-10, But Hold Pony Lead

The 30th Artillery Group Tigers of the Pony League, sparked by the three hit pitching of their ace hurler, Mike Foley, maintained their slim league lead after the third week of play, by nosing out the second place XV Corps Braves, 1-0.

The Tigers collected a total of five hits off Braves' pitcher Ken Diamond.

The Braves kept pace with the frontrunners by walloping the Hq. Sixth Army Pirates in the first game of Saturday's doubleheader by the score of 9-1. Pete Howland of the Braves allowed three hits to register the win.

The winners were only able to garner a total of two hits, but were aided by several Pirate errors.

In the nightcap, the Presidio-LAH Dodgers surprised the Tigers by outhitting the league leaders to register a 16-10 win. Winning pitcher was Larry MacFarland.

In a play-off game of a tie last week between the two same teams, the Dodgers came out on

One of the two changes made by the 1958 California Legislature regarding fishing licenses which became effective 2 April, permits wartime veterans with a service-connected disability rated at 70 percent or more by the Veteran's Administration to receive free sport fishing licenses and two license stamps. The former law required 100 percent disability before free licenses could be issued.

New Designation

The 10th Infantry Division will be redesignated the 2d Infantry Division on 14 June. During a public ceremony at Weatherby Field, Ft. Benning, Ga., the colors of the famed 10th Division will be cased and replaced by the battle honored flag of the 2d.

Personnel and equipment of the 10th will be absorbed in the newly-designated 2d Infantry Division. Fondly called "Second to None" and nicknamed the "Indianhead Division" by men who served with the 2d, the Division brings a proud name and traditions that date back to 1798 to Fort Benning.

A Btry Snitches 740th Keg Award From Idle B Five

By defeating a stubborn C team, A Battery from Ft. Funston this week took the first place trophy in the 740th Bowling League away from an idle B team from Ft. Scott.

High score for the inspired A team was McClellan's 200-545. Sadler of the losers posted a 130-527.

Hqs. was unable to put a team on the alleys against D from Newark and the forfeited 4 games left D and Hqs. tied for third place. This leaves Battery C alone in the cellar.

In an informal ceremony after the last game, Maj. Robert R. Murray, Battalion S3, presented M/Sgt. McClellan, A Battery's team captain, with the league winner's trophy.

A total of 6,251,060 revenue tons of freight passed through the busy Port of San Francisco during 1957, the best year since 1951, an increase of 13 percent over 1956.

Stock Wins 2 As Toreros Push Season Record To 27-6

The mighty Torero baseball team, backed by some fine pitching and timely hitting, continued to overpower its opponents over the past week by chalking up four more victories to boost their seasonal record to an impressive 27 wins and 6 losses.

After walloping Hamilton Air Force Base last week in a doubleheader, the locals came right back to hand the Airmen their third straight loss by the count of 7-5.

The star of the game was Presidio's pitcher, Vince Billante, who gave up nine scattered hits and drove in three of his team's runs with 3 for 5. The other top sticker for the locals was hustling Mike Drummey, who also collected 3 hits in 5 times at bat.

The second Presidio win came at the expense of the Stronettas Stars of Napa by the score of 11-1.

Wes Stock continued his torrid pitching by striking out 16 batters and giving up only five hits. He also had a good day at bat, collecting 3 hits. Mike Drummey once again displayed his power at the plate by garnering a total of 3 hits for 5 times at bat.

In a week-end game, the Toreros journeyed to Santa Clara, where they toppled the Regal Pale nine by the score of 7-1.

Roger Sawyer chalked up his eighth win of the year, against four losses, giving up one run on five hits. Dick Satalich had a perfect day at the plate for the locals, getting 3 for 3.

The other Torero win over the past week was over the Alameda Naval Air Station nine, by the count of 4-3.

Sensational Wes Stock came right back to collect his second win of the week, and his ninth straight of the year against no defeats. This time the Toreros, property of the Baltimore Orioles, struck out 15 men and gave up only six scattered hits.

Big gun for the Toreros was Julian, getting 2 for 4, and driving in 2 important runs.

M48A2 On Line

The Army has ordered an additional 900 M48A2 Medium Gun Tanks at a cost of approximately $65,000,000 from the Chrysler Corporation. This tank is now in production and being assembled at Lenape Ordnance Plant, Newark, Delaware.

Col. Irvine Named 6th ARADCOM Deputy

Major General E. J. McGaw this week appointed Colonel Michael M. Irvine as Deputy Commander of the Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command.

Col. Irvine succeeds Col. W. F. Spurgin who has been reassigned to the U.S. Army Garrison, Verdun, France. Colonel Spurgin was appointed Chief of Staff here in 1954 and has served concurrently as Deputy Commander since 1 August 1957.

Col. Irvine reported to his current assignment from service with NATO Headquarters in Norway. He was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1931. He also holds a Master of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Class of 1938. He is a native of Minnesota.

Earlier in his military career he completed assignments as an artillery officer in Alaska and the Philippines. He is a graduate of the Artillery School and the Army War College.

His military awards include the Legion of Merit and the

Col. Michael M. Irvine

Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

As deputy to Gen. McGaw, Col. Irvine will assist in discharging the administrative and tactical responsibilities for the Army's share of the air defense of the West Coast.

New Kit Set

Washington (ANS) — The Army Quartermaster Corps has developed a new type "drop kit" designed to make aerial delivery of heavy equipment to troops by parachute more efficient and economical. The kit, which has an expendable platform made of plywood and honeycombed paperboard, costs about one-tenth as much as the old one and weighs about one-half as much.

Combat-Ready Signal Corpsmen use the Army's new all-weather radar "eye" which can spot a single enemy soldier half a mile away in darkness or fog; vehicles and large groups can be detected at much greater distances.

Comm Center Marks SC Birthday Today

The 98th anniversary of the U.S. Army Signal Corps, which is officially tomorrow, is being celebrated on Post today at a ceremony beginning at 1000 hours in the Communication Center.

Col. J. G. Ondrick, Sixth U.S. Army Deputy Chief of Staff, will cut the anniversary cake.

The planned activities include a tour of the Communication Center, closed circuit television, a polaroid camera which will furnish souvenir photos.

In addition, MARS, the amateur radio station, will be available for sending free messages to soldiers overseas. The Sixth Army Band, with pipers, will be present.

Through its vast research and development program the Army Signal Corps is constantly increasing the combat effectiveness of the Army and answering the demands of the nation's attention which is focused on science for defense more than at any other time in peacetime history.

Time was, in the early days of the Signal Corps, when urgent combat messages were sent from mountain to mountain by flashing mirrors, semaphore flags, or blinker lights.

Contrast this with the high-efficiency communications systems of today that use radio and wire equipment to provide almost instantaneous contact between forward elements and headquarters on the battlefield.

Signal Corps research and development has produced many futuristic devices, not only for defense, but also for peacetime use.

The 98th anniversary of the Signal Corps represents, therefore, in the strictest sense an ever progressing branch of the service.

AUSA To Meet

The Association of the United States Army will hold a dinner meeting 27 June at 1830 in the Presidio Officers Open Mess. Dress will be informal. All members are invited to attend.

There will be a discussion by representatives of the Martin Missile and Aircraft Corporation of Baltimore on plans for the heavy strategic mobile airlift, commonly called the Sea Mistress.

The cost of the dinner is $2.50 per person. Reservations and further information may be obtained from Capt. Edward Endres, extension 2275. The closing date for reservations is noon 27 June.

Sixth Army To Have "Special Troops" Tuesday

the STAR-PRESIDIAN

"Serving those who serve a nation!"

Vol. 7, No. 5

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 27 June, 1958

Includes Six Units; Boosts AdminControl

Maj Gen John J Binns, Chief of Staff, Sixth US Army, announced that effective Tuesday six units currently assigned to the Presidio, but which service Hq Sixth US Army, will be grouped under a newly-established Hq Sixth Army Special Troops (TD 66-6000-02).

The reorganization—which encompasses Hq Sixth Army (EM only), Det 1; Hq Co Sixth Army; 56th and 102d MRU; Sixth Army Flight Det, Det 3; and 199th MI Det (API)—will facilitate control by Hq Sixth Army and relieve the Presidio of administrative responsibility for units primarily associated with the Army headquarters.

Col Robert A Ports, present Chief of the Sixth Army G2 Security Div, has been named Commanding Officer of the new organization.

In addition to his duties as CO, Special Troops, Col Ports also will serve as Sixth Army Hq Commandant. He will assume his new duties 1 July.

Headquarters Special Troops will occupy the first floor of Bldg 106, contingent upon the move of the Presidio Provost Marshal to Bldg 558.

Units in Special Troops, however, will continue to use their present facilities.

Operational control of the Flight Det will be retained by the Chief, Sixth Army Aviation Sec; the 56th and 102d MRU, by the Sixth Army AG; and the 199th MI Det, by the Sixth Army G2.

Published authorized strength of Hq and Hq Co, Special Troops, as indicated by Sixth Army General Orders 106, 19 June 58, will be 4 officers, 2 warrant officers, 75 EM and 1 civilian.

In addition to Hq Special Troops, Hq and Hq Co will be organized as follows: Administrative-Personnel Div, Operation Div, Supply Div, Mess Div and Transportation Div (formerly, VIP Plt).

Personnel records of EM assigned or attached to Special Troops will be maintained by Hq Special Troops.

The new headquarters (and company) will be staffed from personnel currently assigned to Sixth Army Hq Commandant and Hq Co.

The Presidio, however, will continue to furnish support to elements and members of Hq Special Troops in such matters as legal assistance, personnel separation, ID cards, food service, billeting and housing, finance and comptroller service, Special Services activities and other special phases of logistics and administration.

The Special Troops CO also will exercise Special court-martial jurisdiction over personnel and units assigned or attached to the newly-created unit.

In order to maintain a single WAC Det and to facilitate the identity of WAC personnel assigned to Hq Sixth Army, a separate platoon for such personnel will be organized within Co D.

Irwin CG To Korea

Brigadier General Walter A. Jensen, Commanding General, Camp Irwin, Calif., has been assigned to Headquarters Eighth Army, Korea. He will report to his new assignment on 5 October.

"Beautification" Keys "Greens" On Credit; Monthly Field Day; All EM Out Tomorrow

Local soldiers will be out tomorrow in full force in the first monthly field day designed to maintain the Presidio as the most beautiful and well-kept post in the Armed Forces.

In addition, the troops' efforts are expected to lessen fire hazards in areas not normally tended during daily groundskeeping.

All military personnel assigned here will participate. The cleanup will begin at 0730 hours and continue until the work has been completed. Units will be divided into four groups:

Group One (30th Engr Bn)—responsible for the areas off Lincoln Blvd, beginning at the 25th Ave gate and ending at the cemetery.

Group Two (Hq Sixth Army, Hq Co Sixth Army, Sixth Army Flight Det and 163rd MP Co)—responsible for areas off Lincoln Blvd from Funston Ave to the cemetery, and off Presidio Blvd, from Funston Ave to the Presidio Ave gate.

Group Three (Hq Co, USA Gar; A Co, USA Gar; and C Co, USA Gar)—responsible for the areas beginning at the Presidio Ave gate, along West Pacific Ave to Mountain Lake, and from the Arguello Ave gate, along Arguello as far as Moraga Ave.

Group Four (56th MRU, 102nd MRU, USA Personnel Conduct and Security Det, 60th MP CI Det, 87th Ord Det, 548th Ord Det, Sixth Army Communications Operation Agency, Sixth Army Communications Center, Sixth Army Recruiting Dist and Post Dispensary)—responsible for areas off Washington Blvd, beginning at Lincoln Blvd and ending at Arguello Ave.

The Army this week announced a $10 down, $10 a month credit plan for all enlisted men to buy the new green uniforms which they are required to possess by 1 October, 1958.

The plan, intended as a one-shot program to help enlisted men shed their old "old style" uniforms, will be inaugurated 1 July and continue through 30 September. The credit plan will be available here to all enlisted men making a single purchase of $25 or more at QM sales stores.

Men wishing to take advantage of the new credit plan must use the 1035 form, initiated at the unit level, which will be forwarded and processed through the appropriate personnel division.

New green uniforms may not be purchased by men in the field from the QM mobile units. They must be obtained at the QM clothing sales stores. The new store hours are Monday, 1200 to 1900; Tuesdays through Fridays, 0830 to 1500 hours.

In addition to introducing the time payment arrangement, the Army on 1 July will cut the cost of green coat, trousers and service cap to $33.25, a reduction of $7.45 below the present price.

Since new uniform purchases will not require full cash payment, enlisted men are urged to take advantage of the lower prices during July and August in order to avoid the last minute rush at QM stores as the October deadline approaches.

Pathologist Here

Colonel Joe M. Blumberg, Chief Pathology and Laboratory Sciences Consultant, OTSG, DA, and Director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, who is attending the American Medical Association convention here this week, will visit the Sixth Army Medical Lab. at Ft. Baker next Wednesday, and then proceed to Ft. Ord on the following day to examine its laboratory facilities.

proaches. It has been estimated that as many as 400,000 men would use the new credit plan. It was designed to aid enlisted men who had not saved their monthly clothing allowances to buy the new greens.

Enjoy Safe Holiday; Spend July 4th at Post "Family Day"

Families! Leave your cars at home and spend a safe and happy Fourth of July at the Presidio.

Three days of activities have been planned by the Presidio, in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"Family Days" has been designed with the hope of keeping the public off the crowded highways and drawing them to the Presidio where bus tours to Ft Point and Crissy Field, displays and walking tours in the historic "Old Garrison" area south of the parade ground will be featured. Each bus will be staffed with an Army guide.

The Number 45 bus stops only a few feet from the parade ground and on post, transportation to all points of interest will be provided by the Army.

The activities will begin each morning during the three-day holiday at 1000 and continue until 1530. On the Fourth of July, a picnic lunch will be available on the parade ground.

Gen Palmer: '58 UBAC Drive Time Army Can Aid Community

"This . . . is one time when the community looks to us for help," Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, told United Bay Area Crusade representatives from 13 nearby Army installations Monday.

Monday's UBAC session at the Ft. Scott Officers' Club was the first in which Gen. Palmer, Chairman of the over-all Military Committee for UBAC, addressed assembled Army 1958 campaign aides.

The General said, "We are a part of the community. We in the military look to the community many times for help. This UBAC Drive is one time when the community looks to us for help, and I feel we should give them our fullest cooperation."

The Monday meeting followed a planning program Friday in the Sixth Army Conference Room, Bldg. 38, during which the joint Military Planning Committee determined the method for assigning installation goals, to be announced sometime next month.

Keynote of the 1958 campaign is. "Give Where You Work! Give Your Fair Share."

A spokesman for the Planning Committee emphasized that all military and civilian personnel should contribute through their offices. They then will be given a UBAC sticker for display in their homes so community fund raisers will know they have made donations.

A "Fair Share," he said, has been recommended as one day's wages. He explained that all money collected will be channeled into a central fund and allocated later on a "need" basis by UBAC.

"This," the spokesman said, "will permit equitable distribution of contributions throughout the five-county Bay Area.

The five counties are Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo.

Official dates for the Fall campaign are 22 September through 31 October.

Takes New Post
Col Robert A Ports

Col Ports Named Commander of Special Troops

Colonel Robert A. Ports has been appointed the first Commanding Officer of the newly created Hq. Special Troops, Sixth US Army. He currently is Chief of the Sixth Army G2 Security Division.

A West Point graduate, class of 1930, Col. Ports is a native of Columbus, Ohio. He also was graduated from Ohio State University.

Col. Ports' service schools include Ft. Sill, Ft. Leavenworth and the Armed Forces Staff College. He has held troop assignments as Commander, A Btry., 13th FA Bn.; AG, 3rd Inf. Div.; Post AG, Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Assistant G3, IX Corps; Aide and Assistant G3, 3rd Inf. Div.; and G3, 11th Abn. Div.

Later assignments completed by Col. Ports include one as Chief of Staff, G3, Div. Arty. Executive Officer and Commander of the 126th FA Bn., 32nd Inf. Div., during the Philippine Campaign and the Occupation of Japan. He began his first tour of duty at the Presidio from an assignment as Executive Officer, G3 Section, I Corps, and Commanding Officer of the 13th FA Bn., 24th Inf. Div., in Japan. Ultimately he was assigned as Director of Training, ATS, U.S. Pacific Fleet, Coronado, Calif.

In Germany, Col. Ports was Chief of Management, Comptroller, EUCOM, and Deputy Artillery Officer, Seventh Army.

Col. Ports' military decorations include the Distinguished Unit Badge, Silver Star, Bronze Star, the Air Medal, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant and the Purple Heart.

"Kids Have Problems"

M/Sgt Charles H Daugherty

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

"Their biggest problem is they have nothing to do and nowhere to go," M/Sgt Charles H Daugherty, director of the Teenage Club, said.

"Kids can't afford to do most things so they need a place to go. If they didn't have this club, they might be running around on the streets until someone put a stop to it."

M/Sgt Daugherty was doing some paper work. He stood behind the soda fountain. The club was empty and quiet. And as he spoke in his calm voice, his brown eyes intent, it was easy for us to understand one of the reasons why teenagers flock to their club.

He and his wife have been directors of the club since the first of the year. They have six children of their own, three boys and three girls. M/Sgt and Mrs Daugherty volunteered for the job.

"These kids, like kids everywhere, have problems. They bring their problems in here, not because anything is necessarily wrong at home, but because sometimes they feel an outsider can help them more than their parents. They talk pretty freely. I don't think a teenager ever gets embarrassed."

The Teenage Club has a large, modestly decorated house. There is a long soda fountain with high, red stools. Some red sofas and chairs are in a corner circle, there are juke boxes, billiard tables, and on the walls are photographs from club activities, dances and picnics. Bright colored high school banners are scattered about.

When we were there, the club was deserted. Daugherty looked up from his work. "At three o'clock, this place suddenly gets packed. The kids come here right after school is out. Some of them bring their homework. Some play pool. They play the juke box. They all eat and talk. Some of them talk to me. They are still kids, but you can't forget that they are growing into adults."

We asked the sergeant why he thought the club was important. He said, "Teenagers need supervision. Although they may be capable, they still need guidance. This is their own club. They make their own rules. And they do very well. But they need direction. I think the most important thing they learn is that they've got to work together. There is no room for individuality these days. A man can't be a hermit within himself. These kids learn while they're young that there is an interdependence among people."

"Guidance should start in the home. But it must be available elsewhere if the kids, kids anywhere, need it. They have to be controlled to stay on the right track. Once in a while, we have a little trouble here. But it doesn't take long before the malcontent comes around and joins the group. I think that teenagers will all turn out all right. But it is up to us to make sure that they are shown the right direction. That is the purpose of this club. It gives them a place to go, a place of their own."

M/Sgt Daugherty believes there should be teenage clubs all over the city. Undoubtedly the teenagers believe there should be more Daughertys all over the world. A man who likes his work, a work that has positive, growing results. . . . that's Daugherty.

In the Far East, the Army maintains strong forces to help block aggression in Korea. In Europe, our magnificent Seventh Army—undoubtedly the most powerful Army ever fielded by this country in time of peace—maintains, in cooperation with our Allies, a ground defense of the NATO countries against Communist aggression. This "first line of defense" is essential as a bulwark against aggression and is a constant and visible reminder to any potential aggressor that, if he attacks, he will be met at once by an American soldier.—Army Information Digest.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Niccoll

There seems to be in our modern day life one ubiquitous subject from which no one can escape, least of all an Inquiring Reporter, who finally decided to take the plunge and ask.

THE QUESTION: What is your favorite television program and why?

ANSWERS

Billy Clark, 12, 1933 Balboa St.: I really like that program "Silent Service." It's real exciting. It's all about war on a Navy submarine. All the time ships are getting blown up and getting bombed and stuff like that. It comes on on Saturday night and I always watch it. I really like it 'cuz it's all about war. Once in awhile there is a girl in it.

Sp2 Catherine Hennessey, Personnel Office, LAH: Well, I really don't know. I suppose I like just about everything. I like musicals, like the "Firestone Hour" and the "Perry Como Show." I enjoyed that series Lowell Thomas did, those "High Adventure" shows. It'd be nice to be on one of those trips, but I guess it's a little safer watching it on television. I never watch news on TV. I always get that from the radio. Sports I don't like too much, but sometimes I watch the Forty Niners play football. I think you can see better on a television set than if you were actually at the game.

Donald L. Thompson, Assistant Chief of PSF Fire Department: I can tell you this—I watch 'em all! I don't really believe I have any favorites, I just love 'em all. Every day I watch television from about five to midnight. In sports I like fights, in quiz programs I like "21" and "Tic Tac Dough." But generally speaking, I watch just about anything. In my house, the whole family watches television. We never have any arguments over what program to look at. Solved the whole thing by getting two sets, put one in the den and the other in the living room. No, I can't say I have any favorite. I just generally like everything.

Sfc. Cecil A Watford, 124th Signal Bn., Ft. Lewis: Well, now, that's a hard question to answer. I do very little watching. I guess I like one program as well as the other. It's all the same. I do some week-end watching. I've noticed that people seem to go out less than before television. Well, now that I think about it, I guess I like to watch the news and the shoot 'em ups.

S-P Alumnus Sells Two Short Stories To "Irish Digest"

Sfc Debra O'Hanlon, a pint-sized Presidio WAC, red-haired and with an accent to match her name, has broken into the professional writing field.

Two stories by Sfc O'Hanlon have been accepted by the "Irish Digest" this month. The first, entitled "They Rest In Peace In San Francisco," appears in the current issue of the widely-circulated magazine published in Dublin. It is written around the Mission Dolores and the old Irish cemetery at the rear of its church.

The other, an historical account of the life of Jasper O'Farrell, for whom a main street in San Francisco is named, is slated for publication in the August issue of the "Digest."

Sfc O'Hanlon is assigned to the Information Section, Sixth ARADCOM. Until recently, she was a columnist and feature writer for the "Star Presidian." Her "Presidio Sketchbook," a serialized capsule history of the reservation and the City of San Francisco during the Gold Rush, drew wide interest.

"Debbie," as she is commonly known at the Presidio, was educated in the Irish national schools. She later became an honor student in her Creative Writing class at Ohio University. An earlier short story of hers won the Army-wide writing contest and was published by Rinehart in an anthology of the twelve top stories chosen through the contest.

Traces Army History

A Hall of Military History has been established in the Arts and Industries Building of the Smithsonian Institute. It traces chronologically the development and accomplishments of the Army from the 17th Century Colonial Militia to the Pentomic Army of today.

Although it was a Smithsonian project, the planning and preparation of the hall were carried out in close cooperation with DA through the Chief of Military History. It is expected that two million people will visit the Hall of Military History each year.

The Star Presidian is an authorized weekly publication published under the direct supervision of the Commanding Officer of the Presidio of San Francisco for the benefit of military and civilian personnel of Hq. Sixth US Army; Hq. 6th Region Army Air Defense Command; Hq. XV US Army Corps (Reserve); Letterman Army Hospital and the Garrison of the Presidio. Distribution is made each Friday morning on troop messes, key command points and individual quarters. General distribution ratio is 1 to 3.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

Every Soldier Can Be

An Expert Salesman

Good public relations between the soldier and the civilian community are as important to the Army as they are to the civilian businessman who wants to achieve public acceptance of his product or service.

Therefore, it is important that we create a favorable impression of ourselves in the minds of the civilian population.

One significant way we can achieve this is by simply conducting ourselves as good members of the community.

In this week's Troop Information Topic, "You and Your Community," the relationship between the serviceman and the community, and the different aspects of his responsibility towards it, will be discussed.

Faith, Flag Crucial In

San Francisco Past

San Francisco will be 182 years old Sunday.

Five days before the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776, San Francisco was launched as a settlement by Capt Jose Joaquin Moraga and Fray Francisco Palou, together with a small band of soldiers and colonists.

These early settlers raised the cross and a flag of Spain on the shore of a small lagoon named "Laguna de Nuestra Senora de los Dolores," Lake of Our Lady of Sorrows.

There, near the present site of Mission Dolores (which is located at 16th and Dolores) a Mass of Thanksgiving was offered in the crude brush chapel which had been roughly constructed since the colonists' arrival two days before.

By Spanish custom these ceremonies marked the beginning of a new settlement. The mission which was subsequently built on the lagoon was named "Mision San Francisco de Asis" in honor of St Francis of Assisi, but became familiarly known as Mission Dolores.

The party of soldiers and colonists remained at this spot for one month before moving to the site of the Presidio. Here the same ceremonies were repeated. Six soldiers and one settler were left at the Mission with their families while work progressed at the Presidio.

In 1847, when the American settlement of Yerba Buena was incorporated by ordinance, the Mission of St. Francis and the Presidio were included under the name "San Francisco." Thus were our city's threefold beginnings brought together.

The Kavanaugh twins, (l to r) Leonard and Miles, won a first place in the All-Army Entertainment Contest of 1958. Their special gimmick is more than just being a mirror reflection of one another. They are twins with twinkling toes and golden gullets who are making a fast trip down the road of success.

Kavanaugh Twins Score In Army Talent Show

The 1958 All-Army Entertainment Contest is over now, and the Sixth US Army, proud to admit to its share of the glory, has announced the winners from this area.

The well-known Kavanaugh Twins, from Ft Ord, were first place winners in the "special group musical" category.

The Kavanaughs, who really are the twin Brothers Kavanaugh, do a team act of song and dances. Before they entered in the Army they were professional entertainers and have appeared in such well known places as Bimbo's 365 Club here; the Desert Inn, Las Vegas; and the Copacabana in New York. They also were in the films "Guys and Dolls," and "Pajama Game."

A quartet from Ft Huachuca, "The Four Fifths," won first place in the "vocal group." The winning singers were Sp2 Charles Reuelos, Sp2 William Belden, Sp3 Richard Bowen and Sp3 Thomas Dee.

A representative from Ft Lewis, Sp3 Joseph Shapiro, was a fourth place winner in the "vocal soloist group."

In the "speciality group, non-musical" division, the Eighth Infantry "Bullets," a rifle drill team, placed fourth. This winning team, also from Ft Lewis, consists of Sp3 Willie Holmes, Sp3 James Fletcher and Pfc Ray Huff.

On 20 July, the Kavanaugh Twins, the "Four Fifths," quartet and the 8th Inf "Bullets," will appear on the Ed Sullivan Television show representing, with other winners, the 1958 All-Army Entertainment Contest.

The winners in this year's Entertainment contest will soon begin a world-wide tour in the All-Army "Rolling Along" show of 1958. The Kavanaugh Twins and Pfc Barry Cristy, a baton twirler from 10th AAA Bn at Fairchild Air Force Base, will be in it.

The touring show will make two different stops at the Presidio. They have tentatively been scheduled for 30 September and 11 November.

Cinerama For 90¢

Arrangements have been made through the USO for members of the Armed Forces and their friends and families to attend a performance of Cinerama's "Search For Paradise" at the special price of 90 cents each on the following Saturday mornings: tomorrow, 12 July, 19 July, and 26 July, beginning at 1030 hours.

Ticket forms are available at the USO, and anyone desiring further information may call the organization at MA 1-6015 and EX 2-0577.

Minuteman Awards To Sixth Army, Presidio

Department of the Army Minuteman Awards and Treasury Department Special Citations for noteworthy achievements in the promotion of Savings Bond participation were presented yesterday to deserving sections and individuals at Post Headquarters and Sixth US Army.

At 1000 hours in the Office of the Chief of Staff, a Minuteman Award for Headquarters Sixth Army was presented by Col. Ralph A. Divine, Finance and Accounting Officer, Sixth Army, on behalf of Maj. Gen. Crandell, Chief of Finance, to Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff.

This award was earned by the Headquarters for attaining 67.1 percent participation by all assigned civilian personnel during the 1958 Army Savings Bond Canvass.

Special U.S. Treasury Awards, for having attained over 65 percent participation by all assigned personnel during the 1958 Canvass, were presented to the following sections by Arthur Derre, Savings Bond Div., U.S. Treasury Dept.: Chaplain, 100%; Inspector General, 93.3%; Ordnance, 93.1%; Finance and Accounting, 92.9%; Quartermaster, 88.4%; Aviation, 85.7%; Special Services, 84.6%; Provost Marshall, 78.2%; G2, 76.5%; Engineer, 73.1%; Transportation, 71.1%; and G3, 70.3%.

Mrs. Margaret Costello, G2 Sec., received a special U.S. Treasury Award for having obtained the highest number of subscriptions during the 1958 Army Saving Bond Person to Person Canvass conducted at Hq. Sixth Army.

At a ceremony yesterday at 1300 in Post Hq. DA Minuteman Awards were presented by Col. George O. Pearson, Presidio Commander, to the Ordnance and Quartermaster Sections.

Mr. Derre presented U.S. Treasury Dept. Awards to the Sixth Army Band; 60th MP Det. (CI); Sixth Army Communication Center; 548th Ordnance Detachment (EDC); Hq. and Hq. Det., 660 Engineer Battalion; 99th Engineer Company (RB); 171st Engineer Detachment (RM); and to the Chaplain, Chemical Comptroller, Inspector General, Judge Advocate and Special Services sections.

Individual U.S. Treasury Awards were presented to Sfc. Michael Moner, Sfc. Charles J. Robba, M/Sgt. Edmund J. Gedroc, M/Sgt. William J. Teahan, M/Sgt. Lonnie Myers, CWO Leo K. West, Sfc. James W. Boyd, CWO Gordon C. Knight, M/Sgt. Charles D. Mahon, Sfc. James R. Moore and Mrs. Ann K. Beeny.

Special recognition went to Sfc. Moner and to Mrs. Beeny for securing the largest number of new participants among military and civilian personnel.

Col. Pearson pointed out to the assembled recipients that the Savings Program was not ended with the completion of the annual drive but was to be a continuing effort to reach the goal of a minimum participation of 65 percent of the military and civilian personnel of each unit or section of the command.

Ord "Music Jacks" In AF Talent Finals

At the fourth annual Armed Forces Talent Contest held this week at the Solano County Fair in Vallejo, the "Music Jacks," a quartet from Ft Ord, won first place for the Army section of the contest. Those in the quartet are Pfc Bob Estby, Pfc Larry Glandan, Pfc Robert Herman, and Pfc Ralph Wadsworth.

Pfc William Muir, a comedian and vibraphone player, won second place.

Third place winner was Pfc Marshall Williams, a piano soloist, who also accompanied the winning quartet.

The talent contest is arranged so that on each night one service competes against itself. From nine entries, three finalists are selected. The grand finals were held last night but the names of the winners were not available at the time of publication.

Deadline Is Noon Today For AUSA Reservations

Noon today is the deadline to make reservations for the dinner meeting of the Association of the United States Army tonight at 1830 in the Presidio Officers' Open Mess. Dress is informal. All members are invited.

Reservations can be made by contacting Capt Edward Endres, extension 2275. The cost of the dinner is $2.50 per person.

There will be a discussion by representatives of the Martin Missile and Aircraft Corporation of Baltimore on plans for the heavy strategic mobile airlift, commonly termed the "Sea Mistress."

Costs More To Hunt

The 1958-59 hunting licenses and deer tags will be available from all licensed dealers throughout the State on 1 July, the Department of Fish and Game announced this week. Hunting licenses will be $4 apiece and deer tags $2, and increase of one dollar on both from last year.

Its reproduction plant, located at Fort Scott, is the only such base map reproduction plant in the Continental United States. It now operates at a fraction of its potential capacity, printing maps to meet requirements of the Sixth U.S. Army and training a regular flow of officers and men.

Philippine Chief Arrives Tonight For Local Visit

A formal Joint Services Honor Guard Ceremony will honor His Excellency, Carlos P. Garcia, President of the Republic of the Philippines, as he descends from his plane this evening at 1715 hours at San Francisco International Airport.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, or designated representative, will be on hand to welcome the President on his goodwill tour of San Francisco.

The Philippine President, successor to Ramon Magsaysay who was killed in a plane disaster in March, 1957, will remain in San Francisco for three days. This evening, he will be the guest of honor at a dinner hosted by the World Affairs Council at the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

During the next two days he will attend various other dinners and formal gatherings. If there is time on his tight schedule, he will visit the Presidio.

A Co., USA Gar., will furnish the Honor Guard detachment, in addition to providing a four-man color detail and flag bearers. The Marine Corps, Navy and Air Force also will furnish honor guard detachments.

Call It Quits

After a combined total of more than 60 years on active duty, two Army general officers will retire from service this month.

On 30 June, after more than 33 years of service, Maj Gen Ira K. Evans, Medical Holding Det, Walter Reed Army Hospital, formerly Commanding General of Ft Lee, Va, will leave the Army.

After serving for more than 30 years, Maj Gen Samuel R. Browning, Deputy Chief of Transportation, will retire on 31 July.

RI Militia Oldest

The Rhode Island Militia is the oldest active military organization in the United States. It was originally formed in 1741 to defend Newport, R.I., from marauding pirates who called themselves the Newport Artillery Company. Since then, the Rhode Island Militia has fought in every American war, including the Korean Conflict.

And then there was the student who was so dumb he thought a logarithm was a lumber song.

Brucker Says GI's "Ultimate Weapon"

Washington (ANS)—Wilber M. Brucker, Secretary of the Army, has once again emphasized that the fighting man on the ground is the fundamental element of warfare—the only "ultimate weapon."

"No amount of talk about the vast power of strategic nuclear weapons can obscure the pressing necessity for the balanced forces which are required to face the Soviet troops ranged against our own and those of our allies in the front lines along the Iron and Bamboo Curtains," he told a group of field grade officers recently.

Mr Brucker pointed out to the group that although advanced weapons systems, strategic missiles and bombers are absolutely essential to the effectiveness of the Nation's combined forces and are thus a deterrent to aggression, these means will never be able to win a war by themselves.

"No final decision can be obtained by remote control," he declared. "The control of the land, which is the ultimate objective of every military operation, can finally be achieved only on the ground.

"Ever since the first crude machines of war were contrived to extend the capabilities of men, all down through the years to the age of nuclear weapons and guided missiles," he said, "there have always been those who have needed to be shown again and again that it is the fighting man on the ground who is the fundamental element of warfare — the only ultimate weapon."

America's first surface-to-surface ballistic guided missile, the Army's Corporal E, was fired in May 1947. This research test vehicle attained a range of 62.4 miles.

RETIRING

Retiring Commander of Letterman Army Hospital, Brig Gen Paul S. Fancher, will be honored at a farewell reception Sunday from 1500 to 1700 at the LAH Officer's Club. He will retire on 30 June. Gen Fancher has been at LAH since July 1955 and Commanding General there since September 1956. He is being replaced by Maj Gen Stuart G. Smith, currently head of Brooke Army Hospital at Ft Sam Houston, Tex, who is due to assume command on 1 August.

Sharp FC Platoon Loses Zero Points, Wins AD Inspection

In February, Capt. Jack McGurk took command of A Btry., 740th AAA Msl. Bn. (Nike), his first command of a Nike Btry. The 6th ARADCOM Annual Command Inspections began in June and when the inspection team hit A Btry., Capt. McGurk was ready.

The team went up on the hill to inspect Btry. A's Fire Control Platoon—its equipment and its ability to track and destroy enemy planes. At the end of this inspection, the Fire Control Platoon had lost 0 points. This was the highest score made in the entire San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command.

Lt. Col. C. P. Samson, 740th Commander, recently presented Btry. A with a Certificate of Achievement for the outstanding work exhibited by the Fire Control Platoon in the Annual Command Inspection. Capt. McGurk received this award on behalf of the winning platoon.

Bomb Disposal Course Lauded By Police Chief

A letter of thanks and appreciation was received this week by Col J J Gosiger, Sixth US Army Ordnance Officer, from San Francisco Chief of Police Francis J Ahern in which the law enforcement official lauded a three-day Army course in bomb demolition.

Chief Ahern said, "I feel that the knowledge gained in these three-day courses may prove most valuable to the Police Department, as well as to our citizens in the event that it is necessary to put their knowledge to a test."

The classes were conducted by Capt Henry W Stupakewicz, Sixth Army Explosive Ordnance Disposal Staff Officer. More than 200 policemen completed the course held during April and May.

Eastern Rifle Meet Draws Top U.S. Firers

The Northeastern Regional Rifle Championship will be conducted at Ft. Dix, N.J., from 4-6 July.

Termed the "top competition of the high power rifle circles in the Northeast," the matches will draw outstanding riflemen from civilian gun clubs, law enforcement agencies and military installations.

Top events will be the NRA Individual Championship on the fifth and the National Board for promotion of Rifle Practice preliminary firing and match and the NRA team match on the sixth of July.

30th Arty Gp Officers Honored At Ceremony

Two 30th Arty Gp (Air Def) officers were honored recently at a Retreat Ceremony at Ft Barry.

Maj Raymond E Siegrist was presented with an oak leaf cluster for the commendation award for his performance as Group S3 and Battalion Commander and Executive Officer of the 740th AAA Msl Bn.

The second award, a Certificate of Achievement, was presented to Capt Bernard C Sanders, Assistant S4, 30th Arty Gp, for the period 6 Jan 58 to 18 Apr 58, while serving as Commanding Officer, Hq Btry, 10th Arty Gp, located at Osan AFB, Osan, Korea.

R Stanley Dollar (l), President of the Maritime Museum of San Francisco, and Lt Col Curtis M Banks, Commanding Officer, 30th Arty Gp, pose with the wagon donated to the Museum by the 30th Arty Gp, as a guard stands by.

Historical Wagon Is Presented To Museum

An historic wagon, destined to become part of the "atmosphere" of the restored Hyde Street Pier in the completed Project X program, was presented to R Stanley Dollar, Jr, President of the San Francisco Maritime Museum, by Lt Col Curtis M Banks, Commanding Officer, 30th Arty GP (Air Def).

In making the presentation, Lt Col Banks commented on the uncertain ancestry of the ancient vehicle, but added, "if this gift will in any way add to the preservation of early California history within your project, we are delighted to make the gesture."

The wagon was discovered some months ago at Fort Cronkhite by Museum Director Karl Kortum while he was on a holiday picnic. Located behind a deserted bunker and half hidden by weeds, Mr. Kortum's discovery first appeared to be "some sort of early day station wagon prototype."

The paneling led him to believe that the vehicle might well have been used around the turn of the century by one of the stylish stores in San Francisco, Kortum said.

According to Lt Col Banks, the old vehicle was first brought to Ft Barry "about five years or so ago," to be used by the EM club, to help celebrate a "49ers" dance on the post.

According to the old timers in the Ft Barry area, the wagon was subsequently used as a decoration in the area and finally dragged to

Army Gives Local Firm Contract For T113-E2

Three pre-production models of the Army's new aluminum air-transportable amphibious personnel carriers will be constructed by Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation at San Jose, Calif.

Called the T113-E2, the tracked vehicles will be smaller and lighter than the present M-59 armored carriers. They will retain the M-59's capability to operate over rough terrain.

Newly developed high strength aluminum armor will afford military personnel a ballistic protection equal to that of steel armor.

The San Francisco Ordnance District executed a 1½ million dollar contract at Food Machine and Chemical Corporation for the pilot vehicle after two years of design and engine work at San Jose.

Food Machine is a design agency for T-113 vehicles as it is for the M-59, of which it has built several thousand.

the location where it was found by Mr Kortum. One rumor has it that the old vehicle was "borrowed" from a rancher in Petaluma.

In accepting the wagon for the Museum Association, Mr Dollar said, "this is the type of full sized authentic exhibit that will make the completed Project X one of the most talked about historic parks in the world."

Army, Navy Collaborate To Fire Super Rocket For IGY Wind Data

Enthusiastic cooperation between the Army and the Navy has made possible the first firing of a revolutionary new rocket that measures wind speeds and temperatures at altitudes of 60 miles.

The amazing Aerobee-Hawk has the following components: a motor from the Army's Hawk, a missile designed for use against low-flying aircraft; tail fins from a Navy-Signal Corps Aerobee; and a nose cone from a Navy-Signal Corps Cajun.

The Aerobee-Hawk is being fired from an Army Nike launcher at the Navy Blockhouse, White Sands (N.M.) Missile Range.

The Army Signal Agency, under the command of Lt. Col. John P. McGovern, is supplying the 60-mile-high wind data to scientists of the International Geophysical Year program.

The data also is being studied for possible tactical employment of the rocket as an aid to firing crews of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Recently Assigned

Two warrant officers recently transferred here from the Air Defense School, Ft Bliss, Texas, have been assigned to the 9th AAA Msl Bn (Nike).

CWO EARLE P ANDRE has been designated as Launcher Warrant Officer for Btry C. He and his wife and four children reside in Terra Linde, San Rafael.

Assigned as Radar Officer for Btry B, Ft Cronkhite, CWO LEONARD APTER and his wife and child will also reside in San Rafael.

A Mechanic By Trade, He Carpenters To Fame

By Sfc. Julian Walkley
PIO 740th AAA

Sfc. Ralph Powers has been Fire Control Mechanic at A Btry., 740th AAA Msl. Bn. (Nike), in Ft. Funston, for the past two years. Always interested in carpentry, he has doubled as sawyer for the Battery when the need arose.

Recently, Sfc. Powers was asked if he could build a presentable, combination classroom, theater and TI&E room, out of half a single-story barracks. He pondered—he was sure he could; but, there was no lumber available.

But, Sfc. Powers found an old unused building and got permission to dismantle it and keep the lumber for his theater project.

This done, the first thing he did was to build a partition through the center of the barracks; next he built the full-sized stage, and lastly he built a closed-in projection booth at the opposite end of his theater.

The wall behind the stage was painted white and serves as a screen for the motion pictures, and it brightens up the room during classes. Fifty chairs were drawn from supply and set in place. Btry. A's theater was ready for the first showing.

Sfc. Powers, with an occasional helper, finished this comfortable and attractive theater in 10 days, in his spare time. The entire cost to complete the "Powers Project" was—the price of one gallon of white paint. He couldn't "requisition" that.

Pfc. Hollis Of 740th Top Maintenance Grad In Ft. Sill Radio School

Pfc. Darryle Hollis, A Btry., 740th AAA Msl. Bn., Ft. Funston, recently graduated as high man in his class at the Army Radio Maintenance School, Ft. Sill, Okla.

A native of Tulare, Calif., where he was a refrigerator repairman until he joined the Army in February 1957, Hollis completed basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif., and then was assigned to Btry. A of the 740th AAA Msl. Bn.

The twenty-one year old bachelor finds the Army to his liking and enjoys his job but feels that electronics would offer more of a challenge and in the near future, will submit an application for the longer electronics course at Ft. Bliss, Texas.

WW II Disabled Vets Have Pensions Adjusted

The Veterans Administration reported this week that 63,784 compensation and pension cases added to the rolls after World War II have required adjustments in the claims review now under way. The figure is cumulative to 31 March 58. It involves 9 percent of the 712,512 cases reviewed to that date.

The adjustments included 6,673 increases in monthly payments to match a worsening in the degree of disability, 24,004 decreases in monthly payments to match an improvement in the degree of disability and 33,107 terminations of payment.

Veterans involved in adverse changes have the right of appeal to the Board of Veterans Appeals if they believe the changes were not justified.

West Point Exams

The deadline for applications to West Point by active duty personnel is Monday. To date, two have applied.

31 August is the deadline for reserve personnel components. Five have applied to date.

Dodge Highway Traffic; Attend Holiday Picnic

An old-fashioned Fourth of July picnic will be the Sixth ARADCOM way of honoring the 182d anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

From 1000 to 1400 hours on the Fourth, officers from the Bay Area Army Air Defense Command and their families will celebrate at Ft Baker.

The event serves a dual purpose—to bring together on a familiar meeting ground the families of the officers and to honor the Fourth of July without having to travel too far afield on a day when highway traffic becomes a menace.

The picnic is sponsored by the SFAAD Officers' Wives Club. Assisting the Wives Club in the picnic arrangements are Lt Col. Calvin B Leek, Special Services Officer; Lt Col Robert E Simons, Information Officer; Capt E C Leigon, Hq Commandant; and CWO Robert L Fulton, AGP, all of Sixth ARADCOM.

Their entertainment bill of fare is loaded with recreational events tailored for big and little guests. Featured among these are a husband-calling contest, a wife-calling contest, a six-legged sack race and a blindfolded relay race for "one-legged" men.

Highlighting the American Plan menu (bring what you like), will be the legendary picnic basket provided by the guests, and there will be baked beans, coffee and doughnuts, free ice—and band aids.

740th FC Specialist Tomorrow Becomes New Warrant Officer

A 740th AAA Msl Bn fire control specialist tomorrow will shed his stripes for bars and transfer from Sharp Park to Newark for his new job in the Fire Control Plt of Btry D.

Now with Btry C, Sp2 Hyman L Faulkner tomorrow will pin warrant officer bars on his uniform and then face the matter of moving his wife near the Btry D site.

A five year veteran, the new warrant officer was inducted in April 1953 at Raleigh, NC, and was sent to Ft Bliss, Tex, for basic training.

After completing a two year tour, Sp2 Faulkner reenlisted for the Fire Control School at Ft Bliss. He graduated in 1956, came to the 740th and was assigned to C Btry, where he has remained.

Huachuca Housing

The new Capehart housing development on the Electronic Proving Ground at Ft. Huachuca is almost completed.

There will be 1400 square feet of indoor living space in the dwellings, which contain three bedrooms, living room, dining area, kitchen, walk-in closets and a bath and three-quarters completely tiled.

They will also have parquet floors, drapes, ranges, refrigerators and outside patios.

Chat In Streetcar Means Trip To America

While riding on a streetcar in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1955, an American soldier asked a local citizen directions when he became confused about how to make proper streetcar connections.

That local citizen, a former soldier with the German Army in WWII, is now US Army Pvt W R Zelezniak and is attending the Basic Army Administration Course at Ft Leonard Wood, Mo.

For after Sp3 Lloyd Vogel asked about the connections the two men struck up a conversation that ultimately led to Zelezniak's finding an apartment for Vogel and his wife.

The conversation also disclosed that Zelezniak's father had been a prisoner of war at Ft Sam Houston, Tex, from 1944 to 1946 and had returned to Germany to tell his son of the wonders and opportunities of America.

Zelezniak's dream was to come to America and Vogel said he would lend a hand in any way he could. And he did. He wrote his father and asked him if he would sponsor Zelezniak. The father agreed and last August the former sergeant, who saw battle for three years on the Russian front, came to the US.

Zelezniak has filed his declaration of intent to become an American citizen and he plans to bring his wife and young son to the US as soon as he can afford it.

What began as a request for information about streetcar connections turned out to be another sort of connection—between a German and an American—that resulted in a kind deed and a dream come true.

Mobility, Safety In New Army Gimmicks

The Signal Research and Development Laboratory has developed a mobile Flight Operations Center (FOC) that can control tactical Army aircraft in any combat area.

The new system, which is mounted in military vans and trailers, may provide new ideas for other military and civil aviation authorities working toward the safer and faster flight control that is so necessary during the jet age.

The Quartermaster Corps has developed an improved missile-handler's suit to protect crews from highly corrosive chemicals.

Covering the missile crewman from head to foot with impermeable material, this standardized suit consists of a overall, hood, gloves, and boots. The suit comes in five sizes, and has an M-15 mask breathing apparatus that feeds compressed air from a pair of small tanks carried on the crewman's back. (ANS)

"Medicare"—$27 Million

Washington (ANS)—According to a Department of Defense report on the Dependents' Medical Care Program, disbursements to contractors paying physicians totalled $27,885,798 covering 384,149 claims for care from civilian sources since the plan's beginning December 7, 1956 through last December 31.

Persons eligible for MEDICARE are dependent spouses and children of service members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and the Public Health Service.

STRAC Follows Axiom:

First With Most

Tennessee, this July 13th is celebrating the 137th anniversary of the birth of one of its favorite sons, General Nathan B Forrest. General Forrest is the crusty, Confederate Army hero who gave the now famous advice: "Git thar fustest with the mostest men!"

His 100 year old maxim is still sound military policy in this Atomic Age. Last month in discussing STRAC (the Army's new "fire brigade" for combatting "brush-fire" wars), the Army Information Digest said: "The ability to intervene quickly and to repel an aggression is of basic importance in limited war and, in turn, to the deterrence of all-out war."

The Army's Chief of Staff has said that Army forces deployed overseas must be sufficiently strong to convince our allies of our will and ability to contribute substantially to their defense and to convince any aggressor that a forward movement in important strategic areas will be blocked on the ground long enough to permit our heavy atomic weapons to destroy hostile forces short of the objective of aggression.—ANS.

To take a try on the best selling records of the month, classical, popular and jazz, all you have to do is fill out the form below, naming your guesses, and send it to the "Star Presidian," Bldg. 87-A. Records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Records, 262 Sutter St., San Francisco.

The ineffable Pearl Bailey, with the aid of Columbia, offers a selection of her best on a recently released record. With a spontaneous and infectious laugh in her voice, and of course with impeccable technique, she sings "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me." Also on her new disc, entitled appropriately "The Definitive Pearl Bailey," the mistress of timing, incapable of a false step, languidly sings an exercise in ennui, "Tired."

Tradition Records has put out something for the pro-British, "Cockney Music Hall Songs and Recitations by Colyn Davies." The former Shakespearian and Shavian actor sings, with an authentic Cockney accent, some ballads about criminals on their way to Australia and Tasmania called "Botany Bay," "Jack Hall" and "George Barnville." Another ballad, "Cheerly Man" describes the cruelty of a ship's captain to his men.

Critics have termed David Oistrakh the greatest instrumentalist who has ever lived. This appellation seems particularly apt after one has listened to his violin on Period Records playing "Symphonie Espagnole" by Lalo and Mendelssohn's "Violin Concerto." His technique is faultless and his tone always smooth, never harsh or irritating.

Andre Kostelanetz, with his orchestra, on a Columbia recording, has put out a new disc, "Lure of the Tropics." He pulls out of the music all the quiet tones one likes to hear and relax with. Included in the record are "Song of India," "Jamaican Rhumba," "Malaguena" and "Lotus Land."

SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS—The delightful story of the beloved princess and the seven most amusing scene stealing characters ever to appear on the motion picture screen.

THE KEY—A raging drama of men at war and the haven they find in a woman's arms.

THE FLY — A suspense melodrama involving the horrifying effect upon a scientist and his family of an extremely advanced scientific apparatus which goes amok.

NEVER LOVE A STRANGER — A youth from the streets of New York rises to become king of the rackets.

SIERRA BARON — The blazing story of the gold rush and the era of rope and gun law in California.

VIOLENT ROAD — An action drama of men transporting explosive rocket fuels.

You can tell a married woman by the ring on her finger. But you can't tell her much.

Service Clubs Schedule Bus To 'Call Me Madam' Sunday At Stern Grove

A bus trip to Stern Grove Sunday for the performance of "Call Me Madam," by Irving Berlin, is being sponsored by the Service Club.

The musical will be staged by the Oakland Light Opera Association, under the direction of John M. Falls. It is in conjunction with the mid-summer music festivals.

No admission will be charged. Buses will leave from Ft. Baker at 1300 and from the Presidio at 1315. Everyone is welcome to attend.

How To Vote

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

The Office of Armed Forces Information and Education, DOD, and the States have joined forces to help persons who, by virtue of their service in the Armed Forces, will be absent from their legal voting places in this general election year.

This voting series will guide you as to your state's particular absentee voting laws. Space limitations prohibit detailed information and the series will be general in this respect; it is for guidance only.

KENTUCKY—Registration in Kentucky is permanent unless for two consecutive years you failed to vote in a primary or general election. Servicemen may register by the absentee process, but are required to re-register in person when they return home.

Servicemen automatically make absentee registration application when they ask for an absentee ballot. To apply, a Federal Post Card Application should be sent to your county clerk at any time except during the 10-day period before an election. Mark your ballot carefully and return it promptly.

MAINE—Servicemen may apply for registration simultaneously with their applications for absentee ballots.

Application should be made on a Federal Post Card Application and sent to the Secretary of State in Augusta, or to the clerk of your city or town of residence. You may send your request in at any time before an election. It should be noted that a parent, spouse or blood relative may also request a ballot for you from the clerk in your city or town. Mark all ballots carefully and return promptly.

MASSACHUSETTS—Registration here is permanent. Servicemen are registered automatically when application is made for an absentee ballot.

The ballot may be requested at any time before an election by filling out a Federal Post Card Application or any other written communication. Mail it to your city or town clerk. Mark ballot carefully and return it promptly.

MARYLAND—Registration is permanent unless you have not voted at least once in a primary, general or special election within the five preceding calendar years.

Members of the Armed Forces are automatically registered when they send in their absentee ballot.

Servicemen may get the absentee ballot by filling out a Federal Post Card Application or some other form of written communication and sending it to the Secretary of State at Annapolis. Application may be made at any time before an election. When you receive your ballot, mark it carefully and return it promptly.

MINNESOTA — Servicemen are permanently registered when their application for an absentee ballot has been accepted by the county auditor, county of residence. To apply, send a Federal Post Card Application or have a request made by your immediate family.

Ballots may be requested any time before an election and should be marked carefully and returned promptly.

The Army is a progressive service looking steadily ahead to the future. While respecting experience and avoiding fads, the Army concerns itself with the next war, not the last one. It has never made changes merely for the sake of change. By the same token, it has never hesitated to depart from old ways, if change is clearly called for in the national interest. It was the Army, for instance, which developed land-based military aviation and which administered development of the first atomic weapon.

Neider, Shelton Place In AAU; Go To Europe

Shotputter 2nd. Lt. Bill Neider, Hq. Co., USA Gar., and high jumper Sp3 Ernie Shelton, XV Corps (Res.), were among a group of 10 northern Californians who were selected this week to tour Europe, Russia and Japan on track and field trips.

Neider, who heaved the shotput a distance of 58'-3/4" to place fourth in last week's 70th annual National AAU Championships at Bakersfield, Calif., boarded a plane last Sunday for Switzerland. Word was received by the Post Sports Office that Neider performed with an ailing hand but it was hoped that it would heal during his foreign tour.

Clearing the bar at 6'-6", Shelton also earned a fourth place in the AAU meet. His arch rival, Charlie Dumas of USC, won the event with a 6'-9 3/4" jump. Shelton joined five other outstanding athletes on a tour of Sweden. They left last night.

Bilafer Sparks Single PSF Win in 3 Games

Burly Paul Bilafer, the Torero first string catcher, led the Presidio baseball team to their only win of the week, a 10-9 win over Travis AFB, by knocking in three big runs.

Although Travis outslugged the Toreros, 18 to 9, the combined hitting of Charlie Gritts and Terry Maddox, and the big blow by Bilafer, put the locals on top.

In the last inning, with one man on, Gritts smacked a single to left center to drive in the winning run. Roger Sawyer was the winning pitcher.

Last week, the Napa Stars jumped on pitcher Jake De Sousa in the third inning for four runs on six base hits and squeezed out two more in the bottom of the ninth to down the locals by the count of 6-5.

It was De Sousa's first start of the season as a pitcher. Although he lost, he made an impressive showing and should bolster the Torero mound crew.

The other Presidio loss came at the hands of the Cal Vets of Yountville in a 14-inning affair, by the close score of 3-2.

Although the Presidians outslugged the Vets, 15 to 8, they were unable to coordinate their hitting.

740th Softballers Hot In Pre-Season Games

The 740th AAA Msl Bn softball nine, in preparation for the forthcoming 30th Arty Gp (Air Def) softball league season, played two practice games over the past week, winning both.

Against the Alameda Naval Supply team, the 740th, after a slow start, came from behind to defeat the Navymen, 4-2.

Port C Goff, the winning pitcher, allowed two hits, including a home run, in the first inning, but settled down the rest of the way to receive credit for the win.

Goff came right back two days later to hurl a nifty one-hitter against the S F Post Office nine, shutting them out, 4-0. His teammates garnered a total of six hits.

Flash...

After two days of competition, Presidio entries scored impressive victories to take early leads in the Sixth US Army Golf and Tennis Tournaments being held at Ft Ord.

Sfc Murray Jacobs, who won the Post intramural golf tournament two weeks ago, led the field in the open division after the first round of play with a par 72.

Col Harold Browning was on top in the senior division after one day of play with an 82.

In tennis competition, Capt Frank W Sample, Post tennis champion, scored two decisive victories, defeating Moreno of LAH, 6-0, 6-0, and Kaddo of Ft Lawton, 6-1, 6-0.

Spc Philip M Smith, the other Presidio tennis open division entry, won his first match over Dufone of Dugway, 6-1, 6-4.

In the senior division, Col Robert H Rhine defeated Junsey, a retired officer, in the first round of play.

The doubles team of Sample and Smith lost their first match to Pimley and Boas of Ft Ord by scores of 6-2, 6-1.

Play in both sports ends today.

Sixth Army Teams Fight For Keg Lead In Pacific League

Hq Sixth Army No 3 remains in a tie for first place with Hq Sixth Army No 2 this week after defeating the AAA Sparks, 3-1, during the seventh week of play in the Pacific Summer Bowling League.

High man Ross for Hq No 3 rolled a top score of 604-232, while Beery for the Sparks racked up 477-201.

The Honor Guard suffered a 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Hq Team No 2, with Holmes leading the winners, 500-204, and Mansfield high for the losers with 457-157.

Tied for third place are the Compt-Rollers and the Regioners. This occurred when the Rollers gained a 3-1 victory over the Regioners. Routen topped the winners with 507-191 and Aiello was high for the Regioners with 515-191.

Pederson, with 528-187, led the Retorts to a 4-0 shut out over the Mail Maullers, whose high man was Zechel with 449-174.

Locals Outhit Champs But Leave 9 On Bases

The Post Softball team lost another heartbreaker last week and a chance to tie for first place in the San Francisco Minor League, by dropping a 2-1 decision to the Stubby and Tom nine, winners of the first half of league play which terminated this week. The locals took runner-up honors in the eight-team league.

The Presidio nine scored first when third baseman, Bill Julian, smacked a double to left field and came home on a single off the bat of Ron Fernandez.

The one run lead looked good for the locals until the sixth inning when opposing centerfielder Le-hane scored from first base on a wild throw by Presidio third baseman, Bodine Shultz.

In the seventh inning, the Stubby and Tom team tallied the winning run on a home run off the bat of third baseman Suhl.

Ace moundsman Nick Themely once again pitched for the Presidio team, allowing only three hits and one walk, and striking out nine batters.

The Post nine collected seven safeties to outhit the champions, but left nine men stranded on the bases.

The second half of league play is scheduled to begin during the early part of July.

Kiersztain Hot!

One of Presidio's top keggers, M/Sgt Edward F Kiersztain, rolled a record-breaking 279 game in this week's Monday night Marina league.

The Presidio sergeant received a special pin, awarded only to bowlers who score a 275 or over game, for his outstanding performance.

Randolph, Brimmer In Sixth ARADCOM Horseshoe Meet Finals

The newly-launched Sixth ARADCOM Horseshoe tournament is meeting with keen enthusiasm from its audience, as well as from the players, during the finals on the Ft Baker parade ground this week.

Competing for the finals in the play-off are three teams representing West and Northwest defense units.

San Francisco area champions participating were CWO Donald Randolph, C Btry, 740th AAA Msl Bn, and M/Sgt Marvin Brimmer, A Btry, 740th AAA Msl Bn.

Los Angeles Conference Champions entered were Sfc Gene Wetherell, A Btry, 551st AAA Msl Bn, and Sfc Wallace Amaral, C Btry, 865th AAA Msl Bn.

The Seattle Conference was represented by Sfc Marvin Travis, C Btry, 10th AAA Msl Bn and Pvt Francis Richter, D Btry, 10th Msl Bn.

The doubles, determining the "Barnyard Golf" championship, will be completed soon.

Fawn's "Father" Fined

If you feel an urge to "protect" an "orphaned" fawn while you are on your vacation this summer, better think twice about picking up the little critter. There are two good reasons for letting it be, announced the Department of Fish and Game: the animal is not an "orphan" and he's not "lost," and you stand a good chance of being fined, up to $500, for having a spotted fawn in your possession.

Col Brownlee Named Army Representative At US Fencing Meet

Colonel Laurance H Brownlee, who was selected this week by the Secretary of the Army as the official Army representative at the US National Fencing Championships in New York next week, heads a list of six Presidio-LAH fencers who will board a plane for New York this morning to compete in the national tournament.

The other five members are Severo Pasol, Bert Sheck, Larry Kauffman, Bill O'Brien and Bill Beaver.

Competing in the New York tourney, which will last until next Saturday, will be all the top military and civilian teams in the United States, plus outstanding teams from Europe, Canada and Mexico.

The LAH-Presidio team is also scheduled to participate in the Davis-Monthan USAF Tournament in Arizona on 19-20 July.

Private, Colonel Win 30th Arty Golf Match; Five On Group Squad

In a dramatic finish which saw both players tied in strokes up to the final hole, Pfc Stoops of the 436th AAA Msl Bn came from behind to nose out Capt Smoyer, Army Liaison Officer assigned to the 30th Arty Gp (Air Def), on the 54th hole, to win the open division of the recent 30th Gp golf tournament by one stroke, 240 to 241.

Lt Col Calvin B Leek, Special Service Officer, Sixth ARADCOM, captured the senior division with a 54 hole total of 270. Eighteen golfers participated in the three-day tourney.

A five man team was chosen to represent the Group in Sixth Region competition from 24-28 July at the Presidio Golf Course. They are: Pfc Stoops; Capt Smoyer; Maj Casmer Kozlow, Sixth ARADCOM; Pfc Popp, 436th Msl Bn, and Lt Duffy, 740 AAA Msl Bn.

With no outs and the bases loaded, the Vets' pitcher, Hal Stein, lofted a fly ball to the outfield scoring the winning run from third.

The Sports Office announced this week that the Sixth US Army Baseball Tournament will be held at the Presidio on 28-30 August.

Softball Quandary—Who's The Champ?

Champions and runners-up are still in doubt in the three local intramural softball leagues as play swings into its final week with a Post playoff scheduled for next week.

In the Ft Scott League three teams are still in contention for the championship. They are the Honor Guard (10-2), the San Francisco Army Air Defense School (9-2) and the 21st Engr (11-2).

Sports Confab Today

An important meeting of unit athletic representatives will be held this morning at 1030 hours at the Presidio Service Club.

All units are urged to have representatives present to discuss future intramural sports and other matters pertinent to the Post athletic program.

The 21st Engr, behind the superlative five-hit pitching of their ace hurler, Nick Themely, moved into contention by shutting out the Honor Guard nine this week, 2-0.

The 21st collected a total of six hits, with Nollie Goff leading the parade with two hits and driving in one of the two runs.

If the three teams are still tied for first after this week's play a playoff game will be scheduled.

In the Presidio League, the LAH nine still leads with a 9-0 seasonal record. Right behind it, however, is the USA Training Gp, with an 8-1 record.

In third place and still with a chance for runner-up honors, is the never-say-die MRU nine which overpowered Hq Co USA Gar this week, 15-11.

The Sixth ARADCOM team and 194th Ord Det are tied for first place in the Ft Baker League which winds up its season this week.

Next week, if the winners and runners-up of each league have been determined, a playoff series between the top six teams will take place to decide a Post champion.

ARADCOM Tennis

The Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command tennis team last week won the All-ARADCOM championships at Ft Devens, Mass.

Although it tied the Fourth Region with 11 points at the end of regular play, the local team was declared winner as a result of winning two out of three tie-breaking matches.

Dinner Is Served

Three of the main reasons why the WAC softball team, the Toreras, scored a smashing 12-4 victory over Letterman Army Hospital this week are (l to r): Sgt Mary Phillips, Sp3 Peggy Harris and Sp2 Rosemary Weber.

Toreras Run Riot, 12-4, Over Weak LAH WACs

By Pvt Janet Holcomb
Star Presidian Staff Writer

After a heartbreaking loss last week to Hamilton AFB, a determined Presidio WAC softball team bounced back this Tuesday night to trample Letterman Army Hospital, 12-4.

Winning pitcher Winifred "Poochie" Puccio showed her form early when in the first inning she easily retired the LAH lead-off batters on two slow rollers and a pop-up, all to the infield.

Torera right fielder, Molly Edwards, first at the plate for the Presidians, went down on a long fly, but third baseman Mary Phillips beat out a bunt to gain first. She was left stranded when first baseman Lee Brandl and centerfielder Peggy Harris went down in order.

But Harris showed fine defensive form in the top of the second when she snagged two long high flies. Second baseman Florian Vierra's sharp fielding of a slow roller and peg to first retired the visitors.

The Toreras started a rally in the second when, with two away, Vierra rapped a single and catcher Terry Silva smashed what surely would have been a two-bagger; but it was voided when "interference" was called on her. Instead, it was the third out.

LAH went down fast in the third with a fly to Claudette "Hootch" Schleman, shortstop; a fly to left fielder Rosemary Weber, and a grounder to Brandl at first.

In the bottom of the third, Edwards again led off, but this time sliced a safety. Phillips then faked a bunt to let Edwards steal second and on the next pitch slammed a lofting round-tripper to drive in the first two Torera tallies.

LAH countered in the fourth with one run, but never after seriously challenged the winners.

Torera sluggers scored two more runs in the bottom of the fourth. Schleman drew a base on balls, Vierra sacrificed her to second, and Silva pushed her across home plate with a double. Silva moved to third on a long fly out by Puccio and scored on a searing triple by Edwards. Edwards died on third when Phillips failed to make a safety.

The Toreras netted a fifth run in the fifth when Harris stole home.

Seven big runs in the bottom of the sixth sewed up the lopsided victory for the Presidio WACs. Silva led off the free-scoring inning with a fast grounder single. Edwards sliced a single to score Silva and Phillips followed with another single. Brandl's two bagger brought home Edwards and another double, this one by Harris, knocked in Phillips.

Continuing the extra bases trend, Weber doubled and scored Brandl and Harris. Weber then tallied when a dropped third strike let Schleman race to third. Vierra flied out, but Schleman made the 12th Presidio run of the game. Silva came up again and was nailed at first; Puccio struck out to end the inning.

In a desperate final bid for a win, the LAH ladies scored three in the top of the seventh on a home run with two on base.

Giant Sluggers Blast 20 Safeties a Game; Insure League Lead

The front-running Giants of the Golden Gate Little League hammered out a total of 40 hits in two games to maintain their one and a half game lead over the second place Yanks.

Against the third place Cubs, the Giants, behind the power hitting of Kenny Henderson and Mike Frye, who both got four for four, walloped their opponents by the score of 21-8. Billy Ameral received credit for the win.

In the other one-sided contest, the league leaders jumped on the Cardinal pitcher for 20 hits to bury the last place Cards, 20-1. Kenny Henderson was the winning pitcher.

In the first game of Saturday's doubleheader, the Cards won their first game of the second half by defeating the Cubs 6-3. Mike Thuss hurled the Card victory.

Playing a fine defensive game, the Yanks tamed the Giants in the nightcap with a 6-1 win.

Kenny Teasdale allowed the Giants a total of six hits to win his third game of the season.

Harrison Hurls Pirates To 13-6 Landslide Win; Splits Mark Pony League

Pitcher Cecil Harrison led the Pirates to a 13-6 victory over the Tigers last week in the Presidio Pony League.

On 19 June the Braves rolled over the Dodgers 7-5; winning pitcher was Mlakar.

The first game of a double header last Saturday found the Tigers defeating the Braves 3-1 with the help of winning pitcher Foley.

A forfeit was given to the Pirates in the second game because the Dodgers lacked a complete team.

Know Your Gaits

Harness horse racing involves horses with two gaits; (1) the pacer, who moves by thrusting out the right front and right rear legs at the same time, then the two legs on the other side; (2) the trotter who locomotes by using the right foreleg and the rear left leg at the same time, then the left front and the rear right.

The story of the trotting horse family in America is supposed to date back to Messenger, a gray stallion who was foaled in 1780. He was imported to the United States by way of Philadelphia in 1788 with Tom Bengier acting as his agent, but Messenger never trotted a mile in his lifetime.

Smoked Trout

Among fish who know tobacco best, more and more are preferring filter tips these days, according to Department of Fish and Game biologists who examined the stomach contents of a steelhead and a rainbow trout. In both stomachs they found some fibrous substance which they finally identified as filter tip material—apparently the remains of anglers' discarded cigarettes.

Missileer Bowling League champions are members of the A Btry, 9th AAA Msl Bn team. Presenting the championship trophy to team captain, Pfc Hopperditzel, is Maj Bean. Looking on are the other team members (l to r): Sfc Berry, Sp3 Beltz, Sp3 Ikard, Pfc Gravine, Pfc Newman and Pfc Murrow.

"Rangers" Capture 9th AAA Keg Trophy

In a tight race which was not determined until the final pin dropped, Baenziger's Rangers of Btry. A recently won the 9th AAA Msl. Bn's Missileer Bowling League Championship by defeating the last place Btry. D Angels, 3-1, on the last night of play.

Leading the champions' attack was Avlon G. Hopperditzel, team captain, with a 531-201, while Splinter's 425-161 was high for the losers.

Other members of the winning squad were John E. Neuman, Terry D. Munro, Ronald A. Graveen, Shelby Berry, John S. Ikard and Richard Beltz. Each member will be presented with an engraved desk pen set and the American Bowling Congress league championship emblem.

The Rafael Nike Strikers of Btry. C won the runner-up slot by splitting 2-2 with the Oozlefinches of Hq. Co. Beam was high man for Hq. with 516-186, while Homesley led the Strikers with 467-178.

The Islanders of Btry. D ended up in third place after losing their last match to the Five Niners.

Perry E. Peters of Btry. B received the ABC-awarded belt buckle as the most improved bowler in the league by increasing his average by 13 points during the season.

Vol. 7, No. 5 PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday 27 June, 1958

Officer's Club Hosts SF B'day Luncheon

In honor of the 182d anniversary of the founding of San Francisco, commemorative celebrations are being held here this weekend.

The program of events has been planned and organized by the California Historical Society.

On Saturday at 1200 hours, there will be a gala civic birthday luncheon held at Presidio's historic Officer's Club. The speaker will be Rev John B McGloin, Professor of California History, University of San Francisco. His subject will be "Your San Francisco and Mine."

Special guests at the luncheon will be Mayor George Christopher; Bishop Merlin J Guilfoyle, Pastor of Mission Dolores; and Lt Gen Charles D Palmer, Commander of the Sixth US Army.

Col Charles G Rau, Presidio Commander, will cut the birthday cake, and Miss Judy McGettigan, a descendant of the Vallejos, has been selected as "La Favorita."

Other events on the schedule include ceremonies in the cemetery-garden of Mission Dolores, honoring its founders, on Saturday at 1000, and a concert of Spanish music, with dancing and pageantry, in Golden Gate Park Sunday at 1400.

Guard Reaches Peak; Unit Training 1 Oct

The Army National Guard will conduct individual basic training for the last time at summer exercises this year, Department of the Army has announced.

By 1 October this year nearly all Army National Guardsmen will have completed basic training or its equivalent and units will begin training as combat teams. This represents the highest degree of combat readiness in the Guard's peacetime history.

There has been a rapid climb in the Army National Guard's training level. Since April 1957, units have enlisted only prior service men and individuals who agree to take active duty training. This year's annual field training, which began this month, will mark the end of basic for those guardsmen who enrolled before the new enlistment requirements went into effect.

'Gideyap, Hossy!'—Modern Mail Stage Brings Stamp To S. F.

A special Overland Mail Centennial Caravan will travel from Tipton, Mo., arriving in San Francisco on 10 October in connection with the First Day Sale of the Overland Mail Centennial commemorative stamp.

According to present plans, the caravan will follow, as closely as permitted by the present highway network, the route of the first Butterfield Overland Mail stage.

Twenty-five major stops are thus far scheduled in Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. At the conclusion of each day's run, the caravan will form a "corral" and visitors will be welcomed to view the various displays.

4th Of July Picnic

There will be a Fourth of July picnic, sponsored by the Service Clubs at Presidio and Ft. Baker, at San Mateo Memorial Park.

The all-day outing will include swimming, games and two meals. The price is $1.00 per person or $2.50 per family.

In the evening, a dance will be held in the Service Clubs. Dance hostesses will be present.

Buses will leave the Service Clubs next Friday at 1000 hours. Reservations for the all-day outing must be made and paid for by Tuesday at 2200 hours.

Atomic Realism

Fort Polk, La. (ANS)—Troops participating here in Exercise Strong Arm are getting a taste of an atomic burst. A pyrotechnic device that produces the explosion, flash, and mushroom-shaped cloud characteristic of an atomic burst (but with no radioactive material) is lending a touch of the real "McCoy" to the exercise.

New Air Shelter

Washington (ANS) — The Army Quartermaster Corps has developed an inflated air shelter that will protect crews checking out guided missiles from all types of weather.

Resembling a giant marshmallow, the shelter is made of lightweight coated nylon fabric and held rigid by a three-quarter horsepower motor-blower. It can be erected in minutes and a single crewman can dismantle the novel house in seconds.

SF Cemetery Super Wins $200 Award

James M. Griffin, Superintendent of the San Francisco National Cemetery, Cemetery Division, Sharpe General Depot, Lathrop, California, recently was awarded a Sustained Superior Performance Award of $200, upon the recommendation of the Depot Incentive Awards Committee.

The superior rating assigned the San Francisco National Cemetery on January 20, 1958, was considered due primarily to Mr. Griffin's ability, effort and efficiency in all phases of cemetery operations.

The Committee considered that Mr. Griffin, who entered the cemetery service in 1946, exceeded job requirements during the rating period, 1 August, 1957, to 31 January, 1958.

Sgt Francis LaMica, Communications Sergeant for Btry A, 740th AAA Mst Bn (Nike), at Ft Funston, found the long nights on CQ pretty boresome. To pass the time more quickly, he constructed this miniature missile, using tools, wood and paint from the Battery Hobby Shop. Sgt. LaMica completed this model in two CQ's. Exact in every detail (scale: 1 inch equals 1 foot), it now is displayed on the desk of Capt Jack McCurk, A Btry Commander.

"Stay At Home" Key To Fourth Of July Holidays

the STAR-PRESIDIAN

"Serving those who serve a nation!"

SF, Presidio Plan 3 Days Of Activities

On Fourth of July this year there is more for the whole family to do at home in San Francisco than there could possibly be at your favorite fishing grounds.

"Family Days," packed with activities designed to interest all ages, have been planned at the Presidio in cooperation with the San Francisco Chapter of the National Safety Council to keep families off the highway during the long weekend.

Today at 1000 the First Fleet will arrive through the Golden Gate Bridge and will be reviewed on entry into San Francisco Bay by Fleet Adm Chester W Nimitz, USN (Ret). From 1200 to 1300 there will be a concert in Union Square by the Sixth Army Band and the Sixth Army Pipe Band.

Tomorrow, the First Fleet is holding an Open House at Hunter's Point and along the Embarcadero between 1300 and 1630 and has invited visitors to inspect a cruiser, an aircraft carrier, a destroyer and a submarine.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, families have been invited to come to the Presidio between 1000 and 1530 where there will be many different activities going on.

Guided bus tours will take visitors to Crissy Field, Ft Point and aircraft exhibits. There will be tours of the Nike site at Battery Caulfield, walking tours of historic locations in the vicinity of the parade ground, and underwater metal cutting demonstrations.

Exhibits on chemical-biological-radiological warfare will be near the bleachers on the main parade ground. Visitors with valid driver's licenses can drive the 1/4-ton and 2 1/2-ton trucks over a prescribed course.

At noon on the Fourth of July, a 48-gun salute will be fired at the Presidio.

It will not be necessary for visitors to bring their cars to the Presidio, since the Number 45 bus stops only a few feet from the parade ground and on-post transportation to all points of interest will be provided by the Army.

1957 Safety Awards Go To D of A, AEC

The President's Safety Award for the best all-round record in 1957 in safeguarding employees against public injury was presented to the Department of the Army during a ceremony at the Department of Labor Auditorium, Washington, DC, this week.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M Brucker accepted the award on behalf of the Army from Special Assistant to the President Rocco C Siciliano, who represented the President at the ceremonies.

In accepting the award for the Army, Secretary Brucker stated, "The Army is delighted to share its achievement with all Federal agencies which attained or maintained effective safety programs in the competition for the President's award.

"The records show that servicemen are three times safer from accidental injury than their counterparts employed in civilian and industrial endeavors.

"Too, our civilian injury rate has been reduced more than 50 percent since 1943 and is far below the nationwide injury rate."

The Atomic Energy Commission was the recipient of the other award.

Nike Display Featured At Redwood County Fair

The 30th Arty Gp Nike missile display was one of the main attractions at this year's Redwood County Fair at Eureka, Calif, held 25-29 June.

The display, which is the same type found on numerous Nike sites throughout the United States, was airlifted from Hamilton AFB to the fair by an Air Force C-123 aircraft.

How much of today's Presidio can you identify from this 1898 photo of the Post? In the foreground are tents erected to billet men training for the Spanish-American War. The muddy field running through the center of the picture is the main parade ground, and the sandy strip at the top is where Crissy Field is now located. Alcatraz Island, in the background, was at that time an Army guard house.

Presidio's 113th Colorful Year As US Post Starts Wednesday

Next Wednesday, the Presidio celebrates its 112th birthday as an American military post.

Although established by Spain in 1776 to check Czarist Russia's southward penetration along the Pacific Coast, it was not until 9 July 1846, when US naval forces landed in San Francisco, that the Presidio became an official American military establishment.

During the Civil War the Presidio was used to maintain a constant watch for Confederate raiders and to keep the overland trails open.

In 1870's and 1880's many of the Indian campaigns were directed from here.

With the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, the Presidio became a training and assembly center for troops going to the Philippines.

In 1906 when a major earthquake and fire devastated San Francisco, Presidio troops fought the fire and maintained order. In addition, the Presidio was used to feed and house thousands of refugees.

During World War I the Presidio became an officers' training center.

In World War II the Western Defense Command was located here. At this headquarters, plans were formulated for the successful attacks on Attu and Kiska.

Today, the Presidio houses Sixth US Army headquarters, which controls military operations for the eight Western states.

Probably the most important military factor at the Presidio are the numerous Nike installations which defend the Western seashore from enemy aircraft.

Civilian Pay Checks Up This Month; Suggest Use Raise For Bonds

Classified federal employees at the Presidio will receive their pay boosts on either 15 July or 22 July, depending on which pay category is applicable, but no official date for the distribution of that part of the pay increase retroactive to 1 January has been set.

It is suggested that people receiving this increase invest their money in Savings Bonds, as they are the surest, safest and easiest possible way to put money to work.

If desired, savings will be automatically deducted from pay checks through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Maj Gen Ryan Here

Major General Patrick J Ryan, Chief of Army Chaplains, will visit the Presidio on Monday to confer with Chaplains of the San Francisco area.

On Tuesday, Maj Gen Ryan will proceed to Ft Ord where he will dedicate the new Post chapel center.

Presidio of SF

On Wednesday, the Presidio will enter its 113th year as an American garrison. Through all those colorful years—marked by Civil War, Indian uprisings and limited and international wars—the soldiers of the United States Army have maintained the Presidio as a bulwark of the West.

During its long history, the Presidio, originally established as a Spanish exploration base five days before the signing of the Declaration of Independence, has been a center of westward progress.

In the Civil War, it was used to maintain order in the West and prevent Rebel gunrunning and bootlegging of supplies; during the Indian Wars it was the nerve center in the West of the United States Government. The Spanish-American War required the conversion of the Presidio to a training center for men headed for the Philippines, and in World War I this Post was used as an officer training center.

But, only in World War II did the Presidio assume international significance when it became the base of operations for planning of the Pacific campaigns. All the details of the Kiska and Attu invasions by the 7th Infantry Division, for example, were formulated here.

During the Korean Crisis, the headquarters located at the Presidio controlled troop and equipment movements to the Far East and coordinated training of combat personnel in that phase of our struggle against international communism.

It is with this heritage that the men and women of the Presidio now maintain vigilance for the Free World. I congratulate them, 112 years after the first American flag was raised over this Post, on their unhesitating assumption of their legacy of Liberty.

Sixth United States Army

The flag of the United States was raised over the Presidio of San Francisco for the first time on the 9th of July 1846. On behalf of the Sixth United States Army, I would like to extend greetings and best wishes of the occasion to the members of the garrison and to all residents of the Presidio of San Francisco on the 112th anniversary of that historic event.

The raising of this flag at this location symbolized the westward progress of a young and growing nation, striving for recognition among the powers of the world. Today, as the site of the Headquarters of the Sixth United States Army, the Presidio of San Francisco represents the nerve center in the eight western states of many military activities of prime importance to our National Security. Today, the flag over this garrison, as elsewhere in the world, symbolizes the determination of a mature and powerful nation to protect its freedom and maintain its position of free world leadership.

On the honored occasion of this anniversary, I take pleasure in conveying to all personnel, military and civilian, serving or living at the Presidio, my personal felicitations and those of every member of the Sixth United States Army.

Musical Review Set July 24-25; Try-Outs Monday

Plans have been announced by the Presidio Youth Activities Committee for the production of a musical review "On With The Show," to be given 24 and 25 July in the NCO Club.

The show is written and directed by Lt Col Thomas E Baker. It is built around a central show business theme and is set in Hollywood.

Although most of the casting has been done, singers and dancers are still needed. Those interested may audition Monday night at 1900 in the Girl Scout House.

Tickets will be on sale for 75 cents. The proceeds will be used for the Presidio Youth Activities Program which sponsors, among other things, the Teenage Club and the Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops on post.

Recently Assigned

A graduate of Florence State College in Alabama, 2d Lt JOHN R OSTERLUND has recently been assigned to D Btry, 9th AAA Msl Bn, Angel Island.

The Lieutenant, a lab assistant before joining the service late in June, resides in San Rafael with his wife, Marilyn, and their two children.

30th Arty Gp Assists In Civil Defense Test

"Star," an exercise to train medical and technical personnel of the East Bay Civil Defense Organization, was recently conducted through the combined efforts of the Civil Defense Organizations of the East Bay Area and the Alameda-Contra Costa County Medical Association in cooperation with the 30th Arty Gp (Air Def).

The exercise included the following activities: helicopter transportation of a thoracic hospital team and whole blood to a designated sector hospital; evacuation of simulated neurosurgical patients by helicopter from a sector hospital to a designated specialized treatment center; and assistance in proper handling and loading of simulated litter casualties being evacuated by helicopter.

AAA NCO Tries 3; Says Nike's For Him

Sergeant Steve A Connally, electronics maintenance man at Btry D, 740th AAA Msl Bn (Nike), located at Newark, Calif., has been shopping around and trying on "for size," most of the Services.

Apparently he has found the "size" in the Army Nike.

In 1944, Sgt Connally joined the Navy and served a six year tour with the Pacific Fleet in and around the Far East. His naval commitments finished, Connally joined the Air Force for a stint in the Korean Conflict.

In 1953, this tour was over and Connally decided to try the life of a civilian. Three years later, in 1956, he decided the civilian life was not for him, and he elected to try a tour in the Army.

He went to the Chattanooga, Tenn, Main Recruiting Station and reenlisted, this time for the Army; his next stop was Ft Jackson, SC, where he was processed and assigned to the 30th Arty Gp (Air Def) and A Btry, 740th AAA Msl Bn, at Ft Funston, Calif.

Here he applied for and was accepted in the Electronics Maintenance Course at Ft Bliss, Texas. At the completion of this course,

"Tonight the clocks will begin to tick off the lives of some 600 persons who will be dead Monday morning. . . ."

Presidio Safety Director Henry E Bennett, of course, was talking about those people all over the country who will fall victim to highway and other accidents during the three-day Fourth of July holiday.

A Presidian has never been killed during this weekend since Mr Bennett came to the Post. As a matter of fact, the only holiday highway fatality during his tenure of office came from an auto smash-up last New Year's Eve; and the dead man was not driving.

Over the recent Memorial Day weekend, some 380 persons lost their lives on the highways; another 148 drowned. Not one was a Presidian.

"But, we can't get complacent about this," Mr Bennett warned. This is the toughest weekend yet, and only through sane practices can Presidians get by unscathed.

Sp3 Neil Lemos Wins Soldier Of The Month At 9th AAA Msl Bn

Specialist Third Class Neil Lemos, radar operator with Btry A, has been chosen 9th AAA Msl Bn Soldier of the Month for June because of his knowledge of current events and foreign affairs, appearance as a military man, individual and group ability and sustained interest in his job.

The newly-crowned Honor Soldier won a 72-hour pass, three days at the new Dalt Hotel, $5 in cash or trade at the Ft Baker Post Cleaners, 10 gallons of gas from King Regal Service Station at 18th and Geary St, a free dinner at Jung's Chinese Restaurant at 22d and Geary, a free dinner at Manning's Restaurant on 5th and Market, three free bowling lines at San Francisco's Downtown Bowl and free passes to San Francisco's Warfield, Esquire and United Artists theaters.

Fire Fighters

Four officers and 25 EM from A Btry, 740th Msl Bn (Nike), and two trucks of men from C Btry of Sharp Park, joined two fire trucks from San Mateo Monday in fighting a two-hour grass fire at the foot of San Bruno Mountain.

The fire, which burned some 300 acres, came within 30 yards of the radar site maintained by A Btry, Ft Funston.

he was assigned to Btry D, where he is today.

Sgt Connally has two more Services to try—Marine Corps and Coast Guard—but he has no immediate plans for another switch. Right now he is waiting for the word on his application for warrant officer. So far, the Army Nike seems like a good deal to him.

Civilian Jobs

Job opportunities at the Presidio this week include: fiscal accountant and auditor, GS-501-9, $5,985 p/a; clerk stenographer GS-312-4, $3,755 p/a and clerk stenographer GS-312-4, $3,755 p/a.

Applications must be filed today with the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227.

Anyone desiring further information should call extension 2349 or 4233.

aged to stay in the city over the holiday (see article, page 1) and enjoy "Family Days," both at the Post and in San Francisco. Why don't you join them?

If you don't, remember this:

Drive courteously, and don't drink if you drive. Plan your trip so you have plenty of time to return home before you tire. Do not exceed posted speed limits, and give the other driver the benefit of the doubt. Take regular breaks, at least every two hours.

If swimming, use the "Buddy System" (one or two in the water, one on shore). Swim only in properly safeguarded areas or swimming pools. Do not enter the water for at least two hours after eating a meal. Dive only in areas designated for such. Wear life belts when canoeing, sailing or water skiing.

Only licensed operators should set off fireworks of any kind, and then only under the supervision of fire department personnel. DO NOT buy fireworks from clandestine vendors.

Why kill yourself having a good time?

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Niccoll

Sputniks are not the only things whirling aimlessly around these days. There are the Beatniks, too. The difference is, the Beatniks are up in the sky, the Beatniks are down here trying to achieve some sort of transcendence and through that, freedom or release. Their launching station is over in North Beach. Their radio signals read like confused unrhymed iambic pentametric poetry. Hoping that the cognoscenti and the other ninety-nine percent might have an opinion, this reporter asked:

THE QUESTION: What is your opinion of the Beatniks?

ANSWERS

Pfc Irving Petlin, Hq Co, 6th Army: Essentially, I like to feel that everyone has a right to live as he chooses and that he is responsible for his life. So we really can't judge another person's way of life. Yet, one of course has an opinion. I feel that too often the people involved in the beat generation are non-productive. That is to say, they are by and large a non-productive group. There are exceptions of course. Perhaps some of the more serious individuals are productive. But in terms of their point of view, I feel a basic disagreement. They are artists and writers who describe themselves rather than looking around at the world. They are too self-descriptive and ingrown. By this, they are non-communicative. As to what the "Chronicle" has been writing, I think yellow-journalism is the word to describe that paper. I totally disagree with what they have been saying. They seem to think that the American conscience has no room for people not wanting to be or do anything. We shouldn't condemn the Beatniks.

Ileta Golden, Civilian Personnel: Well, let me see now. I'm sort of sympathetic with them. I like art myself. They are interesting characters but sort of lost. In San Francisco people don't know what to do. They just sort of drift into it. I don't think they'll outgrow it unless they have help. There's an easy life. Among themselves, they get to believing they are above the ordinary person. They must be sort of lazy.

Col Herman H Heuer, Sixth Army Chaplain: I know very little about them, but if what I read about them in the paper is correct, I think they are a confused group of people in need of guidance and correction. They are devoid of all understanding of what life really is for. Don't they know that we have been created by God for a very definite purpose? Look at the headlines of this morning's paper. From those you would not think that life is worth living. We must approach life from a Christian viewpoint, then we are able to see that life does have a definite purpose. I believe that the Beatniks must be entirely devoid of any religious understanding. As I recall, we've had some embryonic beatniks in the Army. They were commonly known as "screwballs."

Sfc James Catron, Ft Lewis, Wash: The what? The Beatniks?

If they are like the bohemians, I don't like them. I don't like their way. It's all against our morals. That's the way I look at it. I think they are just plain lazy, and I don't believe they are creating any art.

John Rau Named Student Body V-P At UC, Riverside

John Rau, 21-year-old son of Col and Mrs Charles G Rau, was recently elected vice president of the student body at the University of California, Riverside.

Having just completed his junior year, he will assume his new position this Fall for the scholastic year 1958-59.

Young Rau, a high B student, also is a member of the school's football and baseball teams. In addition, he tutors high school students in mathematics.

He is studying to become a mathematical engineer and this past year maintained the highest scholastic average among members of the baseball team; he was second highest among football players.

Because of his scholastic achievements in secondary school, also in Riverside, he was elected to a life membership in the California State Honor Society and since has been recipient of scholarships for three years at the University.

President Garcia Calls SF "Peace Hope" Birthplace

Shouts of "Mabuhay el Presidente" greeted Carlos P Garcia, President of the Philippines, as he descended from his plane at San Francisco airport last Friday evening.

The 61 year old gentleman was welcomed by Mayor George Christopher; Lt Gen Charles D Palmer, Commanding General of the Sixth US Army, and his chief of staff, Maj Gen John J Binns; and Maj Gen H A Parker, Commander of the Western Air Defense Force.

The President then inspected the military detachments with the Generals, Mayor Christopher and Gen Jesus Vargas, Secretary of Philippine National Defense.

Military installations participating included the Sixth Army Band and Honor Guard, a Color Guard unit holding the flags of 62 countries, a Marine Honor Guard and an Air Force Honor Guard.

After being escorted to a plant covered platform the President said a few words in his native tongue and then told members of the local Filipino Colony that he brought "greetings and well wishes from the folks at home."

He told the assembled audience that he was overwhelmed at the fine welcome and he feels that "San Francisco is the birthplace of humanity's hope for peace."

After wishing the people "all the blessings of the Divine Providence," President Garcia passed through the crowd shaking hands and signing autographs.

Army To Net 10,000 From August Draft Call

Washington (AFPS)—The Department of Defense has requested the Selective Service System to provide induction stations with 10,000 men during the month of August for assignment to the Army.

The number of men requested for the Army for August is based on attainment of approved strength after allowances have been made for enlistments and reenlistments. The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to place calls with Selective Service during August.

COPY DEADLINE WEDNESDAY NOON

Last of three grades held last week by newly-appointed WO-1 Stephen B. Jamison, C Btry, 740th AAA Msl Bn, is made official by Battalion Commander, Lt Col C P Samson, when he pins bars on the young warrant officer's shoulder. During a period of 48 hours (Thursday-Saturday), WO Jamison was a sergeant, sergeant first class and warrant officer.

Warrant Officer Holds 3 Ranks In 48 Hours

Many men have turned in their enlisted chevrons for the bars of warrant officer, but officials of the 740th AAA Msl Bn have claimed a first when it comes to WO-1 Stephen B. Jamison.

When WO Jamison woke up early last Thursday morning, he was a sergeant. Several hours later he was handed orders promoting him to sergeant first class and boosting his stature as C Battery reenlistment NCO and electronics maintenance supervisor.

Just 48 hours later, on Saturday, Sfc-WO(?) Jamison shed his OD's and donned officer greens when Battalion Commander, Lt Col C P Samson, pinned bars on the newly appointed warrant officer.

The appointment did not come as a surprise to men who have served with WO Jamison during any period of his eight and one-half years' service. His career has been indicative of his elevation in rank.

In October 1949, WO Jamison made a decision about his future and walked into the San Francisco Main Recruiting Station and enlisted in the Army. After basic training at Ft Ord, he was assigned to Guam and then transferred to Japan.

Three years later he was discharged from Ft Riley, Kans, and returned here. But, he did not stay home long. Three weeks after discharge, he once again enlisted at the Main Recruiting Station; this time, for duty with the Armed Services Police based at Treasure Island.

Foreign Service Tours Same For All Services

Uniform foreign duty tours for military personnel serving in more than one hundred oversea areas became effective Monday, Department of the Army announced this week.

In general, the standard pattern of the new tour calls for 36-month service for persons accompanied by their dependents in more favorable areas, and 24-month tours for those not so accompanied.

In oversea areas where living conditions for servicemen and their families are less favorable due to climatic conditions, remoteness or other factors, tours of shorter length, depending on local conditions, have been established.

Chief among the recommendations approved was a 13-month tour in Korea. This represents a reduction of the time formerly required of Army personnel in Korea and is a step toward minimizing the hardships of oversea service.

Presidio Of SF

One hundred and eighty-two years ago man made a promise to man—live in freedom, let live in freedom. Today, we have inherited that trust.

No longer do we observe our independence with all the effervescence of 20 years ago, with the fireworks and picnics and patriotic rallies. But, rather, we tend now to more soberly note this annual milestone and thank God for another year of Peace.

Perhaps, this is right. Perhaps this is an indication that we have passed from reckless, and often foolhardy, youth into a true national maturity. Such maturity is an essential prerequisite for world leadership in the Nuclear Age.

Here at the Presidio, we must rededicate ourselves to the ideals of the small band of men who, in 1776, made Democracy a reality and spurred the greatness of the United States.

It behoves us, then, in this 182d year of our independence, to forcefully assume our original heritage of individual dignity and national liberty. We must, through our efforts, stand stalwart against all aggressive forces that would deprive the world of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

4th Of July

Refreshment stands will be located in the vicinity of the bleachers. On the Fourth of July, a gala old-fashioned family picnic will be served on the parade ground.

In addition, there will be a picnic for enlisted personnel and their families and guests on 4 July at San Mateo Memorial Park. The picnic is being jointly sponsored by the Presidio and Ft Baker Service Clubs. The day's activities include swimming, sunning, relays and games. Lunch and dinner will be served.

In the evening, a dance will be held in the Service Clubs. Dance hostesses will be present. Transportation will be provided to and from the picnic area. Private cars will not be permitted.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the Coast Guard will hold an open house from 1300 to 1600 at the Ft Point Coast Guard Station, located just west of Crissy Field.

The Sixth Army Pipe Band will give a concert in Union Square on Saturday at 1115 and at Stonestown Mall at 1430; on Sunday at 1345 in Golden Gate Park.

At Union Square on Saturday, at 1400, the Sixth Army Band will present an hour-long concert, and on Sunday there will be a two-hour concert, beginning at 1400, in Golden Gate Park.

Last year 9,000 visitors attended Family Days during the four-day period. It is expected that this year at least an equal number will attend. The weather is expected to be clear, the days busy; and all those who come will undoubtedly have a good time.

Accidents Down

Washington (AFPS) — Traffic deaths and accidents involving the privately-owned vehicles of Armed Forces members have dropped sharply in the past year, according to the Defense Department.

Military personnel driving their own automobiles had 2,200 fewer accidents in 1957 to lower the incidence rate by 13 percent and cut the number of lives lost by 210 for a reduction of 12 percent in fatalities.

NCO Stripe Change Slated For Fall, '61

Noncommissioned officers who stand to lose a "rocker" under the recently-announced EM grade structure change probably will not be required to sew on new chevrons for another three years.

An official information announcement issued this week by Sixth US Army stated that "The earliest date mentioned so far on which enlisted men will be required to change their insignia is Fall, 1961."

Thirty allocations for the new pay grade, E-8, recently were distributed to Ft Ord, Ft Lewis and Camp Irwin for specified personnel occupying first sergeant and sergeant major slots.

Currently, there are 236 position vacancies in Sixth Army to be filled under the new grade structure. First promotions in new grade, E-9, are not anticipated prior to the last quarter of Fiscal Year 1959 because one of the prerequisites for the position is eight months' service in grade E-8.

The Sixth Army release further emphasized that the "decision to change the enlisted insignia (was) with an eye to preserving the relative importance of the former enlisted grades."

It continued: "Since three stripes and three rockers have traditionally denoted the top enlisted grade, it was felt that the reduction in rockers in lower grades was preferable to adding more rockers to designate the new top grades."

Under the new system of insignia, each of the NCO grades—except the new top grades—will lose one "rocker" while retaining the same pay grade.

The only new insignia will be for sergeants major: a master sergeant insignia with a star in the center. The old "buck sergeant" chevron — three stripes and no rocker—will be reinstituted.

Future appointments to the new grades will be phased over a four-year period. Subsequent quotas will be issued quarterly to major commanders and heads of technical and administrative services.

Sixth US Army

The patriots who declared their independence on the Fourth of July, 1776, asserted as God-given their right to live as free men and staked their lives on securing that right. The courage and determination they inspired won the freedom Americans enjoy today.

We in the Sixth United States Army, like all of our comrades in the uniform of the United States, embody the will of the American people to repel any aggression against our hard-won rights. In the spirit of the men of 1776 who defied the tyranny of their time, we are determined that freedom shall survive and flourish in our land, and that it will be passed on, intact, as the most precious inheritance we can bequeath to our future generations.

★★★ PSF's Sample Gains Space On 6th Army 1958 Tennis Squad

Although disqualified in the semifinals by last year's Sixth Army open tennis champion, Sp3 Jerry Boas of Ft Ord, Presidio's Capt Frank Sample was one of the three players at the Ft Ord Sixth Army Regionals chosen to represent the Sixth Army in the All-Army matches scheduled at Ft Bragg in early August.

After reaching the semifinals in convincing fashion, Sample was rudely met by a tough Boas who defeated the Presidian in three straight sets, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2.

Exhibiting a smashing serve and some fine backcourt play, Pvt Don Pimley, Ft Ord's champion, captured the singles crown by defeating Boas, 6-3, 1-6, 6-1 and 6-4.

Capturing the doubles title was a duo from Ft Lewis, Sp3 Winfred Lin and Sp3 Jay Turner, as they swept three straight sets from Boas and Pimley, 6-0, 6-3, and 9-7.

In women's singles open competition, Sfc Alicia Gutterrez of LAH downed Presidio's lone entry, Sp2 Sylvia Bernardini, 6-1, 6-1, to cop the women's crown.

Besides Sample, two other players were chosen for the Sixth Army team. They were Pimley and Maj John P Campbell of Ft Ord, runner-up in the senior division.

Presidio WACs Smash Two Rock Nine, 67-5

The scorekeeper ran out of paper last night when Presidio's powerful Toreras scored an amazing 67 runs against the ladies from Two Rock Station, who could only rack up 5.

Twelve of the team's 70 hits during the practice game were gained in the first inning and the opponents were held down by the fine pitching of Sp2 Mary Willard.

The next league game for the Presidio lovelies will be against Travis, next week.

Softballers Vie For Post Championship

The Post softball champion will be decided next week when the top six teams of the intramural softball program vie in a double-elimination tournament beginning Monday at Ft Scott.

The USA Tng Gp, runner-up in the Presidio League, and 21st Engr, which tied the Honor Guard nine for first place in the Ft Scott League, will start things off at 1545.

LAH, which had a perfect season in Presidio League play with a 10-0 record, will tangle with the Ft Baker League champions, the 194th Ord Det, on Wednesday, beginning at 1715.

Sixth ARADCOM and the Honor Guard drew byes and will play the winners of the LAH-194th Ord Det and the USA Trng Gp 21st Engr contests, respectively.

Giants Lead League As Season Nears Close; Post Playoffs Saturday

The Giants kept their lead in the Golden Gate Little League this week by squeezing out a small 6-5 margin over the third place Cubs in the second game of a double header Saturday.

Mark Dickerson was the winning pitcher and each team committed two errors.

During the first game of the double header the second place Yanks defeated the fourth place Cards 11-8, with winning pitcher, Ken Teasdale, showing fine form.

Murray Jacobs walked, singled and doubled to score three runs for the Cubs last Thursday when they romped over the Yanks 5-3. Winning pitcher, Steve Thompson, struck out five men.

Saturday at 1400 the playoffs will begin to determine the Post Championship. In the playoffs the first half winners, the Yanks, will play the second half winners, who have not yet been determined.

The three games in the contest will be played on 5 July at 1400, 8 July at 1800, and, if needed, on 12 July, again at 1400.

Stock Wins 10th; PSF Drops Humboldt

Righthander Wes Stock won his 10th straight game of the season as he led the Torero nine to a 5-4 win over Humboldt State College in the first contest of a two-game series at the latter's home field.

Results of the second game were not available at press time.

The tall righthander struck out 16 batters and scattered a total of six hits.

All the scoring was done in the first three innings, and then the game settled down to a pitchers' duel.

Humboldt scored first, but the Presidians came right back with two runs in the second inning on a walk, a steal and a triple off the bat of Ken Carroll.

The locals added three more runs in the third when hard-hitting Terry Maddox belted a home run over the left field fence with two men on.

The powerful Presidio nine has amassed a total of 27 wins in 34 games since the season began last February.

On Tuesday, the Toreros, along with 32 Northern California semi-pro teams, will participate in an 11-day tournament at Pittsburg, Calif. Their first opponent will be the Ransom Co nine.

Presidio Softballers 2d In SF League; Will Vie In NCIST

In a play-off game which decided second place in the SF Minor Softball League, the Presidio nine toppled Ken's Fishbowl by the score of 7-2.

Nick Themely once again displayed his winning style for the locals as he allowed 7 scattered hits, walked 2, and struck out 10 batters.

Big guns for the Post nine were Fernandez with three hits, and Thomas and Kornaga with two hits apiece.

Tomorrow night, the locals leave for Redwood City to compete in the Northern California Invitational Softball Tournament.

Pony League Requires Players, 12½-16; Hold Try-Outs Every Week

Latest Presidio Pony League scores at press deadline were: XV Corps (Res) Braves 10, Sixth Army Hq Pirates 6; 30th Arty Gp (Air Def) Tigers 11, Presidio Dodgers 10; Tigers 4, Pirates 3; and Braves 7, Dodgers 5.

The Pony League is still in need of young players between the ages of 12½ and 16 years of age.

Interested boys who would like to play for one of the teams are welcomed to try out on any Saturday between games at the league field located near Lincoln Blvd and the 25th Ave gate, or if unable to attend at that time, they may call Lt Col Lowe, Ext 2606, or Mrs J Higdon at 3056 for further information.

Pacific Kegler League Standings Are Same

Standings in the Pacific Summer Bowling League remained unchanged this week as Hq Sixth Army No 3 and Hq Sixth Army No 2 set the pace by taking three games from the Compt-Rollers and Retorts, respectively.

Browning was high for Hq No 3 with 552-196, while Lutz racked up a 511-233 for the No 2 Hq team.

Second place AAA Sparks, with the 498-183 of Beery, took three out of four from the Mail Maullers.

Another three to one victory was gained when the Regioners, led by the 517-185 of Aiello, defeated the Honor Guard. Leading man for the Guards was Jackson, with 455-185.

Embarcadero YMCA Plans Sunday Picnic, Dances Every Evening

Four days' worth of holiday fun are being sponsored by the Armed Services YMCA 3-6 July.

Dances will be held every night at 2100 at the YMCA at 166 Embarcadero. Tonight at 1930 there will be a floor show by the Mason Kahn Dancers, who did the choreography for the Ice Follies.

Tomorrow at 1300 there will be a bike ride and tour of Golden Gate Park, at 1800 the movie "Mr Roberts" will be shown and at 2030 there will be a songfest.

Tours of San Francisco have been planned for Saturday. Those interested should meet at the YMCA at 1330. In the evening the Shipley-Smith Dancers will present a floor show at 1930.

Sunday buses will leave the "Y" at 1000 for a picnic, cost $1.50, in Oakland Redwood Regional Park. "Mr Roberts" will again be shown that night at 1800.

★★★ 3 Presidio Golfers Place At Ft Ord; Win Army Tourney Berths

Three Presidio golfers were chosen to represent the Southern-Central Division at the Sixth Army Finals slated for Ft Lewis in early August, as a result of their play in last week's Ft Ord Golf Tournament.

Post champion, Sfc Murray Jacobs, placed third in the open division with a final score of 298, only six strokes behind the winner, Sfc Jack Laxson of Ft Ord, to earn a spot on the team.

The other Presidio representatives were Capt George J Reuss who placed fifth with 310, and Col Harold Browning who was runner-up in the senior division with a four-day total of 347.

In team competition, Presidio placed second with 1272. Ft Ord's team, sparkplugged by Laxson, captured the team championship in easy fashion with a score of 1231, 41 strokes ahead of the Presidio. Behind the Presidio in order were: Camp Roberts, 1316; Oakland Army Terminal, 1360; Camp Irwin, 1361; Lompoc Disciplinary Barracks, 1400; and LAH, 1401.

Goff Hits, Pitches 740th Softballers To 11-4 Victory

Behind the two-hit pitching of their ace hurler, Port C Goff, the 740th Msl Bn softball team dumped the Alameda Naval All-Stars this week, 11-4, in a practice game played at Ft Scott.

The 740th pounded two Navy pitchers for a total of 16 hits, including a double by Willingham, a triple by Kincaid and a home run with two on by Goff.

In another practice game, the Nikemen lost to San Bruno Autos, a class A team, by the count of 4-0.

Goff pitched another fine game, as he allowed only four hits; but several errors by the 740th infield resulted in two unearned runs for the victors.

The 740th begins play in the San Francisco city league on 14 July and in the Sixth ARADCOM tournament in August.

Sports Trophies Given By 9th AAA Msl Bn

The 9th AAA Msl Bn recently held a sports trophy day at the Battalion headquarters. Lt Col Thomas F Bristol, Commanding Officer, and Maj Burton T Beam, Battalion Executive Officer, presented the trophies.

Pfc Charles Manning and Sp3 James McCutcheon, Hq Btry, were presented the team trophy from the Battalion badminton tournament. M/Sgt Marvin Brimmer and Cpl Joe Smith, Btry A, were presented the team trophy for the horseshoes tournament.

Pfc William Godsey, C Btry, was presented an individual trophy for his part in the badminton tournament. Pvts Robert Sutton and Tracy Dormandy, D Btry, were awarded the team trophy for the Battalion pocket billiards tournament.

Reserve Strength Cut To Have Little Impact Here

the STAR-PRESIDIAN

Vol. 7, No. 7

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 11 July, 1958

More than 86 years of experience in the active Army are represented as the first sergeants of the 30th Engr Bn assemble for their weekly meeting. They are (1 to r): M/Sgt Levi W Bush Jr, Battalion Sergeant Major over 13 years; M/Sgt Poston H Tapp, 21st Engr Co, over 21 years; M/Sgt James G Riddle, Hq Det, over 18 years; M/Sgt James C Coleman, 537th Engr Co, over 16 years; and M/Sgt James T Heard, 99th Engr Co, over 17 years.

No Presidians Injured Killed During Holiday

More than six thousand people visited the Presidio during its three-day Fourth of July Family Day program.

During the same period, the Presidio was able to accomplish an astounding accident-free record. Presidians successfully passed the three-day holiday without injury.

A correlation between the Family Days at the Presidio and the accident free record is believed to exist.

Col Charles G Rau, Presidio Commander, said, "The Presidio, during the holidays, had an excellent safety record. I feel that the one hundred percent accident-free days of our people was to a great extent brought about by the Family Day weekend which contributed to keeping them safely at home."

Retroactive Payments To Civilians Awaiting Comptroller Approval

The new federal pay increase is retroactively effective as of the first pay period beginning 1 Jan 1958.

Part of the increase will be in the checks of 15 July and 22 July, depending upon the individual's pay period. Checks received on 15 July will cover the period from 22 June through 5 July; those received on 22 July cover from 29 June to 12 July.

The Department of the Army is desirous of paying the retroactive portion of the salary increase as soon as possible after the enactment of the law. In order to accomplish this, checks for the retroactive portion will be prepared by supplementary payroll and held undated until authorization for payment has been received from the Comptroller of the Army.

Civil Service Accepts Applications For Local Federal Clerk Jobs

The following Civil Service examinations have been announced to establish registers of candidates for possible vacancies at Federal agencies in San Francisco and the 35-mile surrounding area: Clerk, GS-1, GS-2, GS-3.

The closing date for applications from women will be accepted until 21 July.

In order to apply, file Form 5009-AB with the Director, 12th US Civil Service Region, Rm 128, Appraisers Bldg, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco.

Applications from men will be accepted until further notice.

New LAH Commander Due Here Next Week

Major General Stuart G Smith is expected to arrive next week to assume command of Letterman Army Hospital. He is replacing Brig Gen Paul S Fancher, who retired last week.

Gen Smith has been commander of Brooke Army Medical Center in Texas since June 1954. Prior to that he served as Surgeon of the Eighth Army in the Far East.

He received his medical degree from Washington University, St Louis, Mo, in 1924. From 1926, when he accepted his RA commission, until 1935, Gen Smith served as a medical officer at Army installations in the States and the Canal Zone.

From then until 1943, his duties involved medical supplies, including a tour in the Army Surgeon General's Supply Division and two years as Commanding Officer of the St Louis Medical Department Procurement District.

During World War II, he commanded Vaughn General Hospital, Hines, Ill, and in Europe commanded the 97th General Hospital and served with the Civil Affairs Div, Supreme Headquarters, Allied European Forces.

Back in the States in 1946, he served as chief of the Armed Serv-

PSF Hosts Gen Taylor; C/S Plans Tour, Tennis

General Maxwell D Taylor, Chief of Staff, United States Army, accompanied by Mrs Taylor, will arrive at Crissy Field Monday at 1010 during a tour of the Sixth US Army area.

Honors for Gen Taylor will be held in front of the Officers' Club at 1015. At 1140, he will brief Lt Gen Charles D Palmer, Commanding General of Sixth Army, and all Presidio and Hq Sixth Army staff officers.

At noon, Gen Palmer will host a luncheon for the Chief of Staff at the Presidio Officers' Club, while Mrs Taylor will be honored at a luncheon given by Mrs John J Binns, wife of the Chief of Staff of Sixth Army, in her home.

Gen Taylor, accompanied by Gen Palmer, will leave at 1430 on board an L-23 for Livermore, where he will inspect the Radiation Laboratory. Upon his arrival back at Crissy Field that evening, he and his wife will be honored at a small reception at the Presidio Officers' Club hosted by Gen and Mrs Palmer. A dinner in the home of the Palmers will follow.

During his free time on 15 July, Gen Taylor, who is an accomplished tennis player, plans to play a few sets with Col Robert H Rhine, Chief of the Sixth Army G3 Reserve Forces Div. Col Rhine won the senior division title during the Post Tennis Tournament several weeks ago.

On 16 July Gen and Mrs Taylor, escorted by Gen and Mrs Palmer, will depart for Hamilton AFB at 0815. There, the Chief of Staff and his wife will embark for Los Angeles.

Other stops on Gen Taylor's

Visits Presidio

itinerary include CDEC, 91st Infantry Division at Camp Roberts, the Rand Corporation of Santa Monica, and the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena.

Want To Wear A Kilt? Sixth Army Pipe Band Seeks Pipe, Drum Men

The Sixth US Army Pipe Band issued a call for more men this week to replace pipers and drummers who will be lost in the next few months through normal attrition.

Sgt A L Pierce, NCOIC of the Pipe Band, urged personnel who have ever played in any pipe band, or those who would like to do so, to contact him immediately for an interview appointment.

Sixth Army Bandleader, CWO Louis Ferraro, also may be contacted for such an appointment.

Interested personnel should telephone either Sgt Pierce or CWO Ferraro at Ext 3482 or report to the Band office in Bldg 100-B.

This call for new members, however, excludes men assigned to the Army Air Defense Command.

IG Conference

A conference to be conducted by Maj Gen R L Howze for the four Inspector General field offices will be held 28-29 July.

The conference, which is an annual event, will be conducted as an open forum. One of the topics deals with the standardization of procedures.

The four field offices are at Ft MacArthur, Ft Douglas, Vancouver Barracks and Ft Lawton.

91st AR Div Gets Training Job; Not Cut

The newly-announced Army plan for reducing the strength of National Guard and Reserve divisions is not expected to have any immediate impact in the Bay Area.

But Sixth US Army and XV US Army Corps (Res) officials did not specify whether active duty personnel who administrate and advise Reserve activities in the eight Western states will be cut, commensurate with non-active duty personnel strength reductions.

A Sixth Army spokesman said "Insofar as the National Guard and Reserve Divisions in California are concerned, the amount of study this headquarters has been able to make so far indicates that there will be little or no impact."

Under the new Army plan, the Guard would drop from 400,000 to 360,000; the Reserve, from 300,000 to 270,000 during Fiscal Year 1959.

Hardest hit locally will be the Guards major unit in Northern California, the 49th Inf Div, which will be reduced by about 40 per cent.

The 40th NG Inf Div in Southern California will remain at present strength.

The 91st AR Div, with headquarters here, will become a training unit, geared to train inductees in case of a major war; but, essentially, the Division will not be affected by reorganizations.

Maj Gen John W Harmony, XV Corps Commander, commenting on the 91st's over-all personnel picture, said "The authorized strength of the 91st Div, as now organized with the (new) training mission will be slightly in excess of its present strength."

The 63d AR Div, based in Southern California, will continue as an infantry division.

The new Army plan will not abolish any divisions, National Guard or Reserve, but rather will restrict each to three battle groups, two less than active divisions carry.

Black Belts Okayed For Service Uniform; QM Has No Stocks

Department of the Army has announced that, effective immediately, enlisted men may wear black belts with the service uniform, except during formations.

The Presidio Quartermaster Sales Store, however, has just received official notification of the authorization and does not have stocks of black belts to meet immediate demand.

When such stocks are available, an announcement to that effect will be issued by the Post Quartermaster.

The black belt will replace the current Shade 3 brown web waist belt. According to DA Circular 670-27, the black belt will be issued to EM entitled to initial allowances and gratuitous issues of clothing after 1 October.

All EM will be required to own two black belts by 15 Apr 59. Regular Army personnel who have never been issued the new belts must purchase them from their uniform maintenance allowance.

Presidio Boosts

Civilian Marksmen

To promote marksmanship training with military-type small arms among American citizens not reached through training programs of the active components of the Armed Forces, the ranges of the Presidio will be open for use by clubs, schools, colleges and other responsible organizations at times when they are not needed by the Army.

Officers and noncommissioned officers will be detailed as instructors and weapons will be provided if requested.

EM Needed In

Nuclear Program

Washington (ANS)—The Army is presently urging qualified enlisted men to apply for training and eventual assignment in its Nuclear Power Program.

According to a recent DA circular, the third cycle of training for EM selected to become operating personnel under this program will begin at Ft Belvoir, Va, 15 Jan 59.

These EM will be trained to become nuclear power plant operators, maintenance personnel, or cadre supervisors and instructors for the crews of future military nuclear power plants.

The training includes a six-month basic academic course in nuclear power plant technology at Ft Belvoir. The course will be followed by six months of operational training on the Army Package Power Reactor (APPR-1) at Ft Belvoir or the Argonne Low Power Reactor (ALPR) at Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Following their training, the soldiers will be assigned either to the operating and instructional staff at APPR-1, ALPR or the operating crew of the first nuclear power plant that is scheduled for construction at a permanent Army installation in Alaska.

A maximum of 25 candidates will be selected for the third cycle of this program outlined in DA Circular 621-18, the Army said.

Civil Service OK'd In '83:

She Was Right There

Seventy-eight years ago, Mrs. Mary Frances Hoyt Moses was a young lady of 22 who was employed by the US Census Bureau in Washington, DC. Three years later, on 5 Sep 1883, she became the first woman appointed to a Federal Government position under the Civil Service Act of 1883.

Only seven days after the first man was appointed under the new law, Mrs Moses was granted the second appointment—a $900 a year clerkship in the Bank Redemption Agency of the Treasury Department—as a result of competitive examinations held the previous July. Mrs Moses left the Federal service in 1888.

Her 100th birthday last month was marked by a letter of congratulations from President Eisenhower, delivered to her New York City apartment by Chairman Harris Ellsworth of the US Civil Service Commission.

In commending Mrs Moses as the "symbol of the women now comprising one-fourth of the entire Federal service," President Eisenhower wrote: "With the creation of this (Civil Service) system 75 years ago, a door was opened to a new world of careers for women in our land, and you were the first to enter through it. Since then, hundreds of thousands have followed your example."

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Niccoll

The long Fourth of July weekend, safely having come and gone, brought diverse activities to local Presidians. This reporter asked some of them:

THE QUESTION: Did you venture onto the traffic-laden highways this week end, or did you remain safely at home?

ANSWERS

Mrs Helen Lund, Civilian Pay: We didn't come to Family Day at the Presidio.

We had our family day at Lake Tahoe instead. We're building a home there and drive up every week-end. If we hadn't gone there, we probably would have come to the Presidio. I think safety is a marvelous idea. Courtesy is the most important aspect of driving. We drive 210 miles each week-end and usually do our best to avoid as much of the traffic as possible. I prefer to drive in daylight because I think it is much safer. Another important thing to do is always keep a safe distance from the car ahead of you. Never get too close because it might stop suddenly.

Sp2 John A Couk, 561st Engineers: I didn't go anywhere over the long week-end because I was working on the diving team demonstration of the 561st Engineers. I was right here at the Presidio. I guess there were quite a few people here, off and on. Sunday, I drove to Marysville for the day. The traffic wasn't too bad.

Of course, I did my best to avoid it. I never saw a cop, I never saw an accident. I never saw anything.

Pvt. Mary Murphy, Signal Corps, Ft Baker: Well, we didn't go too far away. My mother and my boyfriend and his mother came up from Los Angeles. They said there was quite a bit of heavy traffic. We went to the various places of interest around San Francisco: Golden Gate Park, Fisherman's Wharf, Coit Tower. Things were pretty crowded everywhere. But everywhere we went, we didn't see any accidents. I was really surprised. Maybe everyone was trying to be careful. Being courteous and alert are very important. I think the worst kind of driver is the one who takes over the road.

M/Sgt Conrad F Hamilton, Medical Section, Sixth Army: Well, I usually come to Family Days at the Presidio, but this year we couldn't make it because we were looking for a new home. We drove to Sebastopol. There was heavy traffic. It was a dangerous two-lane road. I think when people are out driving, there are certain driving rules which everyone should observe. Courtesy on the highway is the most important thing. Don't drive while you are sleepy. And never drive after you have been drinking. Observe the driving rules of the state and community you are in—speed limits and passing regulations, for example.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

Here is the man behind the scenes, the man you never see, but the man whose name you always hear. He is the invisible man backstage who plans and produces the theatre work at the Service Club. He is Harry William Helman, from Butte, Montana, Post Entertainment Director.

What is so amazing about Harry is that he is a jack of all trades. Harry has done just about everything under the sun.

While in high school, he worked on a newspaper in Butte. In college in Illinois, he studied civil engineering. Then came the war and Harry went off to India and spliced telephone cables. "India was great," he said. "I never knew a place could be so hot and have so much rain all at the same time."

After the Army, Harry went back to Montana and played professional baseball. "I lived off the 'fifty-two twenty' for five months and played baseball." When asked which position he played, Harry said, "I played second base or outfield. Usually I played the bench. There was less work there!"

Then the baseball season ended, and Harry, who always has a quiet twinkle in his eye, went back to cable splicing, this time for the Telephone Company in Montana. "The difference was," he said, "I wasn't working in the hot, torrential rains. I was working in those cold snow storms."

There followed further college work, and Harry graduated from Montana State College with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

For five years he was employed in radio and television in his home state. He did news work and sports, was a disc jockey and announcer.

In May of 1957, Harry came to the Presidio. He was asked why he likes his present job. "I meet a lot of people, I see a lot of things, and I go to a lot of places," he replied. "I've never held down an eight-hour a day job. My jobs have always been busy and active, the sort with a great deal of pressure and very little routine."

In theatre work, Harry prefers the strictly technical aspect, the lighting, scenic design and construction. He has no desire to be on stage. He would rather be backstage in the mecca of activity. Someday Harry would like to design scenery for an original musical.

In the process of his job, Harry hopes to go to Europe. He likes to travel, he likes to read, and when asked what he likes most to do, Harry said, "Spend money!"

Harry Helman is a hard working guy, yet he paradoxically gives the impression of being quite easygoing. Those who know him at work know that he frequently spends many extra hours and days planning or traveling with his current show.

When asked what he thought about life, Harry Helman said, "I never pay any attention to life. I just go right along with it."

What Goes Up. . .

Satellite Dying

Washington (AFPS)—The Army's earth satellite, Explorer III, is fast approaching a fiery death as it reenters the atmosphere, the Defense Department has announced.

At the time of launching, its orbit extended out to beyond 1,700 miles and came to within 117 miles of the earth.

During May 1-7 Explorer III survived an outer space battle as she raced through the micrometeorites of the Eta Aquarids meteorite swarm associated with the orbit of Halley's Comet.

By the 90th day its perigee (closest distance to earth) was estimated at 99 miles.

It was launched in a slightly eccentric orbit, which brought its path closer to the earth than had been anticipated.

This shortened the satellite's life but greatly increased the scope of scientific investigation.

Explorer III has traveled 32 million miles since it was launched last March 26.

133 Committees Axed In Defense Dept Move

Washington (AFPS)—A review of the Defense Department's interdepartmental committee structure resulted in the abolition of 133 joint committees July 1, according to Defense Secretary Neil H McElroy.

The secretary said the move was made to speed up the decision-making process within the Defense Department.

Army Weather Study Notes Slight Changes Affecting Area Tactics

Currently underway at Ft Huachuca, Ariz, is a weather research program which is slated to be the biggest attempted by the Army since World War II.

The specific field of study—micrometeorology, small scale local weather variations—will improve understanding of variations in weather which cannot be seen on normal weather maps.

In a statement issued from the Army's Electronic Proving Ground at the Arizona installation, it was noted that such variations often result in abrupt local weather changes which deter Army operations.

For example, variations in wind speed or direction and changes in temperature and humidity affect the launching of missiles, radiological fallout from atomic weapons, air traffic, the use of radar and the laying of smoke.

This program is expected to swell to national proportions under the direction of the Ft Huachuca Proving Ground. Scientists from all over the country will be asked to contribute information to the program and a symposium is programmed there for December in which physicists, chemists, mathematicians, agriculturists and meteorologists will be asked for suggestions and ideas on how to proceed with the program.

New CONARC CG WW II, Korea Leader

Lieutenant General Bruce C Clarke will assume command of CONARC, the Army's highest Stateside field headquarters, effective 1 August. He is succeeding Gen Willard Wyman, a former Sixth US Army Commander, who is retiring.

Gen Clarke, who has been Commanding General of the Seventh Army in Europe since March 1956, is being succeeded in the overseas post by Lt Gen Clyde D Eddleman.

Gen Clarke was commissioned in the Corps of Engineers upon his graduation from West Point in 1925. Engineer and school assignments followed until December 1940 when he became a military observer in London.

Reporting to Pine Camp, NY, in April 1941, he was named Division Engineer and, subsequently, Chief of Staff of the 4th Armored Division. In June, 1945, Gen Clarke was given command of the Division.

He served with the Army Ground Forces from September 1945 until February 1948 when he was made Assistant Commandant of the Armored School at Ft Knox. In August 1949, Gen Clarke was given command of the Second Brigade, US Constabulary, at Munich, Germany.

During this assignment he was mainly responsible for the initial organization of the US Army Non-Commissioned Officers Academy in Munich.

He returned to Ft Hood, Tex, in January 1951 to join the 2d Armored Division and two months later took command of the 1st Armored Division at the same station.

In April 1953 Gen Clarke became Commanding General of I Corps in Korea and in October he was named Commanding General of IV Corps in Korea. Gen Clarke was selected to command the US Army, Pacific, in December 1954, prior to being moved to his Seventh Army post.

Warrant Officer Bars To 9th AA Bn NCOs

Four 9th AAA Msl Bn (Nike) NCOs recently received warrant officer commissions at a ceremony held at the battalion headquarters.

Lieutenant Colonel Thomas F Bristol, Battalion Commander, presented the commissions to M/Sgt Raymond C Norris, B Btry; M/Sgt Eugene Howard, TDY to SFAADS; M/Sgt Gerald V King, Hq Btry; and M/Sgt Robert F Stover, Btry C.

WO Norris, who entered the Army in 1947, will assume the new duties of assistant missile officer at Btry B, while WO King will serve in the same capacity at Btry D.

A former instructor at SFAADS, WO Howard will replace Capt Herman W Groller as the S4 Officer at the Battalion headquarters.

WO Stover will be the new assembly site officer at A Btry, 441st Msl Bn (Nike).

Former 441st M/Sgt Named Warrant Officer After 18 Years of Duty

A former 441st AAA Msl Bn (Nike) master sergeant was recently promoted to warrant officer.

A veteran of 18 years' service, former M/Sgt Oliver Adams, the new fire control assistant of Btry A, was presented with his bars by Lt Col Roy H Lundgren, Battalion Commander.

Prior to his assignment with the 441st in 1956, WO Adams completed the Nike-Ajax Fire Control School at Ft Bliss, Texas.

Philippines To Get Historical Documents Seized By US In '01

More than 126,000 documents seized by the US Army during the Philippine insurrection of 1899-1901 and stored in the National Archives in Washington are on their way back to the Philippine government.

A packet of them, symbolic of the entire group, was presented by Secretary of the Army Wilber M Brucker to Philippine President Carlos P Garcia during the latter's recent tour of the United States.

After the Philippines were given their independence in 1946, Congress enacted a law to return the documents. They are now being micro-filmed and once that job is completed the papers will be sent back to the island nation. The job is expected to be completed this year.

'Medicare' Benefits Altered This Month

Effective this month, payment for oral medication dispensed or prescribed by physicians providing care authorized under the Medicare Program to eligible dependents will be the responsibility of the patient or sponsor and will not be compensable to physicians under the Medicare Program.

Medicare patients may continue to obtain medication from military pharmacies if prescribed by a civilian physician and if such medicines are available. Or, they may obtain such medications at their own expense from civilian pharmacies.

The policy authorizing the furnishing of drugs to hospital inpatients, however, remains unchanged.

Specialist Danny Reed Top 30th Engr Soldier

Specialist Third Class Danny J Reed, topographic surveyor for the 537th Engr Co, has been selected as the 30th Engr Bn Soldier of the Month.

For his achievement, Sp3 Reed received a Certificate of Achievement and a three-day pass. Also he will be exempt from duty rosters for 30 days.

A native of Bakersfield, the Sp3 attended Bakersfield Junior College and California State Polytechnical College where he majored in mechanical engineering. After his release from the service he plans to continue his education in the field of mechanical engineering.

Civilian Jobs

Presidio job openings this week include Personnel Clerk (typing) GS-203-4, $3,755 p/a, for which applicants must have had a total of two years' experience which included one year general experience and one year specialized experience; and Administrative Clerk (USAR), GS-301-5, $4,040 p/a, for which applicants must have had three years of progressively responsible general office experience.

Applications must be filed no later than today with the Civilian Personnel Div, Bldg 227.

Top three scorers in the recent 16th BPO annual carbine qualification firing receive congratulations and three-day passes from their Commanding Officer, Capt Alfred L Brazeau. They are (l to r): Pvt Irvin M Svehla; Pvt Leland S Edwards and Pfc Ned B Herriott, who was high man with a 192. Each man also received a cash award.

Young Soldier Travels Long Way To 'Meet' Recruiting Sergeant

Nineteen-year-old Darryle Hollis was refrigerator repairman in Tulare, Calif, in 1957. M/Sgt Alpha R Hammond was a recruiting sergeant working out of the Modesto Recruiting Station at the same time. Since Tulare was in M/Sgt Hammond's territory, it was not strange that their paths should cross.

And when they did cross, M/Sgt Hammond convinced Hollis that the place for him was in the Army.

After Hollis had been sworn in and sent to Ft Ord for basic training, M/Sgt Hammond considered this enlistment a closed book. He was sure he would never see Hollis again.

Later, M/Sgt Hammond's tour of recruiting duty was up and he was assigned to Btry A, 740th AAA Msl Bn (Nike), at Ft Funston, Calif.

One quiet afternoon he was sitting at a desk in the orderly room at Btry A when the door opened and a replacement struggled in, with a full duffelbag on his shoulder and a sheaf of orders in his hand. He dropped the duffelbag, looked at M/Sgt Hammond, grinned and said: "Private Darryle Hollis, reporting for duty."

They shook hands and the next day Pvt Hollis was assigned to M/Sgt Hammond's platoon.

The young soldier, incidentally, is now a private first class and recently was graduated as high man in a radio repair course at Ft Sill, Okla.

ATTC Safety Record 'Perfect' For June

June was a "perfect" month so far as accidents were concerned for the coastwide Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific. Seattle, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and Long Beach installations of the command reported no accidents during the month in motor vehicle, civilian employee, and military personnel categories.

10 Commended For Well-Kept Quarters Areas, Maintenance

Ten Presidio residents are commended for the month of June for the outstanding appearance of the grounds surrounding their quarters.

In addition, an entire block (Qtrs 1261-77) was also cited for a superior cooperative effort to enhance the attractiveness of grounds in their neighborhood.

With such cooperation by all individuals residing in the Presidio, the Post cannot help but be the most beautifully kept post in the Army.

Senior occupants of individual sets of quarters, and quarters numbers are:

M/Sgt Robert J Carr, Hq Co Sixth Army (1276-A); Comdr BG Cooley, Joint Center (1326-A); Sgt Ronald A Gorski, Hq 30th Engr Bn (1445-A); Lt Col Charles M Delamenter, Hq Sixth Army (56); Col Robert A Matter, Hq Sixth Army (343); 1st Lt Clifford P Youngman, LAH (404-C); CWO Haaland McInteruff, Presidio Engr Sec (404-D); Lt Col Edwin J Pulasaki, LAH (534-A); M/Sgt James W King, C Co, USAG (727-A); and Sp2 Luis Casteneda, C Co, USAG (963).

Best living quarters areas are selected monthly on a ratio of one set of quarters for each neighborhood (hundred block). Judging was by a team of impartial observers.

Wife Honored

Mrs Lylas B Peters, wife of Col John A Peters of CONARC, who is scheduled to report to the Presidio at the end of July, has been chosen by the US Lady Magazine selection board as "US Lady of the Month" for October.

The honor was accorded her in recognition of her volunteer work with the Armed Forces Hostess Association during the past six years. She is presently serving as President of the Association, and as chairman of two of the group's committees.

PSF Officers' Mess Elects 6 To B of G; Reuss Is Repeater

Five new members were elected to the Presidio Officers' Open Mess Board of Governors last Monday, and a former member—Capt George J Reuss—was reelected to fill his own vacancy.

Those selected after open membership balloting were: Sixth US Army—Col Seymour A Potter, Jr; Maj Nellie M Young and Capt Jack A Abadie; US Army Garrison—Maj Jack R Hunt and Capt Reuss; XV US Army Corps (Res)—Lt Col Leonard C O'Brien.

Retiring Board members are Col John G Ondrick, Board chairman for the past two years; Lt Col Oscar J Vogl; Maj Emily Miller; Capt Richard M Andersen; and 1st Lt Jack P Carter.

In addition, Col Harold M Brown was designated by the Presidio Commander, Col Charles G Rau, to fill the unexpired term of retiring Board member, Col Edward B Hempstead.

After the elections, Col Rau officially congratulated the new members and welcomed them to the Board. He also expressed, on behalf of the Club, appreciation of the outstanding services and contributions of the retiring Board members.

9th AAA Bn Outstanding In Annual "Nike" Firing

The 9th AAA Msl Bn scored eight "successful" missiles out of nine at its annual service practice fire at Red Canyon Range, NM, recently to rank first among all other local Nike battalions who have completed their annual fire.

Unofficial statistics reveal that the 9th Bn ranks either fifth or sixth in the national standings.

Battery D, located at Angel Island, was the top battery with three successful missiles and scored 2,840 points out of a possible 3,000.

In second place was Btry C from San Rafael with 2,690 points, followed by Btry B from Ft Barry in third spot with 2,154 points.

Singled out for "outstanding proficiency" as an acquisition radar operator was Sp2 James Martinez of Btry D, who was presented with a commendation award from the evaluation team.

The Nikes are fired at 12-foot, radio-controlled drone targets that can duplicate any maneuver expected of a high performance aircraft.

Successful missiles are those that detonate a predetermined distance from the tiny drone flying at approximately 20,000 feet altitude, some 25 miles from the launching site. Of the eight fired successfully by the 9th, six were positive kills and two were hits.

The 9th Bn was cited by Lt Col Schmid, chief of the ARADCOM evaluation and scoring team, for its outstanding performance which he attributed to the high degree of training maintained within the Battalion.

2 XV Corps Civilians Get Performance Cash

Two awards for sustained superior performance recently were made by the XV US Army Corps (Res).

In a brief ceremony in the AG Branch, Maj. Gen John W Harmony, Corps Commander, presented a $200 award to Herbert L Ligier.

Mr Ligier was the Chief of the AG Reserve Personnel Branch of the US Army Military Dist, Calif, which is now a part of the XV Corps. The period covered was from 1 Feb 1957 to 11 Jan 1958.

He is now administrative assistant to Lt Col John R Spark, Chief of Sixth US Army AG Reserve Components Branch.

An award of $100 was presented to Mrs Hazel Morris for her work as a secretary from 1 July 1956 to 7 May 1958. Mrs Morris is in the office of the Area Commander for the Army Reserve at Oakland Army Terminal.

Lt Col Osborn Named Sixth Region Chaplain

Lieutenant Colonel Ralph T Osborn replaced Lt Col John Strevig recently as the new command chaplain of Sixth ARADCOM.

The newly-assigned chaplain came to Ft Baker from Cp Hanford, Wash.

His oversea duties include tours in Germany, as command chaplain in Berlin, and Korea, as chaplain of the 17th Inf Regt and Hq 7th Inf Div.

A veteran of 17 years' Federal service, Lt Col Osborn is a native of Alexandria, Minn. He graduated from Syracuse University, and from Gordon College of Theology, Mass.

Prior to becoming a military chaplain, he was pastor of the Ep-som Baptist Church in Epsom, NH.

Lt Col Osborn's present assign-ment as Sixth ARADCOM Chaplain places him in charge of religious and administrative func-tions for Army Air Defense Com-mand chapels in the states of California, Washington and Ore-gon.

Lt Col and Mrs Osborn and the couple's three daughters reside now in Fairfax.

There are a few things in life which are as inevitable as the rising moon and the changing tides. Among the cyclical movements, the weekly Record Rack has rolled in again, and with it comes your chance to guess the best-selling records of the month. Fill out the coupon below and mail to the "Star Presidian" building 87-A. Records will be awarded courtesy of Dis-count Records, 262 Sutter St, San Francisco.

Opera lovers will be interested to hear a re-issue of Claudia Muzio, soprano, put out by Angel Records in their current series, Great Recordings of the Century. On the record are Italian opera arias from "Sonnambula," "Nor-ma," "Il Trovatore," "La Forza del Destino," "Tosca" and "Cavalleria Rusticana." Included on this disc of 1934-35 recordings are two arias ("Traviata and Mephistopheles") that every vocal record collector puts at the top of a list of all-time greats. An Anna Magnani of opera, Miss Muzio was cast more fre-quently than any other diva at the Met as Caruso's leading lady between 1916 and 1921.

William Kapell and the Robin Hood Dell Orchestra of Philadel-phia, under the baton of William Steinberg, has recorded one of the most favorite piano concertos, "Rachmaninoff Concerto No 2" in C minor for piano and orchestra. The record has been released by RCA Victor.

Those with more esoteric taste quite possibly would be interested in hearing "Songs of the Hebrides" with Mary Makaver, alto, and Franz Jellinik, harp. This is a group of folk songs from that re-mote Scottish possession in the North Atlantic. Among the group is the "Mull Fisher's Song." A fisherman from Mull is out alone in his boat at night and can't sleep or pray because he is haunted by his lover's sea-blue eyes. Some of these songs are several cen-turies old.

TC Birthday

July 31st will mark the six-teenth birthday of the Transporta-tion Corps. There will be an open house in Bldg 37, where coffee and cake will be served.

On 1 August, the anniversary will be further observed with a cocktail, dinner, and dance party which will be held, beginning at 1800, in the Ft Scott Officers' Club. Tickets may be obtained by call-ing Ext 2736.

The Transportation Corps is the youngest of the Army technical services. Among its recent develop-ments are bulk-liquid rollers, am-phibious armored personnel carriers, articulated off-road land trains, the barc, aercial tramways, De Long docks, the rolligon, the landing craft retriever, beach-operation craft trucks and roll-on-roll-off ships.

ing to a recent statement by the Executive Editor of Army maga-zine, John B Spore, who has been at Ft Ord observing the center and interviewing key officials.

Quoting CDEC's Commander, Brig Gen Frederick W Gibbs, Mr Spore writes that CDEC is not at-tempting to predict the future, but is trying to influence it by finding out what kind of combat organiza-tions, using what kind of tactics and techniques, and furnished with what kind of arms and equipment, will be so effective they can defeat any enemy on a battlefield of the future.

In its experiments, CDEC works from the bottom up—that is, from the platoon and company. It be-lieves that when it can get some valid answers to the problems of small units in future battle, it will be able to move up the scale into the problems of battle groups, di-visions and corps.

Early in June, Secretary of the Army Wilber M Brucker an-nounced that CDEC was to be a permanent facility, thus giving a green light to its plans and pro-grams.

Engine Is Ordered By Army; Weighs Only 106 Pounds

Washington (AFPS)—A light-weight, 250-horsepower turbine aircraft engine weighing only one-fourth as much as conventional piston engines of like horsepower, has been contracted for by the Army.

The Allison Division of General Motors Corp has been awarded the $3,200,000 contract to build the engine, which is 39 inches long and weighs only 106 pounds.

The Army plans to use the en-gine in observation and utility aircraft. It may also serve as a power plant for target and sur-veillance drones and flying jeeps.

The contract also calls for a turbo-shaft engine—35 inches long, 90 pounds—intended primarily for Army helicopters. It may also be installed in water craft or used as a standby power plant for missile launchers, emergency vehicles and a variety of other applications.

Lab Technicians Urged To Make New Weapons Easily Operable, Simple

Washington (AFPS)—Speaking to a group of electronic engineers, William M Holaday, Director of Guided Missiles, asked that they keep uppermost in their minds the fact that we produce guided missiles "to carry death and de-struction to any enemy force which launches an attack upon us."

In a speech to the Institute of Radio Engineers here he stressed that "isolated laboratory demon-strations by PhDs and highly trained technicians are not enough.

"The equipment must be main-tainable by soldiers, sailors or airmen, as the case may be, and we must design equipment so that the servicemen can maintain and operate it without first undergoing long specialized training courses."

He pointed out that a missile system must be capable of "im-mediate reactions. This capability," Mr Holaday added, "must be a practical one."

Brucker Hails WAC For Skills, Loyalty

Secretary of the Army Wilber M Brucker, speaking last week at the graduation of the Women's Army Corps' Advanced Class, said that through efficient, loyal and devoted service, the WAC's are daily proving anew their worth to the Army in peacetime.

"Integration of women into the Armed Forces was not merely a gesture of appreciation for a job well done in wartime," he said, adding that the move reflected three basic assumptions:

First, according to the Secretary, woman power will always be needed in the future to help meet military requirements.

"Second," he said, "there is need in peacetime for a group of trained military women to provide a nucleus for expansion in the utilization of womanpower to the maximum practical extent in the event of all-out emergency."

"Third," continued Mr. Brucker, "the Armed Services need the occupational skills of women in types of work for which they are particularly well suited and for experimentation in new fields as military methods, techniques and missions change."

"During the war in Korea," he said, "the validity of these assumptions was tested and proved. As military men were sent to the battlefield, trained women filled vacated staff positions, many of them in Japan, close to the scene of the conflict."

"In addition," he explained, "enlistments of women in the services increased, and the increased training requirements were met in an orderly manner. The value of having trained women in Reserves was also proved, for many Reservists were called to active duty and served with distinction."

In addition, Mr Brucker pointed out that more than 600 women were decorated during the war years with awards ranging from the Distinguished Service Medal to the Air Medal.

ARPA Has Improved Space Satellite Tracking

Washington (AFPS)—If there are any "silent" satellites orbiting over the US which could pose a military threat, Uncle Sam wants to know about it.

Roy Johnson, Director of the DOD's Advanced Research Projects Agency, recently announced details for a program that would improve satellite tracking and detection.

ARPA, Mr Johnson said, has taken action to continue and improve the US capability for detecting and tracking all earth satellite vehicles which pass over this country.

The program assigned construction and operation of Minitrack stations on the east and west coasts to the Naval Research Laboratory. In addition operation of a CW-Doppler complex at Ft Sill, Okla, was assigned to the Ballistic Research Laboratories.

The resulting network will provide a radar and communications fence across the US, Mr Johnson said.

Brig Gen MacDonnell New Division Engineer

Brigadier General Robert G MacDonnell will become Division Engineer Monday of the Army's Engineer Corps South Pacific Division. He will succeed Brig Gen William F Cassidy.

Geographically, Gen MacDonnell's command covers approximately 566,000 square miles, encompassing all of California, Nevada and Utah, as well as portions of five bordering states.

Operating through district offices in San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles, the South Pacific Division is responsible for flood control and navigation projects, as well as military construction.

One of the top projects facing Gen MacDonnell as he assumes command will be responsibility for nearly a quarter billion dollars in construction spending throughout the area of his jurisdiction slated for Fiscal Year 1959.

Construction of the training-operational base for both intercontinental ballistics missiles and intermediate-range ballistics missiles at Cooke Air Force Base near Lompoc, a $100,000,000 project, is scheduled for completion in 1960.

Besides the missile program, Gen MacDonnell will be responsible for the construction features of the Army's $8,000,000 Nike improvement and conversion program now underway in the San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles areas.

Gen MacDonnell, a native of Washington, was graduated from West Point in 1934, and from the University of California in 1938 where he earned a Master of Science degree in Civil Engineering. He also is a graduate of the Engineer School and the Army War College.

To Spend $¼ Billion
Brig Gen Robert G MacDonnell

Prior to World War II, he held a variety of troop and contract construction assignments. During World War II, he served with the Eighth US Army in the Pacific. From 1952 to 1955 he was with the Seventh Corps in Germany as Corps Engineer and later as Deputy Chief of Staff.

Prior to his coming to San Francisco, Gen MacDonnell was Assistant Commandant, The Engineer School, Ft Belvoir, Va.

His decorations include the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal and the Army Commendation Ribbon. Among his foreign decorations is the Philippine Liberation Ribbon.

Cp Irwin Antenna Site For Land-Based Talks' With Space Vehicles

The Director of the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency, Roy W Johnson, has announced that the Army has been given approval to begin construction on a radio antenna capable of maintaining communications with space vehicles.

Cp Irwin, Calif, has been selected as the site for the first 85-foot antenna, expected to be in operation by the end of this year.

Similar to the radio telescopes used to find and track radio stars, the new radio antenna is regarded by officials of the space communication program as an evolutionary development and represents an initial step in the development of ground equipment associated with the lunar probe program.

Youth's Satellite Plan Looks Good To DOD

New York (AFPS)—A 12-year-old New York schoolboy in the seventh grade has offered the Department of Defense a detailed plan for rocketing a monkey into space in a 4,630-pound satellite. And Defense scientific experts say Jonathan Orovitz's plan is theoretically sound.

In a four-page letter to Roy Johnson, director of DOD's Advanced Research Projects Agency, Jonathan proposed launching one big baby moon into orbit.

The boy's ideas, said Johnson, have "all the elements of a workable system." Another expert called the theory "sensible and logical."

Electronic Brain Saves Time In Gun Problems

At Ft Sill, Okla, a small electronic digital computer is figuring and recording complicated gunnery problems in minutes at the Artillery and Missile School.

The machine recently totaled a problem involving about 1,700 triangles. Under ordinary circumstances this job would have taken a month to complete.

In addition to saving time the machine will also make a tremendous reduction possible in bulky files of worldwide historical gunnery data.

It is believed that as computers become small and rugged enough for mobility they will assist combat commanders to make instantaneous decisions by digesting hundreds of pertinent facts about the changing battle.

Military Science Books To Bolster Libraries Under New DA Plan

A Contemporary Military Reading Program designed to encourage Army personnel to read current, thought-provoking books about military science and related subjects has been prepared by the Department of the Army, according to an announcement made this week from Washington, DC.

Currently 1,000 military science book kits, containing 33 titles each, are being purchased for Army-wide distribution to Special Services libraries.

These kits will expand, not replace, local procurement of military science library materials, the Army said.

The Presidio and other Sixth Army installations will receive the kits in the near future. Additional local information on this program will be released at a later date.

Thirty Sfc Alfred R Luce, through a clever and ingenious method, recently saved the Government $8,000 by building a lubrication rack without going through the normal Government channels.

Ingenuity, Hard Work Equal AAA Lube Rack

Sfc Alfred R Luce, Motor Sergeant at Btry A, 740th AAA Msl Bn (Nike), located at Ft Funston, was as tired as his mechanics of crawling under his trucks on the wet ground and working in a cramped and uncomfortable position.

He needed a lubrication rack with electric lights, but the funds to have one built were not available. He had the place for it picked out, at the far end of the motor pool—handy and out of the way.

Sfc Luce crawled out from under a truck one day, brushing the dirt off his fatigues, and when he looked out toward the Launcher area he saw a civilian bull-dozer scooping dirt out of a huge hole.

It was the oil company digging a hole big enough to sink a 1000 gallon gas tank. Sfc Luce had an idea, worth a try. He hurried to the bull-dozer to ask the operator if he could scoop some dirt out at the end of the motor pool, while the equipment was in the battery area.

Since it wouldn't take long, the operator readily agreed and Sfc Luce had a deep, gaping hole in the ground where he wanted it, by the motor pool. It was a good start for his lube rack.

Next, Sfc Luce formed a shovel brigade of his mechanics and drivers and squared the walls of the hole. He was ready to line walls and both ends with the 24 sand-gallon oil drums, filled with sand, that he had been collecting for months.

Then came the problem of timbers to bolster and cover the oil drums. This seemed like an impossible task at first, but Sfc Luce searched Ft Funston, borrowing a piece here and finding a piece there, until he had more than he needed.

He and his crew, with paint and tools from the Battery Craft shop, put the finishing touches on the lube rack—but still there was no electricity and the loose dirt around the rack was sticky and muddy from the rain. So, Sfc Luce called on a man he knew in San Rafael who ran a gravel business. He returned with a gift of more than enough gravel to cover the entire muddy area.

Sfc Luce wanted overhead lights on a pole and lights down in the lube rack, but electricity is out of his line, so he called on Sgt Francis LaMica, the Battery Communications Sergeant, for help. Sgt LaMica went to Post Signal and got a telephone pole and enough wire to complete the job.

Under supervision of the light and power company, Sgt LaMica strung the wire from the main line to the pit and connected all the outlets, including the one on the telephone pole overhead.

This whole project had taken Luce and his crew 14 days to complete, much of it in spare time. But would the walls cave in with a heavy truck on the ramp? Post Ordnance and Engineer inspectors checked the lube rack and pronounced it both safe in every respect and an admirable job.

The inspectors agreed unanimously that through normal channels the completed lube rack would have taken six months to build and cost about $8,000.

Mobile Service Club Director Comes Here After 2 Years Abroad

A blonde, blue-eyed Minnesotan has been appointed new director of the AAA Mobile Service Club.

Mary Simons has come to the Presidio from Chaska, Minn, her home, via Aschaffenburg and Bamberg, Germany, where she was stationed for 27 months.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota with a degree in music, Mary reapplied for Special Services work in the States and was assigned to the Presidio. She has always been interested in recreation work and finds that the Army is a combination of social and creative activities.

The new Recreation Director will take her mobile service club to the eight isolated Nike sites at Berkeley, Alvarado, Angel Island, Funston, San Rafael, Malagara and Sharp Park.

Zoo Tour

A special tour of Fleishhacker Zoo will be sponsored by the Presidio Service Club on Wednesday evening, 16 July.

The bus will leave the club at 1930 hours. All personnel and guests are welcomed.

Wes Stock Hurls No-Hitter; Fans 19

PSF Ace Sets Record, Leads 2-0 Tourney Win

Sensational Wes Stock undoubtedly stirred the hearts of the Baltimore Orioles front office this week when he threw a no-hitter against the Ransome Co nine from Oakland to lead the Torero baseball team to their first win in the Northern California "Divisional" 32-team semipro tournament at Pittsburg, Calif., before an estimated 2,000 fans.

Stock, who is Orioles' property, struck out a total of 19 batters to set a new record for the Pittsburg tourney, often referred to as the "world's biggest single elimination 'sudden death' semipro tournament."

The Presidians scored one run in the seventh when hardhitting Terry Maddox belted a double to left field and later scored on a single by Jake DeSousa.

The locals added an insurance tally in the eighth when Charlie Gritts doubled, stole third, and scored on a wild pitch. The final score was 2-0.

The Presidio is the only service team left in the tourney which winds up Monday evening.

Tomorrow they tangle with the Waterloo AC nine from Stockton at 1445 hours at the Pittsburg baseball park.

If they succeed in this round, they will play on Sunday, with the championship game slated for Monday evening at 2015 hours.

The Presidians collected four more victories over the past week to bolster their seasonal record to an impressive 32 wins and 7 losses.

On Sunday the Toreros subdued Humboldt State College, 5-3, to sweep a two game series.

Newcomer Jake DeSousa once again displayed his power at the plate as he belted a homer and a double to score four of the five runs.

Winning pitcher was Roger Sawyer who scattered 10 hits for 3 runs.

Sawyer came back strongly three days later to lead the Toreros to their second win of the week, a 1-0 decision over Cp White. The Presidian struck out 14 batters.

Joins Select Group
Pitcher Wes Stock

Last Thursday, the Toreros outlasted a strong Redding nine by the score of 12-9, behind the power hitting of Maddox, Paul Bilafer and Charlie Gritts, who each collected a home run.

In a 4 July game, newcomer Gene Lippold made a brilliant debut for the locals by shutting out the Willow Tigers 3-0.

Bilafer again hit a home run, ending up as the leading sticker of the road trip. Bilafer is scheduled to leave the service this week.

Braves Champs After First Half Of Season

The XV Corps (Res) Braves came from behind to win the first half of Pony League play, which concluded this week.

The Braves, who were league champions last year, had a slow start this season but finally found their form to win the first half title.

The winners finished the season with a 7 and 3 record.

In second place, only one game off the pace, are the 30th Arty Gp (Air Def) Tigers, who led the league throughout most of the season, until the final weeks.

The runners-up finished the season in winning style as they blanked the Braves in the last game of the season by the score of 2-0, behind the fine pitching of their ace hurler, Mike Foley.

In third place, with a 5 and 5 record, are the Sixth Army Hq Pirates, followed by the Presidio-LAH Dodgers in last place with a 2 and 8 record.

Second half of play begins on Tuesday evening, 22 July.

At the end of the season the Braves will tangle with the winners of the second half of play in a playoff series to determine the seasonal champ.

Youngsters who will reach the age of 12½ by 19 July and who wish to play for the Pony League during the second half of play are

Capt Sample To Bragg; Will Train For Space In Service Tennis Tilt

Presidio's tennis champion, Capt Frank Sample, will leave this week for Ft Bragg, NC, where he will train for 30 days together with two representatives from each Army area in preparation for the Inter-Service Tennis Tournament.

Four players will be selected to represent the Army in the annual tourney held in Washington, DC.

Capt Sample, who has been a member of the All-Army team which has captured the Leach Cup for the last two years, will be accompanied by Pvt Don Pimley, Sixth Army singles champion from Ft Ord.

21st Engr Co Leads After Single Game In Softball Tourney

In the only game played this week at time of publication, the 21st Engr Co, defending Post champions, blanked the Sixth Army Tng Gp nine 4-0, in the first round of the double elimination softball playoff.

Ace hurler, Nick Themely, allowed the Tng Gp four scattered hits, while his teammates pounded the opposing pitcher for seven hits, including a home run off the bat of Goff.

The playoff continues this week with games scheduled for today and Monday.

The 21st, as a result of the win, remains in the winners' bracket, while the Tng Gp shifts over to the losers' side with still another chance at the crown.

Other teams participating in the playoff are LAH, 194th Ord Det, Sixth ARADCOM and the Honor Guard.

Sixth Army No. 3 On Top In Pacific League; Regioner Keglers 2d

Hq Co Sixth Army No 3 retained its hold on first place in the Pacific Summer Bowling League this week by taking three games from the Retorts. Browning was high for the winners with 574-213, while Home rolled a 477-167 for the losers.

Hq Co Sixth Army No 2 fell from a first place tie to third place by taking a 4-0 shellacking from the Compt-Rollers.

Marlow, with 514-190, helped the 'Rollers gain fourth place while the Hq team claimed a high of 561-222 by Stabile.

The Regioners moved into second place when they trounced the AAA Sparks, 4-0. Janus led the Regioner keglers with 481-184, and Beery of the Sparks racked up 504-178.

Honor Guard bowlers moved from the cellar to sixth place by polishing off the Mail Maullers, 4-0, with Schumaker bowling 522-185 for the Guards and Zechel scoring 406-148 for the Maullers.

Local Golfers To Lewis For Sixth Army Match

Three Presidio golfers, who were chosen on the All-Southern Central Division Sixth Army team as a result of their fine play in the recent Ft Ord tourney, will leave early next week for Ft Lewis to compete in the Sixth Army finals.

Post champion Sfc Murray Jacobs, who placed third in the open division of the Ft Ord tourney; Capt George J Reuss, who captured fifth place in the same division; and Col Harold Browning, runner-up in the senior division, will join other Sixth Army golfers from the southern area on the trip to the Northwest.

Learn To Fence

On Tuesday and Thursday evenings, starting at 1800 hours, free fencing instruction is offered at the LAH gym. All military personnel are eligible to take advantage of this opportunity.

Army Seeks Athletes To Vie For Positions On Pentathlon Squad

The Army, along with the other services, is searching for athletes to qualify for the modern pentathlon squad expected to enter three international meets this year, including the World Championships at Aldershot, England, in October.

Coming up, too, are the 1959 Pan-American Games in Chicago and the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome.

A grueling test of man's athletic ability, the modern pentathlon consists of five events—riding, shooting, fencing, swimming and running.

Although the United States has produced several excellent pentathlon teams, it has yet to win a first place in Olympic competition. In the last five Olympics, United States standings were: 1932 and 1936, second place; 1948, third; 1952, fourth; and 1956, second.

Army Sinks Navy

The Army, with the aid of a few civilians, defeated the Navy, represented by members of the First Fleet, in a golf tournament held last Sunday at the Presidio course by the score of 15-9.

Top handicappers were McNeil with an 18, followed by Duncan with 15 and Col Allen with 13.

Sergeant First Class Wallace H Amaral (r), Btry C, 865th AAA Msl Bn, Los Angeles, received an electric shaver and a leather traveling bag as a result of winning both the singles and doubles championships recently in the Sixth ARADCOM horseshoe tourney held at Ft Baker. Runner-up in the singles division, Sgt Carvis, also from Btry C, 865th, received a suede jacket. The Los Angeles representatives also swept the doubles title.

Air Defense Golf Meet Set At PSF Monday

Fifteen top golfers from the San Francisco, Los Angeles and Washington areas will participate in the Sixth ARADCOM Golf Tournament to be held at the Presidio course, beginning Monday and extending through Friday.

Representing the local area are five golfers from the 30th Arty Gp (Air Def): Pfc William Stoops of the 436th AAA Msl Bn, who won the open division championship of the 30th tourney several weeks ago with a three-day total of 240; Capt Ray Smoyer, 436th AAA Msl Bn, who took second place just one stroke behind the winner; Lt William D Duffy, 740th AAA Msl Bn; Maj C H Kozlow, 9th AAA Msl Bn; and Pfc Tony Popp, 436th AAA Msl Bn.

The Los Angeles area will be represented by Lt Col Thomas J Lowe, 47th Brig; M/Sgt John W Himes, 933rd AAA Msl Bn; CWO Ray Terry, 865th Msl Bn; M/Sgt James L Meyers, 554th AAA Msl Bn; and Pfc Robert L Leming, 47th Brig Hq.

Representing the Washington area will be a five-man team made up of CWO Patrick Keefe, 83rd AAA Msl Bn; M/Sgt Del Schroeder, 31st Brig Hq; Sgt James Jacoby, 28th Msl Bn; M/Sgt Robert VanBurskirk, 83rd AAA Msl Bn; and Capt Earl R Winard, 28th AAA Msl Bn.

Football's Daddy

American football exists today because of McGill University of Montreal, Canada, and the courtesy of Harvard, the host team at two football games in Cambridge on 14 and 15 May 1874. The sport was then called the "Boston Game."

Hatters Mad, Drop PSF From Softball Tourney

In a tight pitchers' duel, the Post softball team lost a heart-breaker to the Top Hat nine, 1-0, in the first game of the Northern Invitational Softball Tournament held at Redwood City over the weekend.

The loss disqualified the locals from the tourney.

With the score 0-0 going into the last inning, Top Hatter Rodgers belted a home run which cleared the fence at the 262-foot mark to score the winning run. Presidio's Bob Raggio made a desperate try for the ball as he leaped high against the fence, and for several seconds it looked as if he had caught the ball.

The locals lost a good scoring opportunity in the fourth inning when Ed Johnson led off with a double but did not get any further than second base.

Nick Themely pitched another fine game for the Post nine as he gave up four hits, struck out eight batters and walked none.

The Presidio team played two other games over the past week, winning both. They tripped the SF Naval Shipyard nine by the score of 7-2, behind the eight-hit pitching of Johnson.

Third baseman Bodine Shultz and Johnson belted home runs for the Presidio to score five of the seven runs.

In the other game, the Post team trounced the USS Wiseman by the score of 12-2.

The game was highlighted by home runs off the bats of Dick Thomas, Ed Kornaga and Johnson.

Themely and Johnson divided the pitching honors as both struck out a total of 14 men, gave up no walks and allowed only four scattered hits.

On Monday the team will resume play in the SF Class A League.

Kingpins Stay On Top In Presidio Bowling; 3-Way Tie For Second

The 60th CI Det, led by the 502-169 of Walker, racked up a 4-0 win over the first place Kingpins this week in Presidio Bowling League matches. Top for the losers was the 463-171 of Andresen.

A high for the week, 582-202 by Opozda, inspired the Shafter's to a 4-0 victory over the third-place Toros and put them in a three-way tie for second place with the CI Det and the Kops.

Havrilla's 499-174 was the best the losing keggers could muster.

Cellar-dwelling SFAADS gained a shutout over the fourth-place Islanders 4-0. Best keggers were Schweikhard, 426-161, for the winners and Given, 449-157, for the losers.

Marquart scored 459-160 for fifth place Hq Co Sixth Army but couldn't beat the 541-190 of Mahon who boosted the Kops to a 3-1 win and into the three-way tie for second.

5 Army Shooters Place On US Rifle Team; To Russia For Title Match

Ft Benning, Ga. (AFPS)—The 300-meter International free rifle team, which will represent America in World Championships to be fired in Russia in August, was selected here recently.

Announcement of the selection was made by Col Perry D Swindler, captain of the US Rifle and Pistol Team, after a week of shooting for team slots by 23 of the nation's most accomplished rifle marksmen.

Heading a list of eight riflemen were the Army's Advanced Marksmanship Unit's 1st Lt Daniel B Puckel of Marion, Ind, Verle F Wright of Ft Wayne, Ind, and James S Carter of Pasadena, Calif.

Fencers Impressive In National Matches

The LAH-Presidio fencing team returned this week from New York City where it competed in the National Fencing Tournament against the best amateur fencers in America.

The foil team made the best showing when it advanced to the semi-finals by eliminating the highly regarded New York University team. Defeat came, however, in the next round at the hands of the Fencer's Club of New York.

In the three-weapon strip, a real upset occurred when the LAH fencers eliminated both the New York University team and last year's champions from Michigan. The Fencer's Club of New York once again proved stiff competition as its foilers went on to defeat the locals in the next round to cop the championship in that event.

Col Laurance H Brownlee, senior member of the team, remarked that although the local squad returned home minus any medals it was "steeped in honor."

In addition to Col Brownlee, the other participating members were M/Sgt Severo Pasol, Sfc Bert Scheck, Pfc Larry Kauffman and

Giants Outscore Yanks, Take Little League Title

The Giants were crowned Golden Gate Little League champs this week for the third time in the last four years, as they swept a two-game playoff from the Yanks, winners of the first half of play, in convincing fashion.

After clinching first place in the second half of play last week with a 25-8 routing of the last-place Cards, the Giants were forced to meet the Yanks in a playoff to decide the seasonal championship.

In the first game, behind the fine pitching of Mike Frye, the Giants shut out the Yanks by the count of 2-0.

The winners scored twice in the first inning, and then the game settled down to a pitchers' duel.

In the second game played this week, the champs took an early 8-1 lead and went on to defeat the Yanks by the score of 9-6. Winning pitcher was Billy Ameral.

The Yanks rallied in the last inning for a last ditch attempt at the crown, but fell short by three runs.

An awards ceremony will take place this Sunday at 1515 hours at the Little League diamond, at which time the Pop Hicks memorial award will be presented to the Giants and each member will receive a pin. Refreshments will be served to the youngsters.

During the latter part of July, the Giants will enter the District Little League tournament which eventually leads up to the Little World Series.

TC Reserve Units Here Get Realistic Training

The 6212th Army Reserve Service Unit began its annual 15-day summer training period this week at Ft Cronkhite. It is the largest Army Transportation Corps reserve unit in the Bay Area.

The units under the 6212th parent organization are 362d TC Co, Vallejo; 861st TC Co, Oakland Army Terminal; 976th TC Co, Ft Mason; 483rd TC Bn, Oakland Army Terminal; and the 355th TC Bn, Ft Mason.

Army Chopper Airlifts Honest John, Crewmen

The practicability of moving an Honest John battery by airlift was demonstrated recently in an experiment conducted by the Missiles Div of the US Army Artillery Board at Ft Bliss, Texas.

A complete rocket system and its eleven-man firing crew was loaded, transported ten miles and unloaded in an hour using one of the Army's largest helicopters, the Mojave.

The move required five trips; equipment moved included the body of the rocket, the warhead, a special launcher, meteorological equipment and jeep and trailer.

All equipment was sling-carried outside the 21,700-pound helicopter.

Two problems confronted during "Operation Chopper John" were the huge cloud of dust created by the 'copter as it hovered over the emplacement site and the density of the air, which reduced the lift capability of the aircraft.

WWII Amphibian Tanks To Be Replaced Soon By 2 Bigger DUKWs

The death knell of the "old faithful" World War II DUKWs was sounded this week when the Army announced the signing of a $380,862 contract for the development of two new wheeled amphibians.

The Ingersoll Kalamazoo (Mich) Division of Borg-Warner Corp has been commissioned to build the vehicles, officially designated "amphibious lighters," to replace the old two-and-a-half ton capacity models. The new versions will be able to carry five- and fifteen-ton payloads, respectively.

Air Defense Officer, NCO To New School

Capt Jacob J Berg of the 30th Arty Gp, Ft Barry, and M/Sgt Weston F Rimington of Hq Sixth ARADCOM, Ft Baker, left here this week to become students at the new SAGE Instructors' School recently opened at Waltham, Mass.

Operated by the Air Force, the Waltham school holds a three-month course for selected Army Air Defense personnel preparatory to their becoming qualified instructors at the SAGE training school at Richards-GeBaur Air Force Base, Grandview, Mo.

Capt Berg was 30th Gp Assistant S3 prior to his departure for the training school. He holds the French Croix De Guerre, the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, and the ROK Commendation Medal. He is married and the father of two sons.

M/Sgt Rimington served as Operations Sergeant at Hq Sixth ARADCOM for almost two years. He achieved earlier recognition through being the first Sixth ARADCOM soldier to break the promotion freeze to the grade of master sergeant nearly two years ago, and the last man to earn that rank before the deactivation of his former unit, the 752d AAA Gun Bn, at the same time.

M/Sgt Rimington has completed 19 years Federal service. He was presented with the Bronze Star Medal by Maj Gen Edward J McGaw, Sixth ARADCOM Commander, last year, in recognition of his military service during World War II. M/Sgt and Mrs Rimington are parents of a son and daughter.

The first week at camp has been devoted to an intensive schedule of field training using the facilities of Ft Cronkhite, Ft Baker, Oakland Army Terminal and Treasure Island.

Field training consists of day and night overland map problems; daily drills and marching; field sanitation; troop supply; combat formations; camouflage and concealment; chemical, biological and radiological familiarization; and battlefield first aid.

The training will be climaxed by a two-day tactical problem utilizing land, sea and air power to set up a major port on a simulated alien beach.

A beach-head landing will be made at a secret off-shore destination where an emergency port will be established under battle conditions. Perimeter defense, combat patrols and local security will be stressed during this 36-hour problem.

Helicopters, combat landing crafts, booby traps, small arms and machine guns will be used in the landing. An "aggressor force" will harass the troops to make the problem more realistic.

New Officers

New officers of the Ft Ord Women's Club were installed at a recent gathering held at the Officers' Club there.

Those installed were: Mrs Russell Miner, President; Mrs Howard F Haberman, 1st Vice President; Mrs John R Jennings, 2d Vice President; Mrs Alastair McTaggart, Secretary; and Mrs Charles Maltby, Treasurer.

Mrs W M Breckinridge is Honorary President of the group.

Four Months In Army, Pfc Wilfred S Burgin Is "Soldier Of Month"

The Soldier of the Month for the 30th Arty Gp at Ft Barry is Pfc Wilfred S Burgin from A Btry, 436th AAA Msl Bn. He was chosen after the reviewing board of officers for the monthly selection had interviewed all of the four battalions' selections.

As Soldier of the Month, Pfc Burgin receives a check for $25 plus a three-day pass and numerous items from business places in the San Francisco-Travis areas.

Pfc Burgin is an ordnance parts specialist at his Travis Air Force Base assignment and entered active military service in April.

56 VA Hospitals Check "Gehrig's" Disease For Health Institute Study

Fifty-six Veterans Administration hospitals and clinics will participate in a National Institute of Health study of the neurological disease, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, commonly known as Lou Gehrig's disease or ALS.

Neither cause nor cure is known for the disease, which affects the lateral columns of the spinal cord and causes wasting of the muscles of the arms and legs.

ALS often affects chewing and swallowing and the vocal cords, but the mind remains clear. Death results in from one to three years ordinarily but in extreme cases has been known to occur from a few months to ten years.

TC Contracts In West Go To Small Business

Small business firms received the lion's share of Army procurement dollars in the $1,389,831 worth of contract awards made in June by the Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific, at Fort Mason.

Of the total awards, $1,349,989 went to companies with fewer than 500 employees, categorized under Federal policy as small business enterprises.

Of the 51 contract awards, 39 went to ship repair, construction, supply and service firms in that category.

Awards in the Bay Area totalled $875,265; in the Pacific Northwest, $514,566.

Youngster Says Teacher "Belongs In Space"

Huntsville, Ala (ANS) — A sixth-grade pupil from Spokane, Wash, has volunteered the services of an "ideal" passenger for the Nation's first manned space satellite—his school teacher.

"I have great news for you," wrote young Mike Dirks to the Army Ordnance Missile Command here. "I know someone who would be great for manning a manned satellite. He is my sixth-grade teacher. I am sure he is someone who belongs in space."

Elections

Mrs Kenneth Schoenwether, wife of Maj Schoenwether, Troop Hq Commander at Ft Mason, is the newly elected president of the Officers' Wives Club there.

Others chosen at the Club's recent meeting to head its activities for the forthcoming year were: Mrs William J Murphy, Vice President; Mrs William Worral, re-elected Recording Secretary; Mrs B R Watson, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs Johnny M Rice, Treasurer; and Mrs Grosvenor Fish, Vice Treasurer.

Mrs C F Tank, wife of the Commanding General, Pacific Transportation Terminal Command, is Honorary President of the Club. Advisers are Mrs Alcorn Johnson and Mrs Erman Newman.

Highlighting the special stage show commemorating the Ninth Anniversary of the Presidio Service Club are the talented Apostalis Brothers. (l to r): Bob, Bill and Dave, from the "Braden's Follies" entertainment group.

Local Service Club 9 Years Old Sunday

Nine years ago this Sunday, Gen Mark Clark, former Sixth Army Commander, officially opened the Presidio Service Club.

A birthday celebration marking this anniversary will take place Sunday, beginning at 2000.

Since its official opening, more than a million enlisted personnel and their guests have used its social and recreational facilities.

Among the highlights marking the history of the Club is its being chosen the headquarters for officers signing the Tri Partite Pact between the US, New Zealand and Australia in 1951.

Also in 1951, John Foster Dulles, Dean Acheson and Shigero Yoshida met at the Club to sign the Japanese Non-Aggression Pact.

Over the past nine years, the Presidio Service Club has won two awards in the field of expert programming toward the well-being of military men and women in the Western area.

Since its last birthday, the Club has been completely repainted, and new drapes have been hung throughout most of the building. The main lounge will be completely refurnished by September. The wing which was used to house the old Post library has been turned into a trophy room, as well as a multi-use activities room.

Sunday's anniversary program at the Club includes the awarding of certificates of appreciation to enlisted personnel who have volunteered their services toward the advancement of the Club's over-all mission.

Receiving the awards will be: Pfc Marshal Bain, Pfc Fred Bremmerman, Pvt William R Call, Jr, Sp3 William K Gilden, Sp3 William Gray, Sp3 Daniel Goltz, Sp3 Ronnie C Green, Pfc Sylvia Harwood, Sp3 Lawrence Haugly, Pfc Thomas Henning, Pfc Robert Hoffman, Pfc Richard Jansen, Pvt Rose Mollahan, Pvt Margaret Mollahan, Pvt Ron Nason, Pvt Patrick Seng, Pfc Curtis Sherman, Pfc Walter Silvernale, Pfc Andrea L Stewart, and Sp3 John T Turner.

The awards ceremony will be followed by a special performance of the "Braden's Follies" group, long active as a contributing factor to soldier entertainment at the Club.

The cutting of a huge birthday cake and the serving of refreshments will climax the evening's festivities.

Tickets Being Sold Here For 'On With The Show'

Tickets are now on sale for the musical revue "On With the Show," which will be produced by the Youth Activities Committee on 24-25 July in the Presidio NCO Club. The revue, which is built around a central show business theme and set in Hollywood, is written and directed by Lt Col Thomas E Baker, LAH.

The tickets, 75 cents each, are being sold by representatives in each company, Presidio and Letterman Army Hospital officers' wives at the main PX and Letterman PX, and by teenagers. Proceeds will be used for the Presidio Youth Activities Program.

The 25 member cast includes Burke Pease and Bob Clarke, who play the lead parts, and Brenda Enmeier, Shawn Brownlee, Tom Baker, Jr, and Teddy McPhail in the key roles.

The singers are Sharon Light, Jackie DeWitt, Veronica Grover, Marilyn Baker and Laura Brownlee; John Turner is the tapdancer.

Those in the chorus are Judy Lowe, Mary Anne Brown, Linda Lee Robison, Connie Davis, Sheila Brownlee, Barbara Enmeier, Gwen Clodfelter, Pat Drake, Linda Pryor and Dobbie Barth.

Technical production is being handled by Special Services under the supervision of Harry Helman, Post Entertainment Director.

Special CBR Course Will Start Here Monday

Explosions like this simulated atomic bomb, set off on Baker Beach with Golden Gate Bridge as a backdrop, should be a familiar sight hereabouts after the CBR School opens Monday at Battery Chamberlain.

★★★ Presidio NCOs To Take Radiological Studies

Some 40 hand-picked Presidio NCOs will undergo an extensive CBR training course beginning Monday.

The purpose of the 35-hour course is to train monitor teams with the latest concepts in CBR warfare so that they would be able to meet emergency situations in case of an attack.

The main emphasis will be on the radiological aspects of warfare. These teams, upon graduation, would be the key groups who would advise the Post commander as to the amount of radiation in suspected contaminated areas in case of an atomic attack.

The training will consist of various field exercises, classroom lectures and demonstrations.

Each individual will sample the various types of gasses used in warfare and must be able to identify them.

The class will be divided into two-man teams, each equipped with a jeep, radio and various detection devices. They will be required to go out to designated areas to measure the intensity of suspected radiation and report such information back to the commander.

Included in the demonstrations will be the use of helicopters for air monitoring.

Upon completion of the course, each member must pass a comprehensive examination before becoming a qualified member of the CBR monitor team.

Instructors from the 50th Chemical Platoon, Ft Ord, will supervise the course, along with personnel from the Post Chemical Section.

The training will take place at Battery Chamberlain on Baker Beach.

Civilian Blood Drive Will Start Wednesday

The annual Presidio Civilian Employees Blood Fund drive will begin this year on 23 July when a mobile unit will visit Letterman for a full day at Ward D-2, Bldg 1027.

Established last year in conjunction with Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, the blood fund encompasses all employees serviced by civilian personnel and each year there is a drive to replenish the blood supply.

All civilian employees and members of their families are eligible to draw free blood from the fund each year whether they have donated or not and a member does not have to be in the vicinity to receive blood if an emergency arises.

Last year the drive was held on 14 May with 164 pints of blood being donated.

Anyone desiring to donate to the fund or in need of blood may call John H Conder, Recruiting Coordinator, Ext 2374.

Will Visit Here

Ten Vietnamese officers will visit the San Francisco area in August for observer training in reserve activities.

Their itinerary will include a tour of Hq XV Corps (Res) for orientation and a visit of local National Guard units.

Data Machine

The Ramo-Wooldridge Corporation has been awarded a $13½ million contract for installation and operation of an automatic data processing system at the Army Electronic Proving Ground, Ft Huachuca, Ariz.

$12 Million Goal Set Bay Area Crusade Drive This Year

Goal for the 1958 United Bay Area Crusade has been set for nearly 12 million dollars, but the military's "fair share" is not expected to be announced until sometime next month.

According to a spokesman for the Joint Military Planning Committee, a meeting 1 August of the group will not necessarily establish service goals.

The exact over-all goal for the five-county UBAC area is $11,750,000, or approximately $2,000 more than that set last year. Campaigners in 1957 actually netted only $10,330,000.

Ease Leash Control For Presidio Dogs

Post Regulation No. 30 (Control of Pets), due for release today, will ease the former leash control requirement for dog owners by providing a special free run area in the vicinity of the Julius Kahn Playground.

Although dogs must be attended and under control at all times, they may now be exercised freely in the areas east and west of the playground between Arguello Boulevard and Presidio Boulevard, parallel to West Pacific Avenue and extending north therefrom to a parallel line through the north boundary of the playground.

Lt Col Charles F Helderman,

Post Provost Marshal, stated that the new area will be clearly marked by signs as soon as possible. He also stated that MPs will strictly enforce the requirement that all dogs be on leash when outside of the free run area.

Pet control on the Presidio is a necessary and continuing problem because of the wide variety of small wildlife and the need for their protection; control of rabies; traffic disruption and maintenance of post beautification.

A two-man animal control team from the Post Provost Marshal section keeps a constant check on all pets at the Presidio.

DOD Bans Amateur Firings Of Rockets on Most Bases

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Rocket firing by amateur science groups will be banned at most military installations under a new Defense Department directive.

Although urging Armed Forces commanders to cooperate with amateur rocket clubs and student science organizations in any way short of permitting actual launchings, the new order said "it is necessary as a matter of general policy to limit firing on military installations to those missiles developed by qualified persons to serve a useful scientific purpose."

The reasons for curbing experimental rocketeer shoots at military facilities, according to the DOD directive, are:

- The dangers inherent in the flight testing of explosively propelled projectiles of any size.
- The lack of personnel fully qualified to evaluate properly such proposals at the majority of installations.
- The fact that most Armed Forces reservations are inadequately equipped for such experimental projects.

To encourage scientific pursuits by the youth of the nation, however, commanders may offer speaker programs, film presentations, orientation tours and other related educational cooperation.

Fritzsche Named CG At Ord; Breckinridge Will Join 8th Army

Major General Carl F Fritzsche will take command of the US Army Training Center at Fort Ord in October, Department of the Army announced this week.

He is expected to assume command 15 October, replacing Maj Gen William M Breckinridge, who will be reassigned to Eighth US Army, Korea.

Gen Fritzsche, 55, currently Fifth US Army Chief of Staff, is a West Point graduate (Class of 1928).

New Army Tank Killer Developed; Will Mount Dart On T-113 Carrier

The Army has announced development of a new, highly-effective tank killer which combines the lightweight, aluminum T-113 personnel carrier and the Dart anti-tank missile.

Normally, the Dart is launched from jeep or ground mounts.

Top feature of the combination weapon is that it has, through the missile, a far greater range than tank guns.

The personnel carrier would be manned by a crew of two or three men, plus a driver. The gunner would launch the Dart and guide it to its target, using a periscopic telescopic sight and thus be fully protected by the carrier's armor.

Records are presented to Mary Simons, AAA Mobile Service Club Director, by Christine Johnson of the "Star-Presidian." Each month, if no one guesses the best selling discs from Record Rack, the records are given to a local organization.

The eight isolated Nike sites are not going to be nearly so isolated now that Mary Simons has alighted in our midst.

The new director of the AAA Mobile Service Club is a young girl with blonde hair and blue eyes who hails from Chaska, Minn, but comes to us with 27 valuable months of experience with Special Services in Germany.

Mary is a graduate of the University of Minnesota with a degree in music. Piano was her major instrument, and during her undergraduate years Mary used her piano as a means to many extra-curricular activities. One summer she played in a string trio at a hotel resort. She was a piano teacher for a year, teaching beginners of all ages. And after her college classes, she frequently worked with musical shows on the campus, doing accompanying and solo work.

The opportunity to travel and at the same time to do interesting and worthwhile work attracted Mary to Special Services. Her trip to Germany was her first time abroad. Mary admitted to certain trepidations but said that once she was in the swing of things, when she had met other new girls in Special Services, and her show was on the road and her career begun, she fell into the pace of her new life. Since then, she has loved every minute of it.

"Over in Germany the men really took advantage of the facilities at the club. They needed and enjoyed all the activities we planned for them. I think it is the same at the Nike sites. When a man is on duty status for 24 hours a day, when he doesn't have a pass, he really appreciates the programs our mobile unit brings."

The eight Nike sites Mary travels to are at San Rafael, Angel Island, Lake Chabot, Danville, Tilden Park, Ft Funston, Sharp Park, and Alvarado.

The AAA Mobile Service Club was organized last November, and judging from the looks of things, it is becoming more and more successful. There is a council of enlisted men, a representative from each of the sites, who meet with Mary and discuss plans for bringing entertainment to their locations. Dances and variety shows have proved, by their excellent attendance, to be the most popular.

Local volunteer groups such as the YMCA, American Red Cross Junior Hostesses, and the Jewish Welfare Board offer their services to the AAA Mobile Service Club.

Mary was asked if she follows a schedule in visiting the various sites. "No," she said. "We don't exactly have a schedule. We go around as often as possible, and considering there are eight different locations scattered throughout a 50 mile area, we are kept pretty busy and are out as often as possible."

Explorer I, the free world's first scientific earth satellite, is still going strong. It has traveled an estimated 52 million miles since it was launched January 31.

Its initial perigee and apogee were 223 miles and 1,583 miles, respectively.

Up to now Explorer I has dropped about five miles. The Army estimates its lifetime to be about seven years.

The Department of the Army receives between 250 and 300 work improvement suggestions each quarter-year, amounting to millions of dollars in benefits to the Army. From October through December last year, for example, there were 297 suggestions with $14,315,489 in benefits. — Army Information Digest.

Secretary Brucker:

'Russian Plan Clear!'

Washington (ANS)—The United States is confronted with a world situation today fraught with graver peril than any she has ever before faced, warns Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker.

Addressing U. S. Army officers at Fort McClellan, Alabama, the Army's Secretary said no amount of Soviet sophistry can obscure the plain fact that it is the United States which is the ultimate target of every Soviet plot and action.

He pointed out that the United States is the leader of the nations of the Free World in the mortal struggle against communist aggression, and the most formidable obstacle athwart the communist path to global conquest and the enslavement of all free men.

"Behind the Soviet purpose to destroy us stands the might of the largest mobilized military forces on earth," Mr. Brucker declared. "The Sino-Soviet bloc has more than 8 million men under arms at this very moment. Communist forces include over 400 ground divisions, 500 far-ranging submarines, and more than 25,000 modern aircraft."

The Soviets, he said, are concentrating almost all of their best scientific and engineering talent on the frenzied development and production of ultra-modern weapons and other technological devices in an all-out effort to place in the hands of the plotters of the Kremlin the power to dominate the land, the sea, the air, and even outer space.

"We must recognize that in a time of peace, the Soviet Union is on a war footing," the Secretary emphasized. "Its military might is the clenched fist with which communist leaders have promised to smash us. They are ready and waiting to move in swiftly for the kill if they should ever catch us with our guard down," he warned.

Speed Bonus Pay

Minnesota Sets Plan

Minnesota veterans of the Korean Conflict will be paid state bonuses within a few weeks rather than after the first of the year.

Previously, payments—not to exceed $15 million—were not to be made until January 1959; however, to pump more money into the state's economy, a special session of the Legislature approved the new speed-up plan.

Persons who are eligible for the bonus but who have not yet filed for it must do so prior to 31 December.

For over 180 years now, the American fighting man have lived with the principles of the Code of Conduct engraved in his heart. Each knows, as General Lucian K. Truscott has said, "So long as there is any possibility whatever of continuing the fight, surrender is disgraceful."

14 Sixth Army Civilians Win Outstanding Awards

Maj Gen John J Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, presented a Special Act of Service Award and Department of the Army Suggestion and Superior Performance Award Certificates and checks this week to 14 civilian employees.

The Special Service award and check for $300 was presented to Harry Derflinger, Ordnance Electronic Engineer, who assembled a single reference work of all technical materials relative to maintenance checks on Nike Guided Missile equipment.

Suggestion Award winners were Joseph Westbrook, Engineer Section Equipment Specialist, who earned two awards. He received $300 for his suggested "Metered Orifice Type Check Valve" for Nike elevator systems. His second award, $25, was for suggested "Colored Operating Diagrams for Nike Hydraulic and Electrical Circuits."

Other winners were William Shawler, Engineer Real Estate Officer, $15 for suggested "Elimination of routing Federal Register" in the Engineer Section; Esther Wasserman, Adjutant General Section Supervisory Program Assistant, $10 for suggested

"Change in placement of paper towel dispenser in ladies lounge;" Agnes Miller, Comptroller Section Fiscal Accounting Clerk, $10 for a "Safety Device" making working conditions safer for employees.

Superior Performance Award Certificates and checks, based on "Outstanding" rating were presented to two G3 Reserve Division employees: Ulric Reynolds, Administrative Officers, $200, and Marie Morgan, Clerk-typist, $100.

Other Performance Award winners included: Hirouki Nakaji, Transportation Section General Supply Officer, $200; Mildred Christopherson, G2 Section Supervisory Personnel Security Specialist, $200; Abraham Freeburg, Adjutant General Section Supervisor Administrator Assistant, $200; Nellie Maita and Eleanor Knowles, AG Section Administrative Services Division File Supervisor, each of whom received $100; Beverly Smith, G2 Personnel Security Specialist, $100; and Arlene Yerkes, Secretary, San Francisco Bay Area Industrial Security Field Office, $100.

German Officer Here

A German officer, Maj Johannes Gerber, will visit the Presidio Monday to become more acquainted with the management problems of an US Army Hq within the US, with particular emphasis on logistics. Officers from G-4, Sixth US Army, will escort the major on his tour. His visit is being officially sponsored by the Government of the Federal Republic of Germany.

Name Change

The Army's top Western test area has been redesignated White Sands (NM) Missile Range. Previously, the Class II activity, which is under the jurisdiction of the Chief of Ordnance, was called White Sands (NM) Proving Ground. The redesignation was effected by DA General Orders 14, 1958.

Recently Assigned

Recently assigned to the 9th AAA Msl Bn is 1/Lt DANIEL M FLEMING. Lt Fleming will be assigned to C Battery at San Rafael. The Lt came to the 9th Bn from the 3rd Inf. at Fort Myer, Virginia. Lt Fleming is a graduate from George Washington University, where he was member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. He is married and has two children, and he and his wife, Rebecca, will reside at 492 Calle Arboleda, Novato, California.

1/Lt JOHN H McMAHON, Missile Office of the 9th AAA Msl Bn, has recently been assigned to the 30th Group as their Missile Officer. While at the 9th Bn, Lt McMahon received a Commendation Ribbon for his outstanding service in the Army. Lt McMahon helped greatly in the success of the 9th Bn at Red Canyon Annual Practice. At the present time the McMahons reside in Mill Valley, California.

Recently assigned to the 9th AAA Msl Bn is WO WILLIAM ROARK. Before he was assigned to the 9th Bn WO Roark was an instructor at Fort Bliss at the USAARD School. He will be the Assistant Fire Control Maintenance Officer at C Battery, San Rafael. He and his wife, Ethel, and their two sons will reside at Novato, California.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Holcomb-Niccoll

Attending the 77th annual American Library Association Convention in San Francisco this week are staff librarians from US Army Commands all over the world. At one of their informal gatherings at the Presidio the Inquiring Reporter was present to ask the following:

QUESTION: Have you noted any major changes recently in military reading habits?

ANSWERS

Miss Dorothy Goddard, Staff Librarian for the 8th US Army: No, I can't say that I have. The reading interests in Korea and Japan are about equally divided between non-fiction and fiction. The subject interests run about the same as in the US and there is a great deal of interest in all phases of history, the Far East and the sciences. Also, men there are just as interested in reading the best sellers as men are here in the US.

Mrs Virginia Chaney, Staff Librarian for the Alaskan Command: I feel that there is a greater call for more serious and career type books. Command wide there has been a strong trend to reading non-fiction material.

The men are becoming more interested in studying such subjects as math, history and the sciences. They are also reading more material covering their own jobs and skills.

Mrs Mildred Hammond, Staff Librarian for the First US Army: The change I have noticed is that there is a great deal more emphasis on studying, especially among enlisted men on isolated sites. Five book-mobiles will soon be in operation to carry to these men the materials they want and need. I have found that interest is almost equally divided between fiction and non-fiction books.

Miss Barbara Bronson, Staff Librarian for the Third Army: Reading habits among military personnel are improving all the time. The men and women are becoming much more interested in books which will further their careers. Lately there has been much more emphasis on non-fiction reading materials which will help the men in their studies.

400 NG Missilemen Start Active Tour With 30th Group Here

Nearly 400 National Guard missilemen this week started two weeks of active duty summer training with various elements of the 30th Arty Gp (Air Def).

The 375 EM are slated to spend the fortnight receiving on-the-job training at the various Bay Area Nike sites; 22 officers, in two groups, will alternately complete studies at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School here and undergo on-the-job training.

All NG personnel are assigned to the 728th AAA Msl Bn (NG).

Units of the 30th which will assist in training of the Guardsmen are Btry B and D, 9th AAA Msl Bn; Btry C, 441st AAA Msl Bn; and Btry A, C and D, 740th AAA Msl Bn.

176 Capehart Units Due Completion At Ft Ord On Monday

A serious housing shortage at Ft Ord is expected to be alleviated Monday when 176 new Capehart units are expected to be completed and made available for occupancy.

The remainder of units in the 546-building project slated to furnish quarters for 900 families are expected to be finished by December.

The development, which will cost $14 million, will house families of 342 officers and 558 EM. The units will boost the Ord total to 2,783 units, 114 of which have been deemed "inadequate."

Star Presidian Staff Writer

Specialist Third Class Judy Hudson, WAC of the Month, began making history the day she joined the Women's Army Corps.

Judy and her brother, Joel, a paratrooper, on 27 Feb, 1957 became the third brother and sister team in the history of the Army to go completely through processing and be sworn into the service together.

During basic training at Ft McClellan the blue eyed redhead again made herself a place in the annals of the Army by becoming Outstanding Trainee of her platoon.

Needless to say, the honors for this 5 foot 2 inch pert beauty did not stop there.

Following the completion of basic she went to school at Ft Gordon, Ga, and was not only the only girl among 500 men but was also in the top ten per cent of her class.

The 20-year-old WAC is eligible for the Feb class at OCS but as yet is undecided as to whether she will go or not.

Daughter of Mr and Mrs Joel Hudson, Las Vegas, now a post librarian, Judy studied for a political science major at Ventura College before entering the service.

In a "state of shock" when she was told she had been selected as WAC of the Month, the popular young girl plans to wait until her brother gets a leave before taking her three-day pass. She says they have no definite plans but will spend the time together.

An Ojai High School graduate, Judy likes books, music, and is "mad about baseball!" She attends all of the games played by the Presidio WAC's and is even their star rooter at practice sessions.

Happy Winner

COPY DEADLINE WEDNESDAY NOON

Now, the whole family are citizens. Three-and-a-half old adopted twins Evelyn Ann and Hans (John) of M/Sgt and Mrs Loderick E Warr, shown here with their mother and father and Federal Judge Albert C Wallenberg, were born in West Germany, but have been in the United States for two years. They were given a private audience by Judge Wallenberg after naturalization proceeding here recently.

Court's Dignity Intact After Twin Assault

Peeking around the crowded room—tittering and tugging—little Hans and Ann didn't understand what the big man in the black gown was saying, but they both instinctively knew it had something to do with them and their mother and father and this place where they lived, America.

Delighted whenever he met with an approving glance in the sea of faces, young Hans would mumble "flag" and point to the hanging banner, proud that he had found an identification with the somber proceedings.

But, this formal business of naturalization passed from young minds when, after the ceremony had ended and the crowd had left, the man in the robes invited them into his chambers. Their restless energy exploded and they pounded the gowned man's oversize gavel and fingered his austere robes and used ponderous tomes from his library for building blocks.

These were the reactions of Loderick Hans (John) and Evelyn Ann Warr, three-and-a-half year old twins, when they became United States citizens Tuesday. Their kindly benefactor was, of course, Albert C Wollenberg, US District Judge for the Northern District of California, who highlighted the political transition of the youngsters during the mass naturalization in Federal Court.

Son and daughter of M/Sgt and Mrs Loderick E Warr, the youngsters were adopted in 1955 in their native Germany and brought to the United States when they were only 11 months old.

M/Sgt Warr, Operations Sergeant in the Sixth ARADCOM G3

National Guard Division, and his wife, Blanche, had contemplated adopting only one child, but when they saw the twins in a Kaiserslautern orphanage, the middle-aged couple "fell in love" with the tots at first sight.

The babies' mother consented to the adoption because their father's disappearance, presumably behind the Iron Curtain, just before their birth had left her without means to support them.

The formalities of giving the twins a new mother and father, handled by a German and an American lawyer in compliance with West German law, was completed after six months and shortly thereafter the children were on their way "home" to the United States.

The youngsters, both with blue eyes and reddish hair and a vast store of bubbling energy, are almost identical in looks; but, there the similarity ends. Ann shows a quick humor; her brother looks more solemnly on life.

Hans, incidentally, is the only son in the elder Warr's generation. M/Sgt and Mrs Warr already have planned professional careers for the fairytale twins from Germany, two of America's youngest adopted citizens.

There are still some among you who have not yet entered this chance of a life time contest. Just think! You too might win a record! There is nothing to lose. All you daredevils have to do is fill out the coupon below and send it to the Star Presidian, Bldg 87A. Records will be awarded to the lucky winner, courtesy of Discount Records, 262 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Here on record is a man whom the Russians fondly christened with the sobriquet "Vanyusha." Such a distinguished appellation belongs to none other than that titanic Texan Van Cliburn. Last April the 23-year-old pianist won the International Tchaikovsky competition in Moscow. His victory was astounding. Never in recent years had any pianist won such acclaim. Now he has brilliantly recorded the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto #1 in B Flat minor. The strength in his hands is Herculean. His flawless technique expresses his total comprehension of the Russian soul.

Of a somewhat different nature is a release by ABC Paramount. TV's Wyatt Earp, Hugh O'Brian, voices some western folk lore. "On Boot Hill" is a sort of ballad depicting the killings in Dodge City. The killings mounted to such a tremendous toll that most victims were literally buried with their boots on. The cemetery thus became known as Boot Hill. Other selections are "Don't Move," "Pale Horse," and "I'm Walking Away."

Disneyland Records, with Leopold Stokowsky and the Philadelphia Orchestra, has released the music from Disney's Fantasia. Included in the selections are Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D minor, the Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikovsky, the Sorcerer's Apprentice, the Rite of Spring by Stravinsky, Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony, Dance of the Hours by Ponchielli, Night on Bald Mountain by Moussorgsky, and Schubert's Ave Maria.

Finance Workers Set Check Speed Record

Something of a modern day miracle and efficiency speed record was established last week by the office of civilian pay under the direction of Lt Col Louis C Mulvaney, post finance and accounting officer.

On the afternoon of the 30th, notice was received that retroactive payment checks to current civilian employees within the three major commands could be prepared immediately.

What would normally have taken a three-month period with considerable overtime was accomplished in only two days.

At the time of notification, only a non-tested procedure had been established.

Employees within the office, including those from other branches, volunteered overtime, "at a great inconvenience to themselves. In a matter of seconds, they all became a unified working unit," said Col Mulvaney.

Some individuals volunteered to work on what proved to be a nearly round the clock basis.

In commending the efficiency of his workers, Col Mulvaney said, "As always, the finance personnel of this office has demonstrated by team work that it can accomplish what many would consider to be impossible, for example—Operation Immediate—Civilian Retroactive Pay."

More than 4,250,000 residents live in the 13-county Bay Region centering at San Francisco, according to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

QM General Says New Developments Now Being Tested

The Quartermaster General of the Army, Major General A T McNamara, told guests at a recent Quartermaster Association meeting that the Army is developing and testing new uniforms, forklifts, shoes and rations.

He described a forklift which is designed for beach landing operations in any terrain, including mud and snow. Uniforms under test include protective clothing and continued development of irradiated food processing is being made.

Presidio WAC Pair First To Attend AD School

Two Presidio WACs this week became the first lady soldiers to enroll in the San Francisco Army Air Defense School NCO Command Course.

Sp2 Sylvia R Bernardini and Sp3 Ethel V Daily, both assigned to D Co, USAG, began classes this past Monday with 33 men.

The four-week class, which is the second at SFAADS, is designed to develop in NCOs and potential NCOs the ability to recognize and assume responsibilities commensurate with NCO standards and to instill in them confidence to apply technical knowledge and leadership techniques required of their office.

The first class graduated 7 June; no more than 40 persons may be accommodated in a single class.

Sp2 Bernardini, stationed at the Presidio since May 1954, is a veteran of seven years' service and is currently assigned for duty in the Sixth US Army Engineer Section. Her home is in the Bronx, NY.

A four-year veteran, SP3 Daily works for the Presidio Provost Marshal and has been at the Presidio since May 1957. She lives in Newport, Wash.

NCO Open Messes Will Seek Quality, Quantity In New Plan

"Bigger membership in the interests of better NCO Open Messes at the Presidio and its branches!"

This is the slogan of the newly-elected Board of Governors, the members of which sailed in on a veritable landslide of popular votes during the recent election.

Sparked by command emphasis on the social and recreational advantages of full club membership, Presidio soldiers, with those of the local Army Air Defense and other units, turned out to form a large and enthusiastic voting group.

The new Board of Governors of the NCO Open Messes, conducts its first meeting Monday

21 July, at which time will be discussed a remodeling and redecorating project currently in the hands of contractors. Other matters to be determined during the Board meeting will be large-scale entertainment plans slanted toward sustained interest in the clubs as a meeting place for servicemen and women and their friends. The extent and quality of the entertainment program depend however, mainly on the active interest of members themselves, since funds allocation is determined by the size of the membership.

New members of the Board of Governors for the Presidio Open Mess and its branches are as follows:

M/Sgt Charles E Pfusch, Hqs XV Corps, President; M/Sgt Mitchell Pradivico, Secretary; M/Sgt Loderick E Warr, 6th Region ARADCOM Entertainment Chairman; M/Sgt Lee A Nichols, Hqs Special Troops, 6th US Army, M/Sgt James C Coleman, 537th Engineer Company, Ft Scott, M/Sgt Frank Datner, Hqs Company US Army Garrison, M/Sgt Gus Wendt, C Company, US Army Garrison, Sfc Debra O'Hanlon, WAC, D Company, US Army Garrison, Sfc Othello F Carr, 58th MRU; Sp1 Steven D Greene, 561st Engineer Company, Ft Baker, and Sgt William R Morris, 87th Ordnance, Presidio of SF.

Army librarians from all over the world were in town this week for the American Library Association Conference, so naturally they dropped by the Presidio to take a look at one of the nation’s best systems. Here they pose for a picture during an informal conference at the Sixth Army Reference Library.

Top Army Librarians Here For Convention

Miss Agnes Crawford, Senior Library Advisor, Office of the Adjutant General, Department of the Army, was among the notables attending the conference of the American Library Association this week.

Miss Crawford, who is actually head of the Army Library Program of Special Services, has been in Special Services since 1941.

“The Army libraries have a double purpose,” she said.

“The Army is cognizant of the need for improving the education level of military personnel of all ranks. Army libraries and librarians have a major part in this progress of education, for we have the responsibility of providing reading matter required by the personnel in pursuing their education.

“The second purpose,” Miss Crawford said in her slight southern accent, “is to assist those who are trying to specialize in a particular field.

“During this convention, we are having an interchange of ideas and making them become more realistic.”

Miss Crawford went on to say that the Army libraries, which is the largest system of libraries in the world, provides an up to date service. In addition, she said that more than simple reading service is involved. Frequently librarians are asked to procure inaccessible material. This is done through an inter-library loan.

A high educational standard is demanded of Army librarians. They must have a degree in library science or a bachelor of arts degree with at least an additional 30 hours in library science.

Church Sked Change

Protestant Services formerly conducted at Ft Barry and Ft Baker Chapels will be combined into one service and beginning this Sunday will conducted at 1100 hours in the Ft Baker Chapel.

Also starting this week Sunday School at Ft Cronkhite will be held at 0930 hours.

THE BADLANDERS—An action loaded outdoor drama of two men who meet as fellow inmates of the territorial prison in Yuma, Ariz, and who, on their release, join forces in a daring plot to rob a mine of $200,000 worth of gold ore.

FLAMING FRONTIER—A half-Indian Army officer opposes an unscrupulous Indian agent in a desperate struggle to avert a Sioux uprising in the West during the Civil War.

THE LITTLE HUT—This is the hilarious tale of three people marooned on a desert island. They comprise a beautiful girl; the girl’s husband, who takes her too much for granted; and the husband’s best friend, who comes up with a preposterous plan for sharing her love. . . strictly within the bounds of legality. The girl plays along with the scheme, but she has ideas of her own, and her feminine stratagems make it an enjoyable triangle comedy.

Musical Comedy Should Swell Youth Fund Till

“On With the Show,” the Second Annual Youth Activities program, will be presented at the Presidio NCO Club on the evenings of 24 and 25 July.

The show, which encompasses a wide variety of talent, is being produced and participated in by members of youth groups and those interested in the various youth activities at LAH.

All proceeds from the tickets, available at 75c, will go to the Youth Activities Group which in turn sponsors such groups as the Teen Age Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Little League.

Both acts of the performance transpire in the office of a Hollywood agent and into his office come aspirants to the entertainment business, some with talent, some with personality and all with “character.”

This galaxy of Hollywood “characters” includes high level talent such as singers, dancers, instrumentalists and a chorus line combined with comedy characters like the “washed up” comedian and the actress trying to make a comeback.

A comedy of errors on the part of young starlets who mistake the office boy for the agent helps to heighten the situation.

Tickets for the show, written and directed by Lt Col Thomas E Baker, are being sold by representatives in each company and by the Presidio and LAH officers’ wives at the main and LAH PX’s.

Army Talent Highlights Sullivan Show On Sunday

First place winners and other selected acts of the 1958 All-Army Entertainment Contest Grand Finals will appear on the Ed Sullivan TV Show, 20 July at 2000.

This is the fifth year in which the Army has had the opportunity to feature its outstanding talent over nation-wide television.

The Sixth Army will be represented Sunday night by the Kavanaugh Twins at Ft Ord who do a song and dance act; the Fourth-Fifths Quartet from Ft Huachuca, composed of Sp2 Charles Revelos, Sp2 William Belden, Sp3 Richard Bowen and Sp3 Thomas Dee; and the 8th Infantry Bullets from Ft Lewis. Members of the rifle drill team are Sp3 Willie Homes, Sp3 James Fletcher, and Pfc Roy Huff.

All are invited to watch the show on the television sets at the Presidio and Ft Baker Service Clubs.

Toreros Win NorCal Championship

Gritts, Sawyer Shine; Seek State Title Next

The Torero baseball team added another brilliant laurel to their record this week when they defeated the El Cerrito Hatzell Radio nine, 4-1, to win the Northern California semi-pro baseball title.

Southpaw Roger Sawyer, former Hollywood PCL hurler, led the Toreros to their final win with a terrific pitching performance after only one day of rest.

The Presidian allowed his opposition only three hits and was never in serious trouble.

Charlie Gritts led the team in hitting with two for three, and emerged as the top hitter for the locals during the five-day tourney with nine hits.

The Toreros moved towards the title by winning Saturday against Waterloo A.C. of Stockton, by the score of 6-5, behind another fine pitching performance by Sawyer who pitched for eight innings before being overcome by the 90-degree weather. He was relieved by Wes Stock who retired the last batter with the tying run on third base.

On Sunday the Toreros moved two steps closer by sweeping a doubleheader. In the first game, which went only five innings due to a tournament rule which states that a team with a nine-run lead after five innings was automatically the winner, the Presidians walloped Southern Pacific Store, 10-0.

West Stock, who won the opening game for the Toreros with a no-hitter, won his second game of the tourney as he held the opposition scoreless for five innings. The Presidian has not given up a run in 14 innings.

In the second game, which moved them into the finals, the Toreros had to come from behind to edge Mitchell Paints of Oakland, 8-7.

Big Gene Lippold, making his first start in the tournament, pitched fine ball for seven innings, and then was relieved by Sawyer.

With the locals trailing 5-2 going into the last of the seventh, the never-say-die Toreros rallied for five big runs.

In the eighth inning, the Presidians scored the winning tally on a double by Gritts, who stole third, and later scored on Dick Satalick's fly ball to center field.

As a result of winning the championship, the Toreros advanced to the state finals which open next Wednesday at Lodi.

Tomorrow, the locals journey to Alameda to compete in the Oakland City tournament. In the first game, they tangle with the Southern Pacific Stores, whom they walloped at Pittsburg, at Washington Park, beginning at 1430 hours.

Btry C Wins Trophy For Outstanding Sports Participation

Btry C, 740th AAA Msl Bn (NIKE) at Sharp Park, California has been awarded the Battalion Commanders Trophy for sports participation for the second straight time.

This is a semiannual award given to the Battery which scores the highest aggregate of points. Points are prorated for first, second and third places in individual and team results in all sports. This includes one-day tournaments as well as full length, league activities.

Btry C amassed a total of 628 points in the six month period, compared to its nearest rival, Btry B with a total of 551.

Lost To Baseball

Cricket, which was imported to the US from England in 1747, seem destined at first to become the national game of the United States; but the game soon lapsed in favor of the faster and more immediately-concluded game that became American baseball.

LL Champions To Play In District Tourney

The Giants, who won the Golden Gate Little League championship two weeks ago, are all set again for action as they await the opening of the District Tournament, which is the first step towards the Little World Series.

Seven other teams from neighboring communities will participate in the sudden death playoff, which begins on Friday, 1 August.

In the first round, the Giants will tangle with a representative from San Rafael at the local Little League field beginning at 1800.

If they succeed, they will go on to Petaluma to play the second round on 2 August, with the championship game slated for the following Tuesday at Fairfax.

During an awards ceremony last Sunday, the Giants were presented with the Pop Hicks Memorial Trophy and each member was given a gold pin.

Also at the ceremony, the annual all-star team was announced, comprised of four members from each of the four teams.

They were: Bill Ameral, Pete Van Tassel, Mark Dickerson and Mike Atterbery of the Giants; Royal Druba, Rusty Coleman, Mike Thuss and George Yount of the Cards; Mike Corum, Ronnie Golden, James Martinez and Kenneth Teasdale of the Yanks; Murray Jacobs, Steve Thompson, Charles Siegfried and Ted Sharp of the Cubs.

Each member was given a gold pin and an autographed baseball.

Bolt Wins Wrist Slap

"Terrible" Tommy Bolt has been cleared by the PGA to play in the championship tournament at Havertown, Pa., today. By placing Bolt on indefinite probation, for conduct during play in the Pepsi Open at Long Island, N.Y., the executive committee may have gone against popular feeling that a year's suspension was in order. The Tournament will be televised on Saturday and Sunday over a local network.

Soldier Fencers Set

Two soldiers have won berths on the U.S. Fencing team as the result of competition in the national championships at New York. Pvt Laurence Anastasi and Lt Herman Velasco won their spots for fourth place finishes in the epee and foil respectively.

Pony League Play Will Resume; Set New Player Regs

The Presidio Pony League resumes play after a two-week interval between halves on Tuesday at 1800 hours with a contest between the Dodgers and Tigers.

Tryouts for any of the teams will be held tomorrow at 1300 hours at the league field located off Lincoln Blvd near the 25th Ave gate.

Any boy at the Presidio who meets the age qualification, between 12½ and 15½ and has an approved application from his parents is eligible to play for the league.

Boys who participated in the Golden Gate Little League, which concluded play last week and have reached the age limit are encouraged to tryout.

The ten top hitters during the first half of play were Mike Zifcak, Braves, .375; Tom Delaney, Dodgers, .375; Cecil Harrison, Pirates, .346; Curt Wahll, Dodgers, .333; Steve Lowe, Dodgers, .333; Burke Pease, Pirates, .318; Tom Mlakar, Braves, .300; Don Froehle, Pirates, .273; Ken Higdon, Pirates, .269; and Larry McFarlin, Dodgers, .250.

The Dodgers, who finished the first half in the cellar, ironically were the best hitting club with a team average of .251.

Top Ten Rating

Shasta Lake, Shasta County, is rated among the nation's "100 Best Bass lakes," in a featured article in Outdoor Life for July.

Distaff Nine Win Easy Victory Over Alameda Hellkittens

The Presidio WAC Softball team added another win to their list Monday night when they defeated the Alameda Hellkittens, 13-4. Winning pitcher was Sp2 Mary Willard.

Going into the second half of league play, the local ladies are determined to add nothing but wins to their 4 win 2 loss record.

As the league stands now the Presidio is tied for first place with Hamilton AFB, Mather AFB and Ft Ord.

Spectators are urged to come out and cheer the girls on next Tuesday when they meet OAT at 1730 on the PX field here.

Fishing Looking Up

Whether it's bass, salmon, or even the wily trout you seek this weekend you have a better than ever chance of taking a limit, according to local fishing experts.

In the trout department, the State Fish and Game has announced they will stock many local lakes and streams with catchable trout for the weekend anglers. And streams and lakes in the high country are said to be producing steadily.

In bass, black that is, Clear Lake and Shasta and most other favorite spots are producing and should get better on the wane of the moon. Salmon are running steadily again and most boats are bringing home limits.

Big Bass Bag

Ocean striped bass fishing in the SF area has not been merely exceptional this year—it has been sensational, according to a report from the Department of Fish and Game. This year, from the 1958 tagging program alone, the Department has counted 10 tags turned in by beach side anglers. Previously, only two tags had been turned in since the tagging program began.

Summer Bowling League Rolls On; Leaders Maintain Pace

Hq Co Sixth Army, leaders in the Pacific Summer Bowling League, postponed their game this week with the fourth place Regioners.

The AAA Sparks forfeited four games to the Comptrollers, who bowled their games with Routen high scorer, 513-182.

Millburn, with 458-156, led the Retorts to a 4-0 victory over the seventh place Honor Guards. The best the losers could muster was Jackson's 409-150.

Third place Hq Co Sixth Army No 2 and the cellar dwelling Mail Maulers split, 2-2, with Stabile of Hq rolling 512-190 and Stephens racking 500-178 for the Maulers.

During Presidio Bowling League matches the Keystone Kops rolled over the Islanders, 4-0, with Johnson for the Kops racking up a high for the week of 558-197. Top kegger for the losers was Caddes, who fired a 492-167.

Palomares, with 526-179, for the Kingpins could not compete with the 564-216 of Opozda, who helped the Shafters gain a 4-0 win.

Hq Sixth Army forfeited their game with the SFAADS and Schweizhard topped the winning keglers with 389-133.

Ogle, 515-187, was high for the 60th CI Det as they trampled the Toros, whose high score was Havrilla's 508-180, 3-1.

Jacobs Shoots Near Record Score Here

Post champion Sfc Murray Jacobs, in warmup for the Sixth Army Finals, almost set a new high at the Presidio course this week when he posted a sensational 31-33-64 in a practice round of golf.

Witnessed by Capt Leon Bressant, Alex Sutton, and Calvin Johnson, the expert Jacobs had ten birdies, two bogies and six pars in his red-hot round.

Since the Presidio sergeant was not playing in competition, his score will not go as a course record, which is 65, first posted by a former Presidio soldier, Dick Yost in 1955 while playing in the Sixth Army Tournament.

The official record of 65 was equalled only last month by pro Bud Sullivan of Sacramento in the PGA qualifying.

Last year, another former Presidian, Allwyn Pirtle, set the all-time high for the local course when he shot a 63. His score too was unofficial since he was not playing in competition.

Jacobs, along with Capt George J Reuss and Col Harold Browning, will leave this weekend for Ft Lewis to represent the Presidio in the Sixth Army finals scheduled to begin Monday.

Your Vote Important

The Office of Armed Forces Information and Education, DOD, and the States have joined forces to help persons who, by virtue of their service in the Armed Forces, will be absent from their legal voting places in this general election year.

This voting series will guide you as to your state's particular absentee voting laws. Space limitations prohibit detailed information and the series will be general in this respect; it is for guidance only.

For further information, always consult your local voting officer.

Guam—Registration in Guam is permanent unless you failed to vote in the last general election. Servicemen automatically become registered upon applying for an absentee ballot.

To apply, fill out a Federal Post Card Application and mail it to the election commissioner not more than 60 days before and not less than five days before election day.

Mark ballot promptly and return in sufficient time to enable the election commissioner to deliver it personally to the proper precinct board before election day.

Tennessee—Servicemen become registered automatically when they apply for an absentee ballot.

Utah—Servicemen are registered automatically upon filing for an absentee ballot.

South Carolina — Servicemen may register by mail in South Carolina. Application for absentee ballot does not automatically register a service man. To register request a Registration Card from your county board of registration.

Indiana—Registration in Indiana is permanent provided you vote in each general election. Members of the Armed Forces may apply for registration when they apply for an absentee ballot. A registration request must be received by voting officials not later than 29 days before primary or general elections.

New York — Members of the Armed Forces are automatically registered by election officials when they file an absentee ballot.

North Carolina—Members of the Armed Forces are registered automatically when election officials receive their request for an absentee ballot.

Oregon—Members of the Armed Forces are registered automatically when election officials receive their request for an absentee ballot.

South Dakota—Members of the Armed Forces are automatically registered by election officials when their application for an absentee ballot is received.

Wins AAA Golf Title

M/Sgt J W Himes has captured the 47th Air Defense Artillery Brigade open golf tournament by a single stroke. Himes shot a 235 over the 54-hole tournament route to nose out CWO Ray Terry. 2nd Lt Donald L. Wineman was third in the tourney, while M/Sgt James L. Myers grabbed fourth place.

21st Blasts LAH 11-0 In Softball Playoffs

Four teams remain in the Post play-offs as play swings into its final days.

The power-laden 21st Engr, still undefeated in tournament play, walloped LAH this week, 11-0, to move into the finals.

Curve artist Nick Themely once again displayed his talent for winning games by throwing a two hitter. Fernandez and Kornaga led the 21st in hitting, as both collected a home run apiece.

As a result of their loss, LAH moved into the loser's bracket and was scheduled to play the winner of the Tng Gp-Honor Guard tussle this week. The winner of that game will move into the finals against the 21st.

Sixth RAADCOM was eliminated from play as a result of a forfeit game.

The other hopeful, the 194th Ord Det, lost in the first round to LAH, and then was disqualified on the second round by the Honor Guard.

Seattle Officer Leads Play In First Round RAADCOM Golf Play

After one round of golf in this week's Sixth RAADCOM Tournament being held at the Presidio course, Capt Weinard of Seattle leads in the open division with a four above par 76.

In team play, the Seattle Conference leads with a total of 425, followed by San Francisco with 437 and Los Angeles with 447.

Play concludes today.

Sky Diver Seventh

Sp2 Danny Byard finished seventh in the recently completed parachuting competition in Vancouver, British Columbia. He was one of seven soldiers to compete in the events. Five of the top finalists will go to Czechoslovakia for the world meet. Should an alternate have to be called for, Danny stands a good chance to go.

Post Nine Draws Zilch In Two Rock Standoff

After placing second in the class A City league for the first half of play, the Post softball team was scheduled to begin the second half last night against the tough 2400 club.

In a practice game last week, the locals and the Two Rock Ranch nine played to a 1-1 tie.

Big Ed Johnson pitched a five-hitter and led the Presidians in hitting with two for three.

A return game has been scheduled between the two teams for 25 July at 1400 on the Ft. Scott diamond.

In addition to competing in the city league, the Post team schedules games with other local teams.

On Monday they are slated to tangle with Alameda Naval Air Station. On Tuesday they travel to Redwood City to play the Merchants, and return the next day to face Oakland Army Terminal at the latter's field.

Every Thursday evening they play a scheduled league game. Next week they will pit their talent against the newly-formed 740th AAA Msl Bn nine who just entered the league.

An Old Sport

Dog racing traces its history back to ancient times, when dogs of high speed, such as Whippets, Greyhounds, Afghans, and others, were used to track down animals that had food value.

The Department of Fish and Game warned this week that wardens are on constant watch for fishermen who break regulations concerning bag limits, minimum sizes, and type gear used; and, naturally, they are checking for anglers without licenses.

Bowling, often called America's top indoor sport with its 20,000,000 participants, dates back to ancient Germany, where the practice originally was part of a religious ceremony.

K.C. Jones Signs To Play Football With LA Ram Club

Former University of San Francisco basketball great, K.C. Jones, did a complete about face this week as he prepared to leave the Army at Ft Leonard Wood with the announcement that he would join the professional Los Angeles Rams football team.

Jones had previously announced, in the spring, that he had turned down a pro football offer to sign with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association.

Due to report on 17 July, Jones will be tested as a defensive half-back. Although Jones never played college football, he was an outstanding prospect during high school play.

An All-American at USF in '56, he went on to aid the U.S. in its successful quest for the Olympic title. During his tour at Ft Leonard Wood he has been outstanding in hoop play, leading the Hilltoppers to a fourth place in the National AAU finals and winning an individual AAU All-American title.

Horses were non-existent in North America until the arrival of Cortez in 1519 when he brought with him horses from Spain, most of them Arabians or Barbs.

Army Will Not Release Old Ft Point

★ ★ ★ Any Plan Must Consider Continued Need For Control

Historic Ft Point will remain under Army control, it was learned this week, despite the fact members of the California Park Commission are expected, during a meeting today in Santa Cruz, to discuss conversion of the century-old Presidio landmark into a State park or monument.

A statement issued from Sixth US Army Headquarters Wednesday reiterated that "this Headquarters does not plan to release Ft Point to any other Federal agency or to the State or to a private agency."

However, the official release indicates that the door is open to groups outside the Army to provide, if they wish, funds for restoration and maintenance of the fort.

Stipulating that Sixth Army does not have any official approved plan for renovation of the structure, the release did announce that a group of private citizens has prepared a plan which proposes, in summary, "that a non-profit association or organization of private citizens raise the funds necessary for the restoration of Ft Point and for the establishment and maintenance of a museum which will be open to the public but (which) will be under the control of the Army."

Historic Ft Point at the South end of Golden Gate Bridge is being considered as a California park or monument by State officials, but Sixth US Army says it will not be released to another Federal agency or to State or private agencies. Restoration of the landmark by outside sources, however, is being considered. Here are two views of the fort, completed in 1861, left, before Golden Gate Bridge was erected, and right, a recent photo.

"The Army," it continued, "will probably support this project to the extent its limited means will permit" after detailed plans, now under study by the civilian group, are submitted for consideration.

The release did not further identify the group or name members of it.

However, the Army will not enter into any agreement which would restrict its use of or access to the premises of the fort; interfere with accomplishment of the Army's mission, or pose a security threat; bind the Army to furnish specified funds or labor; or make the Government liable for claims for property damage or bodily injury or death.

According to Everett E Powell,

Supervisor of Lands for the State Division of Beaches and Parks, the commissioners only plan to consider assumption of Ft Point by the State as a "future possibility." No State money has been allocated for such a project.

The Park Commission "consideration" follows on the heels of a recommendation last spring by the City of San Francisco that the fort be made a national monument. Thus far, no congressional action has been taken on the suggestion.

Also in September, 1947, Gen Mark Clark, then newly-assigned Sixth Army Commander, announced the historic old fort had outlived its usefulness and that he would recommend that it be maintained as a national monument.

Ft Point, declared obsolete in 1905 and abandoned in 1914 when more modern gun emplacements were completed at Ft Scott, was used in World War II as a spotting point for submarines.

Currently, the grounds surrounding the fort are open to the public. Until recently, tours of the interior of the structure attracted up to 14,000 visitors annually. The tours, however, were cancelled when certain areas of the fort were declared unsafe.

Significant historically, the present fortification is the third to occupy the rocky spit overlooking the Golden Gate channel to San Francisco Bay.

The first, an adobe structure, was built in 1794, 18 years after the site was selected as a camp by the first Spanish soldiers to explore this area. Embrasures in its 10-foot thick walls contained eight bronze guns, cast during the 17th Century in Lima, Peru. Six of these guns may be seen today: two flank the entrance to the Presidio Officers' Club, two others adorn the Presidio grounds, and the other two are at Ft Mason.

The adobe fort was rebuilt in 1816 with brick and stone masonry; six years later it was taken over by the Mexican Government.

In 1853, three years after California joined the Union, plans were made for a new fort. Work started the following year. The old fort was razed and the 100-foot cliff on which it stood was cut away to solid rock 16 feet above water. Ft Point was erected along the lines of Ft Sumpter in Charleston, SC; it is a rough quadrangle 250 feet long, 150 feet wide and 54 feet high, with walls seven feet thick. New Hampshire granite was shipped around the Horn for the piers around the central court and for the floors. The fort was completed in 1861.

When it was abandoned in 1914 after 60 years' service, not a single shot had been fired from it at an enemy. Grim, forbidding and formidable, it served its purpose simply by being there, a silent sentinel of the Golden Gate.

SFC Michael Demeduk (1), recently assigned MP Desk Sergeant from the 163d MP Co, is presented a Certificate of Achievement by Col Charles G Rau, Presidio Commander. The Certificate was for "outstanding" performance of duties while Operations Sergeant for the 25th Inf Div MP Det.

MP Desk Sergeant Wins Service Award

A 14-year Army veteran and holder of the Silver Star was recipient this week of a Certificate of Achievement for "outstanding and meritorious" service while Operations Sergeant for the 25th Inf Div MP Det from 1 Nov 54 to 14 May 58.

The presentation was made to SFC Michael Demeduk, newly-assigned MP Desk Sergeant from the 163d MP Co. The Sergeant has been at the Presidio since 18 June.

Col Charles G Rau, Presidio Commander, who presented the Certificate during ceremonies in his office at Post Hq, read the accompanying citation which commends SFC Demeduk for his superior ability in MP and traffic control duties. Col Rau then expressed his satisfaction that a man of SFC Demeduk's caliber had been assigned to the Presidio and urged him to continue his good work here.

The Certificate and citation were signed by Maj Gen A W Stuart, Commander of the 25th Div.

SFC Demeduk earned the Silver Star for gallantry during the Battle of the Bulge during World War II.

CG Has High Praise For AFD Planning

Letters of commendation for Northern California and Presidio efforts during Armed Forces Week this year have been received by two local commanders who were instrumental in making the annual observance dedicated to America's fighting men and women a great success.

Maj Gen John W Harmony, XV US Army Corps (Res) Commander and AFD State Project Officer for Northern California, was congratulated by Sixth US Army Commander, Lt Gen Charles D Palmer, for having "given the people of Northern California a better understanding of the Armed Forces, which is one of the prime objectives for which we all strive."

Gen Harmony, in turn, extended his appreciation of Col Charles G Rau, Presidio Commander and Sub-Area Project Officer (for San Francisco) for his "splendid efforts" and a "job well done."

The Presidio's major contribution was a unique, giant motorcade, featuring Army equipment and other displays and concerts by the Sixth Army and Pipe Bands, which toured the City for a week prior to an open house here on Armed Forces Day. The Motorcade was under the supervision of Lt Col James F Young, Assistant Presidio Executive Officer.

FPOA Installs New Officer In Wed Meet

The Federal Procurement Officers' Association of Northern California installed new officers at the July meeting Wednesday.

Installed were: President, Donald K Maloney, Chief of G4 Procurement Div at the Presidio; Vice President, Mrs Rosita L Cobb, Benicia Arsenal, Calif; Secretary, Herbert R Schloming, General Services Administration, SF; and Treasurer, Tetsuo Ihara, Contracting and Purchasing officer at Letterman Army Hospital.

Fire Control Area NCO Wins Commendation For Inspection Score

In the absence of Lt Col C P Samson, Commanding Officer of the 740th AAA Msl Bn (NIKE), Capt Robert W Monroe, CO of Btry B, presented M/Sgt William P Keefe with a letter of appreciation from the Battalion Commander, this week.

The award was made in appreciation of the outstanding efforts of M/Sgt Keefe and his platoon in the Fire Control Area at Btry B, and the high score attained by them in the Annual Command Maintenance Inspection.

M/Sgt Keefe is a veteran of sixteen years in the Army, the last two of which have been spent with Btry B, at Ft Scott, Calif.

Cavalry Reunion

Your Printed Word May Save, Or Kill!

Every newspaper has a responsibility to its reading public for accuracy and timeliness.

But, an Army newspaper has even a greater obligation. Service. And one highly important facet of service is to insure that the printed word does not lead to unnecessary grief and tragedy.

A 14-year-old boy was electrocuted Wednesday at his home in Kosciusko, Miss. He was using an electrically charged rod to shock worms from the ground so he'd have bait for fishing. Something went wrong.

Just last week, an Army newspaper published an interesting feature about how two sergeants had rigged up a "shock rod" for the same purpose. The story was well-written and interesting. It went into a lot of detail on how to make the rod, too.

But, not one word was there on the safety aspect of this device; not one line of caution to soldier-fishermen about working with electricity.

The editor failed in his responsibility to his readers. He published a story which could kill a man.

Someone may, because of the story, figure that if it works for the other guy, "it'll work for me." Something may go wrong.

Maybe the Mississippi youngster got his idea from a newspaper article, too.

Remember, electricity can and does take lives if handled improperly. This great boon to man has to be respected and treated carefully. "Shock rods" probably are a good method of getting worms, but if you use one—or any other home-made electrical gadget—make it under the supervision of a qualified, experienced electrician.

The responsible editor does not want to publish obituaries after his features.

Two New Safety Awards Set By Sixth US Army

Sixth U.S. Army has set up a Safety Awards Program which calls for the presentation annually by the Army Commander of two awards to installations as official recognition for outstanding effectiveness in the prevention of accidents.

The Sixth Army Award of Honor For Safety and the Award of Merit for Safety, to be presented on a fiscal year basis, will be presented to the installations and/or activities which meet the criteria stipulated in paragraph 5b, Sixth Army Circular 8.6-20, 24 June, 1958.

The awards were established to "acknowledge safety achievements and to provide further incentive" to promote and improve accident rates in the command.

The Program is also designed to officially recognize marked reduction in accidents or continued outstanding effectiveness in accident prevention; to recognize outstanding departmental or unit safety records; and to recognize unit commanders and supervisors, military and civilian Army motor vehicle operators, operators of mechanical equipment, and other deserving individuals for periods of commendable accident-free operations.

Awards below installation level will include Certificate of

First Two EMs Win Army College Tour

Two Sixth U.S. Army soldiers, have been accepted for college this Fall under the Army's new on-duty, expenses paid enlisted education program.

They are M/Sgt. Sherald R. Marsh, U.S. Army ANCAN Station, Davis, Calif., and Pfc. Donald E. L. Hudnall, enroute to the Sixth Army from Korea.

Both men were accepted for enrollment by the Chief of Signal, DA. M/Sgt. Marsh will undertake studies in engineering at the University of California, Berkeley, and Pfc. Hudnall will study at Ohio State University.

The Sixth U.S. Army AG Schools Section, reporting that a total of 48 applications were submitted under this program by EM in the Army area, said that further acceptances may be received in the near future.

Under the program, which was initiated last Spring, EM who meet prerequisites must promise, in writing, to accept a convenience of the Government discharge and reenlist for three years for each year of schooling (with no more than 6-2 years at one time).

In addition, personnel must complete schooling contracted for prior to their 35th birthday.

Special Workshop Course Due Here

A special four week Letterwriting Workshop, which will use the Sixth Army Manual M6-67 as its guide, is scheduled to commence 5 August.

Three separate groups will meet on the same day each week during the session for two and a half hours. The first group will be composed of section chiefs and their chief administrative assistants.

Privileges Same For Non-Coms

Washington, D. C. (via TWIX) — The Department of the Army announced today a four-year transition period from the old system of NCO ratings to the new system, setting a final date of 30 June 1962 for the changeover in titles and insignia for E5's, E6's and E7's.

Clarifying instructions were sent to field commanders, effective immediately.

Under the clarification of existing directives for the new enlisted grade structure which provides the additional grades of E8 and E9, NCOs in the grades of E5, E6 and E7, on 31 May 1958, are authorized to wear their present insignia until promoted or until 30 June 1962.

NCOs who become the subject of disciplinary or inefficiency actions will be required to wear the insignia of the resultant grade.

Ratings will be carried on the morning report under the same criteria.

NCOs who held pay grades E5, E6 or E7 on 31 May 1958 and who retire during this announced period will retire in the grade held and wear the insignia appropriate for the grade on 31 May 1958, and their retirement certificates will show the grades held under the old system unless they were promoted or reduced prior to retirement.

Some NCOs who retired since 31 May 1958 have been given certificates indicating titles under the new system which were below the titles held prior to 31 May. Commanders have been directed to get in touch with these men and re-

Yours For A Lo-o-o-ud Morning

Grab the cotton! This morning's going to be a noisy one here.

Explosions, cannons, sirens—all due to let loose about the time you settle back to read this issue of the Star Presidian.

Starting things off will be a 21-gun salute to the United States at 0915 by the HMS Newcastle as she reaches Golden Gate Bridge on her way into San Francisco Bay. Then Presidio cannoners will fire a return salute in front of the Letterman NCO Open Mess.

Beginning at 1000, and continuing off and on until 1600, the City of San Francisco will TEST its air raid sirens.

And not to be missed is the CBR School's programmed "minor" explosion at Baker Beach sometime between 1000 and 1200. The Beach, incidentally, will be Off Limits all morning.

NEW EXPERIMENTAL vehicle, pictured above, is expected to perform most of the tasks of the conventional ground jeep and yet have the characteristics of a small helicopter. It is designed for the Transportation Corps, which is celebrating its sixteenth anniversary on 31 July (story on 8) for use as a light utility transport and observation platform or artillery director.

SMART SOLDIER—M/Sgt. Raymond L. Wynne, Sergeant Major, 9th AAA Missile Battalion, Fort Baker, California, points out an area where he plans to study for a doctors degree in history to the Battalion Commander, Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol. M/Sgt. Wynne holds his soldiers deposits book, the figure therein will make this educational plan a reality.

What are you doing

Towards Your Future?

What are you doing to fulfill those dreams of the future? M/Sgt. Raymond L. Wynne, Sergeant Major, 9th AAA Missile Battalion, Fort Baker, has a dream for the future which is well on its way to fulfillment. Sgt. Wynne has taken advantage of the 4% interest earned by depositing a sizeable portion of his pay in the Soldier's Deposits System established by the Department of the Army in 1872 to provide a flexible means for enlisted personnel to build up their savings.

During the past sixteen years Sgt. Wynne has been making periodic payments into the savings system. Beginning in 1954 he began making regular payments into the fund and has brought his present total to $2,500. In his remaining four years of service the Sgt. plans to build his "nest egg" to a $3,500 total. In addition to his soldier's deposits, Sgt. Wynne's savings program includes investments in stocks and bonds, bank savings and insurance.

Sgt. Wynne obtained a B.S. degree in history from Sophia University while on duty in Tokyo, Japan. A master degree is the next goal in his educational pursuits which he plans to complete at San Francisco State College. After retirement, Sgt. Wynne and his soldier's deposits money will travel across the Atlantic where present plans are to take a Doctors Degree in history from one of three countries: Italy, Spain or France. Sorbonne University in Paris, France is at the top of the list of institutions of higher learning he plans to attend.

What will you have to make your dreams of the future become a reality when retirement day rolls around? By making regular payments into this soldier's savings plan through your personnel officer or battery commander you can turn your dreams of the future into realities, whether it's a home in the country, a little business establishment or a worthwhile investment to further your education.

M/Sgt Wynne, his wife Judy, and potential Sgt. Major four-month-old Raymond Keith, make their residence at Fort Baker and claim Minot, North Dakota, as their home.

Bon Voyage Sgt. Wynne, through wise investing in soldier's deposits the dream of a future historian will soon be a reality.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Holcomb-Niccoll

Fourth of July, traditionally in baseball the day league winners are determined, has come and gone. This year, the SF Giants were in third place, three games from the top in a tight race. Now that the local ball club has again rocketed to first place, your Inquiring Reporter asked:

THE QUESTION: Do You think the SF Giants will win the 1958 pennant?

ANSWERS

Michael Carmina, cook for C Co.: No, they won't. I believe that the other teams, notably the Phils and the Dodgers, have a better chance. The Giants are playing most of their remaining crucial games on the road and somehow they never fare too well when they play away from home. Anyway, I'm a Dodger fan and I'm pulling for them to win the pennant.

Harold Schuchardt, meat cutter for the Post Commissary: I don't think so. The Dodgers are still in last place but watch out for them. I haven't seen the Giants play this year, but I know one thing, they're hotter than fire crackers right now, but I don't believe they will remain on top. I have a brother who is an umpire in Southern California, and have always followed baseball, but unfortunately I haven't been able to visit Seals Stadium this year because we live in Santa Clara.

Sp2 Carl Bovin, Post Dispensary: No, they won't. You can safely put 50 bucks on the Braves that they will win the pennant. I doubt very much that the last place Dodgers or any of the other teams have much of a chance against the better staffed Braves. The Giants do have some fine rookies, especially that third baseman who hit a home run just the other night to win the game for the locals. I haven't seen any of the games yet this year, since I've just been assigned to the Presidio, but I plan to go out there one of these nights.

Carole Zabriskke, Clerk typist, G-3, Sixth U.S. Army: I'm afraid our Giants won't win. I'm not much of a baseball fan, but I think Milwaukee will win. I feel that the Giants are doing very well because the fans in San Francisco are cheering them on. Before the Giants came here, I always rooted for the Bums and I was hoping that they would come here instead of going to Los Angeles. Now, however, I'm a Giant fan and I am pulling for them.

$1,000 Reward Awaits Service Letter Writer

New York (AFPS)—Last year Air Force M/Sgt. Charles E. Buchanan won $1,000. He didn't win it on a quiz show. He didn't win it on a 20 to one shot at the track.

He won it by expressing on paper better than anyone else in the service just what was meant by "My Task—Protecting America's Freedom."

That was the Freedoms Foundation theme for 1957. This year the Foundation has a new theme, but the prize is still $1,000 for the best letter.

Second prize in the $10,000 cash awards program is $500. The following 50 best letters will win $100 and the next 50, $50 each. All money winners and those receiving honorable mention will be given George Washington Honor Medals.

Entries, which may not exceed 500 words, should be mailed to the Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa., any time before Nov. 1, 1958. No formal entry blanks are required.

Letters may be typed or written on one side of the paper only. The entrant's name and both military and home addresses must be printed legibly.

The top winners from each of the services will be among the 10 entrants invited to Valley Forge for presentation of the awards on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22, 1959.

Wins Captain Bars

1st Lt. John H. Anderson of the 30th Engineer Battalion has been promoted to the rank of Captain.

Capt. Anderson serves as Company Commander of the 21st Engineer Company until next month when he departs for the Advanced Engineer Officer Course at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

A graduate of the University of Arkansas with a major in Geology, Capt. Anderson is a veteran of nine years active service.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

We had spent the day tramping the island, from its small, sandy beaches, through its heavy laden blackberry bushes and thickly wooded hills, up to the high plateau where the Nike sites are. The day had been alternately cold and hot. At one moment a cold mist blew over us. The next, the wind became still and the sun warmed the tight little island.

When the tour was ended and Capt. Zile took us to his home, we collapsed gratefully in the cool living room.

Mrs. Zile appeared with the coffee tray. She had been putting up blackberry preserves, she told us. The island is covered with wild bushes.

"Well," she said, sitting down on the sofa, "I've enjoyed every post we have ever been on."

"But this is the nicest," interrupted Capt. Zile.

"It is very nice here," Mrs. Zile carried on. "There are fifteen families, all of whom are congenial. As a matter of fact, Angel Island is perfect for families. I never have to worry about the children. They can be gone all day long and I know there is no trouble they can get into on the island."

It seemed peculiarly quiet. Something was missing. Then the light came. There was no traffic.

"How many vehicles? Ten. But never more than five are in operation at once," replied Capt. Zile.

Then came a penetrating horn blast, not once, but several loud alarms in succession. It was slightly ironic, considering what he had just said.

"Oh! That's the bus," laughed the Captain's wife. "It meets every boat. Before it starts out on each trip it honks and all the children come running to it and ride along for fun."

What else is there to do for fun on the island, we asked.

"Movies three times a week in the service club. Everybody goes to those. There is lots of fishing to be done. There is a whole island to hike over and explore. The boats must be met. Everyone uses the hobby shop and of course the gym is always available."

"And of course, there are the Cackle Club meetings to attend," continued the Captain.

"Well, now that's just what he calls it. It isn't really a club. The ladies on the island just meet once a month for coffee."

"But they do do more than talk," interjected Capt. Zile. "They make birthday cakes for the battery each month, or cookies. They made our scarves for us, too."

Capt. and Mrs. Zile both agreed that Angel Island is an ideal place to live. Mrs. Zile confessed that she doesn't go off the island any more than necessary. The commissary makes weekly deliveries to the island. And all in all, the little island in the middle of the bay is quite self-sufficient.

Their houses are large and well kept up. The grounds are filled with things to discover, wild flowers and strange trees. The weather is much more clement than in San Francisco. White sand is on the beaches. And the islanders, who acclimate with amazing rapidity, wouldn't change their home for all the world.

In December 1955, the President prescribed a Code of Conduct for Members of the Armed Forces of the United States. "The Code is new," commented DA PAM 355-51, "but the ideas in it have guided American fighting men all through our Country's history."

This June 29th marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of General George Washington Goethals, the Army Engineer who supervised construction of the Panama Canal.—ANS.

Ten Will Retire At Retreat Parade Today

Four Presidians Win Performance Awards

Army Incentive Award winners at the Presidio received this week Department of the Army Superior Performance of Duty Certificates and checks totaling $600 from Col. Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer.

Miss Ann C. Herold, Service Club Director, received $200 in recognition of her performance of duty while employed as Recreation Supervisor at Ft. Lewis, Wash. She was commended for accomplishing all job assignments in a commendable manner.

George Hathaway, Signal Supervisory General Supply Officer, received $200 in recognition of his outstanding ability in the supply field and was further commended for being extremely alert to his responsibilities and for his active interest in his duties, always striving for improvement.

A check for $200 was awarded to John Nicholson in recognition of his high standard of work as a heating equipment mechanic with the Engineer Section.

Miss Ethel Moore received a Department of the Army "Outstanding" performance rating, a rating granted for over-all outstanding performance of duties, for her work as a reproduction equipment operator with the Sixth Army Engineer Section. The award was presented by Col. Seymour A. Potter, Jr., Sixth Army Engineer.

New Postal Rates In Effect 1 August; Stiff Penalty Set

The old postal system of pasting just a "postage due" stamp on insufficiently prepaid postage and charging the recipient the few pennies shortage is out.

Now, letters will be rated for the deficiency plus a new "short-paid charge" of five cents and then dispatched for delivery.

So, the nickel service charge will affect you, unless you bear in mind the new postal rates being initiated 1 August. They are:

- First class letters—from 3¢ to 4¢ an ounce.
- Post cards—from 2¢ to 3¢ each.
- Air mail letters—from 6¢ to 7¢ an ounce.
- Air mail post cards—from 4¢ to 5¢ each.
- Third class matter—3¢ for first two ounces or fraction thereof, and 1½¢ for each additional ounce up to 16 ounces.

9th AAA Missile Bn Wins Reenlistment Award Fourth Time

9th AAA Missile Battalion, Fort Baker, won the quarterly reenlistment achievement award for the second quarter 1958, for units under the 30th Artillery Group.

The award is presented quarterly to the battalion that has the highest percentage of reenlistments, based on the number eligible to reenlist.

Winning the reenlistment award is not a new thing for the 9th Battalion for they have won the quarterly award three times previously.

Within the battalion, B Btry, commanded by 1st Lt Perry Peters, was the top unit with a score of 50%.

JAG Corps Will Mark 183rd Year Service Tuesday

Sixth U.S. Army Commander. Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, has forwarded his personal congratulations to all members of the Judge Advocate General's Corps on the 183rd anniversary Tuesday of the "distinguished organization."

He cited maintenance by the Corps of "standards that meet the legal profession's highest criteria for probity and professional competence."

No special birthday observances are planned here.

Col. Carlos E. McAfee, Sixth Army Judge Advocate, with an immediate staff of 25 legal specialists, is charged with the responsibility of administering Judge Advocate activities throughout the Army area and making recommendations on matters ranging from command policy to individual claims settlement.

The Post Judge Advocate, Lt. Col. William F. McGarry, heads an office which every month assists more than 700 Presidians who need help in claims and courts martial, or, perhaps the services of a notary or an opinion on the terms of a contract.

Missile Officer Wins Promotion To CWO-2 At 740th AAA

WO W-1 Edward E. Siler Jr., Missile Officer for Btry. A, 740th AAA msl. Bn. at Ft. Funston, was promoted to CWO-2 last week.

He joined the Army in 1943 and served in the Philippines during World War II and saw 18 months combat in the Korean conflict.

After returning from Korea, Siler went to the AA and Guided Missile School at Ft. Bliss, Texas. Upon graduation from this school he was assigned to the 740th AAA Msl. Bn. In February 1957 his application for Warrant Officer was approved.

AMS Will Celebrate Birthday On Sunday

The 183d birthday of the Army Medical Service Sunday has been cited by Sixth U.S. Army Commander Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer as "the opportunity to convey greetings, heightened by a keen appreciation of the inestimable services the Army medical personnel have rendered to the soldier and to other military connected people."

In observance of wartime heroism of Medical Service personnel, he said, "Frequently they have performed their great work under battlefield conditions that tested human endurance as well as professional skill . . . they have gained international acclaim by the miracles of their performance."

Gen. Palmer also commended their accomplishment of the peacetime mission of keeping the troops physically fit.

Chaplain Osborn Dead; Suffers Stroke At Work

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Ralph T. Osborn, recently assigned command chaplain of Sixth ARADCOM, who died of a heart attack Monday, will be returned today to Concord, N. H., for burial.

Military escort will be Deputy Sixth Army Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Dayton D. Drake; the deceased chaplain's body also will be accompanied by his wife, Alene, and his three daughters, Rosemary, 18; Sally, 16; and Sharon, 10.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Fort Baker Chapel by Chap. (Col.) Herman H. Heuer, Sixth Army Chaplain.

Chaplain Osborn, who died in Letterman Army Hospital at approximately 1400 Monday, half an hour after undergoing the seizure at his desk in his Fort Baker office, had been assigned here since May. His successor is expected to be announced early next week.

Born 19 October 1906 in Alexandria, Minn., Chap. Osborn was graduated from Syracuse University, N. Y., and Gordon College of Theology, Boston, Mass. Prior to entering the Army in August 1941 on the eve of World War II, Chap. Osborn was pastor of Trinity Baptist Church in Epsom, N. H. During his 17 years of Federal service, he fulfilled assignments in Germany and Korea.

Sixth Army IG, XV Corps, DCC On List

Ten of 14 local officers slated for retirement this month will be honored this afternoon at 1400 during a parade and ceremonies on the main parade ground.

Two enlisted men also will retire, but they will not participate in this afternoon's program.

Heading the list of officers who will be honored today is Sixth Army Inspector General, Col. David A. Watt, who is retiring after almost 30 continuous years of service. The retiring West Pointer (Class of '28) plans to complete studies leading to a teaching career.

One highlight in a career which, during World War II, required his services in England, France, Belgium and central Europe, was his post-war assignment as military staff advisor to the Iranian Army.

The retirement of Col. Glen C. McBride, current commander of the Arizona Sector, XV U.S. Army Corps (Res.), will draw to a close 33 years of active service. During World War II he served as a combat commander with the 6th Armored Division and later became Division Chief of Staff.

Col. Todd H. Slade, recently returned from service with the G2 Section, I Corps (Group), Korea, will complete a career which began when he graduated from West Point in 1932. Holder of the Bronze Star, he will study subsequent to his retirement for a Doctorate in Philosophy in Romance Languages at the University of California, Berkeley.

A World War II POW who managed to escape the Germans and return to Allied lines, Lt. Col. George R. Larson is retiring with 20 years' service.

Currently Commander of the San Jose Area, XV Corps, Northern California Sector, he served in Europe with the 52d Armored Infantry Division and was assigned to that unit when he was captured in 1945.

Having enlisted in 1934 and served a two-year tour, he later reenlisted in 1940 and was commissioned in 1942. After World War II, he held various posts in Europe and Puerto Rico prior to assuming his most recent command.

Capt. William P. Guild, Jr., retiring assistant 441st AAA Missile Battalion Executive Officer, also was a combat soldier who enlisted prior to World War II (1938) and earned a commission in 1943 while serving with the 88th Infantry Division anti-aircraft group in central Europe. Since 1945 he has served in Japan and Korea, and again in Europe.

CWO Wilford J. Challander, formerly Chief of the Maintenance Branch, Meteorology Department, Fort Huachuca, Ariz., is retiring after having been at Letterman Army Hospital since last December. A veteran of nine years' service, he served with the 1st Cavalry Division in Korea.

Also to be honored is Lt. Col. Robert G. Youngblood, formerly assistant Sixth Army Transportation Officer.

Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, XV Corps Commander, announced this week that three other retiring officers from his headquarters, who are expected to participate in today's ceremonies, will also be honored during separate ceremonies at XV Corps. They are: Col. Frank R. Maeridian, Deputy Corps Commander; Lt. Col. Parker L. Oakley,

To Retire Here
Colonel D. A. Watt

assistant G4; and Maj. Truman A. Rice, also an assistant G4.

Also retiring but not participating in today's ceremony are: Col. Frank Q. Goodell, Army Advisory Group, Sacramento; Lt. Col. Alvin B. Auerback, Chief of Sixth Army Engineer Plans and Training Division; Lt. Col. James A. Touey, Sixth Army Inspector General Inspection and Investigation Division; Maj. Luther Payne, 30th Engineer Battalion; M/Sgt. Karl K. Koppa, Presidio Headquarters; and Sp2 Manuel Lauigan, 30th Engineers.

Reviewing Officer today will be Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, and Commander of Troops will be Lt. Col. Daniel H. Swett, Post S4 Section.

Commanders of the first, second and third battalions, respectively, are Maj. Herbert R. Haar, Sixth Army Engineer Section; Maj. Charles Dong, Post Special Services Officer; and Lt. Col. Richard M. Underwood, Deputy Commander of the 30th Engineers.

Business Expert Wins Special Commendation For Record Service

Sp4 Robert Ory was presented a 6th RAADCOM Certificate of Achievement for Meritorious Service by Maj. Conrad Mannes, Jr., Commanding Officer of the 740th AAA Msl. Bn. at Ft. Scott. The certificate was signed by Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Commanding General of 6th RAADCOM.

The citation was awarded to Ory for his exceptionally meritorious service as Battery Clerk from 15 Jan. 1957 to 10 Jun. 1958.

A graduate of Harvard College in 1954, Sp4 Ory obtained his MBA from the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance at the University of Pennsylvania.

COMMENDATION RIBBONS with Medal Pendants were awarded to (l. to r.) Capt. Joseph E. Parker, 1st Lt. David F. Birmingham, and CWO H. G. Buckner, all of the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) by Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks.

Three 30th Arty Group Officers Win Awards

Three officers of the 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.) were awarded Commendation Ribbons with Metal Pendants by the Commanding Officer, Lieutenant Colonel Curtis M. Banks, at retreat ceremonies at Fort Barry.

The officers are: Captain Joseph E. Parker, First Lieutenant David F. Birmingham, and Chief Warrant Officer H. G. Buckner.

Captain Parker received his award for meritorious service as Plans and Requirements Officer, 30th Artillery Group, and as Commandant of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School. Captain Parker is now attending the Army Language School at Monterey, Calif.

Lieutenant Birmingham was presented the Commendation Ribbon for his devotion to duty as Assistant S-3 Officer, 30th Artillery Group. Lieutenant Birmingham is leaving here to attend the officers advanced artillery course at Fort Sill.

CWO Buckner was cited for his outstanding performance of duty as Chief, Officers Branch, Military Personnel Division, Adjutant General Section, Headquarters, I Corps (Group) in Korea. CWO Buckner is the Assistant Adjutant at Headquarters, 30th Artillery Group.

Record Rack

In last week's issue, it was written that this month's three free records were given to the AAA Mobile Service Club. The records were given away because no one had guessed the best selling records of the month. So you see, you always have a chance to win. Who could pass up this opportunity to increase that all too slowly growing record collection? If you can't pass up this opportunity, fill out the coupon below, listing what you think will be the best selling records of the month in jazz, popular, and classical, and send the coupon to the Star Presidian, Bldg. 87A. Records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Records, 262 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

In a new disc out by Mercury, the Platters blend their five separate voices into a few smooth tunes. Tony Williams, lead voice in their 4 million-sellers, takes the spotlight in a dynamic version of Cole Porter's classic "In The Still of The Night." In an exciting version of "I Don't Know Why," Zola Taylor adds her feminine touch. Other selections included are "I'll Get By," "Temptation," and "Take Me In Your Arms."

Those among you who like to add non-musical records to your collection, might be interested in Decca's recent release "The Voice of FDR." Therein contained are excerpts of his speeches during the presidential years 1932-1945. Special narration is by Quentin Reynolds.

Rudolf Serkin, with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra, perform Schumann's Concerto in A minor for piano and orchestra. Serkin is an artist of extraordinary insight and integrity who here completely expresses the mournfully poetic mood of this concerto.

Four Presidio WACs In First NCO C.B.R. Class

Included among some 40 handpicked Presidio NCO's now undergoing a C.B.R. training course at Baker Beach are four Presidio WACs from D Co.

The four women, M/Sgt. Olive Hinchcliffe, Sfc. Jane Squires, Sp2 Marge Delahanty and Sp3 Marjorie Rinke, are being trained to do the plotting and charting but could also take over any other job in case of an emergency.

These particular WACs were chosen because of their wide range in their ranks and also because they are mature enough to meet any situation without losing their heads.

One of the phases of the training for the women was a gas chamber exercise designed to teach the use of the protective mask, a lifesaver in time of war.

Non Commissioned Officers in charge of the C.B.R. school are hoping someday to be able to give everyone this type of training, in which case the WACs now attending this school would be qualified instructors.

Originally the women were not too enthusiastic, but after a few hours in class they soon began to realize the importance of correct training in case of attack and now are all enjoying the school very much.

Teenage Musical Slates Final Show This Evening

Tonight at 2000 the final performance of "On With The Show" will be given by the Youth Activities Committee in the NCO Open Mess. Tickets are 75 cents each.

The musical revue, written and directed by Lt. Col. Thomas E. Baker, is built around a central Hollywood theme.

Those in lead roles are Burke Pease, Bob Clarke, Brenda Enmeier, Shawn Brownlee, Tom Baker Jr., and Teddy McPhail.

The singers are Sharon Light, Jackie DeWitt, Veronica Grover, Marilyn Baker, and Laura Brownlee.

John Turner is the tapdancer. Those in the chorus line are Judy Lowe, Mary Ann Brown, Linda Lee Robison, Connie Davis, Sheila Brownlee, Barbara Enmeier, Gwen Clodfelter, Pat Drake, Linda Pryor, and Dobbie Barth.

Mrs. Baker is choreographer, and technical director is Harry Helman.

Now On Sale

The record, "The Army Goes Rolling Along," is now available at the main PX and sub-exchanges.

The disc contains selections from the All-Army Entertainment Show which in the autumn is beginning a round the world tour. The record, 45 rpm, sells for 39 cents.

M/Sgt. Wins Special Citation For Keeping Army Reputation High

M/Sgt. Duane C. Langdon, Fire Control Platoon Sergeant at Btry. B, 740th AAA Msl. Bn., Ft. Scott, received a letter of commendation from the U.S. Army District Engineer in San Francisco and one from Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks, Commanding Officer of 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.), Ft. Barry.

Fourteen months ago Sgt. Langdon and his family moved into a Government leased house. It was the first time the owner had leased a house to the Government for occupancy and he wasn't sure of its condition when it would be turned back to him.

Unexpected circumstances forced the owner to ask the District Engineer to turn the house back to him after 14 months.

The letters of commendation both cited Sgt. Langdon for his outstanding care and maintenance of the leased house. It is further stated that the benefits derived from public reaction can well be emulated by other occupants of leased housing.

New Course Open

A 3 unit course, American Political Institutions, will be offered by the Army Education Center in Bldg 1101 beginning Monday, 4 August. Since this course is required for all persons seeking a degree or teaching credential in California, enrollment will be limited. Further information may be obtained by telephoning the Education Center extension 3189.

Unrelated Assignments Bring About Service Family Reunion

Fifty-one year old M/Sgt. Frank S. Patterson, Sergeant Major at Rocky Shoals Headquarters here, enlisted in the Regular Army on 1 July 1925 at Fort Winfield Scott.

During the ensuing 33 years, 29 of them on active duty, M/Sgt. Patterson raised three daughters and saw them marry servicemen and go their separate ways.

Therein hangs a tale of coincidences which has slowly reunited the Patterson family and which was climaxed last week when the husband of the sergeant's youngest daughter was assigned to the Air Force Detachment at Letterman Army Hospital.

Now, M/Sgt. Patterson and the husbands of all his daughters are stationed at the Presidio, and one of his sons-in-law works in the same unit with him.

Here is how it happened:

Gladys, oldest of the Patterson girls, was married in 1948 to (now) SFC E. J. Liggatt. Her husband was assigned to the Post Dispensary here in October 1956.

The following month, M/Sgt. Patterson came to the Presidio, for duty as Chief Clerk, Reserve Branch, 56th MRU.

In July 1957, the second oldest girl, Patricia, who was married at the Presidio Chapel in 1949, came here with her husband, M/Sgt. Lee D. Taylor, Sixth U.S. Army Engineer Section.

Then, last week coincidence turned the final card when the youngest daughter, Jane, who was married in Las Vegas in June 1957, came here when her husband, A/1c

Gordon Hughett, was assigned to LAH.

Incidentally, when Rocky Shoals Headquarters was established here this past Spring, M/Sgt. Patterson, who, has served periodically about 10 years on Post, was named Sergeant Major there and SFC Liggatt was assigned to the Visitor's Bureau staff.

A family get-together was held last week at M/Sgt. Patterson's home, 1595 Greenwich St., San Francisco, to celebrate the final reunion and dual birthdays—those of M/Sgt. Patterson and his youngest daughter.

Gladys has three children: Christine, 11; Mark, 3, and Marta, under 1. Rounding out M/Sgt. Patterson's five grandchildren are Patricia's daughters Kitty, 5, and Carol Lee, 3.

PRESENTING Maj. James A. Bond with the Army Commendation Ribbon with medal pendants for his outstanding tour of service is Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, Commanding Officer of the 9th AAA Msl. Bn. Sp4 Fred Hammel and Sp4 Thomas Faligien were presented with Certificates of Achievement for being the outstanding enlisted men in the Headquarters.

On Our Shelves

How much do you know about American Defense? In FORGING A NEW SWORD, by W. R. Kirtner, an inquiry is made into the nature and causes of the problems confronting our defense organization, with particular reference to civilian control, strategic planning, weapons, morale, operations and administration.

Also concerning our defense, THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND, written by R. G. Hubler, gives a history of the Command, describes its organization, development into a global force, weapons and training of men in new concepts of warfare.

Duncan Gleason presents a guide to coastal Calif. in THE ISLANDS AND PORTS OF CALIFORNIA. This book gives historical background and geographical description of the islands off the California coast and each important harbor town from San Diego to Humboldt Bay, with some 70 reproductions of the author's paintings and drawings.

FABULOUS SAN SIMEON, by Oscar Lewis, is a history of the Hearst Castle, a new State Monument located on the scenic coast of California.

F. A. Haskell's BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG is a new edition of an account which the author, a Union officer stationed on the part of the line against which Pickett's charge was directed, wrote within two weeks of the battle.

A meticulous recreation of the campaign from Oct. 1862 through Jan. 1863 and critique of the errors which marked Gen. Burnside's handling of the Army of the Potomac is shown in DRAMA ON THE RAPPAHANNOCK: THE FREDERICKSBURG CAMPAIGN, by E. J. Stackpole.

Do you know how to find your way on land and sea by observing nature? NATURE IS YOUR GUIDE, by Harold Gatty, is a general guide for estimating location, direction, time, and the approach of land or presence of water.

Detailed advice on the special techniques of magnetic recording for home, studio and business, description of the various types of recorders, methods of editing them and applications in the fields of law, medicine and education are given in Kellogg and Joel Tall's book, TECHNIQUES OF MAGNETIC RECORDING.

In INTERPLAY OF EAST AND WEST three stimulating essays review the social, economic and political relationships between the two historic divisions of the world and suggest policies in dealing with the present problems. This book of points of conflict between the East and West was written by Barbara Ward.

RUSSIA, THE ATOM AND THE WEST contains the text of the Reith lectures given by author G. E. Kennan over the BBC. These lectures caused a wide flurry of debate in the free world over some of the positive aspects of the program he outlined for the West in seeking true accommodation with the Russians.

At the Alamo, in Texas, on February 24, 1836, the Commandant Lt Col William Barret Travis sent out this message: "I am besieged by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna. . . . # Stripe Change issue certificates under the system announced today (23 July 1958).

Prior to taking this action, DA consulted field commanders about the system and the results indicated that the over-all structure is basically sound and acceptable if a time period could be established for the anticipated promotions to take place.

At the proposed rate of promotion and the present rate of competition in the top NCO grades, it is anticipated that the transition can be completed by 30 June 1962 with increased prestige for career NCOs who earn their promotions in competition with their contemporaries.

This competition will include promotions to pay grades E6 and E7, as well as to the two new grades, E8 and E9.

Before retaining the six stripes of the master sergeant for grade E8, the Army studied a large number of alternatives.

As a result of this study, the traditional six stripes to indicate the top NCO grade were retained. The addition of stripes or rockers to the existing six did not set the new insignia off in such a way as to be recognizable different when viewed from a distance.

Retention of the diamond as the special mark of the first sergeant, as differentiated from the master sergeant in pay grade E8 also continues a traditional marking.

The new grade structure and insignia will correct the lack of sequence in enlisted insignia which resulted from the elimination of the "buck sergeant" insignia in 1948.

The revision of the enlisted grade structure required by creation of the new enlisted pay grades presented an opportunity to meet the criticism which resulted from dropping the "buck sergeant" title and insignia.

In order to bring back the "buck sergeant" insignia, one of two steps had to be taken.

Grades E3 (private first class) and E4 (corporal) had to be upgraded to corporal and "buck sergeant," respectively, or grades E5 (sergeant), E6 (sergeant first class) and E7 (master sergeant) had to be "downgraded" to "buck sergeant," staff sergeant and sergeant first class.

The first possibility was eliminated after careful study because the grade of "buck sergeant" was felt to be the "key" grade in the new enlisted grade structure.

In a nine pay grade Army, and under present Army organization, there are not enough enlisted positions classified in grade E4 as NCO positions to give the "buck sergeant" title and insignia the importance desired.

"Buck sergeant" (E5) is the first NCO grade to which a "career" enlisted man aspires after he determines to stay in the Army. Corporal or specialist-4 (pay grade E4) is now earned by many non-career soldiers who serve a two-year military obligation before transferring to the Reserve.

It has been pointed out before that under the new Career Compensation Act, all enlisted personnel with more than two years' service will have a raise in pay, and that all privileges formerly enjoyed by NCOs are still in existence.

The NCO ranks of the Army now consist of five "top grades" instead of three.

As finally adopted, and with these clarifying instructions from the Department of the Army, the enlisted grade structure offers many advantages, including:

1. Increased pay, authority and prestige commensurate with the most responsible NCO duties.

2. Opportunities for at least 14,500 of the most capable and ambitious NCOs in the present grade of E7 to advance to the grades of E8 and E9.

3. Retention of pay, authority and assigned duties for all enlisted men which they hold prior to adoption of the new system.

4. Retention of all privileges due an enlisted man by virtue of his pay grade, such as the shipment of his household goods, shipment of privately-owned automobiles overseas, assignment of Government quarters and membership in non-commissioned officers' clubs.

5. Retention of the master sergeant insignia as the basic chevron for the senior NCO as it has been for many years.

6. Recognition of nine pay grades with insignia which are traditionally familiar throughout the Army.

7. Utilization of well-known titles which correspond to the duties of the individuals concerned.

8. No change in the relative rank, authority or privileges of any Army NCO as compared with his counterpart in other services.

9. Provision of a pay raise for the majority of Army personnel, except those with less than two years' service.

10. Improvement of the enlisted grade structure which, in conjunction with proficiency pay, will enable the Army better to meet its increasing requirements for both leaders and specialists.

ADMIRING the Reenlistment Achievement plaque awarded to Hq. Co. USA Gar. for achieving the highest reenlistment rate and effort for the period April-June is Capt. Charles Monges, Company Commander. Looking on are 1st Sgt. Frank S. Datner and M/Sgt. John E. McConnell, Post Reenlistment NCO.

Something New Ahead

Where Money Goes

Monthly pay envelopes for soldiers, beginning next January, will contain detailed statements of each individual's pay account, according to unofficial announcements made this week from Washington, DC.

Basically, this means troops will know exact amounts of base pay and allowances (for clothing, quarters, etc) as well as deductions such as withholding taxes, Social Security and allotments. In addition, the account form also will indicate any credits carried over from the previous month(s).

A spokesman from the Presidio Finance & Accounting Office told the Star Presidian that no official notice of the new system, which involves a change-over from Military Pay Records to Military Pay Vouchers, has been received here and that no training in the new system is anticipated here before October.

The General Accounting Office in Washington, DC, has been studying the practicability of MPVs for the past six months and recently gave them the "all clear." The new method of pay accounting has been tested for several years by the Army.

Forms will be filled in, except for actual dollar figures, by the personnel section and then forwarded to the finance office for complete posting. Since the forms are initiated in the personnel section fewer errors are anticipated.

In addition, mistakes can be determined easily and payments verified without unnecessary trips to the finance office.

Unlike the current MPRs, which are forwarded semi-annually to Finance Center at Ft Benjamin Harrison, the new forms would be dispatched monthly, thus effecting a more stringent control on military pay.

The new system is expected to reduce the workload in finance offices, but might increase it slightly in personnel sections. Also, the cost of such a system may be slightly higher than is the present one; however, improved morale will more than offset the increase, a Washington spokesman has been quoted as saying.

Toreros Win Two, Drop One In Local Play

EXCITED MEMBERS of the Golden Gate Little League champs, the Giants, display baseballs autographed by their San Francisco counterparts while Dolores Sorak, secretary to the S. F. Giants Public Relations Director, and Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, look on. Jubilant players, who also received—courtesy of the Big Leaguers—team

Giants' Gifts Spur Namesakes On In Drive For LL League Pennant

By Pfc Walcott Hubbell
Star Presidian Associate Editor

Early this month, nine determined Golden Gate Little Leaguers blasted in nine quick tallies and staved off a desperate late-inning rally to snatch the 1958 crown for the Giants from a hard-fighting Yankee club.

This week, seven of those nine Giants trooped into the office of Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, to garner what may have been the "shot in the arm" for their final spurt to victory—official National League baseballs autographed by each player on their San Francisco counterparts.

Amidst baseball banter and the noisy enthusiasm common to pint-sized fans the world over, Col. Rau and Dolores Sorak, secretary to the S.F. Giants Public Relations Director Garry Schumacher, managed to present the eagerly-awaited "dream" prizes to the youngsters and encourage them to "keep it up."

Jubilant youngsters were: Charles Duke, Michael Ziesing, Michael Kenyan, Kenny Henderson, Mark Dickison, Michael Frye and Michael Atterberry. Not present, but also eligible for autographed balls are Peter Van Tassel and John Kiele.

All of the youngsters are 11 years old, except for Dickison, 12, and Henderson, 10.

Miss Sorak, who extended the congratulations of one team of Giants to another for the younger set's fourth pennant in five years, expressed hope that "this San Francisco air" will prove as invigorating to the National League leading "big nine."

The pretty Giants' representative also had another surprise for the boys—team photographs of their idols and 1958 Giants' yearbooks.

But, despite the effervescence and horseplay of the younger Giants, there was a hushed, reverent awe when the boys examined their prized balls.

"Hey"—in whispered anxiety—"can ya find Willie Mays?"

"This is the happiest day of my life," bubbled one recipient.

The autographed baseballs were awarded in addition to a pin annually presented to members of the top team. Pin awards were made last week during ceremonies at Pop Hicks Field.

This week's session in Col. Rau's office culminated a three-way co-operative effort to obtain, sign and award the balls.

The Star Presidian initiated the action by contacting downtown sporting goods firms in an effort to secure the balls. Donations by Roos Bros. and another local store produced the balls; Mr. Schumacher at the Giants produced the autographs.

Similar signed baseballs will be awarded to members of the Pony League championship team when season play ends in late August. Thirty additional balls have been earmarked for Little League champions in Hawaii.

By virtue of having won the Little League title here, the Giants will face a San Rafael squad 1 August in the first round of the Marin County Sub-District Little League Tournament.

If they win, they will vie for the championship the following day in Petaluma. Sub-District winners will then compete in the District finals, beginning 5 August in Fairfax—the first big step toward the annual Little World Series.

Because the Presidio-sponsored Golden Gate League is the only Little League in San Francisco, the winners compete initially in Marin County rather than here.

One key man in the Giants' surge for the pennant is M/Sgt. Rex R. Mullender, team manager, who reports his major headache this year was replacing boys who left the Presidio.

Stock Tastes First Defeat; SP Wins One

It's on to the California State Semi-Pro Baseball tournament for the district championship Presidio nine.

Last night they were scheduled to tangle with the Fresno Police Club team in the first round of the double elimination tourney being held in Fresno. The last time the two teams met in basketball fists almost flew from all directions, so the game promises to be full of action.

If the locals can succeed in capturing the state crown, they will go on to the National finals in Wichita sometime in August.

The Presidians are kept quite busy these days. In addition to playing in the state tournament, they are also competing in the Oakland Tribune semi-pro tournament.

In the first game last week, Wes Stock was dealt his first defeat of the season when the SP Stores, whom the locals whipped handily in the district tourney, defeated the lefthander by the count of 5-2.

The Toreros were only able to collect four hits of pitcher Bedrow.

The locals bounced back in the second round, as newcomer Gene Lippold pitched the Toreros to a 9-0 win over the Oakland Beavers.

The Toreros wasted no time as Charley Gritts belted a home run in the first inning with one man on. He and Mike Drummey led the hitting parade with two big hits apiece.

'A' Btry. Wins 9th Missile Bn. Softball Championship Play

Battery A, 9th AAA Msl. Bn., recently won the 9th Msl. Bn. Softball Tournament by racking up an 11-9 win over D Battery. Winning pitcher was Wheelock and the losing pitcher was Given.

In the opening rounds A defeated B Battery 13-11 and then defeated "D" 9-8 in the semi-finals to set up the stage for the championship at Ft. Baker.

Other games found D Battery defeating C Battery 15-8 and eliminating B Battery from the tournament in the semi-finals 17-12.

In the losers bracket, Battery B defeated Battery C 20-2.

The "bobsled" is so called because of the fact that in races the crew members other than the driver are called on to "bob" on straightaways to increase speed. This is a maneuver which, with a well trained crew, can make a sled literally jump forward.

Reporter 'Digs' Story From Modest Athlete

By Pvt. Janet Holcomb
Star Presidian Staff Writer

A rare creature in the world, a modest athlete, has been located in the WAC barracks.

Pvt. Claudette Schleman, who makes it easy for her team to win laurels, proved a tough reportorial subject due to her innate modesty.

A native of the Sunshine State, Florida that is, Claudette plays outstanding softball for the Presidio WACs, and is also doing a terrific job as a member of the San Francisco Double A Team.

The lively 5'6" WAC who "loves hunting and fishing" received an award at the end of basic training as the outstanding all-around athlete at Ft. McClellan.

Her awards also include many trophies and other awards for play.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Schleman, Tampa, the pretty brunette never had to worry about being lonely at home because she has three sisters and six brothers. This may be one of the chief reasons why she had no trouble at all getting used to so many people living with her when she came into the service last fall.

Claudette is one of the best liked girls in "D" Co. and the other WACs say there is never a dull moment when this girl and her bubbly personality are near.

A long distance telephone operator before she joined the Army, the pert young lady now works as a Military Pay Clerk with Post Finance.

The 19-year-old Finance School graduate has no future plans except to make the most of the service and "in the far future, say 2000 A.D.," to go overseas.

Will Meet 21st Engrs For Post Championship

In a tension packed contest, the LAH softball team edged the never-say-die Honor Guard by the score of 3-2 in the semi-finals of the Post softball playoffs at the PX field on Wednesday.

As a result of their win, LAH moved into the finals against the defending champion 21st Engineers. The Honor Guard, with two losses, dropped out of the tourney.

Recently Assigned

The newly assigned Army Medical Corps Procurement Officer, Capt. MILDRED J. ANDERSON, entered the Woman's Army Corps in July of 1944, from St. Louis, Missouri.

Other assignments have included Fifth Army Brooks and Valley Forge Army Hospital; Germany and school at Stanford, where she earned her Master's degree in Education.

Colonel HOWARD SMALLEY, new Chief, Tng. Div., G3, came into the Army as a commissioned officer after his graduation from West Point in 1937.

Born in Rochester, N.Y., Col. Smalley has attended the command Gen. Staff College; Served G1, DA; Combat Team; attended Army War School; served in Korea and Okinawa and was G1 of the First Corps.

The Colonel, who resides here with his wife and two children, has received, among other awards, the Silver Star, Bronze Star and the Combat Infantry Badge.

Sworn into the regular Army in 1947, Deputy Finance and Accounting Officer, Col. WILLIAM ASHENFELDER, was born in Miltown, Penn., has served in Germany, DA and taken graduate training at the University of Pennsylvania for his MBA.

Among his awards and decorations are the Bronze Star and the Oak Leaf Cluster.

He and his wife, Thirza, have a son who is a 1st Lt. with the Corps of Engineers in Panama.

Formerly with the 180th Inf., 4th Inf., 9th Inf., Capt. ELMER HASSETT is now serving as Funds Custodian at the Presidio.

A native of Petersham, Mass., he entered service in Florida in 1943. Included among his awards and decorations is the Combat Infantry Badge.

Winner of the Bronze Star, Combat Infantry Badge and Purple Heart, Capt. CAM J. HURST, SCS, Sixth Army, entered the service in 1943.

Formerly a resident of Ark., he has served as S-3, First Battle Group, 8th Inf., Ft. Lewis and commanded several companies.

It'll Cost You

Arrests and fines for violations of the Fish and Game Code were up for the third straight year, the Department of Fish and Game reported this week. Leading the violations parade this year again with 397 convictions recorded during June was angling without a license. Angling with more than one rod or line was next in order with 122 convictions.

740th AAA's Goff Wins Three Games In Three Days

Behind the almost perfect pitching of Carl Goff, the 740th AAA Msl. Bn. nine toppled the Green Lantern Golds by the score of 7-3 to share first place with the Post team in the S. F. Class A softball league after the first week of second half play.

Goff allowed only one scratch single in the first inning before shutting the door for the rest of the game.

Big guns for the 740th were Dale Willingham who had 3 for 4, including a single, a double and a triple; and Al Alexander who collected a single and a triple. Together they accounted for 6 of their 7 runs.

On the following day, Goff took to the rubber again, facing the 30th Arty. Gp. All Stars in a practice game and led his teammates once again to a lopsided 18-1 win.

In the first inning, Schmidt, the first man up for the 740th, smacked a home run to start things off for the Nikemen.

Top hitters for the winners were Schmidt with 2 for 2 and Alexander, who belted a grand slam home run in the fourth.

In another practice game, the powerful 740th won their third game of the week as they whipped the Honor Guard, 17-4.

Goff once again pitched, giving up four runs on three singles and a double.

Softball Team Wins Pair In Second Half

The Presidio softball team opened the second half of city play in impressive fashion by walloping the usually tough 2400 Club by the score of 12-1.

Nick Themely, who rarely loses a game for the locals, allowed the opposition only four scattered hits and was never in serious trouble.

The ace hurler was backed by some power hitting off the bats of Shultz, Johnson, Kornaga and Goff.

In the second inning, Goff hit a grand slam homer which traveled 280 feet over the left center field fence.

The Presidians collected a total of 14 hits, which included Goff's home run and two doubles.

The locals scored most of their runs early and then coasted the rest of the way.

Last week the Presidians added another win to their impressive record as they blanked the visiting Alameda Naval Air Station 1-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Ed Johnson.

Both teams were held scoreless until the seventh when Wendt hit a long fly ball to left field scoring the winning run from third base.

This afternoon the Post team, coached by Pfc. Cummings, hosts the Two Rock Ranch nine at the Ft. Scott field beginning at 1400 hours. If you're free, get out and support your team.

Presidians Lauded For Contributions To Two Campaigns

Two letters were received here this week in appreciation of the generosity of Presidians in two recent fund-raising campaigns.

One, addressed to Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, from the California Chapter, National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, cited that 1,782 persons here had contributed $3,177.78. "We certainly appreciate," the letter read, "the generosity and effort of everyone under your command who has helped make this year's campaign a most successful one."

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, received a congratulatory letter which indicated that Presidians had contributed $1,981.22 during a recent joint CARE-Crusade for Freedom campaign.

PIO Reporter Heads East; Will Report National Matches

Star Presidian readers will be getting first hand results of the National Rifle and Pistol Matches in the coming weeks.

PIO reporter, Pfc. Barry Farrell departs this week for Camp Perry, Ohio, where he will remain for about a month to cover the matches which begin 7 August. He will keep in touch with the post newspaper periodically with the latest scores.

Sixth Army and the Presidio have a number of top shooters and teams slated to fire in the blue ribbon events.

Farrell, a graduate of the University of Washington, entered the Army in September 1957 and upon completion of basic training at Ft. Ord was assigned to the Sixth Army PIO Section.

Before entering the service, the PIO reporter was employed by Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington as a legislative assistant. Prior to this, he was employed as a reporter for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer for three years.

puzzle answer

TENNIS CHAMPION of the 21st Engr., Sp3 Vladimar Dostal, is presented with the winning trophy by Capt. John Anderson, CO of the 21st, as runnerup Pfc. Larry Allen looks on. The recent tennis tourney was just one of the many phases of the varied 21st sports program.

Sportsminded Engrs. Boast Top Win Record

An ideal example of an effective company sports program is the one developed by the 21st Engineers.

The varied program encompasses almost all popular competitive activities, from ping-pong tournaments to football competition.

The result has been a tremendous increase in the morale and physical fitness of the men, which are the two main purposes of an athletic program.

Just recently, a singles and doubles elimination tennis tournament was held; participated in by some 16 players.

Currently, the 21st is holding a horseshoe tournament in which over twenty members of the company are vying for the championship trophy. Soon to be organized are football and volleyball teams.

Teams are organized within the company and compete against each other. Later in the season players are picked from these teams to form a company team which participates in post level competition.

Besides increasing the morale of the men, the program has brought more tangible benefits to the Company. In 1957, 21st teams won the Post football, basketball, softball and hardball championships and were runner-up in the volleyball tournament.

This year, the 21st softball team, which participates in city league play, is one of the finalists in the current Post tournament.

Responsible for this enthusiastic program are Capt. John Anderson, Company Commander, and Pfc. Brownie Cummings, manager of the 21st softball team.

Commission To Meet

Final action on special deer hunts for 1958 will be taken by the California Fish and Game Commission when it meets in San Francisco this Monday.

THE TRANSPORTATION CORPS, which is celebrating its sixteenth anniversary on 31 July, is studying a special logistical cargo carrier utilizing nuclear power. As envisioned by the Army this train, pictured in the artist's sketch, below, would be able to carry up to 150 tons of cargo over cross country terrain, without rails or roads, at 20 mph.

Transportation Fetes 16th Birthday

Special Fete Will Mark Chaplains' Anniversary

In observance of the 183d anniversary of the Army Chaplains Tuesday, Sixth U.S. Army Chaplain (Col.) Herbert H. Heuer will hold a celebration that afternoon from 1400 to 1600 in his offices, Building T-37.

Attendance, to include the Presidio Chaplain, (Lt. Col.) Theodore E. Curtis, Jr., and his staff, will be by invitation only.

Highlighting the observance of this milestone will be the cutting of a birthday cake by a member of the Sixth Army command group.

Chap. Heuer's responsibilities, as command chaplain, entail multiple functions. He serves as religious advisor to the Sixth Army Commander and administers the activities of chaplains throughout the Army area, as well as programs Character Guidance in the eight Western States.

At the Post level, Chap. Curtis and his assistants provide religious guidance, both in the weekly chapel services and in individual contacts; another important function is, of course, monthly Character Guidance lectures during troop training periods.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, in congratulating Army Chaplains, praised them for sharing the risks of combat and sacrificing their lives, if need be, to bring reassurance to the wounded and comfort to the sick and troubled.

"Through the power of their faith," he continued, they instill courage and confidence."

Seven Post Employees Awarded Cash In Suggestion Program

Seven Army employees received suggestion awards this week from Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander.

Those presented with Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificates and checks were employees in the Post Engineer Field Maintenance Shop. Donald Overly, Equipment Inspector, received a $70 award for a suggested "Marathon Frequency Converter 15 KW and 30 KW," which is now in use at the Presidio and Camp Hanford, Wash.

Bert Harrington, Engineer Power Ground Equipment Repairer, was

Burke Replaces Huff As Presidio Education Director

Joseph W. Burke is the new Education Development Officer at the Presidio, replacing Dr. Boyd F. Huff, who is now associate professor of history at the Navy Postgraduate School at Monterey.

Mr. Burke was transferred from the Signal Section, where he had been director of film and equipment exchanges for US Army Reserve and ROTC since 1954.

He was Director of Education for Headquarters Sixth Army from 1947-1954.

During the war he served as a lieutenant colonel in the pictorial and supply division of the Signal Corps at the Pentagon and in southeast Asia.

Mr. Burke was graduated with a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Idaho, where he also obtained his Master's in Education.

In addition to his full time position at the Presidio, Mr. Burke is on the evening faculty at the University of San Francisco.

awarded $60 for a "Base Clamp for Holding Dressing Tool." The clamp precludes difficulty in repair of slip rings on Hollingsworth converters.

For a safety suggestion of putting "Lights on a Frequency Changer, motor-driven 30 KW-400 cycle Hellingsworth Converter," Joseph Knipschild, Electric Motor Repairer, received $55.

An Engineer Equipment Inspector, T. Lee Butler, received $20 for a "Standardized Lifting Device" which has been adopted by the Post Engineer.

The Army's youngest tech service—the Transportation Corps—stayed busy this week acknowledging congratulatory messages from ranking military and civilian leaders on their upcoming, 31 July, sixteenth anniversary.

In his message, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, cited the corps' increasingly important role in meeting the demands for "a fast-moving, fast-striking force to meet the needs of military defense in the thermonuclear age. . . ."

Here at the Presidio, Sixth Army and Post planned joint celebrations that include an open house at Transportation offices in Bldg. 37 on the 31st and a dinner and dance party at the Ft. Scott Officers Open Mess on 1 August.

Under Colonel Louis Greenfield, Sixth Army Transportation, coordinates and supervises transportation activities throughout this eight western state command.

Myriad responsibilities include transport vehicles, harbor craft, rail equipment, commercial shipment of military personnel and cargo and the movement of services families and their household goods overseas.

Headed by Lt. Col. Everett G. Salyer, the Post Transportation Section provides support for five major commands based in and on the Presidio. Support varies from a scheduled ferry service to Angel Island to a competent motor pool.

The magnitude of the Army's world wide transportation operations can be visualized by citing the statistics of the Corps' activities for the year 1957.

Stateside, the Corps moved 6,-

ON THE SIXTEENTH anniversary of the Transportation Corps, Col. Louis Greenfield, Sixth Army Transportation Officer, and Lt. Col. Everett G. Salyer, Transportation Officer at the Presidio, discuss the role played by the Corps in various air, land and amphibious movements.

500,000 short tons of Army cargo a total of over 4 billion short-ton miles. Over the same period slightly less than 10,000,000 measurement tons of Army and Air Force cargo and a total of 888,000 passengers were processed through stateside TC terminals.

Overseas the Transportation Corps provides nearly all the land transportation required by the Armed Forces. At the same time, personnel and units are engaged in operations all over the world, which range from supporting the Air Force in its vast DEW Line project in the far north, and training and experimentation of the Greenland Ice-cap, to assisting in instructing personnel of Allied Forces from Europe to the Far East.

With the realization that future wars will call for improved mobility, flexibility and dispersion, the Corps has attempted to tailor its operational procedures, as well as its surface, air and water-borne equipment, to better serve this concept.

Plans have been developed for use of alternate ports in CONUS while existing terminals continue to be maintained as a base for rapid expansion when needed, and as important training grounds for overseas military port operations. Separate Terminal Commands have been established for our three major coast lines, and plans have been made for early inland relocation of their respective headquarters to places less vulnerable to attack.

For improving over-the-beach capabilities, Transportation Corps is planning to augment its amphibious fleet with three new amphibians, a 5-ton replacement for the DUKW, an intermediate 15-ton amphibian, and the 60-ton BARC.

In other transportation areas, the Corps has developed multi-gauge rail equipment capable of operating under a variety of climatic and geographic conditions and is studying utilization of lightweight, knocked-down rail equipment that is air transportable.

In the rapidly expanding Army Aviation field, qualitative improvement of existing Army aircraft is constantly being sought and new aircraft developed. More efficient gas turbine engines are being introduced to helicopters and development of improved STOL (short take-off and landing) and VTOL (vertical take-off and landing) aircraft is under way. In this field, Transportation Helicopter Companies have been formed to provide tactical air mobility for our Field Armies.

Seek Applicants For Foreign Area Specialist Study

Applications are being accepted for the Foreign Area Specialist Training Program. The program was established for the purpose of imparting to selected commissioned officers knowledge of a foreign geographic area, including the culture of its people and a high practicable degree of its language.

In order to be selected, an officer must be in the grade of major, captain, or first lieutenant with a minimum of three years of duty with troops; he must possess a bachelor's or advanced degree from an accredited college or university; he must not have passed his 37th birthday, and he must have an outstanding record of military service.

In addition, the officer selected must have attained a score of 22 or higher on the Army Language Aptitude Test-1.

Officers wishing to apply for this Specialist Training must submit applications (by letter) through channels to Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, Attention S1.

New Earphones Set

Washington (ANS) — The Army has scored another first with the recent development of an electronic earphone that can shut out loud noises by creating artificial quiet. It is considered to be a major breakthrough in noise reduction.

The earphones will have commercial as well as military uses. For example, they may be used by riveters and mill workers as well as artillerymen and sonar operators.

Red Carpet Rolled Out For All-Hawaii Company

Two hundred and eighty-one members of an All-Hawaii volunteer company got the Army's red carpet treatment when they arrived at Ft. Mason aboard the USNS Sultan yesterday afternoon.

On hand for the dockside greeting were eight Hawaiian-born WAC's from the Presidio and Letterman detachments; the Ft. Mason band and officials and dignitaries representing the Army and Hawaiian-American groups.

Following their debarkation, the men departed for Ft. Ord where they will begin basic training next week. Army officials said the group would go through their training as a unit, and that if it was numerically possible, would be further grouped according to the major island segment they represent.

The unit was recruited from throughout the islands and sworn in on 4 July by the then acting

SYMBOLIC KEY to 36 newly completed Military Construction Authority housing units is presented to Sfc. Lloyd S. Thaler, 441st AAA Msl. Bn., by Colonel Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer. Sfc. Thaler, wife, Beverly, and son, Rodney, were the first to move into their new house.

Another Army First

Washington (ANS) — The Army's VTOL Model 76 is the first tilt-wing aircraft to complete a successful full transition cycle in free flight. It recently took off in a hover and flew through transition to forward flight for the full length of a 7,500 foot runway before returning to hover for landing.

An Army spokesman said the Model 76 is part of the VTO research program to develop a flying machine combining the high speed forward flight of the airplane with the vertical flight capabilities of the helicopter.

Dedicate 36 New MCA Units For 441st AAA

In order that men holding key jobs might live in close proximity to the Nike-Ajax missile sites, the Military Construction Authority recently undertook a project of building housing units close to these sites.

This week, 36 families of men stationed at Hqs and C Btry of the 441st AAA Msl located in the isolated San Pablo Ridge area began moving into newly-constructed MCA housing units built only minutes away from the missile firing area.

The $16,500 two and three-bedroom homes, equipped with gas stoves, garbage disposal units, electric ventilators and refrigerators, were officially dedicated last Monday afternoon by Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer and Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks, CO of the 30th Arty Gp.

The 36 families slated to move into the new housing units are presently living in various communities near the 441st such as Oakland, Berkeley and Albany.

VA Study Shows Colors May Aid Emotional Ills

A recent Veterans Administration study indicated that color may be used as an aid in treating emotional illnesses.

During the 18 months' project exploring effects of projecting lights of different colors on several dozen normal people, it was found that blue acts as a relaxant or tranquilizer for anxious or tense individuals while red tends to disturb them.

Even though the red and blue lights selected for the experiments were of identical brightness and radiant energy, blood pressure, respiration rate, number of eyeblinks and muscle tension were significantly lower during blue illumination.

Brain wave measurements also showed less arousal of the brain when the blue light was projected.

Area Breakdown Not Available At Press Time

Washington (ANS)—There will be 35,270 Army-wide enlisted promotions that include 700 to the new super E-8 pay grade during the first quarter of Fiscal Year 1959, the Department of the Army said today.

These E-8 quotas are for First Sergeant and Sergeant Major duty positions in TOE units and U.S. Army Training Centers.

The entire duty position structure of TOE and TD units is currently being reviewed at DA to determine other positions that will be upgraded to pay grades E-8 and E-9. An Army spokesman said future quota allocations will be based on these jobs that have been upgraded. These 700 E-8 appointments will bring the Army's super grade strength to 1,300.

Here is the breakdown by pay grade:

- To pay grade, E-3 700
- To pay grade, E-7 245
- To pay grade, E-6 845
- To pay grade, E-5 6,172
- To pay grade, E-4 27,303

Sixth Army area figures and installation breakdowns could not be obtained at press time!

Hot Area Commander

Washington (ANS) — Army Major General Paul Adams has been named Commander of American Land Forces (COMMAMLANFOR) in the Lebanon area. His Joint Headquarters will operate under CINCSPECOMME commanded by Admiral Holloway.

Voice Facilities Up

Washington (ANS) — The U.S. Information Agency said today that Voice of America headquarters here has more than tripled its broadcasts beamed in Arabic to the Middle East. These intensified Arabic language broadcasts consist of major news developments and analysis of American policy in the current Middle East situation.

Presidians Raise $1150 For Lost Flyer's Family

On 11 July a small plane carrying a Presidian, his wife, his brother and his brother's wife, disappeared over southwestern Wisconsin during a violent rainstorm.

No trace has been found of the single engine plane which was owned and flown by Lester W. Weber, a teletype engineer at Signal Section, Sixth Army.

When the Weber brothers and their wives flew to visit relatives in Wisconsin, they left behind a total of 12 children.

The Lester Webers have seven children ranging in age from 3 to 21, and the Richard Webers have five children, the oldest 11 and the youngest 1.

The plane disappeared over two weeks ago. Since then a Weber Memorial Fund has been established by the Signal Section of Sixth Army. Approximately $1150 has been collected to date.

A spokesman for the Signal Section said that she was pleased by the contributions to date but hopes that, in view of the circumstances, the fund will continue to grow.

Gifts may be sent to the Weber Memorial Fund, Signal Section, Sixth Army.

Better Understanding

Is Surely Needed

(Editor's Note: The following editorial will appear in the August issue of "The American Rifleman.")

With the cold war getting hot, and at times explosive, there is much talk about making the objectives and principles of the United States better understood throughout the world. We hear a lot with regard to the role of cultural exchanges, student exchanges, farmer exchanges, and other exchanges of average citizens as an effective means of supplementing the direct activities of our government in its efforts to promote a better understanding of the United States in other countries and of increasing mutual understanding between our people and other peoples of the world.

To some, this may seem to be a rather far-fetched approach to the political, economic, and social problems of the world. Nevertheless, each of us has a vital interest in this or any other reasonable attempt to find a solution to the perplexing situation which faces us today. Although America has not yet been the battleground for a world conflict of arms, many of us have been exposed to the horrors of war. All of us realize that the next world war may be in our own community.

Because we are a peace-loving nation we assume that all people want peace. If we are going to take advantage of this assumption, we must devise methods to get together with other people of similar interests so that we can gradually learn a little bit more of each other. If our American ideology is to be understood in the great struggle being waged between opposing ways of life, we must develop a person-to-person communication with the people in foreign lands throughout the world.

It is basic that the easiest way for people to start becoming better acquainted is in some field in which they already have a common interest. Sporting events are a demonstration of idealism in action and, as such, they appeal to all people of every country who hope for a better world. Sportsmen are admired and respected because they exemplify high moral qualities as well as specialized ability.

The love of shooting is a living force of tremendous potential in the development of friendship and understanding among peoples. The National Rifle Association of America is recognized as the organization which governs the sport of rifle and pistol shooting in the United States. For the past many years it has represented the best interests of the shooters of this country in local, national, and international shooting events. From its beginning, this organization has promoted friendly rivalry between nations in the sport of shooting. Scarcely a year has passed, except in time of war, that it has not engaged in some sort of an International competition with rifle or pistol, either shoulder-to-shoulder or postal.

This year will mark another milestone in the field of International shooting when the 37th World Shooting Championships will be fired during the month of August in Moscow, Russia, under the auspices of the International Shooting Union. The NRA International Shooting Team, which will represent the United States of America in this important event, is representative of the best shooters in America for this type of shooting. They have been carefully selected and diligently trained. En route to the World Championships, they will participate in warm-up matches with our friends in West Germany, Sweden, and Switzerland.

In the heat of the so-called struggle for men's minds, it must not be forgotten that men have hearts too. It may be too great a dream to believe that peace can be won through the interchange of sportsmanship around the world. At the same time, we can be proud of the fact that the sportsmen who have been selected for the NRA International Shooting Team to represent the United States of America are the finest type of American ambassadors. As they meet and compete against other sportsmen who hold the destiny of the world in their minds and hearts, we salute them and wish them every success for better understanding.

The Army today maintains 398 chapels in the United States and more than 400 overseas.—ANS.

The greatest danger to U.S. Security is that a little war will get out of control, and may expand into all-out war. The likelihood of this increases with the length of the conflict. Long continued fighting may cause the political issues at stake to assume expanded, exaggerated significance, and almost certainly will result in whipped up emotional furies. That is the background that gives urgent meaning to General Taylor's statement: "If we are forced to fight a limited war, it is essential that we react promptly and decisively."

It's time to register for your home state's elections. See your Voting Officer, TODAY!

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Holcomb-Niccoll

Mark Twain once said, "Every-one complains about the weather, but nobody does anything about it." Perhaps things are easier said than done, because a lot of people complain about the way our government is run but nobody does anything about it. Anyway, this week we decided to find out exactly what a few people would do. So we asked the following:

QUESTION: If you were President of the United States, what would you do first?

ANSWERS

Sp5 Stanley T. Bergen, Hqs. 30th AAA Gp.: What would a man do?

There isn't much the President can do, he's so restricted by Congress. I certainly wouldn't abolish the Army. It's been my home for too long. Actually, I think that crisis with Russia has to be straightened out. If I had the power, I'd give them their choice, put up or shut up. A summit talk would really be the best time to deliver the ultimatum. I think it's Russia's goal to get us spread as thin as possible. Its my opinion there's going to be a war sooner or later. But I'd die today to make sure my son wouldn't have to be a socialist tomorrow.

Sp2 Emma Reynolds, Troop Information Hqs.: I think it's important for a President to be on hand at all times. I would always be. Also I think the President's cabinet is important. I'd probably take advice from the cabinet. Mostly I think the President should use the armed forces to bring about peace, as an aggressor if necessary. In an emergency, for example in Lebanon, if it really got out of hand, I feel that the President should be right there on the spot since that's the President's job.

Army Strength Down

Washington (ANS)—Army procurement during May totalled 27,205, which included 6,864 reenlistments. Overall Army strength was estimated at 902,249. It was 905,638 on April 30, 1958.

Pvt. Daniel J. Lyons, Post Consolidated Mess: If I were President, the first thing I'd do is lower taxes. I'd cut personal income taxes, reduce them all, especially those in the lower brackets. If you lower income taxes, you cut down inflation. And I'd do something about these foreign aid programs, all this business of giving money out and getting nothing in return. I think we should make provisions for getting it all back. In other words, we should only lend money under certain provisions, and we'd make those provisions pretty clear before throwing our money around. For example, we should tell them that if they get some of our money, we should get the rights to land or oil or things like that.

Joseph Burke, Post Education Director: Well, you know it's hard to say exactly what I would do first. I feel there are so many things that could be done. But thinking in terms of international peace, I think one of the most effective programs that could be established would be an international exchange of vocations. For example, lawyers, carpenters, plumbers, dentists, people in all walks of life, would go to foreign countries and live for at least a year, taking their families with them, and work in their professions. This way, more people could come to a greater understanding of different nations and their ways of life. Naturally, a program of this sort would only be worthwhile in a long term operation. And possibly many of the families who would come to America might want to remain here. But nevertheless an exchange of vocations, which is in effect the same thing as the teacher-student exchange program on a larger scale, would ultimately be effective in establishing a greater understanding among countries and possibly work towards international peace.

Army Will Assist In Celebration of Roosevelt Centennial

New York City (ANS)—America this year with Army cooperation is celebrating the Theodore Roosevelt centennial. About this active, independent thinking American (who was born here October 27, 1858) Encyclopedia Britannica has written:

"It can be said of Washington that he founded the American nation, and of Lincoln that he preserved it; it can be said of Theodore Roosevelt that he revitalized it."

"Rough rider" T. R., himself, one of 19 U.S. presidents to have been in military service, once declared: "The things that will destroy America are prosperity-at-any-price, peace-at-any-price, safety-first instead of duty-first, the love of soft living and the get-rich-quick theory of life."

Band Schedule Set

The Sixth Army Brass Band has two events on its current schedule of performances.

The band is slated to play at the Seattle Seafair on 8 August.

recently assigned

An airborne Signal Corps officer, Lt. Col. RALPH G. BELON, has recently been assigned to the Sixth U.S. Army Signal Section from DCS LOG, Department of the Army, where he was Chief of the Research Coordination Branch for three years.

Lt. Col. Belon's specific job here will be announced within the next few days.

A 19-year Army veteran with the first two of those years as an enlisted man, he was commissioned a second lieutenant in February, 1942, subsequent to completing Signal Corps Officers' Candidate School at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

During World War II, Lt. Col. Belon filled various staff positions with units in Northern Italy, at the War Department in Washington, D.C., and as Chief of the Wire Operations Division, Signal Section, GHQ AFPAC, under Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines.

Lt. Col. Belon won his paratrooper wings in 1949 and was Signal Officer for the 11th Airborne Division. He later served as Deputy Signal Officer, Second Army, and in the same capacity with the Allied Land Forces in Northern Italy from 1951 to 1954.

Just prior to coming here, he was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his services at DCS LOG.

Lt. Col. Belon, 44-year-old native of Sacramento who was raised in Northern California, is now "at home" for the first time since he entered the Army. He currently lives in Marin County with his wife, Cleo, and their three children, Bruce, 17; Cheryl, 13; and Marc, 9.

New WAC Enlisted Procurement Officer at Sixth Army Recruiting District (6400) Headquarters here is Maj. MARGARET H. HARLOW, a veteran of 15 years' service, one of which was in enlisted status.

A former schoolteacher, Maj. Harlow enlisted in the WAAC in 1942, was commissioned a year later, and was integrated into the Regular Army in 1948.

During World War II, she served in New Guinea and the Philippines; and, in 1951, she was assigned to duties in London, England, for two years.

Prior to entering the Army, Maj. Harlow taught in Minnesota public schools and in Seattle, Wash. A resident of Park Rapids, Minn., she was graduated from State College, Bemidji, Minn., and took post-graduate work at the School of Geography, University of Washington.

Maj. Harlow also is a graduate of the WAC Officers' Advance Course. Included among her decorations are the Philippine Presidential Unit Citation and the Philippine Liberation Medal.

Capt. PAUL V. CULBERTSON, recently assigned here from Fort Lewis, Wash., has been named Assistant Chief of the Sixth Army GI Enlisted Personnel Branch (Military Personnel Division).

The 38-year-old combat company commander and veteran of 16-years' service, previously had been assigned to the S3 Office, 1st Battle Group, 12th Infantry, at Fort Lewis.

Holder of the Bronze Star Medal for Valor for heroism in Italy during World War II while Commander of Company A, 351st Infantry, he also earned the Combat Infantry Badge during that period. He fought in Italy from November, 1943, until the end of the war.

Except for a limited stint after World War II on detail as a Transportation Corps officer, Capt. Culbertson has always been an Infantry officer; in fact, he is one of about 85 Infantry officers to have completed the Armored Officers' Advance Course at Fort Knox, Ky.

Capt. Culbertson was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942 upon his graduation from Henderson State Teachers' College, Ark., and concurrent completion of the ROTC course there.

Since World War II, he has filled various posts in Alaska (1950) and Korea (1955-56) and was awarded a Regular Army commission in 1949. He also served on ROTC duty at his Alma Mater.

Although he calls Springfield, Mo., his home, Capt. Culbertson currently resides in San Mateo with his wife, June, and their son, Robert, 11.

Graduated last month from the Wharton School of Business, University of Pennsylvania, with a master's degree in business administration, Capt. EDWARD A. RUSEK has been assigned here as Chief of the Accounting Policy and Evaluation Division, Sixth Army Finance and Accounting Section.

A combat veteran of two wars, Capt. Rusek was a student under an Army program which allows selected officers to complete graduate work in civilian educational institutions while they are on active duty.

During World War II, Capt. Rusek served three years as an enlisted man, earning the Combat Infantry Badge and a Bronze Star for Meritorious Service while a rifleman in Germany with the 1st

Top Area Recruiters Hold Meeting Here

Sixth U.S. Army WAC recruiters opened a three-day conference here yesterday during which representatives from Recruiting Main Stations throughout the eight Western states will attempt to resolve major problems confronted in WAC recruitment.

The conference is being held at Headquarters, Sixth Army Recruiting District. Chairman is Maj. Margaret H. Harlow, newly-appointed Recruiting District WAC Enlisted Procurement Officer.

Two high-ranking guests at the conference will be Lt. Col. Margaret M. Thornton, Sixth Army WAC Staff Advisor, and Lt. Col. Helen H. Corthay, Sixth Army Information Section Executive Officer who will leave after the conference for Washington, D.C., where she will head WAC recruiting at Department of the Army.

The welcoming address was made by Col. Walter H. Skielvig, Recruiting District Commander.

Recruiting Main Station representatives who are attending the conference are: Capt. Joyce Harris, Seattle, Wash.; Capt. Lillian E. Baker and Lt. Barbara J. Keil, Portland, Ore.; Capt. Ruth Knick and Lt. Therese A. Ledoux, Oakland, Calif.; Capt. Helena F. Ba-

Army's New Night Device Will Aid Combat Troops

The Army announced this week the development of a new night vision device which intensifies reflected starlight or skyglow and thus enables troops to spot military objectives after dark.

A potential civilian use for the device, developed jointly by the Army Engineer Research and Development Laboratories, Fort Belvoir, Va., and Radio Corporation of America, Harrison, N.J., is installation on an astronomical telescope to extend its range and sensitivity.

It also possibly could be used in the making of certain X-rays using a substantially reduced level of radiation; or, it may be used in the viewing of minute flashes of light emitted by nuclear particles, thereby giving scientists a better understanding of their behavior.

Officially designated "Cascade Photosensitive Image Intensifier," the device operates essentially as follows:

Gathering starlight and skyglow, which often is too low to be of value in discerning objects at night, the instrument intensifies or amplifies the diffused light sufficiently to present a distinguishable image.

The heart of the instrument is a cascaded image tube, actually two tubes working in a series and operating through an optical system which focuses light reflected from objects in the field.

The first tube acts as a pre-amplifier for the second which in turn further amplifies or intensifies the light and presents the image on the viewing surface.

The tube is powered by a minute current at approximately 25,000 volts, furnished by a compact six-volt battery through a system of transformers and transistors.

Representing the Recruiting District Headquarters are: Maj. Harlow, Capt. Mildred G. Qualls, Lt. Barbara L. Bennett and Lt. Georginna A. Durio.

Your Vote Important

The Office of Armed Forces Information and Education, DOD, and the States have joined forces to help persons who, by virtue of their service in the Armed Forces, will be absent from their legal voting places in this general election year.

This voting series will guide you as to your state's particular absentee voting laws. Space limitations prohibit detailed information and the series will be general in this respect it is for guidance only.

For further information, always consult your local voting officer.

Nevada—Servicemen from Nevada will be automatically registered by their county clerk upon application for an absentee ballot, provided the serviceman meets registration requirements.

To obtain an absentee ballot, mail a Federal Post Card Application or any other written communication to your county clerk. Marked ballots should be returned to the county clerk promptly.

New Hampshire — Servicemen from this state automatically become registered upon applying for an absentee ballot, provided they meet registration requirements. To apply for an absentee ballot mail a Federal Post Card Application to the Secretary of State in Concord. Any written communication will also suffice.

Ballots will be mailed to the voter 20 days before the day of election. Mark promptly and return to Concord.

Vermont—Servicemen may register in Vermont simultaneously with application for an absentee ballot.

To obtain an absentee ballot, file a Federal Post Card Application and mail it to your town clerk any time before an election. Mark ballot and return promptly.

West Virginia—Temporary registration may be effected by absentee process by members of the Armed Forces. Request a "Temporary Registration Form" from your clerk of the County Court at any time.

When applying for an absentee ballot, mail a Federal Post Card Application to your clerk of the Circuit Court at any time. Mark ballot promptly and return quickly.

Montana—Servicemen may register by requesting a "war registration card" from the county, city or town clerk of residence. This must be returned not later than 45 days before an election.

To obtain an absentee ballot, mail a Federal Post Card Application to your town, county or city clerk. Mark your ballot carefully and return promptly.

Here's another chance to try your luck. Take a chance by filling out the coupon below, listing which records, popular, jazz, and classical, you think might be best sellers this month. Clip the coupon and mail it to the Star Presidian, Bldg. 87A. Winning records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Records, 262 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

MGM has released a little black disc entitled "Mood Indigo," with Fran Warren. In her sultry voice, the glamorous Miss Warren sings "Just Friends," "Anywhere I Wander," "Wish You Were Here," and "The Man That Got Away." Life is obviously not worth living, according to her interpretation in "Unless You're Near Me."

Those of you whose brows vacillate between high and low quite possibly will enjoy "Anna Russell's Guide to Concert Audiences," released by Columbia. Miss Russell's formidable fearlessness and surging energy act as a sunny cicerone to the concert audience. "Nacht und Tag" gets transformed into something nearly unrecognizable when she uses it as a vehicle for the British pure but dull singer and calls it "Oh! Night, Oh! Day." Other selections included are La Donna Nannella and Habanera Hoe Down.

Schubertians have been particularly well treated by Angel Records, for the first batch of Great Recordings of the Century includes among its re-issues Artur Schnabel's much prized and until now exceedingly rare performance of the B flat major Sonata made in London in 1939. The performance as a whole is a compendium of Schnabel's accomplishments, his singing tones, his unerring sense of tempo, his musical sensitivity, which are all here evident on this glorious interpretation of the piano sonata.

Popular Information ExO To Head WAC Recruiting

One of the Army's most popular and talented lady soldiers, Lt. Col. Helen H. Corthay, executive officer of the Sixth Army Information Section, will end her tour of duty at the Presidio this week.

Her new assignment will take her to Washington, D. C., where she will head the WAC Recruiting Section, Department of the Army.

Colonel Corthay has served at the Presidio since September of 1955, when she reported here as Major Helen Hart. Her subsequent marriage to Louis Corthay, San Francisco businessman, and promotion to lieutenant colonel, highlighted her assignment here.

Born in Nebraska, Lt. Col. Corthay graduated from Duchesne College and taught history at the University of Nebraska prior to joining the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps in 1942. She was one of the first 200 WAC officers to win her regular Army commission in the Women's Army Corps in 1948.

Besides her previous assignment to the Presidio, 46-47, Lt. Col. Corthay has served as WAC Staff Advisor, 1st Infantry Division, on occupation duty in Bavaria; PIO, Frankfurt, Germany; WAC Staff Director, Office, Chief, Chemical Section; Information Section, National

To New Duties
Lt. Col. Helen H. Corthay

Guard Bureau and PIO, The WAC Center, Ft. McClellan, Ala.

The Corthays have established their permanent residence in Sausalito.

Postal Changes Will Begin Today; Ease 5c Penalty

The nickel service charge previously announced relative to unpaid and shortpaid mail will be suspended until 31 October, Postmaster John Fixa announced this week. The 5 cent penalty has been suspended in order for mailers to become familiar with the new postage rates.

The new postal rates, which became effective today, are as follows:

- First class letters—from 3¢ to 4¢ per ounce.
- Post cards—from 2¢ to 3¢ each.
- Air mail letters—from 6¢ to 7¢ an ounce.
- Air mail post cards—from 4¢ to 5¢ each.
- Third class matter — 3¢ for first two ounces or fraction thereof, and 1½¢ for each additional ounce up to 16 ounces.

"Picnic" Next On Little Theater Sched Maxey Will Direct

The drama season at the Presidio continues its active schedule this summer with a performance of William Inge's play, "Picnic," slated for 20-22 August.

The vehicle will be directed by Sp3 Ed Maxey, who received an award as best actor in the one act plays "Nude with Nike" and "The Wrong Slant" produced at the Service Club 13 June.

This penetrating study in human relations, which involves aspects of both comedy and tragedy, was made into a film starring Kim Novak and William Holden.

THREE enlisted men of Battery C, 740th AAA Missile Battalion, at Sharp Park recently were awarded Sixth ARADCOM Certificates of Achievement for Meritorious Service by Maj. Conrad O. Mannes, recently-named 740th Commander. They are (l. to r.): Sfc. John G. Gentzwein, Chief of B Section; Sfc. Ray H. Sigler, Chief of C Section; and Sp4 Douglas R. Conyers, Fire Control Operator, all of whom were commended for major contributions towards the Battery's three "kills" out of three shots during the recent annual service fire practice at Red Canyon Range, N. M. Another Certificate was presented to WO Hyman L. Faulkner, former specialist with C Battery, who currently is assigned to Battery D in Newark.

Army Marksmen Are Expected To Shine In Moscow Shooting

When the United States International Shooting Team competes in the 37th World Shooting Championships in Moscow, 17-26 August, a lot of names familiar to Star Presidian readers will be popping up in the daily news. In fact, Army marksmen dominate a group that has been termed "the finest all-around team in U.S. shooting history."

Besides boasting eleven regular team members (see complete team listings below), six officials and four coaches are Army products.

Sfc. Nelson Lincoln, in recent years a top member of both the Presidio and Sixth Army Pistol Teams, leads the five-man free pistol team.

Enroute to the World Contest, the International Team will compete in practice matches with West Germany, Sweden and Switzerland (see editorial, page 2).

From 9-27 June some of the nation's best shooters competed for places on the International Team, firing for the record four times over the International course at Ft. Benning, Georgia.

Final selections for the team were made by choosing those with the five high scoring free pistol aggregates (combined score); four high scoring rapid fire aggregates; four high scoring running deer aggregates; the five high scoring smallbore rifle aggregates and the five high scoring free rifle aggregates.

Previously preliminary tryouts eliminated all but 122 of the 595 who competed in regional matches. A complete report of the finals will appear in next month's issue of The American Rifleman.

Infantry Division. He was discharged in 1946.

Recalled in 1951 shortly after having graduated from Drexel Institute of Technology, Pa., but then as a Regular Army second lieutenant, Capt. Rusek saw combat in Korea with the 10th FA Battalion, 3d Infantry Division, in the capacity of forward observer, battery executive officer and battalion assistant S3. He was awarded an oak leaf cluster for his Bronze Star for service in Korea (1952-53).

Subsequent to his return from the Far East, Capt. Rusek held dual positions at Fort Knox, Ky., as Commander of the 12th Finance Disbursing Section and Finance Officer, 3d Armored Division; just prior to returning to school in 1956, he was Finance Officer at Valley Forge Army Hospital.

1st Lt. WILLIAM D. DUFFY, a 28-year-old San Francisco native and graduate of the University of San Francisco, has been named Aide de Camp to Sixth ARADCOM Commander, Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw.

He succeeds Capt. Robert L. Adcock, who will attend the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

The newly-appointed Aide de Camp, assigned here after having completed studies at the Regimental and Battalion Officers' Antiaircraft and Guided Missile School, Fort Bliss, Tex., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Duffy, 2582 17th Ave.

Lt. Duffy holds a bachelor of science degree in Philosophy from USF and also has taken post-graduate work in Law there.

Having completed five and a half years of Federal service, Lt. Duffy previously served in Germany with the 48th AAA Missile Battalion.

Death March Vet Wins Another Award

By Pfc. Woodall Hubbell

Star Presidian Associate Editor

A 45-year-old survivor of the Bataan Death March in the darkest hours of World War II, who has served more time in combat than in State-side duty, added another laurel to his collection of awards and decorations this week when Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, presented him with a Certificate of Achievement.

During ceremonies Monday in his office, Col. Rau made the presentation to M/Sgt. Bienvenido Bulilan, 23-year Army veteran and holder of 15 decorations, to include the Combat Infantry Badge, Bronze Star for Valor, Purple Heart and Philippine Presidential Citation.

M/Sgt. Bulilan, a supply specialist with the Post Quartermaster Section since late March, was commended for outstanding service while assigned as NCOIC of the Specialist Staff Section, Non-Perishable Supply Division, U.S. Army Quartermaster Center, Tokyo, Japan, during the period 17 April 1957 to 11 March 1958.

During his colorful career, in which he has seen service as a Philippine Scout and as both an officer and enlisted man in the American Army, he has eluded capture, survived the Death March and subsequent imprisonment, escaped the Japanese by a 500-mile canoe trip and been the first man to slip through the Japanese lines and across no-man's land to meet elements of the Sixth U.S. Army during its invasion of Palo, Leyte, P.I.

The Presidio NCO's story is one of inspiration and courage.

He first enlisted in the Philippine Scouts in 1936. When the Japanese overran the Philippines early in World War II, he was serving with the Scouts' 57th Infantry Combat Team. After the Allies were forced to surrender, M/Sgt. Bulilan, with a mess sergeant and two cooks from the 57th Infantry, slipped into the hills to continue the resistance; but, they were ringed by enemy troops, captured and forced into the storied Death March. M/Sgt. Bulilan, incidentally, was wounded by shrapnel during an air raid after the surrender.

"That march was horrible," M/Sgt. Bulilan recalled. "We had to walk about 500 miles in five days . . . we kept going day and night . . . my group had no food or water and if we stopped, we were forced to stand or sit in cramped positions; there was no lying down."

"I gave one guard 50 pesos ($25) to fill my canteen with water, but he took the canteen and never gave it back. I couldn't say anything. He would have bayoneted me."

End of the march for M/Sgt. Bulilan, and 30,000-50,000 other sick, hungry captives, was the infamous O'Donnell concentration camp in Capes, a small community in Tarlac, Luzon.

The hot, steaming camp was incredibly filthy, M/Sgt. Bulilan remembers. "Hundreds and hundreds of people died every day; there was no sanitation in the crowded camp and we got very little food—maybe a handful of rice and a half glass of water. Also, we had a cholera epidemic. There were so many horrible things about the way we were treated, I can't begin to pick out the worst. The Japs were trying to kill us indirectly."

"But, we had hope. We may have been dispirited, but we weren't broken."

Death March Vet
M/Sgt. Bulilan

Finally, a victim of the camp conditions, M/Sgt. Bulilan was struck down by malaria and dysentery—probably because, "I couldn't take a bath the whole time I was there; we had no clothing or blankets and our barracks was a shed with no floor; we lived like pigs."

M/Sgt. Bulilan managed to avoid being sent to the infirmary where "I surely would have died"; was cared for by a friend; and, after intercession by the American Red Cross and his wife, Adelaide, was paroled to his wife and sent to Manila. He had spent four months in prison.

For two months, as he slowly regained his strength, M/Sgt. Bulilan reported dutifully to the Japanese Headquarters in Manila, each time hoping that the visit would be his last.

Finally, in November of 1942, he and his wife slipped from the city and embarked on a harrowing two-weeks' journey southward by canoe, island-hopping more than 500 miles to Palo, Leyte, and relative freedom.

When the American landing on Leyte became imminent two years later, M/Sgt. Bulilan organized a band of "city" guerrillas to collect money and supplies for their mountain counterparts. The group's strength ranged from 40 to 50 men.

Elements of Sixth Army stormed Palo in October of 1944 and M/Sgt. Bulilan was the first man to sneak by the Japanese lines and cross no-man's land to contact the American forces. During the ensuing invasion, he was responsible for furnishing the U.S. Army with fighting guides.

Shortly thereafter, he enlisted in the AUS and was named recruiting sergeant at 4th Replacement Depot, with the responsibility of enlisting Philippine Scouts into the AUS. (Later, these men were authorized to enlist in the Regular Army.)

He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1945 to serve as Executive Officer, Company B, 1st Military Police Battalion. Four years later, he was relieved from active duty, reenlisted as a sergeant, and made his first trip to the United States. After a year, in 1950, he was recalled as an officer and sent to Japan, where he served during the Korean Conflict as a supply and motor officer at the Quartermaster Depot in Kobe, Japan.

In 1954, he was returned to the States; stayed here a few weeks; returned to the Philippines, where he was again relieved from active duty; reenlisted for duty in Japan; and remained overseas until coming here in March.

with Christine Johnson

"It was thrilling. It was absolutely out of this world," said Caroline Schutt, the first woman in the Presidio Army Flying Club to do solo flying.

"We had been out for a regular flying lesson and put down at the Napa Airport. My instructor, his name is Robert Becker, stepped out of the plane and said it was time for me to solo. Well!

Caroline Schutt

"So I took off and for thirty minutes I was up in the air by myself. I thoroughly enjoyed it."

Mrs. Schutt, who works in Finance and Accounting at Fort Mason, began her flying lessons on 15 February. She had always been interested in flying, and when the opportunity to take instruction at the Presidio presented itself, Mrs. Schutt took immediate advantage.

"At my first lesson, I didn't know exactly what to expect," she said. "People always say that flying an airplane is no different from driving a car. Well, I think whoever said that is wrong. I liked flying right away, but it was a completely different feeling."

Mrs. Schutt, who had only 33 flying hours when she soloed, went on to say, "In a small plane, you have the sensation that the land is moving under you. It doesn't feel as if you are moving at all because you are up there moving with the wind."

The plane the flying club uses is a Piper L18CC. It is silver and is about the same size, and actually looks like, the small plane that Lindbergh flew in across the Atlantic. All military personnel, civilian workers for the Army, and military dependents are eligible to join the Presidio Army Flying Club. In addition to flying lessons, the students are instructed in aerial navigation and meteorology.

"Our plane travels from about 45 to 110 miles an hour. Actually, when you're flying, you don't have time to think about anything else. Maybe that's why I've never been nervous. There is always too much to do."

'Y' Will Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Fifty years ago, the Great White Fleet steamed into San Francisco Bay during an interlude in its 'round-the-world "big stick" cruise.

And wave-weary sailors who headed for the "Y", knowing they could find a bed, or read a book, or write a letter home, so appreciated these small services in days when America's fighting men were ignored unless they were winning a war that they did write home about the day or two or three they spent at the "Y."

Those letters prompted the founding of a permanent YMCA for the Armed Forces, established 6 August 1908 along the waterfront.

Wednesday, the Armed Forces YMCA—located at 166 Embarcadero since 1926—will celebrate its Golden Anniversary during a luncheon for approximately 150 military special services officers, chaplains and special guests.

Heading the list of guests will be senior military area commanders, to include Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander and a member of the YMCA Advisory Committee. Other representatives from the Presidio will include the following section chiefs and members of their staffs:

Col. Arthur W. Gustafson, Sixth Army Special Services Officer; Lt. Col. Calvin B. Leek, Sixth Army ARADCOM Special Services Officer; Maj. Charles Dong, Presidio Special Services Officer; Col. Herman H. Heuer, Sixth Army Chaplain; and Lt. Col. Theodore E. Curtis, Presidio Chaplain.

In addition to the luncheon, the "Y's" Junior Hostesses plan a Golden Anniversary Ball Saturday, 9 August.

Historically, the growth of the Embarcadero YMCA closely parallels the expansion of the Armed Forces during the first half of the century, as well as the gradual public appreciation of the contribution to national defense of the American serviceman.

Initially, the "Y" was established along the San Francisco waterfront in various rented quarters to service Navy personnel; but, during World War I the demand for recreational and social facilities for all servicemen was so great, the "Y" was officially designated the Army-Navy YMCA.

The "Y" was located permanently in its present building in 1926 and since then has periodically expanded to include a full gymnasium and swimming pool, steam room, sun deck, and handball courts.

Its free services include three dances weekly, weekly supper club, movies, bingo, theater tickets, picnic and bike outings, tours of the city, talent shows, check cashing and safe for valuables.

$30,000 Grant

West Point Exhibit

With a grant of $30,000 from the Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis, the U.S. Military Academy will shortly open an exhibit showing the development of military art and institutions from ancient Rome to the present.

It will occupy a full gallery in the West Point Museum's areas in Thayer Hall, the new academic building now being completed. Visitors next spring will see seven dioramas tracing the changes in tactics over two centuries, with figures varying from an inch to full size.

There will be displays depicting Great Captains of History, the Principles of War, and a World War I trench through which visitors can walk and see how soldiers lived in the mud of Flanders.

Full-scale figures of soldiers in complete equipment will represent the six great warrior nations of the world. The Room will also contain American, German, and Japanese military paintings from the two World Wars.

Giants Take First Big Step Towards Top Title

Manager M/Sgt. Rex R. Mullender has elected to go with ace righthander Michael Frye when his Presidio Giants, Golden Gate Little League Champions, tangle with San Rafael in the opening round of the Marin County Sub-District playoff tonight. Game time is 1815 and the scene of action will be Pop Hicks' Field, Barnard Ave. and Arguello.

Should the Giants win tonight, they will head for Petaluma tomorrow to compete in the Sub-District finals. A win there would send them to the District finals set for 5 August in Fairfax—the first big step toward the annual Little League World Series.

In other games tonight in the quarter finals San Anselmo meets Tiburon in San Anselmo, Petaluma meets Sausalito in Petaluma, and Marin Wood meets Sleepy Hollow in Fairfax.

In the four games being played tonight four of the teams will be eliminated. Tomorrow night winners of the San Anselmo-

Tiburon game will go up against the winners of the Petaluma-Sausalito game and the winners of the Golden Gate-San Rafael game will meet the winners of the Marin Wood-Sleepy Hollow game.

Finny Friend May Add Fast 'Fin' For Fact Finding

"Hey soldier, that striper may be worth a fin!"

Proving that cash is still the most popular commodity in the contest market, the California Department of Fish and Game has announced a marked increase in the return of tags after they placed a five dollar value on 150 tags put on striper earlier this year. Last year only two tags were returned. This year ten have already found their way back to 722 Capitol Avenue in Sacramento.

Tags on cash winning fish are clearly marked "$5" and should be accompanied by time, date, place where the bass was caught, and of course your address—otherwise, no money.

Your Star Presidian will add to this munificent award by taking a picture of your catch for local publication and your scrapbook.

Ninth Inning Uprising Punctures Local Dream

Caught with their errors down, the Presidio Toreros fumbled away the final game of a gallant comeback try to lose the California State Semi-Pro Championship to the San Diego Marines, 16-2.

Eight errors combined with the heavy sticking and alert playing of the pre-tourney favored leathernecks proved too much for the locals and they saw their dream of becoming the first Army team ever to win the state title go a glimmering.

Errors plagued the team throughout the week-long tourney and only the good right arm of Wes Stock, 15-1, and the big sticking of Terry Maddox kept them in the running.

After dropping a heartbreaking 4-3 opener, the Toreros rallied behind the four hit pitching of Stock to garner 10-3 win over the Fresno Police. Two of Fresno's runs came on errors. Terry Maddox hit 3 for 4 and drove in 4 runs. The home nine mustered a 12 hit attack in this outing.

Roger Sawyer trooped to the mound in Tuesday night's debacle and held the Marines, despite errors, to a respectable 8-2 until the final inning.

The Marines have now earned the right to represent California in the national championships slated to begin in Wichita, Kan. on 15 August.

AAA Softball Nines Polish Top Skills For Group Tourney

The 30th Artillery Group Conference Softball Tournament will be played at Ft. Baker, 24-30 August.

Following this tourney the winning battalion level team will be eligible for the Regional Softball Tournament, to be held at Ft. Baker from 7-13 September.

Each battalion and headquarters battery, 30th Artillery Group, will be limited to one team composed of a maximum of 15 players, one non-playing coach and one non-playing office manager.

Personnel participating will be placed on TDY to Headquarters, 30th Artillery Group, Ft. Barry, and must report there no later than 0900 hours, 25 August, for food, quarters and orientation.

Ord's Laxson Wins Sixth Army Golf; Jacobs Is Second

Ft. Ord's Sfc. Jack Laxson fired a three under par 291 to take top individual honors in the 76-hole Sixth U.S. Army Open Golf Tournament at Ft. Lewis, last weekend.

Presidio Sfc. Murray Jacobs grabbed second place the hard way when he downed Pfc. Jim Clawson on the first hole of a sudden death playoff. Both men had carded identical 293s in regular play.

The Ft. Lewis duo of M/Sgt. John Welker and Pfc. John Fry tied for fourth place with 295s.

In the Senior Division, M/Sgt. Keith Dehner posted a 311, giving him a 22-stroke advantage over his nearest rival, Col. Arthur Hyatt, unattached.

WACs Meet Arch Rivals On PX Field Tomorrow

What may well be a preview of team finalist play in the busy Women's Interservice Softball League will be given local fans when the Presidio ladies meet their Ft. Ord counterparts at 1400 hours tomorrow on the turf of the PX Field.

Currently tied for first place, the Toreras boast a 5-2 record, while Ord comes into the contest with a 6-2 record. In their only previous meeting this year, Presidio's Winifred Puccio blanked the Ordettes, 6-0.

The Toreras will go into the crucial contest minus the talents of first baseman Lee Brandl, sidelined with injuries.

In their last outing the WACs bumped the Mather WAFs 8-3. Erma Collins went the distance on the mound.

In an earlier contest Florian Vierra broke a 6-6 stalemate when she belted a round tripper in the bottom of the sixth to give the locals a win over the Oakland Army Terminal. Collins was the winning pitcher.

Bowling Alleys Reopen; Boast $4000 New Look

Presidio's most popular participant sport—bowling—was back among the living this week as both the Post and Ft. Scott alleys came out of their "renovation hiatus" with a $4,000 new look.

Closed since 22 July, the alleys reopened on Wednesday night and competition in three leagues, a fourth is being organized, will get under way on Monday.

M/Sgt. Charles D. Mahon, manager of the post bowling alleys, says that despite refinished alleys, new equipment and other extras, there will be no increase in the regular price of 35 cents per line and 10-cent shoe rental.

"Bowling is a real big sport at the Presidio," says Mahon, "and we like to provide our players with the very best and latest in equipment. Right now we are anxious to get a fourth league organized for Thursday night play. Tell your readers to contact myself or Sfc. Ed Johnson, at the Ft. Scott alley, or just drop by Bldg. 1219, if they're interested in signing up."

Hours and nights for league play at the two alleys remain the same.

In the current issue of The American Rifleman, a former Marine Corps officer and shotgun marksman for more than 30 years, Henry B. Stowers, describes the "swing-through-shot" for hunters. It is designed to help hunters who get little off-season practice score hits while expending a minimum of time and money in practice.

Shelton over the high bar.

Shelton Most Versatile Star In Weekend Track

Former USC star Ernie Shelton, XV Corps Reserve, not only won his specialty at the Allcomers track meet in Redwood City last week, but also surprised everyone by winning a second event and placing in two others.

A leap of 6-6 gave Ernie top honors in the high jump class, a 164-8 throw gained him victory in the javelin event.

Shelton also took third place in shotput with 40-6, and the discus with 124-4½.

Lieutenant Bill Neider, former

Kansas ace, took the Peninsula Shotput championship with a toss of 56-8½.

All of the men are staying in condition for their coming competition at the Brussels World Fair.

Goff Beaten, Still Spoils Rival's No-Hit Game

The 740th softballers lost a practice game Tuesday to last year's Class A Calif. State Champions, the Redwood City Merchants.

During the game, played at Hawes Field in Redwood City, winning pitcher, Larry Hagan, struck out 17 batters and allowed only one single to help his team gain a 8-0 win.

Carl Goff, the 740th's pitcher gave up eleven hits. He has had 3 one-hitters this year and was the batter who hit the scratch single that ruined Hagan's perfect game.

Btry C Grabs CO's Sports Participation Trophy Once More

Btry C, 740th MslBn has won the CO's semiannual sports participation trophy for the second straight time. Major Conrad O. Mannes Jr., CO of the 740th, made the presentation to Capt. Robert W. Monroe, Btry CO, this week.

The award is given to the unit that compiles the greatest number of points for 1st, 2nd and 3rd places in all sports. Btry C gained a total of 628 points, compared to its nearest rival, Btry B with a total of 551.

Double Threat Staffer Leaves Service Monday

Star Presidian Sports Editor and staff photographer Sp3 Norman Niccoll will leave the Army and the Presidio Monday to return to his home in Los Angeles and begin post-graduate studies the following day at the University of Southern California.

His replacement has not yet been named.

Sp3 Niccoll, who has been a Star Presidian staffer since early June 1957, will be released after 21-months' service under the Army program which allows students to cut tours short in order to return to school.

The 25-year-old son of the late Frank C. Niccoll, former Consul in the American Embassy, Lima, Peru, Sp3 Niccoll holds a master's degree in International Relations and plans, after further study, to teach in secondary schools.

Sp3 Niccoll, who was born in Milan, Italy, and has followed his father on State Department assignments to Canada, Mexico and Switzerland, entered the Army 5 November 1956.

After basic training at Fort Ord, he came to the Presidio and worked in the Central Post Funds office before being assigned to the Star Presidian.

Going Home!
Sp3 Norm Niccoll

Prior to induction, Sp3 Niccoll was employed by the Los Angeles County Public Welfare Commission as a social worker.

Softball Team Retains League Lead

Big Train Ed Johnson Blanks 740th Nine

The Post softball team, behind the brilliant two-hit pitching of big Ed Johnson, remained on top of the SF City Class A League this week by shutting out their service brothers from the 740th AAA Missile Battalion, 4-0.

In the top of the third, the winners scored three runs on an error, a sacrifice and three singles off the bat of Kear, Fernandez and Johnson.

The league leaders scored again in the fourth inning on a combination of 740th errors.

Goff hurled for the nikemen and allowed only five hits.

In a practice game, the Post team added another win over the past week as they edged the Two Rockers, 2-1.

Curve-balling Nick Themely returned to action and went the distance for the locals giving up three hits and three walks.

The locals scored first when Dick Thomas doubled scoring Kornaga from second.

In the third inning, Goff led off with a single and came home with the winning run on Wendt's single.

In the sixth inning, Goff saved the game for the locals with his perfect throw to the plate to cut off the tying run.

Last Tuesday, Presidio journeyed to Redwood City where they received a rude welcome from the local Merchants in the form of a 7-1 dubbing.

Themely pitched for the locals, giving up nine hits and five walks.

Every Thursday evening, the two Presidio teams play in the San Francisco league.

Braves Ace
Ken Dymond

Ken Dymond Gains Season First Pony League No-Hitter

Second half play in the Presidio Pony League began last week when the Dodgers defeated the Tigers 6-5 and the Braves racked up a 10-4 victory over the Pirates.

During the first game of a double header Saturday the Braves again were victorious when they downed the Dodgers 1-0. Winning pitcher, Ken Dymond, pitched the first no-hitter of the season.

An action packed second game found the Tigers with a 6-2 win over the Pirates. Steve Thompson hurled the Tigers to their victory, and this was his first game played from the mound.

Slated for next week are games between the Dodgers and Tigers on Tuesday, the Pirates and Dodgers on Thursday and the Pirates vs. the Tigers in the first game, Dodgers vs. Braves in the second game of tomorrow's double header.

The art of wrestling goes back to antiquity, and was glorious in the years of its prime.

Deer Season Opens Tomorrow Hunters Expect Record Season

A wet 1957 produced plenty of food and good living conditions for deer, but also set the stage for extreme fire hazards throughout the state. This is the gist of a county-by-county report on the coastal deer situation announced today by the Department of Fish and Game.

The Coast deer season opens 2 August in 29 counties and continues through 14 September. (The Inland season extends from 20 September to 26 October).

Hunters are asked to be cautious in the field because of the extreme fire hazard.

Following is the county-by-county report as prepared by Department field men:

ALAMEDA—Deer in good condition. Lots of feed with herds well scattered. All private lands with permission to hunt required. Fire hazard high-to-extreme, due to last year's rain bringing out heavy growth of grass and brush.

COLUSA—Only area open to general public is national forest in northwest corner of the county. The remainder of the county is in gun clubs, or posted and patrolled by members of the Colusa County Protective Association. Water plentiful and deer scattered. Several ranches open last year are closed due to owners' complaints of hunter vandalism last year.

CONTRA COSTA—Deer in good shape. Plenty of feed and deer scattered. All private lands with permission to hunt required from landowners. Fire hazard will be high if hot weather-no fog combination continues.

FRESNO—(Only western portion open)—Extreme fire hazard. Everything points to an abundance of deer, due to excellent growth of browse brought on by heavy rains during the winter. Water still plentiful in area and many deer seen. They are in good condition. Record bag probable.

GLENN—Small area in southwest corner only area open. See Colusa comment.

HUMBOLDT—Only south-western prospects for deer hunting appear to be normal or better, with major difficulty being a place on which permission may be obtained to hunt. Withdrawn public lands on King's Peak open. Hunting conditions good if hunter is willing to negotiate extremely high terrain. Fire hazard.

KERN—(Only western portion open)—Hunting pressure expected to be high for opener in Frazier-Lebec-Mt. Abel areas because of placement of all L.A. County east of Highway 99 in late season. Deer not as plentiful as in the past. Deer in good shape, but still in velvet (usual for area). Heavy hunter concentration expected also in Tecuya, Pine Valley and Pinos areas. Fire hazard extreme and hunters warned to be especially careful. Water conditions poor, but much better than last year. San Emidio Ranch open this year for first time on permit basis only. Permits obtainable week ahead of time on Friday at fairgrounds in Bakersfield on first-come first-served basis.

KINGS—(Only western portion open)—Prospects fair. Deer in fine condition. Large part of hunting area posted. Fire danger extremely high in entire area.

LAKE—Deer conditions very good. Herds scattered due to abundance of food. About half area open to public. Permission to trespass on private lands required. Mendocino National Forest, Cow Mountain areas open. Fire hazard is high-to-extreme.

LOS ANGELES—(Only small portion in west open)—Area open nearly all private property and most closed to entry due to fire hazard. Fire danger extreme, a mixture of old brush and high, dry grass. Most of area has some sort of firearms restriction.

MARIN—Deer in good shape with feed conditions very good. Most bucks reported in Nicasio area. Most other areas report shortage of bucks, especially western portion along the coastal ranches. All private lands with permission to hunt required. Fire hazard extreme at present time.

MENDOCINO—Deer conditions very good. Concentrations on private lands and high ridges in northeast section. Well scattered in other areas. Permission to hunt private property. Open areas in Mendocino National Forest and Cow Mountain areas. Feed conditions good. Fire hazards extreme.

MERCED—(Only western portion open)—Heavy rainfall has resulted in a good feed year, but has also presented an extreme fire hazard. Deer in good condition, well scattered due to good water and food supply. Good supply of bucks, although they are young deer and mostly forked horns. All deer area is in private property.

MONTREY—Deer condition very good. Lots of feed has population well scattered. Private land predominates, with permission to hunt required. Los Padres National Forest lands are for the most part open to hunting; some leased to private ranches. Permits for camping can be picked up at U.S. Forest Service guard stations at Big Sur, Arroyo Seco, Carmel River Station and King City. Fire hazard high.

NAPA—Deer condition good except for north-eastern portion. Only small parcels of county (in northeast) open to public. Most land private, with permission to trespass required. Fire hazard will be extreme if weather stays hot. Lots of feed. Deer well scattered.

SAN BENITO—Deer in good condition. Feed in fine shape, but fire hazards high. Deer fairly well scattered. Mostly private lands, with permission to hunt required. Approximately 20,000 acres open in New Idria area.

SAN JOAQUIN—(Only small area in southwest corner open)—Area strictly posted and hunting is by guests of owners only.

SAN LUIS OBISPO—Deer in good shape, well scattered. Feed conditions good. Best bet: new burn area near Stony Creek in southern part of county. Mostly private lands with permission to hunt required. Southern half of Los Padres National Forest open, except where leased to private ranchers. Inquire of U.S. Forest Service, San Luis Obispo, of accessible area. Fire hazard extreme.

SAN MATEO—Good concentration of deer on south coastal side, but permission to hunt required in most areas. Fire hazard running from low to high, depending on coastal fog. Hazard would be extreme with a few clear, hot days.

SANTA BARBARA—Prospects good. Feed and water conditions excellent, bucks in fine condition. Deer scattered and ranging higher than normal due to feed holding up longer in hills. Because of lush growth of grass and browse, fire hazard extreme throughout. Colson Canyon area: deer scattered, working ridge tops, canyon sides. To hunt Colson Canyon, hunters must register at Pine Canyon Forest guard station or at Forest Service's Colson Canyon checking station. Figueroa Mountain: deer scattered, in fairly high elevations. Feed, water good. Heavy hunting pressure expected. Refugio Mountain: deer ranging high, but not on top. Feed, water good. Coastal Area: all private property and unattached hunter stands little chance to hunt.

SANTA CLARA—Deer in fine shape. Lots of feed, but fire hazards high. Deer well scattered. Mostly private lands, with permission to hunt required.

SANTA CRUZ—Deer in fine condition. Population estimated at all time high. All private lands with permission to hunt next to impossible to get. Fire hazard high.

SAN FRANCISCO—Deer concentrations: Fleishhacker Zoo and Golden Gate Park. No hunting.

SOLANO—Water plentiful, fire hazard high. Few concentrations but those seen appear in good condition. More land posted to trespass this year than last. Considerable acreage burned in wildfire burn last year between Putah Creek Canyon and Mix Canyon, but little deer sign along roads or trails in areas burned. Little deer sign in unburned areas and few deer seen. Considerable amount of private acreage in county.

SONOMA—Deer in good condition. Much feed, herds well scattered. All private lands, permission to hunt required. Fire hazard high-to-extreme, due to last year's rain bringing out heavy growth of grass and brush.

STANISLAUS—(Only western portion open)—Deer conditions good, deer scattered. Poor conditions in mountains fair-to-poor due to heavy rain. Most all roads passable with four-wheel equipment. Only one public road open—Del Puerto Canyon from Patterson to San Jose. Road rough, partly paved. Private lands both sides and hunters should get permission before hunting. Other roads are either private roads or fire roads and not open to public. Fire hazards very high. Dry grass almost knee deep throughout area and ranchers have closed much of area.

TRINITY—(Only very small southeast corner open)—Same conditions as Mendocino.

VENTURA—Feed, water good; deer scattered low and high. Extremely heavy hunter pressure expected, fire danger extreme. In Pine Mountain and Nordhoff Peak Area deer scattered, but ranging at high elevations.

YOLO—Capay Valley area posted almost 100 percent. County road from Guinda through Casey Flat and down Toll Road open, but posted private acreage all along road. Most of southern end of county posted. Few deer observed. Little sign on Siske Creek access road, but numerous deer seen from Lang Peak to Davis Creek, on Baldy Mt. and on Bucks Flat in early May. Access to these areas limited to foot or horseback. Siske Creek and Davis Creek areas only areas open to public. Water plentiful in county, but fire hazard high.

List Authorized Validation Points For Deer Tags

Deer hunters will be unable to have their deer tags validated at locker or cold storage plants any longer.

Owners or corporate officers or employees of lockers or cold storage plants were removed from the list of persons authorized to validate deer tags by the Fish and Game Commission earlier this year.

Following is the list of persons authorized to validate tags:

Employees of the Department of Fish and Game.
Justices of the Peace.
Notaries Public.
Postmasters.
Peace Officers.
Officers authorized to administer oaths.

A HAIRCUT was directly responsible for this round, adjustable mirror in the 740th AAA Missile Battalion's Battery B Fire Control trailer, which gives Sfc. Glen Marriott and CWO Frederick Rosener (behind Sfc. Marriott) fast visual access to the Early Warning board and thus adds speed and accuracy to target plotting.

Sixth Army Band Seeks To Retain Seafair Crown

The men of the Sixth Army Pipe Band, wearing the red tartan kilt of Royal Stewart, departed yesterday for Seattle, where they will participate in the Seattle Seafair, 2-9 August.

For the fourth year in succession, the Pipe Band will compete for the Pacific Northwest Championship in the Scottish Highland Games. It has held the championship in B class for two years.

In addition to the Games, the Pipe Band will parade through various sections of Seattle twice each day, and on the concluding day of the Seafair there will be a grand torchlight parade through downtown Seattle.

The Sixth Army Pipe Band made its debut in May 1950 when the men, then dressed in the Glengarry bonnet, white spats and olive drab trousers and jackets, played Highland tunes at the Presidio Open House on Armed Forces Day.

As enthusiasm for the Pipe Band increased, the idea of wearing authentic Highland dress became a reality. Many of the traditional ornaments now worn originated through necessity in ancient Scottish wars.

For example, the silver buttons were worn to defray the cost of burying soldiers who fell in battle far from home. Some wore silver chains to buy considerations in the event of capture. The white gaiters are worn in memory of the trials undergone during the Peninsular War when, at the retreat of Corunna and their boots were worn by the rocky coast of Portugal, the Highlanders used their shirts to bind their feet.

The attire worn by the Pipe Band in performance is the complete and authentic Highland kilt in the Royal Stewart tartan and the doublet of the Royal Scot Guards.

Since its debut in 1950 the Sixth Army Pipe Band has won over 70 trophies in many parades, state fairs, and civic functions. Currently there are seven pipers, three drummers, and a drum major in the Pipe Band.

Army Ingenuity Solves Tough Viewing Problem

Major Robert R. Murray, 740th AAA Missile Battalion S3, while settled in a barber's chair recently, read a poster on the wall behind him via a mirror he faced and was struck with inspiration.

For a long time he had been wrestling with hitch in efficient target plotting in the various battery fire control trailers and, relaxing in front of a barber shop mirror, he had his solution.

Maj. Murray knew that, in the trailers, the Early Warning board should be in plain sight of the Battery Control Officer and the Radar Acquisition Operator, but the shape of the trailers dictated that the boards be behind the Control Officer and the RAO.

Such a situation demanded that essential information on the Early Warning board either be relayed verbally by the plotter or ascertained by turning around to check it. Either way was conducive to errors and time consuming.

But, a well-placed mirror in the trailers was the answer. Maj. Murray called on two of his Battalion Fire Control experts, CWO Frederick Rosener and Sfc Glen Marriott, and told them to find a round, adjustable mirror which would be suitable for bracketing to a trailer's wall or ceiling.

After canvassing San Francisco hardware stores until they found a $2.00 mirror which seemed to fill the bill, CWO Rosener and Sfc Marriott, with Maj. Murray, spent several days testing a suitable spot for the mirror.

They had selected the Fire Control trailer of Battery B for the experiment. Eventually, they determined that a space slightly above, and to the left of the plotting table would be ideal and bolted the mirror there.

The finished product since has been checked by other battery control officers, plotters, RAO's and tech reps, all of whom agree that the installation of the mirror adds speed and accuracy to the plotting of targets.

DOD Simplifies Request Method To Obtain Medals

Washington (AFPS)—Former servicemen may now obtain all their military medals by making one simple informal request, the Defense Department has announced.

Nor do servicemen have to substantiate their right to wear the medal, according to the department.

Many veterans apparently fail to claim their service medals because they are unable to recall specific dates of military service and cannot name the medals to which they are entitled.

Actually, a veteran does not have to prove his right to a medal. The military service in which he served will obtain the proof from the veteran's service record.

The Defense Department stresses that it is most important that the ex-serviceman give full name, service number, current address and approximate dates of service.

The department also urges that once a request is made, no further action be taken. Follow-up or tracer inquiries will tend to cause delays in the receipt of medals.

Qualified personnel should send their requests to their pertinent Service Records Center, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis, Mo.

Marine and Coast Guard personnel should write to their respective commandants in Washington, D.C.

The Navy has requested that no inquiries be sent before Dec. 31, 1958.

Soldier-Lawyer Named Deputy At ARADCOM

A combat leader and graduate lawyer, versatile Col. Charles H. Blumenfeld has been named Deputy Chief of Staff, Sixth ARADCOM. He is expected to assume his new position next week.

The 51-year-old wartime commander of the 25th Regulating Station (First Army) in Europe comes here from the Army War College, Carlisle, Pa., where he served as an instructor and Deputy Group Chief.

A native of Illinois and Reserve officer since 1928, Col. Blumenfeld was first called to active duty in 1940, while a member of the law firm of Woods, Smith and Blumenfeld in Chicago, Ill. He previously had earned an LLB from the University of Illinois and completed further study at Brown University, R.I.

One highlight of an 18-year career which has found him alternately studying and instructing in various military schools, as well as serving as combat commander and staff officer, was a six-month tour, beginning in January 1952, as Executive to Ambassador Draper, who was then special representative of President Eisenhower to MSA and NATO in Paris, France.

He also had previously been Assistant Executive in 1947 to the Undersecretary of the Army.

Among his military decorations are the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star Medal, the French Croix de Guerre with Palm and the Czechoslovakian Medal of Merit First Class.

Col. Blumenfeld, with his wife, Maxine, and two of their three children — Charles, Jr., 15, and Nancy Jo, 14—will reside at Fort Baker. Another daughter, 21-year-old Susan Ida, is a senior at Dickinson College, Pa.

Troop Topic Set

"Education, Key to Success." today's troop topic, will stress the fact that one of the most important things in the Army is its schooling system.

Military personnel desiring to improve their academic education have unlimited opportunities and should visit the post Education Center for counseling.

Chemical Corps Gas Mask Offers Special Features

Washington (ANS) — The Army Chemical Corps has developed a new type of oronasal air filtering mask that is 10 to 15 times more effective in filtering out airborne bacteria than the conventional surgical mask.

Designed primarily for use in testing the filtering efficiency of experimental biological and chemical warfare protective masks, it covers the nose and mouth of the wearer.

The new mask's filter is pleated to increase the breathing area. It does not interfere with normal face movements or speech and unlike contagion masks, this one does not fog the lenses of persons wearing glasses.

Because of the high stopping efficiency of the filter, the mask may be suitable for a wide variety of other uses. It could even be used by troops as a dust or odor protection mask, the Army said.

Top Cash Prizes Set In Short Story Contest

An Armed Forces Short Story Contest with over $1500 in cash and other prizes is being co-sponsored by the Armed Forces' Writers' League and Boys' Life Magazine with the deadline of entry 30 November.

The contest is open to all members of the Armed Forces, regular or reserve, active, inactive, or retired, and to regular and associate members of the Armed Forces Writers' League.

Five cash prizes, starting with $400 and a life membership in the Armed Forces Writers' League, plus a special bonus award of $100 US Savings bond if the winner is a member of the League, and an additional 45 prizes will be awarded. Full information and entry blanks may be obtained by writing Contest Dept., Armed Forces Writers' League, 2140 North Oakland Street, Arlington 7, Va.

Why They Went

The defeat of the British regulars and mercenaries in the American Revolution is popularly and falsely attributed to the American's more accurate rifle prevailing over the enemy's smoothbore musket. In an article in the current issue of "The American Rifleman," Harold L. Peterson, Arlington, Va., evaluates the role of the rifle in 1776, according to military observers of the time.

A Lot of Him

The bobwhite, quail, or partridge — call him what you will — is America's most abundant game bird and a favorite with sportsmen who like to hunt with a dog.

ARMY POWER—KEY TO PEACE

(Third Class Mail)

"...an institution of free government."

(Ed.'s Note: Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer felt so strongly about the following letter, received from General Willard G. Wyman, Continental Army Commander and a former Sixth U.S. Army Commander, on the eve of his retirement, that he has requested it be given the widest publication possible. In his cover letter the Sixth U.S. Army Commander stated: "I am forwarding the attached letter from General W. G. Wyman because I consider that it expresses so clearly the position of the military profession in the American way of life, and because it also expresses so profoundly the deep satisfaction that the individual gains from following conscientiously this honored profession. This letter is not merely a resume of the past; it is also a forthright estimate of the current situation, a projection of the missions ahead, and an expression of General Wyman's faith that the military will be able to cope with these future missions. I desire that you give this letter maximum publicity so that all members of the Sixth United States Army will have the benefit of General Wyman's outlook and so that it might serve as an inspiration to others to emulate his magnificent career.")

Dear General Palmer:

Before I relinquish command to my able successor, General Clarke, on 31 July, and step from the active ranks, I want to express my appreciation to you and the members of the Sixth U.S. Army for all that you have done to advance the Army mission during the two years I have held this command. On this, the eve of my retirement,

I also would like to voice a few of my thoughts to those who remain.

In retrospect, my forty years in the Army convince me that I could not have devoted my life's work to a more worthwhile and satisfying area of human endeavor. I am sure that our profession, dedicated to safeguarding the dignity and civil liberties of a large segment of humanity, is indeed a high calling. I have found the U.S. Army to be truly an institution of free government, unique in a world where the soldier has too often been cast in the role of the dictator's pawn. I have found our kind of soldier to be a bona fide servant of the American people. I have found him to be actually an armed guardian of the Constitution, the protector of a way of life devoted to the welfare and dignity of the individual.

I am acutely conscious that I leave this way of life at a time when it offers its greatest challenge. I leave at a time when the stakes are high and the danger is great. World tension, fomented and exploited by the Communist conspiracy, offers small hope of being relaxed within the scope of today's horizons. A shrinking globe, plus a sinister adversary holding a formidable arsenal, portends a heavy penalty for us if we are caught by surprise assault. These conditions complicate the task of a soldier seeking only to preserve the safety and welfare of his land.

My years of service with the American fighting man assure me that he will not be deluded by any infallible "recipe of victory." I know that he strives for the ideal of peace, but I know also that he is a realist who will keep his powder dry. I leave with full faith in his ability to cope with the threat of aggression and with changing weapons and concepts of war.

With a soldier's salute to the Sixth Army and with warm good wishes, I am

Faithfully,

W. G. WYMAN

Honor Guard Sets Plans For Organization Day

With colors flying and spirits proud, the Sixth Army Honor Guard will celebrate its sixth anniversary on Wednesday, 13 August, with a noontime dinner at Ft. Scott. A concert by the Sixth Army Band on the athletic field will follow.

The Honor Guard was organized at the Presidio under the direction of Commanding General Joseph M. Swing in 1952. It was established along the lines of an Infantry Rifle Company and was designated as Detachment A, 6002 ASU, and consisted of a company headquarters and four rifle platoons.

Personnel assigned to the unit were selected from units within the Sixth Army area for their outstanding soldierly appearance and military bearing.

In March 1955 the detachment was reorganized as A Company, Station Complement, Detachment 1, 6002 SU, and in May the strength was reduced to a company headquarters and three rifle platoons. Two platoons were designated as marching units, and the third platoon became a drill team named "The Presidians." In February 1957 the strength was reduced to a company headquarters and two rifle platoons.

Upon activation, the Sixth Army Honor Guard was assigned the following missions: to furnish tactical security for Headquarters, Sixth Army; to furnish firing squads and pallbearers for funerals at San Francisco and Golden Gate National Cemeteries; to control riots; and to participate in parades and ceremonies.

"Perfection" was adopted as the motto of the Honor Guard upon its third anniversary. Now, upon its sixth anniversary, the Honor Guard proudly displays over 100 trophies which it has won.

Two On Duty Here Win Nomination To Brigadier General

Col. Francis Hill, 4th Infantry Division Div. Arty. Commander who currently is on TDY as Rocky Shoals Chief of Staff here, has been recommended for a star.

Also being considered for promotion to brigadier general is the Director of Dental Activities at Letterman Army Hospital, Col. Henry R. Sydenham.

The two local officers are among 16 whose names currently are before Congress for approval of the rank jump.

The Honor Guard, which now consists of 61 men, is made up entirely of volunteers. They must be between 5'8" and 6'2" tall, physically fit, with good records.

Presidio Given One E-8 Four E-7s To Post Units

One of the 37 allocations for the new E8 "supergrade" authorized in Sixth U.S. Army during the quarter ending 30 September will be awarded to the Presidio's U.S. Army Garrison.

In addition, four allocations for E7 will be furnished local units—one each to the Garrison and Sixth Army Special Troops and two to Sixth Army Recruiting District.

No E5 allocations have been authorized for Sixth Army.

Bulk of Sixth Army's more than a thousand allocations are the 1,123 in grade E4.

Following are installation/activity breakdowns, by grade, announced this week by Sixth Army:

|                       | E8 | E7 | E6 |

| U.S.D.B. Lompoc | 0  | 0  | 3  |
| Totals          | 37 | 13 | 43 |

The E4 allocations will be furnished as required.

Truman at Ft. Lewis

Maj. Gen. Louis W. Truman, 50-year-old West Pointer (Class of '32), who began his Army career in 1926 as a private in the Missouri National Guard, is scheduled Sunday to take command of Ft. Lewis and the 4th Infantry Division.

He succeeds Brig. Gen. John H. McGee, who will remain at Ft. Lewis as Assistant Commander of the 4th Division.

Gen. Truman's previous assignment was as Chief, MAAG, Pakistan.

Military Sirens Will Join City's In Major Test

All of San Francisco's 51 air raid sirens will simultaneously sound off with a "warbling blast" this morning at 1000. The blast will continue for three minutes. There will follow an omnipresent silence.

Again at 1005 another blast will occur, this time a steady, penetrating blast lasting four minutes.

The Presidio, Fort Mason, and the San Francisco Naval Shipyard at Hunters Point have joined the city in the air raid test today. This is the first attempt to coordinate these four siren systems.

HAWK TRACKS—An Army Hawk anti-aircraft missile hits right on target (a radio-controlled F80 Star Shooter jet fighter) in tests at White Sands Missile Range, N. M. The new air defense weapon is capable of carrying modern warheads and of destroying attackers flying at the lowest altitudes and at such ranges as to assure effective protection of defended areas.

recently assigned

Lieutenant Colonel JAMES G. CHESNUTT, veteran San Francisco "Call-Bulletin" reporter-editor and Hearst Syndicate correspondent, has been assigned as Deputy Sixth U.S. Army Information Officer.

The 51-year-old newspaperman, who launched his career in 1927 as a copy boy for the San Jose "News" and subsequently rose to Assistant Editor before moving to the "Call-Bulletin" six years later, later, also has had extensive experience in Army Information jobs.

He was, for example, head of an Anglo-American team which in the later stages of World War II conducted in Aachen (Jan.-Apr. 1945) a pilot experiment to establish the first German-operated press. Lt. Col. Chesnutt's next job was to screen, then license "clean" Germans to operate newspapers in up to 15 cities from Bremen to Ulm.

In 1946, after four years of active duty, he was released in April. He then returned to the "Call-Bulletin." That same year, he went to Bikini Atoll to represent Hearst newspapers at the United States' first Pacific atomic bomb tests.

He also won the first annual $1,000 Westinghouse-AAAS competition in 1946 for the best newspaper science story in the United States for the year. In addition, Lt. Col. Chesnutt was a regular magazine contributor.

He was recalled to active duty in 1951 and, as Chief of the Army Section, Seattle Armed Forces Public Information Office, arranged press coverage of the first troopship bringing Korean War rotatees home. After several other assignments, he transferred to Korea in February 1953, where he established press camps and PIO operations for KCOMZ during Little Switch, Big Switch and Reclaim (return of non-Communist Chinese to Formosa).

Prior to coming here, Lt. Col. Chesnutt served since July 1954 in the Office of the Chief of Information, Department of the Army. Since February 1955, he had been Chief of the Magazine & Book Branch of the Public Information Division there.

Lt. Col. Chesnutt, who graduated from San Jose State College in 1929 (English major) where he worked on the school's weekly newspaper and edited the yearbook in his senior year, had been, at various times, reporter, rewrite man, drama critic and science editor while at the "Call-Bulletin." He was chief of the rewrite section there when recalled to Army duty at the outset of the Korean War.

Lt. Col. Chesnutt makes his home in San Francisco where he lives with his wife, Ruth, and a son, Lee, 17. Another son, 1st Lt. James C. Chesnutt, 22, is currently stationed in Germany with the 24th Infantry Division.

Another newcomer to the Sixth Army Information Section is Maj. J. J. EARLY, who will be Press Officer there.

A 20-year Army veteran and Journalism graduate from the University of Michigan (Class of 1938), Maj. Early came to the Presidio from Korea, where he was Information Officer with the 24th Infantry (later, 1st Cavalry) Division.

Before entering the Information field, Maj. Early served in World War II as a combat Infantry officer with the 26th Infantry Regiment, 1st Infantry Division, in North Africa and on the 1st Division staff in Southern France. He holds the Combat Infantry Badge and the Bronze Star.

One highlight in a career which has included assignments as an instructor at the Armed Forces Information School, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., and a tour as Information Officer for U.S. Army Forces, Antilles, Puerto Rico, was his service as Assistant Editor of the Military Review, published at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.

He and his wife, Jane, now live in San Rafael. They have two children, Marianne, 12, and John III, 9.

New chief of the Sixth Army Troop Information Division is Maj. GLEN T. SLIGER, JR.

A former Platoon Leader in World War II with the 2nd Cavalry Reconnaissance Group in Europe and graduate in 1949 of the Armed Forces Information School, Carlisle, Pa., Maj. Sliger also has held information posts in Germany, Korea and Japan.

Maj. WILLIAM L. CULBERTSON has recently been assigned as Assistant G2 for Sixth ARADCOM.

A former employee of the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the Justice Department, Maj. Culbertson has attended the Universities of Washington and Maryland.

Maj. Culbertson served as an instructor at the Officer Candidate School, Ft. Monmouth, N.J., in 1944-45. Later, he was a Military Government Officer in Germany and subsequently

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Barnett

There is one thing in life we all enjoy—Food! Some of you are chefs, some of you gourmets, but probably everyone is a good and simple hearted eater. Being ever curious (and simple hearted eaters ourselves) we chose to ask:

THE QUESTION: What is your favorite meal?

M/Sgt. Harry A. Beck, Medical Detachment, LAH: Sure, everyone likes to eat. There is nothing I like better than a nice steak, medium or on the rare side. I like them best charcoal broiled. So my favorite meal is a nice big steak, a green salad, a stack of french fries. If the steak is really big, I can pass up the dessert. But if I do have dessert, chocolate pie is my favorite.

Sgt. Joe Herr, Reserve Officers Mess: I've been a cook for 26 years, and I'd say of all the meals in the world fried chicken is my favorite. Southern Fried Chicken. To go with it I like mashed potatoes, a little bit of gravy, creamed peas, a nice tossed salad, ice cream and cake and coffee. Usually with a heavy meal like that, I don't like any soup. I use the regular Army recipe for southern fried chicken. I use an egg dip, and fry it in hot grease. I usually figure half a chicken per person.

1st Lt. Perry T. Brasuell, Sixth RAADCOM: I suppose my favorite meal would be about like this: rare steak, with cooked potatoes, you know, with their peelings still on, with sour cream. Then I'd take a tossed green salad with roquefort cheese. Now for dessert, I believe I'd like something really gooey, maybe like a raisin lemon custard. I would also like you to know that I can cook all this. I grill my steaks, don't go in for barbecue. I'm a chef deluxe, too, with bread and biscuits.

Sfc. Alvah Powers, Medical Detachment, LAH: Well, I can't cook it and I seldom eat it, but my favorite meal is filet mignon. I like it medium rare. I think potatoes, gravy, and carrots go good with it. And for dessert, I like pie a la mode. That's just about a perfect dinner in my estimation. One thing I eat more often and something I can cook are hamburgers!

40th Armored Division Due At Roberts Sunday

Convoys of military vehicles and chartered buses bearing over 7,600 National Guardsmen of Southern California's 40th Armored Division will roll out of home-town armories in 50 Southland communities shortly after midnight tomorrow, bound for Camp Roberts, near Paso Robles, California.

The 40th is slated to undergo 15 days' summer field training at Camp Roberts and at huge Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation nearby, starting Sunday.

Major General Homer O. Eaton, Jr., division commander, said the troop movement will start at one minute after midnight Saturday and be completed 0400 Sunday.

Over 800 military vehicles, such as trucks, jeeps, ambulances and wreckers, will carry the hundreds of tons of military equipment used by the division as well as nearly half its manpower. The balance of the National Guardsmen will travel in 95 buses chartered for the trip.

Military police under the command of Lt. Col. Rex R. Andrews, division provost marshal and Burbank chief of police in civil life, will patrol the entire route between Los Angeles and Camp Roberts during the movement. In addition, six traffic control centers will be set up to aid in controlling the 16-hour flow of military traffic.

The 40th's logistics chief also said that approximately 50 heavy tracked vehicles—tanks, self-propelled artillery pieces, and other similar items of military rolling stock—have already been shipped to Camp Roberts by rail for use in the two-week training session. An even greater number, chiefly the big M 48-ton tanks, will be drawn from a storage center at Camp Roberts for use in training. Scores of the heavier weapons and tanks are stored at the training site year-round for summer-time use by all reserve-type units, West explained, to eliminate much of the shipping cost each year.

The 40th will return to home town armories on 24 August.

This is the division's sixth summer encampment since its reactivation in this area following combat duty in Korea. It also stands at a post-Korea manpower peak, with approximately 7700 listed on its rosters.

Start Planning Now

For Freedoms Contest

The deadline for the 1958 Freedoms Foundation Letters Awards Program, open to all members of the armed forces, has been set for 1 November.

The subject of this year's letter, which must be limited to a maximum of 500 words, is: "My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom."

Top awards are $1000 cash for the best letter, two $500 cash awards for second place and 100 checks for $100 each for third place winners, plus a George Washington Honor Medal. The medals also will be given to those who receive honorable mention.

Letters should be mailed to Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. They should be written on plain white paper, one side only.

The top ten service winners will be invited to Valley Forge to receive their awards during an official ceremony on George Washington's birthday next 22 February.

Lay Plans For

Water Conservation

One of Nature's quirks will make water conservation at the Presidio imperative during the summer months.

From now until late September, irrigation of lawns and shrubs is essential, yet this same period is one of minimum rainfall in the Bay Area.

In a concerted effort to cope with the natural paradox, Presidio officials have urged all persons on Post to cooperate in the following conservation aids:

- Water lawns only between 1700 and 2000, except that grounds around office and other buildings where personnel are available only during the day may be watered during duty hours.
- Report faulty faucets and leaking hoses, valves and pipe connections to the Post Engineer Work Order Desk (Ext. 2104).
- Keep vehicle washing to a minimum.

During the critical period, the Provost Marshal will conduct regular inspections of the area to insure compliance. Violators will be required to take immediate corrective action.

One of the 26 students slated to graduate tomorrow from the San Francisco Army Air Defense School's NCO Command Course No. 2 will be the one thousandth enlisted missileer to be awarded a certificate of graduation there.

Ceremonies will be held at the Ft. Scott Chapel, beginning at 0900. Guest speaker will be Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Sixth ARADCOM Commander.

Defense Chief Urges Larger Service Vote

Washington (AFPS) — Designation of the period 15-22 September as "Armed Forces Voters' Week" was suggested to the governors of each of the states and territories by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy as a means of encouraging members of the Armed Forces to exercise their voting rights.

Describing the purpose of the absentee voting program—to promote greater participation in free government on local, state and national levels—Secretary McElroy said: "We need assistance in reminding parents and wives to write to their sons and husbands overseas, telling them of local issues and candidates, and urging them to take part according to their political convictions, in the coming elections."

The Secretary added: "We also need much attention directed to the service families in this country who are away from their home states. We believe," he continued, "that through uniformity of effort and through the support and cooperation of patriotic citizens in every state, we can promote greater participation in the coming election."

In a memorandum to the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, Mr. McElroy last month requested that all military commands "seek to develop and sustain a positive degree of interest in this year's servicemen's voting program, giving proper emphasis on all levels to counselling of personnel and providing adequate information pertaining to the voting laws of each state."

It is estimated that the Federal Voting Assistance Program covers approximately 2.6 million persons, of whom nearly 2.5 million are servicemen of voting age, wives of servicemen overseas, wives of servicemen outside the states where they vote, and dependents of servicemen overseas and outside of the states where they vote.

Top Packaging Show Will Start Monday At SF Auditorium

The touring Armed Forces Packaging and Materials Handling Exhibit will be shown Monday through Wednesday at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Tentative plans call for two Presidio WACs—1st Lt. Betty I. Read of Sixth Army Recruiting District and an EW, as yet unnamed—to assist at the joint service exhibit, this year sponsored by the Air Force.

In addition to displays and demonstrations of new techniques in packaging and materials handling, field grade officers from the Army's Rossford Ordnance Depot, Toledo, Ohio, will be present to assist local staffs which have encountered problems related to packing and packaging.

A spokesman for the School declined to name the one thousandth graduate, but he did explain that the number includes every person who has completed schooling at SFAADS since it opened 22 October 1957.

In addition to the recently-established NCO Course, the School curriculum includes some twenty other classes required to train officers and enlisted personnel in Army Air Defense tactics.

The spokesman further noted that the one thousandth graduate could be one of two WACs—first to attend SFAADS, who finish tomorrow.

They are Sp5 Sylvia R. Bernardini, Sixth U.S. Army Engineer Section, and Sp4 Ethel V. Daily, Presidio Provost Marshal's Office.

45th Infantry Dates For Annual Reunion This Fall

Oklahoma City will host the 13th annual reunion of the 45th Infantry Division Association 31 October-2 November, association president Raymond S. McLain said.

The three-day gathering will be called the "memorial reunion," and will feature dedication of a $35,000 memorial to the Thunderbird division, to be erected soon in Oklahoma City's civic center.

More than 2,500 members and former members of the 45th Division are expected to attend the three-day event. Registration, covering all events, is $10.00 per former Thunderbird and $5.00 for wives.

Persons wishing to attend should send their registration to 45th Division Association, 2205 North Central, Oklahoma City 5, Oklahoma.

Pert, bouncy Molly Edwards was happy and a little dazed when told she had been chosen August WAC of the Month. The vivacious blonde, who reminds you of a pink Christmas cherub, loves to jitterbug and "really digs Elvis."

A star athlete while in Fern Creek High School, Molly now is a topnotch player on all of the Presidio WAC teams.

Born in Louisville, Kentucky, Pfc. Edwards spent her first 18 years there, leaving a year ago last June to join the Woman's Army Corps.

Among her "likes" the bubbly 19-year-old lists Kentucky, many people, Kentucky, all sports and Kentucky.

The 5'4" beauty won two hockey awards while in school and was also cheer leader for four years.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Edwards, Fern Creek, Kentucky, Molly arrived at the Presidio last fall, following graduation from Clerical Training School.

Future plans for the blue-eyed girl, one of D Co. Guidon Bearers, include returning to Ft. McClellan for a course at OCS.

East Bay Civic Leaders View Live Ajax Firing

Twelve leading civic officials from the East Bay area returned last night from Fort Bliss, Tex., where they had witnessed a live firing of the Army's Nike-Ajax Guided Missile.

Firing the deadly accurate antiaircraft missiles as a part of their annual service practice were crews of the 441st AAA Msl. Bn., commanded by Lt. Col. Roy H. Lundgren.

The return trip from Texas was made via Colorado Springs, Colo., where the group was briefed at the Headquarters of the entire North American Air Defense and the Headquarters of the United States Army Air Defense Command.

The civic leaders were the guests of Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, Commanding General, 6th Region ARADCOM. The officials were: Jack Maltester, Mayor of San Leandro; William McCall, Mayor of Alameda; Frank Biggs, Mayor of Hayward; Dr. Thomas Ohlson, President of the Danville Chamber of Commerce; Ed Trau, San Joaquin Civil Defense; Fred Warnholz, Publisher of the Contra Costa County News; Louis J. Breuner, President of the East Bay Utilities District; George Truitt, President of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce; John MacDonald, Secretary, East Bay Regional Park District; Ivan D. Chappell, Superintendent of the Danville Schools; Wyman Vernon, Oakland Chief of Police; and William Hartman, Superintendent, Land Management Section, East Bay Municipal Utilities District.

ELECTRONIC earphones, currently under development by the U.S. Army Signal Corps, represent a major breakthrough in the field of communications. New earphones are the first to use an advance electronic system that makes one sound eliminate another, providing the wearer with a loud and clear message despite the clamor of battle. ## Lenzner Retires

Maj. Gen. Emil Lenzner, Commanding General of the Electronic Proving Ground at Ft. Huachuca since 1954, retired last week after 37 years' service.

The Army Nike-Ajax, in 1953, became the first operational land-based air defense missile.

Some Here Due Changeover In Near Future

Elements of the California National Guard's 720th AAA Missile Battalion will take over selected Nike-Ajax sites in the Los Angeles area early next month, it was announced by Department of the Army this week.

By manning the sites on a full time basis, the Guardsmen will mark the first time a reserve component has been given an active role in surface-to-air missile defense.

On the local scene, a spokesman for the Sixth ARADCOM said that currently undisclosed sites in the Bay Area are earmarked for the Guard at a later date. Others will continue to be staffed by active-duty personnel.

Guard missileers here have been undergoing limited on-site training here in anticipation of assuming partial responsibility for air defense in the San Francisco-Travis area.

Prior to taking over sites in Los Angeles, men of the 720th will undergo intensive annual two-week field training, beginning 16 August, at four sites there.

However, the actual changeover of the sites will climax more than a year of training, planning and coordination, all of which has been under the direct control of Sixth ARADCOM headquarters here.

The battalion will become a full-time, permanent member of the Army Air Defense system as an element of the 47th Artillery Brigade, which has responsibility for Army Air Defense activities in Southern California.

Even though the 720th will be fully operational early in September, further training and testing will continue. It will develop procedures and requirements for other National Guard units to follow in a nationwide conversion program.

Under agreements between the Army and the State Adjutant General, a selected group of Guardsmen will be employed as full-time technicians at the Nike sites turned over to the Guard. These technicians will keep equipment operational at all times.

Other states which eventually will be guarded by National Guard manned missileers are Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Virginia, Washington (in Sixth ARADCOM), Wisconsin and the District of Columbia.

"Big Red" Will Star At 1st Cavalry Meet In El Paso, Texas

Guest star at the 29 August reunion of the 1st Cavalry Division at the Hotel Cortez in El Paso, Texas, will be "Big Red," the last horse retired when the division was dismounted in 1943.

The 1st Cavalry Division, now on active duty in Korea, saw action in WWII in the Admiralty Islands, the Philippines and Japan, and combat also in the Korean War. Regiments of the division can trace their history back to Lee and Custer.

National headquarters of the association is in Pomona, Calif., and is under the direction of Col. Edmund P. Stone, registrar.

VICTORY AWARD for participation in the Redwood City Fourth of July Pageant was presented the Sixth U.S. Army Band this week. Receiving the award from Ferris Miles, pageant chairman, is CWO Louis Ferraro, bandmaster, and Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer. Band representatives include (l. to r.) M/Sgts. Edmund J. Gedrocz and Benjamin T. Buckley.

Five Civilians Win Cash, Performance Awards At Post

Five Presidio civilian employees this week received $200 checks for sustained superior performance and four others were awarded $100.

Presentations were made by Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer.

Receiving the higher awards were:

Mrs. Alice O. Kmetz, secretary to Col. Rau; Francis R. Welch, warehouseman, Post Chemical Section; James R. O'Brien, supervisory general supply officer, Post Engineer Section; Herbert Smith, warehouseman lead foreman, Presidio Engineer Section; and Luey S. Lum, tool, stock and parts keeper, Post Signal Section.

Checks for $100 went to:

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Giglio, secretary to Col. Rau; Mrs. Betty J. Cheney, Post Adjutant Section; Francisco F. Jeffers, storekeeping clerk, Post Signal Section; and Mrs. Sybil J. Milano, accounting clerk, Post Quartermaster Section.

Cite Former Employee For Work With Army Missile Program

A former civilian employee at the Presidio, Eugene L. Rowden, now a technical placement officer for the Army Ordnance Missile Command, has been cited by that agency for his outstanding success in recruiting space age specialists.

Rowden is the missile command liaison officer with colleges and university deans and placement directors, Civil Service regions, and professional societies in eleven western states, with headquarters at the San Francisco Ordnance District, 1515 Clay St., Oakland. He screens applicants for a wide range of scientific, engineering, administrative, legal, contracting and logistic assignments in the far-flung missile command.

The AOMC, directed by Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, now consists of: the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, Redstone Arsenal, White Sands Missile Range, Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, and related activities at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Canoga Park and Sunnyvale, Calif.

Civil Service Seeks Top College Grads In New Program

The Federal Government is placing a premium on quality—and providing a bonus for it—to attract more of the Nation's most promising young people to careers in civil service, U. S. Civil Service Commission Chairman Harris Ellsworth said recently in announcing recruitment plans under a new law granting authority to recruit college graduates at higher grades.

The new plan provides for recruitment at grade GS-7 ($4,980) a year of graduates without work experience whose college records indicate the highest job potential, while others would continue to be hired at grade GS-5 ($4,040).

The total college record will be considered in identifying "top quality" candidates who would be eligible for appointment at GS-7. In addition, when a written test is part of a competitive civil-service examination, higher standards will be used to determine eligibility for appointment at GS-7.

To qualify for entry at the GS-7 level, the applicant must have a college record that clearly demonstrates that he has superior ability, as measured by such criteria as high academic standing, demonstrated leadership potential, and receipt of significant honors or recognition for professional activities or contributions. Entry positions will be of an "advanced trainee" type, with more complicated assignments than those of GS-5 positions. The plan is expected to be fully in effect when recruitment activities on college campuses are renewed next fall.

Woody Is Named Top Soldier At 9th AAA Missile Battalion

Pvt. John Woody, an IFC Operator in D Battery, 9th AAA Missile Battalion, has been named the Battalion's Soldier of the Month for July.

He entered the Army in November 1957 and, after basic training at Ft. Carson, Colo., he completed advanced missileer training at the San Francisco Air Defense School, Ft. Scott.

A graduate of Northeastern A & M Junior College of Miami, Okla., he was employed as an assistant electrical engineer prior to entering the Army.

Pvt. Woody lives with his wife in Sausalito.

G3 Secretary Will Attend First International Semantics Confab

One of the most extraordinary hobbies to be found at the Presidio is probably that of Mrs. Aubrey Conrad, who is a secretary in the G3 section, Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army.

Mrs. Conrad is leaving shortly to attend the first international conference of the International Society for General Semantics held in Mexico City 24-27 August.

"Semantics is the systematic study of meaning," explained Mrs. Conrad. "General semantics is the study and improvement of human evaluative processes with special emphasis on their relation to signs and symbols, including language."

Mrs. Conrad went on to explain, "Semantics should not be confused with philology which is the study of words and their derivation as representing the culture from which they come."

"People all too often say things as indirectly as possible. For example, I receive many government letters which use the words 'prior to' and 'subsequent to.' It seems to me easier and certainly more understandable to say 'before and after.'"

"I am particularly bothered by the frequent use of the word 'personnel.' I find it quite cold and indefinite. It is much more explicit to say enlisted men, or men and women."

Mrs. Conrad, who was instrumental in organizing a local chapter of the Society of General Semantics, said that a word never has the same meaning twice. Each time a word is spoken or written it assumes a slightly different shade of meaning.

"I feel it is important that everyone, beginning at an early age, should study foreign languages. When you can speak another man's tongue and you can say thank you in his own language, then you've made a friend."

"The purpose of semantics is in essence quite simple. Semantics helps you to understand another person and him to understand you."

Mrs. Conrad is directly related to the famous biologist and first president of Stanford University, David Starr Jordan. About languages, she explained, "Some languages are known to be used best in particular fields. For example, French, which has

National Matches Need Big Effort For Success

Special to the Star Presidian

By Pfc. Barry Farrell
Sixth U.S. Army Information

(Ed's Note: The first shot of the annual National Rifle and Pistol Matches was fired yesterday. Some 5,000 shooters are expected to expend more than a million rounds of ammunition in the 32-day meet. The following is the "hull before the storm" musings of a top flight feature writer.)

Camp Perry, Ohio, July 29 — Carpenters' hammers are echoing across the green strip of land that runs like a chevron across the south shore of Lake Erie at Camp Perry, where one of the world's finest rifle and pistol ranges is located.

To hear them, you'd think the shooting had already started.

This is the home of the National Matches and the sticky month of July is a busy one here. It will be another week before the first of the marksmen arrive, but already, more than 2500 soldiers from units all over the country have settled down to doing the advance work of the Support Unit.

The Support Unit is a giant, sprawling collection of soldiers—soldiers from all over and in all kinds of uniforms.

Among them, the marksmen are the object of admiration or envy, depending on what kind of support duty they've drawn. KP, for example, is "support" and there are 25 soldiers on KP for 40 consecutive days.

There is a terrific amount of work for everyone to do, but for the most part, the duty is pleasant, if long. The days are long, too, and the temperatures high.

In the staff sections, everyone is busy, not only with the job of settling down thousands of soldiers from dozens of posts for a month or so of duty, but also with trying to get acquainted with the matches themselves.

There are dozens of different matches for both rifle and pistol shooters. And in each match, there is likely to be more than one trophy for various champions of one position or another, or of one weapon or another.

So quitting time means very little in most sections. In the late evening, it is still sticky and the sun is just coming out after a day of clouds and tropical rain. In most offices, there is the noise of clattering typewriters. Some are clattering letters home. But outside and down toward the beach, the range masters are still at work, plotting distances and making transits. The range masters, who wear old campaign hats, are all business.

When the work finally is finished, everyone goes for a swim or heads down OHIO Number 2 for the little resort town of Sandusky, where one or two battle groups of college girls are on summer vacation.

And down the same road in the other direction is Toledo. The Gypsies are moving into Toledo in great numbers and the atmosphere in their quarter down by the river isn't much different than it is out here—busy. Hammers pounding.

The Toledo Gypsies have gone in for phrenology. They massage your head and tell you from the bumps what kind of luck you're going to have.

As for me, I'm afraid to go, at least for a week or two. Just an hour ago, I walked backwards into a tin sign saying "PIO" in little black letters. It hangs outside the door of our office and I'm afraid it may have turned my luck.

Next week I'll go to the phrenologist and find out for sure. But by then, the whole shooting match will be ready to roll and my fate will be sealed.

I'll hear all the racket and I'll wish it were carpenters with their hammers.

11 Win High Praise For Appearance Of Their Quarters

During a recent inspection of the grounds surrounding Presidio quarters, representatives of the Post S4 and Engineer Sections selected those indicated below as outstanding:

Approximately 300 scholars and laymen from the Americas, Hawaii, and Canada are expected to attend the convention.

Professor S. I. Hayakawa, of San Francisco State College, an international semanticist and author of the best selling book "Language in Thought and Action" said that the conference is part of the cultural and academic exchange of recent knowledge in semantics and communication theory which is beginning to make an important impact on problems of understanding and misunderstanding as they affect cultural interchange as well as international relations.

Some of the papers to be presented at the conference are: Metaphor in Everyday Speech; Police and Experience and Uncritical Inference Behavior; Zen and Intuited Knowledge, and Poetic Expression.

"Picnic" In The Round

Slates Debut Here

A new theatre technique will be used locally for the first time in the Presidio's production of "Picnic," 20-22 August.

The drama, by William Inge, will be staged in the round. Rather than using the traditional proscenium arch, Pfc. Ed Maxcy, who directs the "summer romance," has planned the production in the round so that the audience will surround the stage instead of facing it.

The action takes place in the backyard shared by Mrs. Botts and the Owens family. Therein is reflected the effect that a young man, Hal Carter, has on all the women of the small town.

Pfc. John Swilp portrays Carter. Presidians will remember Swilp for his role in the one-act play, "Five Minutes to Dawn," produced in the Service Club earlier in the summer. He is a graduate of Mississippi State College where he acted in many of its theatre productions.

The female lead, Millie Owens, will be portrayed by Joan Mudgett. Others in the cast are Alice Bosson, Bob Clarke, Thais Pease, Barbara Donnoven, Ruth Coleman, Sp3 Lowell Lynn, Betty Kusik, Dolores Shoemaker, and Pfc. J. Eugene English.

Pfc. Ed Maxcy received a degree in acting from Boston University. Before entering the Army, he acted professionally with Lyric Productions in Boston in addition to summer stock in Maine. He has appeared on television in the "Lineup." His previous directing experience includes "The Innocents," "Uncle Wiggily in Connecticut," and "The Third Angle."

The technical directors for "Picnic" are Harry Helmen, Presidio Entertainment Director, and Pvt. Stuart Blue, who formerly was assistant producer of the television show "Queen for a Day."

presidian Record Rack

The summer is rolling slowly along, and with it roll those long, light evening hours. And there is no better trick than a nice stack of records ranging from musicals to poetry readings to help pass those hours in pleasant at home enjoyment. As always, we are offering you the chance to select the best selling records of the month, and if you choose the right ones, you yourself will win three new records for your collection. Just fill out the coupon below and send it to the Star Presidian, Bldg. 87A. Records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Records, 262 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Those of you who love opera, and even those of you who have a propensity to more Beatnik taste, indeed anyone who loves music in italics, sweet moving music, must listen to Renata Tebaldi singing from Verdi's La Traviata on London Records. Her pitch is near-perfect, almost never departing from dead center of the note. The timbre of her voice is velvety, and her tones clear and pure, without tremolo.

Also on London Records, Kirsten Flagstad, in church rather than on the opera stage, sings "Great Sacred Songs." Still one of the world's greatest dramatic sopranos, she includes on her record, "Abide With Me," "O Divine Redeemer," and "Jubilate." She is accompanied by the London Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Sir Adrian Boult.

On Angel Records Great Recordings of the Century, Prokofiev's Third Piano Concerto, featuring the composer as soloist, has been re-issued. In 1932-35, audiences still knew Prokofiev both as a composer and as an excellent concert pianist. This disc, on which he plays his own composition, has, therefore, an extra degree of authenticity.

Peggy Jo Shaw

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

In the galaxy of noteworthy individuals at the Presidio, there is one luminary which already shines bright after only three weeks in residence.

Miss Peggy Jo Shaw is the new Program Director at the Presidio Service Club No. 1. And although this is the first time she has ever worked in Special Services, recreational work is far from being new to her.

She comes to the Presidio after ten years' experience as a seafaring recreational director with the American President Lines.

As we sat talking in the enormous lounge of the Service Club looking out at the bay, she told of some of her experiences aboard the S.S. President Wilson.

"Usually we had good weather, but sometimes, for example in typhoons, organizing games for the passengers was rather difficult. Frequently in the middle of checker tournaments, the ship would begin pitching and rolling and the checkers would slide right off the board and roll the full length of the lounge. Even during movies, the chairs would careen across the floor."

Miss Shaw, a native of Birmingham, Alabama, spoke in a smooth southern accent. "My last trip proved very nearly fatal. We had put in at Kobe and naturally a few of us had gone ashore. You know a ship never waits for its passengers. It always leaves on schedule. Well, that time, we had stayed in town too late and suddenly realized the President Wilson was about to depart. Our drivers just leaned on the horns driving up the dock. But even so, we literally jumped up onto the gangplank as it was being pulled in."

Before she joined the American President Lines, Miss Shaw was Director of Kindergartens for the American Embassy in Managua, Nicaragua.

Work of this sort was not new to her. Miss Shaw had been an education major at the University of Alabama, and after her graduation opened two of her own schools for children from disrupted homes.

She operated these schools for several years until the Wanderlust seized her. So it was that she became a seagoing recreational director and sailed the Pacific putting into world-famous ports like Hong Kong, Manila and Yokohama.

When asked why she enjoyed recreational work, Miss Shaw answered plainly and simply, "I'm an extravert. I like group activities."

"I think these are the most beautiful surroundings in which to work I could possibly have found. I feel privileged to be here."

Miss Shaw went on to say, "There is an informal, home-like atmosphere at the Club. I hope that more and more of the men will take advantage of what we have to offer."

Miss Shaw, we welcome you to the Presidio! It is a pleasure to have you in our midst.

"Wars may be fought with weapons," said the late General George S. Patton, Jr., "but they are won by men. It is the spirit of the men who follow and of the man who leads that gains victory."

"The United States Army, joined by the armies of the Free World, provides visible evidence that Communism's ground forces will be resisted effectively."—(DA PAM 360-1).

Presidio Woman's Club Welcomes All Newcomers

If you are the wife of an officer newly assigned to this area, the Presidio Woman's Club invites you to attend a special welcome coffee hour on Monday, 18 August, at 1000 in the La Parada room of the Officers' Club.

Any officer's wife, or retired officer's wife, who has not yet joined the club is eligible to enjoy this get acquainted social hour as a guest of the club. All club members are also encouraged to participate.

Reservations may be made by telephoning the hospitality chairman, Mr. Barth, BAYview 1-2359, or Mrs. Kuhr, ext. 3319.

Top Soldier Again

For the second time in six months, Pfc. Jessie B. Bate, from Btry. A, Ft. Funston, has been chosen the 740th AAA Msl. Bn. Soldier of the Month.

The 23-year-old Texan is a Fire Control Panel Operator at Btry. A and has only six months Army duty remaining. He was awarded a three-day pass and $25 check.

Presidio NCO Wives' Installation Meet

In their annual installation dinner at the CPO Club on Treasure Island, members of the Presidio NCO Wives' Club named six new officers: Ruth Yarbrough, president; Peggy Suttas, 1st vice president; Marian Howell, 2nd vice president; Juanita Evans, secretary, and La Verne Burmeister, treasurer.

WACs Dump Ord, LAH Face Travis AFB Today

Presidio's crackerjack WAC softball team walked all over a pair of tough rivals to grab a two-game lead in the Women's Interservice Softball League. With only two league games left to play, the local lassies look like a sure thing for the distaff championship.

In Thursday's crucial game against their arch rivals from Ft. Ord, the Toreras grabbed an easy 16-4 victory. Sp2 Irma Collins was the winning pitcher.

Holding to the old adage, "never change a winning combination," the WAC team sent pitcher Collins back to the mound in Tuesday's game against LAH. It was another walkaway, 16-5, as Rosemary Weber belted homers in the 3rd and 5th and Fumika Uyeda and Peggy Harris each garnered round trip tickets.

Final game of the season will be against the Hamilton WAFs, there, on Tuesday.

OLD TIMERS say surf fishing in these parts is at an all-time peak. One of the favorite hot spots for sports fishermen is Baker Beach at the Presidio, so, this week our staff photographer strolled down to this fabled beach to catch a fisherman in action. Results: One 185-lb. fisherman, Saverio Valente and his 8-lb. catch, Mr. Striped Bass.

Goff Puts Out Fire As 740th, 9th Test Players

The 740th AAA Msl. Bn. softball nine played a practice game against their neighbors from across the Bay, the 9th Bn. Team, at the Presidio Main Post Exchange ball field. The Ft. Scott softballers won by the score of 11-5.

These two teams will meet again, later in the month when the 6th Region Softball Tournament gets under way. Under these circumstances, both managers were reluctant to show the other team their best power, so the 740th used Jimmie Wright as the starting pitcher, and newcomer Pleon behind the plate.

By the fourth inning, the 9th Bn. had a 3-1 lead and the bases loaded with no one out, so the 740th Manager, Hafeman, had to call Carl Goff in to stem the tide.

Goff wasn't allowed to show them too much of his wizardry and allowed 3 singles, while his inspired teammates rallied behind him and produced 10 runs.

Seven walks by four 9th Bn. pitchers and some timely hitting provided the winning margin for the 740th team.

AER Boxing Matches Set

Japan's International Amateur Boxing Team is scheduled to make their U.S. debut against outstanding local contenders at the Oakland Army Terminal next Thursday, 14 August. Tickets for the event are priced at $1.00 and are available at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122. Proceeds from the matches will be donated to Army Emergency Relief.

Presidio Two-Man Track Team Off On Foreign Tour

Presidio's diminutive track team of 2d Lt. Bill Nieder and Sp4 Ernie Shelton expect to leave here Monday on the first leg of 8,000 miles to Frankfurt, Germany, to compete in eliminations for later track meets at the Brussels World Fair.

The Frankfurt meet is scheduled for the last week in August.

2d Lt. Nieder, Executive Officer of Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison, has been priming for the upcoming meet by tossing the shot 60'2 1/2" recently while touring Europe with other Army track stars and winning the Peninsula crown here last week by besting the field with a 56'8 1/2" heave during the Allcomers track meet in Redwood City.

Redwood City also was a boost for XV U.S. Army Corps' Sp4 Shelton. The former USC star took two firsts, handily winning his high-jump specialty by clearing the bar at 6'6" and throwing the javelin 164'8". In addition, he scored third place honors in shotput and the discus throw, making him the most versatile athlete at the meet.

Another Sixth Army track ace who will make the trip to Frankfurt is Ft. Ord's 2nd Lt. Arnold Sowell.

Daffynitions: Perfectionist—one who takes great pains and gives them to other people.

Boat Safety Books

To offset the increasing number of accidents due to the operation of motor boats, the Coast Guard has published two pamphlets which emphasize safety precautions—"Motorboats" and "Motor Boat Safety."

A limited supply of these publications are available at the Post Safety Office, Bldg. 200.

Niccoll Commended By CO For Work

Sp4 Norman Niccoll, who until Monday had been Sports Editor and Staff Photographer for the Star Presidian, was presented a Letter of Commendation from Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer.

The presentation was made Monday, just prior to Sp4 Niccoll's release from active duty, by Capt. Charles Monges, Commander of Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison.

Sp4 Niccoll, who had been a staffer since June 1957, entered postgraduate school at the University of Southern California on Tuesday.

Post Keg Action Hits New Peak

At the end of 12 weeks, Sixth Army No. 3 keggers held on to first place in the Pacific Summer Bowling League despite dropping a 3-1 decision to Sixth Army No. 2, one of three teams tied for second place. Graff's 242 was high game for the winners; Ross led the losers with 219-587.

In a night marked by 3-1 scores, the other two second place teams, the Compt-Rollers and the Regioners, maintained their claims for runner-up honors by similar margins.

The Compt-Rollers, behind the 176-485 of Taunec, dropped the Retorts. High man for the losers was Swarberg with 185-495.

Regioners keggers outpointed the Mail-Maulers though the top bowler, the loser's Stephens, posted a 184-494. High roller for the Regioners was Shenk with 169-477.

The Retorts loss dropped it into a two-way tie for third place with the AAA Sparks, which bested the Honor Guard by the standard 3-1 mark. Leading the Sparks was Avery's 213-533, while Jackson's 188-525 was high for the losers.

The Honor Guard is now in fourth place, with the Mail Maulers in the cellar.

In Missileer (9th AAA) Bowling League action this week, the Oozlefinches pulled ahead of the pack after two weeks of competition by taking four points from the hapless Baengizer's Rangers. Beam's 217-597 paced the winners; best for the losers was a 437 series by Beery.

Another 4-0 win went to the Five-Niners, which drubbed the Rafael Nike Strikers. High for the losers was Most's 182-445.

In the only other league match, the Angels beat the Islanders 3-1. The winner's Fuller had a 170-476; top man for the losers was Franklin with 165-457.

Toreros Drop One, Then Beat Irwin In Home Stand

Bouncing back from two straight defeats, the Toreros beat a strong Camp Irwin nine 5-1 in an afternoon game here on Wednesday.

A crowd of some 200 watched the home nine come from behind on the big sticks of Terry Maddox and Ed Kornaga. Gene Lippold went the distance on the hill and Bob Heartwell handled the mound chores for Irwin.

On Sunday, the Toreros bumped into an old nemesis in the form of the Cal Vets and dropped a 4-3 heartbreaker. This was their second loss to the Yountville squad and star righthander Wes Stock handled the mound chores in both.

Golf Team Wins

The Presidio golf team overran the Alameda team here at Presidio, Wednesday, with a score of 17-4.

Touch Football Sked Needs More Unit Teams

Twelve unit teams have signed up for Post intramural touch football competition slated to begin here next month, but more squads are needed to round out separate leagues at the Presidio, Ft. Scott and Ft. Baker.

In addition, plans are being made to field additional teams from Presidio, 30th engineer Battalion and San Francisco Army Air Defense School to compete in a newly-formed inter-post league against Letterman Army Hospital, Oakland Army Terminal, Hamilton Air Force Base, McClellan Air Force Base and Travis Air Force Base.

Teams already listed for intramural play here are from Sixth Army Special Troops; Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison; Company A, U.S. Army Garrison; 21st Engineer Company; 99th Engineer Company; 537 Engineer Company; 56th MRU; 16th Base

Post Office; Headquarters Company, 30th Engineer Battalion; San Francisco Army Air Defense School; Letterman Army Hospital and U.S. Army Training Group.

Volleyball Players

The call is out for volleyball players to bolster the Presidio's high netters before season play this Fall. Anyone interested should report for a tryout during a practice session at the Ft. Scott gymnasium. Workouts are held every Monday and Tuesday evening, beginning at 1800.

HEARTBREAK TALLY is scored by "Digger" Donati in the bottom of the 12th as 740th grabs a 4-3 thriller from the visiting 436th AAA Msl. Bn. Smash action photo was shot by M/Sgt. Howell, B Btry., 740th.

Braves Stay Hot; Dodger's Walker Tosses No-Hitter

XV Corps Braves, bidding fair to prove their first half win in the Presidio Pony League was no fluke, added another pair of wins to their unbeaten second half skein.

On Thursday they nosed out the 30th Arty. Gp. Artillery Tigers, 6-5, behind the fine pitching of Tony Padua. Tiger Joe Croteau was the game's big stick with 2 for 3 including a home run. On Saturday the Braves trounced the Sixth Army Pirates, 10-4, as Tom Mlakar went the distance on the hill. Bob Clark hit a home run for the winners.

John Walker of the Dodgers tossed the second no-hit game of the season (Braves ace Ken Dymond has the other) in Tuesday's game against the Pirates. George Ladato got 2 for 3 in aiding his team to a 5-2 win.

In another Saturday game, the Tigers downed the Dodgers 12-10. Mike Foley handled the mound chores for the winners.

Tomorrow's double header finds the Dodgers vs. Pirates at 1300 and the Tigers vs. Braves at 1500.

Jenkins Favored As Horseshoe Tourney Nears Stretch Drive

Six hopefuls are still in the running for the Horseshoe Championship of the 21st Engineers.

The double elimination tournament has already separated the men from the boys, leaving Floyd Jenkins, Austin Cobo, Morris Howland in the unbeaten ranks. Second round aspirants, once beaten, include Paul Stienstra, King Westerhold and Frank Giamona.

This corner favors Westerhold, even though the pundits tell us Jenkins looks like a shoo in.

740th Wins Overtime Thriller From 436th

By Sfc Julian Walkley
PIO 740th AAA

The 436th AAA Msl. Bn. traveled down from Travis AFB to try out the 740th Msl. Bn. nine on their home diamond at Ft. Scott, Calif. It took Goff and his Ft. Scott teammates 12 innings to break the tie and win it 4-3.

It was cold and windy and not conducive to good softball, but Carl Goff pitched and Don Hubbell caught the entire game for the 740th Bn. team, while Turner pitched and Miller caught all the way for the 436th.

It was a 3 to 3 tie at the end of 5 innings and it stayed that way until the end of the 12th when Goff hit a long, towering fly to the left fielder that allowed Donati on third to tag-up and romp home with the tie breaking, game winning run, another win for Goff and the 740th Bn. team.

Goff bore down in the 5th inning and it wasn't until the 10th that he allowed a hit. He gave up a single in that frame and one more in the 12th, which made a total of 5 for the losers. He walked 3 men, struck out 13 and collected 2 timely hits for himself, beside sacrificing in the winning run, a good day even for Goff.

Sharing the spotlight with him was the 740th's Willie Willingham, right fielder, who had 3 for 5 at the plate and 4 fielding gems out in the right pasture. He won the game in the bottom of the 7th when he hit the longest ball of the day, clear over the left fielder's head up on the terrace in front of the SFAADS Barracks and even a fat man could have made it home without hurrying. There was joy in the home team ranks until the Umpire quoted the local ground rules book, only 2 bases for a ball on the terrace, so Willingham went back to 2nd base, where he was stranded at the end of the inning.

In the 10th the losers had a man on 2d with one out when a long fly went to Willingham in right field, who made a back-up, one hand catch and rifled the ball to Pete Schmit at third base, a perfect strike in time to nip the runner sliding in, ending the inning.

The same situation was set up again in the 12th and Willie Willingham repeated his bullet throw to Pete Schmit, to double the desperate runner and end the inning.

It was nip and tuck all the way and anybody's game until Goff pushed Donati across the plate with the winning run. It was a thriller for the 740th Bn. to win and a heartbreaker for the hard fighting 436th Bn. team to lose. They didn't give up easily.

Presidio Golf Team Scores Easy Victory Over Terminal Tyros

Presidio's Golf Team administered a sound drubbing, 18-3, to a visiting Oakland Army Terminal squad this week. Two team events and one singles event were played.

Capt. Charles Monges and George Ruess teamed to take a pair of 3-0 wins from Oakland's Jake Early and Buddy Rogers. Sfc Murray Jacobs downed Mike Derosa 3-0, but Sp3 James Jones lost to Buddy Caylor by 1/2-2 1/2. The other event saw Presidio's Cliff Rogers score a 3-0 win over Teddy Hunt.

Next Wednesday the Post team will play a rematch at the Lake Chabot course in Oakland.

Believe It Or Not

It Happened This Way

Shades of Mr. Ripley!

In what game did the losing pitcher strike out 12 and allow not a single hit; the winning pitcher strike out 7 and allow not a single hit; the loser steal home to tie the game in the fifth; the winner steal home to win the game in the seventh?

Give up? Why, that's easy.

This fantastic game was played at the Presidio's Pop Hicks Field on Friday last when the Giants met the San Rafael Taveggia-Brusati team in the quarter finals of the District Little League playoffs.

Winning pitcher was Dennis Clivio, losing pitcher was Presidio's Mike Frye. A combination of walks and errors produced the game's three runs and Mike Kenyan was the Giant who stole home plate.

The now immortal Taveggia-Brusati player who made the game-winning theft of home plate was not named.

The loss eliminated the local squad from this year's competition.

Softball Team Draws With Ken's In City League Play

A non-league shutout and a time-limit tie marked activities of the Presidio softball team over the past week.

On Monday, the Post team traveled to San Francisco Naval Shipyard to do battle with a salty crew from the cruiser USS Roanoke. The locals blanked the sailors, 6-0, on the four-hit pitching of Nick Themely. Big Ed Johnson and Bob Raggio led the team's hitting attack with 2 for 2, a triple and a double, and 3 for 4, three singles, respectively.

Regular play on Thursday night in the Class A City League saw the locals blow an early lead and barely last for a time-limit deadlock, 4-4, against Ken's Fishbowl. Johnson started on the mound and gave up seven hits before Themely relieved in the sixth to blank the remaining batters. Johnson, Thomas and Sig-free led the Presidio attack.

Next Monday the Presidio nine will travel to Travis AFB for an afternoon game, 1400, with the Fairfield Flyers. On Tuesday they meet the Hellcats at Alameda NAS, 1630, and on Friday they tangle with another sailor squad, 1600, at Treasure Island.

B Btry Swamps A 19-1 In 740th Softball Play

The fighting nine from B Btry. at Ft. Scott literally ran over the Ft. Funston A Btry. team to the tune of 19-1 at the Ft. Scott diamond. It was a decisive victory in the race for the Commanders Trophy.

B Btry's pitcher, strong righthander Bob James, was in command all the way and A's hitters never did get started.

The real shape of things to come was apparent in the second inning when B's Pete Schmit sent one of Pitcher Starr's offerings over the center fielder's head for the first home run of the game. Before the inning was over Al Alexander hit a three-run homer and catcher Don Hubbell did his bit with a two-round tripper.

It was only a matter of time as B's batters continued the barrage inning after inning, including another three-run homer by third baseman Alexander.

B showed some outstanding base running as they filched everything but the sacks. Even big Don Hubbell got in the act and stole a base.

Two peach baskets fastened to a gymnasium balcony in the winter of 1891 provided the start for a game that spread from American Y.M.C.A.'s to an important place in the world sports picture. The peach baskets gave the game its name—basketball.

Sixth Army Recruiting Ready For New Law

NEW SIXTH ARMY Information Chief, Col. Harold C. Lyon (second from left), is shown here with three of his key staff officers who are also new to the Presidio (see "Recently Assigned"). They are (l. to r.): Lt. Col. James G. Chesnutt, Deputy Information Officer; Major Glen T. Sliger, Jr., Chief of the Troop Information Division; and Maj. J. J. Early, Press Section Chief.

Army Commander Selects Top Info Section Chief

A veteran combat infantry commander and intelligence expert, Colonel Harold C. Lyon, has been named Chief, Sixth U.S. Army Information Section by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander.

An architect of the "new look" in the Army's public and troop information program, Col. Lyon comes to his new assignment from Department of the Army where he served as Chief, Troop Information Branch, TI&E Division and later (after separation of information and education) as Chief, Troop Information Division in the Office of the Chief of Information.

"I've had a crack at the policy-making end of this business and now I'll have a chance to put some of these policies to work in the field," stated the colonel.

"Our policy here? Well, the Army Commander and the Chief of Staff have indicated to me that they expect a progressively imaginative and sound public and troop information program based on service and initiative. That, then, is our immediate goal."

A native of Massachusetts, Col. Lyon is a graduate of Wabash College and attended Columbia University. He has also completed the Command and General Staff School; Strategic Intelligence School; Basic Airborne Course; Infantry School Advanced Course; Armed Forces Staff College and the Army Command Management School.

Previous assignments include G2 Section, First Corps Area, Boston, Mass., 1940-41; G2 Section, War Department 1941-42; Hq. ETOUSA, London, 1942-43; 3rd Infantry Division, North Africa (Invasion of Sicily), June-August 1943; U.S. Planner on the staff of Field Marshal Montgomery's staff, Hq. 21st Army Group (British) 1943-44; ExO "T" Force, 12th Army Group 1944-45; Chief, Plans Section, Intelligence Section, War Department 1946-48; CO, 1st Bn.; CO, 511th Airborne Regiment, 11th Airborne Division, Ft. Campbell, Ky., 1949-50; ExO, G3 Section, Hq. Seventh Army 1951-52; C/S, 28th Infantry Division, Goeppingen, Germany, 1952-53; CO, 112th Infantry Regiment (became 60th Inf. Regt. May 1954), Heilbronn, Germany, 1953-54.

Col. Lyon's decorations include the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Commendation Ribbon, French Croix de Guerre and Luxembourg's Croix de Guerre and Chevalier de Couranne de Chene.

New Color Film To Aid Incentive Awards Program

A new Incentive Awards sound filmstrip, "A Partnership in Progress," developed by the U.S. Civil Service Commission with the cooperation of the Federal departments and agencies, is now in stock at the Central Film Exchange, Bldg. 603.

The film is designed as an aid in encouraging further supervisory use of incentive awards to improve operations.

The filmstrip, No. 61-29, illustrated in full color, shows actual cases of how employee suggestions and superior job performance have benefited employees, the supervisor, and the agency as a whole. It illustrates how incentive awards can contribute to safety, simplify work problems, assist in recruiting new employees, and promote better community relations.

With the film goes a discussion guide to encourage supervisors to use the pointers in the film as a springboard for their own action.

Senate Bill Would Allow 193 To Wear Foreign Decorations

The Senate has passed a bill that will allow some 193 retired Army personnel to accept and wear decorations given them by foreign governments.

Included in the group is Harry S. Truman, former Commander-in-Chief and retired Army colonel; he was given a Centennial Medal by Liberia in 1953.

Also on the list is former Army Chief of Staff Matthew B. Ridgway, who has been tendered eight foreign awards.

Effect Quick Change In Key IQ Testing

When President Eisenhower signed into law last week a bill which would eliminate expensive induction and subsequent release of mentally unacceptable soldiers, Armed Forces Examining and Recruiting Main Stations throughout Sixth U.S. Army were able to modify operations immediately to meet requirements of the new law.

The changeover was completed in this area Monday, though the Army had set a target date of 1 September for phasing in new procedures.

Essentially, the legislation provides for additional pre-induction testing of Category Four ("borderline") prospective draftees and enlistees to determine whether they have training potential requisite for an atomic-age Army.

Previously, prospective soldiers were given only the Armed Forces Qualification (AFQ) test — for general aptitude — at Examining/Recruiting stations. All persons who attained minimum or higher scores were then shipped to Reception stations for additional Army Classification Battery (ACB) tests to determine their specific skill areas.

However, it was learned that many of the "borderline" inductees were not retainable by the Army and had to be released from active duty at considerable expense (approx. $700 each) and, in many cases, some personal embarrassment.

Under the new program, Category Four persons (or, draftees placing in the 10-30 percentiles in AFQ tests; enlistees in the 21-30 percentiles) will be administered ACB tests prior to induction.

According to Gordon J. Rutkai, Assistant Operations Officer at Sixth Army Recruiting District, the immediate impact of the change will be two-fold:

First, it will require an additional day of processing time for Category Four personnel (new total: two days).

Second, an assistant personnel psychologist (enlisted) to each of the 10 induction stations in Sixth Army; they will administer and grade ACB tests. To date, 7 of the APP's are on duty and the others are expected to be available in the near future.

The transition from the old system, Mr. Rutkai said, was relatively easy in Sixth Army because the new plan has been under study here for several months. In fact, it has been in operation for enlistees, on a test basis, at the Oakland Recruiting Main station.

In the Oakland pilot test, it was determined that nearly 25 percent of the potential enlistees were typed Category Four after AFQ tests, yet 90 percent of the lower group were able to satisfactorily pass ACB tests.

Passing ACB scores are 90 or higher in two areas for draftees; the same scores, but in three areas for enlistees.

Mr. Rutkai said "there can be no doubt" that men who attain acceptable scores on ACB tests are mentally qualified for Army duty.

The 10 induction stations in Sixth Army are located at Seattle and Spokane, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Butte, Mont.; Boise, Idaho; Oakland, Fresno and Los Angeles, Calif.; Salt Lake City, Utah; and Phoenix, Ariz.

Civil Service Commission Studies Methods For New Training Act

The Civil Service Commission is currently studying methods for putting the new Government Employees Training Act into effect.

Long sought by the executive branch and recommended by both Hoover Commissions, the new law authorizes all types of employee training, including training within the Federal service and in non-Federal facilities such as colleges, universities, manufacturing plants, and laboratories.

The Commission is made responsible for general administration of the law and issuance of Government regulations and instructions under which agencies will operate their own training programs. The Commission is directed to continue providing in-service training assistance to agencies and to review agencies' out-service training programs for compliance with the law and regulations. The act also reaffirms the necessity for employee self-development and in-service training, but it adds few, if any, new controls to programs operating wholly within Government. Agency heads remain responsible for determining the kinds of training to be given, when it is to be given, which employees need training, and how much money to allot for training purposes within the limits of appropriations.

CSC Chairman Harris Ellsworth hailed the new act as a landmark in personnel administration. "The new authority," Mr. Ellsworth said, "will enable Government to get on a par with the best training practices of private industry. It establishes for the first time by law a general policy for the promotion of efficiency and economy in Government activities through employee training."

"When recruits cannot be found with vitally necessary and unusual combinations of skills such as those required in today's complex Government, agencies can now select their own employees whose skills are closest to those required and can give them the needed training."

The chief highlight of the new law is that it authorizes agencies to pay for training of employees in non-Government facilities when such training is necessary and is not reasonably available within Government. It also allows certain types of contributions, awards, and payments (such as Rockefeller scholarships) to be made by non-profit organizations and accepted by Federal employees under certain conditions, and it permits agencies to send employees at Government expense to meetings which will contribute to improved supervision, management, and conduct of statutory functions.

The act specifies certain controls to govern out-service training. Trainees must agree in advance to remain with the agency for at least three times the length of the training period or repay the training costs, and no employee with less than one year of continuous service may be given out-service training. An employee may not receive more than one year of out-service training for each 10 years of total service, and such training may not be given solely for purposes of promotion or the obtaining of academic degrees. An agency's out-service training time may not exceed one percent of its authorized personnel strength.

Examples of types of out-service training which may be used are the sending of—

- an equipment specialist to a factory maintenance school
- an electronics technician to a laboratory to be trained in the use of the latest equipment
- a vocational rehabilitation specialist to a leading clinic to learn the newest methods of testing and helping the disabled
- scientists and engineers to laboratories and universities for special job-related studies.

Wins Commendation

Capt. David W. Hughes of Sixth ARADCOM G3 Section recently was awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant. The presentation was made by Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Sixth ARADCOM Commander.

The Cluster was awarded for Capt. Hughes' meritorious service while at the Army Air Defense School, Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Rocky Shoals C/S Wins Promotion To Brigadier

The Chief of Staff for the Rocky Shoals Maneuver Headquarters here was promoted to the grade of brigadier general Saturday.

Wearing a star for the second time in his 25-year Army career is Brig. Gen. Francis Hill, Artillery Commander of the 4th Infantry Division, Fort Lewis, who is on temporary duty with the joint exercise staff at the Presidio.

Single stars were pinned on his shoulders Saturday during informal ceremonies in the office of Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander.

Brig. Gen. Hill, a West Pointer (class of '33), previously wore one star during World War II while serving as G3 in the China-India-Burma Theater Headquarters.

In 1946, he reverted from his temporary rank to the grade of colonel.

The 49-year-old Artillery officer was Executive Officer of the 2d Infantry Division Artillery during the early stages of the Korean War and later served as Chief of the Eighth Army Civil Assistance Section there.

Score Dental Care Lack In Army Medical Program

Washington (ANS) — The Dental Advisory Committee to the Office for Dependents' Medical Care has proposed a dental care program be established for dependents of military personnel.

A 15-month survey by the group found that the absence of dependent's dental care is the "primary defect" of the entire medicare program.

The plan, which would require legislation before being put into effect, includes treatment of dependents by military dentists and inauguration of a program of dependents' care by civilian dentists.

Two Due Decorations At Today's Retreat Parade

Two officers will be presented with awards during a parade on the main parade ground this afternoon at 1600.

Colonel Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander and Reviewing Officer, will present a Citation for Meritorious Service to Lt. Col. James G. Chestnutt for his "outstanding contribution to the Army Information Program through his diligent and tireless efforts . . . and the formulation of a thoughtful, intelligent Army magazine and book program. His diligence, ability and professional qualifications have been of immeasurable importance in gaining public support for the Army and its Information Program."

Lt. Col. Chesnutt has recently been assigned as Deputy Sixth Army Information Officer. Previous to coming to the Presidio, he was in the Public Information Office, Department of the Army.

A Citation for the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant will also be presented to Capt. Oliver P. Premo, Transportation and Maintenance Officer at the Sixth Army Transportation Center (see recently assigned), for his distinguished service as Aircraft Maintenance Officer, Material Division, Office of Transportation, Headquarters U.S. Army, Japan, from August 1956 to June 1958.

Commander of Troops will be Lt. Col. Grant W. Allison. Capt. James T. Pooler, Battery Chamberlain, will be the Adjutant. Commander of the first battalion will be Maj. Jack R. Hunt, Quartermaster Section, and Maj. Vernon K. Eastin, Assistant Ordnance Officer, will command the second battalion.

STRAC Poster Set

Washington (ANS) — A new STRAC poster, stressing the motto "Skilled, Tough, Ready Around the Clock," is now being distributed Army-wide.

Key Commanders Study Progress Report At Baker

Army Air Defense Commanders of the West Coast convened at Sixth Region Hq., Fort Baker, this week to review the measured accomplishments of defense policy during the first six months of the calendar year.

The defense commanders conference opened with an address by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, Sixth Region U.S. Army Air Defense Commander.

Attending the conference were: Col. Iver A. Peterson, Commanding Officer, 80th Artillery Group; Brig. Gen. Willis A. Perry, Commanding Gen., 47th Artillery Group; Maj. Gen. McGaw; Brig. Gen. Harrison A. Gearhardt, Commanding Gen., 31st Artillery Brigade; Col. Micheal Irving, Deputy Commander, Sixth Region; Col. Edgar Ingmire, Commanding Officer, 5th Artillery Group; Col. John McCormick, Commanding Officer, 26th Artillery Group; Lt. Col. R. E. Bohne, Commander 108th Artillery Group; Col. Charles Blumenfeldt, Deputy Chief of Staff, Sixth Region, and Maj. Robert C. Wuetter, Commanding Officer 29th Artillery Group.

The convention closed with a tour of Bay area experimental sites.

MOONWAY—These models, prepared by scientists of the National Advisory Committee For Aeronautics, illustrate projected trips to and around the moon. At left is depicted the route of current satellites around the earth. Next is the path of an impact shot to the moon. Third is path of rocket to orbit around moon once and return to earth and fourth is a multiple orbit of the moon and return to earth.

US Readies Rocket to the Moon

Washington (AFPS)—The complete success of the first experimental flight to the moon depends on the perfect functioning of more than 300,000 complex parts, and the failure of any one could nullify the flights effectiveness.

This statement was made by Mr. Roy W. Johnson, Director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA), in a review of the "lunar probe series" first announced by the Secretary of Defense last March.

Since then, Mr. Johnson said, much has been accomplished in the way of ground - testing complex components of these pioneer space exploration vehicles.

But, he cautioned, we are not

deluding ourselves that our first flights into outer space will be completely successful.

He said there are varying degrees of success possible, ranging from the difficult achievement of free flight beyond the earth's atmosphere to the vastly more challenging objectives of scanning the moon's surface by electromagnetic means.

The first test vehicle of the series will consist of an Air Force Thor intermediate range ballistic missile as the first, or booster, stage.

A modified Navy Vanguard rocket will be the second stage and a solid-propellant rocket developed for an advanced version of the Vanguard will be the final stage.

This test flight, if completely successful, would accomplish the following objectives:

- Achieve proper powered flight performance from the three stages of the test vehicle.
- Reach an escape velocity from earth's gravitational field.
- Obtain data, using the special tracking stations developed for the lunar probe program, during the flight of the test vehicle out of the earth's gravitational field and into space a distance of perhaps 250,000 miles.
- Achieve trajectory control sufficient to place the payload in the general vicinity—possibly within 50,000 miles—of the moon.

recently assigned

New Sixth U.S. Army Deputy Adjutant General is Col. ROBERT E. GAMBRILL, who for the past three years was Chief of the AG Administrative Services Division, Ft. Meade, Md.

He and Mrs. Gambrill (Della) currently are living in the Marina.

During his sixteen-year career, which started when he was commissioned in July 1942, the colonel has occupied a variety of AG posts ranging from casualty reporting to recruiting.

During World War II, he served in the Recovered Personnel Division (AG), GHQ, Far East. From May 1946 to June 1947, he was with the Mediterranean theater headquarters in Italy.

After a tour as Adjutant General of the New York-New Jersey Military District, Col. Gambrill attended the AG Officers' Advanced Course, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., during the 1949-50 class.

His next assignment was as Chief of the Casualty Division, GHQ, Far East, in Tokyo, Japan; and in 1951, he went to Korea as Eighth Army Casualty Officer.

A year later he returned to the United States for his first tour in Sixth Army—AG Executive Officer, and later AG, at Ft. Ord, Calif.

In 1955, prior to going to Ft. Meade, Col. Gambrill was named Executive Officer, and later Commander, of the Second Army Recruiting District.

Col. Gambrill holds the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star for Meritorious Service and the Commendation Ribbon with Medal Pendant and Oak Leaf Cluster.

Col. F. K. MEARNS, who is slated to head the Sixth Army G3 Plans and Operations Division, is now on TDY to Rocky Shoals Headquarters as Deputy Controller of the Control Group there.

The 42-year-old West Pointer (Class of '38) came to the presidio after having completed, in June, courses at the Army War College.

A combat infantry commander and Silver Star winner while with the 34th Infantry Division in Italy during World War II, Col. Mearns also has been an artillery commander (Ft. Sill, 1950-51) and is a senior parachutist.

He also holds the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star for Valor, Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Combat Infantry Badge for his World War II service.

The versatile colonel attended Columbia University in 1946-47 for four semesters (international law) while on active duty; was Director, Special Forces Department of the Psychological Warfare School, Ft. Bragg, N.C., 1952-54; and served in Moscow, Russia, from 1954 to 1957 as Army Attache at the American Embassy.

The colonel also is a graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., (1952).

He is residing in San Francisco with his wife, Elizabeth, and their three children, Nancy, 18; Suzanne, 15; and Robert, 12.

A new arrival from CONARC is Lt. Col. JOHN A. PETERS of the Sixth Army G4 Services Division. He previously had been at CONARC Headquarters for 32 months as Assistant G4 for Reserve Affairs.

Lt. Col. Peters entered on active duty in February 1941 as a member of the Wyoming National Guard 115th Cavalry and served in World War II with the Army Ground Forces in a liaison capacity between CONUS and Far East Army elements.

After the war, he was assigned to Korea as an Assistant G2, 6th Infantry Division, and later as Commander of the 2d Battalion, 1st Infantry Regiment. He was there from 1946 through 1948. Two years later, during the Korean War, he returned there for service with KMAG as National Police Advisor.

In 1951, Lt. Col. Peters was reassigned to Kobe, Japan, where he was post Operations Officer.

Beginning in 1952, he served four years at Department of the Army in the Procurement Division of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics.

The colonel has completed studies at the Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., in 1954 and at the Army Command Management School, Ft. Belvoir, Va., in 1956.

Maj. JOSEPH D. HYNES, a recent graduate of the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., has been assigned to the Sixth Army G1 Plans Branch.

Entering the Army in June 1943 as an enlisted man, he was commissioned 18 months later after completing Infantry OCS at Ft. Benning, Ga.

After a year of occupation duty in Japan, Maj. Hynes took a three-year break in service to complete studies at New Mexico A&M for a bachelor's degree in Animal Husbandry (1949). He re-entered the Army shortly after him graduation.

1,000th GRAD of the Army Air Defense School, Sp4 Roy C. Friend is congratulated by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, CG 6th Regional ARADCOM. Honor graduate was Sp4 Harold T. Molloy, Btry C, 9th AAA Msl. Bn.

Quarterly Reception Set For Next Friday

Colonel Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer, announced this week that the Presidio Officers' Open Mess will sponsor a quarterly reception on Friday, 22 August 1958, between the hours of 1800 and 2000 to welcome officers and their ladies newly assigned to the Presidio.

Attendance is open to the Mess membership on an optional basis. With the exception of newly assigned officers it is also optional for members attending as to whether they pass through the receiving line.

Uniform for active duty personnel will be Army Blue, with four-in-hand tie.

Active members are requested to arrive in accordance with the following schedule:

- 1800—Sixth U.S. Army Command Group, G1, G2;
- 1815—XV U.S. Army Corps (Res.); Sixth U.S. Army G3, G4;
- 1830—Post Units* (A through G); Sixth U.S. Army Comptroller, AG, OIA, Chaplain;
- 1845—Post Units* (H through P); Sixth U.S. Army Fin, IG, JAG, Engr, Army Avn;
- 1900—Post Units* (Q through Z); Sixth U.S. Army Med, Ord, Sig, PM, Sixth U.S. Army MRU;
- 1915—Hq. Sixth U.S. Army Special Troops, Flight Detachment; 6700 SU; 115 CIC, 6000 SU, 6400 SU, Sixth U.S. Army QM, SS, Trans, Cml, and Dental.

(* Note: Letters in parenthesis indicate last initial for post personnel only.)

Associate and honorary members will be integrated into the above groups.

It will not be necessary for those attending to again pay respects prior to departure.

Main bar will be closed on this date from 1800 to 2000 hours. Dining and bar service will be available in the Portola Room during the reception.

The idea of a self propelled vehicle on wheels intrigued mankind through many centuries, but it did not take definite form until 1690, when a two wheeled contrivance made its appearance on the streets of Paris. The originator was M. de Sivrac, a Frenchman. The machine consisted of two wooden wheels, with upright posts on the sides of the wheels, such posts being joined together by a crossbar.

USAFI Telecourses

Washington (ANS)—The United States Armed Forces Institute has initiated a new medium to be used in conjunction with educational development programs in and through Army Education Centers—USAFI telecourses.

These courses, which are intended primarily for use by 16-mm. projection during group study, are now available in Beginning Algebra I and II, Practical English Usage I, American History I and II, General Psychology, and American Government.

May Keep Stripes

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army has announced that enlisted personnel in pay grades E-5, E-6, and E-7, who were on the retired list on or before May 31, 1958, will continue to wear the insignia of grade authorized for those grades at that time.

what they said

There are certain qualities in humans which sometimes make them enviable to certain other humans. This week, in our search for opinion, we offer a synthesis of

THE QUESTION: Who do you envy most in the world and why?

ANSWERS

Cyrilla Curtis, Post Transportation:

"I envy no man because I know not his secret sorrow." In the first place what good does it do to envy anyone. It doesn't get you anywhere to envy anyone. Like from the quotation, we never know what pain or sorrow a man must bear. We never know anyone thoroughly enough to know all his qualities, good or bad. So it doesn't do you any good to envy someone. If you want something in life, you must go out and work for it. Nothing in life comes free.

Pfc. Henry Schufletowski,

LAH Medical Detachment: I tell you, I really envy Elvis Presley! I really dig his style. I think he's done pretty good for just the short time he's been successful. I envy his success, too. You know, I play the guitar and sing myself. Of course, I don't possess his talent. And I started too late. But I tell you if I was as successful as him, I believe I'd drive a Lincoln Continental. Pink and Ivory.

WO Keith W. Asbury, Air Defense School, Ft. Scott:

If I did envy anyone, I think I'd envy Ernest Hemingway. I'd envy him for his ability as a writer and for the travelling he has done. I think he is a very good writer. I like his style. Due to his travels, if you were to pick him up and set him down anywhere in the world he would be recognised. Either he would be given a royal welcome or else they would throw rocks at him. I've never yet met anyone who felt in between about him.

Eileen Pulaski, Post Library:

I envy a person with security because I feel it is a very important quality to possess. In the Army people get shifted around a good deal and for some people it's terribly hard to adjust. Some of them never can adjust and they are like lost souls. Of course, it all depends on the individual. Security is largely a state of mind. I suppose you can be secure if you have people you can depend upon. But then again, it is something you carry around in your head. Some people can be secure in the most insecure circumstances.

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army has announced that there has been no relaxation in the present policy requiring active duty personnel to own one Army Green uniform by 1 October 1958.

Washington (ANS)—The Army has set 1 January, 1958, for Army-wide implementation of a military pay system that has been under test at eight Posts in the Continental U.S. for several months.

Under the new system, the soldier's pay is broken completely down for him on a voucher he receives at the pay table (or later from Finance if he is paid by check).

Washington (ANS)—The Army National Guard will become part of the Army's air defense system early in September when selected units in California take over Nike-Ajax sites from the Active Army, DA said today.

This changeover marks the beginning of an important new era of the National Guard as it takes the first step in becoming a full-time partner in the nation's defense with the active units of the services.

Fort Belvoir, Va. (ANS)—The Engineer Research and Development Laboratories here have developed a new night vision device called the "Cascaded Photosensitive Image Intensifier" that helps troops see military objectives at night with the aid of light from the stars.

Washington (ANS)—Army procurement during June totalled 30,987 with 10,949 inductions through Selective Service; 10,694 new recruits; 8,732 reenlistments and 612 reservists coming on active duty. On 30 June, Army strength was estimated at 898,925. It was 902,214 on 31 May.

Presidio's Horne Tops Early Pistol Matches

Presidio's Sp4 Jerry Horne, outstanding marksman from the 537th Engineer Company here, led Army pistolers in aggregate total after the first day's firing in the National Pistol Championship Matches which are being held this week at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Sp4 Horne's 874 out of a possible 900 points put him well ahead of Sgt. Merriweather Jones of Ft. Lewis who posted a day's total of 863.

Both men competed in the Expert Class, registering the following individual scores in the four .22 Calibre matches:

Timed fire—Horne, 199-8X, 3d Place; Jones, 200-14X, 2d Place.

Rapid Fire—Horne, 197-10X, 1st Place; Jones, 195.

Slow Fire—Horne, 187-4X, 7th Place; Jones, 181.

National Match Course—Horne, 291; Jones, 287.

But, the outstanding individual performance for the day among Sixth Army shooters was Sgt. Jones' second place in the Timed Fire event. Though he bested last year's record score of 200-13X, he missed by two X's (center bulls) of winning the match which attracted 1,500 sharpshooters. Winner was Capt. John F. Dodds of the Army's Pacific Team.

In team competition, Sixth Army's Blue team posted a 1152, but non-availability of other scores make its placement unknown. It is known, however, that Ft. Benning's

All-Army Grey Team, with a score of 1166, took top honors.

Team members, in addition to Sgt. Jones and Sp4 Horne, are: M/Sgt. Roy Holmes, Camp Roberts; Sgt. Santiago Machuca, Ft. Lewis; and Coach, Sfc. Clifford Gritzmacher, Ft. Ord.

In Master Class firing, the only Sixth Army man to place high was Sgt. Jones, whose 293-9X garnered him runner-up in the Regular Service competition.

Also in Master firing, Sgt. Richard Halverson of Ft. Ord fired 199-8X to place 20th in Regular Service match and M/Sgt. Holmes, with 196-7X, was 24th.

Results of the second day Center Fire Matches held Wednesday and of the .45 Calibre events yesterday were not available at press time. Today, final standings for team and individual performances will be determined and trophies awarded. Sixth Army firers are expected to return to the West Coast this weekend.

Next week, civilian and military rifle teams will compete at Camp Perry. Sixth Army will be represented.

“Matiu—Tumba Maa Tuma”

Versatile Chaplain Translated Scriptures Into Dagomba Dialect

By Pfc. Walcott Hubbell
Star Presidian Associate Editor

Twenty-three years ago, an American missionary sailed with his wife for Africa's Gold Coast; that same year, a young student from the Gold Coast crossed the Atlantic to reach America.

And, almost a quarter of a century later, the work of an American in Africa and an African in America during the quiet years before World War II blossomed to lead infant (one-year-old) independent Ghana through the transition from British colonial rule and establish it as a politically and religiously-culturally progressive and stable state in an otherwise disquiet North Africa.

The student was Kwame Nkrumah, 48-year-old pro-Western Prime Minister of Ghana, who for seven years after coming to the United States worked his way through Lincoln University, Pa., and the University of Pennsylvania to prepare for his future.

The missionary was scholarly (B.A., B.D.) Chap. (Maj.) James K. McConchie, newly-appointed Chief of Reserve Affairs for the Sixth U.S. Army Chaplain. For more than three years, Chap. McConchie, accompanied by his wife, Jean, labored to reduce the Gold Coast Dagomba dialect to a written language and translate portions of the New Testament to it.

But, the intercession of two major wars delayed full realization of his efforts until 1955, when a book almost unknown in the English-speaking world was published—in England. The volume, “Matiu—Tumba Maa Tuma,” is the Dagomba translation of the New Testament Gospels and the Book of The Acts.

The versatile Chaplain's life has been one of dedication—in peace and war.

The Rev. James K. McConchie, educated at the Southern California Bible College, Pasadena, and the Los Angeles Baptist Theological Seminary, went to the Gold Coast as an educational missionary.

During that time, he assumed the monumental task of reducing the Dagomba language to writing. In 1935, very little had been accomplished in translating Holy Scriptures; a meager dictionary had been started and uncertain attempts at a rudimentary grammar had begun under the direction of Lloyd Shirer, now Educational Director of West Africa under UNESCO.

After two years of research and study of the native tongue and customs, with special emphasis on local idioms, Chap. McConchie was able to produce acceptable drafts of the Gospels According to St. Matthew, St. Luke and St. John.

At the same time, he also assisted in revisions of previous translations of the Book of The Acts and the Gospel of St. Mark. In addition, he collected anthropological data for the British Colonial Government.

The original manuscripts of Chap. McConchie's work on the three Gospels were sent in 1937 to the Bible House of the British and Foreign Bible Society in London, England.

But, because of the uncertain political conditions in Europe during the ensuing years, there was little possibility of reviewing, correcting and revising the original manuscripts for publication.

The Nazi Luftwaffe's, and subsequent V2, blitz of London forced evacuation of the precious manuscripts to New York City for safekeeping by the America Bible Society.

Chaplain McConchie

In the meantime, Chap. McConchie went to war. He entered the Army in October, 1943, and less than a year later, while serving in the Caroline Islands with the 81st Infantry Division, earned the Bronze Star Medal for Valor.

Five years after the war, Chap. McConchie learned more of his translations. Assigned to Department of the Army as Chief of the Chaplains Supply and Procurement Division (1950-52), business carried him to New York in 1951, where he met his former colleague, Mr. Shirer.

Mr. Shirer took him to the Bible Society archives there, and Chap. McConchie saw his original manuscripts which were being prepared for return to London and subsequent publication.

Then, five years later, Chap. McConchie received, through the mails, a complimentary, leather-bound edition of “Matiu—Tumba Maa Tuma.” Inside the front cover was this inscription:

“Presented to Kenneth McConchie by the Committee of the BRITISH & FOREIGN BIBLE SO-CIETY in grateful recognition of the service rendered in preparing this version. THE BIBLE HOUSE, LONDON, 10/11/55.”

The Chaplain also has original draft translations of four other New Testament Epistles, as well as of numerous passages and stories from the Old Testament.

Chap. McConchie, whose appointment here was announced this week subsequent to his graduation fourth highest in a class of 31 after a 17-week course at the Chaplains School, Fort Slocum, N. Y., is no newcomer to the Presidio and the Bay Area.

Last November, he was named the first chaplain in three years for the 30th Engineer Battalion (then, Group). Previously, he had been Chief of the Chaplains Supply Division at Fort Mason since July, 1955.

Versatility in the McConchie family is not limited to the Chaplain. Mrs. McConchie, who served with him in West Africa as an educational missionary, has been a teacher for more than 20 years and currently is a Fifth Grade teacher at San Francisco's Raphael Weill School.

His daughter, Joan, who met and married former Army Cpl. Charles Staley when he served at a microwave station in Fromont, France, during the time Chap. McConchie was Chaplain for NATO Forces in nearby Fontenbleu (1954-55), is a well-known photographer's model and TV-Movie-Stage actress now living in Hollywood, Calif. She has appeared in such TV productions as “Studio One” and has entertained in various clubs in Southern California.

Three Civilians Win Cash, Certificates With Training Group

Three civilian employees of the U.S. Army Training Group were presented Department of the Army “Outstanding” ratings and Superior Performance of Duty certificates and checks for $100 by Col. William Reinford, Commanding Officer of the Group at an informal ceremony at the Presidio this week.

Award winners were Mrs. Kathryn Chapman, Region I, clerk typist in the Oakland office; Miss Leah Herz, Field Office, Fort Mason, and Miss Anita Treviso, Secretary, Group Headquarters, Fort Scott.

Nuclear Power Program Deadline Is 25 August

Enlisted personnel in grade E4 or higher who are interested in training and eventual assignment in the Army's Nuclear Power Program must submit application letters to the Post S3, to arrive no later than 25 August.

No more than 25 applicants throughout the Army will be accepted for the third cycle of training—a one-year course designed to furnish nuclear power plant operators, maintenance personnel and cadre supervisors and instructors for the crews of future military nuclear power plants.

Candidates must have, as of 1 January, 1959, four years remaining on current service tours or be willing to reenlist for sufficient time to meet the minimum requirement.

Applications will be prepared under the provisions of DA Circular 621-18, 5 June, 1958; additional instructions may be obtained by calling the Post S3 Section, Ext. 3961.

The training will be in two six-month phases. The first, to begin 15 January, 1959, will be basic academic instruction at Ft. Belvoir, Va., in nuclear power plant technology. The next section will be operational training at either the Army Package Power Reactor at Ft. Belvoir or the Argonne Low Power Reactor at Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Upon completion of training, graduates will be assigned to the operational or instructor staff at the two reactors or at a new reactor scheduled for construction at a permanent Army installation in Alaska.

Ready Plans For Four On-Post Study Classes

The following courses have been scheduled for the fall semester of the college on-post program which will begin 15 September: Biology 1, Human Biology and Health; History 194, The Contemporary Far East; English 161, The Short Story; Government 148, Parties and Elections.

Classes in Biology 1, Human Biology and Health, will be held in Bldg. 1131 regularly on Monday and Wednesdays from 1830 to 2100.

Basic biological principles will be examined and illustrated, in most cases with examples pertaining to the human. The development of the human being will be followed along with the hereditary basis of various human characters. In addition the nature of disease, its transmission, prevention and bodily resistance will be discussed. Finally, the source and flow of energy on the earth will be considered with relation to the growth of human populations.

The instructor in the class is James P. Macken. He was appointed to the staff of San Francisco State College in 1957. He received his B.S. degree from the University of Akron, his M.S. from Ohio State, and his Ph.D. from the University of Oregon. From 1955-57 Dr. Macken served as a Research Fellow with the Department of Biology at the University of Oregon under the auspices of the Atomic Energy Commission.

A description of the remaining courses and a biographical sketch of each instructor will appear in the Star Presidian during the next three weeks.

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

Servicemen around the world have done much to gain for themselves respect for their numerous acts of kindness and helpfulness.

They have supported orphanages, aided churches and generally given time and effort (as well as money) to people in other lands.

This attitude has earned them much praise and has also earned many friends for the United States.

As "people to people ambassadors," US servicemen have many rewarding experiences. One of these experiences may win you as much as $1,000 in this year's Freedoms Foundation Letter Writing Awards program.

The program's theme is "My Part in Winning Friends For Freedom." All servicemen are eligible. Letters should be between 100 and 500 words and addressed to Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. Deadline for all entries is Nov. 1, 1958.

HOW TO GET YOUR ABSENTEE BALLOT

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

This series outlines state-by-state information on how servicemen may obtain absentee ballots and also how their wives may obtain absentee ballots in states where applicable. For further information, see your voting officers.

Nevada—Servicemen and their wives may apply for absentee ballots by writing to the county clerk, county of residence, or by mailing in a Federal Post Card Application.

Marked ballots must be returned to election officials in time to reach the polls before they close on election day.

Alaska—Any qualified voter absent and more than two miles away from his polling place on election day, whether within the Territory or not, may vote by absentee ballot in any primary, special or general election.

Application for an absentee ballot should be made in writing to any US Commissioner, district of residence. Servicemen may also use the Federal Post Card Application.

Marked ballot should be returned to the clerk of your district court postmarked no later than the date of the election.

Alabama—Servicemen and their wives may apply for absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the county register in equity, county of residence.

Marked ballots must be received by election officials no later than the day of the election.

Arizona—Servicemen and their wives may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the county recorder, county of residence.

Marked ballots must be received by the county recorder no later than 6 p.m. on election day.

Arkansas—Servicemen and their wives may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the county clerk, county of residence.

A member of the Armed Forces may also vote without requesting an absentee ballot. Write a letter to your county clerk indicating choice for or against any proposal or measure, or choice—first, second, third, etc.—for any or all candidates to be voted on in an election. This ballot-letter must include an attestation by a commissioned officer. Letter-ballots will be accepted at any time between 60 days before an election and 6:30 p.m. on election day.

Marked absentee ballots must also be received by the county clerk not later than 6:30 p.m. on election day.

Connecticut—Servicemen and their wives may apply for absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the clerk of their municipality.

Marked ballots must be received by the municipal clerk by noon on election day if election day is a Monday, or by 6 p.m. if election day falls on any other day of the week.

Delaware—Servicemen and their wives may obtain absentee ballots in Delaware by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the department of elections, county of residence.

Marked ballots must be received by election officials before noon on election day.

LONG AND SHORT of the matter is that these two look-alikes boast a great deal in common. Old pro, Sp4 Robert F. Garland, gives his replacement, tiny tyro Pvt. Gerald Simon, the inside on his new duties as S1 clerk for the 740th AAA Msl. Bn.

Little Man Replaces Big Man In Key Nike Position

Private Gerald Simon, new 740th AAA Bn. S1 clerk, is one foot shorter, one year younger and fifty pounds lighter than his predecessor, Sp4 Robert F. Garland. Physically they are about as alike as black and white, but their background and occupation of the same desk, at the same job, in the same Battalion, is surprisingly similar in many ways.

Simon is 23 years old, single and from Miami Beach, Florida. He graduated from the University of Florida with a BS in Zoology in February and entered the Army almost immediately. After basic training at Ft. Jackson, South Carolina, he was assigned directly to the San Francisco Air Defense and 740th AAA Bn. Hqs.

Sp4 Garland moved over for his smaller sized replacement after completing nearly two years at that desk. Garland is 24 years old and from St. Paul, Minnesota. In 1956 he graduated from the University of Minnesota with a BBA in business administration. When he finished basic training at Ft. Hood, Texas, he was assigned to the San Francisco Air Defense and the 740th AAA Msl. Bn., where he remained at the same desk until he recently turned it over to Simon.

Sp4 Garland is going back to the University of Minnesota to gather some more education, this time in the Law School.

Pvt. Simon, with a full tour of duty ahead of him, keeps in practice off duty time by attending an evening typing class, and preparing lessons for the three different USAF courses.

Vet Map Maker Reups At 30th Engineers For Another Duty Tour

A 20-year veteran lithographer, M/Sgt. Raymond B. Decker, signed his reenlistment papers last week and was congratulated by the commanding officer of the 30th Engineer Battalion, Lt. Col. Vernie Slayter.

M/Sgt. Decker has been in the topographic mapping field since joining the 29th Topographic Engineer Battalion in 1939. Since then he has served with the 649th Topographic Battalion in World War II and the 62d Topographic Company in the Korean Campaign. In 1952 he served with the 30th Engineer Group and 1956-57 he acted as advisor for the National Geographic Service at Viet Nam. At the present time, Sgt. Decker is the Operations Coordinator for the 30th Engineer Battalion.

Army Band Swing

Fort Meade, Md. (ANS) — The U.S. Army Field Band leaves here 18 August for a six-week concert tour of 11 states from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Northwest. This is the band's first major concert swing through the U. S. this year.

Letters Postmarked At Pole Offered Philatelists By Navy

Washington (AFPS) — Would you like to have a letter postmarked at the Antarctic?

According to a Navy announcement the post offices at Byrd and South Pole stations will perform this service if you comply with a few simple rules.

Only one cover (piece of mail) may be submitted for postmarking at each station.

Covers must be addressed to intended recipients and bear U.S. postage stamps or be accompanied by International Reply Coupons to facilitate return postage.

Those addressed for delivery in the U. S. must bear the new four-cent first class rate, or the seven-cent airmail postage rate.

The covers must be enclosed in an envelope addressed to: Deep Freeze Philatelic Mail, Construction Battalion Center, Davisville, Rhode Island.

On the lower left-hand corner of the cover indicate the postmark desired, either Byrd or South Pole station.

Covers must be mailed in time to reach Davisville before 15 September, 1958.

Mail service in Antarctica is suspended from March to October each year when the continent is isolated.

Questions and Answers

GE Training Act

Many inquiries are being received about the effects of the Government Employees Training Act which was signed into law by the President on 7 July. The following questions and answers, first of a series of four, which have been prepared by the Civil Service Commission, cover the points on which questions are most frequently received.

Q. What is the significance of the Government Employees Training Act?

A. The act provides the first Government-wide authority for the training of employees within their own agencies, in other Federal establishments, and in non-Federal facilities.

Q. When is the new training authority effective?

A. Generally, on 7 July, the date of enactment. However, departments getting the authority for the first time will undoubtedly have to work out policy and issue instructions before employees can be placed in out-service training. Agencies which previously had out-service training authority can continue, during a period of transition, to operate under their present procedures. Authority to accept training scholarships and awards from non-Federal sources is not effective until Presidential regulations are issued.

Q. Employee training is certainly not new in the Federal service. Prior to the new act, what were the authorities?

A. In-service training had been carried on as an implied, if not inherent, management function. A few agencies had Congressional authorization to provide out-service training, and other agencies were seeking the same authority by special legislation. Until the new act was passed, training legislation had been handled on a piecemeal basis, and where agencies had little or no training authority, their operating activities suffered in many cases. The new act closes many of the gaps by providing general statutory authority for all types of employee training.

Q. What agencies are covered by the act?

A. Practically all agencies in the executive branch; the General Accounting Office; the Library of Congress; the Government Printing Office; and the District of Columbia Government.

Q. What agencies (or employees) are specifically exempted from the act?

A. The Tennessee Valley Authority; Foreign Service of the State Department; members of the uniformed forces, except Coast and Geodetic Survey officers; the President and Vice President; certain officers of corporations supervised by the Farm Credit Administration; and persons appointed by the President, unless specifically designated by him for training. The law permits other exceptions to be made by the President as needed.

Q. In what kinds of situations will out-service training be given?

A. Out-service training will be given only when an agency cannot reasonably satisfy its own critical training needs within available Government facilities.

Example: due to technological advances, a job's daily requirements may get ahead of the skills of the incumbent, who was fully qualified in the beginning. Additional employee training may be the only answer, and the needed training may be available only outside Government or may be too expensive to provide within Government.

Another example: in cases where agencies cannot locate qualified recruits to fill jobs with unusual requirements, the agencies may have employees whose skills come very close to matching the unique requirements. The best solution may be that of providing employee training with a view to transferring the employees to the more critical assignments. Again, the needed training may be available only outside Government.

General Palmer

Father Of Jeep Dies

Washington (ANS) — Brigadier General Bruce Palmer, USA (ret.), who designed and built the first armored scout car employed by the U. S. Cavalry and sparked the experimental tests which led to the forerunner of the first jeep, died recently here at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D.C., the day after his 80th birthday.

Born at Ft. Wallace, Kansas, General Palmer was the son of a Civil War veteran. He himself served more than 44 years in the Army, distinguishing himself in the Spanish-American War, the Mexican Border Campaign and both World Wars.

After World War I, while serving in the office of the Chief of Cavalry and as assistant commandant of the Cavalry School at Fort Riley, Kansas, he designed and built the Cavalry's first armored scout car and helped develop the famous army jeep.

Among his survivors are Colonel Bruce Palmer, Jr., Infantry, Deputy Secretary of the General Staff, Department of the Army, and White House Liaison Officer.

SELF PORTRAIT with mirrors, M/Sgt. William Howell takes his own picture in his photography shop at home. A long time, and almost full time, hobby with Howell, he plans to make it his profession after Army retirement.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

Here is a fellow who is really using his head by planning ahead.

M/Sgt. William Howell now has a hobby which upon his retirement in five years will become his profession.

"I couldn't exactly say how long I've been interested in photography. Maybe it's been always. But I remember about five years ago my wife came home one day with an eleven dollar developer out of the PX."

Howell, who is First Sergeant in 740th AAA Msl Btn, said, "It was always an ambition of mine to take pictures. In the back of my mind, I always have wanted to be a photographer."

Now Sgt. Howell spends almost as much time being a photographer as he spends being a sergeant in the Army. "I suppose if I was to estimate, it would be about 35 hours a week. Every night after dinner I work in my dark room until midnight, and usually every weekend I'm shooting or developing pictures."

Apart from studying and learning photography on his own, Sgt. Howell is taking a class in color separation at San Francisco State College.

"The two most important things to consider in picture taking are composition and correct exposure. But about the only way you can learn is to go ahead and take pictures. The more pictures you take, the better off you are."

He is most interested in doing free lancing. Now, he said, he has not confined himself to one type. Portrait work is challenging. Sports is perhaps the most enjoyable.

Sgt. Howell does his own developing and printing, sometimes with the help of his eight year old daughter. "My eleven dollar developer has grown into an Omega enlarger, a Kodak automatic enlarger, an 8 x 10 contact printer . . . well, I can't recall everything I have in there. You might just call it a well equipped complete darkroom."

A member of the Presidio NCO Club board of governors, Howell says, "You never see me without a camera."

And rightly so. In all, he has six cameras . . . one Arlright, two Speed Graphic, two Licas, and one Roliflex.

'Picnic' Promises To Be Showcase Production

As it goes into its final week of rehearsals, "Picnic" is being whipped into top notch shape by its director, Pfc. Ed Maxy.

Some of the more important scenes have been filmed by Don Theriot so that the actors will be able to see themselves in action and objectively criticize their own techniques.

The drama takes place in the backyard shared by Mrs. Botts and the Owens family. Therein is reflected the effect that a young man, Hal Carter, has on all the women of the town.

Because it is staged in the round rather than the traditional proscenium arch, the audience will surround the set which has been designed something like a basketball court, a house at either end separated by the backyard.

"Picnic" opens at LAH on Wednesday, 20 August. It will play at the Service Club on 21, 22 August.

The leads are played by Pfc John Swilp who portrays Hal Carter and Joan Mudgett as Millie Owens.

Others in the cast are Alice Boson, Bob Clarke, Thais Pease, Barbara Donnoven, Ruth Coleman, Sp3 Lowell Lynn, Betty Kusik, Dolores Shoemaker, and Pfc. J. Eugene English.

Harry Helman, Presidio Entertainment Director, and Pvt. Stuart Blue are technical directors.

Pipe Band To Vie In Highland Games At Los Angeles

Sixth Army's 10-man Pipe Band is in the throes of performances and practice sessions to be ready next Saturday for the opening of the Highland Games in Los Angeles.

The drum major, six pipers and three drummers returned this past Sunday from Seattle where the drummers garnered the "best drum section" award in the annual Pacific Northwest Championship in the Scottish Highland Games held during the Seattle Seafair.

The understaffed pipers, however, placed only third in the Class A competitions. For the past two years, the Sixth Army Pipe (and Drum) Band won the Class B titles; but, based on past performance, it was elevated this year to the A Class.

Normally, a pipe section has 8 to 10 performers; the drum section, six.

Sgt. A. L. Pierce, Drum Major and NCOIC of the Pipe Band, told the Star Presidian that his musicians are "working very hard to place higher in Los Angeles than the second or third we took the last time we competed there, in 1956."

Dance Classes Reopen

Dance classes at the "Y" will be resumed tomorrow, with the first class consisting of an "Open House" for both beginners and advanced students.

Under the direction of Jeanne Nichols, the six weeks series will normally be held on Thursdays for beginners and on Saturdays for advanced, and all sessions will be from 7:30 to 8:30.

Cost for the series, available to all service personnel and dependents, is $3.00 for the complete course.

In the 1521 war, the Swedes stretched animal skins between two skis, placed injured comrades on them and carried them off the fields, creating the first stretchers.

It may be categorically stated that Paris after dark offers more things to do, see, hear, and feel than any/other place on this planet.

If you long to be transported to that mythical land of absinth and amour, here is a record which will spin you over quicker than the cheapest tourist flight available. "Paris Night Life" is a collection of favorites from both banks, including the island, and up and down the boulevards. "C'est aujourd'hui le printemps" sung by Aglae is a gay roundelay to the effect that nothing matters in the spring time. Another number, "La Chanson de Catherine" is sung by the darling of the existentialists, sighing over her philosophy of life.

Calypso music draws us from Paris to Bermuda where the chief attraction is that famed sextette, the Talbot Brothers. On this London Record, they give a slight variation from the traditional Calypsonian vein with a touch of balladry, an insertion of whimsy, and an ingratiating morsel of fantasy when they interpret, among others, "Riddle Song" "Bermudian Blues," and "See What You Do."

Another London recording suitable for everyone's collection is "Montovani and his Orchestra in Operatic Arias." This fellow certainly does his best to bring out all the melody possible. In this collection are some of the most favorite arias in the opera world, for example, Verdi's "Celeste Aida," the Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana, "One Fine Day" from Madame Butterfly and from La Boheme, "Musetta's Waltz."

At Teen Age Club

The Presidio Teen Age Club was reopened on 1 August under its new directors, Sfc and Mrs. George Tozier.

All previous memberships were terminated 1 July. New applications for membership must be completed by the applicant and parents and mailed by the parents to Lt. Col. James Enmeier, 329B Infantry Terrace. Application blanks may be obtained at the Teen Age Club or from Lt. Col. Enmeier.

Persons eligible for membership must be between the ages of 13 and 18 and must be dependents of the following personnel: military personnel stationed at the Presidio, its sub-posts, or Fort Mason; military personnel residing on Wherry Housing Project, Presidio; or Department of the Army civilian employees, Red Cross personnel, and Special Service civilian employees who occupy quarters at the Presidio, its sub-posts, or Fort Mason.

Associate membership may be granted to teen age dependents of Army personnel who are now stationed in an overseas theater and whose dependents reside in the San Francisco area.

The Toziers, parents of three children, one of whom is a teenager, are anticipating a busy schedule ahead.

Already planned is an open house for the members' parents on 29 August and a back to school semi-formal dance early in September.

Membership totals approximately 75, but the Toziers are expecting it to increase when school begins. Dues are only 75 cents per month, and for that the teenager can take advantage of ping pong, pool, television, the snack bar, the large dance floor and juke box.

On Monday through Thursday the club is open from 1300 to 1600, and on Friday and Saturday from 1930 to 2300.

21st Engrs Take Intramural Softball Crown

Swamp LAH 12-2 As Themely, Thomas Shine

The 21st Engineer Co. took top honors in post softball for the second consecutive year when they breezed by Letterman Army Hospital Monday night with a score of 12-2.

Ace hurler Nick Themely pitched a neat five-hitter at the medical crew.

The post champs had 12 runs on 9 hits out of 30 times at bat, while the losers made it to the plate 27 times, and had 2 runs for five hits.

Right fielder Richard Thomas was the winners' big stick. He racked up four for four, three singles and a triple, with three RBIs.

Hits for the Engineers were widely scattered, but they got off to a fast start with five runs in the first.

Shultz led off with a single, Thomas followed with another, Fernandez bunted to move the runners to second and third, and Kornaga hit a one-bagger to bring in the first run.

Goff rifled a double to second, scoring Fernandez and Kornaga and then went home on a passed ball after stealing third.

Next batter, Raggio, walked, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a fielder's choice.

At the top of the second Shultz and Thomas again started things with back to back singles. Fernandez walked to load the bases and following a score by Shultz on a long fly, he and Thomas both came home on an overthrow at third.

Three runs were scored in the third when Thomas singled in Kear and Fernandez doubled, scoring two men.

Both the 4th and 5th innings were uneventful for the Engineers, but LAH scored one in the fifth on a home run by Davis.

Following a scoreless sixth the Letterman team rallied in the seventh with another homer by Davis, but the pitching of Nick Themely retired the next three men in order to end the game.

The championship event was witnessed by more than 200 spectators, and a trophy was presented to the winners after the game by Special Services.

Pirates Theft 10 Bases In Pony League Triumph

Living up to their name, Hq. Sixth Army Pirates stole 10 bases to beat the Presidio-LAH Dodgers, 5-3, in Saturday's Pony League contest.

Cecil Harrison handled the mound chores for the winners, allowing only three hits. John Walker gave up five hits in the losing role.

In the second contest of the day, the 30th Artillery Tigers handed a 6-3 drubbing to the league leading XV Corps Braves. Mike Foley was the winning pitcher, giving up four hits. Tony Padua allowed the winners eight hits.

Block Seats Halfprice For Servicemen At Telenews Title Fight

The world's heavyweight championship boxing match between Floyd Patterson and Roy Harris, to be fought on 18 August, may be seen over a closed TV circuit at the Telenews theater on Market Street at a special rate for service personnel and their friends.

If 350 persons wish to attend this fight a special price of $3 will be offered. Normal rates are $6 per ticket.

21st Tennis Tourney Proves Waterloo For Top Seeded Players

The 21st Engineer doubles tennis tournament produced some early surprises this week.

The strong team of Tom Glasow and Roger Tutty was bounced out of the winners' bracket by Pete Henderson and Bill Manghisi on straight sets of 6-3, 7-5.

Ralph Gordner and Brownie Cummins caused a mild upset in their come-from-behind win over Robert Canfield and Bob Matteson, 3-6, 7-5 and 6-3.

Tourney favorite still remains the team of Valdimir Dostal and Klaus Forrester,

Oozlefinches Fade In Keg Play; Drop Three To 4th Place Islanders

Third week play in the 9th AAA Missile Battalion Bowling League found the first place Oozlefinches dropping three games to the fourth place Islanders.

Top kegler for the winners was Lunda h1, with 480-290; while high for the losers was the 433-197 rolled by Hellums.

In the only other contest played, the Angels and the Five Niners racked up a 2-2 split. Leading keggers were Barnes, 136-406 for the Angels, and Peters, 198-537 for the Niners.

Feel Kinda Run Down? Here's A Sure Rx For Desk Fatigue

It takes more than Wanderlust to propel a 25-pound bicycle with 35 pounds of equipment strapped to it on a 1,000-mile journey north.

But Major Richard Munger, a resident in neurology and a specialist in physical medicine in LAH, had trained himself for the grueling 90-mile-per-day "pleasure trip" by cycling every day for two months from the Presidio to the University of California Medical Center. And just to make sure that he was staying in condition, he made occasional two-hour spins over to Mt. Tamalpais.

On 30 June, surrounded by fog, Maj. Munger slipped his bike into the lowest of its 10 forward gears and pedaled north on highway 101. Just ten days later he reached his home town, Seattle, Wash.

His bicycle is a Viking, made in England, but its special gearshift called a Derailleur is a multiple-gear mechanism designed in France and used extensively on the Continent.

Apart from two flat tires and a nights' encampment surrounded by mosquitoes in the cranberry bogs of central Oregon, the cycling doctor encountered absolutely no trouble. He is so enthusiastic about his recent trip that he speaks hopefully of cycling 3,000 miles across Canada next summer.

Jacobs Will Compete For Army Team In Fitzsimons Play

Presidio's number one golfer, Sfc. Murray Jacobs, left this week for Fitzsimons Army Hospital, Denver, Colorado, where he will vie against 31 crack linksmen for a place on the Army team, this week.

The seven-man team will be made up of the top five open division and two top senior division scorers. The Army team is slated to play in the Interservice Tournament at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., on 19-22 August.

Two other Sixth Army men will vie for berths on the team. They are Sfc. Jack Laxson, Ft. Ord, individual area open champ, and M/Sgt. Keith Dehner, Ft. Lewis, senior Division boss of this area.

Jacobs, Presidio open champion, won his ticket to the 72-hole elimination tournament via the Sixth U.S. Army finals where he was runnerup to Laxson.

Johnson Big 'Pitch And Hit' This Week

"Big train" Ed Johnson was running on schedule as he wrapped up another victory for the post nine this week.

Pitching brilliant ball, the ace hurler shut out the first half champion Green Lantern team on one hit in the sixth inning.

Also a top flight slugger, Johnson proved his power in the fourth by starting scoring with a tremendous 300 ft. home run.

The run sparked his teammates into action and they got into the act by grouping three hits and four bases on balls for six more runs in the big fourth.

The 8-0 shutout kept the post team on top of the league and strengthened their bid for a spot in the All-Western Regionals.

Now holding a record of 41 wins, 8 losses and 2 ties, at the plate the post nine have been led by the big bats of Ed Johnson, Ed Kornaga, Bob Raggio, Ron Fernandez, Nollie Goff and Dick Thomas.

Defense is led by shortstop and team captain, Artie Kear and All-Army catcher, Fred Viviani.

Heading the top pitching staff are Johnson and Nick Themely.

The locals traveled to Alameda Naval Air Station Tuesday to take a game from the Navy 7-0.

Presidio collected seven runs off of six hits, with one round trip by Ed Johnson.

Big guns for the team were Johnson and Nollie Goff, Ed blasting out a homer in the fifth with one man on and Goff hitting two for four.

Nick Themely gained his second win in two days when he allowed the opposition only one lonely hit by Barclough in the fifth.

TI Sailors Score One-Run Victory Over 740th AAA

Fort Scott's 740th AAA Missile Battalion softball team got off to a 3-2 lead in a practice game this week, but couldn't keep up the pace and finished one run, 9-8, behind the Navy from Treasure Island.

Bennett started on the mound, with Don Hubbell behind the plate for the 740th, Navy used pitcher Carlson—batter was Franks.

The real bombardment from the Treasure Island boys came in the top of the fourth when Franks hit a two bagger over the head of the left fielder, followed by two singles and a walk.

Next batter, Carlson, hit a liner down the right field line that rolled long enough to clear the bases and allow him to cross the plate with a four run homer.

Bennett retired the side, but the Navy had already scored the six fatal runs which gave her the game.

Toreras Dump Hamilton Win Inter Service Title

Presidio's lady softballers clinched the Women's Inter-service Softball League championship Tuesday when they waltzed to a 17-6 win over Hamilton AFB.

The first inning was uneventful for both teams, but the Toreras gained three runs in the top of the second. Not to be outdone, the WAFs rallied and gained two.

Erma Collins belted a home run in the third and at the end of the inning Presidio had gained three runs and Hamilton had none.

Five runs in the fifth and six in the seventh sewed up both the win and the championship for the local girls.

Winning pitcher, Collins, gave up 10 hits, while losing pitcher, Feeney, gave up 15.

Eight bases were stolen during the game, with Presidio taking five and Hamilton three.

Collins pitched another winning game last Friday when the Presidio team shutout Travis 4-0.

Top hitters for that game were Peggy Harris, Rosemary Weber and Mickey Uyeda.

Bill White, Army Pfc. Aspires To Be Full Time Giant Soon

By Wolcott W. Hubbell, Jr.
Star Presidian Associate Editor

"I'm ready to play now," Army private first-class Bill White—better known around the Bay Area as a San Francisco Giants utility outfielder and former first sacker (1956)—told your reporter this week.

But, with the hard-hitting Giants scrapping for the pennant in a torrid National League flag race, White added that "I don't see where I could play."

Rookie first baseman Orlando Cepeda, who has consistently been slugging over the .300 mark, has nailed down the slot White held when he was inducted into the Army in December 1956.

A supply clerk with Headquarters Company, 4th Training Regiment, at Ft. Knox, Ky., White is on 28-day accrued leave and working out with the local pros to be ready for full-time action after his release from active duty 2 September. He is being released after 21 months' service under an Army plan which authorizes certain seasonally-employed soldiers to cut their tours short by three months.

Since joining the club 27 July at Pittsburg during the Giants latest road tour, White has been listed as an outfielder and has made only limited appearances as a pinch hitter. He expects to leave the team 25 August to return to Ft. Knox to begin processing for discharge (and subsequent re-assignment to the Army Reserve).

White's Army tour, of course, hurt his career; but the strapping (six feet, 200 pounds) southpaw admitted "I'm just like thousands of other guys who got called up, so I couldn't expect any favors. As a matter of fact, I probably was better off than some because I got to play some baseball."

Quite a bit of baseball, judging from his in-service performance record:

1957—blasted 28 home runs in 68 games to post a .400 average while playing with the Ft. Knox nine.

1958—before taking leave to join the Giants, was hitting .360 at mid-season for the 4th Regiment team (he did not play on the post team).

But, he said, statistics do not reflect the whole story. "Naturally," he continued, "service ball

TORN BETWEEN TWO hats is Army Pfc. Bill White, who also is a utility outfielder for the San Francisco Giants. The Ft. Knox Supply Clerk has been working out with the Giants during his current 28-day accrued leave to be ready for full-time play when he is released from active duty on 2 September.

is way below major league standards and most of the pitching is mediocre. The only big leaguer I faced while playing for the Army was pitcher Bob Miller, Detroit bonus baby, who was hurling last year for the Ft. Sill, Okla., team."

"Not a bad pitcher," White conceded.

(The only major leaguer on the Presidio nine is pitcher Wes Stock, under contract to the Baltimore Orioles.)

White also was a standout on his regiment's basketball team during the past two winters.

Outfielder White, as opposed to 21-homer Infielder White of the 1956 Giants, is a transition which the likeable soldier favors.

"Ever since I have been playing baseball I've wanted to be in the outfield—you know, 'the grass is always greener'—so now I'll have to start concentrating on my fielding to make a go of it."

"When the Giants were short of outfielders in 1956, I played a few games in right and left fields and I picked a lot of daisies when I was with Minneapolis."

"I'm a first baseman—or was one—by accident. With me, baseball was a sideline when I first started playing in high school back home in Warren, Ohio. They made me a first baseman and I've been stuck with it ever since. Then I didn't care. Actually, in high school I was more interested in football than baseball; but, it's funny how things work out."

Before coming to San Francisco with the team this week, White's only other visit to the city was early-1953 when he was with the Giants on a pre-season exhibition tour.

White was not too enthusiastic about being here—he prefers the area around his Midwest home—but, he accepts the geographical change with a shrug and a "I'll go where the team goes."

Incidentally, there was little need for introductions when White suited up last month, for he has played with or against every member of the current San Francisco club except Paul Giel, another footballer whose fortune is baseball.

Although he feels he is "ready to play," White readily agrees that to regain his timing and form at the plate and get the feel of the outfield grass he has a lot of work ahead, especially to break into the regular lineup again. But, he is confident he will make up for lost time and be able to bolster the Giants drive down the late-summer stretch.

"But," he says, "with or without me, the 1958 Giants are a great ball club and it's good to be back with them."

Toreros Win One, Drop One; Ready For Area Tourney

The Presidio Toreros kept in shape for the forthcoming Sixth Army Baseball Tournament this week by racking up a win against Santa Cruz and a close loss to Hamilton.

Favorites in the tourney, to be held at Ft. Lewis from 21-28 Aug., are Lewis and Ord, with Presidio the possible darkhorse.

Other entrants will be Irwin and Huachuca.

Hamilton AFB finally broke their losing streak to PSF when they defeated the Toreros 2-1 Tuesday.

This was the first win Hamilton has gained over the Presidio in seven attempts, and though losing pitcher, Wes Stock, developed a blood blister on his finger he still contained the heavy Hamilton bats.

Presidio's lone run was driven in by utility man, Ken Carroll.

The Toreros got off to a slow start last weekend when they tackled the Santa Cruz Sea Hawks, but a smashing homer by Terry Maddox sparked them to a 13-6 win.

At the top of the fifth the score stood 5-4 in favor of the Hawks, then Maddox stepped up to the plate and slammed his run to fire his teammates on for a gain of five runs before they could be stopped for the inning.

Winning pitcher, Rog Sawyer, only allowed the Santa Cruz sluggers one more run, while the Presidio hitters went on to rack up a score each frame until the end of play.

Softball is played in more than twenty countries, with Australia, New Zealand, China and Japan the leaders.

Wolf, Duke, Lundahl Top Keg Competition As Mahon Posts High

Top place Shafters rolled to a 3-1 victory over seventh place SFAADS keglers this week in Presidio Bowling League play. Wolf sparked the win with his 546-203. Leading the losers was the 464-181 of Wilcox.

The cellar dwelling Hq. Co. Sixth Army bowlers forfeited their four matches to the third place Toros. Top man for the Toros was Duke, with 574-201.

Mahon rolled a 576-200 for the second place Keystone Kops to give them a 3-1 victory over the fourth place 60th CI Det. and earn high honors for the week. Top kegler for the CI Det. was Kloehn, 453-172.

Lundahl, with 493-209 for the Islanders, now in sixth place, helped them gain a 2½ to 1½ win over the King Pins. Tracy led the fifth place Pins with 456-167.

Ping Pongers Steady For Final Drive In 21st Competition

Table tennis matches in the 21st Eng. group have been tough and fast this week, with the big upset occurring when Donald Schneider knocked over Jack Clements.

The big battle looms between Valdimir Dostal, William Zakrajsek, Schneider and softball Nick Themely.

This foursome is rapidly disposing of all opponents to reach the finals, which should prove to be a big test for the winner.

Others rated as contenders in the competition are Jim Green, Phillip Smith and Jim Benevinti.

The final two rounds will be played on a three out of five games basis.

Croquet has a blurred history. The word is croquet in French, and means crooked stick.

Dollar for Dollar

You're Well Paid

NEW YORK (AFPS) — Buck up, you buck privates. You may be at the bottom of the heap, but in terms of hard cash there's really not such a yawning gap between you and a five-star General of the Army.

You get paid $1.10 an hour. He makes less than nine bucks more. And you've got one big advantage over him—he can't go any higher!

These and other interesting comparisons of Army pay scales are all in AR 35-247. A brigadier general with his sights trained on a second star, for example, can count on an hourly pay raise of a mere $1.01 if his promotion comes through.

The Army uses its Basic Standard Military Compensation Rates to determine costs of service and projects it may be called upon to undertake. For the nine enlisted grades the breakdown is as follows:

| Grade | Hourly | Weekly   |
|-------|--------|----------|
| E-9   | $3.11 | $124.26 |
| E-8   | 2.70   | 108.10   |
| E-7   | 2.52   | 100.72   |
| E-6   | 2.17   | 86.99    |
| E-5   | 1.89   | 75.68    |
| E-4   | 1.54   | 61.72    |
| E-3   | 1.26   | 50.53    |
| E-2   | 1.14   | 45.60    |
| E-1   | 1.10   | 44.06    |

The basic rate, however, is only one of three factors in the military compensation picture. There are also Increments and Accretions, both of which substantially boost the income of many servicemen.

Typical increments include flight crew and submarine duty, noncrew flight duty, parachute jump duty and leprosy duty. You would be eligible for this "hazardous duty" incentive pay if you volunteered to be a subject for "experimental human acceleration or deceleration."

Accretions are special lump sum payments such as reenlistment bonuses, mustering out or terminal leave, and suggestion awards.

Maj. Hynes was assigned to the 14th Mountain Infantry Regiment at Ft. Carson, Colo., and was a member of the Regiment's 3d Battalion which was rushed to Korea in 1950 to become 3d Battalion of the 5th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division. He served in Korea as a Platoon Leader, Battalion S3, and an Assistant Regimental S3.

He was awarded the Combat Infantry Badge for his service in Korea.

Prior to being sent to the Command and General Staff College, Maj. Hynes spent three years in Panama with the 20th Infantry Regiment as a Company Commander, Battalion S3 and Regimental S1.

Maj. Hynes earned a Regular Army commission in 1950 after a competitive tour at Ft. Carson.

The Major and his wife, Gayle, are now living on Post with their children Kristine, 9; Jennifer, 7; Jay, 3; and Susan, 1.

A former Army pilot and artillery observer who was shot down and captured by the Germans in World War II is now Transportation and Maintenance Officer in the Sixth Army Transportation Section.

He is Capt. OLIVER P. PREMO, a senior Army aviator who came here from service as Aircraft Maintenance Officer for the Transportation Section, U.S. Army Far East Headquarters at Camp Zama, Japan.

Capt. Premo, who enlisted in the Army in 1942 and was commissioned the last day of the year after having completed Artillery OCS at Ft. Sill, Okla., was downed in November 1944 while flying an artillery observation mission for the 44th Infantry Division gunners in the Sarrebourg, France, area.

He was captured and shipped to the Stalag Luft I prison, where he remained until May 1945.

The 46-year-old pilot was discharged in 1945, but after working three years in the Construction Division of the Union Oil Company of California, he re-entered the Army in 1948.

During the ensuing years, he has held assignments with the Army Aviation Detachment, EUCOM, in Germany, and as Commander of the 13th Helicopter Company in Korea.

Capt. Premo holds the Bronze Star and the Air Medal.

He and his wife, Rosa, currently live on Post.

New Hospitalization and Evacuation Officer in Sixth Army Medical Section's Operations Division is Maj. CLINTON H. D'ALEMBERTE, who previously had served here from 1952 to 1955 in the Medical Section Professional Services Division.

Maj. D'Alemberte's two Presidio tours were split by a three-year post as Chief of the Inquiry Branch, Professional Services Division, Office of the Surgeon General, in Washington, D.C.

A former enlisted man who, after one year's service, was commissioned upon graduation from Medical Field Service OCS, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., in July 1942, Maj. D'Alemberte had 18 months' sea duty during World War II aboard the Army hospital ship, U.S.S. St. Mihiel, which ran between the United States and the North Africa-Europe-England theaters. He was Commander of the Troop Detachment and Hospital Registrar.

From 1946 to early 1948, he was Assistant Adjutant at the Valley Forge General Hospital, Pa., and later in the V Corps Surgeon's Office at Ft. Bragg.

Next assignment was a four-year tour in Yokohama, Japan, with the 155th Station Hospital there, until April 1952 when he served for the first time at the Presidio.

Key UBAC Officials Meet; Tour Facilities

Approximately 50 representatives from military installations in the five-county Bay Area last Friday were briefed on the importance of, and publicity program for the forthcoming United Crusade and then split into two groups to tour several local UBAC-supported activities.

Bulk of the group were installation information officers and other key workers who are laying the groundwork for the campaign which opens 22 September.

Highlights of the meeting were talks by Col. Richard J. Stillman, Sixth U.S. Army G1 and head of UBAC's military planning committee, and other Crusade officials. In addition, they saw a new 10-minute color film, "Standby," which features three Presidio military policemen, two Oakland Army Terminal soldiers and three Navy fliers.

After the meeting, one group—to include Lt. Col. Frank H. Mumme, Jr., Chief of Sixth Army G1 Personnel Services Branch; Maj. J. J. Early, Sixth Army Information Section Press Officer; and Maj. Charles Dong, Presidio Special Services Officer—visited Mount St. Joseph's Home for Girls here, San Francisco Boy's Club and the City Family Service Agency.

The other group toured Berkeley Bay Nursery, Herrick Memorial Hospital Clinics and the Oakland Boy's Club, all in the East Bay Area.

The military "fair share" for the 1953 campaign, determined on the basis of one day's pay per person, is $300,000. Together with funds collected by civic "keymen," military contributions will be used to help support the more than 250 organizations which are helped by UBAC.

Wins Unit Title

Pfc. Jerry D. Gere

Fair Oaks Soldier Named Best At 30th Engineer Bn

Private First Class Jerry D. Gere of the 99th Engineer Company has been selected as the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month. Pfc. Gere serves in the 99th Engineer Company as a technician in the lithographic re-production plant.

For his achievement, PFC Gere received a certificate of achievement from Lt. Col. Vernie Slayter, Battalion Commander; he will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days; and he will receive a three day pass.

A resident of Fair Oaks, California, PFC Gere was graduated from Perry High School, Perry, Iowa in 1953. Prior to his induction into the Army, he studied Architecture at Iowa State College. PFC Gere took basic combat training at Fort Lewis, Washington and advanced engineer combat training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. After his release from service, he plans to complete his education in the field of Architecture.

Col. Andrews Stricken

Major Richard Hirsch of the 39th Engineer Battalion Headquarters has been named temporary head of Sixth Army's pistol team which currently is competing at Camp Perry, Ohio, in national championship matches.

He is filling in for Col. John C. Andrews of Ft. Ord, regular commander, who was stricken recently by a heart attack.

Sick Leave Data Shows Flu Hit Presidians Hard

Sick leave absenteeism at the Presidio in the 4th quarter of the fiscal year 1953 greatly exceeded the desired seasonal rate of 2.5% and corresponding quarters in three previous years.

The usual spring tapering in absenteeism did not develop and 71% of the activities exceeded the goal. Factors leading to the high rate were disability separations, maternity leaves, lengthy illnesses, and influenza.

The influenza epidemic, which was prevalent throughout the fiscal year, contributed to the highest annual sick leave absenteeism rate in four years.

Wins Second Title

Winning his second Soldier of the Month title this week was Pfc. John C. Woody, Btry. "D," 9th AAA Missile Battalion, 30th Artillery Group. This honor, including a $25 check, comes on top of a recent honor he received as graduating top man in his class at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School.

Vol. 7, No. 13

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 22 August, 1958

THREE-WAY WINNER Matthew Daley r., 14-year-old marksman and first of the 173-member Presidio Junior Gun Club to qualify for the National Rifle Association junior expert and distinguished marksman certificates, looks at a third award presented him Wednesday night—a gold cup trophy from the local Gun Club for being Outstanding Marksman. Looking on, and holding gold cups which they won for being the most advanced girl and boy shooters respectively, are sister and brother, 17-year-old Roberta and 11-year-old Douglas Sheridan. In all, 181 NRA awards were presented to 66 youthful firers and three special awards (see above) were presented by the Presidio Gun Club.

Army JAG To Visit

Major General George W. Hickman, Jr., the Army Judge Advocate General, is expected to visit the Presidio at the end of this month and/or the first of next month.

He will attend the annual American Bar Association meeting in Los Angeles next week (25-29 August) and then visit Ft. Ord and the Presidio.

A spokesman for the Sixth U.S. Army Judge Advocate said that details of the General's itinerary are not firm at this time.

66 Youngsters Win NRA Awards Here

Three junior Presidio marksmen were singled out Wednesday evening for special recognition of their firing ability during ceremonies in which 66 local youngsters garnered 181 National Rifle Association Junior Awards.

Making the presentations at the Presidio Gun Club (and Indoor .22 Calibre Range) was Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer.

Special gold cup trophies were awarded by the local Gun Club to 14-year-old Matthew Daley as Outstanding Marksman among the Club's 173 junior members, and to the brother-sister team of 11-year-old Douglas and 17-year-old Roberta Sheridan for being the most advanced male and female marksmen, respectively.

Daley, the son of CWO Roy M. Daley of Letterman Army Hospital, also was the first Presidio youth to win Expert and Distinguished Rifleman certificates from NRA.

The Sheridan youngsters are the children of M/Sgt. Douglas B. Sheridan, Presidio Range NCO and instructor at the Gun Club. The sergeant is one of the few men on active duty to hold the Distinguished Marksmanship Badges for both pistol and rifle.

M/Sgt. Sheridan, together with M/Sgt. John D. Vekich of the Presidio Provost Marshal Office, is directly responsible for the excellent participation and showing of young shooters here.

Youngsters enrolled in the program represent four Boy Scout troops, dependents of active Army and Navy and retired Army personnel, and other children.

The Juniors have been firing since 1955, when only 27 kids were on hand, and now meet on Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

11,000 Men in Sept.

Washington (AFPS)—The Selective Service System has been asked to provide the Army with 11,000 men during September.

The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to place calls with the Selective Service during September.

Chief Lauds Past Records; Urges Labor Day Follow-Up

Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. John J. Binns this week congratulated installation commanders on the low accident rate throughout the command over the recent Fourth of July holidays and urged them to continue the trend as the Labor Day weekend approaches.

In a letter to appropriate commanders, Gen. Binns admonished commanders and supervisors to "counsel personnel on the dangers of immoderate off-duty recreational activities and the hazards of unsafe driving practices prior to granting passes or leaves for the Labor Day weekend."

Locally, the Presidio Safety Division has planned a program to bring forcefully to the attention of military and civilian personnel the necessity for exercising the greatest of care on the last holiday of the summer.

The concerted program is scheduled to get under way Monday. The only recent holiday death of a Presidian was that of a young soldier from the 30th Engineer Battalion last New Year's Day, who was killed on the Bay Bridge approach while a passenger in an automobile of a drunk civilian.

Last Labor Day weekend, 445 persons died from automobile accidents and another 150 motorists died after the holidays from injuries incurred over the weekend. Drownings and miscellaneous accidents claimed the lives of another 191 persons.

However, the total deaths this year are expected to be below last year's 786 inasmuch as the general trend on holidays in 1958 has been about five per cent lower than those of 1957.

Reports Lag As Presidio Readies For Big UBAC Drive

Presidio "keymen" for the forthcoming United Bay Area Crusade are slated to meet Tuesday at 1330 in the Post Theater for a briefing on their duties in the annual fund raising campaign; pertinent remarks by Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer; and the first showing of UBAC's new 10-minute color publicity film which features three Presidio military policemen (see story, page 4).

But, at press time, local UBAC Project Officer, Maj. Charles Dong, reported that only 50 per cent of the units and staff sections located on Post had reported their 1958 potential (based on a day's pay for each member) and the names of "keymen."

"It is imperative," he said, "that I be furnished this information prior to Tuesday's meeting."

Col. H. M. Brown, Post Comptroller and Chairman for the Presidio UBAC Drive, will conduct the meeting next week.

Presidio CO Speaks To Air Defense School Graduates

Forty-six enlisted men graduated from the San Francisco Army Air Defense School last Saturday. Chaplain E. G. Carson offered the invocation at ceremonies in the Fort Winfield Scott Chapel.

In his address to the graduates, Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander, said, "You are a chosen group of men, selected because the Army believes that you are the kind of men it can trust to defend your country in the finest traditions of American Freedom."

At the conclusion of his speech, Col. Rau presented diplomas to the graduates. The honor graduate was Pvt. Ronald Stone from B Battery of the 436th AAA Missile Battalion.

Combat Veteran Named 1st Flyer For Sixth Army

A two-time winner of the Silver Star in World War II and holder of the Distinguished Marksmanship Badges for both pistol and rifle has been named Sixth U.S. Army Aviation Officer. He succeeds Col. Frank G. Forrest, recently named assistant commandant of the Army's Cold Weather School at Fort Greeley, Alaska.

He is versatile Col. Curtis L. Hankins, former combat Armored Infantry battalion commander who has been an Army pilot since 1947.

Before coming to the Presidio, the 41-year-old Regular Army officer had served on the faculty and staff at the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Colonel Hankins, highly-decorated for his service in Europe in 1944-45 with the 10th Armored Division, earned one Silver Star for gallantry at Ulm, Germany, when on 24 April, 1945 he led his battalion task force against superior enemy forces and seized the German city.

Also while with the 10th Division he was awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Silver Star, the Bronze Star for Valor with three Oak Leaf Clusters, Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster, Combat Infantry Badge, and French Croix de Guerre.

Colonel Hankins, who entered the Army in 1941 after graduating from the University of Arkansas and completing the ROTC program there, also is well known as a marksman. He gained the Distinguished Marksmanship Badge for rifle in 1952 and last year garnered a similar honor for pistol shooting. In 1952, he was a non-firing member of the All-Army Rifle Team and in 1955-56 fired on the All-Army Pistol Team.

In 1954-55, before being appointed to the Command and General Staff College faculty-staff, Col. Hankins was Eighth Army Aviation Officer in Korea.

He has completed courses at the Armored School, Fort Knox, Ky.; Advanced Infantry Officers' School, Fort Benning, Ga.; and the Air Command and Staff College.

Colonel Hankins and his wife, Melba, plan to live on Post with their children, Donna Lee, 15, and Leland, 12.

4th Infantry Division Commander Here Today

Major General Louis W. Truman, 49-year-old cousin of ex-President Harry Truman and recently assigned Commanding General of Fort Lewis, Wash., will be honored here this morning during Honor Guard ceremonies at 0900 in the parking area north of Bldg. 50.

Expected to greet Maj. Gen. Truman is Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander. A 13-gun salute will be fired during the ceremonies.

The visiting General, who arrived in San Francisco last night and is expected to leave tomorrow, probably will attend the Presidio Officers' Open Mess quarterly reception tonight.

Gen. Truman replaced Maj. Gen. William W. Quinn, who was reassigned to the Pentagon, as Commander of Ft. Lewis and the 4th Infantry Division there.

A 1932 graduate of West Point, Gen. Truman was in Hawaii when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor, later served in Europe during World War II and was a regimental commander during the Korean War.

His last assignment before coming to Sixth Army was in Karachi, Pakistan.

Maj. Gen. Truman

recently assigned

A veteran Army aviator, Maj. GEORGE F. MORRIS, has been assigned to the Sixth U.S. Army Aviation Section here as Operations and Training Staff Officer.

He came to the Presidio after a three-year tour as Army Aviation Advisor to the New Hampshire National Guard.

Maj. Morris, who also is a qualified glider pilot, entered the Army in March 1941 as an enlisted man with the Illinois National Guard. He was commissioned in September 1942 after having graduated from Artillery OCS at Ft. Sill, Okla., and earned his wings as an Army liaison pilot in July 1943.

During the last two years of World War II, Maj. Morris served as Army Aviation Officer with the 517th Parachute Combat Team and fought with the 517th in Italy, the invasion of Southern France, and in Central Europe.

After the war, he was returned to Ft. Bragg, N. C., where he served until September 1945 as Army Aviation Officer with the XVIII Airborne Corps; he then went, until the following Spring, to Ft. Jackson, S. C., to hold a similar position with V Corps Artillery.

In May 1956, he transferred to Japan, where he was Army Aviation Officer with the 11th Airborne Division. He accompanied the Division back to Ft. Campbell, Ky., in June 1949 and remained with it until the Spring of 1951.

He next returned to XVIII Corps at Ft. Bragg to occupy the same position he previously had filled there, and then in April 1952 he was reassigned to MAAG Italy (at Rome) as a Plans, Programming and Training Officer. He stayed in Italy until proceeding to his recent New Hampshire assignment.

The 43-year-old native of Tinley Park, Ill., holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with Three Oak Leaf Clusters, French Croix de Guerre for his World War II service. In addition, he was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his service with V Corps.

Maj. Morris and his wife, Susan, now live in San Francisco with their son, George, 12, and their daughter, Virginia, 8.

Capt. ORRIN S. MAYBEE, new Executive Officer of Headquarters Company, Sixth Army Special Troops, is an 18-year Army veteran who is starting his second tour of duty at the Presidio.

The 41-year-old former enlisted man previously served here as a master sergeant, first as an Intelligence NCO with Sixth Army's G2 Section in 1946-47 and the following year as an Administrative NCO with the California Military District (now XV Corps).

Capt. Maybee first entered the Army in 1940 as an enlisted man with the New York National Guard. He was commissioned in June 1944 upon graduation from Infantry OCS at Ft. Benning, Ga. He then fought in Europe from December 1944 to September 1945 with the 254th Infantry Regiment, 63d Infantry Division as Intelligence Officer for the 2d Battalion (254th) and also as a Platoon Leader and Forward Observer with the Regiment's Cannon Company.

While at the Presidio in 1948, he was recalled to active duty as an officer and assigned to the 7th Division's 32d Infantry Regiment in Northern Japan. In 1950, he accompanied the Regiment to Korea. After having made the Inchon Invasion and the sea evacuation at Hungnam, Capt. Maybee was wounded in January 1951 and returned to Ft. Lewis, Wash., via Japan. While at Ft. Lewis, he served until 1952 as a Company Commander in the 6219th Reception Center.

His next assignment was to Cp. Stoneman as Commander of Service Company, Headquarters, Station Complement. He then returned in 1953 to Ft. Lewis, then as Commander of Headquarters Company, 6006 A.S.U.

After a tour (May-October 1954) studying French at the Army Language School, Monterey, he was given his most recent previous assignment—S1 and Adjutant at U.S. Army Garrison, Fontainebleau, France.

In addition to the Purple Heart for wounds received in Korea, Capt. Maybee holds the Bronze Star for Valor with Two Oak Leaf Clusters for heroism in World War II.

He currently resides in Concord, Calif., with his wife, Mona, and their children, Mary, 17; Monica, 14; Mikelyn, 11; Melody, 9; and Mark, 8.

Capt. WILLIAM L. GERARDY, 33, for the past year an Advisor to the Viet Nam Army, has been assigned to the Sixth Army G1 Service Branch.

After service in the closing days and subsequent to World War II with the 11th Airborne Division, the 33-year-old Regular Army (since 1949) officer, Capt. Gerardy took a break in service to attend the BIG JUMP from first lieutenant to captain was one of three "bigs" this month for newly assigned Army pilot, William E. Cornwell, who is shown here having his railroad tracks pinned on by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander (l.) and Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff (r.) The Captain (since Monday) also expects this month to be a father for the first time and was transferred to the Sixth Army Flight Detachment from Presidio of Monterey.

Busy August Keeps Army Pilot Hopping

"When it rains, it pours . . ." and August has been a busy month for a new Army pilot here.

Capt. William E. Cornwell, recently assigned to the Sixth U.S. Army Flight Detachment as a pilot and Assistant Maintenance Officer, marks this as a red-letter month. Since the first, he:

- Transferred from Presidio of Monterey to Presidio of San Francisco (11 August).
- Was promoted from first lieutenant to captain (18 August).
- Expects to be a proud father for the first time any day now.

The versatile 30-year-old University of Tennessee athlete last month finished a year-long course in Chinese Mandarin at the Army Language School in Monterey.

His new railroad tracks were pinned on his shoulders last Monday by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, and Sixth Army Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. John J. Binns.

The littlest Cornwell is due before the end of the month and the captain says he "really doesn't care" whether the youngster is a boy or girl.

Before coming into the Army in 1952, after graduating from Tennessee with a bachelor's degree in Labor Relations, Capt. Cornwell made a name as a collegiate track man (dashes, quarter-mile low hurdles) and marksman (rifle team).

He also was a baseball player, but missed out in scholastic play because the University did not field a team until his senior year.

In the "I'm thinking about it" stage, Capt. Cornwell said he is interested in getting back to competitive firing ("I've been too busy since coming into the Army") and may take a stab at playing baseball here.

As he said, Capt. Cornwell has had a busy military career. Granted a Reserve commission in 1951, he entered active service in April, 1952 and earned his wings in October, 1953.

After a course at the Spartan School of Aeronautics, Tulsa, Okla., he went to Formosa as a pilot with the MAAG there (April 1954-October 1955).

While there, he flew for the Nationalist Chinese Air Force—anything and everything, except jets—and was one of four men awarded wings of the Chinese Air Force.

"The whole business was honorary," he explained, "and they carry me on their books as a Chinese pilot."

Back from the Far East, he divided his time between commanding the Heliport at Fort Eustis, Va., and completing helicopter pilot and instrument training.

In 1957, he was transferred to Fort Sill to form a helicopter maintenance unit. He accompanied the unit to its current home base, Fort Benning, Ga., and last year participated with it in the Desert Rock training exercise.

Capt. Cornwell also completed a course at the Sikorsky Helicopter Company in February, 1957.

He and his wife, Jane, now are living in Mill Valley.

Army Moon Man?

Fort Belvoir, Va.—When Washington Area residents tuned in TV last Wednesday afternoon, they might have thought they were getting a TV prelude of the "Halloween Parade." But what they really saw was John F. Christian of the U. S. Army Engineer Research and Development Laboratories here modeling the unique, new fire-fighting suit of aluminized paper which he designed and which the Quartermaster Corps fabricated. Tested in large scale forest fires in Northern California recently, the suit comfortably shielded fire-fighters standing within two feet of the blaze.

what they said

No matter how much some of us may deny it, our lives have in one way or another been effected by certain individuals whom we admire. From infancy, our characters are like clean slates upon which are written the ways and words of people we know or of whom we have read. Believing that these impressions upon the slate of life could be brought together in a sum total, we asked

THE QUESTION: Who do you consider the greatest man who ever lived?

ANSWERS

Mrs. Weston, Movement Services, Post Transportation: The greatest man who ever lived, in my estimation, was Jesus Christ. He is the father of us all. He is the person on whom we depend for our daily bread, for the forgiveness of our sins, for the building of our characters. He is an example of what we and our children should try to be. He is a guiding light through life.

His life and his teachings, which we learn about in church, have direct influence on our daily lives. And all he asks of us is to have faith.

Lois Anderson, Assistant, Post Library:

There have been so many great men, artists, writers, religious leaders, men of adventure, so many great men that it is difficult to name only one. But if you insist, I think Picasso is great, not so much as a man but for what he represents. He has changed visual concepts. We can see symbols other than what we think are realistic and relate them to ourselves. The name Schweitzer comes to my mind. He is a great man. He is a great humanitarian. This is evident in everything he has done. His life is a symbol of love for the world. His whole life's work has been little and big betterments for the world. He is a symbol of values which people need.

Norma Lawrence, Processor, Post Transportation:

I'd say the greatest man who ever lived was my father, because of the principles he instilled in me and by which I try to live. He was a great guy. He was a school teacher and tried to give ideas to students for 33 years. Two of his ideas I remember most vividly are "Always tell the truth and you don't have to remember what you say," and "It takes two to make an argument, you can't do it by yourself." I try to remember, but I'm not quite sure I always follow his maxims. Human emotions and problems and pressures sometimes make it difficult for us to follow ideas and ideals.

Capt. Jack H. Gerber, Sixth RAADC:

I would say the greatest man who ever lived was Jesus Christ. He was great because of the work he did, the understanding he gave the world, and because of his beliefs. His life was quite difficult. Not all great men have difficult lives, for example Edison or the Wright Brothers. But his life was difficult because of his beliefs. It's easy to float with the current but it's hard to swim upstream.

Date Line - The Army

Washington (ANS)—The Army has been given the "go ahead" to procure 35 new type turbo-prop aircraft known as the "Mohawk." It is one of the largest fixed-wing airplanes to enter Army service and the first to use turbo-prop power.

Army Progress: On 5 August, 1861, the Army abolished flogging as a punishment. This act followed by two days the inauguration of a limited scale retirement system. Today, one of the outstanding rewards of a successful Army career is the security offered by an adequate retirement system. In fact, a military career provides not only security, but also education, travel, and comradeship, together with a feeling of accomplishment and pride in having honorably and successfully served country and fellow men. . . . plus no flogging!

Brooklyn, N. Y.—The Fort Hamilton Commissary here has put in operation an "automatic conveyor" system believed to be the only one in use today by the military. According to its designer, CWO Gordon W. Peters, the new system will save about $9,000 annually and will get cases of food from stock piles to display shelves "in record time."

New Reg Would Aid Off-Duty Personnel Recruiting Effort

Army recruiters will be provided more leads and prospects and enlisted personnel on leave status have an added incentive to aid recruiting by the provisions of a new regulation just promulgated by the Department of the Army.

The new regulations prescribe procedures whereby certain Army enlisted personnel on leave status have an inducement to assist Army recruiters. It will be a case of "if a buddy meets a buddy" and persuades him to enlist for three or more years he will be granted an extension of five days' leave.

If he chooses, he may have the choice of electing a three-day pass upon return to home station. In either case, the administrative details will be handled by the recruiting main station commander.

Okay Taupe Rainwear

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army has announced that effective immediately all enlisted personnel are authorized to wear the Shade 179 taupe nylon raincoat. However, a DA message said, due to a present shortage, issue and sale of this raincoat to enlisted personnel will be made only where size shortages of the old Shade 207 exist.

Capehart Housing Note

Washington (ANS) — In the three years since the inception of the Capehart military housing program, projects containing 11,780 housing units have been completed and contracts for more than 58,700 homes for military and key civilian personnel of all Services have been awarded. The Army, alone, has 60 projects with 19,328 units.

Set Academy Exhibit

West Point, N. Y. — The U. S. Military Academy here is preparing an exhibit which will show the development of military art and institutions from ancient Rome to the present. Expected to be a popular and educational visitor's attraction, the exhibit will occupy a full gallery in Thayer Hall, the new academic building now being completed.

Jungle Training Set

Fort Sherman, C. Z. — The next course at the Jungle Warfare Training School will be given 29 May-19 June, 1959, for officers and 1-22 May, 1959, for enlisted men. Said one recent graduate, "If you like excitement or just a change from the daily routine of your present assignment, I recommend this course." (Applications, the Army said, should be forwarded through channels.)

Weary Arms Get Reprieve From Needle

Washington (AFPS) — If you are a serviceman who turns a pale green at the mere mention of a hypodermic needle—then this story is for you.

The services have announced plans to reduce the size and frequency of some immunization booster shots, in new regulations which put into effect a revised immunization program for the Armed Forces.

Under the old system typhoid-paratyphoid practices called for a booster shot every three years. Now, only two booster shots, given at four-year intervals, will be given to those who remain in the U.S., Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

Cholera and typhus vaccines will be given only if a person is transferred to certain areas of the world. Once a serviceman has received this basic series of shots, he need never get the series again.

If a serviceman is residing in an area designated for cholera-typhus immunization, booster shots will not be required unless there is an actual risk of infection.

Another change in the immunization policy concerns polio. For the first time it will be mandatory for all personnel under age 40 to have their polio shots before traveling outside the continental U.S.

Under the new regulations separate immunization is not needed for diphtheria, but is included in a new tetanus-diphtheria vaccine.

The regulations also permit waiving of military immunization requirements for personnel traveling under Armed Forces auspices to overseas areas on short trips.

Minnesota Speeds Korean War Bonus

Washington (AFPS) — Eligible Minnesota servicemen, who have applied for the Korean Bonus offered by their home state, may get their check sooner than they think.

A bill, passed by a special session of the legislature, and signed by Governor Orville L. Freeman on 27 June, 1958, authorized payment to begin 1 July, 1958, to all eligible Korean Bonus applicants and their survivors.

The law as it previously read would not allow payments to begin until after 1 January, 1959.

Personnel on active duty need not submit a new application.

If the application has been received by Minnesota authorities, no further action is necessary by the claimant unless some specific action is requested by the individual.

Defense Department To Curb Some Aspects Of Medicare

Washington (AFPS) — Top civilian and military medical authorities met here recently and heard Defense Department plans for curtailment of some features of the Dependents' Medical Care Program in the U. S., Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Most affected will be dependents living with their sponsors; however, all dependents will lose a few of the privileges they have had during the 20 months Medicare has been in operation.

Basic reason for the curtailment of Medicare benefits is apparent when a few pertinent figures are compared. Congress gave the Services $72 million this fiscal year to operate Medicare. During FY 1958 the bill was $89.5 million and it was anticipated that it would climb to $91.5 million if no action were taken.

A Medicare spokesman pointed out that it was not the intent of Congress to deny medical treatment to dependents but rather to promote "optimum" use of military hospital facilities. A drop was noted during 1958 in the number of obstetric cases handled in military hospitals.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker, Medicare executive agent, told those present that Medicare had been a great morale factor in the Armed Forces. He said the money spent for the program was for the finest cause he could think of—the health and welfare of service dependents. He also said the program was a big factor when the reenlistment decision had to be made.

The plan is still to be coordinated with the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and the Bureau of the Budget. But here are the outstanding changes that will take place in the Medicare program:

All eligible dependents who live with their sponsors must clear with appropriate designated uniformed service authorities to obtain special authority for civilian care.

(Where uniformed service hospital facilities are available, commanders will be required to base decisions as to whether a certificate will be issued upon the capability of the hospital as determined by the surgeon.)

Eligible dependents who do not reside with their sponsors are not required to obtain authority other than their identification cards.

Emergency medical care, if authorized under the revised program, may be obtained from civilian sources by all eligible dependents without authority, other than their identification cards. Physicians will be required to certify the emergency.

Eligible dependents residing apart from their sponsors may continue to obtain authorized maternity care from civilian sources on the basis of their identification cards.

If the eligible dependent spouse is residing with the sponsor the following applies:

WATCH THE BIRDIE. Presidio's three latest movie "stars," all from the 163d Military Police Company, flash smiles which contradict the stern countenances they reflected in "Standby," a 10-minute United Bay Area Crusade publicity film which will be shown to UBAC keymen here on 26 August.

Presidio MPs Will Star In UBAC Color Movie

Three Presidio military policemen will get a chance 26 August to see themselves as others do when a new 10-minute color United Bay Area Crusade publicity movie is shown here in conjunction with a scheduled meeting of Post "keymen" for the forthcoming UBAC fund-raising campaign.

The local "stars" are Sgt. George W. Cissna, 34, Military Police Operations Sergeant in the Presidio Provost Marshal's Office; Cpl. John E. Pike, 20, NCOIC of the 163 MP Company Traffic Control Unit; and Sp4 Bryan L. Redd, 24, also of the Traffic Control Unit.

They have been invited, with other actors in the film, to attend the showing here.

Because none of them have seen the movie, which is titled "Standby," they are not sure how long they appear on the screen.

"I'm not a very good actor," Sgt. Cissna said, "and this is my debut as a movie star, but Cpl. Pike and Specialist Redd have both been in 'Lineup.'"

"Couldn't even recognize me in 'Lineup,' though," countered Sp4 Redd.

But, a dissenting opinion on the calibre of the Presidians' ability came from Miss Kathleen Christgau of UBAC headquarters. "The boys are really quite good—I'd say they fit their parts perfectly," she enthused.

The cast also includes two EM from Oakland Army Terminal and three Navy pilots.

Essentially, the film features the unsuccessful efforts of a UBAC representative to get a donation from the first man scheduled to try for the moon.

Sgt. Cissna, who has 12 years' service and is a veteran of the early fighting in Korea, has been at the Presidio for a little more than a year.

Cpl. Pike, a veteran of three and a half years' service, and Sp4 Redd, who has been in the Army 19 months, both have been stationed here about a year and a half.

Filming of the picture, by Palmer Films of San Francisco, took place in early July. The job was completed in one day, though two separate locations—the motion picture company studios and the radiation laboratory at University of California, Berkeley — were used for office and spaceship sequences.

Statehood Pamphlet

Two articles on Alaskan statehood, reprinted from recent issues of "U.S. News and World Report," are being distributed for issue on the basis of one each per 25 members of the Active Army, the Department of the Army announced this week.

The first of these articles, from the 4 July 1958 issue, is entitled "The Story of Alaska—A Fabulous Land." The second, from the 11 July 1958 issue, is "How the 49th State Will Change U.S."

"Through the Army Incentive Awards Program, every imaginative employee is afforded a practical opportunity to make an outstanding contribution to the success of the Army's mission."—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker.

clude: General Aeronautics, Air Regulations, Meteorology, Air Navigation, and Aircraft Engines. Classes will meet twice weekly for two hours, each course running for eight weeks. The evenings and hours will be determined by student preferences. The courses in General Aeronautics, Meteorology, and Air Navigation are recognized for three semester hours of college credit each.

Also offered will be a course in Conversational Spanish taught by a native instructor. A basic knowledge of Spanish is essential.

Further information on any of the above classes may be obtained by telephoning the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, extension 2974 or 4449.

(Ed's Note: Capt. Wallace M. Gallant, Sixth Army G3 Marksmanship Project Officer, told the "Star Presidian" that all final results of last week's pistol matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, should be available for next issue. Meanwhile, following is the latest release received here of Friday's team matches.)

Camp Perry, Ohio, 16 Aug.—The Sixth U.S. Army Blue Team turned in a hot performance Friday to finish sixth in the nation in the all-important National Trophy Match at Camp Perry.

The team fired a score of 1,116 to best more than 100 pistol teams from throughout the nation. The score was only 12 short of the 1,128 fired by the U.S. Army Blue Team from the All-Army Marksmanship Unit, Fort Benning, to win the match by three points.

Of the other teams to finish ahead of the Sixth Army—two Marine teams, USARPAC and Third Army—the Army teams barely edged the West Coast shooters by 1,117.

Shooting for the Sixth Army was Maj. Richard Hirsch's (30th Engr. Bn.) highly successful Blue Team. The shooters and their scores:

Sergeant Santiago Machuca (Fort Lewis), 285; Sp4 Jerry Horne (537th Engr. Co.), 281; Sgt. Merriweather Jones (Fort Lewis), 280, and M/Sgt. Roy Holmes (Camp Roberts), 270.

In individual competition, six Sixth Army shooters turned in good performances to win "legs" toward a National Rifle Association pistol badge.

Of the 1,275 shooters who fired today, only 1,140 were eligible for "legs" and only the top 10 per cent (114) won. The cut-off point was 275 out of a possible score of 300.

High Sixth Army shooters and their scores: Sgt. Jones, 288; Sgt. Machuca, 286; Sp4 Horne, 285; Maj. Hirsch, 282; Pfc. Bobby Singleton, Fort Lewis, 279, and M/Sgt. Richard Halverson, Fort Ord, 276.

Both Sgt. Jones and Sgt. Machuca already have distinguished badges.

Each of the other shooters will receive one "leg" for individual shooting and members of the Blue Team will each receive a "leg" for team shooting.

The pistol matches ended with the trophy event.

One of the world's most pleasant and at the same time classic pieces of music is Beethoven's Sixth Symphony, the Pastoral. We recommend you listen to Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam conducted by Erich Kleiber on London Records. This bucolically programmatic symphony is a happy reaction after the drama and philosophy of the Fifth. Literally, it has more expression than a painting. In his Sixth Symphony, Beethoven reveals himself a simple hearted sentimentalist of poetic unsophistication.

Sports minded citizens might lend an ear to Columbia's "Thrill of Sports," narrated by Don Dunphy, Harry Wismer, Russ Hodges, and Chris Schubel. If you care to relive exciting moments, here are recorded such events as Jack Dempsey telling what happened after Firpo knocked him out of the ring; Babe Ruth in his final days greets his young fans; and Al Smith says final farewell to Knute Rockne.

Do you ever like to build a roaring fire, sit down in your favorite arm chair with a good book while the wind howls against the rain-swept house? All the elements for a scary night at home, eh? But Vanguard Records makes life easier these days with its record "Tales of Terror" by Edgar Allen Poe, read by Nelson Olmstead. Included in this horrific collection are Cask of Amontillado, The Tell-tale Heart, and Masque of the Red Death.

If you care to make a stab (apropos of Poe!) on guessing the best sellers of the month, just fill out coupon and send it to the Star Presidian, Bldg. 87A. Records will be awarded courtesy of Discount Records, 262 Sutter, San Francisco.

Questions and Answers

GE Training Act

Many inquiries are being received about the effects of the Government Employees Training Act which was signed into law recently. The following questions and answers, second of a series of four, which has been prepared by the Civil Service Commission, cover the points on which questions are most frequently received.

Q. Why shouldn't an employee pay for his own out-service training? He benefits, doesn't he?

A. First, let's recognize that we are not talking here about an employee's voluntary continuation of his education or training in an effort to prepare himself for more responsible assignments. While the new training act encourages such individual self-development, it does not authorize agencies to pay for it. We are speaking of cases where an agency, for its own benefit, orders out-service training. That an employee may possibly profit is the by-product—not the purpose—of such training.

Q. How will employees be selected for training?

A. The act does not prescribe selection methods. Agency heads are responsible for making the final selections for training but a variety of screening methods will continue to be used, such as supervisors' recommendations, selection panels, and training committees.

Q. How can an employee qualify for out-service training?

A. The employee must be selected by his agency for training which will meet agency needs. Then both the employee and his agency must meet the requirements of the law and regulations. The regulations have not yet been prescribed, but the statutory limitations are: a trainee must have been employed by the Government for at least a year, and he may not receive more than a year of out-service training in each ten years of civilian service. He must agree in advance to remain with his agency at least three times the length of his training period, or repay the training costs. He cannot be given training solely for promotion purposes or to obtain an academic degree. An agency's out-service training time may not exceed one percent of its authorized annual personnel strength measured in man years. Under specified conditions, these requirements may be modified.

Q. How does the law affect in-service training?

A. Where in-service training programs were being carried out, they will undoubtedly be strengthened; where they are needed but not being conducted, they will be instituted. The law directs agencies (1) to review all their training needs within 90 days and at least every three years thereafter, (2) to establish within 270 days and maintain training programs to meet those needs, and (3) to encourage and recognize self-development.

Q. Who has the responsibility for employee training?

A. Agency heads remain responsible for determining the kinds of training to be given, when it is to be given, which employees are to be trained, and how much money to allot for training purposes within the limits of appropriations. The Civil Service Commission will continue to provide in-service training assistance to agencies and is directed by the new law to review agencies' out-service training programs for compliance with the law and regulations.

"Picnic" Well Received Here; Last Show Tonight

"Picnic" (in the round) will have a final performance at the Presidio Service Club at 2015 hours this evening.

The popular tragi-comedy made its debut at the LAH Rec Hall on Wednesday night and drew enthusiastic applause from critical first nighters.

John Swilp, the Presidio Drama Workshop's Marlon Brando, and Barbara Donovan handle the lead roles.

Co-stars include Joan Mudgett, Ruth Coleman, J. Eugene English and Lowell Lynn.

A versatile supporting cast boasts Alice Bosson, Bob Clarke, Thais Pease, Betty Cusick and De-lores Shoemaker.

Producer-Director Ed Maxy has turned in an excellent job and Harry Helman's sets wear well.

All in all, the entire production comes off very well and is a credit to the hard work of the whole group. So, if you have a spare evening kicking around and want to get a closeup of fine talent FREE—Put the Drama Workshop's production of PICNIC IN THE ROUND on this evening's must list.

Western Dance Set

Swing your pardner left to the right and join the Western Dance on 26 August at Fort Baker Service Club. The Checkers will be there with their fiddles and banjos, and all you folks are urged to wear your old-time western clothes. Nothing fancy or citylike, please.

Some folks reckon that things will start jumping around 2000 hours. That gives you-all time to get your evening chores done, cows milked, chickens fed, and children put to pasture.

Honor Two EM's At 740th AAA Msl. Bn.

Sp4 Robert F. Garland was awarded the 6th RAADCOM Certificate of Achievement by Lt. Col. C. P. Samson at a ceremony at battalion headquarters given in appreciation of his and Sp4 James H. Richards' noteworthy contributions to the 740th AAA Missile Battalion.

Since completing his basic training at Fort Hood, Texas, Sp4 Garland has been a clerk in S1. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and was released from the Army last week. He plans on entering Law School at his alma mater.

'Rolling Along' Due Here Soon; Kavanaughs Star

Two Sixth Army boys performed in the 1958 edition of "Rolling Along," the Army's world-touring soldier show, when it made its premiere performance Wednesday night at Fort Belvoir, Va.

The Kavanaugh Twins, Pvts. Myles and Leonard of Fort Ord, were selected to join "Rolling Along" after winning a first place in the recent All-Army Talent Contest.

All of the major Army commands who participated in the Entertainment Contest finals are represented in the 23 member show which is designed to provide entertainment for troops and encourage production of soldier shows in the field.

"Rolling Along of 1958," the fourth annual world touring soldier show, is scheduled for Presidio performance on 30 August and Letterman Army Hospital on 13 November.

Contemporary Book Kits Will Initiate Military Reading

Kits of 33 books each, distributed by the Department of the Army in establishing its Contemporary Military Reading Program, are expected to arrive at Presidio and Sixth Army libraries soon.

These books will add to the extensive resources already available in the libraries.

Some of the books included in the kits are: "Inside Russia Today" by John Gunther, "American Strategy in the Atomic Age" by George C. Reinhardt, "The Red Army" by Basil Liddell-Hart, "Psychological Warfare" by Paul Linebarger, "Soldier and the State" by Samuel P. Huntington, "Guided Missiles in War and Peace" by Nels Parson, and "The Middle East in World Affairs" by George Lenczowski.

Honesty? Well, It May Not Pay Interest But It Reaps Dividends

It Pays To Be Honest?

Well, like somebody said—Virtue is its own reward. Ask Sp4 Gruenling, Btry. "A", 740th AAA Msl. Bn., who proved that honesty does still exist in the world but that it still seems to be its own reward.

During the end of the month, every soldier is in some financial fix. Especially so was Sp4 Gruenling who was clearing post and needed extra money for his trip home.

But this did not influence his sense of honesty when he found a wallet on the highway near Sharp Park with $19 in it and some important papers. Following his gentlemanly instincts, Sp4 Gruenling returned the wallet to its owner. She didn't know she had lost it, but she graciously smiled and said thank you.

Well, that's life.

Sfc. Charlie Tucker

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

Quietly, with a pocketful of nails, a hammer in his hand, and a never resting eye for things needing to be done, Sfc Charles G. Tucker has gone about making a few changes in this area.

Over in San Rafael, in his C Battery of the 9th AAA Missile Battalion, Sfc Tucker completely remodeled the mess hall. He built a glider with tray racks between the kitchen and dining room and he put up panels dividing the NCO from the officers' dining room.

But not the least of his numerous efforts is the Hobby Room at Headquarters of the 9th Battalion at Fort Baker. People had been considering a hobby room for some time, but when Maj. Burton T. Beam returned from a hunting trip with a bear head and there was nowhere to put it, Lt. Col. Thomas Bristol, Commanding Officer of the 9th, and Maj. Beam concluded that it was indeed time for a hobby room.

So Sfc Tucker set about a remodeling project. He built boards to hang plaques and trophies on, display cases, he hung the bear head securely over the fireplace mantle and placed beneath it a model of the Nike Hercules Missile he had made.

Now, in addition to the many trophies and plaques of the 9th Battalion on display, borrowed from the de Young Museum are some 1850 percussion rifles, French dragon helmets from the Second Empire, and officers' sabres from the Civil War.

Sfc. Tucker also built steps and platforms for MTR and TTR antennae at San Rafael. What else has he built around here? "Oh, I don't know," said Sfc Tucker. "A lot of stuff that doesn't amount to much. Some picture frames, M-3 fuel storage shed, a safety suit lockage."

From the looks of things, Sfc. Tucker has been a busy man. Back up in Oregon, where he and his family, wife and three children, used to live, stands a six-room house which he built and claims was ready for occupancy 30 days after the foundation was laid.

Before Sfc Tucker entered the Army, he prospected for gold up in Idaho along the Salmon River. And he plans on doing the same thing when he retires from the Army in six years. There is excellent fishing there, and about gold, Sfc. Tucker says, "There's gold there, all right. If you work hard, you might make two or three dollars a day!"

Moody Leads In Army Golf At Fitzsimons; Jacobs In 9th Place

Sgt. Murray Jacobs, Presidio Open Golf Champion, was running in ninth place midway through a tournament being held at Fitzsimons Army Hospital this week to select members for the Army team.

Jacobs, with 294, is 21 strokes behind the top man, Orville Moody, from the Fifth Army.

Thirteenth place in the Senior Division of the 72-hole elimination tourney is being held by M/Sgt. Keith Dehner, Ft. Lewis, who has a score of 329, compared to the 299 of high man, Lt. Col. Glaister, USARA.

ONE of the Presidio fishing boats which may be rented through the Post Special Services office awaits passengers at the Ft. Baker dock.

AF Takes Early Lead In Interservice Golf

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., 20 Aug.—A strong U.S. Air Force team, battling stiff winds on the Fort Leavenworth golf course, took a first-day lead after 18 holes of play in the 72-hole, 1958 Interservice Golf Tournament today. ## 436th Shows Big Power In 6-2 Win Over 21st

Travis Air Force Base's 436th AAA Missile Battalion Sky-masters defeated the Presidio 21st Engineer team, 6-2, Monday behind the one-hit pitching of southpaw Billy Nolen.

The only satisfaction for the usually powerful Presidio nine was one hit in the bottom of the first, coupled with a previous base on balls and an error on second.

Fast action began for the Sky-masters in the first when Flatch hit to center, Brown walked, Valstyn went down swinging and Glesky drove a long double to left, scoring the two runners, only to be caught off second base and make the third out.

During Presidio's half of the inning Shultz took a base on balls, Mateson struck out, Fernandez dropped a hit in front of Glesky for a single and then advanced to second on a throw to third.

Third baseman Roback rifled the ball to Brown, but the throw was high, allowing both Shultz and Fernandez to score. Bowers flied out and Wendt popped to third, retiring the side with the score 2-2.

Neither team scored a hit until the top of the sixth when Flatch, of the 436th, knocked a single to center. Brown followed suit with one almost in the same spot and Glesky dumped a Texas leaguer over second, scoring Flatch and Brown.

Starting into the seventh the Masters clinched their win when Flatch smashed a long homer to deep right with one man on.

In the bottom of the seventh for the Presidio, Bowers walked, Wendt hit out to third, Kear grounded to pitcher and Themely struck out, ending the game with the final tally: Presidio one hit and one error and the Skymasters eight hits and one error.

Army Will Host '59 Mitt Meet

Washington—Three Inter-Services sports tournaments have been scheduled for 1959. Army will host the boxing meet, tentatively scheduled for 26-28 March at Fort Benning, Ga.

Other tentative dates: Tennis, 11-15 August, at Quantico, Va., Marine Base; and golf, 5-9 October, at the Navy's Norfolk, Va., or Jacksonville, Fla., stations.

The Pan-American Games basketball tryouts are planned for the first week in April, but the site has not yet been determined.

SS Fishing Fleet Ready To Chase The Big Ones

With fishing in San Francisco Bay the best it has been in many years it's surprising that Post Special Service's fishing boats aren't getting a bigger play.

For the very nominal rental of $12 per day, a party of six may go after the big stripers, ling cod, salmon and the many other varieties that are roaming the Bay waters this year.

The two 24-footers are available on a two-day advance reservation basis which can be arranged by calling the Post Special Service Office.

Although Special Services has a limited supply of tackle available, your own tackle and bait would be preferable.

Boats are powered by 30 h.p. Johnson motors and are not allowed outside of the bay.

Shrimp and sardines are the current bait favorites and can be purchased at any local bait shop. Recent trips aboard the SS Fishing Fleet have provided good catches of stripers, ling cod, flounders, varieties of shark, perch and rock bass.

Now that you know, all you need is the urge, and a few friends to share the cost, and you're off for a day of the nation's fastest growing sport—fishing.

U.S. Shooters Preparing For World-Wide Match To Be Held In Moscow

Stockholm, Sweden (AFPS) — Warming up for the coming World Rifle and Pistol Championships, to be held in Moscow this month, the U. S. team riddled targets in international competition here.

Individual honors in the Swedish international meet went to Army 1st Lt. David Miller, Fort Benning, Ga., who took first place in the slow fire pistol match with a 550 score.

Master Sergeant Huelet Benner, pistol coach of the U.S. Military Academy, copped first position in the rapid fire pistol match with a score of 589.

Marine Capt. William M. McMillian fired 584 for the top spot in the center fire pistol match.

In the pistol competition, the U. S. International Team placed first in the rapid center fire match and third in the free pistol team match.

The International Rifle and Pistol Team represents America's first concerted try for world championship laurels in marksmanship. Team members have been firing matches in Germany, Switzerland and Sweden.

Will Aid Army In Defense of Top Interservice Laurel

Presidio's two time tennis champion, Capt. Frank W. Sample, has been named a member of the Army's six-man Leech Cup team. Play started this week at the swank Army-Navy Country Club in Arlington, Va., and will be completed today.

The Army has won the famed Interservice trophy, equivalent to the Davis Cup, for the past two years and are the defending champions. Besides Sample, open division team members include: Sp4 W. Quillian, Ft. Rucker; Pvt J. Been, Ft. Bliss, Pvt P. Esinberg, Ft. Jay; Sp3 C. Henderson, Ft. Bliss, and Sp3 R. Worthheimer, Ft. Sam Houston.

Capt. Frank Sample

A senior division team will include M/Sgt. W. Mulliken, Ft. Leavenworth; Capt. L. Buldian, Ft. Jay; Sp1 C. Johnson, Ft. Detrick and Lt. Col. F. Strom, EUSA.

Heading the Navy contingent seeking Interservice honors will be J. T. Houk, from Norfolk, Va., who won the 1958 All-Navy singles championship.

Leading the Leatherneck netmen will be Kingman B. Lambert, from the 3rd Marine Div., who walked away with the All-Marine open singles championship recently.

Army won the Leech Cup in 1924 and 1925, then the Navy took over and won nine straight before losing again to Army in 1939. Competition for the cup was interrupted during WWII and from 1949-54, owing to the Korean conflict.

The Marine Corps officially joined the competition in 1955 but has yet to win the coveted award. Navy leads with 10 wins; Army, six; and Air Force, two.

The open singles winner will receive the Riseley Bowl, presented by the US Lawn Tennis Assn.

Army and AF net stars have monopolized possession of this trophy for several years with Whitney Reed of Tinker AFB, Ft. Monmouth's Clif Mayne and Ft. Rucker's Bill Quillian winning the trophy in 1955, 1956 and 1957 respectively.

Comps Axe Hq 3-1 As League Leaders Fade

In the 15th week of play in the Pacific League, the Comp-trollers took the measure of Hq. Co. Sixth Army No. 3 to the tune of three games to one, cutting their lead to two games.

Morgan, 888-235, was high man for the winners. Erlenkotter led Headquarters No. 3 with a 577-213.

The Regioners swept four games from the Honor Guard, putting them in a tie for second place. Ploen rolled a 494-176 for the Regioners. O'Donnell was high man for the Guard, with 484-172.

Headquarters Company Sixth Army No. 2 swept four games from the Retorts with 557-201. De Graff led Headquarters No. 2 with 557-201. For the Retorts, Pederson rolled 454-162.

The Mail Maulers and AAA Sparks games were postponed.

Presidio's Horseshoe King Wins Another; Would Face All Comers

Sp2 Floyd Junkins, of the 21st Engineers, buried all comers to capture the 21st Horseshoe crown.

Junkins, a veteran of 18 years' service, has won 23 service horseshoe championships at various levels of competition.

Both the winner and second place, Austin Coker, received three-day passes.

Currently a horseshoe team is being organized in the 21st Engineer Co. and all competition will be welcomed, either on company level or individual basis. Inquiries should be addressed to Sp2 Floyd Junkins, 21st Engineer Company, Presidio of San Francisco.

Softball Team Dunks Treasure Islanders In Posting 43d Win

The Post Softball Team gave a Treasure Island sailor nine a sound dunking, 8-1, last Friday to post their 42nd win of the season.

Big Train Ed Johnson handled the mound chores for the Presidians and scattered six hits.

Dutch Shultz, 3b, was the game's big individual star as he went two for three, a homer and a single, and handled five chances flawlessly.

A homer by TI's Taylor in the 3rd averted a shutout for the Islanders.

Toreros Leave For Area Title Try

Neider, Shelton Shine— On To Brussels Fair

All two members of Presidio's diminutive but internationally acclaimed track team last Saturday added more laurels to their mounting bid for fame as they sparked American track and field stars to four wins in a seven-event exhibition meet with German athletes at Nuernberg, Germany.

Shot putting ace 2d Lt. Bill Neider of Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison, won his specialty with a toss of 57 feet, 3.79 inches; and high - jumping Sp4 Ernie Shelton of XV U.S. Army Corps, grabbed a first by clearing the bar at 6 feet, 4.6 inches.

These wins assured the two Presidio aces of berths on the American team slated to compete 30 August through 2 September in the International Council of Military Sports tourney at the Brussels World's Fair.

Twenty-five year old Lt. Neider, a 6-foot, 3-inch 200-pounder, former University of Kansas track man, last month on a previous tour of Europe with American athletes posted a 60'2½" throw while competing in Switzerland.

He and 24-year-old Sp4 Shelton left here 11 August for their current overseas visit.

Early this year, Sp4 Shelton returned to the United States after a tour of track meets in the Far East. He was scheduled to go to Europe at about the same time Lt. Neider last went there (but on a separate squad), but he was unable to make the trip.

Tie Breaker Due In Pony League Double Header Sat.

Fast action is slated for tomorrow's Pony League double header as the XV Corps Braves tangle with the Sixth Army Pirates, and the 30th Artillery Group Tigers, face the Presidio Dodgers. The Braves and Tigers are currently tied for the league lead.

In last Saturday's double header, the Tigers gained important ground when they rolled over the Pirates, 10-1. Mound hero was Mike Foley, while Ken Higdon took the loss.

Second game play saw the Dodgers squeeze a tight 3-2 win from the Braves. Pitchers were Mike Haulsey for the winners and Tom Mlakar for the losers.

Other games last week found the Dodgers running over the Tigers with a 12-0 shutout behind the able pitching of Mike Haulsey, and the last place Pirates racking up a 5-3 victory over the Braves. Cecil Harrison pitched for the Dodgers and Pete Howland for the Braves.

Boating Safety

Lesson courses in boating operation and safety may be obtained from the 12th Coast Guard District, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco.

Also, the United States Power Squadron offers advanced training in boating and navigation. Information may be obtained from Robert D. Evans, San Francisco District U. S. Power Squadron, 44 Peninsula Road, Belvedere.

Seek Crack Army Amateurs To Vie In Pan Olympics

Presidio's Athletic Director, Hal Fischer, sent out a clarion call for top amateurs to compete in Department of the Army's elimination tournament to determine eligibles for the 1959 Pan American Olympic Games, this week.

Classes in the male only category will include baseball, boxing, cycling, equestrian, fencing, gymnastics, modern pentathlon, rowing, shooting, water polo, weight lifting and wrestling.

Classes open to both male and female include basketball, track and field, swimming and diving, tennis, volleyball and synchronized swimming for women only.

If you're interested in one or several of these competitions, call the Presidio Sports Office, Bldg. 122, Ext. 2282.

Basketball Team In Sad Shape; Seek Top Players

There are a lot of empty suits hanging in the tradition-filled locker room of Presidio's basketball Toreros and Coach Hal Fischer is in a quandary over filling them.

This week, an urgent call went out to all interested personnel to log in with the Sports Office for upcoming team tryouts.

Last year the local squad went on to gold and glory by annexing such championships as Northern California, Armed Services and Pacific Coast AAU and were runners-up in the All-Army competition.

Missing from this year's team will be such stalwarts as All-Americans Carroll Williams and Tony Psaltis, All-Metropolitan Hubie Brown and All-PCC Alan Herring.

Ord, Lewis Favored By Most Pundits

Decimated by early releases, discharges and transfers, the Presidio's once vaunted Toreros departed for the Sixth Army Baseball Tournament at Fort Lewis, Washington, this week.

Play was scheduled to get under way yesterday in the week-long title try, 21-28 August, but Coach Hal Fischer doubted if his "pickup team" would vie in the first round.

With one returning regular from last year's third place squad, eight former Toreros are currently playing professional ball—the local nine will have a tough row to hoe. "We'll need luck, and a lot of it, to even be in the running," was Fischer's opinion.

"Ord, last year's champion, has eight returning regulars. Lewis, second in the '57 tourney, has seven veterans back. Don't sell Irwin short, either. They held us to a tight, and lucky, 5-1 win. They should prove tougher up north."

If—and it's a big one—the Toreros could overcome their penchant for game losing errors, and if their ace righthander, Wes Stock, 17-3, can regain his mid-season brilliance, they might finish in, or close to, the winner's circle.

STAR STICKER for the Presidio's tournament-bound Toreros is left fielder Terry Maddox. Terrible Terry has been pounding the ball at a .416 clip during recent competition.

Top Blind Player

Philadelphia, Pa. (ANS) — A former Army major who lost his eyesight while serving in the Infantry during World War II, has won the annual national championship tournament of the American Blind Golfers' Association here for the 10th time.

Baseball? He's Never Thought About Doing Anything Else

The bridesmaid Toreros might have gone all the way in their try for the state title if—Wes Stock had been twins.

The strong right hander from Allyn, Washington, managed to rack up a brilliant 17-3 skein this year despite infield and hitting weaknesses that plagued his home nine all year.

A former Shelton High School and Washington State star, Stock is the property of the Baltimore Orioles and will report to them for spring training next year.

"Baseball? I guess I've been thinking and playing it since I was able to walk. Sandlot, pick-up, grade school, city league, college, all classes and sizes, except of course the majors, I've played them all."

Wes has played summer league ball in La Grande, Ore., and in Blaine and Walla Walla, Washington. In '56 he was "rookie of the year with Aberdeen, S. D., in the Northern League.

Besides this year's stint with the Toreros, other Army play included a 10-2 record with Ft. Ord last year and membership on the All-Service Championship Ft. Knox nine.

Wes Stock

"My future? Well, I hope to finish my college and play a lot more baseball."

- Two of the NFL's top kicking specialists tied for the league scoring title last season with 77 points each. Name them.
- Give these schools' nicknames: Clemson, Princeton and Auburn.
- Of the eight times the Yankees have been in the World Series under Casey Stengel, they have faced four NL foes. Name them.
- Which of these golfers can't play in the National Amateur—Frank Stranahan, Julius Boros, Billy Joe Patton or Harvie Ward?
- Cy Young holds the lifetime record for most big league victories with 511. What pitcher lost the most games?

(Answers)

- Lou Groza and Sam Baker.
- All three are nicknamed "Tigers."
- The Dodgers, Phillies, Giants and Braves.
- Stranahan and Boros are pro golfers.
- Young also lost the most—315 games.

Kops Show Power, Swamp SFAADS In Bowling Sweep

First place Keystone Kops, led by the 613-231 of Johnson, took four games away from SFAADS this week in Summer Bowling League play.

Havrilla rolled a 552-193 for the Toros to help them gain a 3-1 win over the King Pins, with their high kegler, Lansing, racking up 581-236.

Lundahl, 547-197, for the Islanders, and Wilmoth, 601-223, for the Hq. Co. Sixth Army, led their respective teams to a 2-2 split, which put the Islanders in sixth place and Hq. Co. in the cellar.

60th CI Det. suffered a 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Shafter's, whose top man was Kierstizian. High score for the losers was 571-201 of Walkers.

New Extension Course In Logistics Available

The United States Army Logistics Management Center at Fort Lee, Va., has available a 211-hour graduate-level extension course entitled "Distribution Management," the Department of the Army announced this week.

The course is designed to develop the supply management capabilities of personnel in the field of logistics.

Those eligible for enrollment are Department of the Army civilian employees, Army Reservists, and members of the Armed Forces in the Army logistics system.

As a prerequisite, prior to enrollment in this course, personnel must successfully complete the 39-hour extension subcourse entitled "Introduction to Supply Management" as announced in DA Pamphlet 350-60 or be a graduate of a USALMC resident course.

Distribution topics emphasized in the course are organization for military logistics; specific distribution management organizations and activities; tools of distribution management to include inventory control activities; management of depot operations; transportation management; controls in distribution management; and property disposal activities.

New NCO Mess Opens At Army Garrison; Will Serve Three Units

The new NCO mess hall at Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison, opened Tuesday with a chicken dinner complete with hot apple pie and ice cream.

Converted from a squad room, the new mess hall will serve the first 3 graders in the 163d MP Company, the Sixth Army Band, Hqs. USA Garrison, and the 16th Base Post Office. The parent mess hall, from which the new mess hall operates, has already won three best mess hall awards this year.

First guest in the freshly painted and decorated mess hall was Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio's Commanding Officer.

Infantry Confab Set

Fort Benning, Ga.—The Infantry School is making plans to receive more than 200 of the nation's outstanding infantry leaders here in December, during the world-wide infantry conference when new weapons and equipment together with a comprehensive view of the latest technological advances and organizational and doctrinal changes will be featured.

Defense Resources Conference Expects Top Attendance

More than 400 key civilians and 200 officers of the Armed Forces from the Bay Area are expected to attend the National Defense Resources Conference in San Francisco from 15 to 26 September.

Colonel Vincent F. LaPina, Chemical Officer for Sixth Army, and Lt. Col. Raymond W. Reisner of the Sixth Army Comptroller Section, are to date the only active Army officers from this area who have registered for the conference. One reserve officer and five reserve NCOs have also registered.

The goal of this conference, which is one of 12 similar conferences held throughout the nation this year, is to present to executives in every phase of the nation's economy an inventory of America's defense resources and needs in case of war.

The conference is co-sponsored by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in Washington, D. C.

Alaska Alters Voting Slate

Washington (AFPS)—With official statehood in the offing for Alaska, the territory has revised its 1953 election program to allow selection of Federal and state representatives.

In a primary election Aug. 26, residents and servicemen using an absentee ballot will be asked to nominate two US senators, one US representative, a governor, a secretary of state, and 60 members of the state legislature.

Three questions of statehood, including whether or not Alaska should become a state, will also be put before Alaskans in a referendum Aug. 26.

If all referendum proposals are approved in the primary, a general election will be held Nov. 25 to fill offices for which nominations were made.

Alaskan voting laws remain unchanged with one exception: the minimum voting age has been lowered from 21 to 19 years.

Bee that as it may . . .

Army Is Always Helpful

No doubt John Q. Public during the past two centuries has made many, many odd requests of American soldiers that were pretty far afield from fighting a war or maintaining the peace.

Not long ago, though, the Army got tied up—or at least some of its equipment did—with scads of little bees and the sort of confusing issue of what makes them go the way they go if they have been trained to go another way . . . and so on.

Root of the story is that Dr. Max Renner, a German professor currently (and temporarily) based at University of California, is conducting an experiment to determine what makes bees navigate, and what bearing relocation of hives has to do with which way they go.

Dr. Renner this week is in New York training his bees to go in one direction in feeding and expects to bring them here this weekend, ready to start his experiment at California's Davis campus.

But, back to where the Army gets in this show: Dr. Renner, because landmarks and people might influence the flight of the bumblebee, will set his hives in a big, open field. In order to record the bees' activities, he placed photoelectric cells at each hive, hooked together with electrical wire which feeds to a control board in a nearby hut.

The 6,000 feet of commo wire was a gift of the Army, made when the desperate doctor couldn't get a stitch anywhere! The stuff is expendable and, in the interest of science and good will and . . .

Commander Named For 29th Arty. Group

Colonel Malcolm F. Gilchrist, Jr., a veteran of 19 years' Army service, assumed command Tuesday of the 29th Artillery Group (Air Def.) at Travis AFB. He succeeds Lt. Col. Sanford Butler.

A graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, Col. Gilchrist was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in the Regular Army in 1939.

Col. Gilchrist was assigned to the 29th Group from Headquarters US Army Forces Far East and 8th US Army in Japan where he served as Chief, Plans and Policy Division, Office of Assistant Chief of Staff, G-3.

His awards include the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant and Oak Leaf Cluster, the American Defense Service Medal, the American Campaign Medal, the Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal with one campaign star, the Korean Service Medal and the UN Service Medal.

Top Prof Will Teach Far East History On Post

One of the courses offered in the on-post college program is History 194, The Contemporary Far East. Classes will commence on 16 September and will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays in Bldg. 1101 from 1830-2100.

This course discusses the recent economic, political, social and cultural developments in the Far East. It deals with the policies and rivalries of the great powers in the Pacific area and the Far East in the 19th and 20th centuries, and places emphasis on the recovery from World War II, the Korean situation, political alliances, Soviet Far Eastern policy, and Communism in the Far East.

Donald M. Castleberry, instructor in History 194, has been professor of Government and Chairman of the Division of Social Sciences at San Francisco State College since 1948.

In 1944-1945 he was assistant director of the American Red Cross Civilian Relief Operations in the Soviet Union and in 1945-46 was director of relief operations in Poland. His more recent activities include a visit in 1956 to Japan, the Philippines, and Hong Kong; in May 1958 he participated in the National Security Forum at the Air War College at Maxwell AFB in Alabama.

Army Helicopters Will Fly From Riley To Alaska

Fort Riley, Kan. (ANS)—Fifteen H-21 Army helicopters of the 80th Helicopter Company took off here recently from Marshall U. S. Army Airfield on a 3,500-mile flight to the unit's new base in Alaska.

Officials said this was probably to be one of the longest overland movements of a whirlybird unit in the history of Army Aviation.

The route was planned to take the unit across the entire northwestern part of the United States, through Canada, and along the Alaska-Canada Highway to Fort Richardson. Twenty-one fuel and rest stops were scheduled.

The machines were expected to use about 45,000 gallons of high octane fuel and 1,000 gallons of oil during the 12-day trip.

The warrant officer pilots were warned, "Don't take a chance on the weather in that northern country. There are too many obstacles."

Major William F. Usher, commanding officer of the 80th who led off in the first helicopter, had also emphasized to his men that they must navigate with extreme care to avoid flying into dead-end canyons over timber or mountains.

He had previously made a route survey and said there had not been much travel over the route in the past. "Some of the terrain over which we pass," he said, "is virgin country."

The 80th, accompanied by the 334th Transportation Maintenance Detachment, moves to Alaska to support remote tactical units and to provide an effective rescue service in the area.

A First Report

Washington (ANS)—The first annual report of the Dependents' Medical Care Program shows that more than 328,100 military dependents have been admitted to civilian hospitals for treatment. Maternity care is the largest single item, comprising 44.3 per cent of all Medicare treatment in civilian hospitals.

FOUR GRADUATES of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Scott have an informal chat with Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, and Lt. Col. C. M. Will you be one?

A Driving Statistic?

Will you be one of the 45 million drivers on the road during the Labor Day weekend?

If so, will you be one of the 420 persons the National Safety Council has predicted will die in automobile smashups between 1800 today and 2400 Monday.

If you take that "one for the road" or try to push it when you're too tired, you may be lucky, and only be counted among the 12,000 people who are expected to be maimed, but not killed on the highways.

With military payday this morning, many soldiers will be rarin' to go tonight or early tomorrow to take advantage of the long weekend.

But, if you think the vacation calls for a toast, wait until after you get where you're going before you take that drink and bring any alcoholic celebrations to a halt long before you are ready to come back.

Then, you'll only have to worry about the guy who doesn't take this good advice.

Gyroscoping 1st Infantry Has Many MOS Openings

Presidio soldiers who want to go to Germany can now volunteer for transfer to the 1st Infantry Division, Fort Riley, Kans., which is slated to begin gyroscoping to Europe in December.

However, applicants must meet the provisions of AR 614-240 and Sixth U.S. Army Circular 84-10, just published this month.

Army Commanders' Annual Meet Set For 8-9 September

Sixth U.S. Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer will depart next week for the annual Army Commanders' Conference, 8-9 September, at Ft. Monroe, Va. This will be the first conference of Army-wide scope since General Bruce C. Clarke took command of the Continental Army Command.

Colonel John G. Ondrick, Sixth Army's Deputy Chief of Staff, and Capt. F. A. Henning, aide-de-camp to the general, will accompany him.

Conferees will consist of the commanders of the six Continental Armies and the Military District of Washington, as well as the commandants of the 13 USCONARC service schools.

Purpose of the conference will be to discuss command problems; a briefing on current topics of command interest and to set forth CONARC views on training and related matters.

Besides briefings, the guests will visit TAC Headquarters at Langley AFB, Va. and SACLANC at Norfolk, Va., for briefings on Air Force and Navy operations.

General L. L. Lemnitzer, Army Vice Chief of Staff, is scheduled to address the group on Army world-wide commitments.

6th ARADCOM Birthday

Monday is best known throughout the United States as Labor Day, but here it takes on added significance—it also marks the eighth anniversary of the missile command which silently stands ready to protect key Western cities from enemy air attacks.

It was on Labor Day 1950 that the 6th Region Army Air Defense Command (then Western Army Antiaircraft Command) was activated.

To commemorate the missile's birthday, local Nike sites conducted open house Monday and key military and civic leaders were guests at a luncheon hosted by Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, 6th ARADCOM Commander.

MOS's are also restricted to: 111.70, 113.80, 121.60, 141.60, 313.70, 553.60, 631.70, 643.60, 768.60, 911.60 and 941.60.

In order for favorable consideration, each applicant must:

- Be fully qualified in MOS.
- Have no time lost on current enlistment.
- Have no record of court-martial on current enlistment.
- Have a minimum of three area scores of 90 or higher.
- Have appropriate physical profile.
- Have sufficient obligated service remaining (31 months from date of gyroscope).

Five battle groups are scheduled to leave Fort Riley, one per month, from December this year through April 1959.

At present, all available Government housing for the battle groups has been allocated, so volunteers who have dependents must state they understand they will not be authorized Government housing and may have to serve their overseas tour without dependents.

Veterans' Burial Allowance Upped From $150 to $250

The Government allowance toward veterans' burial expenses has been increased to $250 from its former list of $150, Veterans Administration announced.

Applying only to deaths on or after August 18, 1958, the increase was authorized by Public Law 85-674.

VA said the allowance is payable for:

- Veterans of any war or the Korean Conflict; or
- Peacetime veterans who were receiving VA compensation at time of death, or who were discharged or retired for disabilities incurred in line of duty.

Top Artilleryman Appointed As New Sixth U.S. Army G1

A West Pointer and World War II Artillery Commander has been named new Sixth U.S. Army G1. He is Col. Robert L. Cardell, 49, who for the past three years has been stationed with NATO Headquarters in Naples, Italy.

He replaced Col. Richard J. Stillman, who will remain here as Deputy Sixth Army G1.

Col. Cardell, who graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1931, served in Europe during World War II as a battalion commander in the 18th Artillery Brigade, was with 5th Army in Italy (1943-44) and headed a 7th Army artillery battalion from the invasion of Southern France 15 August 1944 until the end of the war.

After 1945, he completed four courses: Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., 1947; Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., 1949; Army War College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., 1951; Advance Management Program, Harvard University 1954—and served on the General Staff, Department of the Army.

He holds the Bronze Star and the European Theater ribbon with a Bronze Arrowhead and five campaign stars.

Col. Cardell now is living here with his wife, Mary, who is the daughter of a former general officer, James E. Fechet, and their three children, Mary, Robert and Betsy.

Army Hospital Honors Korean Conflict Hero

Ft. Bragg, N. C. (AFPS)—An $8 million hospital was dedicated here recently to a North Carolina soldier who gave his life in Korea.

Among the 750 guests at the ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Womack, parents of Army Pfc. Bryant W. Womack, Medal of Honor winner for whom the hospital was named.

Seven Due To Retire At Retreat Parade Today

Five Presidians will be among those honored today during retirement ceremonies on the main parade ground, beginning at 1600.

They are Lt. Col. Vernie Slayter, Commander of the 30th Engineer Battalion (see story, page 3); Lt. Col. Irven S. Brown, Assistant Intelligence Officer for the Presidio Provost Marshal; Lt. Col. Daisy M. McCommons, Chief of the Army Nurse Corps and Army Medical Service Corps Division, Sixth U.S. Army Medical Section; Maj. Francis D. Ivey, Chief of the Communications Liaison Branch, Sixth Army Signal Section; and M/Sgt. Theodore McKeon, Presidio Signal Central Photo Facilities Branch.

Presidians also retiring this month, but not participating in ceremonies today are Col. Henry M. Greenleaf, Post Surgeon, and Capt. James A. Lange, 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense).

To be honored today, together with the five Presidians, will be a 30-year veteran and former Commandant of U.S. Disciplinary Barracks at Lumpoc, Calif., Col. Sam F. Muffie, last assigned as Provost Marshal for I Corps in Korea, and CWO William H. Keith, a missile officer with the 441st AAA Missile Battalion in Berkeley.

Non-Presidians who are retiring but will not be here for the parade are Col. Robert E. Beauchamp of Carmichael, Calif.; Lt. Col. Lyle J. Sundet of Sharpe General Depot; CWO Alex A. Frye; CWO Leo C. Nees; CWO John M. Sullivan; M/Sgt. Thomas C. Cooke; M/Sgt. Harold F. Duncan; and Sfc Ricardo Bartolome.

McElroy Praises Labor's Support For Defense Plan

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—Lauding the men and women in the ranks of industry as "indispensable" partners of the Armed Forces in protecting the nation, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy acknowledged the contributions of American labor to the defense effort in a Labor Day statement.

Here is the complete text of Mr. McElroy's statement:

"Labor Day is an appropriate occasion for the Department of Defense to note the vital role played by the working men and women of America in producing the weapons and supplies needed to strengthen our nation's security and the security of the free world.

"This role makes labor an indispensable partner of the Armed Forces. The military and industrial strength of our country must be linked in order to maintain an adequate level of preparedness and to keep abreast of swiftly moving technological advances.

"The Department of Defense welcomes the opportunity to acknowledge the loyalty, skill, and tremendous contribution of American labor to national defense."

Former Ft. Scott Soldier Will Retire Here Saturday

Retirement here and a second Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit will climax the 28-year career of Maj. Gen. Henry R. McKenzie, recent Director of the Department of Defense Military Subsistence Supply Agency.

The 54-year-old General, who started his Army career at Ft. Scott, will not be present during retirement ceremonies today, but tomorrow he will be presented the decoration by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer in the Sixth U.S. Army commander's office.

A West Pointer (Class of '29), he was cited for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of duties while serving in several key logistical positions during the period March 1946-August 1958."

Maj. Gen. McKenzie, who served in 1929-30 at Ft. Scott with the 63d and 6th Coast Artillery Regiments, later earned a master's degree in Business Administration (1940) from Harvard University. During World War II, he directed the purchase of perishable food for the Armed Forces from 1942 to 1945 when he was Officer-in-Charge, Quartermaster Market Center System.

Before taking command of the Subsistence Agency, he served as Quartermaster, U.S. Army Forces in the Middle Pacific; faculty member, Industrial College of the Armed Forces; Quartermaster, U.S.

Lt. Col. Maurice K. Schiffman

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

For a number of years now the Army has been encouraging its men to write articles for public consumption about the military.

But there is one man in the Army who has earned a special niche in this field years ago.

Lt. Col. Maurice K. Schiffman, currently on TDY as assistant J3 of the Joint Amphibious Exercise Rocky Shoals, published his first article back in 1941 when he was a first lieutenant stationed in Mineral Wells, Texas.

At that time, living conditions were not the most desirable and rents were exorbitantly high. Col. Schiffman, believing that something should be done about the situation, wrote an editorial for the local paper, signing his name and assignment in bold print. The article was printed on the front page.

The very next day, Col. Schiffman's commanding general called him in and chastised him for not having gone through the proper channels.

So to make a very long story short, the editorial eventually reached the Department of the Army and suitable action was taken.

A proper housing office was established in Mineral Wells.

Col. Schiffman says this taught him a very important lesson—always go through proper channels!

The majority of Col. Schiffman's publications have been on military subjects. "Army ROTC", his most recent article, has been scheduled for the September issue of the MILITARY REVIEW. In 1952 Col. Schiffman wrote "Supplemental Instructions for National Guard and Organized Reserve Corps Units Entering Active Military Service" as assigned to him by the commanding general of the Fifth Army, where he was serving at the time.

"Technical Intelligence in the Pacific in World War II" appeared in the MILITARY REVIEW six years ago. At the time he submitted it, Col. Schiffman didn't think the article would be published since so much of intelligence is classified.

Perhaps the most extraordinary of all his publications is his essay "Japan, The Land of Fans." Col. Schiffman spent three years as a staff officer with GHQ, Far East Command, and while there studied and collected Japanese fans of all types. His collection, in fact, totals more than 700 fans, including a highly prized war fan over seven centuries old. On the basis of his hobby and study Col. Schiffman wrote his essay which contains historical data and description of the major types of Japanese fans.

Col. Schiffman is planning to submit an article to the MILITARY REVIEW on the Army participation in joint amphibious warfare under the tactical concepts of Atomic warfare.

Even while in college, at Montana State, Col. Schiffman published successfully. His articles on bacteriology and hospital sanitation were readily accepted by the editor of "National Hospital Forum."

Although Col. Schiffman is currently at Rocky Shoals, his regular assignment is as Sixth Army Chief, ROTC Branch, G3 Section.

Mid-East Crisis Background

Arab Unity Key Issue In Troubled Mid-East

(This is the first of two articles discussing the interacting forces of Nasser, Arab unity and communism in the Middle East).

Although rivalries from time to time develop among them, the Arab states have a strong underlying drive for unity. They feel they are one people, one race. They speak the same language—Arabic, and 95 per cent follow the same religion—Islam.

For many Arabs, Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser has become both the symbol of Arab nationalism (state self-government) and Arab unity.

President Nasser is ambitious to become the leader of the Arab world. He is bitterly hostile to Israel and has had sharp clashes with the West.

In 1955, unable to buy arms in the West, Nasser turned to the Soviet bloc and made a deal to trade future cotton crops for arms.

This deal caused the US and Great Britain in 1956 to withdraw their offer for a loan to help finance a high dam on the Nile, for it did not appear that Egypt would be able to pay for its share in the project.

In that same year Nasser won great prestige among the Arabs by insisting the British remove their troops from the Suez Canal Zone. His stock rose higher when, in July 1956, he nationalized the Suez Canal Co.

But Nasser's refusal to accept any form of international control of Canal operations, his arms build-up, the stepped-up commando raids from the Egyptian border into Israel, and the establishment of a unified army command with Syria so alarmed Israel that, late in 1956, Israel invaded Egypt. Great Britain and France, concerned for the safety of the canal, also attacked Egypt.

Communists Attempt Control by Subversion

(First of a six-part series on international communism.)

The word "subversion" has been bandied about quite a lot since the Soviet Union recuperated from the aftermath of WWII to become a world power.

Basically, subversion is of two types. In the narrow sense, it is an insidious attack on the institutions of the state from within. The broader subversive attack comes from outside influences and often uses diplomatic, economic and cultural weapons.

Communist subversion cannot be classified under either the broad or the narrow. Though it may seem so at the time, communist subversive acts are not primarily aimed at the institutions of a particular state. They are only means to an end.

Communist subversion is related to a universal philosophy of life. The communist believes it essential and inevitable that the present capitalistic system should be overthrown and replaced by a socialist world economic order.

In order to advance this order, the Communists have turned wholeheartedly to subversion—peaceful in some areas, tyrannical and violent in others.

Whatever suits the time or place, the Communists will try. They know, as do we, that two and two equals four. But if saying it equals five will aid the cause of world economic socialism, then for subversion purposes two and two equals five.

At present the Communists are concentrating on peaceful subversion because it looks to them as if it has more chance of success than the methods used to force their ideas down the throats of the Hungarians in 1956.

The danger is clear. Any country or group of people willing to tamper with the multiplication tables of truth to gain an end of any kind—whether through peaceful or aggressive acts—is much more than a mathematical threat.

what they said

Monday is Labor Day, traditionally the first Monday in September, set aside in honor of workers of our nation. A few decades ago, the average working day was as long as 12 or 14 hours. Today it is only eight hours. Yet there is talk of lowering the working day to a mere four to five hours. In honor of the forthcoming holiday, the Inquiring Reporter asked this timely QUESTION: Are you in favor of a five-hour working day?

THE ANSWERS

Mrs. Otis Mills, Army wife: Well, I believe it would depend on the amount of money we earned. Since we are all working for an income to support our families, none of us could afford lower incomes. I really don't see that a five-hour day would benefit anyone. I prefer it the way it is. Otherwise there might be too much leisure. I certainly would not have liked to work 14 hours a day, but then people used to do it. No. I really think an eight-hour working day is just about right.

Pfc. Art La Crosse, TDY, Rocky Shoals: I guess it'd be all right in a way. You'd get more time to do a lot of stuff that you're supposed to do, like recreation and business. Of course, if it was a hard job, you'd benefit from a shorter working day. But if it was an easy job, you'd just get lazy. I don't know about the money. Some people aren't getting enough now as it is, so if they had to work less, it would be pretty bad. But if you could cut down the amount of time and keep the same pay it would be okay.

Bob Clarke, Military Depend- ent: I don't believe there will ever be a five-hour working day. People would have too much spare time. And they wouldn't know what to do with it. But possibly they might find more to do because now more things are happening. The country is expanding so. It's easier to do things. Travel is getting cheap and easy. More things are within the realm of possibility for the ordinary working man. I suppose for kids it would be a good thing. Because that way, if the parents work less, they could spend more time at home with the family.

Sp5 Joseph Curry, Special Service Club: In my opinion, all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. So I'm definitely in favor of a five-hour working day. Like myself, I'm a family man, so I'm highly in favor of it. As long as the pay remains the same, if you work five hours and get paid for eight hours' worth, then I think it would be just fine. Like I said, for men with families who have to spend so much time away from them, it isn't a good thing. If we only had to work five hours, we could spend that much more time at home with our families.

Cincinnati, Ohio (ANS) — During the recent 1958 convention here of the 101st Airborne Division, the Commander, Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, attributed the lion's share of credit to American youth for making the "Screaming Eagles" one of the Army's finest outfits.

Now is the time for

Voters To Register

Registration for the State General Election to elect State officers and legislators and to vote on statewide propositions began on Tuesday 26 August and will close on 11 September.

In San Francisco election will be made to the offices of Assessor and Public Defender, and a member of the Board of Education will be nominated by the Mayor for confirmation by the voters. There will also be several municipal bond issues and charter amendments on the ballots.

New residents who have been residing in California since 4 November 1957 and in San Francisco since 6 August 1958 may register and vote in this election to be held 4 November.

Persons having moved within the city must also re-register in order to establish eligibility to vote in their new precinct. Citizens who will reach age 21 by election day may register now and vote at this election.

The nearest registration location to the Presidio is in the Marina District at Safeway Market, 2444 Lombard. The hours are from 0930 to 1730.

Wins New Grade
M/Sgt. M. R. Penoyer

740th AAA Soldier Wins First Super Grade This Area

A 36-year-old veteran of more than four years combat in two wars has been made first super-sergeant in the 740th AAA Missile Battalion.

He is M/Sgt. (E8) Melvin R. Penoyer, First Sergeant of C Battery at Sharp Park.

The Top Soldier enlisted in the Army three days after the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor and spent most of World War II in the European Theater.

After assignments after the war at Ft. Bliss, Tex.; Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Anchorage, Alaska; and in Operation MIKI, a mock invasion of the Hawaiian Islands, M/Sgt. Penoyer went to Korea in 1950 with the 2d Infantry Division.

A year later he was back in the States, but a year and a half later he made another trip to Europe, this time assigned to the 552d Gun Battalion in Germany. In 1956 he was reassigned to Ft. Polk, La., and in November of that year joined the 740th's B Battery here. On 1 May 1957 he took over as First Sergeant of C Battery.

M/Sgt. Penoyer and his wife, Betty Lou, now live in Pedro Valley.

The Army has made notable progress in areas leading to sounder and more efficient management, according to a recent report. "For example," the report says, "the use of electronic and other automatic data-processing systems for such activities as supply and financial accounting and personnel strength reporting has been substantially increased for the purpose of raising the efficiency of Army operations."

Senator Supports DOD Voting Drive For Armed Forces

Washington (AFPS)—Support for the Defense Department drive to establish Armed Forces Voters Week nationwide Sept. 15-22 has been written into the Congressional Record by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.).

Speaking from the Senate floor on Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy's move to spur servicemen to cast ballots, the ranking minority member of the Armed Services Committee called on all citizens and elected officials to encourage military families to vote in federal and state elections.

In backing the Defense voting program, Sen. Saltonstall said, "A democracy depends for its vitality—indeed its continued existence—on an enlightened and active electorate."

"Government serves only to represent the people but the people must express their choice; they must exercise their franchise or else government becomes master of all it surveys."

Urging the Armed Forces to heed the advice of the Secretary of Defense to vote this fall, the Congressional leader also suggested that parents and relatives everywhere encourage those in the service to vote.

Fulbright Prof. Will Teach On-Post Government Class

One of the courses offered in the on-post college series by San Francisco State College is Government 148, Parties and Elections. The class will begin on 15 September and will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays in Bldg. 1101 from 1830 to 2100.

Government 148 is an examination of the American political parties, their histories and their activities. Included will be an evaluation of the two party system, and a study of political machines and bosses, graft and corruption.

Voters' motivation and behavior, campaign techniques and the prediction of election results will also be studied. Throughout the course, emphasis will be placed upon the current campaign and the coming November election.

Warren M. Campbell, formerly on the teaching staff at Colgate University, will instruct the course. In 1952-53 he attended the University of London as a Fulbright Scholar. He received his M.A. from Stanford University where he is now working for his Ph.D.

Will Retire Today
Lt. Col. Vernie Slayter

30th Engineer Commander Ends 28 Years' Service

Lieutenant Colonel Vernie Slayter, finishing his second tour as Commander of the 30th Engineers, will retire this month after 28 years' service.

His successor will be Lt. Col. Richard M. Underwood, now Deputy Commander there and former Commander of the inactivated 660th Engineer Battalion.

Lt. Col. Slayter, who has been at the helm of the 30th Engineers since 6 January 1958, had been Executive Officer there since July 1957.

Previously, he had commanded the unit shortly after World War II.

Lt. Col. Slayter enlisted in the Army in 1930 and eight years later he was awarded a reserve commission as a second lieutenant, in which capacity he was called to active duty in 1940.

Twenty-three years of Lt. Col. Slayter's service have been outside the continental United States, almost all of it with various military mapping activities through the Pacific, Far East and Alaska Theaters. He was awarded the Bronze Star in 1945 while he was with the Engineers in Saipan during World War II.

Upon retirement, he expects to live with his family in near-by Terra Linda, Marin County.

The Army's new flexibility in the age of atomic weapons and guided missiles is not confined to combat tactics. Says DA Pam 360-1: "Management processes, too, must be equally pliable."

TOP DRIVER is Morton Zeman (l.), 50-year-old former Air Force master sergeant who has driven more than a quarter of a million miles for the Presidio Motor Pool, this week was named Driver of the Month for July and presented a Letter of Commendation by 2d Lt. Antonio S. Aguilar, Jr. (r.), Chief of the Motor Division. Mr. Zeman, who has been driving here since his retirement from the Air Force in 1947 from nearby Hamilton Air Force Base after more than 20 years' service, drives all kinds of vehicles at the Post Motor Pool.

Paar Will Be New Post Assistant ExO

New Assistant Executive Officer for the Presidio is Lt. Col. Edward G. Paar, 17-year Army veteran and World War II combat soldier.

He replaces Lt. James F. Young, who currently is on temporary duty with the Rocky Shoals joint maneuver staff.

Lt. Col. Paar came to the Presidio after serving since 2 March, 1957 in Korea, where he most recently was Chief, Plans and Policy Branch of the Armistice Affairs Division, United Nations Command (in Headquarters, UNC/U.S. Forces, Korea).

A 1930 graduate of St. Thomas Military Academy, St. Paul, Minn., where he also completed ROTC, Lt. Col. Paar entered active duty in May 1941 and served overseas during World War II (8 Nov. 42-14 Oct. 44) with the 3d Infantry Division in North Africa, Sicily, Italy and France.

For his wartime service, he was awarded the Combat Infantry Badge and Bronze Star for Meritorious Service.

He also earned the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant in 1942 while he was at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

From 1944 to 1946, Lt. Col. Paar was a company commander at the Infantry Replacement Training Center, Cp. Robinson, Ark., and then he transferred to Ft. Knox, Ky., where he served alternately as a company commander and battalion executive officer in the Replacement Training Center there. From September 1947 to May 1950, he was Operations and Training Staff Officer in the G3 Section, 3d Armored Division, also at Ft. Knox.

His next tour was in Europe,

Takes New Post
Lt. Col. E. G. Parr

where he was Assistant S3 and later S3 at Nurnberg Military Post (later, District), Germany, from 1 June 1950 until October 1953.

From 8 December 1953 to 27 February 1957, he was with the Wisconsin NGUS Advisory Group.

Lt. Col. Paar and his wife, Kathleen now live on Post with their two daughters, Diane, 4, and Susan, 20 months.

DA Needs Qualified Officers For FAS Study

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army continues to urge qualified officers to apply for duty under its Foreign Area Specialist Training Program.

Often referred to as FAST, the program which is outlined in AR 350-23, provides selected officers with essential foreign area training that enables them to meet anticipated national defense requirements.

These carefully picked officers will be trained to the highest practicable degree in culture, language, and physical aspects of the geographic area studied.

To be eligible for the program, officers must meet the following prerequisites:

- Be an American citizen and not have passed 37th birthday prior to beginning of training.

- Be in grade of major, captain, or first lieutenant, with a minimum of three years of troop duty and not have served more than 12 years of active duty.

- Must possess a bachelor's or advanced degree from an accredited college or university.

- Have a general service physical qualification.

- Have attained a qualifying score on the Army Language Aptitude Test in keeping with AR 611-82.

- Must—if a member of a Reserve component—have been accepted for extended active duty under the provisions of AR 135-215, or must submit a request as an inclosure to the application for this training.

Officers selected under this program must remain on active duty for not less than four years subsequent to the completion of the training.

Foreign area specialist training is usually conducted at post graduate level, stressing cultural environment and psychological characteristics of the people concerned.

Area courses include geography, historical and cultural background, regional and international relations, and the structure of the economic, political, and social institutions of the country. Complete foreign area training may extend to four years' duration, the Army said.

HARD SHOOTING 25th Infantry Division Pistol Team won the Challenge Trophy in competition against the Presidio, this week. Major William J. Jackson presents the award to team captain, Capt. Paul S. Bloxom. Other

Presidio Pistol Team Bows To 25th Shooters

Presidio pistolers bowed here this week to a sharpshooting 25th Infantry Division Pistol team from Hawaii in the fourth home-to-home match since the rivalry started in the fall of 1956.

In posting their third consecutive win, firers from the Tropic Lightning Division bested the local marksmen by 128 points with a 12,579 aggregate in the three-event meet.

Top Presidio scorer was M/Sgt. James F. Wade of Headquarters Company, Sixth U.S. Army Special Troops, but his aggregate of 2551 garnered him but third place in individual standing. M/Sgt. Wade was high man last time the two teams met in February.

Number One shooter of the day was the 25th Division's Capt. Thaddeus Sexton, with 2567, and runner-up was his teammate, Capt. Paul S. Bloxom, team captain.

Capt. Sexton took first place in two of the three matches—.22 Calibre Slow Fire and .45 Calibre Centerfire (Rapid). Capt. Bloxom was high in the remaining .38 or .45 Calibre Timed Fire.

The Hawaii pistolers also took high team aggregate in each event.

M/Sgt. Wade, only Presidian in the money, placed second in the .22 Calibre Slow Fire and .38 or .45 Calibre Timed Fire and finished third in other match.

Other local competitors were 1st Lt. Walter F. Norvell, U.S. Army Veterinary Food Inspection Detachment, team captain; Sp4 Lawrence H. Bentley, 30th Engineer Battalion; Sgt. Clarence G. Nail, Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison; and Sp3 Willie McCreary, 163d Military Police Company.

First PWC Bridge Luncheon Will Start On 18 September

The regular monthly bridge luncheons of the Presidio Woman's Club will commence with a bridge party on Thursday, 18 September, in the Fort Scott Officer's Club at 1230.

Transportation will be furnished from the Presidio bus stop to Fort Scott. Prizes will be awarded and score cards and tallies will be furnished. Fifty cent dues for cake and coffee is requested.

Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Harold Brown, extension 4376, or Mrs. Stuart Van Ostrand, BAYview 1-5836, no later than noon on 16 September.

Presidio Keymen Meet For UBAC Briefing

At a preliminary meeting held last Tuesday for Presidio keymen of the United Bay Area Crusade, Roy Stokes, Director of San Francisco County, told the volunteers that out of the $11,750,000 goal the designated share for military services will be $300,000.

The meeting opened with an address by Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander, who was introduced by Col. H. M. Brown, Campaign Chairman for the Presidio. Col. Rau stressed the importance of UBAC and told the keymen that one day's pay per person is the individual goal set.

"Aren't You Glad You Can Help" was the theme of the two films shown to give the volunteers an idea of the functions of UBAC.

The United Bay Area Crusade commences 22 September. This is the fourth year of its existence and it is the one big drive of its kind in the Bay Area. Five counties are involved in "one big give" and more than 250 social agencies depend upon this drive for their continued services. Within San Francisco itself more than 80 different agencies receive money from UBAC.

Mrs. Clarita Robinson, Military Coordinator for UBAC, said at the keymen meeting that UBAC is much more efficient and effective than many small separate campaigns. It eliminates duplication of efforts and is less expensive.

The Secretary-Treasurer of the Presidio Campaign, Major Charles Dong, discussed with the keymen the technicalities of soliciting funds at the volunteers' work units and explained the best and most expedient methods of returning the donations to UBAC headquarters.

Stinson Picnic Soon

A picnic at Stinson Beach will be held 14 September by the Presidio and Fort Scott Service Clubs. The group will leave the Presidio at 1030. Two meals will be served, $1.00 per adult and 50 cents per child. Upon returning, the picnickers can view a stage show at the Presidio Service Club beginning at 2015.

Retirements

close a career that began in 1943 when he entered Officers' Candidate School at Ft. Custer, Mich. A former police chief and expert marksman, Lt. Col. Brown lives in Berkeley with his wife, Viola, and plans to return to police work.

Lt. Col. McCombs, an Army nurse since 1936, plans to complete two semesters of graduate work at the University of California, Berkeley, and return to her home in North Carolina and teach. She graduated in 1935 from Philadelphia General Hospital School of Nursing, received a bachelor's degree in Nursing Education in 1949 from Columbia University and in 1953 was awarded a master's degree in Administration and Nursing Service from Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C. She has been at the Presidio since May 1957.

At the Presidio since 1955, 20-year-veteran Maj. Ivey expects to remain with the Army Signal Corps, but as a civilian employee. After two years enlisted service, Maj. Ivey was commissioned in 1940 and during World War II served in the Philippines with the 4025th Signal Service Group. After the war, he served in Japan; was Director of the Electronics Instruction Division at the Southeast Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Ga.; and was with Allied Land Forces, Central Europe (NATO).

M/Sgt. McKeon, a native of Paso Robles, Calif., who has been stationed here since 1955, will head for Mexico after his retirement to begin an extensive trip to that country. He enlisted in 1921, served a year, took an eight-year break in service and reenlisted in 1929. During World War II, he fought in China and Burma with the 10th Air Force. In Korea, he was Chief of the Eighth Army Photographic Laboratory.

Like To Help?

Calling all Volunteers! The Thrift Shop needs you! There are still vacancies in cashiering jobs from 1030 to 1530 and marking and writing slip jobs from 1100 to 1500. A few shorter hour jobs must also be filled.

The Thrift Shop supports the Youth Activities Program and provides an outlet for good, inexpensive used furniture and clothes. If you are interested in helping out this cause, telephone Mrs. Parsons at extension 3265. Incidentally, you are entitled to free use of the Nursery while helping in the shop.

There are two important Stars in the life of M/Sgt. Cozette D. McCoy, who became the first WAC to join the 30th Artillery Group (AD) Command when she reported to duty there last week.

In 1944 M/Sgt. McCoy, mother of three children, received the Battle Star in New Guinea. She received the Gold Star when the youngest of her children was killed on the USS Pledge during the Korean Conflict.

M/Sgt. McCoy was the first WAC stationed at Sendai, Japan. She has also served in the Philippines, in Japan, where she worked in the General Headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and she has just returned from Landstuhl, Germany, where she served with the

Although she is a native of Ohio and has been all over the country and served 74 months overseas, M/Sgt. McCoy calls Sacramento, Calif., where her daughter and two grandchildren live, home.

Recently Assigned

A former horse cavalryman who saw combat in World War II with mechanized "horses," Lt. Col. EBEN R. JONES, has been assigned to the Sixth U.S. Army G3 Plans Branch.

Before coming here, he was Staff Advisor to Vietnamese Field Division from July 1957 to July 1958.

Lt. Col. Jones, after his graduation from Virginia Military Institute (Class of '37), served on active duty a year with the old 3d Cavalry in Fort Meyer, Va., and 6th Cavalry, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., before leaving the Army in June 1938. He was a Machine Gun Platoon Leader.

Recalled to active service in December 1940, he went to Europe four years later with the 11th Cavalry Group (Mechanized) in the capacity of Group S3 and later S3 and Executive Officer of the 36th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron.

In January 1946, he was named an Instructor in the Tactics Department of the Cavalry (now, Ground General) School, Fort Riley, Kansas, and then, in August 1948, was in a reverse role as a student in the Infantry Officers' Advanced Course, Fort Benning, Ga.

His next assignment was in the S4 Section, Wurzburg Military Post, Germany (1949-1952).

After returning to the States, he completed jump school at Fort Benning, Ga., and then in October 1952 moved to Fort Campbell, Ky., to serve until June 1954 with the 188th Regiment, 11th Airborne Infantry Division.

Next assignment was as PMS&T at Gettysburg College, Pa., from July 1954 until he went to Viet Nam in 1957.

A 43-year-old native of Richmond, Va., Lt. Col. Jones now lives in San Francisco with his wife, Betty, and his four children, Sandra, 15; Stephen, 11; Kay, 9; and Christopher, 6.

Maj. CHARLES A. LONSFORD, highly decorated Korean War veteran and a first sergeant in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater in World War II, has been named Chief of the Presidio S4 Services and Supply Branch.

The 38-year-old winner of the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star and two Bronze Stars for valor in the early days of the Korean War, comes to the Presidio after duty in Germany since 1955.

During the last 13 months of his recent European tour, Maj. Lonsford was Senior Ground Liaison Officer of the 10th and 66th Tactical Reconnaissance Air Force Wings located at Spangbalhn and Sembach, respectively. The major was, however, assigned to 7th Army.

Serving with the 31st Infantry Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, Maj. Lonsford landed in Korea 19 September, 1950 during the Inchon Invasion. He earned a Bronze Star there and was awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster one month later.

In February 1951, he earned the Silver Star while leading a combat patrol near Pyongchang and in June the same year was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism" while Commander of Company B in the area of Sabanggari. Maj. Lonsford was cited for particularly leading a squad against a key enemy position and destroying it; he then later exposed himself to "withering" fire to cross an open area and carry a wounded man to safety.

Six years earlier, he was a first sergeant in the 35th Infantry Regiment, 25th Infantry Division, during the Pacific campaigns at the close of World War II.

He holds a Bronze Star for Meritorious Service for his service during this period.

Maj. Lonsford enlisted in the Army in 1937, worked his way to master sergeant, a grade he held nine years until he was called to active duty as an officer shortly after he went to Korea. He previously had been granted a Reserve commission in 1948.

After returning from Korea in 1952, Maj. Lonsford completed the Infantry Officers' Advanced Course at Fort Benning and then remained at that post for 39 months as Chief of the Scheduled Publications and Facilities Division, Operations Office, The Infantry School. He then transferred to Germany.

Maj. Lonsford also has been a marksman and an athlete of note during his Army career. Shortly after entering the service, and while stationed at Fort Warren, Wyo., he fired for a year on the automatic rifle team there and later won the 20th Infantry Regiment middleweight boxing crown and was post co-champion in that class. While in Germany in 1956, he was a member of the Nurnberg Military Post undefeated small bore rifle team; also, since in the Army, he has scored expert every year he has fired the carbine except one.

Maj. Lonsford now lives in Novato with his wife, Roberta, and their four children, James, 16; Kathleen, 15; Karen, 9; and Charles, 2. He expects to move to Corte Madera in the near future.

SPELLBOUND with interest, four little scholars listen to Cathy Wolaver (right) as she gives a report on one of the many books she has read on her "Trip to the Moon" this summer at the post library. Pam Brezer, Patty Brezer, Anne Matter and Susan Hahn (l. to r.) are thinking that their turn to report will come soon. And Mrs. Doreen Tinney, Library Assistant, enjoys it all thoroughly.

Library's Trip To Moon Hosted 75 Explorers

The Fort Scott library was filled with 39 shooting stars yesterday afternoon. There were even some people who had been to the moon.

These were all the little people who have been assiduously and delightedly taking part in the "Trip to the Moon" summer reading program at the Post and Fort Scott libraries.

Yesterday this program was culminated with a party (free green cheese for everyone) and prizes were awarded to the 75 children who had read and reported on 10 books. Those children who had read one book were given a certificate.

And those children who had read over 10 books were named shooting stars because they had flown way past the moon and just nothing except maybe the time for dinner call could bring them down to earth.

CG Will Address First Winter Meet Of Woman's Club

Guest Speaker at the official opening of the Presidio Woman's Club winter season, on Thursday 4 September, will be Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth Army.

Also on the program will be Miss Sylvia Roberts of the Patricia Stevens School for Models who will talk on "Charm in a Capsule."

Sponsors for the September luncheon are the Chemical and Provost Marshal Sections with Mrs. Vincente La Piana and Mrs. Harold A. Davenport heading the committee. And six lucky members will leave the luncheon with certificates for personal interviews at the Patricia Stevens Charm School.

Reservations for the 1230 luncheon may be made by telephoning Mrs. Lester Kuhr, extension 3319. The deadline is 1 September.

Veteran Sea Scoutmaster Will Form Local Branch

Attention all boys between 14 and 18 who hear the call of the sea!

A Sea Exploring Ship Number 77 is now being organized by M/Sgt. Marvin Hancock. Sea Explorer is a branch of the Boy Scouts of America and teaches boys how to sail, operate motor launches, navigate, and general seamanship. Any boy who is the son of military or civilian personnel at the Presidio is eligible to join.

Commanding a Sea Scout Ship is nothing new to Sgt. Hancock. He's been doing it for 15 years. Sgt. Hancock is in fact a qualified seafarer himself. He has a Coast Guard license which enables him to skipper anything up to a 63-foot motor launch. In addition he is a member of the United States Power Squadrons and has completed courses

Need Grey Ladies

In order for the Grey Lady service at the Presidio Dispensary to be successful this year, thirty volunteers are needed.

The first class in Grey Lady training will be given at the San Francisco Chapter of the American Red Cross, 1625 Van Ness Avenue on 15 September from 1000 to 1200. The second class will be held at the Presidio 12 September.

Those interested in this program should telephone Mrs. S. A. Potter, extension 5296.

Dinner Dance Set

The 13th of September is your chance to give your wives a treat. Take them to the informal dinner dance for the Officers and Warrant Officers assigned for the US Army Garrison. Cocktails will precede the party which will be held in the Portola Room from 1830 to 2000. The price of the dinner is $2.75 per person. Reservations must be made by 8 September.

Quote of the Week: Enemy propaganda cannot be eliminated. Its presence cannot be denied by any means because, as Benjamin Franklin remarked, "Without freedom of thought there can be no such thing as wisdom, and no such thing as public liberty without freedom of speech."

Lewis Warriors Rout Toreros 17-3

SAGE WORDS on the hows and whys of top marksmanship are given M/Sgt. Douglas Sheridan by youngest member of the "Shootin' Sheridans" 11-year-old Doug, Jr., while Roberta, his 17-year-old sister looks on. Both youngsters were recent award winners in Presidio Gun Club competition.

"Shootin' Sheridans"

Army Family Posts Top Score In Competitive Marksmanship

Here in the West where almost everything hinges on the fast draw, a new name—Sheridan—is being written into the annals of noted gun-slingers.

Only, this time it's a "square story" and not the brainchild of a bright production head or scenarist.

This "for real" story centers around the accomplishments and adventures of a local Army family which pundits here have dubbed the "Shootin' Sheridans."

What really focused the bright lights on the Presidio of San Francisco family of five were a series of firing honors recently heaped on three Sheridan shooters:

- Master Sergeant Douglas B. Sheridan became the 166th man since 1884 to wear the Army's Distinguished Marksmanship Badges for both pistol and rifle when he added the rifle medal to his store. He is one of 11 servicemen on active duty to hold the dual awards.
- One of the sergeant's two sons and his 17-year-old daughter this week were named the most improved boy and girl marksmen in the Presidio Gun Club's junior division and were presented gold trophy cups to attest to their skill by Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer and national marksmanship executive. They are Douglas, Jr., 11, who only began firing this past June, and his sister, Roberta—an enthusiastic competitor since 1952.

- A fourth Sheridan—18-year-old George—added to the "Shootin' Sheridans" laurels while on the Phoenix, Ariz., Union High School rifle team until he graduated last year. Now, he's getting target practice as an Army private with the 2d Battle Group, 3d Infantry, in Korea.

Master Sergeant Sheridan, an active booster of marksmanship for young and old, has chalked up an impressive score during his 22 years of soldiering. Topping the list is the record that won him the pair of Distinguished Marksmanship Badges:

- 21st in 1954 national pistol competition against more than 1,000 other experts.
- 4th in the 1955 all-Army pistol matches.
- 21st in the 1955 Sixth U.S. Army pistol matches.

- 7th in 1954 national rifle competition, again against more than 1,000 other experts.
- 18th in the 1954 all-Army rifle matches.
- 17th in the 1957 Sixth U.S. Army rifle matches.

This year, the 41-year-old sergeant has been hampered by eye trouble and unable to fire; but, as Presidio range NCO and NCOIC of the post's rifle and pistol teams, he coached the local marksmen to 99 medals in Western matches and 18 berths on the Sixth U.S. Army rifle and pistol teams.

Because he believes "today's kids will win tomorrow's medals and need to understand and respect firearms," M/Sgt. Sheridan spends most of his spare time grooming youngsters for competitive firing and teaching them gun safety.

He and another Presidian, M/Sgt. John D. Vekich, have been largely responsible for boosting the local Gun Club's junior group from 27 to 173 active members since it was started in 1955.

George and Roberta first started firing in 1952 when M/Sgt. Sheridan was stationed in Alaska; but, the younger Douglas seemed to shy away from guns until this summer. Now, with one trophy on the shelf, Douglas is expected to get the "bug" and follow in the rest of the family's footsteps.

The sergeant's wife, Georgia, only "Shootin' Sheridan" without a gun, says, "I'm pretty good with pots and pans, though. Anyway, I may have to take up shooting just to be sure I still have a family."

Of men and tall tales Or, None Got Away

Got a morale problem? Men tired, out of sorts? Well, take a leaf from the notebook of Capt. Jack McGurk, Btry. Commander of Btry. A, 740th AAA Msl. Bn., who believes that "all Nike and no fishing make his missilemen very dull boys."

So, when his men showed up sharp, tall (and a little tired) for a recent Saturday inspection McGurk decided they needed a fishing trip.

Hardly were the words out of his mouth, when forty eager volunteers stepped forward for a tour of the briny. Having more than a quorum, the Captain had to plan his trip in two sections.

The first group got under way in the bright and early and before you could say ARADCOM thirty times, were back with more than 200 pounds of ling and rock cod.

Not to be outdone, the second group, using the same battle plan, attacked on the following day. Results, another 200 plus pounds of the same finny denizens.

Top individual in the rousing two-day contest was 1st Sgt. McClellan with 18 fish, including a 36-inch ling cod.

Fish were divided up among the married men who then hosted the single men to a homecooked fish dinner.

Now the only thing left is a tasty memory and forty of the biggest fish stories this side of Texas.

Fencing Meet Set

The Italian national fencing team will display its skill against American and Hungarian champions next Wednesday in the Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel at 2000.

The program, sponsored by the Italian Federation of California, Inc., will include competition in foil, sabre, and epee.

The Italian team is currently competing in the World Fencing Championships in Philadelphia.

Errors Hurt Sawyer; Stock Shuts Out Ord

Fort Lewis' Warriors zeroed in on Torero pitcher Roger Sawyer and blasted out a 17-3 victory over the Presidio in the second night of play in the Sixth U.S. Army Baseball Tournament at Fort Lewis.

Although Lewis pitcher Shaw gave up home run balls to Terry Maddox, Charlie Gritts and John De Souza, he managed to handcuff the Toreros for most of the distance. Of course, eight Torero errors gave some aid to his performance.

Lewis was a strong pre-tourney favorite to cop the title. They were runnersup last year and have seven veterans on this year's squad.

A blazing pitchers' duel highlighted the opening game between the Toreros and Ft. Ord on Monday.

For five innings Presidio's Wes Stock and Ord's Don Eason ploughed through batters like a mow at haying time. Then in the sixth, Ord's center fielder made a three base miscue and a clean single by Terry Maddox opened the can. After that, it was "katy bar the door" as the Toreros bunched two singles and a double in the eighth for a 2-0 victory.

In shutting out the Ord nine, Stock struck out 17 and held the southern division champions to a single hit. Presidio garnered two runs on six hits and miscued only once. Eason struck out 12.

Kops Cop Summer League Bowling Championship Play

The Keystone Kops wrapped up the championship in Summer bowling league play with a split this week and a record of 40 wins, 16 losses.

Johnson, who rolled a 581-221 for the Kops against the 602-202 of Opozda for the Shafers, in final matches, holds the high individual series this season with 651. He also tied with Lansing at 236 for high individual game honors.

In other games played the 60th CI Det., finishing in third place, racked up a 4-0 win over the seventh place S.F.A.A.D.S. High man for the winners was Walker, 539-212, while the best losers could muster was the 452-162 of Horn.

Lundahl, 574-205, led the sixth place Islanders to 4-0 win over the fourth place Toros, whose top keglar was Reinders, with 499-202.

Cellar dwelling Hq. Co. Sixth Army gave up three games to the fifth place King Pins despite the 572-219 rolled by Wilmoth. Andresen was high for the Pins with 569-220.

Winter League play is expected to start on 8 Sept. at both the Presidio and Ft. Scott alleys.

Neider Back In SF; Will Miss Brussels Games; Ernie Goes

Presidio shot-put ace, 2d Lt. Bill Neider of U.S. Army Garrison Headquarters Company will miss out in the international military sports tourney this week end at the Brussels World's Fair.

The stocky 6 foot 3 inch former Kansas star returned to San Francisco this week because of a death in his family. He said he would not return to Europe for the games.

The other half of the Presidio's tiny team, Sp4 Ernie Shelton of XV Corps will compete tomorrow in high jumping and may also vie in other events. The versatile former UCLA track mainstay also is a javelin and discus specialist.

Hq. Team Retains Pac. League Lead; Wilmoth Hits 548

Hqs. Company Sixth Army No. 3 held their lead over the pack by taking four games from the Retorts. Wilmoth led Hqs. Co. with 548-187.

LeClair was high man for the Retorts, 433-170. The Comptrollers kept pace by beating Hqs. Co. 6th Army No. 2, four games to zero.

Alban rolled 518-193 for the winners. Stable got 515-196 for the losers.

The Regioners eked out a three to one win over the AAA Sparks. Ploen was high man for the Regioners with 479-180, while Avery rolled 460-155 for the Sparks.

The Mail Maulers took four games from the Honor Guard who forfeited. Stephens rolled 447-182 for the Maulers.

XV Corps Braves Are Pony League Champs

Fast action in a double header Saturday and a meeting Tuesday between the Sixth Army Pirates and the 30th Artillery Group Tigers wrapped up Presidio Pony League play with the XV Corps Braves emerging champions.

Tom Mlakar pitched the topnotch Braves to a 5-0 win over the Pirates in the first game of the day Saturday. Ken Higdon was on the mound for the losers.

Second game play saw John Walker belt a smashing homer with two on base and help the Presidio Dodgers gain a 7-3 win over the Tigers. Hurlers were Mike Haulsey for the victors and Joe Croteau for the losers.

Thursday's match between the Dodgers and the Pirates ended in a 7-7 split and a rematch will be played tomorrow.

Ken Diamond hurled the Braves into a 4-0 gain over the Tigers last Tuesday, with Mike Foley in the pitcher's box for the Tigers.

Army Golfers Take Interservice Title From Air Force

Army golfers Sunday wrapped up the 1958 Interservice Golf title with a fourth day repeat of the low-stroking which had kept them in the lead since the end of the second day of play.

Final team and individual scores of the final 18 holes were not available at press time; but the eight-man Army team is believed to have been sparked by 1956 Western amateur champion and member of the 1957 Walker Cup team, Ft. Chaffee's Sp4 Mason Rudolph.

At the end of 54 holes in the 72-hole tourney, Sp4 Rudolph had covered the Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., course with 209 strokes.

Other members of the championship team are Sp4 Orville Moody, Fitzsimons Army Hospital; Sp4 Joseph Turner, Ft. Knox; Pfc. Earl Jackson, Ft. Eustis; Pfc. Ralph Haddad, Fifth Army Headquarters; Lt. Col. Henry B. Glaister, USAREUR; Maj. Gen. John F. Dohlander, Fitzsimons Army Hospital; and Col. Clinton S. Lyter, Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Deadly Weapon

Perhaps the most remarkable sport in the civilized world is archery, partly because of its antiquity, but chiefly because this form of modern diversion was once used to kill more persons in warfare than ever have died as a result of explosive weapons.

Sample In Doubles Win; Army Takes Leech Cup Again

Tennis champ Capt. Frank W. Sample, Presidio stalwart on the Army's six-man squad which won the Interservice Leech Cup last Friday in Arlington, Va., was one half of the soldier's team which copped the doubles championship on the last day of play.

Capt. Sample has now headed for Forest Hills, N.Y., to vie in the National Open Tennis matches there.

At press time, no word had been received on how Capt. Sample fared in singles competition during the Leech Cup play. Neither was his partner in the doubles competition named.

This year's victory at Arlington's swank Army-Navy Club was the third in a row for the Army. The Leech Cup is the military's equivalent to the Davis Cup.

Since the trophy was established in 1924, the Navy has won it 10 times; the Army, 7; the Air Force, 2. The Marine Corps, which first competed for it in 1955, has yet to register a win.

Local Game Laws Apply To Military Reservations

Hunting, fishing and trapping on military reservations now are controlled by the fish and game laws of the states or territories in which the reservations are located, according to a Defense Department announcement.

In implementing the provisions of Public Law 85-337 enacted by the 85th Congress, the Secretary of Defense has issued a directive which spells out the policy governing the management, conservation and harvesting of fish and game resources on all military reservations containing land or water areas suitable for these activities.

The directive provides for punishing violators of state fish and game laws and also reserves the existing rights granted to Indian tribes and their members.

Close cooperation between military commanders and state and local authorities is the keynote of the directive. To initiate action along this line, the Defense Secretary is sending letters to the governors of states and territories.

In the letters the Secretary offers to enter into cooperative agreements with the states or territories whereby conservation officials designated by each governor may have access to military reservations within their respective areas. Game officials would then assist the local commanders in effectively managing fish and game resources.

Military personnel are urged to cooperate fully with state and local conservation authorities in order to maintain harmonious community relationships.

Pan-Am Executives Meet On Game Site; Equestrians Vie Soon

A three day session was opened by the Pan-American Sports Organization executive committee this week in Chicago, the site of the Olympics, to discuss rules and select officials for the event.

Wednesday a four day test started in Colorado to determine which equestrians will compete, not only for the Pan-American games, but also for the 1960 Olympics.

Field Narrows In 30th Arty Softball Tourney

The 30th Artillery Group Softball Tournament championship will be decided this afternoon when the 436th AAA Missile Battalion tangles with the winner of yesterday's game between the 740th AAA Missile Battalion and the 441st AAA Missile Battalion.

The winning team in this tourney will represent the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command in the 6th Region Championship to be played soon.

Following an early 3-2 loss to the 436th, the 740th bounced back Wednesday to gain a 6-2 win over the 9th AAA Missile Battalion and eliminate them from competition.

Two runs came for the 740th in the second and three in the sixth, one of which was a round tripper by left fielder Savis, who belted one deep between left and center field. The other two runs were credited to big stick Willie Willingham.

A final run for the 740th came in the seventh when Willingham came to bat again and sent a long homer into deep right field with none on base.

Heavy hitter for the 9th was Jones, who made a round trip in the fifth. The only other run for the losers came in the first inning.

In an earlier match between the 740th and the 436th, the 740th dropped a close one by a score of 3-2.

At the top of the first, with Mills behind the plate, Knowland kept the 740th from doing anything, and it was three up, three down.

As the 436th took their turn at bat, first baseman Phillips tied into one of pitcher Goff's balls and made a rolling homer down the third base line, to give his team a one point lead.

Going into the second, Furnish gave the 740th two runs when he belted a smashing home run between center and right with one man on.

Not to be outdone, the 436th got their tying run in the bottom of the second on an overthrow to home from center field.

Goff pitched his way out of a one out, bases loaded situation in the fourth and a man on second and third spot with one out in the fifth to hold both teams scoreless until the bottom of the sixth, when Roback, for the 436th, singled, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and slid home on a short hit by the shortstop to score the winning run.

In other games, the 436th defeated the 9th, 5-3, and Hq. Co., 30th Artillery Group was eliminated when they lost, 10-4, to the 441st.

Seek Entries Here For DA Selection Of Pan-Am Stars

There is still time to send in names of top Presidio athletes interested in competing in the Department of the Army elimination tournament to determine eligibles for the 1959 Pan American Olympics.

Classes in the male only category will include baseball, boxing, cycling, equestrian, fencing, gymnastics, modern pentathlon, rowing, shooting, water polo, weight lifting and wrestling.

Classes open to both male and female include basketball, track and field, swimming and diving, tennis, volleyball and synchronized swimming for women only.

Interested personnel should call the Presidio Sports Office, Bldg. 122, Ext. 2282.

Meet Female Sports Flash Who Stars In Every Effort

Ask any member of the Presidio WAC's championship softball team what the key factor was in their successful drive for the Interservice Softball title, and more than likely they'll say—"Why, Irma, of course!"

Ask Sp2 Irma Collins, a machine accountant in MRU, the same question and she would name every woman on the team but herself.

Fact is, Irma, an all-around gal star with a heart of modest gold, not only pitched and won the last six league games for the Toreras, but played a heavy role in the batting department, belting a home run in one of the crucial league contests.

A top flight high school athlete in her home state of Michigan, Irma excelled early in basketball and softball, playing almost every position in the game. Since joining the Army in 1951, she served a stint as a hard-hitting left fielder for the Army-Air Force League in Sandlofen, Germany.

Another Collins forte, picked up in the Army, is bowling. She garnered the First Army singles bowling championship in 1958 and set an individual high series record at Fort Jay with a 537 score. She plans to join a new WAC bowling team now in the planning stage.

As for other sports, well, Irma says she can "take 'em or leave 'em." However, she does have one other very serious interest—opera.

So look out all you coloraturas, sopranos, mezzo and otherwise, Irma Collins might decide to become a singer and if her success at sports is any criterion—think of the money she could save some poor producer by singing every part in the show.

Tarrant to Retire

Brigadier General Legare K. Tarrant, 6th ARADCOM Commander from August 1956 to February 1957 and then for the next six months Deputy Commander of Sixth US Army, will retire this month after 30 years service. Since leaving the Presidio, he has commanded the 1st ARADCOM, New York.

Reporting that the Army has adopted the best techniques which the civilian business and industrial community has to offer and has done much to establish better procedures in those activities which are peculiar to military operations, a Department of the Army pamphlet points out that "continued progress in the field of management will insure that we get the maximum in protection for every dollar we spend."

PRECISION BEAUTIES are the Navy's Blue Angels. Said to be the only team that lands in four-plane formation, they are slated to display their flying repertoire at the Oakland Air Fair over the Labor Day weekend. Admission is free and gates open at 1000 daily.

May Your Labor Day Be Safe And Sane

Colonel Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, has urged soldiers and civilians here to follow the example set last Labor Day of no accidents by Presidians and "keep the record straight for '58."

In a letter to local unit commanders and section chiefs, admonishing them to encourage moderate off-duty recreational activities among their personnel in an effort to keep the last three-day holiday of Summer accident free, outlined 13 key safety suggestions:

- Be sure your vehicle is in safe operating condition before you start.
- Allow plenty of time for your trip. Consider traffic congestion.
- Make courtesy your code of the road.
- Take regular breaks; get out and stretch; do not drive if fatigued.
- Obey traffic laws and regulatory signs. They protect you and your family.
- Keep alert; avoid the imprudent driver.
- Adjust your speed to traffic conditions. Avoid "tailgating."
- Remember that driving is a full time job.
- Swim only in safeguarded areas.
- Do not enter water until at least two hours after meals.
- Never swim alone. Use the "Buddy System."
- When in canoes and other small craft, and while water skiing, wear your life belt.

- Avoid dangerous areas and take a buddy along.

New EM Evaluation System Key Factor For Promotions

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Detailed instructions for preparing commander's reports on soldiers under the Army's modern Enlisted Evaluation System (EES) will be announced soon.

The purpose of the new EES is to improve military personnel management by an objective evaluation of individual proficiency in military occupational specialties.

Earlier the Army said the "Commanders Evaluation Report," to be made on each individual taking MOS proficiency tests, will be a prime factor in the new rating system.

Instructions will carry line-by-line directions for filling out the reports, to insure equitable enlisted personnel ratings service-wide.

Army Will Welcome Japanese Fleet, Top Newsmen On Visit

Ten Japanese newspaper correspondents will visit the Presidio next month when six Japanese Maritime Self-Defense Force ships steam into San Francisco on the last leg of visits to ports on the West Coast of the United States and Canada.

The vessels, commanded by Vice Adm. Hidemi Yoshida and with a complement of 1,250 officers and men, are scheduled to dock here 12 September. They are expected to leave four days later.

Before docking at Seattle, two of the ships will sail to Vancouver and Esquimalt, Canada, while the remaining four will visit Tacoma and Bremerton.

Coordinating the visits of the newspapermen will be Capt. Edward P. Endres, Chief of Sixth Army Information Section's Community Relations Division. Through the cooperation of appropriate military officials, he will arrange tours for the newspapermen to Army, Navy and Air Force installations and other areas of interest in San Francisco.

Picnic Revisited

"Picnic" which was performed at the Presidio last week is being taken by the Special Services, Entertainment Division, to the California Veterans Home at Yountville where a single performance will be given on Wednesday.

Army Planes Featured In Oakland Air Show

Army aircraft from the Presidio are slated to play a key role in the annual Air Fair at the Oakland International Airport on Sunday and Monday.

Five planes from the Sixth Army Aviation detachment and one from the Sixth ARADCOM unit are scheduled to give short field landings and take-off exhibitions over ribbon barriers. Planes include L23s, L20, H21, H19 and an H23.

One of the biggest air shows in the nation, the event is sponsored by the Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Port of Oakland and NAS Oakland. Admission is free and gates open promptly at 1000 each day.

The tightly packed five hour show will feature the fastest aircraft presently flown by the military in both static displays and in the air. It will feature the thrilling demonstration of the Blue Angels flying supersonic F11F-1 Grumman tiger jets in formation, with wing tips often less than five feet apart. Their performance is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

The Air Force will show the capabilities of the record breaking F104, F102 and F89 in flybys. There will be an altitude drag race between a T33 and F104 against Hap Harper in a P51. The gigantic B52 jet bomber of the Strategic Air Command will fly over the field.

Timed to the minute the show will open promptly at 12:30 p.m. with a parachute jumping demonstration by three members of the California Parachute Club. Deke Sonnichsen, who recently competed in the international parachute jumping competition in Yugoslavia, will star in the jumps.

After the parachute jumps the 1958 Air Fair Queen, Irene Steinberg and her attendants will arrive for the introduction of important dignitaries. Pat Bradley and Rita Rasmussen are the attendants.

The celebrated blimp of the naval air reserves will fly over followed by Weekend Warriors in F2H Banshee jets, S2F anti-submarine planes and a P2V Neptune patrol bomber.

ComFair Alameda will exhibit flybys in four divisions and two sections. Aircraft flown will include some of the Navy's fastest, including the F8U Crusader, F11F Tiger, F3H Demon, A4D Skyhawk, FJ4 Fury and the F9F8T Cougar. There will be an in-flight refueling by two Furies, and a loft bombing exhibition with over-the-shoulder bomb delivery as well as a simulated carrier landing.

The Air National Guard will demonstrate a parachute drop and the Coast Guard will feature a helicopter pulling a haul truck. Civilian acrobatic performances will be scheduled.

The public may inspect, at close range static displays consisting of much of the military aircraft seen in the air as well as commercial and civilian planes. Special sections will be roped off with admission by a camera only. There will be a "kid-proof" jet where photography enthusiasts may "shoot Junior" in a jet.

Youth Activities To Sponsor Ballet Study Group Here

As a part of the Youth Activities Program, ballet classes will be held after school hours on Wednesday each week during the school term beginning Wednesday 10 September at the Fort Scott Annex of the Presidio Officers Open Mess.

Two beginning classes are available for ages 6 through 8 and 9 through 14. One class of advanced ballet for girls 9 and over is also offered.

The classes, limited to 16 each, will be taught by Miss Roberta Myer, a teacher at the San Francisco Ballet School and Miss Burke's Private School. The 12 one-hour lessons will cost $18.

For further information telephone Mrs. Bivens ext. 3419, Mrs. Irey ext. 5201, or Mrs. Enmeier ext. 2511.

Chabot Nikemen Put Hobbies To Work On A Brighter Site

A lesson on how to use free time constructively and avoid ennui can be learned from the missilemen over at the Lake Chabot Nike site.

Through their combined efforts they have built a 14 by 50 foot shop with a concrete floor, large windows, direct and indirect lighting, a photo dark room, a woodworking section and an electronics shop.

These men of Battery A, 441st AAA Missile Battalion, seem to be unidirectional. Like bus drivers who spend their holidays driving, these missile men spend their off-duty time building miniature missiles.

One of the fellows, Pfc. Ronald Eberhard, constructed a handmade, miniature arsenal of defense weapons, including scale models of Nike Hercules, Nike Ajax, Honest John, the Dart, Little John and a 280 mm. atomic cannon.

But some of the men prefer to take advantage of the other facilities. Pfc. Rodney D. Gieber uses the photo dark room of the crafts shop, and Capt. Thomas B. Dodgen, commander of Battery A, has begun work on a full sized fishing boat.

Pfc. Eberhard at Work

Department of the Army announced on 29 August that all active U.S. Army Anti-Aircraft Artillery units have now been redesignated as elements of 24 of the parent Artillery Regiments selected for retention under the Combat Arms Regimental System.

Luncheon Here Hosts Top UBAC Representatives

Final "operation plans for the military services' assault on their $300,000 goal in the 1958 United Bay Area Crusade campaign have been completed," Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army commander and chairman of the UBAC military committee, informed leaders of UBAC at a luncheon held at the Officers Mess on Wednesday.

General Palmer praised the enthusiastic support of his fellow service commanders in planning a well organized campaign. He said that the military services were ready to take on the campaign and expressed confidence that they would meet the goal which they had established.

Today at 1330 at Bldg. 38, Rm. 112, General Palmer will hold his final meeting with his Army installation commanders prior to the start of the campaign.

Among those present at the luncheon were:

Samuel B. Stewart, Chairman of the Board, UBAC.
Norris Nash, President, UBAC.
William W. Davison, General Campaign Chairman, UBAC.
John N. Rosekrans, San Francisco County Campaign Vice Chairman.
Howard A. Stuckey, Alameda County Campaign Vice-Chairman.
Brig. Gen. R. E. Mittelstaedt (Ret.), Marin County Campaign Chairman.
Jack Mullen, Contra Costa County Campaign Chairman.
H. Bennet Berwick, San Mateo County Campaign Chairman.
Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, Commanding General, Department of the Pacific, Marine Corps.
Rear Admiral R. E. Wood, Commander, Western Area and Twelfth Coast Guard District.
Col. Robert F. Fulton, Chief of Staff, Fourth Air Force.
Capt. John B. Gragg, Navy Planning Comm. Representative.

New USLI Clause Open

Washington, (ANS)—More than 5,000,000 World War II and Korean War veterans holding "GI" life insurance may now attach a new type of total disability income provision to their policies in return for a small additional premium cost, the Veterans Administration has announced. Information about this provision is available to USLI policyholders at any VA office.

RFAers Eligible For Early Outs To Attend School

Good news for many of Sixth U.S. Army's 5,700 six-month soldiers — RFA's from the Army Reserve and National Guard can now be released from active service as much as 15 days early in order to enter college at the beginning of a term.

In announcing the policy, Department of the Army said that Reservists and Guardsmen who wish to take advantage of this program must submit to the area commander (here: Commanding General, Sixth Army) certificates of acceptance from the accredited colleges or universities they wish to attend.

A spokesman for Sixth Army said that this program may have stemmed from a request from this and other headquarters for such a plan. Tentatively, after the local request was made, certain EM were released on an individual basis until the recently-announced plan was finalized and publicized.

Army Green Ruled Out For Hot Climes O'seas

Washington (AFPS) — Soldiers serving in overseas areas where summer uniforms are worn year 'round will not be required to buy Army Greens by next 1 October, the Army has announced.

The new policy is an exception to the directive requiring all enlisted men to own at least one Army Green uniform this fall.

The Army said men on duty at foreign stations in mild climates will not have to purchase the new Greens until reassigned to posts where winter clothing is required, or by 1 Oct., 1960, whichever is earlier.

The exception also applies to those assigned to duties overseas where only civilian clothing is authorized.

Top Reserve Officers Win Star Promotions

The top two commanders of the local 91st Infantry Division (Reserve) each gained a star at double promotion ceremonies last Friday at Division Headquarters here on the Presidio.

Now wearing two stars is Maj. Gen. Stuart DeJong Menist, 44, World War II combat infantryman in the Pacific who has commanded the 91st since 16 January 1957.

His Assistant Division Commander, Brig. Gen. Richard H. Neddersen, also received his first star.

During informal ceremonies here, Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze, Jr., Sixth Army Deputy Commanding General for Reserve Forces, pinned the additional star on the shoulder of Maj. Gen. Menist and the 91st Commander in turn pinned the first star on Brig. Gen. Neddersen.

Maj. Gen. Menist, a 1934 graduate of the University of California (B.S. in Economics), was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Reserve. Called to active duty at the outbreak of World War II, he served in the Pacific Theater from 1941-46, seeing action in the Marianas, Ryukyus and Korea.

Having attained the rank of colonel, he returned to Reserve status after the war and was assigned to the 91st as a regimental commander. In May 1949, he became Division Chief of Staff and subsequently (1951) Deputy Commander before taking over in early 1957.

In civilian life, Maj. Gen. Menist is Resident Vice-President of the Western Division of the Fireman's Fund Insurance Group and Manager of its Pacific Department in San Francisco.

Brig. Gen. Neddersen, who has been Assistant Division Commander since April 1957, previously served in the Division after World War II as Commander of the 363rd Infantry Regiment.

He was initially commissioned after completing ROTC at University of California in 1936 and called to active duty under the Thomason Act in 1937.

After a year break in service to join the University of California staff, he was recalled in 1940 and later served with the 3d Infantry Division in North Africa, Sicily, Italy and France.

He holds the Silver Star, Bronze Star for Valor, French Croix de Guerre and Fourragere and Italian Medal.

Brig. Gen. Neddersen's civilian occupation is Assistant to the Vice-President in charge of Business Affairs, Berkeley campus of the University of California.

900,000 Minimum

New York, N. Y. (ANS)—The "Veterans of Foreign Wars" recommended at its National Convention here that the U. S. Army be maintained at not less than 900,000 men and that the air transport capability of the Armed Forces be increased to allow rapid transport of two Army STRAC divisions to a troubled area.

SP Wins Another Award

The Star Presidian last Saturday was presented a Certificate of Merit at the California State Fair during an awards banquet on Press-TV Day there.

At Sacramento to receive the honor from Gov. Goodwin J. Knight were Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Executive Officer, and Kenneth S. Erwin, Editor.

The specific award was for State weekly newspapers' best of series category in which the Star Presidian "Liberty's Legacies" series was considered. The series previously earned this newspaper a 1957 Freedoms Foundation Gold Medal.

recently assigned

New Chief of the Sixth Army G3 Special Projects Branch is Lt. Col. HELMUT K. SCHMID, who for the past three years had been Chief of the Operations and Training Branch, MAAG-Germany, in Bonn.

This is the second tour at the Presidio for Lt. Col. Schmid. The 41-year-old veteran of more than 18 years' service previously was here from 1946 to 1950 as Chief of Sixth Army G3 ROTC Branch.

Lt. Col. Schmid, who first entered the service in 1939, had a year break in service and reentered on active duty in November 1940, served with Headquarters, China-India-Burma Command during World War II from May 1943 to January 1946.

After his tour here, he went to Okinawa in 1950 and during the next two and a half years served with the 29th Infantry Regiment as a battalion commander, Regimental Executive Officer and Regimental Commander.

Lt. Col. Schmid then served at CONARC Headquarters under the Chief of Combat Developments until he was transferred to Germany in September 1955.

He and his wife, Patricia, now live in Fairfax with their two sons, Erich, 11, and Karl, 10.

For five years, Maj. REX O. WHITE has tried to wangle an assignment to the Presidio; and just recently, he made it when he was named Training Officer in the Sixth U.S. Army Signal Plans and Operations Branch.

"I had to get back to California. I spent nine months (June 1952-April 1953) at Camp San Luis Obispo as Commandant of the Signal Leadership School and my family couldn't be there with me. Ever since then, they've been after me to get stationed in California."

Now that the 15-year Army veteran is on the West Coast, only his wife, Virginia, and two of their four children are with him.

His 19-year-old twin daughters, Rexine and Jeannine, are both in Georgia—Rexine as a nursing trainee in Columbus and Jeannine as Mrs. Odell Daniels, Jr., wife of an Air Force airman second class who is stationed in Albany.

Patricia, 12, and Deborah, 7, live in Novato with Maj. and Mrs. White.

Formerly a Radio Engineer with Station WSGN in Birmingham, Ala., Maj. White was commissioned on 23 April, 1943, and after initial training served at Camp Crowder, Mo., from November 1943 until June 1946 with the 847th Signal Training Battalion.

For the next two years, he was Training Aids Officer at the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kans. In 1954, incidentally, he returned to the school as a student for 17 weeks.

In July 1948, Maj. White started a 44-month tour in Japan during which he was, except for five months, Director of Instruction at the Signal School, first located at the Kieo University site near Tokyo and then at Eta Jima. The period he was not with the school was early in the Korean War when the school was closed. He then served in the G3 Operations Branch, 8th Army Headquarters, Yokohama, before returning to Eta Jima.

In April 1953, Maj. White was reassigned to Fort Riley, Kans., as Post Signal Officer. Fifteen months later, he joined the 10th Infantry Division at Fort Riley as Assistant Division Signal Officer and gyroscoped with the Division to Germany in June 1955. He returned to Fort Benning, Ga., with the Division when it was replaced in May this year by the 3d Infantry Division.

He came to the Presidio after serving approximately two months at Fort Benning.

Maj. White holds the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his service in Japan.

Tokyo Bay — Sergeant John Pack of the Resident Inspection Branch, U.S. Army Ordnance Depot at Oppama, an expert swimmer, swam through the rough waters and strong currents of Tokyo Bay, Sunday, to single-handedly rescue an unidentified Japanese youth whose boat had capsized 250 yards from shore. Meanwhile, the combined efforts of two other swimmers were necessary to save a second Japanese passenger of the ill-fated small craft. Sergeant Pack learned to swim in a pool in Seattle, Wash., his home town, and his swimming teacher was Johnny Weismueller, the "Tarzan" of the movies.

Fort Chaffee, Ark. — Lieutenant Clyde D. Dollar (Chief of the Officer Division of the Military Personnel Transfer Station here, and amateur archaeologist) was instrumental this week in the discovery of a prehistoric house and other valuable archaeological relics. He was a member of a University of Arkansas sponsored expedition to the Heber Springs area, 55 miles north of Little Rock. Besides the ancient dwelling, members of the group found four burial skeletons and various tools and other artifacts believed to be two to four thousand years old.

Mid-East Crisis Background

Nasser's Power Drive Aided by Canal Crisis

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

(This is the second of two articles discussing the interacting forces of Nasser, Arab unity and Communism in the Middle East.)

When, late in 1956, Israel, Britain and France invaded Egypt, the U.S. took the lead in getting quick action by the United Nations General Assembly to prevent the war from spreading.

A cease-fire and withdrawal of invading forces was accomplished and a UN Emergency Force (UNEF) was moved into Egypt to maintain the cease-fire.

Despite the UN action, the Israeli-British-French attack on Egypt fired the flames of Arab nationalism and made Nasser even more of a hero to his people.

The attack also increased Nasser's hostility to the West, even though the U.S. took the lead in ending the fighting. The Soviet Union proclaimed its support of Nasser and (before the fighting ended) even hinted it was willing to send "volunteers" to help him repel the invaders.

Meanwhile, in Syria, a coup by pro-Soviet elements in the Army set up a government sympathetic to Russia. Syria also began buying arms from Communist countries and made agreements with the U.S.S.R. for trade and economic aid.

Then, suddenly, Syria joined Egypt to form the United Arab Republic (U.A.R.), and many of the Syrian pro-Soviet elements were removed from positions of power.

After the union, broadcasts from Cairo and Damascus grew increasingly hostile to the pro-West governments of Iraq and Lebanon. U.A.R. agents in these countries, as well as the broadcasts, urged Lebanese and Iraqis to overthrow their governments and join Egypt and Syria in the U.A.R.

The Soviet Union has skillfully played the part of a friend to Arab nationalism. It backs the Arabs in their quarrel with Israel and pretends great sympathy with their desire for independence. It fosters anti-West policies and offers all sorts of trade and aid deals with "no strings attached."

Although Russia is working in every way to eliminate Western influence in Arab countries, many observers believe that Nasser is not really pro-Communist.

These observers feel that Nasser is playing the dangerous game of trying to use the Communists to promote his own ambition to unite the Arabs under his leadership.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Barnett

Since the earliest history of man, conflict has always been recorded; conflict between men, between families, between tribes, and among nations. Must man war? Is war indigenous to man, is it synonymous with life? Or is it something which perhaps in this century or the next will evolve into status quo? At any rate, it is a ubiquitous topic, and this week the Inquiring Reporter aired a few ideas by asking

THE QUESTION: Do you believe there will ever be international peace?

THE ANSWERS

Sgt. Thomas Butler, Signal Section, Sixth Army: No. I don't believe there will ever be international peace. It is just human nature for people not to trust each other. Most people do things that make you not trust them. Trust has to be mutual. There is more to war than distrust. There is greed and envy. Oh, I suppose good things have come out of war. Science always advances during a war. And I think because of the horrors of war, people desire peace. But I really feel that there will be a major war in our lifetime.

Rita Sauve, Sixth Army Transportation: I think we'll have universal peace when we have universal Christianity. The Bible says, "... swords shall be beaten into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks, and they shall not teach war." That will happen when there is international religion. But I don't think this will come about in our lifetime. We will see the end of the cold war replaced by a military world and an uneasy peace based on fear. I don't know, I think war is based on hatred. Religion, if followed, eliminates hatred. As long as hatred exists, there is the possibility of war in all countries and all circumstances.

Pvt. Stuart Blue, Entertainment, Special Services: The way personalities are now, no, I don't think there is much chance now for universal peace. But in the future, things may change. Things may change because of our environments. But it will be a long time away. Because of the atomic age and more pleasures for man, it may all result in other things like art and entertainment. The new coming age will offer more pleasure, easier enjoyments for people. This may cause people to change from the Napoleon-Hitler attitude to being more peace loving.

Pfc. William H. Lee, 537th Engineer Company: No, I don't think it's possible for nations with so many different aspects and cultures to live in harmony. There will always be people who want to control things. Those people, not the nations, will bring about a war. I think there will be a war in our lifetime when some nation thinks it is smart enough to control the free nations. But it won't be until that nation feels confident.

Washington—An amputation knife used more than 150 years ago, together with a kit of surgical and trephine instruments of similar age is now on display at the Medical Museum of Walter Reed Army Medical Center here. The set, used during the Battle of Lake Erie on 10 September, 1813, was presented to its original owner (Dr. Archimedes Smith) by Army General William Henry Harrison, later President of the United States.

Redstone Arsenal, Ala.—Hugh Odishaw, executive director of the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year, has thanked the Army Ballistic Missile Agency here for "its magnificent contribution to the IGY earth satellite program. The explorer satellites launched by ABMA as part of this program and the invaluable data which they have made possible have been a source of gratification to the scientific community everywhere," he said.

Washington (ANS)—The Army's Chief of Staff, General Maxwell D. Taylor, writing for the Army Information Digest, again has stressed that as the importance of coping with limited war tends to increase, so increases the requirement for strong, ready Army forces held in reserve in the Continental United States.

In Our Mail

Dear Ken:

Congratulations from one old newsman to another (albeit younger) "old pro." The award of the Certificate of Merit to the Star-Presidian for excellence in competition with California weekly newspapers—civilian and military—was, in my professional opinion, richly deserved.

In my short time in this office, I have come to appreciate the Star-Presidian not only as an Army newspaper of highest professional quality and excellent news and pictorial coverage, but as a significant and powerful instrument of good Army public relations. It is so written and edited that each issue further enhances, on the part of civilian readers, the good will towards the Army which we in the Army Information business seek to achieve.

Although you are not a member of our immediate Sixth Army Information Section family, I am proud, indeed, to have you and your fine staff as next-door neighbors and professional "cousins."

Cordially,

JAMES G. CHESNUTT

LT. COL., TC

Deputy Information Officer

59 Joint Committees Abolished in DOD Move

Washington (AFPS)—Fifty-nine more Defense Department joint committees will be abolished 1 September, the Department has announced.

The action is the result of a review made of the departmental committee structure at Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy's request, and follows the abolition of 133 committees on 1 July.

New Lab Opens

Fort Sam Houston, Texas — A radioisotope laboratory, the first of its type established at Army level, has just opened here. Its function to develop and improve laboratory techniques and to research in the field of radiobiology, the lab will work in conjunction with the State Health Department and with Civil Defense organizations to serve a five state area. Officer-in-Charge is Major Earl W. Grogan, and Army veterinarian.

The Army operate the largest supply system in the world and manages a bulk stock inventory of approximately $20 billion, according to DA Pam 360-1.

Registration Deadline Near

Registration for the 4 November General Election is now under way and will close on Thursday, 11 September. New residents who have resided in California since 4 November 1957 and in San Francisco since 6 August, 1958 are eligible to register.

Individuals who will reach the age of 21 by 4 November are also eligible to register. Persons having moved within the city must re-register from their new address in order to be eligible to vote in their new precincts.

The registration office located nearest to the Presidio is at the Safeway Market, 2444 Lombard.

Presidio Marks Another Accident-Free Weekend

Once again, the Presidio passed the weekend without any of its civilian or military personnel being numbered among the 44 Californians killed over the holiday.

Although California usually has the greatest number of fatalities, percentage wise, it is not as seriously affected as some of the smaller states. In California there are approximately two persons per every automobile. Compare that figure to the six or seven persons per vehicle in some of the other states and you realize exactly how crowded our highways are.

Consider also the fact that to date this year the number of accidents based on registered vehicles in California is down five percent.

The number of traffic accidents in the nation as a whole is down three percent.

But despite the abstract statistics, two very real facts remain.

Forty-four Californians were killed this weekend.

Presidians escaped injury and death.

Sometimes death is inexplicably brought by the swift hand of fate. But when we pass the weekend safely, and when the general statistic improves, it is comforting to believe that we are alive because we combined good safety habits with common sense.

Your hands hold more than the steering wheel. They hold your life.

How many more weekends can the Presidio stay off the fatal list? That depends upon you.

Flexible Defense Need

Chautauqua, N. Y. — General Maxwell D. Taylor, the Army's Chief of Staff warned here that the United States cannot afford to depend upon any single strategy or any single means of reaction or any single weapons system for the Nation's security. "The requirement today," he declared, "is for a flexible, tri-dimensional strategy involving all three Services."

HIGH PERCENTAGE of re-ups during the last quarter earned Sfc. Sherril Haywood (left), re-enlistment NCO for Battery C, Sharp Park, a re-enlistment plaque presented to him by Lt. Col. C. P. Samson, Commanding Officer of 4th Missile Battalion (Nike-Ajax) 61st Artillery. Battery C is also high in the Battalion for the first seven months of this year.

Top Military, World Affairs Subjects Set For CofC Symposium

How great a menace is communistic Russia to America? Have we caught up in the missiles race?

Answers to these and many other vital questions will be supplied by some of the nation's top experts in these fields during the National Defense Resources Conference in San Francisco, 15 to 26 September at Nourse Auditorium.

Presented by the Industrial College of the Armed Forces under the auspices of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and all branches of the service, the conference will have an estimated audience of more than 500 business and industrial executives and Armed Forces officers.

Application to attend the college graduate-level symposium may be made through the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Soviet Russia and Communism, wartime emergency mobilization, modern technological warfare and world affairs and alliances will be among the subjects covered. It is a condensation of the regular ten-month course given to military leaders who attend the college.

Secretary of The Army Wilber M. Brucker: "We must not forget for a moment that the communists are ready and waiting to move in swiftly for the kill if they should ever manage to catch us with our guard down."

Today's Missileer—A Preview Of Tomorrow's Soldier!

What does it take to make a good missileer today?

"Technical know-how," say some; "but he's gotta be a soldier, too," counter others.

Actually, it takes some of each and a lot more. It takes intelligence, initiative, aptitude, desire ...

Let's take a look at a versatile Nike missileer who may be the prototype of all tomorrow's modern soldiers.

There is nothing flashy about Pfc. Richard J. Permenter—a quiet, mature 23-year-old Texan assigned to D Battery, 2d Missile Battalion (formerly, 9th AAA), 61st Artillery, at Angel Island.

Rather, he is unassuming and conscientious. As a Target Track and Radar (TTR) Azimuth Operator, he has a highly-responsible job as head of the three-man team required to track attacking aircraft.

Because his skill was a major factor in chalking up a "perfect shoot," three "kills" for three, for his battery in recent live firing at Red Canyon Range, N.M., and his soldierly proficiency, Pfc. Permenter was named Soldier of the Month in his battery for August.

Then, in rapid succession, he was selected for a similar honor in the battalion and then in the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense).

Other accomplishments which demonstrate his all-around ability include: proficient in six other major integrated fire control (IFC) operations, a first class missileman, an expert marksman and familiar with elementary missile launching techniques.

These skills do not mark him as unusual, for there are some other men in the battery with similar abilities and others are being BEST BATTALION Award Plaque and a firm handshake go to Lt. Col. Ned E. Ackner, Commanding Officer of the 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty, Travis AFB, from Col. Malcolm F. Gilchrist, Commanding Officer, San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command.

Thirteen Presidio Civilians Win DAP Performance Awards

Thirteen civilian employees at the Presidio received Department of the Army Outstanding, Superior Performance, and Suggestion award certificates and checks totaling $985 this week.

Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, presented awards to the following people: Signal Section; William Cartwright $45, Steward Jarrett $25, William Jones $20, Mrs. Genevieve Gorder $10; Post Ordnance Section; Norman Peters and Manuel Galito shared a $120 suggestion award, and Roy Nixon and George Polovneff divided $25; Post Engineer Section; Joseph Rubio stationed at Davis, Calif., Outstanding and Superior Performance and $200, and Fred Feit, Superior Performance award and $200; Finance and Accounting Section; Ruth Cook, Superior Performance award and $200.

Lt. Col. Harry F. Sproat, Commanding Officer, Sixth Army Medical Laboratory, Fort Baker, presented awards to Mrs. Zillah Oliver, Superior Performance Award and $100; and Bernhard Wohlgenuth, Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificate and $40.

Pfc. R. J. Permenter

cross-trained to match his versatility. But, they do mark him outstanding—the kind of man we need to handle the complex defense machinery of today.

Pfc. Permenter, a draftee who enlisted after basic training (Ft. Carson, Colo.) in Oct. 1957, for Nike duty in San Francisco, soon gave notice he had found his field. Before joining his battery in early March 1958, he finished advanced basic at the San Francisco Army Air Defense Command School, Ft. Scott, in the top 10 of the class.

He may have had a head start, though. Proficient in math, Pfc. Permenter worked about four years on a survey team after having graduated in the top 10 percent of his class in the small (100 students) Moody, Tex., high school. In school, the "emphasis was on the three R's—we never got any of this Sophomore Goals stuff."

With math as a "natural," Pfc. Permenter had little trouble cross-training for the six other IFC jobs he can handle in addition to his primary post. He can also operate:

- Acquisition Radar, which initially picks up the target.
- Missile Track and Radar (MTR), which is essentially the same as the TTR but tracks the Nike missile rather than the target.
- Computer, which takes azimuth, range and elevation data from the TTR and MTR and calculates the point of intercept.
- Switchboard (intrabattery communications net).
- Electric Generator in IFC area.
- Converter, which changes commercial power to the 400 cycles required in IFC operations.

As a soldier ready for regular infantry duty, Pfc. Permenter again reflects the requirement made of a modern missileer.

He completed eight-weeks infantry basic training and since then has been given periodic, intensive refresher training. Like other soldiers, he is required to fire for record annually and currently he holds the expert badge for the carbine and sharpshooter badge for the M-1. He also has a background in CBR and medical first aid. Basically, Pfc. Permenter is an infantryman on a Nike site.

Also like many other men, he is married—has been for more than three years—he has a strong family and social responsibility. For example, he and his wife, Carlene, as residents of Sausalito, have a community responsibility beyond that of unmarried men.

So, what does it take to be a modern missileman? Pfc. Permenter is a real good answer.

Some Vets Could Regain On-Job Training Status

Approximately 40,000 Korean veterans in Northern California who were compelled to drop out of training under the Korean G.I. Bill may be permitted to resume their training, the Veterans Administration announced today.

J. Glenn Corbitt, Manager of the VA's San Francisco Regional Office, said the restrictions on re-entry into training have been relaxed in the case of Korean veterans who have been out of training more than 12 months since the veteran's cut-off date, or where veteran was forced to drop out for the following reasons:

- Immediate family or financial obligations beyond the veteran's control which required him to drop training to obtain employment.

- Veterans were prevented from continuing training because of personal or family illness or because of death in the immediate family.

- The allowable 12 month period during which training can be suspended without VA approval ended during a vacation, recess, or other period during which it was not possible to re-enter school.

- Veterans were required to suspend training because of unavoidable conditions arising in connection with employment.

In each case where the veteran has dropped his training for a period of more than 12 months, and it is determined this for reasons beyond his control, he must re-enter training at the next session of the school or training establishment of his choice.

Mr. Corbitt said that all veterans who have interrupted their training will be notified by mail and sent an application which should be returned to the Regional Office, together with evidence as to why the veteran dropped out of training, if he desires to continue.

Veterans are asked not to telephone or write the VA until they have received the application, as this will only slow down the handling of these cases, Mr. Corbitt said.

Signal Specialist Wins Achievement Award For Center Contributions

The 6th Region Certificate of Achievement was awarded to SP4c William P. Smith Jr., a Signal Communications teletype operator on duty at the Fort Baker headquarters, this week.

A native of New York, Smith received the merit citation from Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, 6th Region Commander, in recognition of his introduction of technical and administrative procedures credited with advancing the overall efficiency of the Communications center. He also conducted on-the-job training for newly-assigned Signal personnel here.

The 21-year-old soldier was commended by Gen. McGaw who said:

"Your outstanding leadership has been an inspiration to all with whom you have come in contact."

Smith received his technical training at the U.S. Army Southeastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Georgia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Smith, 520 East 142nd St., Bronx, N.Y. He received the merit award on the eve of his return to a civilian career in his home city.

CG Presents Top Recruiting Awards To Area Winners

Three recruiting offices in the Sixth Army Area have been extraordinarily successful during the 1958 Fiscal Year and were awarded trophies last week by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth Army.

Soaring up to 142 per cent of its objective was the Phoenix Recruiting Main Station. Capt. Merwin K. LaBar, Commanding Officer, received the award from Gen. Palmer.

Lt. Donald E. Crawford, Commanding Officer, U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station, Portland, Oregon, accepted a trophy for "Overall Excellence in Recruiting Operations for Fiscal Year 1958."

An award for the "Greatest Operational Improvement for Fiscal Year 1958" went to Captain R. Carrier, U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station, Butte, Montana.

Also present at the ceremonies was Col. Walter H. Skielvig, Military Personnel Procurement Officer, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Named Top Soldier

Sp4 Alvin G. Michael has been named Soldier of the Month in the 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery (formerly 436 AAA Missile Battalion) for August.

The 23-year-old Senior Fire Control Operator with D Battery has been in the Army since March 1956 and has been assigned to D Battery since February 1957.

CERTIFICATE of Achievement is presented to Capt. Carl F. French of Post S2 section, by Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer.

Wins Special Award For CIC Accomplishment

A Certificate of Achievement was presented this week to Capt. Carl F. French, Post S2 Section, by Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commander.

Formerly with Headquarters 66th Counter Intelligence Group, Capt. French "from October 1955 to June 1958 distinguished himself by rendering outstanding services with the 66th... Through extensive knowledge of the German people and their customs, and linguistic fluency... he contributed greatly to the overall success of the Group's mission. Direct application of his abilities enhanced the completion of a major operational assignment... exemplified detailed preparation, requiring long, arduous hours of work... The sincere interest demonstrated by Capt. French and his outstanding devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the military service."

Lt. Col. Carlyle Williams, S2, was also present at the ceremony.

Com. Officer Awarded Commendation Ribbon By 6th Regional CG

Lieutenant Robert F. Gonsalves, a communications officer at Sixth Region, Fort Baker, was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, in a ceremony at headquarters late last week.

Making the presentation was Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, Regional Commander, who commended Lt. Gonsalves for his superior knowledge of communications and cryptographic procedures.

A native of Hawaii, Lt. Gonsalves received the honor prior to his departure for a U.S. Army Signal Communications assignment in Izmir, Turkey. He entered Federal service from his home city of Papia Maui, T.H., and he completed two foreign service tours with Signal Communications units in Korea and Japan, 1953-1955.

Lt. Gonsalves' other military awards include the United Nations Service Medal, the Distinguished Unit Citation and the Korean Service Medal with two battle stars.

Busy AAA Chaplain Logs More Than 1,600 Miles Per Month

The dictionary partially defines the word "enthusiasm" as "an earnest and commendable devotion." This, then, is the word to describe Army Chaplain (Captain) Edward G. Carson.

Chaplain Carson is one man wearing a head with four hats. His main office is located at the headquarters of the 740th AAA Missile Battalion, Fort Scott, Calif., where he is assigned the primary duty of Battalion Chaplain, but this is by no means the extent of his duties. He is presently also the Staff Chaplain of the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command, an area that includes Seattle, Hanford and Spokane, Wash.; Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif. He also serves as the Chaplain for the 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.) and the 9th AAA Missile Battalion of the San Francisco-Travis Air Force Base Army Air Defense.

Chaplain Carson performs all the duties expected of a chaplain on each level from Regional down to Battalion.

An average month of duty for Chaplain Carson would include nine Sunday church services, 26 weekday services, 13 character guidance classes, 17 counselings, 19 interviews with 132 people, two outside church addresses, six clergy visits, one marriage, two invocations, and six home visits.

In performing these duties, Chaplain Carson, accompanied by his assistant Pvt. Max Durbin of Winchester, Ind., travels approximately 1,600 miles a month, most of which is by car, but he occasionally goes by helicopter in cases of emergency at isolated sites.

Along with all these duties there is, of course, the seemingly never ending stacks of paper work, especially in connection with his duties as a staff officer, for he must compile and organize reports from chaplains in every Pacific Coast state.

Chaplain Carson is originally from Gary, Ind. He is one of the few Army chaplains who have been decorated with the combat infantryman's badge. Chaplain Carson was graduated from Westmont College in Santa Barbara and the California Baptist Theological Seminary in Covina, Calif.

Chaplain Carson and his wife reside at 681 Barberry Lane in San Rafael, Calif.

Wherry Housing Cub Pack Is Reorganized; Has Some Openings

Boy Scout Cub Pack No. 178 of the Wherry Housing Area began rolling again for the new school year by choosing pack committee members at a meeting last Tuesday in the Post Religious Activities Center.

Committeemen selected are as follows: Chairman, Capt. Raymond Eccles, U.S. Marine Corps; Secretary, Capt. John Kallam, U.S. Army Armed Services Police Det.; Treasurer, Capt. James Hackney, U.S. Army, Fort Mason; Advancement: HMI Lee Gill, U.S. Navy Recruiting; Training: Lt. John Richmond, U.S. Navy, and M/Sgt. Kent Carroll, U.S. Army, Presidio; Public Relations: Sfc. Wm. Gartner, U.S. Army, Letterman Hospital; Cub Master: Mr. Ken Mangelsdorf, Wherry Housing Management; Asst. Cub Master: M/Sgt. Lonnie Myers, U.S. Army 30th Eng. Bn.

Eight Cub Dens are established and operating within this pack. There are still a few vacancies if any young fellow wants to become a cub scout. Mr. Ken Mangelsdorf is in charge of the little volunteers.

The great industrial organization needed to keep the Army going involves (among other things) more than 1,200 types of civilian occupations which are manned by about 400,000 Americans and some 200,000 foreign nationals. Located at approximately 250 installations throughout the world, according to a recent DA release, "this vast civilian force comprises approximately one-fourth of the entire active Army Establishment."

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

Everyone, in his own way, has something a little extraordinary about him, something slightly more interesting yet to him is simple everyday history, but to another person, a listener, a friend, perhaps a reader, it is more than commonplace.

Every man has a story, some are spoken, some are written. This is the story of Frank A. Widauski. You may have seen him in his carpenter's suit working around the Presidio.

Mr. Widauski is an immigrant from Lithuania. He was born in Kounas on the German border. In 1909, he left Lithuania and sailed for Boston, Mass. He found work there in a piano factory. In those days, most of the work was done by hand. A man was a craftsman, not a machine operator.

After spending only eight years in America, the young immigrant sailed back to Europe, this time to France where he fought on the front lines. Then in 1919 Widauski re-enlisted for ordnance, hoping to go to Russia. But on the fourth of November he landed at Fort McDowell.

Mr. Widauski likes to talk, and he is a great one for remembering dates. He knows, for example, that it was exactly the 20th of May, 1929, when he entered Civil Service. He also knows that since he has been at the Presidio, nearly 30 years now, he has installed and repaired over 3,000 hydraulic door closers.

A rather appalling number indeed, but that is not the least of Mr. Widauski's accomplishments.

Working with his hands making a piano cabinet, magazine stands or a coffee table for his home, or using the high powered carpentry tools of today, his masterlike ability is always apparent.

From 1931 to 1933, Mr. Widauski worked at remodeling the Officers' Open Mess. New walls were put in, the ceiling was lowered, and a maple floor was laid. Under his direction, in 1930, the west cantonment where the first and second lieutenants lived was raised and new cement foundations were put in.

What is now building 35 was converted from stables. The ground floor was an open porch. Mr. Widauski put in walls and windows and then put a tower on the top.

In 1933, he built a tower on the Fire House. With his hammer and his saw, with the skill of a craftsman, Frank Widauski has written his own story . . . a story of a boy who left Lithuania 40 years ago and a man who has worked 30 years at the Presidio.

Ike Urges Service Vote

President Dwight D. Eisenhower has sent a special message to members of the Armed Forces urging them to exercise their right to vote in the upcoming elections. The text of the message:

"The right to vote in free elections is one of the most treasured privileges of citizenship.

"During 'Armed Forces Voters Week' (15-22 September), I hope the men and women in the military services will exercise their traditional rights by obtaining full information on how they may vote in the coming elections. I further hope that the families and friends of our men and women in uniform will help them reach sound judgments by sending them full details on the candidates and issues.

"Free government, and the blessings which it confers, can only be guaranteed if we, the citizens, take an active part in the choice of our public officials."

SEATO Seal Near Final Plans Cash Prizes For Big Stinson Beach Outing

New York (AFPS)—A contest for the design of a SEATO emblem, open to US servicemen and women, has been announced by the State Department. The winning design will bring a prize of $500, with a second prize of $200 for the runner-up.

SEATO (Southeast Asia Treaty Organization) is a collective defensive alliance composed of the US, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, France and the United Kingdom. These nations cooperate to guard against armed aggression and subversion in Southeast Asia and to promote the economic progress and well being of its people.

Designs should be simple and memorable with an immediate visual impact. They may be symbolic or non-symbolic, but they should convey the idea that SEATO is an organization for collective self defense—"a shield behind which member countries may pursue, without fear of disturbance, their plans for social, cultural and economic advancement."

Also, they should not exceed three colors, incorporate lettering, or be made obsolete by any increase in the SEATO membership.

Entries should be sent directly to the Secretary-General, SEATO Headquarters, Bangkok, Thailand, in time to arrive not later than Oct. 31, 1958.

Flapjack Haven Ahead

Any of you all like old fashioned pancakes floating in sweet southern syrup? If you reckon so, just pass on down to the Fort Baker Service Club next Thursday, 11 September. They'll be flipping them off the griddle around 2000.

There will be some flipping fish to catch on Saturday 14 September when the Service Club at Fort Scott also hosts an expedition down to the seas in sneakers around 1400. Then, when the creels are stuffed full, everyone is invited back for a fish fry at the club beginning around 1800.

Dodgers Stage Fantastic Comeback

CINDERELLA TEAM is the Presidio's Dodgers, who came off the floor in the final week of Pony League play to win three straight and force a playoff for the championship. Shown are (l. to r.): Front row, kneeling, Tom Delaney, Larry McFarland, Tony Ladato, George Yount, Tom Pulaski and Danny Garner; standing, Mike Haulsey, John Walker, Norton Jackson, Curt Whall, Steve Lowe and James Martinez.

Three Straight Wins Force Title Playoff

A Cinderella Dodger team, that wasn't given a whisper of a chance to finish better than second, turned on a blazing stretch drive to win three straight games and force a three-game playoff with the XV Corps Braves for the championship of the Presidio Pony League.

On Saturday last, the Braves, who won the first half of play and have dominated most of the second, looked like surefire winners (our sports writer erroneously handed them the title last week) as they needed only a single win to cinch the title, but, the best laid plans of mice and baseball managers . . .

In Saturday's makeup game, the Presidio Dodgers slipped past the Sixth Army Pirates by one run, 8-7. Mike Haulsey handled the mound chores for the winners and Cecil Harrison was saddled with the loss.

It was Haulsey again last Tuesday as he shut out the Braves, 7-0, and forced second half play into the final league game. Ken Diamond was on the mound for the losers.

In a last ditch stand this Tuesday, Larry McFarland staged a blistering pitchers' duel with the Braves' Ken Diamond and garnered a neat 4-3 victory.

- As it now stands:
- The XV Corps Braves won the first half of play.
  - The Presidio Dodgers won the second half of play.
  - The first of a three-game playoff series was played yesterday.
  - A double-header will be played on Pony League field at 1300 hours tomorrow. Get out and support your team!

Presentation of league and individual trophies, including S.F. Giant autographed baseballs, will be made to the winning team sometime next week.

A final league outing in the form of a family picnic has been planned for Pony League field, time to be announced, on Saturday, 13 September. Highlight of the day will be a Father-Son baseball game.

4th Msl. Bn. Minor Fencing Season Opens; Sports Tournament Post Team Visits Italian Starts on Monday

The Presidio Service Club will be the scene Monday and Tuesday of 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery minor sports tournament.

Contestants will be winners of eliminations within each battery.

Two finalists from each battery will compete indoor shuffleboard, outdoor shuffleboard and ping pong.

One entry from each battery will vie in pocket billiards, bumper pool, bank billiards, darts and croquet.

Winners in indoor shuffleboard and ping pong are scheduled to participate in the Presidio finals in those two sports on Wednesday at 2015 at the Presidio Service Club.

Touch Football Play Will Get Under Way On Monday Afternoon

The Intramural Touch Football League will start Monday at 1630 hours when the USA Training Group tangles with the defending post champions, the 21st Engineers, on the Fort Scott field.

Also on the eighth at 1630 on the PX field, MRU will face Hq. Co. USA Garrison.

Twenty-six teams are entered in the three leagues, Fort Baker, Fort Scott and the Presidio.

The Fort Baker League will be composed mainly of Air Defense teams and will not start until the conclusion of the 6th Region Softball Tourney.

Teams to watch in the AAA League will be the 194th and the Air Defense School, while the 537th Eng., the 21st Eng. and the Honor Guard loom as favorites in the Fort Scott League.

Top contenders in the Presidio League will be MRU and Hq. Co. USA Garrison.

King Salmon Run

Spring-run king salmon have already begun to utilize the Wildlife Conservation Board project at Iron Canyon on Chico Creek, completed this month by prison laborers assigned to the Division of Forestry.

The project, a fish ladder blasted through huge boulders in the creek, provides the salmon with 14 miles of good spawning gravel.

The 1958-59 fencing season is underway here and the call is out for enthusiasts — young and old, with and without experience — to join Presidio-Letterman Army Hospital fencers in practice sessions Monday and Thursday evenings (1800-2000) in the LAH Gymnasium Handball Courts.

To kick off the new year, local fencers this week joined more than 500 other San Francisco foilsmen to greet the visiting Italian National Fencing Team during what is known in fencing circles as a Gala Night Wednesday in the Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

The Italian team took top honors in the World Fencing Championships held last week in Philadelphia, Pa.

Col. Laurance H. Brownlee of Sixth U.S. Army G4 Section, resplendent in dress blues, was called upon during the meeting to be one of the officials in epee demonstrations.

Other members of the PSF-LAH team who attended the Gala Night were 2d Lt. Eugene A. Hardy, Cpl. William Beaver, M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, M/Sgt. Severo Pagol and William O'Brien, team coach.

The welcoming ceremonies, which were attended by Mayor Christopher, were sponsored by the Italian Federation of California under the auspices of the Northern California Fencing Division.

Monday Is Deadline For Filing Applications In Special Deer Hunts

Monday is the deadline for filing applications for any of nine special deer hunts.

Antlerless hunts will be held in Modoc, Fresno, Tulare, Los Angeles, San Diego, Mono and Inyo Counties, while either sex may be bagged in Mineral King, Tulare County.

Applications must be sent to the Department of Fish and Game, Sacramento, and a public drawing will be held in the Fish and Game office on 12 September.

Winners will be notified by mail to send in $5 for the permit.

Persons filing the applications, attached to the 1958 deer tags, must be over 12 years of age and must possess a valid 1958-59 hunting license.

Seek High Netters

Master Sergeant Catilino Ignacio, Presidio volleyball team coach, has an opening for spikers and setters.

Sgt. Ignacio hopes to find a few more prospects coming out for scheduled workouts Mon. and Tues. nights at the Ft. Scott Gym.

This team will not only be defending the All-Army and All-RAADCOM championships, but will compete in many civilian tournaments throughout the season.

Interested personnel should contact the Sgt. at the Ft. Scott Gym, ext. 5162.

Seven Win Gun Club Medals For Posting High August Totals

Four military men and three civilians, all members of the Presidio Gun Club, received medals this month for having the highest August averages in marksmanship.

Winners for pistol firing were: Ed Preston, civilian, with a score of 290 in the Master Class; Bill Traner, civilian, with a 291.5 in the Expert Class, and Capt. Richard Jones, leader in the Marksman Class with a score of 246.5.

In rifle competition, Fred Foster, a civilian, with a score of 193, was tops in the Master Class; M/Sgt. Wayne Steward was high in the Expert Class with 194; Capt. Richard Jones led the Sharpshooter Class with 175, while Lt. Col. W. B. Morrow was high in the Marksman Class with a score of 168.

Military personnel or their dependents interested in joining the Gun Club should contact M/Sgt. Steward, Secretary-Treasurer, at 2187.

In the Club, located at Fort Scott, pistols are fired on Monday and Thursday nights and rifles on Tuesday and Friday.

Hq. Co. Team No. 3 Holds 3-Game Lead

Hqs. Co. Sixth Army No. 3 split 2-2 with the Regioners this week, but still retained a three-game lead in Pacific Summer Bowling League play.

Ross, for the Regioners, rolled a 554-191, with Wolfman, for Hq., picking up a difficult 6-7-10 in the first game.

Avery, racking up a 504-176, led the AAA Sparks to a 3-1 win from the Comptrollers. For the loser Routen was high with 503-203.

Hqs. Co. Sixth Army No. 2 lost three games to the Mail Maulers, whose top kegler was Zechel, with 482-199. High score for the Maulers was the 493-170 racked up by DeGraff.

The Retorts put the Honor Guard in the cellar by taking all four games from them. Carmer rolled 500-176 for the winners, while O'Donnell rolled 463-167 for the guard.

Public Boat Ramp Open

In use this month for the first time is a Wildlife Conservation Board financed boat launching ramp at Suisun City on the Sacramento River. The project was built at a cost of $11,000.

PAIRED-UP are Pfc. Allen Kincaid (left) and Pfc. Robert Mendez, both assigned to Battery C of the newly designated 4th Missile Battalion (Nike-Ajax), 61st Artillery. They defeated all comers this year to walk away with top honors in the Battalion two-man volleyball tourney, played at the Fort Scott gym. In their final games they smashed D Battery from Newark, 15-5 and 15-6, in a two-out-of-three match.

436th Grabs SF-Travis Softball Championship

Top Teams Vie In Regional Softball Play

Three of the Pacific Coast's top softball teams will lock horns (or Nikes) when the 6th Region Army Air Defense Command double elimination tournament gets underway at 1300 hours on Tuesday, 9 September at the Ft. Baker playing field.

Major General E. J. McGaw, 6th Regional Commander, is slated to throw out the first ball in pre-game ceremonies.

From this area the 1st Msl. Bn. (Nike-Ajax) 61st Arty. will be competing for top honors. Their opponents will include the 4th Msl. Bn. (Nike-Hercules) 65th Arty, Los Angeles Conference Champions, and the 1st Msl. Bn. (Nike-Ajax) 52d Arty, Seattle-Hanford Conference Champions.

Drawings to determine pairings have been slated for Monday. Two games a day are slated for play following the opener on Tuesday.

Oozlefinches Hold Lead In 2d Bn. Keg Play; Islanders Moving Up

Entering the seventh week of competition in the 2d Battalion, 51st Artillery (formerly 9th Battalion) bowling league, the Oozlefinches still lead the pack.

They proved their superiority over the Baenziger's Rangers by sweeping three out of four games from them, with King of the Finches banging out a 448-199. Berry was high for the Rangers with 474-172.

The Islanders, now in second place, racked up a 3-4 win over the third place Angels, with Franklin of the Islanders bowling 471-180, and Barnes of the Angels rolling a 435-171.

Another 3-4 victory was registered by the fourth place Five-Niners over the cellar dwelling Rafael Nike Strikers. Top kegler for the winners was Love, with 443-170, while Frank was high scorer for the losers with 437-147.

Ex-Service Stars in Lineups

Bears and Browns To Vie In Armed Forces Benefit Game

Chicago (AFPS)—The 13th Annual Armed Forces Benefit football game at Soldier Field here Sept. 12 will feature the Chicago Bears, seven times pro football's world champions, and the Cleveland Browns, eastern division champions of the National Football League in 1957.

Since the Armed Forces series was inaugurated in 1946, sponsored by four Chicago daily newspapers, a total of $509,234.20 has been netted for the three official military relief agencies.

President Eisenhower, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy and high officials of the Army, Navy and Air Force have heartily endorsed the benefit game.

The powerful Browns, favorites to retain their eastern championship, will be making their sixth appearance in the series against the Bears. The Bears scored a solid 29-3 victory over Cleveland last year.

Two ex-Marine grid stars will be playing for the Bears in the game. Ted Karras, named by "Leatherneck Magazine" as an

NEW SPECIAL SERVICES Officer, Maj. Ben Kvitky (center) admires the Sixth US Army Runnerup Trophy, recently won by the Presidio Toreros, as Pfc. John Vesevick (left) and Ken Carroll, captains of the baseball team, explain how the award was gained.

Lewis Takes Area Title Toreros In Second Place

Presidio's Toreros took runner-up honors in the Sixth U.S. Army Baseball Tournament, at Ft. Lewis, last week. The hosting Lewis nine posted a perfect record to win the championship.

Gene Lippold, injury-plagued star right hander for the Presidio, pitched the team to a 6-1 win over Camp Irwin in their last game.

Throwing one of his best games of the season, Gene allowed only six scattered hits, and the lone Irwin run came on a PSF error.

Big sticker for the match was Charles Gritts, who hit a smashing homer with the bases loaded and scored twice himself.

After getting off to a slow start, Terry Maddox started the rally for the Toreros in the fifth when he doubled in two runs.

This caused the sluggers to come alive and gain eight hits, their best effort for the whole tourney.

Maddox showed his power all the way through the competition and took top hitting honors with an average of .667.

Ft. Ord, with a 1 win 2 loss record nabbed third place in the tournament, while Camp Irwin, with a 0 win and 3 loss record, came out in the cellar.

Casaba Call Out

The Presidio Sports Office issued a call this week for all Army personnel interested in trying out for the Post basketball team.

Athletic Director Hal Fischer urges all interested players to call him at ext. 2282 or 3968.

Only one veteran is returning, PFC John Vesevick, and all position are wide open.

It is hoped that there will be a good turnout so the Presidio will be able to defend its championship.

Should Prove Tougher In Regional Tourney

The 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (436th AAA Msl. Bn.) copped its first San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command softball title last week when the Skymasters' ace hurler, Billy Nolen, blanked the scrappy 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty. (441st AAA Msl. Bn.), 1-0, with a one-hitter which found the 5-ft., 3 southpaw giving up the single bingle on the first pitch of the game.

Lone tally for the victors came in the second inning when a 4th Bn. miscue let a Skymasters' baserunner scamper home with the bacon.

In the four-day double elimination tourney, the Skymasters notched preliminary wins over the 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. (9th AAA Msl. Bn.), 5-3; 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (740th AAA Msl. Bn.), 3-2; 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty. (441st AAA Msl. Bn.), 6-0.

The 6-0 battering of the 4th-67th nine was highlight of the tourney because of the nifty no-hitter produced by moundsman Pvt. Charles Turner. Pfc. Richard Block was the loser.

Despite the pre-finals shellacking at the hands of the Skymasters, the 4th-67th was able to best Hq. Btry., 30th Arty. Group, 10-4, and the 4th-61st, 1-0, to gain another crack at the Travasites.

The final meeting between the Skymasters and the 4th-67th, which garnered the first crown for the Travis team, was a pitchers duel and well-displayed the talents of two top-notch hurlers.

Sp4 Nolen, for the victors, won his third game of the tourney and Pfc. Block, of the losers, pitched his second game of the day, having previously put the 4th-67th in contention with a shutout over the 4th-61st, 1-0.

Following are final scores of all the games:

- Monday — 1st 61st beat 2d-51st, 5-3; 4th-67th beat Hq. Co., 30th Arty., 10-4.

- Tuesday—2d-51st eliminated Hq. Co., 30th Arty., 7-4; 1st-61st beat 4th-61st, 3-2.

- Wednesday — 1st - 61st beat 4th-67th, 6-0; 4th-61st eliminated 2d-51st, 6-2.

- Thursday — 4th 67th eliminated 4th-61st, 1-0; 1st-61st took title from 4th-67th, 1-0.

- The 1st-61st Skymasters will represent the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command in the 6th ARADCOM tournament which opens Monday at Ft. Baker.

Presidio Linksmen Down Hamilton AFB

Presidio linksmen showed their prowess this week by racking up a 28½-7½ win over Hamilton AFB.

Competing in the matches were Presidio champ, Murray Jacobs, versus Lou Essex; Jimmie Jones against Jack Hulgian; Bill Turnbull vieing with Jim Feyshe; and Doug Barker matching strokes with Paul Halgan.

Other entrants included George Ruess, competing against Bill Namara; Charles Monges, pitted against Bart Marshal; Cliff Rogers vs. Gordon Fox; and Daryl Moore vs. Ivy Cooke.

Tiny Iron Man Pitcher Could Prove Hero In Big Tournament

Key man in the San Francisco-Travis champion Skymasters' bid for fame in the 6th ARADCOM Softball tourney which opens at Ft. Baker Tuesday is mighty-mite pitcher Billy Nolen, tiny (5-ft., 3-in.) rubber arm hurler who last week led his teammates from 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (formerly, 436th AAA Msl. Bn.) to the local area title.

Sp4 Nolen, a 24-year-old southpaw who packs 138 pounds of power in his diminutive frame, notched three victories in the San Francisco-Travis title fight and is expected to team up with the Skymasters' other mound ace, Pvt. Charles D. Turner, in the forthcoming shot for the 6th ARADCOM crown.

Turner threw a no-hitter last week to gain the Skymasters' other victory in the four-day double-elimination tourney.

Nolen opened the competition last Monday with a 5-3 win over the 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. (formerly 9th AAA Msl. Bn.); on the following afternoon squeezed by the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (formerly 740th AAA Msl. Bn.), 3-2; rested Wednesday while Turner blanked the 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty. (formerly 441st AAA Msl. Bn.), 6-0; and finished strong with a 1-0, one-hit win in the second meeting with the strong 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty. nine for the championship. The lone tally was scored by Turner who capitalized on a miscue overthrow of second base.

This year, Nolen has posted a 9-0 record with the Travasites, while the team ended the season with only one loss in 12 outings. Nolen also pitched in his spare time for the Buckhorns in the Vacaville City League.

Former Information Chief Named CG Of Fourth U.S. Army

The first of October will be a red letter day for Maj. Gen. Guy S. Meloy. On that day he simultaneously becomes Commanding General of the Fourth U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and will be promoted to Lieutenant General.

Gen. Meloy, a native of Maryland, was graduated from the United States Military Academy, West Point, in 1927. During World War II he served as Chief of Staff of the 103rd Infantry Division in Europe. He commanded the 19th Infantry Regiment, 24th Division, during the Korean War.

In 1953 and 1954 he was Commandant of the Infantry School at Fort Benning and left there to take command of the 1st Infantry Division in Europe. Gen. Meloy returned in 1955 to serve as Chief of Information, Department of the Army, which position he occupied until 1957.

Top AAA Choral Group To Perform Next Week

The Choral Group of the United States Army Air Defense Command will appear 11 September at 2000 in the Post Theatre. The movie, The Gun Runners, will be shown only once, at 1800 hours.

The one hour concert will feature songs from Broadway musicals, popular selections, especially arranged novelty numbers, and traditional marches. Since its organization last May, the 35 voice male chorus has appeared on several radio and television programs, Armed Forces Day celebrations, and the Pikes Peak Rodeo.

The group was organized by Lt. Gen. Charles E. Hart, Commanding General of the nationwide Nike air defense system. Stationed at national headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., the chorus is composed of selected enlisted members of the command.

In addition to its local performance, the choral group will also appear at the Oakland Army Terminal on Tuesday 9 September and Travis Air Force Base on 10 September. No admission is charged and all are invited to attend.

Local Vacancies For Key Civilian Positions Open

Applications are being accepted for two local vacancies in Civil Service. Applicants for General Supply Officer, GS-2001-9, $5,985 per annum, U.S. Army Personnel Center, Oakland, must have a total of 5 years' experience in supply which has included specialized experience in property and stock control work and stock management. Education may be substituted for some experience. Clearance is required.

There is an opening for a Secretary (Stenography) GS-318-4, $3755 per annum, at Headquarters XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve). Applicants must have had two years of general office clerical experience, at least six months of which must have included the taking and transcribing of dictation. Clearance is required.

A signed application (Standard Form 58) should be submitted to the Civilian Personnel Division, Building 227, Presidio. For further information call extension 2349 or 4233.

Short Story Class Set

Classes in the Short Story, English 161, will commence on 16 September under the San Francisco State on-post college classes. They will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays in Bldg. 1131 from 1830 to 2100.

English 161 is a consideration of the short story as a distinctive literary phenomenon with main emphasis on critical analyses of selected representative modern stories and explanation of modern standards of literary judgment.

Among the authors to be considered are DeMaupassant, F. Scott Fitzgerald, O. Henry, Mark Twain, and Bret Harte.

Dr. Elias T. Arneson, Chairman of the Humanities Division, will be the instructor. A native of Norway, he took his Ph.D. at the University of Washington. He has taught philosophy and literature at the University of Southern California, Oregon State, and Mexico City College. Dr. Arneson has been at San Francisco State since 1928.

Last Out, First Back

Army Reservists Given New Mobilization Plan

Washington (AFPS)—A new Ready Reserve reinforcement plan setting a "last out, first back" recall policy for partial or total mobilization has been announced by the Army.

The plan, outlined in a new directive, AR 135-40, spells out the priorities for the recall of Army Reservists and speeds their return to active duty.

Generally, the procedures provide that the last man out of active service will be the first back in time of mobilization.

This policy, the Army said, recognizes that the man most recently trained on active duty is the "best qualified" and is the same individual who "has the least amount of Ready Reserve service and therefore would be among the first to be called."

The plan primarily concerns some 800,000 officers and enlisted men in the Ready Reserve of the Army Reserve reinforcement pool. Not affected are about 280,000 members of Reserve units and reservists with key assignments as mobilization designees. Also excluded are members of research and development training detachments.

The Army said another objective of the plan is to avoid splitting up Reserve units since individual replacements will be the first to be ordered to active duty to fill out priority organizations in the active Army, the National Guard and Reserve.

In some instances, the Army explained, it will be possible under this plan to order up members of the Standby Reserve. This will be done, however, only upon declaration of war or a national emergency declared by Congress, and then just those Standby reservists determined by Selective Service "as available for active duty" will be subject to recall orders.

Under the regulation, the reservist ordered to duty will report directly to the unit to which assigned. He will not, as formerly required, go through a reception center.

Also eliminated is the current practice of pre-designating an individual replacement to a unit of the active Army, Guard or Reserve. Nothing, however, forbids a reservist in the reinforcement pool from volunteering for duty with a Reserve unit at any time, said Maj. Gen. John W. Bowen, Assistant Chief of Staff for Reserve Components.

First priority in recalls from the pool, Gen. Bowen said, will go to units of the Army and Reserve components selected for early deployment and would bring reinforcements to the mobilization station within a week after the organization assembles there.

Upon putting the reinforcement system into effect, Army area commanders will notify Ready Reservists that, in the event of a national emergency, they are subject to active duty with less than 30 days notice.

The Alerted Reservists also will be informed of the type of clothing and equipment needed on recall, methods of obtaining travel funds to mobilization stations, and, if necessary, the place to report for further information on problems that might arise.

Former Army Military Attache to India Named AADC PIO

A former United States Army Attache to India and Nepal, Colonel Kenneth I. Curtis, has been named Information Officer of the U. S. Army Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs.

A native of Shorewood, Wis., Col. Curtis was graduated from West Point in 1935 and commissioned in the Artillery. During WW II he served in the Southwest Pacific and was awarded a Legion of Merit.

Col. Curtis has also served as executive officer and commanding officer of the 53rd Anti-aircraft Artillery Brigade.

He has completed studies at the Command and General Staff and Army War colleges.

NATO-Sword-Shield

Washington—To combat the six million men the USSR has under arms, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) uses the Sword and Shield concept, reports Don Belding in this month's ARMY Magazine.

The Sword is the retaliatory forces, says Mr. Belding—principally the Strategic Air Command. The Shield includes the land and naval forces, the missiles, the combined national efforts of the NATO nations.

"A third leg of the NATO stool is the will to fight if attacked," he declared, "and this determination has never been stronger!"

New Law Will Allow Some To Add Disability Rider

Over 5,000,000 World War II and Korean Conflict veterans who hold GI life insurance may now attach a new type of total disability income provision to their policies in return for a small additional premium cost, Veterans Administration announced.

The new type of GI policy rider was authorized by Public Law 85-678, effective 1 November, 1958.

Under the new law, VA explained, policyholders who become totally disabled from any cause before age 60 and while the new rider is in effect, will receive an income of $10 per month for each $1,000 face amount of the GI policy. Previous maximum was $5 per month.

Payments under the clause begin after the total disability has existed for six consecutive months, and continue for the duration of the disability, regardless of its length, VA said.

No payment may be made for disabilities incurred after age 60, and no premium charge is made for this benefit after that date.

If the veteran is in good health and under 60, the rider may be added to any National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) policy, except for a limited number sold to service-disabled veterans since April, 1953, VA said.

Of the 5,650,000 holders of eligible NSLI policies, the agency estimated that at least 5,000,000 could qualify for the rider.

There are currently 85,500 veterans who have the old $5 rider attached to their policies. Those who meet the requirements may increase their coverage to the new $10 limit for a very small boost over what they are now paying in added premiums.

Premium cost of the $10 total disability provision varies according to the policyholder's age, type of policy, and its face amount.

A typical example would be that of a 40-year-old veteran with a $10,000 NSLI term policy, who would pay $1.60 per month for the rider. Under its provision, he would receive $100 per month in policy benefits if he became totally disabled.

Payments to the veteran under the rider do not reduce the face amount of the policy.

Premium payments, both on the basic NSLI policy and the income provision, may be waived by VA for any period of total disability longer than six months.

Information about the total disability income provision is available to NSLI policyholders at any VA office.

Nike-Hercules Flies High; New Sites Planned

SQUAT SISTER of the sleek missiles which now ring San Francisco is destined soon to become a familiar sight throughout the Sixth Army. Tabbed Nike-Hercules, this atomic warhead capable surface-to-air killer not long ago was put through its paces during firing tests in Florida, passing with flying colors; is slated for two new missile bases announced this week for Tucson, Ariz., and Mountain Home, Idaho; and will grace six Bay Area sites as soon as a $2½ million facelifting job here permits.

Test Firing Shows Idaho, Arizona To Hercules Best Yet Get Top Missiles

The new, flashy sister missile to the veteran Nike-Ajax — the maneuverable, atomic warhead capable Nike-Hercules — has proved itself a "whale of a missile" during multiple tests recently concluded in Florida.

Six San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command sites currently are being renovated to accommodate the stubby newcomer, which also can carry a conventional high-explosive warhead.

The local $2½ million "facelifting" project, which will not hamper operational efficiency of the currently available Nike-Ajax missiles, will add complementary launching facilities to sites at Fort Barry, San Rafael, Sharp Park, Lake Chabot and Travis Air Force Base.

Other nearby installations will undergo similar changes at a later date.

For an idea of what the Nike-Hercules can do, check the findings from tests conducted in Florida:

The Army task force from Fort Bliss, Tex., commanded by Brig. Gen. John T. Snodgrass, tested the mobility of the antiaircraft

(Please turn to page 8)

Two new missile sites—both designed to harbor the Army's versatile, atomic warhead capable Nike-Hercules — will be built just outside Tucson, Ariz., and Mountain Home, Idaho.

Reconnaissance for selection of the specific sites, which will be the first in the Arizona and Idaho areas, is expected to begin shortly.

The expansion program was announced here this week by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, and Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Commander of 6th Region Army Air Defense Command.

The Nike-Hercules has an atomic as well as a conventional warhead capability.

Missiles will not be fired from the new sites except in the event of a hostile air attack. Under no circumstances will any test firing of missiles be conducted.

The Nike-Hercules' long range, speed and accuracy provide for destruction of enemy aircraft by using the atomic warhead far from cities and vital installations.

Army Plans Welcome For Ships, Newsmen

This morning at 0800 six warships of the Japanese Navy sailed beneath the Golden Gate Bridge and began a four-day visit which commenced when the destroyer Hurakaze and the saluting battery of the Presidio exchanged booming 21-gun national salutes.

The three destroyers and three frigates are completing a training tour which included visits to Hawaii, San Diego, Alaska, and Seattle. The Japanese Maritime Self-defense Force, which is organized on American lines, is training 211 ensign-cadets during the current voyage.

On board the ships are 10 newsmen and one representative from the Public Information Office of the Japanese Ministry of Defense who are covering the cadet training visits.

These eleven men will be met at Pier 18 South on the Embarcadero, where the ships are berthed, by Lt. Col. James G. Chesnutt, Deputy Information Officer, Sixth Army, Major Glenn T. Sliger, Jr., Chief of the Troop Information Division, Sixth Army, and Capt. Edward P. Endres, Chief, Public Relations Division, Sixth Army.

They will be escorted to the office of the Commanding General, Sixth Army, where Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer will welcome them to this area. The newsmen will then lunch at the Presidio Officer's Open Mess.

During the afternoon, those men who wish to will join the Navy tour of Treasure Island, or they may have their choice of visiting Letterman Army Hospital or the 30th AAA Group Nike Battery at Fort Scott.

Tonight, in the company of the escort officers, they will dine at the Press and Union League Club at a dinner in their honor.

Tomorrow afternoon a tour of the Alameda Naval Air Station has been planned.

A visit to the Monterey Naval Air Station and the Army Language School, Presidio of Monterey, have been scheduled for Monday.

The fleet, under the command of Vice Adm. Hidemi Yoshida, with the 11 newsmen, 1,039 crewmen, and the 211 ensign-cadets, will sail Tuesday at 1100 for Pearl Harbor.

Nothing Showing

Fort Dix, N.J. (ANS) — There are 190 young soldiers now on this post wearing fatigue uniforms without enlisted or officer insignia. They are West Point cadets at Fort Dix to learn how to instruct and handle troops first hand.

Ft. Ord Chorus Will Be Featured in S.F. I Am American Day

"A Testament of Freedom" taken from the writings of Thomas Jefferson and set to music by Randall Thomas, formerly of the University of California Department of Music, will be sung by the Fort Ord Soldiers' Chorus in the "I'm An American Day Program" Sunday at Golden Gate Park.

The program, which begins at 1330, will be held in the music concourse of Golden Gate Park.

"How does he do it?"

Something in the water?

Washington (ANS)—A group of lively 80-year-old Massachusetts veterans has been amazing Veterans Administration doctors who are trying to learn the secret of the "old timers" long life and vitality.

VA officials say 160 of these senior citizens have been examined and studied to date and they appear 20 to 25 years younger than their actual age. They seem typical of some 1,600 remaining veterans of the Spanish-American War.

The VA doctors are probing the "why" of their long life in search of "leads" to the treatment and care of other aging veterans as well as non-vets.

New DA Ruling Sets Tight Rule On Travel

Washington (ANS) — In an effort to save money and achieve greater stabilization, by reducing the frequency of movement of its military personnel, the Department of the Army has set a hard and fast rule that Permanent Change of Station travel will be authorized only on a "military necessity" basis in the future.

According to newly-published AR 614-8, policies applicable to all personnel include:

① Individuals will not be reassigned just for the purpose of a change of assignment or because they have completed a stabilized tour.

② Personnel on stabilized tours of duty will not be moved except as provided in AR 614-5.

⑤ Personnel in overseas commands will not be moved except for compelling military reasons during the fiscal year in which they are scheduled to return to the U. S. or Territory of residence. If an individual has completed an intra-theater PCS move during the fiscal year of return, approval for return must be obtained from the Secretary of the Army.

⑥ The minimum overseas tour requirement for career officers and Regular Army enlisted personnel assigned to GYROSCOPE units is 28 months as outlined in AR 220-20.

Defense Resources Conference Slates Sixty Top Firms

Sixty San Francisco firms and organizations already have made reservations for their executives to attend the National Defense Resources Conference which will be held from 15 to 26 September.

The conference will be presented by the Industrial College of the Armed Forces under the auspices of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and all branches of the armed forces.

Soviet Russia and Communism, wartime emergency mobilization, modern technological warfare and world affairs and alliances will be among the subjects covered. It is a condensation of the regular 10-month course given to military leaders who attend the college.

General Staff Chaplain

Washington (ANS) — The first chaplain in the history of the U.S. Army to be assigned to duty as a working member of the General Staff, Lieutenant Colonel Joseph T. Kasel has just completed the first year of his assignment and for this service has been awarded the General Staff Identification Badge.

Questions and Answers

GE Training Act

Many inquiries are being received about the effects of the Government Employees Training Act which was signed into law recently by the President. The following questions and answers, the final in a series which was prepared by the Civil Service Commission, cover the points on which questions are most frequently received.

Q. A private organization in my area offers a workshop course which is directly related to my job. I know that the course would enable me to do my job more efficiently. I have been trying to save enough money to take the course on my own initiative but have not been able to do so. Will the Government pay my way through the course?

A. No specific answer is possible since your agency will have to consider many factors such as its own training needs, potential benefits from each type of training, which employees promise the greatest return on the investment, and availability of funds. The best thing for you to do is to get all the information you can about the course and discuss the matter with your supervisor.

Q. Where will out-service training be given and what will be the length of the average training period?

A. Those few agencies which have had out-service training authority report that the majority of their employees who have been trained outside Government were sent to short courses in factories and other industrial establishments. Typical courses have been those concerning the use, maintenance, and repair of specialized equipment and instruments. Of course, there have been, and will continue to be, occasional courses that last longer; these have usually been taken in colleges, universities, and other schools.

Q. Will the Government pay all out-service training expenses?

A. Not necessarily. The act authorizes agencies to pay all or part of such expenses.

Q. Will out-service training be full-time or part-time?

A. Both. There will be many different arrangements such as:

- off-duty evening courses
- correspondence courses
- full-time training during hours of duty
- part-time training during hours of duty
- training which includes both duty hours and off-duty hours.

Q. If I am selected for a long period of out-service training to be given at a distant geographical point, may I be paid for the transportation of my family and my household goods?

A. The agency may pay for this if the costs for the round trip would be less than your aggregate per diem during the period of training.

Q. I understand that in order to qualify for 6 months' out-service training, I must agree in advance to 18 months' obligated service after my period of training. Does this mean that I would not be considered for transfer or promotion to other jobs in my agency during my period of obligated service?

A. No. The law does not require you to continue to serve in a particular job, but rather in the agency that paid for the training.

Q. Will I have to repay my out-service training costs if I leave my agency before the end of my period of obligated service?

A. That depends on the circumstances of your separation. The law specifies the following: (1) if you are separated involuntarily during the period of obligated service, you will not have to repay the training costs; (2) if separated voluntarily, you are obligated to repay the costs; and (3) if you transfer to another agency, you will have to repay the costs only if the head of the department which paid for the training notifies you prior to the effective date of your transfer that such repayment will be required. The head of the department concerned may, in accordance with Commission regulations, waive in whole or in part any right of recovery (under the circumstances described in 2 and 3 above) if it is shown that such recovery would be against equity and good conscience or against the public interest.

Q. I am half way through a night course which I am taking at the suggestion of my supervisor. The course is directly related to my job and I am paying for my own training. Under the new law, will my agency pay for any part of the course?

A. Your agency now has authority to pay for the last half of your training if such training meets their needs, and is not the reasonably available within Government, and if all the other requirements of law are met. Since the law specifies that an obligated service agreement shall be made prior to the training, your agency has no authority to reimburse you for the expense of your first part of your course even though it was suggested to you by your supervisor and was job-related.

Voting Officers Ready To Help In Balloting

Armed Forces Voters Week (15-22 September) will begin on Monday and Presidio Voting Officer CWO Helen E. Ryan, Post JA Section, said this week that it is important for absentee voters to obtain the right forms before applying for ballots from their home states.

"Unit voting officers have double size post card SF 76 on hand in sufficient quantities to take care of all troop needs. They also can answer any questions regarding how and when to file. Every unit has a voting officer."

Pamphlets, posters and movies have been issued throughout the Sixth U.S. Army area and installation commanders have been urged to give added emphasis to publicity and information campaigns.

"It is reemphasized that all commands continue their efforts to develop and sustain a positive interest in this year's soldier voting program," stated Sixth Army Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. J. J. Binns. "Proper emphasis at all levels should be given to the counseling of personnel and the providing of adequate information pertaining to voting laws of each state. In this way, the Army can assist in our country's program to promote peaceful aims and objectives and demonstrate to the world that the military of our nation believe in a citizen's responsibility to support free government."

A current series furnished the Star Presidian by Armed Forces Press Service is providing state by state breakdown on voting requirements. Editorials urging a strong soldier vote are being used frequently.

Command and unit voting officers are:

Missile Battalions Will Drop AAA Trademark

Missile battalions which, under the Army Air Defense Command, ring key American cities and industrial areas no longer will carry the familiar "AAA" trademark.

Instead, each will be known as a numerical missile battalion of an historic artillery regiment (e.g., 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery).

The "AAA"—specifying "anti-aircraft artillery"—was determined too limited an expression to adequately define modern surface-to-air missile battalions.

In addition, the ARADCOM-wide redesignation restores the lineage of traditional artillery regiments which was broken by tactical requirements for separate battalions in World War II.

This program will reconstruct the framework by which the Army will maintain continuity of its most distinguished regiments, regardless of changes in tactical organization through peace and war.

Former Cook Wins Spurs as Cadre Missileman Teacher

An Army commendation ribbon was awarded to Sp5 James Martinez of D Battery, 2nd Missile Battalion, Fort Barry, at a battery formation Monday by Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks, 30th Artillery Group executive officer.

Sp5 Martinez received the decoration for his ability to supervise and train troops, his devotion to duty and outstanding knowledge of his job.

A native of Denver, Colo., Martinez was first assigned to D Battery two years ago as a cook after returning from Korea where he had served with the First Cavalry Division. The 32-year-old husband and father of two children reenlisted for retraining as a radar operator shortly after being assigned to the missile unit.

Hundreds of words have been written telling the serviceman it is his duty, his right, his privilege and his obligation to vote.

But voting is more than a matter of words; it is also a matter of machinery. State and local governments, in order to make voting as simple as possible for the serviceman away from home, provide absentee ballots quite readily.

New Hampshire—Servicemen and their wives may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the Board of Supervisors of the Check List in your locality.

Marked ballots must be returned to election officials before the polls close on election day.

New Jersey—Servicemen may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application request for a "Military Service Ballot." A relative may also request the ballot in your behalf. Clerks should be addressed to either your county clerk or municipal clerk.

Wives of servicemen must request in writing a "Civilian Absentee Ballot" from their county clerk or municipal clerk.

Marked ballots must be returned before the polls close on election day.

Ohio—Servicemen may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the Clerk of the County Board of Elections, county of residence.

Wives of servicemen must request in writing an "Application for Absentee Voter's Ballot" from the Clerk of the County Board of Elections, county of residence.

Marked ballots must be returned in time to be received by election officials no later than noon on the fourth day before election day.

Oklahoma—Servicemen and their wives may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application or any other written request to the Secretary of State, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Marked ballots must be returned in time to reach election officials not later than 5 pm on the Friday preceding a Tuesday election.

Pennsylvania—Servicemen may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application or any other written request to the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pa.

Wives of servicemen may not vote by absentee ballot.

Marked ballots must be received by designated officials not later than 10 am on the second Friday following the November election.

Idaho—Servicemen and their wives may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application or any other written request to the county clerk, county of residence. A friend or relative may also make the request in your behalf.

Marked ballots must be returned by registered mail in time to reach election officials not later than the day before election day.

Kentucky—Servicemen may obtain absentee ballots by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to the county clerk, county of residence. Wives of servicemen must request from their county clerk, an "Application for Absentee Voter's Ballot."

Marked ballots must be received by election officials before the closing of polls on election day.

Illinois—Servicemen may obtain an absentee ballot in Illinois by filling out a Federal Post Card Application and mailing it to the board of election commissioners or the county clerk of their county. A parent, spouse, sister or brother may also request that a ballot be sent.

Applications will be accepted as early as 100 days before an election and will be mailed to voters as early as 45 days before an election. Marked ballots must be received by election officials not later than the day of the election.

Only members of the Armed Forces may use an FPCA to apply for an absentee ballot. Although Illinois servicemen may vote without being registered, their wives and all other persons must register in person before a city election commissioner or county clerk in order to be eligible for absentee voting privileges.

Mississippi—Servicemen and their spouses when properly registered may obtain an absentee ballot by mailing a Federal Post Card Application to their city or county registrar. A family member may also request that a ballot be sent.

Applications will be accepted not earlier than 60 days before primary and general elections and any time before special elections.

Ballots will be mailed to voters not earlier than 60 days before a primary election and 40 days before general and special elections.

When you have received your ballot, mark it and execute the affidavit on the envelope, filling in the name of the person whom you designate to deliver your ballot to the election officials.

Marked ballots must be received by election officials not later than the day of the election.

COPY DEADLINE WEDNESDAY NOON

FIRST SERGEANT Charles D. Mahon (right) this week was named the Presidio's first E8 "supersergeant," marking the third time in his Army career he has held the top authorized grade for the job. He is congratulated here by Col. Charles G. Rau, Post Commanding Officer. First Sergeant Mahon has been a topkick since 1942—he started as an E6, was boosted to E7 in 1942 when the Army promoted first sergeants to E7, and this week became one of the few men on active duty to hold down the job in three different grades—each of them the highest authorized at the time.

Marine-Army Vet Wins First Post Supergrade

Presidio's first E8 "supersergeant" is a 22-year Army and Marine Corps veteran who has been a first sergeant since April 1942.

He is First Sergeant Charles D. Mahon, 47, of the 163d Military Police Company.

F/Sgt. Mahon, at the Presidio since 19 June 1954 (505th MP Bn., 163d MP Co.), has been in the first sergeant business 16 years. First named a top soldier early in World War II while he was an E6, he was jumped to E7 on 1 September 1942 when the Army boosted all first sergeants to the then senior enlisted grade.

Now his raise to E8 makes him one of the few top kicks who have held the job in the three highest authorized grades for it.

F/Sgt. Mahon's promotion was announced this week during ceremonies in the office of Col. Charles G. Rau, Post Commanding Officer.

During World War II, F/Sgt. Mahon served in the European Theater from 1942-1945 with the 118th Infantry Regiment. He now lives on Post with his wife; they have five sons and a daughter.

Long for the Good Old Days?

When Rank Confusion Really Was

Today's soldier sometimes thinks he needs a short course just to find out what all the birdies and rockers and umbrellas and stripes mean on the next guy's sleeve.

But the modern man doesn't have any problem, according to CWO W. F. Schwartz, Presidio Classification and Assignment Officer. He recently unearthed a frightening tome—Regulations for the Army of the United States (1913)—in which Article III listed the rank and precedence of officers and non-commissioned officers. Take a close look at what grades fell below second lieutenant:

- Aviator, Signal Corps
- Cadet
- Sergeant Major, Regimental
- Sergeant Major, Senior Grade, Coast Artillery Corps
- Quartermaster Sergeant, Senior Grade, Quartermaster Corps
- Master Hospital Sergeant, Medical Department
- Master Engineer, Senior Grade, Corps of Engineers
- Master Electrician, Coast Artillery Corps
- Master Signal Electrician
- Band Leader
- Hospital Sergeant, Medical Department
- Master Engineer, Junior Grade, Corps of Engineers
- Engineer, Coast Artillery Corps
- Ordnance Sergeant
- Quartermaster Sergeant, Quartermaster Corps
- Supply Sergeant, Regimental
- Sergeant Major, Squadron and Battalion
- Sergeant Major, Junior Grade, Coast Artillery Corps
- Supply Sergeant, Battalion, Corps of

- Engineers
- First Sergeant
- Sergeant, First Class, Medical Department
- Sergeant, First Class, Quartermaster Corps
- Sergeant, First Class, Corps of Engineers
- Sergeant, First Class, Signal Corps
- Electrician Sergeant, First Class, Coast Artillery Corps
- Electrician Sergeant, Artillery Detachment, United States Military Academy
- Assistant Engineer, Coast Artillery Corps
- Master Gunner, Coast Artillery Corps
- Master Gunner, Artillery Detachment, United States Military Academy
- Band Sergeant and Assistant Leader, United States Military Academy Band
- Assistant Band Leader
- Sergeant Bugler
- Electrician Sergeant, Second Class, Artillery Detachment, United States Military Academy
- Radio Sergeant
- Color Sergeant
- Sergeant
- Supply Sergeant, Company
- Mess Sergeant
- Stable Sergeant
- Fireman, Coast Artillery Corps
- Corporal

In each grade and subgrade, the date of commission, appointment or warrant determined the order of precedence.

Legion of Merit To Be Presented At Retreat Parade

At a parade and ceremonies this afternoon at 1600 on the main parade ground Colonel John F. Cox will be awarded the Legion of Merit.

Col. Cox, a veteran of over 30 years service, was nominated for the Legion for service as Provost Marshal for the Chief Signal Officer at the Pentagon. This was his last assignment prior to retirement this summer.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Col. Cox graduated from the University of Illinois in 1926 and plans now to study for a graduate degree in history at the State College in San Jose, where he lives with his wife and daughter.

The colonel received a commission in 1943 and during World War II and the post-war period served as operations officer for the office of the European Command Provost Marshal.

At the parade, the reviewing officer will be Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, or his designated representative. Lt. Col. Carlyle R. Williams will be the Commander of Troops. The Adjutant will be Capt. James T. Pooler. Maj. Charles Dong will command the first battalion and Maj. Dewey Allread, Jr., will command the second battalion.

Battalion CO
Lt. Col. R. M. Underwood

Underwood Takes Command Of 30th Engineer Units

Lieutenant Colonel Richard M. Underwood has assumed command of the 30th Engineer Battalion replacing Lt. Col. Vernie Slayter, who retired last month. Colonel Underwood served previously as Commanding Officer of the 660th Engineer Battalion.

A native of Bellefontaine, Ohio, Lt. Col. Underwood is a veteran of 17 years' service. He received his commission from the Engineer Officer's Candidate School at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, and has attended the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

This is Lt. Col. Underwood's second tour of duty with the 30th Engineers, having served in the past as S-3 for the 70th Engineer Liaison Detachment, at Fort Scott. He holds the Bronze Star Medal, and has served in five campaigns in Europe.

Civil Service Positions Now Open At Local Office

Applications are now being accepted for four positions needing to be filled in Civil Service at the Presidio.

Applicants for Administrative Assistant, GS-341-9, $5,985 per annum, must have a total of five years' experience including three years' general experience and two years' specialized experience. Preference will be given to experience gained in Signal administration. Clearance is required.

A Nursing Assistant in Psychiatry, GS-621-4, will earn $3,755 per annum. Applicants for this position at Letterman Army Hospital must have two years' experience, one year of general work and one year of work with patients in psychiatric hospitals.

An Administrative Clerk, GS-301-5, is needed at Headquarters XV Corps (Reserve). The pay is $4,040 per annum. Applicants must have had three years of progressively responsible general office experience. Some night and weekend duty will be required. Clearance is necessary.

Headquarters Sixth Army needs a clerk stenographer, GS-312-4, at $3,755 per annum. Applicants must have had two years of general office experience, including six months of dictation work. Clearance is required.

Further information of these vacant positions and details on how to apply may be obtained from Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227.

Tuesday Fire Far From Cross Bay Missile Sites

The fire which broke out Tuesday afternoon in the Tennessee Valley area of Marin County did not effect or even come close to endangering Fort Barry or Fort Cronkhite.

A radio signal message reporting a fire was received by Sgt. Henderson of the boat detachment at Fort Baker from the Special Services fishing boat at 1545 Tuesday. The fishing boat had seen the fire from the bay.

Asst. Fire Chief Eckery at Fort Cronkhite was notified and he subsequently notified the Marin County Fire Department. Upon checking the fire area, Chief Eckery learned that the fire had not spread to government land nor was it close to endangering it. Since it was not on federal property, fire equipment was not dispatched to the inflamed area.

Purple Heart Group Granted Congressional Charter in Bill

Washington (AFPS)—Congress has passed and sent to the White House a bill that grants a Congressional Charter to the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Under the provisions of the bill all past, present and future servicemen are eligible to become members of the Order if they merit the decoration.

Introduced by Rep. Olin E. Teague (Dem., Texas), the bill outlines the objectives of the new corporation as educational, fraternal, historical and patriotic in nature.

The bill names 128 charter members, including Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur, Gen. William A. Donovan, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Adm. John M. Hoskins, Gen. Melvin J. Maas, Gen. Patrick J. Hurley and Adm. John F. Ford.

Charter members were authorized under provisions of the bill to complete organization of the corporation by selecting officers and employees; adopting constitution and by-laws, and other necessary functions.

The Purple Heart decoration is the oldest in the Armed Forces. It was founded by Gen. George Washington on Aug. 7, 1782, and is awarded to Armed Forces fighting men for wounds received during combat against an armed enemy of the US.

FROM THE ARMY INFORMATION DIGEST: Installation of an incentive awards system at every level of the Army world-wide made it possible for Army managers to save the American taxpayer more than $17,000,000 last year. Many of these savings will recur on a continuing basis over the years ahead. New ideas in the fields of electronics, flood control, river improvements, food and clothing and medical care have been directly responsive to this system for utilizing and rewarding employee suggestions. The net result has been a substantial contribution to economical Army operation.

Five Win Helicopter Training Certificates

Department of the Army Certificates of Training for completion of an 80-hour H-19 (helicopter) Organizational Maintenance Course, were presented five enlisted men of the 30th Engineer, Topo Battalion, and Sixth U.S. Army Flight Detachment, this week.

Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer, presented the certificates, signed by Brig. Gen. William B. Bunker, Commanding General, Transportation Supply and Maintenance Command, to Sfc. Bruce Chidsey, and Sfc. Paul Bouchard, of the 30th.

Col. C. L. Hankins, Sixth Army Aviation Officer, made the certificate presentation to Pfc. David C. Siegerist.

Sfc. Chaldean Allen, 30th Engineers, and Sp3 Robert Martin, Flight Det., were not present for award ceremonies.

The Transportation Corps has established an Army Aircraft Technical Assistance Program for the purpose of providing aircraft maintenance personnel with information on the latest methods and procedures developed for aircraft maintenance. This information is made available to the Army through teams furnished by the manufacturers who visit each installation and present the latest technical data to Army technicians in the form of courses of instruction. This program is under direct supervision of the Transportation Supply and Maintenance Command, St. Louis, Mo.

The recent graduates were instructed by representatives of the Sikorsky Aircraft Division, United Aircraft Corporation.

1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. Is Runner-Up For Regional Title

In the annual Regional Commander's Trophy, first of its kind to be awarded in the 6th Region ARADCOM, the former 436th AAA Missile Battalion, recently redesignated the 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, at Travis Air Force Base, took second place honors.

First place honors were awarded to the 433rd AAA Missile Battalion at Fort Lawton, Wash., currently redesignated the 4th AAA Missile Battalion, 60th Artillery.

The Commander's Trophy was won on the basis of a command-type inspection covering two broad phases: sustained high performance reports and administrative standards throughout the fiscal year.

Out of a possible score of 1,000, the 4th Missile Battalion, 60th Artillery, reached 842.26. The second place winner scored a total of 825.93 points.

At the time the trophy contest was initiated, the 1st AAA Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, was commanded by Lt. Col. Kirby D. Goldblum. He has since been succeeded by Lt. Col. Ned Ackner.

CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT is presented to Sp4 Robert B. Gibson, 6th Region Communications Center, by Col. Charles H. Blumenfeld (left), 6th Region USARADCOM Deputy Chief of Staff. The certificates were awarded by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw to Gibson and two other men (not pictured), Sp4 Glenn E. Benson and Pfc. Gordon R. Janus, for their superior military service and devotion to their specific duties.

CG Briefs Local Commanders At Key UBAC Meeting

At a UBAC meeting last Friday, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commanding General and chairman of the UBAC military committee, told Army installation commanders of the Bay Area that the UBAC campaign is a splendid opportunity to show the public how well the Army can do in the drive.

Among those present were Brig. Gen. Robert G. MacDonnell, South Pacific Division Engineer; Gen. Edward J. McGaw, 6th ARADCOM; Gen. John W. Harmon, XV Corps, and Gen. Robert C. Tripp, Fort Mason.

Col. Harold C. Lyon, Chief, Sixth Army Information, who also spoke to the group, stressed the importance of good salesmanship in the campaign and urged the keymen to take the "Come-Cre" tour of the agencies supported by UBAC.

The colored film "Stand-By" was shown to the group.

199th MI Detachment Sets Unusual First In UBAC Campaign

Although the United Bay Area Crusade does not officially commence until 22 September, one Presidio group has already turned in its complete returns which totaled an astounding 243.3 per cent of its potential.

The 199 MI Detachment (API) has a strength of five, one officer and four enlisted men and expects to be away during most of the local UBAC campaign.

Its estimated potential donation was $29.99. When the collections were in, the actual UBAC donations totaled $73.00. That is an average of $14.66 per person.

The 199 MI Detachment has far and away exceeded the UBAC's suggested fair share of one day's pay per person.

If everyone were to give as readily and enthusiastically as the 199 MI Detachment, the Presidio would probably score the highest on the United Crusade's flaming torch scoreboard.

Way Back When

Scott Chapel Was Dedicated

On Sunday, 14 September, some 17 years ago, Brig. Gen. Edward A. Stockton, Jr., snipped a ceremonial ribbon and officially opened the Fort Scott chapel.

Now, long after that Sunday in 1941, another Sunday will mark the anniversary of the Catholic-Protestant chapel.

Presidio Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Theodore E. Curtis, Jr., said that no special observance had been planned—"just services as usual."

According to an old Presidio publication which announced the dedication and opening of the Fort Scott chapel (now Bldg. 1389 on Story Ave. near Lincoln Blvd.), the ceremonies were held at 1400 and featured talks by a number of local commanders and chaplains. Music was provided by the 6th Coast Artillery Band.

The Invocation was delivered by Chap. Homer Elliott, Chaplain, Harbor Defenses, while Fourth Army Chaplain William J. Ryan deliberated on The Use of the Chapel. A Col. Baldwin, identified as Commander of the 6th Coast Artillery, cited The Role of the Chapel in the Defense Program; and the Benediction was delivered by a Chaplain Shuder of Letterman General Hospital.

Grandpa, 37, Off For Hawaii, Look At Kid

A 37-year-old grandfather and two-time assistant to the 6th ARADCOM Commander sailed today for Hawaii where he'll get his first peek at his 67-day-old grandson.

He is Sfc. Robert L. Jones, who with his wife, Alice, 36, and the youngest of their two children, 14-year-old Clyde, left Ft. Mason for his new assignment with the Secretary General Staff, USARPAC.

"I can't wait to see the little rascal," Sfc. Jones said before he headed for the gangway. "I hope he and my daughter, La Dean, will be at the dock in Honolulu to meet us."

The baby is the third Robert L. in the sergeant's immediate family — bringing up the rear after his grandfather and his father, Robert Lelanni Kanae.

"But," Sfc. Jones confided, "the 'Robert' part of the kid's name is after me; he only gets his middle name from his father."

La Dean, who will be 20 in December, moved with her 24-year-old husband to Maui, Hawaii, shortly after her marriage a year ago June. At that time, he had finished a four-year hitch in the Marine Corps.

Sfc. Jones explained being a grandfather at 37 this way: "I was 18 and my wife, 17, when we were married early in 1938. La Dean was born that December — so, that made her a bride at 17, too, just like her mother."

Before leaving here after a year at Ft. Baker as Administrative Assistant to 6th ARADCOM Commander, Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, the sergeant was presented a Certificate of Achievement and a personal letter of thanks from Maj. Gen. McGaw.

Sfc. Jones, an Army veteran since 1943, previously had served with Maj. Gen. McGaw's immediate staff when the general commanded KComZ, Korea, in 1954.

Oh, incidentally, to finish a story of coincidences, the sergeant's new boss in Hawaii will be Maj. Alan W. JONES.

Quote of the Week: "It is the duty of each one of us to pay the price of freedom in the golden coin of courage, self-discipline, devotion, and steadfast adherence to the great tenets of our American faith."—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker.

Special Troops Pair Tie For First In Carbine Shoot

Two Sixth Army Headquarters specialists tied for top marksmanship honors last week when more than 300 EM vied during Sixth Army Special Troops annual qualification firing with the .30 calibre carbine. Splitting first place with 198 points out of a possible 200 were Sp4 T. E. Taylor of Chemical Section and Sp4 L. E. Worley of G2.

One point behind the leaders was runner-up, Sgt. Charley Harvey of 102d MRU; and third place went to Sp4 J. E. Fortney (193) of the Flight Detachment Operations Section.

The four top firers were awarded Expert badges this week by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, during informal ceremonies in his office.

Every one of the 305 men who fired qualified — 82 experts, 106 sharpshooters, 123 marksmen.

An accident prevention program has been actively carried on for many years by the Army—first to reduce the suffering and tragedy of accidents, and second to increase the efficient utilization of manpower, equipment and money allocated to carry out the Army's mission. The Army Information Digest reports that typical of the savings generated by the safety program was the reduction in costs to the Government in accident injuries and deaths by $12,000,000 during the last fiscal year. "Savings in equipment and material cannot be estimated," AID said, "but obviously they were enormous."

From The Army Almanac: The Department of the Army was activated under the unification of the services on September 18, 1947.

17 YEARS AGO Brig. Gen. Edward A. Stockton, Jr., cut the ribbon to open the Fort Scott Catholic-Protestant chapel during afternoon ceremonies, Sunday, 14 September.

The program was concluded by an inspection of the chapel, during which Mrs. Lillian Beritzhoff of Oakland, Calif., presented an organ recital.

The Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor 108 days later.

with Christine Johnson

"I'm very dumb when it comes to reading music. I'd rather play by ear," said the Presidio's answer to Elvis Presley.

Pfc. Dannie Ivey is a 19-year-old singing guitar player currently passing his time shooting and developing pictures in the Photo Lab. But it wasn't his MOS rating which blew his name into this office.

The wind of fame carried the southern boy's name from the Service Club where just about every night he strums his guitar and sings everything from low, slow blues to rip roaring rock 'n roll.

Back in 1956, Dannie did in fact appear on the same show with Presley. It was on the "Louisiana Hayride" in Shreveport, a show similar to the Grand Ole Opry. While Dannie was making his regular Saturday night appearances, he was also managing his own band.

There were five in the Riverside Playboys, two electric guitars, one fiddle, one bass fiddle, and Dannie on the rhythm guitar. The fellows used to all play separately, Dannie explained, and then one day they were on a picnic down by the river. Someone got out his guitar, then another fellow, until they were all playing together. That was the beginning. Dannie led the group for two years until he enlisted in the Army.

The most interesting thing about Dannie Ivey is that he never took music lessons. His dad and brother play the guitar, and somewhere along the line, Dannie learned how. "I don't know," he said. "I'm just kinda partial to guitar music."

Among the other instruments which Dannie Ivey somehow just learned to play are the piano, mandolin, fiddle, and harmonica.

Some of you may have heard the boy from Arkansas up at the Service Club singing a few of his favorites, Big River, Invitation to the Blues, or Summertime Blues.

If you have heard Dannie Ivey playing his guitar and singing in his subtle southern accent, then you know that the Tank Corps has nothing over the Photo Lab.

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

Everybody loves a heavy spender—at least they love his money. If you've been overseas you know the type: the U.S. serviceman who makes a show of throwing his money around and thinks he's a hit with people.

He isn't. You can't buy the friendship of people whose living standards are meager compared to yours. They may take your greenbacks but privately they think waste is the mark of a fool.

So you only give your fellow countrymen a black eye by being the big man with the buck, the dope with the dollar, among other peoples. Especially right now it is vital to the U. S. that they see us as we really are—their friends.

Well, how did you go about convincing them of our friendship? By setting down your experiences in not more than 500 words you stand to win an award of as much as $1,000 in Freedom Foundation's Letter Writing Awards program.

He is Lt. Col. STANLEY M. PECK, 50, on active duty since October, 1940, and currently studying Business Administration-Social Sciences at San Francisco State College.

Lt. Col. Peck, who during World War II in the Southwest Pacific (April 1942-late 1944) with the 40th Infantry Division as a Weapons Company Commander and Battalion S3, enlisted in the National Guard in 1939 and earned a commission in it in 1936. He came on active duty four years later with the New York National Guard.

This is Lt. Col. Peck's second trip to San Francisco and the Presidio. In 1945, he was assigned to the Recruiting Main Station at 444 Market Street after a short tour at Cp. Roberts. Later, he transferred to the Sixth Army Recruiting District here.

In 1950, he went to Nuremberg for a three-year stay as Post Billeting Officer and then as a staff member in the Post Comptroller Budget and Fiscal Section.

The next two years he was Deputy Post Comptroller at Ft. Ord, and then he shipped to Korea for a year's duty in KMAG as Advisor to the Korean Army Budget Chief. From Korea, he transferred to Cp. Zama, Japan, where for the year and a half before he came to the Presidio, he was Post Comptroller.

He and his wife, Clasiena, make their home in San Francisco.

Maj. DOROTHY T. CHILDERS, new Presidio Assistant S1, comes here after duty for the past three years and nine months at Department of the Army where she served in the Adjutant General Enlisted Section Assignment Branch.

At TAG, she was responsible for the assignment of all enlisted WACs and of certain special category EM and EW.

Maj. Childers enlisted in the WAAC on 10 July, 1942, spent several months as a classification specialist and then entered WAAC OCS at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa. She was commissioned in March, 1943.

After a short tour in the WAAC Headquarters, Washington, D. C., and attendance at the AG Officers' Classification Course (AG School, Ft. Washington, Md.), she transferred to Ft. Lewis, Wash., in October, 1943. Until February, 1945, she remained there as Post C & A Officer.

Her next assignment, which carried through until she was released from active duty in March, 1946, was as commander of two WAC hospital companies at Birmingham General Hospital, Calif.

Out of the Army, she spent two years as secretary to the manager, JATO Division, Aerojet General Corp., in Azusa, Calif. But, in December, 1948, she re-entered the WAC as a captain and was assigned to the Fourth Infantry Division, Ft. Ord, as Assistant C & A Officer. She then was handed the job of implementing the infant career guidance program within the division.

Exactly two years later, she went to Yokohama, Japan, where she served with the Second Transportation Major Port in the Troop Movement Division. Before she returned to the States two years later, she was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

From October, 1952, until December, 1954, she again was assigned to Ft. Ord, but this time as C & A Officer in the Reception Station of the Personnel Center there.

Maj. Childers, who attended the University of Southern California for two years (1924-26), calls Southern California home.

Capt. LEO H. CAPOCCHI has recently been assigned as a general medical officer at the Post Dispensary. The 28-year-old physician, who entered the Army in February, 1957, has spent the past 16 months in Korea—first with the Seventh Infantry Division Headquarters Dispensary and later at the 121st Evacuation Hospital.

A graduate of the University of Illinois (1951) and the Medical School there (1955), Capt. Capocchi completed his internship in Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

New Chaplain for the Fourth Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, is Capt. HAROLD A. CLARKE, JR., a Methodist minister who joined the Chaplains 26 April, 1954.

A little more than a year later, the 37-year-old Chaplain went to Hanau, Germany, where he served until coming here.

He and his family are currently living in Mill Valley.

Second Lt. ROBERT H. SCHUMACHER, new Integrated Fire Control Platoon Leader in Battery A, Second Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, is now in his first assignment since entering the Army early last month.

He was a distinguished military student at the University of California, where he earned a degree in political science.

Healthy Feet

A Soldier's Responsibility

Washington (AFPS)—It's a soldier's responsibility to keep his feet healthy at all times.

An article in a recent military medical journal points out that even in this age of pushbutton warfare the need remains to maintain proper foot health.

Frostbite, dermatological afflictions, and foot injuries due to accidents, the article said, are the cause of many Army casualties. An estimated 90,000 cases of foot injuries due to cold were reported during WWII.

The Army has done its share to keep soldiers' feet healthy. One of the most concentrated studies on shoes ever made in this country was begun in 1908 when the War Department appointed a board to study causes and cure diseases of the foot.

The board's conclusions were published in 1917 by Brig. Gen. Edward L. Munson, MC, who devised the "Munson last" worn by soldiers in three wars.

The Army also has established a podiatry group in its Medical Service Corps which provides specialized care for the soldiers' feet.

Training Questions

Q. I am slated to take a night course in the fall which was suggested to me by my supervisor. The purpose of this course is to enlarge upon my skills to make me more useful to my agency. I was going to have to pay for this training with my own personal funds. Under the new training act, will my agency pay for it?

A. Your agency has authority to pay for out-service training. In view of the shortness of time in your case, you would do well to discuss the new authority with your supervisor as soon as you can. Then, it will be up to him to consult with the proper officials in your agency to see if such training meets the requirements, if funds can be made available, and if you would be selected for the training under your agency's policy.

Q. Is it true that the new act permits employees to accept scholarships from outside organizations?

A. Yes, the act allows certain types of contributions and awards, made by nonprofit tax-exempt organizations in connection with training, to be accepted by Federal employees under conditions to be prescribed by Presidential regulations. These have not yet been issued. Example: Rockefeller Public Service Awards.

Q. Can agencies send employees at Government expense to professional meetings?

A. Yes, the law permits agencies to send employees at Government expense to meetings concerned with supervision and management, as well as those concerned with specific statutory functions.

Q. Will the Civil Service Commission consult with agency and employee representatives before issuing training regulations?

A. Yes. Meetings with agency officials are underway. Meetings with other interested organizations will come later.

Washington (ANS) — The annual meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army being held 20-22 October here at the Sheraton-Park Hotel will highlight the Army's unique capabilities in warfare. Theme of the 1958 meeting is "The United States Army, Ready for Action—Any Kind, Any Time, Any Place."

Presidio Dodgers Win Pony League Pennant

★★★ Trounce Braves Twice In Garrison Finish

Presidio's indomitable Dodger baseball team wrote a story-book finish to the 1958 Pony League season last Saturday as they took a double-header (5-0, 14-9) from their arch rivals, the XV Corps Braves, to win undisputed possession of the league pennant.

Counted out more than once, the rugged, little Dodgers had to win five of their last six games, four of them from the Braves, to garner the league championship. They had dropped a close 4-3 decision to the Braves on Thursday and had to go-for-broke in the Saturday meeting.

In the final analysis, it was the right handed slants of tough Mike Hulsey, plus the big-sticking of the entire Dodger team, that subdued the favored Braves and sent some 350 rabid, partisan fans home hoarse of throat and limp of body.

After shutting out the Braves in the first game, Hulsey came back as a fireman in the fourth inning of the second game to put out a Braves rally and go the distance. He gained credit for both wins.

Norton Jackson got the Dodgers off to a fast start in the first inning of the opener as he singled, stole second, went to third on a fielder's choice, and came home on a single by Larry McFarlin.

Pitcher Hulsey ended the inning without letting the Braves get a runner on base.

After a scoreless second and third, John Walker took a base on balls for the Post team in the top of the fourth, and Tom Delaney was given a free base when he was hit by a pitched ball; Curt Whall smashed a long drive to deep left, bringing in Walker, and was followed by Lodato, who struck out.

Another run came in for the winners in the fourth, when, with Bert Huffman at the plate, Delaney stole home.

Going into the bottom of the fourth for the Braves Will Alboras gained a single on an error by Walker, Earl Stewart hit to shortstop, Alboras was put out in an unsuccessful double play attempt, Zifcak singled, Stewart was out on second, Clark doubled to deep left end Mlaker was out on first, ending the inning.

Following an uneventful fifth the Dodgers rallied again in the sixth as Whall hit a long double with the bases loaded, but was put out going to second.

Only man on base for the Braves was Stewart, who went to first on an error.

In the last inning it was three up and three down for both teams.

The Dodgers got off to a one run lead in the first inning of the second game as McFarlin went to first, advanced to third on a double by Walker, and stole home.

At the top of the second the Braves began to come out of their slump when Thuss singled with bases loaded, and Stewart doubled, driving in two more runs.

The Braves scored another run in the third when Clark tripled, bringing in Zifcak.

Delaney boosted the Dodgers' total when he brought Walker in with a two bagger.

An exciting fourth inning found the two teams tied at 7-7.

Clark accounted for the Braves' tying runs when he slammed a triple into deep center with the bases loaded.

For the Dodgers Huffman came home on a walk, McFarlin doubled, bringing two runs in, Lowe came in on a pass ball, and Lodato singled, driving in McFarlin for the seventh run.

Five more runs were gained by the Dodgers in the fifth when McFarlin singled in Hulsey, Delaney brought in Lowe, Whall doubled with two on, and Lodato singled to bring in Delaney.

The final two runs came for the Dodgers in the bottom of the sixth with Jackson and McFarlin scoring.

Despite a last ditch rally that added two more runs to the Braves' total in the seventh, the defending champions were out-hit, out-pitched, and out-distanced and the "king" was dead . . . long reign the new champs.

Stock Aids Oregon Team To National Semi-Pro Crown

Ace right-hander for the Presidio Toreros, Wes Stock, also proved to be an ace pitcher for Drain, Ore., as they took top honors recently in the United States Semi-Pro Baseball Championship at Wichita, Kansas.

A native of Allyn, Washington, Wes was on the mound for Oregon in their final game when they squeezed a tight win from Alpine, Texas.

The Drain team also defeated Texas in the fifth game, which Wes started pitching but had to stop when he was hit by a batted ball.

Wes, who played for the Drain team during a leave, will now go with them to compete in the Global World Series. It is as yet undecided as to when and where these games will be held.

A former Washington State star, Wes now holds a contract with the Baltimore Orioles, and will report to them for spring training next year.

For the Toreros this year, Stock has a 17-3 record, and pitched a shut-out against Fort Ord in Sixth U.S. Army competition.

LAH-PSF Fencers Meet To Plan 58-59 Season Tucson Matches Set

Letterman and Presidio fencers will meet tomorrow to set up 1958-1959 season competition for the Northern California, Pacific Coast and U.S. National Championships.

Also under discussion will be a forthcoming meet in Tucson against various teams from the Southwestern and Los Angeles divisions.

The two-day foil, sabre and epee matches will be sponsored by the Davis-Monthan AFB.

Yesterday Letterman and Presidio fencers showed their skill against each other at the Letterman Sports Center.

Army Retains Team Titles In NRA Meet

Army teams blasted their way to the first three places in the infantry trophy match last Saturday to close out the month-long National Rifle and Pistol Matches in a burst of glory.

The top team, the U.S. Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit Blue Team, shot a record shattering 1,001 points in the complicated scoring formula to give the Army possession of the trophy for another year.

The Grey Team with 941 points smashed the old record of 894 set by a Marine team in 1956. The top two teams were units representing the USA AMU.

Third place was captured by the First US Army Area Team from Ft. Dix, N. J. with 922 points.

Crack Marine teams finished fourth, fifth, and sixth. But the best score they could manage was 889, more than one hundred points behind the leading Army team.

In the Infantry Trophy match, the six-man teams fired on eight targets from distances of 600 to 200 yards. Hits from longer ranges are weighted more heavily and a bonus is allowed for each target with six or more hits at the end of each of the four stages of the match. Because of the scoring used, only a team counted. No individual scores can be tabulated.

Members of the Army Blue Team were Capt. James Brannon, Capt. John Parks, Sfc. Kenneth Evans, Sfc. Marvin Fitzpatrick, Sfc. James Tuck and Sgt. Ferdinand Eysel.

The Grey Team was composed of Capt. Stanford Brantley, Sfc. Ronald Barenaba, Sfc. Herbert Koch, Sfc. Henry Mele, Sfc. Charles Summerfield, and Cpl. Neil Fost.

Those in the First Army Team were Capt. William Deans, 1st Lt. Max Aaron, Sfc. Luis Perez, Sgt. Edward Auvil, Sgt. John Kingter, and Pfc. Harry Carlson, Jr.

Victory in the Infantry trophy match gave the Army a clean sweep of the National Trophy Team matches in both pistol and rifle competition.

In next year's matches, scheduled for 1 August through 31 August, the Army will be out to defend the team titles and wrest the individual titles from Marine shooters.

Win Shuffleboard Try

Hqs. Btry. and A Btry. claimed the winners in the 2nd Battalion, 51st Artillery indoor shuffleboard tournament recently held at the Ft. Baker Service Club.

Sp4 Willard Avery, Hqs., was the singles champ, while Sgt. Russell P. Cox and PFC Terry D. Munro, A Btry., took top honors in the doubles matches.

Oozles Stay Ahead Of Islanders In 2nd Msl. Bn. Bowling

The Oozlefinches continued their winning ways in the 2nd Battalion, 51st Arty, bowling league as they took three games from the Angels. Beam blasted out a 184-503 for the winners while Sye rolled a 151-403 for the losers.

Keeping right behind the leaders were the Islanders who won four games from the Rafael Nike Strikers. Lundahl of the Islanders had a 212-577 while Madden paced the losers with a 151-380.

The Baenziger's Rangers took 3½ games from the Five-Niners with Sweeden pacing the winners with 201-543 while Schueller led the losers with a 163-444.

The Oozlefinches are still maintaining their slim two game lead over the Islanders as they enter the eighth week.

Standings to date:

|               | Won | Lost |
|---------------|-----|------|
| Oozlefinches  | 21  | 7    |
| Islanders     | 19  | 9    |
| Angels        | 15  | 13   |
| Rangers       | 13½ | 14½  |
| Five-Niners   | 11½ | 16½  |
| Nike Strikers | 4   | 24   |

Skymasters Stay In Regional Play

Service Club Slates Junior Olympics Here

Don't wait until 1960 to enter the International Olympic Games! Bring your javelins and shot puts to the Junior Olympic Meet scheduled for Saturday, 20 September.

The events will begin at 1300 and continue until 1700 at the baseball field adjacent to the Post Exchange Building.

Everyone is invited to come and cheer the teen-age participants on to victory.

The activities, all of which will be held simultaneously, range from the hula-hoop to high jump, shot put, javelin toss, a bicycle obstacle course and many other challenges of athletic abilities.

The Junior Olympic Meet is sponsored by the Presidio Service Club.

Volleyball Season Opener Due At Travis On Monday

In their first match of the 1958-59 season the Presidio volleyball team will tackle Travis AFB Monday in the Ft. Scott Gym at 1900 hours.

Runner up in last years Armed Forces tournament, Travis will be stiff competition, especially since they still have the same team, while the Toreros have only one returning veteran, M/Sgt. Catilino Ignacio, team coach.

Under the direction of Sgt. Ignacio the Post netters this year will be defending their All RAADCOM and All Army championships. Personnel interested in trying out should contact Sgt. Ignacio at the Ft. Scott Gym, Ext. 5162.

Kops, Recruiters Gain Early Wood In Winter Bowl

At the end of the first night of Presidio Winter Bowling League play Monday, the Keystone Kops, Recruiters, 60th CI Det. and Islanders all had gained 4-0 wins over their opponents.

Beveridge, with 639-243, led the Kops to victory over the Shafers and also took high man honors for the night. Top kegler for the losers, Opozda, rolled a 523-213.

With their top man, Volton, racking up a score of 536-180 the Recruiters trampled the Kingpins, who were led by a high score of 520-179, bowled by Tracy.

In the match between the Islanders and the Alley Rats, Lundahl rolled 536-203, followed closely by Iwai, with 521-181.

Schweikhard, top kegler for the SFAADS, totaled 450-172, but couldn't keep pace with winning kegler, Ogle, who earned a 468-165 for the 60th CI Det.

USA Stars In Pentathlon

Fort Sam Houston, Texas (ANS)—Four U.S. Army athletes will represent the United States in the Pentathlon World Championships at Aldershot, England, and a Swiss Invitational Pentathlon Meet this fall.

Chosen as a result of a seven-day Pentathlon trial here, members of the U.S. Modern Pentathlon team are 1st Lieutenant Jack Daniels, Corporal Dick Stoll, Private First Class Leslie Bleamaster, and Master Sergeant Dick Ellis.

Basketball Team Depleted; Seek New Volunteers

Private First Class John Vesevich, only returning veteran on the Presidio basketball team, joined with manager Hal Fischer this week in making a plea for more players.

This year the team will be defending five titles: Sixth Army Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic, Bay Area Armed Forces, Northern California Armed Forces and Central Sixth Army championships and are also runner-up in the Southwestern championship.

Gone from last year's top notch team are All American, Carroll Williams; All Collegiate Pacific Coast, Tony Psaltis; All New York Metropolitan, Hubie Brown and Honorable Mention All American, Al Herring.

Anyone who likes to play basketball and wants to try out for a spot with the post champs should contact Coach Fischer, at 3968, for a tryout.

Highlights of this season will be played in the Armed Forces League, Army Tournament, Southwestern Invitational at Las Vegas and Pacific Coast AAU Championships.

Because of restricted railroad travel as a result of war traffic major league teams, during 1943, trained in the North for the first time in modern history.

Glitter Of Pro Gold Doesn't Impress Nike OCS Candidate

Not all of America's bright young college football prospects succumb to the lure of pro gold.

Case in point: Pfc. Malcolm T. Tengler, a topflight defensive left end with the Rice Institute Owls for three years, now serving with Hq. 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty, as a draftsman.

Tengler turned down tryout offers from the 49ers, Washington Redskins and the L.A. Rams in 1957 for what he considered two better offers: (1) Completion of an outstanding obligation to Uncle Sam; (2) A running start in his chosen profession—architecture.

"Dicky Moegle, my roommate, was headed for the 49ers (he made it), but, I just couldn't see any future in pro ball then, still don't."

Tengler attended Rice on a full football scholarship and went great guns until the opening game of the '57 season.

"Maybe I would have gone on in the football wars if it hadn't been for a bad—or good—break in the opening game against LSU. I was in on offense late in the game and we were trailing 21-20, deep in our own territory. Our bench noted a pass defense weakness and the quarterback sent me down and in for a 15 yard pass. I nailed it and hit the ground running, moving the ball to the three yard line where I was smeared, and I mean really smeared. I didn't get up."

The break was a broken leg and, though Tengler's long run provided the game winning margin when the fullback crashed over on the next play, his football career was over.

Lose To LA; Then Beat Hanford Team Twice

The 29th Artillery Group Skymasters (1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery) won the fourth game on Wednesday of the 6th ARADCOM Softball Tournament, 4-2, from Camp Hanford's 1st Missile Battalion, 52d Artillery, to stay in contention for the regional title. They were slated to meet once-beaten Los Angeles, 4th Missile Battalion, 65th Artillery, yesterday in what may have been the tourney's final game.

In the first game on Wednesday the Hanford team dumped the LA group, 4-1.

The Bay Area team won the tournament opener Tuesday with a 6-5 victory over the Washington team, but suffered a 5-0 defeat when they met the Los Angelenos in the second contest.

San Francisco capitalized on two hits, two walks, two errors and a hit batsman in the second inning to take the lead, 5-0.

The Skymasters cinched their win in the fifth when pitcher Billy Nolen singled centerfielder Bernie Glesky to third, and the leftfielder, Lee Gardiner, let the hit get past him, allowing Glesky to score.

Hanford scored a pair of runs in the fourth and another pair in the fifth, when pitcher Jim Sloan raced home on a sacrifice fly to left by centerfielder John Oakley, and catcher Joe Laverdiere lay down a squeeze bunt to score Matt Soerries.

Bob Moriel's three-hit shutout in the second game kept the 1st Battalion from even getting a man on second. He allowed them no more than one hit in any inning, only walked one man while striking out four.

Three of the winning five runs came for L.A. in the third when a throwing error allowed Larry Upp to advance to second, and Gumecindo Laurel singled him across the plate. Right fielder Jess Wallace singled, advancing Laurel to second, and third baseman Lyle Heding belted a hard drive past third scoring both baserunners.

In games yesterday to decide the actual regional champion, Los Angeles played San Francisco at 1300 and Hanford at 1500.

Prehistoric man, realizing that he might have to meet wild beasts in close encounter and that the knowledge of effective grips was important, indulged in contests with members of his family, or neighbors, so that each could learn how to grapple effectively with animals.

Sees bright year for rookies.

"I knew I would be out most of the season and decided to concentrate on my studies. I just never got back to football."

Tengler thinks this year's crop of rookies are the greatest. He is particularly high on two ex-Rice stars: Frankie Ryan, a top passer with Rice and slated to see action with the L.A. Rams; King Hill, the brilliant All-American quarterback, who will play for the Chi Cards.

He also predicts bright careers for two other rookies: John Crow, architecture, the 25-year-old Texas A. & M. and Washington Redskins and Herb Gray, who he thinks went to the N.Y. Giants. "I played with or against most of this year's rookie crop from the Southwest Conference and though they are all good, I believe these four have the best chance to stay in the pros."

Tengler recently completed the Ft. Ord NCO Academy at the top of his class and is currently awaiting orders to OCS at Ft. Benning. He also has been named soldier of the month during his service as a Nikeman.

Besides sketching and keeping up with the latest advancements in architecture, the 25-year-old soldier builds and flies model planes. As for the future, well he plans to give the old college try at OCS and who knows he just might stay for thirty.

270 Due Permanent Promotions In Sixth Army

SILVER EAGLES are pinned on the shoulders of Col. Earl A. Cash, Deputy Chief of Supply, Rocky Shoals, during a promotion ceremony. Securing the birds in proper position are Rear Admiral Robert H. Speck, USN, Deputy Maneuver Director, Rocky Shoals, and Brig. Gen. Francis Hill, Chief of Staff.

Hercules Test Rocky Shoals Marine Wins Colonel's Eagles

The silver eagles of a Marine Corps Colonel were pinned on the shoulders of Earl A. Cash by Rear Admiral Robert H. Speck, Deputy Maneuver Director of Exercise Rocky Shoals, and Army Brigadier General Francis Hill at a ceremony here on 5 September.

Colonel Cash is currently on duty with the Maneuver Director's Headquarters as the Deputy Chief for Supply. Prior to his assignment with Rocky Shoals, he was Officer-in-Charge of the Logistic School at the Landing Forces training Unit, Coronado, Calif.

After his graduation from the University of Vermont in 1940, Col. Cash was commissioned a 2d lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps and assigned to duty on the aircraft carrier, USS Lexington. He was aboard it when it was sunk during the battle of the Coral Sea.

In addition to serving nearly three years in the Pacific during World War II, Col. Cash spent two years in China with the 1st Marine Division. Following a three-year assignment in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense, from 1952 to 1955, he served for a year with the 3d Marine Division in Okinawa and Japan.

Had launcher emplacements been previously prepared, the Hercules batteries could have gone into action within hours after arrival.

According to Brig. Gen. Snodgrass, a field type mobile launcher now under development will soon eliminate the requirement for prepared emplacements for Hercules.

Ground and air mobility tests with the Ajax conducted at Ft. Bliss during the past year prove that an Ajax unit could be moved great distances by air transport and then emplace and fire in less than three hours after arriving at a new location.

Ground tests show that the entire unit, including vans and radar, could be dug-in for blast protection and camouflaged against observation without loss of efficiency. Missiles can be re-supplied with full warheads by H-37 helicopter.

Six Hercules missiles were fired during the test in Florida, three of which carried conventional warheads. The remaining three rounds carried full instrumentation instead of warheads and provided valuable information. All rounds performed perfectly.

Nike Hercules is currently on-site and operational at New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Washington-Baltimore. It will be operational at Philadelphia in the next 10 days and during the next six months, many additional metropolitan areas will be defended by the Hercules missile.

Missile Sites RA Ranks Thaw For First Time In Eight Years

The Nike sites will be selected on the basis of least disruption to the local economy and community. In choosing possible sites, representatives of Sixth Army emphasized the Department of the Army policy to use the least amount of land for such installations.

Final determination of the exact locations will not be made until all necessary surveys have been completed and approved by Department of the Army. Only enough acreage required to emplace, operate and administer the Nike system and to afford adequate safety protection will be acquired.

A typical Nike installation consists of two main areas—a control area and a launcher area. These are usually one-half to two miles apart. The acreage needed for a typical installation will vary with terrain, safety factors, utilities and access roads.

Due to the complexity of the guided missile equipment, and the characteristics of the guided missile radars, relatively few locations are suitable for sites.

Where possible, the Nike sites will be placed on federal, state or county-owned lands in order to hold purchase of private property to an absolute minimum, Army authorities said.

Sixth Army officials emphasized that elaborate precautions have been taken in the design and handling of the Nike-Hercules to prevent accidents, either on the ground or in the air. The Army officials further stated that there is no radiation hazard in transit or storage of the atomic warhead and that there will be no radiation hazard to people living near or passing by locations where the nuclear warhead missiles may be deployed.

Research and development studies were begun on the Nike system in 1945 by an Army-industry team including the Army Ordnance Corps, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric Company and Douglas Aircraft Company.

At present, the only Nike-Hercules missile site west of the Mississippi is located in Los Angeles.

Top Staff Changes Made At XV Corps

Establishment here last week of a long-programmed major subordinate headquarters of XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) was cause for shuffling two key staff officers at the parent headquarters and the assignment of a third.

New headquarters is that for Northern California Sector, which had been planned when the Corps was activated in early February this year.

Named to head it is Col. James B. Evans, who stepped out as Corps Chief of Staff to take the job. The 29-year veteran and his staff will be located in Building 907, Presidio.

Corps Chief of Staff is now Col. Edward B. Hempstead, former Presidio Executive Officer who has been Corps G4 since activation of the headquarters. He also is a 29-year veteran.

The G4 slot has now been filled by Lt. Col. Harold J. Pangle, who previously had been Acting G4 at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

First English Visitor

The HMS Discovery, skippered by Captain George Vancouver was the first non-Spanish ship to enter San Francisco Bay. He visited the area first in 1792 and returned in 1793.

Engineer Brigade Commander Wins First Star Rank

Colonel Richard E. Fisher, Commander of the 499th Engineer Brigade, U.S. Army Reserve, has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier General.

Major General John W. Harmony, Commanding General of the XVth U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) pinned on the new stars for General Fisher at a ceremony at the Brigade headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco.

General Fisher was named as acting commander of the Brigade in September 1956 and he assumed command in February 1958. The brigade has units in Northern California and Nevada.

In civilian life, General Fisher is the ground operations manager for Pan American World Airways Pacific Division.

General Fisher was called into active Army duty in December 1940 as a member of the Staff and Faculty of the Engineers School, Fort Belvoir, Virginia. In 1941 he went to Iceland, where he served as Operations Officer on the staff of the Base Engineer, Iceland Base Command. In November 1943 he became the Engineer with the 8th Air Force Service Command. In October 1945, he served with the United States Armed Forces in Europe as the Engineer. Upon his return to the United States in September 1946 he was released from active duty.

Overseas Teachers

Washington (ANS)—More than 1,000 school teachers are in the process of arriving in Europe and the Far East to teach in the Army's Dependent School Program. These thousand are but a part of the huge force of dedicated civilians required to staff the Armed Forces overseas schools.

VA Says NSLI Has NOT Been Re-opened To Vets

GI life insurance has NOT been re-opened for veterans who allowed their term policies to lapse after World War II, Veterans Administration said recently.

The agency said the statement was prompted by many inquiries from World War II veterans seeking to get back their long-lapsed National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) term policies.

News of a Congressional bill containing an amendment which would have provided for a general re-opening of NSLI to World War II veterans was widely circulated in mid-August, VA added.

But—VA emphasized—the bill was later changed to eliminate the NSLI re-opening provision.

After an eight-year rank freeze, permanent grades are in store for 270 Sixth U.S. Army NCO's and specialists between now and 31 December, according to Enlisted Personnel Services Branch of Sixth Army Adjutant General Section.

Installation breakdown of the allocations has not yet been made, a spokesman for the Branch said.

Warrants to be issued, by grades, are: E7, 75; E6, 73; E5, 122.

Army-wide, quotas for warrants in these three grades will total 3,900. Selection of individuals was started the first of this month.

In grades E4 and below, permanent grades have been awarded since 1 July. Such warrants have been issued by installation and unit commanders, however.

To be considered for permanent appointment, E7's must have 15 years' service; E6's, 11 years; and E5's, 7 years and be recommended by their commanding officers.

Time-in-grade requirements are two or more years in grade.

Soldiers promoted to super-grades E8 and E9 will not be eligible for permanent warrants for at least two years, the Department of the Army announced.

The only permanent enlisted promotions made since August 1950 were to E2 and a one-grade jump after 29 years' service.

NEW MEDICARE permit above will be mandatory after 1 Oct., 1958, for dependents residing with their military sponsors in seeking civilian medical attention in which the government will share the expense. It will be issued on the authority and approval of the local surgeon at installations in the U.S. and the Territories of Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska, and will be required for all dependents who wish to obtain treatment at other than uniformed services facilities.

XV Corps Commander

The United Bay Area Crusade is a major means of identifying ourselves as good citizens and helpful neighbors in the communities where we live. The opportunity to benefit a large number of charities with only one donation should be a welcomed one.

Many worthy organizations will benefit by our contributions, whether they are large or small. It is incumbent on each of us to contribute a fair share towards this worthy cause.

Missile Master in Philly

Washington (ANS)—The city of "brotherly love," Philadelphia, Penn., has been selected by the Department of the Army as next to receive Missile Master protection against air attack.

Missile Master is the Army's electronic control system which coordinates the operation of such famed air defense weapons as the Nike-Ajax, Nike-Hercules and the Hawk.

LAH Message

On 22 September, 1958, Letterman Army Hospital personnel, both military and civilian, will be given an opportunity to again participate in the United Bay Area Crusade.

This is our one chance each year to prove that we are a part of the San Francisco community and are proud to contribute a fair share in support of the various civic agencies from which we accrue direct benefits.

I wish to urge all of you to bear your fair share of this, your community obligation.

Medicare Permits Must Start Next Month

Washington (AFPS)—Dependents living with their service sponsors will be required to have special authority for medical attention at other than military facilities after 1 Oct. according to Medicare officials.

Under recent changes to the Dependents' Medical Care Act, wives, children and dependent husbands residing with their military sponsors will be authorized treatment only at uniformed services facilities, if care is determined to be available and adequate by the local installation surgeon.

When authorized medical attention is not available from service facilities, a dependent must get a Medicare permit from the appropriate installation authority to seek civilian care in which the Government will share the expense.

This permit, for immediate use, is the only means by which dependents can obtain authorized medical attention from civilian sources under the revised Medicare program.

In some cases, Medicare officials explained, government-paid medical care by civilian physicians and hospitals may be provided without the permit. These are instances of acute emergencies requiring hospitalization at the nearest hospital in order to preserve life and prevent undue suffering.

The attending physician, however, must state in making his claim for fee reimbursement that the case is actually an "acute emergency."

Medical facilities at each military installation in the US and the Territories of Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska will be prepared to issue the new Medicare permit to dependents—where determined necessary—when the changes in the program go into effect next month.

The permit requirement will not apply to dependents who are not living with their sponsors and who are otherwise eligible for civilian medical attention under the law, the Office of Dependent Medical Care said.

Armed Forces families residing together, however, are cautioned that they may have to bear the full cost of care from civilian sources unless the permit is obtained prior to seeking off-base treatment.

6th ARADCOM CG

United States Army Air Defense Command units, because of their military mission, are geographically isolated from the activities normally provided to other soldiers by larger military installations and are dependent on nearby civilian communities for many of these activities. The widespread participation in community affairs by Army Air Defense personnel has been of great mutual benefit to the communities and to the personnel.

Embracing as it does many aspects of community life and discharging numerous community responsibilities, the United Bay Area Crusade merits our energetic support. I commend it to 6th Region United States Army Air Defense Command personnel at all levels, and it is my wish that all personnel be encouraged and given an opportunity to support this most worthy cause.

Final Plans Readied For Annual Drive

With the United Bay Area Crusade due to fire its first salvo on Monday 22 September, military and civilian members of the commands based on the Presidio and its subposts were busily engaged in finalizing local and area campaign plans today.

Assignment and briefing of keymen had been completed. Posters, many of them uniquely encased and displayed, were getting the final touches. Units and sections were scheduling showings of the UBAC films "Standby" (in color) and "Give Us This Day."

Down at XV Corps Maj. Paul H. Bouchard, local chairman, readied special plastic lapel pins in the form of progress thermometers for use by his keymen. "We made the pins ourselves and I really think it was a stroke of genius. By keeping the pins up to date, each unit will know what the other is doing and this will spur competition."

As 6th ARADCOM plans were near completion on a participation thermometer and the scheduling of "come-see" tours were being stressed for all unit keymen.

Letterman Army Hospital expected to follow closely the plans that have made their past campaigns so successful. With some "special ideas" in reserve should the drive lag.

At the Presidio plans were going ahead for top "visual and personal contact with each potential giver" according to Col. H. M. Brown, Presidio campaign chairman. "We're aiming at maximum participation and maximum contribution."

Presidio MPs contributed a sharp idea for publicizing the local campaign by attaching specially constructed bumper posters to their vehicles. An unusual revolving sign at the cor-

CGs UBAC Message

On 22 September, nearly 50,000 volunteer solicitors will aim for a goal of $11,750,000 in contributions to support the activities of the United Bay Area Crusade during the coming year. The money goes to support more than 250 voluntary health, welfare, and youth agencies in the five Bay area counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco, and San Mateo. In addition to these volunteer solicitors, there are hundreds of people who contribute unstintingly of their time, efforts, and money to make life more comfortable for those less fortunate than themselves.

The members of the Army have always demonstrated a traditional interest in the communities in which they are stationed and have established a splendid record in assuming their obligations as community residents. As part of the Bay area community, members of the Army and its civilian employees have been asked to contribute their fair share to this effort. Most of us, because of our duties, do not have the time to devote individual efforts to UBAC activities but we can — and should — contribute our fair share of money to this very worthy cause.

I cannot urge too strongly that each of you, military as well as civilian, "give your fair share of assistance." I am confident that all of us will do our part and that, as a result, the Army participation in this campaign will be an overwhelming success.

Sixth Army has initiated work (see cut) on a unique, 14-foot high participation marker that will show Army success during the month-long campaign. Shoot the Moon will theme the giant marker and a missile will indicate upward progress.

Several other ideas for "stimulating continuous interest and hyping any lag" are being considered. "We're not wasting all our effort on one big punch," stated Maj. J. J. Earley, publicity advisor and a member of the planning committee. "We've got several things in the hopper and as the campaign progresses we'll make good tactical use of each one."

AUSA Display Set

Washington (ANS)—The Army's newest equipment will be on exhibition 20-22 October when the Association of the U.S. Army holds its annual meeting here in the Nation's capitol. The exhibits will include demonstrations as well as displays of some of the latest developments by the Army, including experimental and prototype models.

Has Happened Here

Trouble Isn't Choosey

Trouble is about the same all over, and military families have many of the same problems as civilians. That's why United Crusade helps service people and civilians alike.

Red Cross, Salvation Army and Travelers' Aid help thousands of Bay Area service families every year. But do you know that there are about 250 other United Crusade agencies open to service people as well as civilians?

There was a young couple stationed here not long ago. Nobody had taught them the hard facts about budgets and bill collectors. And last year they were so swamped with debts that their marriage almost went under.

The Legal Aid Society, a part of the Crusade, straightened out this couple's tangled finances and got them back on their feet.

"At least 20 servicemen come to us every month. Besides that, we get about 50 other cases a month involving service dependents and families, says David A. Silver, chief counsel for the San Francisco Legal Aid Society.

An Oakland Army captain's wife is completely crippled with multiple sclerosis. Letterman Army Hospital called on the Visiting Nurse Association, another Crusade agency. And VNA has been giving home care to this woman since late 1956.

Catholic Social Service was the answer for a family man at the U.S. Army Transportation Center in Oakland. His wife was rushed to the hospital with a pregnancy disorder, and he was left alone with five little children.

CSS, which is still another Crusade agency, sent out a trained homemaker. She stayed about two months and helped the family through the crisis and helped care for the new baby.

"Almost everyone needs personal or family counselling at some point in life. And military families are no exception," say the United Crusade Family Service Agencies. There are a dozen of them, and they help many service-connected people.

Marin Family Service Agency, for example, counselled about 40 persons from Hamilton Air Force Base last year. These were officers, enlisted men and wives.

And the United Crusade helps kids grow up right and stay out of trouble. That's what the Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, CYO, Boys' Clubs and other Crusade youth groups are for. Neighborhood centers belonging to Crusade help too.

Old people also call on Crusade. Tom Johnson lives with his son's family, and they really want him. That's not his real name, but his son is stationed at Fort Mason. And he was a lonely old man until he went to the San Francisco Senior Center and found friends his own age.

Top Korean WAC Is Presidio Visitor

A leader in the movement for education and emancipation of Korean women was a visitor at the Presidio this week.

Colonel Kim Hyun Sook, Chief of WAC, ROKA, stopped in San Francisco on her four-week orientation and observer tour sponsored by the Military Assistance Program.

While she was here, Col. Kim visited the WAC barracks and was entertained at a tea by the executive members of the Woman's Club. Among those who greeted Col. Kim were Mrs. John J. B. Binns, Mrs. Edward J. McGaw, Mrs. John W. Harmony, Mrs. Charles G. Rau, president of the Woman's Club, Lt. Col. Margaret Thornton, retiring WAC Staff Advisor, Sixth Army, and Lt. Col. Lenore Price, incoming Staff Advisor.

After her tour of the WAC barracks, Col. Kim said she was impressed with the way the WACs live at the Presidio. "Your rooms are much different than the Korean barracks. Our rooms have not been developed to the extent of such furnishings. Yours are much more comfortable and convenient."

The Chief of the Korean Women's Army Corps went on to say that the girls in the Army prefer to sleep in beds, whereas if they were living at home they would sleep on the floor.

Col. Kim, who was graduated from the Pyongan Girls' High School and the College of Gymnastics in Tokyo, activated the Korean Women's Police in 1945. In 1949 she was commissioned a second lieutenant (not an active duty commission) and was appointed training instructor at the South Korean Young Men's Association.

Always a champion for further education and better opportunities for Korean women, Col. Kim was appointed Director of the WAC Training Center in Pusan with the grade of Major in 1950.

With barely a handful of other officers, in the midst of wartime confusion, under pressure and uncertain logistical support, Col. Kim established the training center and trained about 500 enlisted women.

Today the total WAC strength is 800, 87 of whom are officers.

Promoted to her present rank in 1953, Col. Kim feels strongly that the WACs have helped Korean women achieve greater independence and made the nation more cognizant of a woman's ability to train for and hold down a job. Previously, only the daughters of wealthy families received an education. The women were traditionally kept at home.

The Korean Army was the first large organized group to recognize women in professional life, and the Korean WACs precipitated a radical social change in their country in a few short years.

In her WAC uniform, she cuts a smart figure. And although she was somewhat hampered by her English and frequently spoke through an interpreter, Col. Kim's dynamic personality was vividly apparent.

Other stops on her tour are Oakland, Washington, D. C., New York City, Fort McPherson, Ga., and Fort Benning, Ga. She will also spend a week at the WAC Training Center, Fort McClellan, Ala.

After the completion of her tour, Col. Kim hopes to return to this area to visit her son, Kim Yeun Soo, a student of political science at the University of California in Berkeley.

Col. Kim is a cousin of Gen. Paik Son Yup, Chief of Staff, ROKA, and Lt. Gen. Paik In Yup, Commanding General, VI ROK Corps.

Maj. Max Manifold, Fort Carson, Colo., was her escort officer and interpreter.

Simple Interest

On Your Own Debt

100% participation—100% potential give.

This is the motto that will key this year's United Bay Area Crusade on the Presidio.

But mottos or catch phrases are "tinkling bells and sounding brass" unless they take on a personal meaning for each of us.

The group effort, despite modern propaganda and indoctrination, still hinges on individual motivation.

It is your effort and your charity alone which will determine the success or failure of this annual drive to support those less fortunate people who never cease to be the individual responsibility of the socially adjusted.

You may never see or know your needy brother personally. You may never be able to lend time and effort to the rehabilitation of the weak, the sick, the old or the neglected children, so often the victims of a pleasure adjusted society, but you can give money.

A day's pay would be simple interest on the many gifts that Another has given you.

An authentic Scottish piper, complete with blue eyes and cheeks flushed red from the cold highland winds, comes every Saturday to give lessons to the Sixth Army Pipe Band.

Donald Shaw Ramsey has been playing the pipes for 31 of his 39 years. During that time, he has won every possible medal and award for piping in Great Britain.

That was one of the reasons which brought Mr. Ramsey to the United States. But not the least of his reasons was the belief that there are many people in America of Scottish descent, or recent British immigrants, or even tenth generation Americans who, plain and simply, enjoy bagpipe music and would like to learn that wind instrument which, at the twist of the lip, can be either wierd and mournful or gay and jolly.

Pipe Major Ramsey first came to the United States in 1957 when he was invited to San Francisco by the Caledonian Pipe Band. He liked what he saw, and returned to the Bay Area in March of this year with his wife and 18 year old daughter. Now in addition to coaching the Sixth Army Pipe Band, Mr. Ramsey has set up his own school located on Broadway where he gives individual lessons and also coaches the Pipe Bands of Berkely, San Francisco, San Leandro, and Sacramento.

Mr. Ramsey has almost more piping honors than he can count. When he was 13, he was the champion Juvenile Piper of the World, and at 18 he won the World Amateur Championship. At twenty he was the youngest Pipe Major in the British Army, the Highland Light Infantry.

Perhaps one of his most extraordinary jobs was as Private Piper to His Grace The 13th Duke of Hamilton. He was commanded to that position in 1946 by Queen Elizabeth II. The Duke of Hamilton has a castle in Lanarkshire, Scotland.

Each morning at eight, wearing his kilt, it was Mr. Ramsey's duty to wake the Duke's five sons by marching around and around Hamilton Palace blowing on the bagpipes until one by one the boys signalled from their high windows that they were awake. For his extraordinary appointment to the Duke of Hamilton, and his other services to the British government, Mr. Ramsey was awarded the British Empire Medal.

From 1947 to 1957 Mr. Ramsey was Pipe Major of the Edinburgh City Police Pipe Band, and for two years led them on to victory in two world championships. In addition to all this he is a well known composer of pipe music. He is currently working as a guard in the Wells Fargo Bank.

When asked if the pipes are difficult to play, Mr. Ramsey said, "Och, aye, and ye need a gud pare o' lungs!"

NEW XV STAFF Chiefs are Col. Avery M. Cochran (L.), G3 at XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), and Lt. Col. Harold J. Pangle, the G4. Col. Cochran, a West Pointer, came here from duty in Japan, and Lt. Col. Pangle, a former professional football player, last served at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

XV Corps Names Pair To Top Staff Positions

A West Pointer and a former professional football player have been named to two key staff jobs at XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) Headquarters here.

The Military Academy graduate (Class of '32) is Col. Avery M. Cochran who is the new G3 at XV Corps. Lt. Col. Harold J. Pangle, new Corps G4, was a halfback in the late Thirties for Chicago Cardinals and the Los Angeles Bulldogs.

Col. Cochran, a cold weather and mountain training expert, was an observer at the landings at Kiska early in World War II, then moved to Italy where he was with Fifth Army, serving first as Executive Officer and later as Commander of the 350th Infantry Regiment of the 88th Infantry Division.

For his World War II service, Col. Cochran was awarded the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster.

After graduating from West Point Col. Cochran served with 10th Infantry Division at Ft. Thomas, was at the Infantry School (1936-37) and commanded a rifle company at Ft. Lewis. His next assignment—two years in Alaska, again as commander of a rifle company—found him from January through March 1941 on a trip through that territory to test Army clothing and equipment.

Before going to Kiska, he served with the 87th Mountain Infantry at Ft. Lewis, spent four months with Army Ground Forces in Washington, D.C.; was G3 of the Mountain Training Center at Cp. Hale, Colo.; served with the XIII Corps at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.; then returned to Cp. Hale as a battalion commander in the 86th Mountain Infantry.

After World War II, Col. Cochran was with G3, Army Ground Forces, in the Special Projects Office. In 1950, he attended the Naval War College, Newport, R.I. A year later, he studied Finnish, then served three years as Army Attaché in Helsinki, Finland.

Returning to the States, he commanded the 5th Infantry Regiment at Ft. Lewis; then in March 1957, he was named Combat Staff Officer, USARPAC, Japan, a position he held until coming to the Presidio.

Col. Cochran now lives in San Francisco with his wife, Anne. They have two daughters, Mrs.

Gordon C. MacLeod and Miss Constance Cochran.

Lt. Col. Pangle, one of the Oregon State eleven "Iron Men" of 1933 who, without a substitution, held powerful USC to a 0-0 tie to snap the Southlanders win streak at 25, came to the Presidio after a three-year tour as G4 at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

In the Army since 3 June, 1941, he went to Germany in 1945 after 19 months as a training and supply officer at the Replacement Training Center, Cp. Roberts and three years with Army Service Forces Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

The bulk of his three-year tour in Germany was spent as Director of Supply and later Post Commander at Bayreuth and then as Director at the Nurnberg Prison.

Twice before being assigned to XV Corps, Lt. Col. Pangle served at the Presidio. After returning from Germany, he was in the Sixth U.S. Army G4 Supply Section and then after tour with Eighth Army in Yokohama, returned to the same section.

Prior to his most recent assignment at Ft. Gordon, he was Chief of the KMAG G4 Operations Division.

Lt. Col. Pangle now resides on Post with his wife, Vera.

Air Force Academy's First Superintendent Will Be Buried There

Lt. Gen. Hubert Reilly Harmon will be the first interment at the new Air Force Academy cemetery at Colorado Springs, Colorado. This is in accord with a wish made after he helped select the site and then served as the first superintendent of the Academy.

He died in February '57 and his ashes have reposed in a local mortuary pending final burial.

Burial is set for 28 September and General Harmon's family, including his son, Lt. Kendrick Harmon, will attend.

Air Defense Parade Today Will Honor Women's Club Unit

In conjunction with the first nation-wide meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, troops of the Air Defense units about San Francisco will parade on the Presidio main parade ground today at 1600.

Major General E. J. McGaw, commander of the 6th Region, will speak to the 50 representatives from throughout the nation on how he feels women's clubs can be of direct assistance to Nike missilemen and their families at isolated sites.

At the parade, Lt. Col. C. P. Sampson will be Commander of the Troops. The Adjutant will be Capt. George P. Leal. Maj. Herman D. McCallum and Maj. Horton C. Weiss will be the Staff Officers. The first battalion, 2d Msle. Bn., 51st Arty., will be commanded by Lt. Col. Burton Beam.

Maj. Robert R. Murray will command the second battalion, 4th Msle., 61st Arty.

General McGaw will review the troops.

QM Association Meet Slates Talk By Gen. McKenzie

The Quartermaster Association, Northern California Chapter, will hold its quarterly dinner and business meeting on 25 September at the Presidio Officers' Club. The dinner begins at 1930 with cocktails preceding.

Maj. Gen. H. R. McKenzie, who retired at the Presidio 30 August, will speak.

One of the primary objectives of the Quartermaster Association is to preserve the spirit of mutual understanding and co-operation between the Quartermaster Corps and community business men.

Presidio personnel, military or civilian, or business men of the Bay Area who are interested in attending the dinner meeting should telephone Capt. Myron F. Wheeler, Sixth Army Quartermaster Section, ext. 2638. Tickets are $3.00 per person and reservations should be made no later than 22 September.

November Draft 11,000

Selective Service will call 11,000 men to duty with the Army in November. This is the same number as September and October and is based on attainment of approved strength after allowances have been made for enlistments and reenlistments. Other services did not place calls.

DOD Shifts Command Under Reorganization

Washington (AFPS)—The first of eight unified and specified Armed Forces commands will be subordinated to the Secretary of Defense through the Joint Chiefs of Staff on 15 September, under the reorganization plan authorized by Congress.

The Defense Department has disclosed that President Eisenhower has approved a schedule for realigning the joint-service command structure as provided by the Defense Reorganization Act signed into law 6 Aug.

Under the plan, the U.S. European Command, headed by AF Gen. Lauris Norstad with headquarters at Paris, France, will be the first to come under the Defense Secretary, who takes command action in the name of the President.

Effective date for the next two commands to be incorporated in the new structure is 1 Dec. These will be the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean Command of Adm. James L. Holloway at London, England, and the Alaskan Command of AF Lt. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong Jr. at Elmendorf AFB.

The other commands to come under the reorganization on 1 Jan, 1959, and their joint commanders are:

Caribbean Command, Army Lt. Gen. Ridgely Gaither, Quarry Heights, C. Z.; the Atlantic Command, Adm. Jerauld Wright, Norfolk, Va.; the Pacific Command, Adm. Harry D. Felt, Pearl Harbor, T. H.; Continental Air Defense Command, AF Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Ent AFB, Colo.; and the Strategic Air Command, AF Gen. Thomas Power, Offutt AFB, Neb.

The Eastern Atlantic-Mediterranean and Strategic Air Command are "specified commands" in that they have special missions with combat ready and deployed forces. The new structure makes no command changes within the continental U.S., a Defense official said, adding that Adm. Wright is the only unified commander with a service command, since he also is Commander-in-Chief, Atlantic Fleet.

Forces to be assigned to the unified commands will be designated by the Defense Secretary with approval of the President.

Orders, according to a Defense spokesman, will be issued through the Joint Chiefs of Staff transferring each command and its forces from the old to the new structure. For example, the Alaskan command forces will be moved from jurisdiction of the Air Force as executive agent to the Secretary of Defense through the JCS.

Recently Assigned

New Presidio Special Services Officer is Maj. BEN KVITKY, long-time athletic director and Army football coach. He comes here after two years duty as SSO at Regional Camp Yokohama, Japan.

Maj. Kvitky was drafted in July 1942, but successfully completed Army Air Corps OCS at Miami Beach, Fla., in March the following year. Transferring to the Airborne, he later joined the 82d Airborne Division in Koln, Germany, in December 1944 and stayed with the outfit until early 1946.

For his World War II service, Maj. Kvitky was awarded the Bronze Star and the Combat Infantry Badge.

His next job was with the 508th Airborne Regiment in Frankfurt, Germany. Later, he transferred to the Frankfurt Military Post as Athletic Officer and coached the 1956 football squad there. Two years later he coached an Army football team in Berlin, and in 1949, while SSO at Ft. Lewis, he led the footballers there.

In 1950, he returned to his old job at Frankfurt Military Post, but during his three year stay he did not work the gridiron.

After a tour beginning in 1953 as SSO at Ft. Holabird, Md., and subsequent completion of the Infantry Officers' Advanced Course, Ft. Benning, Ga., he was reassigned to Korea in September 1955 as G1-G4 Advisor to the 22d ROK Division, under KMAG. From there he went to his most recent Yokohama post.

Maj. Kvitky, a 1942 UCLA graduate, was a four-letterman in football for the Bruins (1937-40) and on the Rugby squad there in 1939, 1940 and 1941. In 1941, he also was backfield for the Rambler football squad at the University.

He now lives in Mill Valley with his wife, Helen, and their children, Jean, 11; Charles, 9; and Kristen, 7.

Capt. CARL F. FRENCH, 41, new Assistant S2 at Presidio, is a former enlisted man who has spent seven of the past nine years on duty in Europe.

The Captain enlisted on 24 March 1941, later attended Artillery OCS at Ft. Sill and was commissioned on 15 April 1953. From that time until he was released from active duty in January 1946, he held assignments at Cp. Roberts, Ft. Ord and Cp. Chaffee.

During the two year break-in-service before he reentered the Army in November 1948, Capt. French earned a BA in Comparative Literature at the University of Southern California.

When he returned to active duty, he was assigned to CIC and has served in Europe the bulk of the time since then.

He now is living in Concord with his wife, Marie, and their daughter, Carol, 4.

Wins Certificate

Major Ray Quinn, recently assigned G1 Manpower Survey Officer, was presented a Seventh U.S. Army Certificate of Achievement, by Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, this week. He received the certificate for outstanding military service with the Seventh Army G3 Section, Stuttgart, Germany.

$75 CHECK, Department of the Army Special Act Award Certificate and the Army Commendation for Meritorious Civilian Service Award are presented to Mr. John Wilkins, assistant ordnance supply officer, by Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff.

Sixth Army Employees Win $1490 In Awards

Civilian employees of the Sixth U.S. Army received Department of the Army Outstanding Ratings, Suggestion and Superior Performance Award Certificates and checks totaling $1,490 at an Incentive Awards ceremony this week. Major General J. J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, made the presentations.

From the G3 section, Miss Helen Conyers, school assistant, Miss Margaret Thomson, clerk, and Mrs. Thelma McDaniel each received $100. Miss Lilly Kuramoto, clerk in the Medical Section, also received an outstanding rating and $100.

Sustained Superior Performance awards went to Joseph Abrego, Assistant Chief, G1 Manpower Division, $300; Mrs. Annamae Boe, G1 Civilian Personnel Division, $200; Albert Rekow, Recruiting Illustrator, $200; Miss Eva Williams, Clerk-typist, AG Section, $100, and Mrs. Doris Copley, Clerk-typist, Comptroller Section, $100.

Top suggestion award winner was Mary Stokes, 56th MRU Section Tabulation Equipment Operator who received $140 for a suggested revision of special orders. This suggestion is estimated to have saved the government approximately $4500 the first year.

Other Suggestion Award winners are three Adjutant General Section: Mrs. Ressa Bader, $30; Margorie Cochran, $10; and Jessie Bubalo, $10.

D Btry., 2d Msl. Bn. Boasts Well-Filled Education Classes

In compliance with the Army's policy of promoting a strong program of higher education within each unit, 18 men of D Btry., 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. on Angel Island have voluntarily formed an off-duty hours class in order to obtain a General Educational Development (GED) certificate, the Army's equivalent of a high school diploma.

The classes, held in the battery day room three nights a week from 1730 to 1930, will include studies in mathematics, English grammar and literature, American history and government, and general sciences.

Instructors for the courses are 2nd Lt. John R. Osterlund, CWO Elmer E. Caddes, and 2nd Lt. Roscoe D. Crawford.

Baker Sp4 Garners Three Awards In Single Ceremony

Three separate awards were presented to Sp4 Willard J. Avery, vehicle driver with the 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., Fort Baker, by Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol at a recent ceremony.

The Good Conduct Medal for exemplary conduct and performance of duty while a member of the battery during the past 20 months was Sp4 Avery's first award.

Next came a Department of the Army Safety Award for completing over 9,500 miles in a government vehicle without accident.

His third award was a 30th Artillery Group Certificate of Achievement signed by Col. Malcolm Gilchrest, Commanding Officer of the 30th Artillery Group.

AUSA Meets Here

The Association of the U.S. Army will hold a luncheon meeting at the Fort Mason Officers' Club at noon of 25 September. The speaker will be Capt. Irwin Moore, USN, a faculty member of the Industrial War College in Washington, D.C. His topic will be the current situation in the Middle East.

All members, guests, and friends are invited to attend. The reservations are $1.25 per person and should be made by 24 September by telephoning Capt. Edward Endres, ext. 2275.

25 Complete Course

Twenty-five men, representing all four of the missile battalions in the San Francisco-Travis Air Force Base Area, recently completed their four week MOS conversion course.

This was the fifth class of its kind to graduate from the Air Defense School. Top man was Sp4 Jerry L. Schneider, Btry. B, 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty.

WAC of the Month

Has Been In Many Countries

Take one sunny smile, mix in a wonderful personality, add an overabundance of intelligence, top off with a pinch of German accent and you have the formula for the September WAC of the Month.

A past resident of seven European and Far Eastern countries, Sp4 Herta Weber began her travels at the age of five when she and her family were forced to flee to Burma from her native Berlin at the outbreak of World War II.

Although they lived in the jungle the Webers were happy, as Mr. Weber practiced his profession, engineering, and Herta began school.

Their joy was short lived, however, as they had to flee again when the Japanese arrived in 1942.

Having no place to which they could safely return the Webers struck out across the Burma Road to India, where they remained for the next five years.

In 1949 Herta began 16 months in a Swiss finishing school, followed by a year in London, where she received her high school diploma.

After graduation in 1950 the blue-eyed blonde decided to go back to her parents' home in East

Plaque Dedication Set

A bronze plaque commemorating the billeting of the 1st Regiment, California U.S. Volunteer Infantry at the Presidio during the early days of the Spanish-American War will be donated to the Post tomorrow by the 1st Regiment Association.

The ceremony, in conjunction with Association's annual meeting, will be held here at 1300.

The plaque, 15 inches by 20 inches set on a stone or concrete block about 18 inches high, will be placed just off the road on the left side of Lincoln Blvd. (approaching Lombard Gate), to the west of the Military Police information booth.

Eagle Scout Honors Due Two At Court Tonight

The Court of Honor Awards for Boy Scout Troop 178 will be held tonight at 1930 in Harmony Hall.

Two boys will be promoted to Eagle Scout. They are Ray McClary, son of Maj. Claude McClary of the Sixth Army Office of the Inspector General, and Skipper Amos. Although Skipper now lives in southern California where his father is a lieutenant commander in the Navy, the new Eagle Scout will be present to receive his promotion in his old troop where he earned the points.

A Star Scout Advancement Award will be presented to Michael Corum. David Zehrer will receive a first class advancement award.

Second class awards will go to Royal Druba, James Ross, Thomas Reilly, John Isenberg, Michael Frye, Stanley Carthwright, and Michael Jordan.

The following boys will receive Merit Badge Awards: John Isenberg, wood carving; David Zehrer, rowing and camping; George Yount, rowing, swimming, cooking; Brian Bowen, wood carving, horsemanship, rowing; Curtis Thompson, canoeing, rowing, swimming; Arthur Malone, rowing, horsemanship, life saving, canoeing; Michael Corum, camping, safety, woodcarving, citizenship-in-the-nation, citizenship - in - the - community, cooking; Ray McClary, Indian lore, wood carving; Charles Rhine, cooking.

Honored guests present will be Col. George Pearson, Lt. Col. Grant W. Allison, Chaplain Paul Pease, CWO Henry Stephens, and Mr. Gil Buffery, executive director of the Golden Gate District, San Francisco Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Top Army Talent Show To Perform Here This Month

"Rolling Along," the all-Army talent show, will give two performances in the Presidio Service Club on Tuesday, 30 September, at 1400 and 2015.

The show will rest here for two days before the performances and then continue on its way to the Pacific Area. It will return again on 18 November and offer a production at Letterman.

The Sixth Army is represented in this 1958 edition of "Rolling Along" by Pvts. Leonard and Myles Kavanaugh of Fort Ord, who do a song and dance act.

Play Tryouts Set

Tryouts for the Presidio Players next production will be held Wednesday evening at 1930 in Bldg. 117 (Little Theater). Plays being considered are "Bus Stop," "Blythe Spirit" and "Sabrina Fair."

Wins Supergrade
M/Sgt. Frank Carson

First man from a group of 18 master sergeants in the San Francisco-Travis area to be promoted to First Sergeant (E-8) is M/Sgt. Frank Carson, 1st Sgt. Btry B, 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., Fort Cronkhite.

1st Sgt. Carson, who has held the rank of Master Sergeant since 1941, is a veteran of 24 years service. His first enlistment was at Fort McDowell (now Angel Island) in 1934.

During World War II, Sgt. Carson served in the Pacific and was in the initial amphibious landing force on Luzon during the invasion of the Philippines.

Following a five year tour as instructor with the Illinois National Guard after the war, he again saw action serving with the 2nd Infantry Division in Korea in the 82nd AAA Battalion. In 1953 he returned to San Francisco and was assigned to B Btry, 9th AAA 120-mm Gun Bn. (now 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty.).

Named Top Soldier

A three day pass and 30 days exemption from all duty rosters were awarded to Sp3 Franklin D. Danser of the 99th Engineer Company recently selected the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month.

Sp3 Danser, who hails from Indiana and attended the Process Camera School at Fort Belvoir, Va., received a Certificate of Achievement from Lt. Col. Richard Underwood, Battalion Commander.

Best Lady Soldier
Sp4 Herta Weber

Berlin. She did not know that the Russians had taken over, and conditions were not happy as they once had been.

From East Berlin Herta moved to Denmark, where, for two years, she worked during the day and studied languages at night at the University of Copenhagen.

Following a short period in Sweden, where she taught English, and a return trip to Denmark, the 25-year-old WAC was reunited with her family in Düsseldorf, West Germany, and remained there with them until coming to America in 1956.

Arriving here in June, Herta stayed with her sponsors in Yuba City, California, and worked in the fruit orchards because she could not get the job she desired as an interpreter without being a citizen.

Completing courses at the medical laboratory technicians school in Ft. Sam Houston, after her enlistment in November of 1956 and nine weeks of basic training, Herta was sent to the Presidio, where she was assigned as a medical laboratory specialist with the Post dispensary.

Not one to waste time on unimportant things, Herta spends her evenings attending San Francisco State College, where she has top grades.

With only about a year remaining until she obtains her citizenship, the lady soldier is anxiously awaiting the day, but has no immediate plans for the future, except that she wants to remain in San Francisco.

Los Angeles Wins ARADCOM Play

DOUBLE TROUBLE for all-ARADCOM softballers is hurler Pfc. Bob Moriel of the 6th ARADCOM champion 4th Missile Battalion, 65th Artillery (Los Angeles) who demonstrates here with two teammates how he'll iron man 'em in Chicago, where the all-ARADCOM tourney started yesterday. Pfc. Moriel led his team to the Western missile crown by pitching both ends of a double header last week to dump the title hopes of San Francisco, 13-3, and Seattle, 8-5.

Blast Travis Team 13-3 In Last Game

Hardhitting softballers from Los Angeles are in Chicago this week to carry the hopes of 6th ARADCOM in the all-ARADCOM softball championship meet there after having earned the senior tourney berth by battering a hapless San Francisco nine, 13-3, and slipping by Seattle, 8-5, in a double-header at Ft. Baker last Thursday to cop the Western missileers crown.

All-ARADCOM play started yesterday at Ft. Sheridan, Ill.; no scores of the first day of play were available by press time.

In wrapping up the 6th ARADCOM title, Los Angeles (4th Msl. Bn., 65th Arty.) relied on iron man hurler, Pfc. Bob Moriel, whose strong left arm scattered 10 hits throughout both games of Thursday's doubleheader to nip the first place bids of San Francisco (1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.) and Seattle (1st Msl. Bn., 52 Arty.).

During the three-day, four-game round robin here, Pfc. Moriel worked every game for the Southlanders, blanking the locals with a three-hitter, 5-0, on Tuesday, and taking it on the chin Wednesday when Seattle handed Los Angeles its only loss of the tourney, 4-1.

Coupled with Pfc. Moriel's "old reliable" curve and a sprinkling of rises, drops and fast ones were the booming bats of the L.A. sluggers which connected for a .336 team average for the tourney and saw eight men top the .300 mark.

Los Angeles batsmen also accounted for the only round-trippers during the play-offs — two blasted Thursday for six runs against San Francisco's hopeful, pitcher Sp4 Billy Nolen, 5-ft., 3-in. rubberarm fastballer.

In the first game Thursday, San Francisco jumped to a fast start by touching Los Angeles' Pfc. Moriel for three quick runs in the first half of the first inning. Two singles, a walk and a slashing two-run double by Sp4 Frank Flatch provided the game.

But, the game Southlanders bounced back in their half of the first to knot the score at 3-3 when L.A. shortstop Art Lettieri smashed a four-bagger over the centerfielders head to drive in two men ahead of him.

All other San Francisco rallies fell short, but Los Angeles posted three more runs in the fifth when two consecutive errors and a safety loaded the bases. Pitcher Pfc. Moriel belted in two tallies with a double and then scored on another two-bagger from the bat of centerfielder Pfc. Jim Newton.

Five singles, a double and a three-run homer in the sixth added insult to injury when Los Angeles batsmen crossed the plate seven times to erase any flicker of hope by local rooters.

After a 20-minute breather, Seattle stepped in to try to squelch the Los Angeles contingent. All went well until after two outs in the second when Los Angeles first sacker Sfc. George Hewitt drew a free base to start a rally that netted the victors two runs and three base hits.

In the next inning, a rattled Seattle hurler issued six straight walks to force in three more tallies, giving Los Angeles a 5-0 lead. Seattle countered with two runs in the fourth and two more in the sixth, but Los Angeles exploded in the top of the seventh for three insurance markers. Seattle punched across one run in the bottom of the seventh to trail 8-5 but was unable to muster enough steam to catch the tourney champions.

Final tourney standings and won-lost records were: Los Angeles, 3-1; San Francisco, 2-2; Seattle, 1-3.

Banquet, Awards Highlight Softball Play At ARADCOM

Awards night for winners in last week's 6th ARADCOM softball tourney was coupled last Friday with a dinner program at the Presidio NCO Open Mess.

Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, 6th ARADCOM Commander, presented each member of the championship Los Angeles (4th Msl. Bn., 65th Arty.) team a leather suitcase and presented the team winner's trophy to pitcher-captain Pfc. Bob Moriel.

Each member of the runner-up San Francisco (1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.) nine was given a sports shirt, and the team second place trophy was accepted from Maj. Gen. McGaw by shortstop Pfc. Bob Brown.

Maj. Gen. McGaw then congratulated all team players for their "fine sportsmanship" and urged the Los Angeles team to keep the all-ARADCOM title in the West. Last year, the crown was won by the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery (formerly, 740th) here.

Torero High Netters Tangle With Travis

Torero highnetters move to Travis Air Force Base tomorrow morning to try and avenge a close loss here to the air men Monday night and even the early-season two-game series.

Next Thursday, the locals YMCA in an away contest which will start at 1900.

Bitter pill in the opening game of the new season was dropping a 3-2 decision to the highly-touted Travisites, third place holders in last year's all-Air Force standings.

Presidio volleyballers carried the first game in to overtime and copped a 19-17 win; dropped the second, 15-17, in another overtime contest; won the third straight overtime game, 20-18; but dropped the last two tiffs, 8-15 and 12-15.

Player-coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, 39 - year - old national official of the U.S. Volleyball Association, lauded the performances of veteran spikers Sp4 Davis Rhem, Pfc. Allen Kincaid and Pfc. James McLin and set-man Sp4 Robert Mendez.

M/Sgt. Ignacio said he was very impressed by the bullet-like spiking of newcomer Sp4 Richard Chute, especially because he so recently started playing volleyball.

Another newcomer who is expected to develop is Sfc. David Stanley, a set man. Two other prospects, Pfc. Donald Hubbell and Pfc. John Sadler, are working out as spikers, but have not yet seen action.

Ducks Unlimited Meet

The 21st annual Ducks Unlimited Rally will be held 27 and 28 September at the Pacific Rod and Gun Club at Lake Merced. Registration fee is $3.00 and each shooter must furnish his own shells and targets.

Programmed competitions are: Skeet—all bore individual skeet, 50 targets; ladies' event; adult novice class; junior novice class. Trap—all bore individual 16-yard trap, 50 targets; same classes as for Skeet. Tower—all bore individual 56-foot duck tower, 25 targets; same classes as for Skeet.

Need High Netters

The call is out for volleyballers here.

M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, player-coach of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery highnetters who have been doubling as the Presidio Toreros, said this week that he does not have a single man outside the local missile units on his team.

Interested Presidians should telephone M/Sgt. Ignacio at Ext. 5592. "With some help," the sergeant said, "and by whipping this year's squad into top shape, we should have a better team than last year's championship team."

6th ARADCOM Titles Hopes Depend On Crafty Portwinger

When husky (5-ft. 9-in., 173 lbs.) Pfc. Bob Moriel takes the mound this week in Chicago, the crafty southpaw will be carrying the hopes of 6th ARADCOM in the all-ARADCOM Softball championships there.

In making his debut in the missileers top softball classic, curve ball artist Moriel will be passing a milestone rarely reached in a single season by any hurler — he will be throwing his 50th game this year, trying to notch another win to boost his already impressive 38-11 record.

Moriel, a 22-year-old semipro baseball pitcher turned softball, will front 6th ARADCOM's champions from Los Angeles (4th Msl. Bn., 65th Arty.) in their bid to bring the all-ARADCOM crown to the West Coast.

Team captain this year, Moriel posted a 28-8 mark in San Fernando Valley Major League play, had 3-2 in the Long Beach Interservice tourney (one, a no-hitter), won four straight to lead his teammates to the 47th Artillery Brigade title and registered 3-1 during last week's 6th ARADCOM tourney here.

A soldier since September 1955 and a softball only two years, Moriel comes by his baseball-softball prowess naturally. His dad, Frank Moriel, was a first sacker, a number of years ago, around the West Coast League and all five of his brothers play semipro ball in the Los Angeles area.

Moriel said he will rely on his curve ball in Chicago, but will mix in risers, drops and fastballs. His variety is pretty surprising, considering that he was a first baseman at

Presidio Tennis Champ Will Vie In PC Tourney

Top Presidio tennis whiz, Sixth Army's Capt. Frank Sample, is slated to enter the Pacific Coast Tennis Tournament (hardcourt) which opens tomorrow in Berkeley and runs through 28 September.

"I'm ready for this one," reported the 33-year-old former University of San Francisco great, "and the hardcourt will definitely work to my advantage."

Netter to Berkeley
Frank Sample

member of the 1950 USF NCAA tennis champs and two-time member of victorious Army Leech Cup teams, Capt. Sample just recently returned to the Presidio after a two-month Eastern swing which saw him battle:

- For 30 gruelling days of "nerves, tension, tempers and terrible heat" to qualify as a member of this year's Leech Cup team.

- For victories over the Navy and Air Force as a member of the Army's Number Two Leech Cup doubles team (with Pvt. Pablo Eisenberg) during matches at the swank Army-Navy Country Club near Washington, D.C.

- Unsuccessfully in the opening round of the National Open Tennis Tournament in Forest Hills, N.Y., losing 6-0, 6-1, 6-4 to Davis Cupper Charles McKinley.

"I'm really not as bad as the National Open scores would show," Capt. Sample contended. "But, like all the fellows on the Leech Cup squad, I had been playing on clay courts and the switch to grass courts threw my timing way off. Grass courts is a completely different game."

In addition, Capt. Sample—who assures that his age has not slowed him down—gets only limited play while holding down the job of Sixth Army Recruiting Officer. "I can't expect to match the fellows who travel from tournament to tournament the year round. They make a business out of playing tennis."

Reasons he thinks he may do well in the "big names" tourney starting in Berkeley this weekend is that "I have been playing a lot of tennis lately, so I should be in shape; also, I play my best game on the hardwood courts where the bounces are 'clean' and the serve and volley are fast."

Capt. Sample, World War II Coast Guard veteran and Army officer since January 1951, when as Distinguished Military Graduate from USF he accepted a Regular Army commission, was Sixth Army singles champion in 1957 and has held the Post singles crown for the past two years.

B, D Batteries Sweep Sports Tournament

When the score cards were in after this week's two-day minor sports tourney of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, at the Presidio Service Club No. 1, Batteries B and D locked up for first place honors.

B Battery athletes hit the win column three times, garnered an equal number of second places and held down the show place once. D Battery relied on four firsts and single seconds and thirds.

Oozles, Islanders Tied In Handicap Bowling League

After eight weeks of bowling, the Islanders and Oozlefinches are knotted for the lead in the Missileers Handicap Bowling League (2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty.) after the Islanders took a 3-1 decision over Baenziger's Rangers and the Oozlefinches dropped a similar contest to the Five Niners.

Other games saw the second place Angels split with the cellar-dwelling Rafael Nike Strikers. With but two weeks left in league play, top contest this week will be a meeting between the two top teams.

Over in the Pacific Summer Bowling League, Hq. Co. Sixth Army No. 3 continued its winning way by swamping the last place Honor Guard, 4-0.

The Compt-Rollers dropped to third place when they took only three of four points from the sixth place Mail Maullers, while the Regioners slipped in as runners-up by downing the fifth spot Retorts. The AAA Sparks climbed into a fifth place tie with the Retorts when they beat Hq. Co. Sixth Army No. 2 by 3-1.

Bay League keggers fashioned the following results during the first week of play: MRU over Garrison, 4-0; Triple Aces over 6A Signal, 4-0; Comp-Rollers over Hq. Co. Sixth Army, 4-0; and G1 over JAGS, 3-1.

Results of Monday's bowling in the Winter Presidio League, after two weeks, found the Alley Rats dropping SFAADS, 4-0; the Shafters blanking the Recruiters, 4-0; the King Pins shutting out the Keystone Kops, 4-0; and the Islanders dumping 60th CI Detachment, 3-1. Now, the Islanders are on top; 60th CI is second; third place goes to the next five teams; and the cellar-dwelling SFAADS actually are in fourth place in an eight-team league.

Latest standings in the Wednesday Night Mixed League are: Spoilers, King Pins, Pickups, Nikes, XV Corps, Tyros, 740th and Broken Records.

XV Corps Track Stars Hangs Up Army Spikes

Presidio's record-setting cinder team was halved this week by the loss of one of the key men on the two-man squad—Sp4 Ernie Shelton, XV U.S. Army Corps high jumper was released from active duty Wednesday.

"If I do any more jumping," the ex-soldier confided before leaving, "it'll be with the Los Angeles Striders—that's a club in Southern California."

"But, I'm going back home to go to the Art Center School. I pretty well think that industrial design or some field like that is for me. I studied art and design when I was at the University (of Southern California)."

Despite the loss of Shelton, who in the closing days of last month set a NATO-sponsored International Military Sports Council (CISM) high jump record of 6 feet, 7 inches at the Brussels World's Fair, the other half of the team—2nd Lt. Bill Neider of Headquarters Company, U.S.A. Garrison—is prepping for the National AAU and New York Athletic Club track and field meets this Winter in New York City.

Bright note on the cinder scene is that Pfc. Joe Savoldi, former captain of the Michigan State track squad and noted decathlon and hurdles competitor, has been assigned to the U.S.A. Training Group here. But, he probably will not be in shape for grueling track competitions until next Spring. He is due for separation, however, next May.

Learning that each other was stationed here, Neider and Savoldi passed on verbal bouquets about one another to the press. Neider: "I'm glad he (Savoldi) might be on the Presidio team. He sure is welcome now that Shelton is gone. I competed against him during our college days and I know he'll turn in a more than creditable performance here." Savoldi: "I sure am happy to find Bill Neider here. He's one of the world's best shot-putters and I'd like to get some pointers from him."

Neider, former Kansas ace whose best official toss—62 feet, 2 inches—and unofficial toss — 62 feet, 8½ inches—are only one foot and five and a half inches, respectively, behind the world outdoor record, recently posted a 57 foot, 10½ inch throw at Nurnberg, Germany, during a warm-up match for the CISM show in Brussels; but he was unable to make the World's Fair meet because of a death in his family.

Bill Neider

Army Days Over
Ernie Shelton

He said though, he had figured on tossing the shot at least 60 feet there. "I really was ready to go," he said. "It was just too bad I had to miss out."

Shelton, who did get to Brussels along with four other American servicemen (2nd Lt. Robert Seaman, Ft. Lee—1500 meters; 2nd Lt. Arnie Sowell, Ft. Ord—800 and 400 meters; 2nd Lt. Earl Poucher, U.S.M.C.—pole vault; and Pvt. Phil Conley—javelin), competed against military personnel from Belgium, Norway, Finland, France, Pakistan, Turkey, the Netherlands and Italy. No team scores were kept, individual performances being the key attraction.

"Frankly, I was disappointed in the American pavilion at the Fair," Shelton reported. "I got a couple of days to wander around and the only thing that impressed me was the Russian setup. Ours was too bare, but I will admit the Russians only had one theme—progress: progress in art, progress in machinery, progress in science, and so on."

When queried about the controversial American art display—he being an artist—Shelton countered: "Well, it isn't my line. It's every-one to his own opinion, but I just don't dig that stuff."

MRU Leading Touch Football

At the end of the second week of play in the Presidio six-man touch football league, MRU continued in the top spot by dumping XV Corps, 6-0, for three straight victories. The winning tally came in the second period when 1st Lt. Jim Frankenberg rifled a 35-yard pass to 2d Lt. Mike Starling.

In another Presidio league contest, Hq. U.S.A. Garrison buried C Company, U.S.A. Garrison, 15-0, registering points when Pfc. Ken Carrol scored on a 35-yard pass play, Pvt. Dick Anderson took a five-yard pass for six points, Sp4 Warren Fannin added two points by throwing a C Company back for a safety and Carroll converted for the 15th point.

Engineer league football at Ft. Scott had a thriller this week when U.S.A. Training Group punched across the goal line with three minutes left in the game to whip Hq 30th Engineer Group, 6-0. The tally came when Pfc. Joe Savoldi whipped a 30-yard TD pass to Pfc. Don Scott. But, the big play of the day was when Training Group's Sfc. Don Roberts stole an Engineer aerial to halt one goalward march and set up another.

Special Services took it on the chin, 12-7, when they couldn't stop fleetfooted Sp4 Arnold Wickham who crossed the goal line twice to spark the win for the 537th Engineer Company. Highlight of the game, though, was a 50-yard touchdown heave by the loser's Pfc. Gerald Ivey to Pfc. "Hands" Carroll. The tally was followed by Sfc. John Queen's conversion.

In earlier games, the Honor Guard completely dominated Post Special Services, but eked out only a 7-6 win. Star of the game, which saw considerable substitution by the victors, was the Honor Guard's Wes Stock, better known around Post as top hurler for the Presidio baseball nine. Stock connected for 10 of 12 passes, one of them good for a touchdown. Sp4 Danny Mancini's extra point proved the margin of victory. The losers' tally came from a long pass—Sfc. Queen to Pfc. Ivey.

Defending Post champions, 21st Engineer Company, got off to a scrappy start by pulling one out of the fire in the closing minutes of the game to best the 537th Engineer Company, 12-6, in a hotly contested battle between the old rivals. With three minutes left to the final gun, Sp4 Bodine Shultz heaved the pigskin 35 yards to end Sp4 Bob Raggio to nail down the win. But, a fighting 537th six punched to within 10 yards of paydirt as the game ended. The 21st scored first in the second quarter on a pass from Pfc. Larry Davenport to Raggio. The 537th gained its lone marker in the third quarter when Sp4 Frank Zamora tossed a TD pass to Pfc. Dan Marcus.

Fencers Slate Meeting Arizona AFB Team

Presidio-Letterman fencers are scheduled to depart at the end of next week for an invitational meet with their counterparts at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, near Tucson, Ariz.

Making the trip will be Col. Laurance H. Brownlee, 1st Lt. Eugene Hardy, M/Sgt. Bert Sheck, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, Sp4 William Beaver, Pfc. Don Ruttek, Ed Purdy and coach William O'Brien.

Warming up for regular competition during the recently-opened 1958-59 fencing season, coach O'Brien sponsored an intra-team tourney here last Thursday and furnished medals to the first four placers.

Taking top honors was Col. Brownlee who did not suffer a loss; runner-up was newcomer Purdy, with one loss; and the final medalists were M/Sgt. Pasol in third place with two losses and a fourth-place split between M/Sgt. Sheck and 1st Lt. William Coleman, but Lt. Coleman got the nod by a margin of one touch.

The local fencers plan to enter the epee, foils and saber classes at the following major tournaments: Northern California, Pacific Coast, National Championships, Invitational Championships, California-Mexico International Championships and the Letterman Army Hospital-Mexican Annual Tournament.

BIG DAY for Presidio Pony League base ball champs, the Dodgers—in the top photo, player Larry McFarlin presents a trophy on behalf of the team to manager Pfc. Larry C. Davenport in appreciation for his efforts to boost them into the title. Looking on are (l. to r.) Col. Robert Rhine, President of the Pony League; Col. Charles G. Rau, Presidio Commanding Officer; and Lt. Col. Howard, Chairman of the Pony League Executive Committee. In the lower pix, players show off trophy baseballs signed by the San Francisco Giants while their most ardent rooters look on. They are (l. to r.): First row—Bobby Allard, Larry McFarlin, Tom Pulaski, Mike Hulsey, George Yount and Steve Lowe. Second row—Pfc. Davenport, Jim Martinez, Bert Huffman, Norton Jackson and Tom Delaney. Third row—Mrs. Henry Allard, John Walker, Curt Whall, George Lodato, Lyle McFarlin and Mrs. McFarlin. Fourth row—Mrs. Alvin Hulsey, Mrs. John Walker, Mrs. P. R. Martinez and P. R. Martinez. Fifth row—George Huffman, John Walker Sr. and George Yount Sr.

Little League Champs Get Coveted Awards

"This is what we've really been waiting for," piped one of the 13 youngsters fondling treasured baseballs autographed by the San Francisco Giants.

The kids standing on the rear steps of Post Headquarters this week were the indomitable, champion Presidio-Letterman Dodgers whose never-say-die enthusiasm carried them to five wins in their last six games and the Presidio Pony League 1958 crown.

And as the champs, they earned keepsake autographed baseballs awarded through the cooperation of the professional hometown idols, local sporting goods firms and the "Star Presidian."

Col. Charles G. Rau, Post Commanding Officer, made the presentations to the players while the boys' parents looked on.

At the same time, the players gave a special trophy to their manager, Pfc. Larry Davenport, in appreciation of his leadership and help.

Last Saturday, further fun and awards were in store when the Pony League held its annual Family Day picnic. The fun, or maybe the aches and pains, came when each of the four teams played two innings of ball against their dads. After the eight-inning fray was over, the oldsters came out on top, 20-17.

Highlighting the awards ceremony were the presentation to the Dodgers' Steve Lowe and the Braves' Mike Zifeak of portable transistor radios for being the "most sportsmanlike" players during the season. They were selected by secret ballot by members of all the teams.

Mike also was given an autographed baseball (from the San Francisco Giants) for being leading hitter for the year.

Expect Large Turnout At SS Junior Olympics

The Junior Olympics tomorrow afternoon will be a big show for everybody!

For youngsters from age 6 up through the teens, the Service Club-sponsored meet—slated to run from 1300 to 1700—will mean a chance to show off athletic prowess and maybe take a medal or two. It will be held on the field behind the main PX.

For the grown-ups, the meet will offer a chance to see what the kids can do; have a few laughs, spur on a favorite entry.

Two outstanding athletes also are on the program. 2nd Lt. Bill Neider, second placer with the shot put during the Olympics in Australia in 1956, appropriately will make the opening remarks, expected to draw parallels between the big amateur show and the local Junior Olympics.

Then, he and another all-around star, Pfc. Joe Savoldi, former Michigan State decathlon athlete, will demonstrate various track and field events.

The schedule calls for the lighting of the Olympic torch, a parade of contestants, opening remarks by 2d Lt. Neider, crowning of the yet unnamed king and queen of the day, and two sessions of competitions (first for the preteens, second for the teenagers).

Grand finale will be a mass hula-hoop contest for all the kids at any age.

The events are open to any servicemen who meet the age requirements. Judging will be by members of the EM Council. Trophy cups will be awarded for first, second and third place.

LAH Basketball Sked Deadline Set For 30 Sept.

Only 12 days are left for basketball enthusiasts at Letterman Army Hospital to get their teams registered for the LAH Intramural League which gets under way 6 October.

Team managers or captains should submit rosters to LAH Special Services no later than 30 September.

Each team is limited to eight players; men assigned to the hospital more than 30 days are authorized to play.

Games will be played Mondays and Wednesdays at 1900 in the LAH gymnasium.

Flood Signed For Tour In Army RFA

Curtis Flood, center fielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, who hails from Oakland, California, was sworn into the Army Reserve this week and leaves Sunday for Ft. Ord, where he will begin six months of active duty.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Flood, 2839 Helen Street, Oakland, Flood expects to finish his tour of Army service in time to join the Cards next March for spring training in Florida. He enlisted under the Reserve Forces Act, which allows him to complete his six-year enlistment by participating in local Reserve unit training after taking six months of training.

Flood started the 1958 ball season in Omaha, and joined the Cards as a first-stringer, batting .261 for the season. He was with Cincinnati for two years prior to that.

A graduate of Oakland Technical High School, he played local ball with the Bill Erwin American Legion Post team.

The longest bare knuckles fight was between James Kelly and Jack Smith and lasted for six hours and fifteen minutes. It took place in Australia on Oct. 19, 1856.

Meet 'Mr. Mighty'

Jumping Joe Savoldi Could Add Needed Track Muscle

With Presidio's track picture dimmed by the loss of high jumping Sp4 Ernie Shelton a bright spot on the horizon could be Pfc. Joe Savoldi.

Savoldi, 24-year-old former Michigan State decathlon and hurdles specialist, was recently assigned as a personnel clerk with the U.S. Army Training Group here.

However, the hulking (6-ft. 4½-in., 245 lbs.) all-round athlete's cinder future is mighty uncertain at this time. He is thinking these days more in terms of football and basketball.

Savoldi is just following in the footsteps of his dad, Joe Senior, all-American fullback on the 1929 national championship Notre Dame eleven and pro footballer (Chicago Bears) who quit the grid to win fame as a professional wrestler (world champ, 1936).

Since leaving Michigan State in 1956, he has gained 25 pounds over his track trim and needs to get back into top shape.

"Maybe I'll shed the pounds," he said "with some football and basketball. I'm coach and tailback of the Training Group's six-man touch football team and I'd like to get a spot on Hal Fisher's (Presidio) basketball squad."

"By Spring, I might be ready for track."

Asked if he might compete this Winter in the AAU championships in New York City, he said "I don't think so; I probably won't be ready that soon."

Despite his size and weight, Savoldi earned his reputation at Michigan State as a hurdles sprinter. In fact, counted his outstanding performance was unofficially equalling the 7.1 seconds world's record for the 60 Yard Indoor High Hurdles. He tied the world mark during the 1956 Chicago "Daily News" Indoor Track and Field Meet, but one of his opponents, Olympics star Harrison Dillard got credit for the feat. "We both finished with the same time," Savoldi explained, "but Dillard was about an inch ahead of me so the official tying time went to him."

Since coming into the Army 23 May, 1957, Savoldi's track accomplishments have been limited. "I just haven't had the time to do much. Last year, I entered three local meets in Baltimore (he was stationed at Ft. Meade, Md.), but I only threw the discus and put the shot."

He did, however, squeeze in time to be a mainstay of the Ft. Meade football eleven last year. As needed most, he rotated on the gridiron as a fullback, halfback and end.

Savoldi now lives in San Rafael with his wife, Mary.

Army Will Produce Key Japanese Defense Info New M14, M60 Weapons Shortly Official Lauds SF Welcome

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has been given a green light by the Defense Department to start mass producing the test-proven new M14 rifle and M60 machine gun.

The improved, lightweight arms, which eventually will replace seven infantry weapons for soldiers and marines, will be built under an initial $35 million production program.

A total of 70,000 rifles costing $20 million has been authorized in the Fiscal Year 1959 budget, the Army said.

To prepare for quantity commercial production of the M14, a pilot assembly line is being readied at the Springfield, Mass., Armory, with the first weapons scheduled for next June.

Currently approved, the Army said, is a $3 million pilot run of 15,600 rifles. In addition, 8,835 M60 machine guns will be manufactured at a cost of some $15 million. Of this number, 5,835 will be produced by industry, the remainder at Springfield to keep the pilot line in operation.

The M14 will replace the M1 Garand rifle, the M2 and M3 carbines, the BAR and the M3 sub-machine guns. The M60 will supplant the light and heavy 30 cal. machine guns. Both replacement weapons fire the 7.62mm NATO cartridge.

Missile Bn. in Parade

A Battery of the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery will participate in the annual Don Castro Fiesta parade tomorrow in Castro Valley.

Among the anticipated 90 entries in the parade, scheduled to begin at 1100, will be a color guard from A Battery, the Battery's drill team and a Nike-Ajax missile float.

A quick trip to the Army Language School and a visit to the Presidio were highlights in the whirlwind visit to the United States of Tsunemasa Tenmo, Assistant Public Information Officer of the Japanese Defense Agency.

Mr. Tenmo along with nine newsmen was a visitor here last week when six Japanese warships—first to visit the United States since before World War II—steamed into San Francisco Bay concurrent with the local Pacific Festival.

Of primary interest to Mr. Tenmo was the method in which uncommon languages are taught at the Monterey school. Through his companion-interpreter, Bryan M. Battey of the Japan-Korea Desk, U.S. Information Agency, Mr. Tenmo explained that a major problem in Japan is the varying degrees of proficiency in English among officers and men of the Self-Defense Forces.

"We wish to establish some standard of proficiency, and I have heard that the Army Language School has excellent techniques of instruction."

Mr. Tenmo, whose visit on Post was primarily to the Sixth U.S. Army Information Office, commented quite favorably on the arrangements and accommodations furnished him and the other newsmen through the efforts of the various service Public Information Officers and expressed considerable interest in the tour of missile sites at Ft. Funston.

Previously connected with recruiting, Mr. Tenmo also was interested in securing information about Army recruiting methods, but a stringent schedule precluded a meeting with local recruiting officials. Instead, he was furnished recruiting pamphlets, brochures and other literature by the Sixth Army Information Section.

Formosan Crisis

Island's Past Reveals 63 Years of Tension

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

The island of Formosa, latest center of the ever-shifting world military and political storm, has had an uneasy history for the past 63 years.

In 1895, the island was ceded to Japan at the end of the Sino-Japanese war. When war broke out between the Japanese and the United States and its allies, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill pledged Formosa's return to China after the Japanese were defeated. This was put into writing in the Cairo Declaration of 1943.

In 1945, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces occupied the island after the Japanese surrender. Technically, however Formosa remained under the Japanese flag pending peace treaty terms.

When the Chinese Communists drove the remaining Chinese Nationalist forces from the mainland in 1949, Formosa became the refuge of the Chiang government. The Reds claimed the island was part of the mainland and vowed to seize it.

The following year Red China and the Soviet Union signed a 30-year treaty of "friendship, alliance and mutual assistance."

On Sept. 8, 1951, the United States and Japan signed a peace treaty formally ending the war in the Pacific. In one provision, Japan relinquished control of Formosa, but it was not returned to China because there were two Chinas, Nationalist and Communist.

The next year, Japan signed a separate peace treaty with Nationalist China, but there was no formal return of the island to the Chiang government as the representative of China.

In 1954, Nationalist China and the United States entered into a treaty of mutual defense covering Formosa.

BEST SCORE TROPHY was awarded to Btry. D, 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., Angel Island, for making the highest score during the Annual Service Practice at Red Canyon, N. M. The battalion missed the perfect shoot, achieving eight hits with nine missiles fired. The trophy, awarded for the first time this year, was presented by Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol to Capt. James O. Barnes.

Retreat Parade Today Will Honor 9 Retirees

Seven Army officers and two NCOs will be honored during a retirement ceremony on the main parade ground at 1600 hours today.

The senior officer retiring, Col. Charles H. Rue, commanding officer of the Two Rock Ranch Station at Petaluma, began his career in the service as a member of the National Guard on 10 Sept. 1923, and has served in the U.S., Germany, the Southwest Pacific and Japan. Among his awards and decorations are the Silver Star Medal, Bronze Star and the Army Commendation Ribbon.

Lieutenant Colonel Margaret M. Thornton, WAC Staff Advisor for the Sixth U.S. Army, was one of the first commissioned Women's Army Corps Officers. During her varied assignments she has served as assistant commander for the Corps' Officer Candidate School, WAC Recruiting Officer for the Second U.S. Army, and WAC Staff Advisor for the U.S. Army, Caribbean.

Retiring after over 26 years' service, Lt. Col. Walter B. Morrow began service with the Civilian Conservation Corps in the 1930's, served with the American Graves Registration Units during World War II and has been Chief of the Troop Program in the Sixth Army G-1 Manpower Section at the Presidio since March, 1954.

An officer in the G-2 Management Section since last Nov., CWO Lloyd E. Horne has been stationed in Alaska, Germany, the South Pacific, Okinawa, and several bay sites. His Army career began in 1934.

A 20-year veteran, CWO Clarence R. Black, was recently assigned to the 1st Battle Group, 31st Infantry, 7th Infantry Division in Korea and has served in Panama and the Far East.

Also retiring today will be Maj. Clyde B. Spinks, an officer in the

Capehart Project Starts Building At Baker, Barry

Preliminary construction for 98 Capehart Housing units for 6th Region USARADCOM and 6th US Army officers and enlisted men and their families is currently underway at Fort Baker and Fort Barry.

The new construction project authorizes 35 two, three and four-bedroom units to be built on an elevation overlooking San Francisco Bay at the Fort Baker site, and 63 units of the same type will be constructed on the Fort Barry reservation. Estimated completion date of the project is 24 July, 1959.

Cost of construction for the project, for which contract is held by the Alcan Pacific Company under direction of the San Francisco Army District Engineers, amounts to $1,611,319, with an off-site utilities contract for $103,400 going to the Peletz Construction Company, of Santa Rosa.

Among innovations included in the new Capehart Housing project at Forts Baker and Barry will be sliding metal doors, soundproof walls, equipped kitchens, chain-like protective fencing, playgrounds, car ports, flower gardens, hedges, and planter boxes.

Thai Field Forces Chief Will Visit Here On Monday

Major General Chalerm Marhaddh-na-nond, Chief of Staff of the Army Field Forces of the Royal Thai Army, will arrive here on Monday to begin a 21-day MAP-sponsored tour of Army installations.

Besides the Presidio, Gen. Marhaddh-na-nond is scheduled to visit Army Agencies in the Washington area; Hq. CONARC at Ft. Monroe, Va.; Army Pictorial Center, New York City; Ft. Knox, Ky.; Ft. Benning, Ga.; Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. and Ft. Sill, Okla.

Neither sleet nor . . . .

Fifteen years after he had mailed a letter to his father in Kansas, Sp5 Oren W. Andrews, Btr. B, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Ft. Scott, got word yesterday that it had been delivered. Seems the letter, sent by Andrews while serving with the Navy in the Pacific during WWII, was lost with a plane that disappeared over Alaska.

Aboard the plane, recently salvaged from a lake, Andrews letter was found and forwarded to the addressee, however, Andrews' father had since passed away. Brothers accepted the missive and will send it to their brother here. A nostalgic reminder that . . . neither sleet, nor hail, nor lost planes deter the busy postman from his appointed round.

GREAT BRITAIN's Defense Minister, Rt. Hon. Duncan Sandys, (above) and a party of top British military chiefs will be guests at the Presidio tomorrow. Maj. Gen. R. L. Howze, Deputy Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, will host a luncheon in the La Parada Room of the Officers Open Mess. (Freehand sketch of the Defense Minister was executed for the B-P by Carl Benassi, illustrator with the Information Section.)

Deputy CG Will Greet High Ranking Party

Four distinguished political and military leaders of Great Britain will arrive at the Presidio tomorrow during a ten-day visit to the United States at the invitation of Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy.

United Kingdom Minister of Defense Duncan Sandys will be accompanied by Air Marshal Sir Geoffrey Tuttle, Deputy Chief of Air Staff; Sir Frederick Brundrett, Chairman, Defense Research Policy and Scientific Advisor to the Minister of Defense; and Lt. Gen. Sir Roderick McLeod, Chief of Staff to the Chief of Defense Staff.

Minister of Defense Sandys, son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill, the former Prime Minister of Great Britain, will arrive with his group at the Coast Guard Station, San Francisco International Airport at 0900 hours via SAM aircraft.

Maj. Gen. R. L. Howze, Deputy Commanding General of Sixth Army, will meet the plane. Following a sightseeing tour, Gen. Howze will host an official luncheon in the La Parada Room of the Presidio Officers Open Mess at 1300.

The Rt. Hon. DUNCAN SANDYS, Privy Council and Member of Parliament (Conservative), has been Minister of Defense since January 1957. He was educated at Eton and Magdalen College, Oxford. Mr. Sandys was commissioned in the Territorial Army (Royal Artillery) in 1937 and served in the Expeditionary Force in Norway in 1940. As a lieutenant colonel he was disabled while on active service in 1941. He served as Financial Secretary to the War Office from 1941 to 1943, and as Parliamentary Secretary in the Ministry of Supply, 1943-44. Until 1945, Mr. Sandys was Chairman of the War Cabinet

Chemical Center Needs Research Volunteers For Medical Program

Volunteer applications for the Medical Research Volunteer Program conducted at the Army Chemical Center, Md., will be accepted between 29 September and 13 October for the December program and between 30 March and 13 April 1959 for the June program.

Personnel meeting the following requirements are eligible to apply: Aptitude Area GT Score of 90 or higher; completed Basic Training; physical profile category A or B; age 17 to 35; minimum of five months remaining service as of date of application; and security clearance.

Volunteer applications may be submitted through normal channels on DA Form 1049 to Presidio Headquarters.

Jungle Games Set

Washington (ANS) — Exercise Banyan Tree, recently announced by the Army to be conducted in February at the Panama Maneuver Area, will provide training for an Army airborne battle group in jungle operations, as well as providing training in strategic air movement and in deployment of STRAC units. The Commanding General of U.S. Army, Caribbean will be the Maneuver Director.

Comptroller General Sets New Ruling On Saved Pay

Washington (AFPS)—In a decision affecting the carry-over of saved pay from one enlistment to the next, the Comptroller General has ruled that such pay does not continue upon separation and reenlistment where there is a break in service of more than one day.

In clarifying servicemen's entitlement to pay under certain provisions of the Military Pay Act of 1958, the Comptroller said members on active duty on May 31, 1958, and otherwise entitled to saved pay, may continue to receive it when the following occurs:

- Discharge and immediate reenlistment (no break in service).
- Extension of an enlistment for a longer period.
- Return to duty status from unauthorized absence after May 31, 1958, if the return to duty occurs before current enlistment expires.

In a separate decision, the Comptroller General ruled favorably on the inclusion of certain training duty periods by officers seeking the special remuneration provided in the new pay bill for those with prior enlisted service.

In this ruling the Comptroller held that officers in pay grades O-1 through O-3 may include periods of active duty for training as an EM in the computation of over four years' active service so as to entitle him to the pay in the special table.

A new feature of military pay scales, a special table of basic pay rates for commissioned officers in pay grades O-1 through O-3 who have been credited with over four years' active service as an EM, was provided in the Military Pay Act of 1958.

Both of the rulings were approved by the Military Pay and Allowance Committee, under procedures prescribed by the Secretary of Defense.

Art of asking

Often Overworked

For many years those who have been the constant target of charity appeals have had a common complaint:

"Everytime I turn around it's gimmie! Someone is always wanting a donation for this or that. They nickel and dime you to death."

Or as one man put it, "I don't mind giving my fair share, but you get hit coming and going. I get it on the job and I get it at home. Drink a beer in your favorite pub and somebody passes the plate. Watch a television program and along with the sponsor's product, you get a pitch on this or that charity. I'm beginning to build up what I call a non-give resistance. I don't give anything to anybody."

Granted, this has happened in the past and will no doubt happen in the future. Granted, it is annoying. But you don't throw the baby out with the bath water.

United Bay Area Crusade—one big give, once a year—was organized for just such reasons. To prevent the charitable instinct, so overwhelmingly evident in most Americans, from being overworked.

Of course, there were other reasons, too. Such as reducing staff, overhead, publicity costs and thus putting the bulk of your donation to work where it will do the most good—the source of need. But the overall idea was, and still is, to keep people from being "nickled and dined to death."

When you make your contribution to the United Crusade you are given a card to prove it. Keep it in your wallet and don't hesitate to whip it out when the occasion demands. This will go a long way to eliminate double solicitation.

Of course, the continuation and success of the United Crusade depends on your support. If the 250 agencies participating in this "one big give" can't make ends meet through a united effort, they will be forced to drift away and seek funds on their own.

Then it's back to the old nickel and dime days in full force—with nobody to blame but yourself.

Soldier Meets URAC

The Hard Way

You don't have to go looking for trouble to find it in a strange town. Trouble can reach right out and find you. That's why the United Bay Area Crusade has a number of agencies ready to help strangers—especially servicemen.

Bill Johnson's first night in San Francisco was really rough, and he doesn't know just what did happen to him. This isn't his real name, of course, but he had just been assigned to Letterman Army Hospital at the Presidio. And, being lonesome, he decided to see the town.

The next thing he knew he was in a dingy coffee shop with the worst headache of his life. He had no idea how he got there. And his wallet was gone with every cent he had, including $100 in travelers' checks. To make matters worse, he was due at the hospital by midnight, and here it was after one.

"Somebody must have slipped you a Mickey Finn. Why don't you go to the Travelers' Aid Society," the man behind the counter suggested. "Here's two bits for bus fare—and forget about the coffee."

The Travelers' Aid Society has workers on duty around the clock. One of them squared Bill with his CO and sent him to the YMCA to rest. The Y is another United Crusade agency.

TA lent Bill enough money to get by on until payday and showed him how to stop payment on the stolen travelers' checks. So he got that money back eventually.

"Next time when you get lonesome, why don't you try the USO or the YMCA, the TA workers suggested.

The USO and the Y are other United Crusade agencies and Bill spends a lot of his time there now.

And will he give to the United Crusade this fall? You bet he will!

Communists Use Force When Other Means Fail

(Second of a six-part series on international Communism.)

News of Communist or Communist-inspired armed aggression is, unfortunately, not uncommon.

Despite the frequency of such news, Communists have shown a reluctance to use armed forces in overt aggression except as a last resort.

The history of Communist aggression—always aimed at ultimate political and economic domination—bears out two important guides the Communists seem to follow:

(1) Communism will use all measures short of actual warfare to obtain a given objective before resorting to armed force.

(2) Communism will not resort to armed force unless there is a reasonable chance of quick victory without—in the opinion of its leaders—appreciable free world reaction.

The Korean conflict in large measure was due to the fact that the leaders of international communism thought they would be unopposed or that they would win such a quick victory that the free world would accept it as irrevocable. This, the Communists discovered, was not the case.

In Hungary the Communists experimented by allowing Hungarians a taste of freedom—however illusory it was—only to discover that the Hungarians wanted to rid themselves of Russian rule altogether. As a last resort, troops re-invaded Hungary with the subsequent infamy of 1956.

Perhaps most important, however, is not the actual aggression, but what the aggression preludes. Once aggression is successful, these measures usually take place:

- The elimination of the opposition;
- The establishment of a Kremlin-trained puppet government;
- Evolutionary purges of Communists in power who turn out to be unreliable;
- Religious persecutions; and,
- Economic dependency.

The Soviet use of armed force, or threat thereof, followed the above pattern in the communization of Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary in 1945.

Communist armed aggression, even though reluctantly used, is carefully planned for maximum effect. It is not disorganized like the actions of a rating alley fighter. It is more akin to the shifty, skilled attack of a professional boxer, and, like any pro fighter is very dangerous.

Seven day nurseries in San Francisco and Oakland use United Crusade contributions to give 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. care to children whose mothers must work.

Recently Assigned

First Lieutenant GEORGE G. LAYMAN, a native of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has recently been assigned as Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics for the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Santa Clara, California.

Prior to his arrival in California, Lt. Layman completed the Advanced Officers' Course at Fort Benning, Georgia. He entered the service in July 1952.

Lt. Layman was graduated from Oklahoma A&M College, Stillwater, Oklahoma, receiving his Bachelor of Science Degree in Physical Education in 1952. At Oklahoma A&M he was active in the Future Teachers of America and the Lettermen's Club.

Seven USF Students Win Distinguished Tag For Military Studies

Seven University of San Francisco senior R.O.T.C. students have been designated Distinguished Military Students for the school year 1958-59, Col. M. A. Quinto, professor of military science and tactics, announced this week.

The seven cadets, picked because of the "excellence of their grades and for exhibiting qualities of military leadership" are: Frank J. Coughlin, Jr.; James J. DalBon; Edward M. Griffin; David N. Lillevand, Jr.; Charles M. Rourke; Laurence F. Sorini, Jr.; and James D. Trussas.

If these honor students maintain their records of academic and military excellence during the 1958-59 semester they will graduate as Distinguished Military Graduates which will enable them to apply for commissions in the regular U.S. Army.

In Our Mail

Mr. Ken Erwin
Editor, Star-Presidian
Presidio of San Francisco
San Francisco, California

I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the assistance which you provided my committee in obtaining for our "Little League" the baseballs autographed by the San Francisco Giants.

I am well aware that such projects are not as simple as they seem, and that they often require considerable time, patience and effort.

In training our youth, in any field of endeavor, we should always emphasize the need to win, but we must not overlook the fact that learning how to accept defeat is just as important as knowing how to win gracefully. My few words of appreciation to you can hardly convey the feeling of pleasure which these baseballs brought to a group of boys who had just played their hearts out—and lost.

what they said

It's easy to count blessings when you don't have them. But it isn't quite so easy to evaluate our rights and privileges when we are surrounded by them and take them for granted. So this week, we decided to make our readers think a little by asking the QUESTION: Of the freedoms which you now enjoy, which would you find most difficult to give up?

THE ANSWERS

Pfc. Francis McGarvey, MRU, 6th Army: Let me think a minute. It's a little hard answering a question like that. But actually I think freedom of thought would be the most difficult to give up. It controls all the other freedoms. If you can't think freely, you wouldn't have a conception of other freedoms, religion for example. Without freedom of thought, your mentality would be stifled. It would make you more of a machine than a human being. There wouldn't be any purpose in living because there wouldn't be an end. There would be no purpose to achieve. You couldn't have a goal in life.

Mrs. Elisabeth Earl, Secretary, Post Special Services: Freedom of Speech. I have experienced what it is like not to have freedom of speech during the war, and I think I know what it is like not to have it. Freedom of speech almost means freedom of thought. There is nothing like it. If a person can express himself as to what he feels, he is a lot happier. When a person uses his freedom of speech and expresses himself, he is a better citizen for doing so.

Pfc. William F. Baxter, Audit Specialist, MRU, 6th Army: I think the right to express myself as far as voting is the most important freedom, the right to choose my leaders. I guess that actually means the right to speak for myself, the right to vote. Every person living should have a right to express his will, right or wrong.

Pfc. Jack Martin, Machine Accounting, MRU, 6th Army: An individual's right to pursue the dictates of his mind is the most important freedom. An individual's mind or consciousness on a foundation built in a healthy society with proper perspective to pursue what he thinks is right is our most valuable freedom. Any hindrance given to an individual to follow the dictates of his heart is wrong. This freedom, I believe, includes all the other freedoms. They all work together toward the ultimate pursuit, that is the exercising of the freedom of will, the dictates of his mind.

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

Your service travels may mean that you'll be rubbing shoulders with people whose religious rites or intense expressions of nationalism strike you as theatrical.

How you conduct yourself, faced with such unfamiliar scenes, means a lot in winning friends for freedom. Think about the customs of your own faith. You expect others to show them a decent respect.

Tact, courtesy, and discreet interest in faiths that are new to you—these pay handsome dividends in breaking down misconceptions of America abroad.

Haven't you had first-hand experience of this? And couldn't you draw on it for a letter of not more than 500 words on the subject of "My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom"?

That letter might bring you as much as $1,000 if you submit it to the Freedoms Foundation Letter Writing Awards Program before Nov. 1. Address: Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. (AFPS)

Col. N. M. Matzger

Name Col. Matzger New AG for XV Corps (Reserve)

Colonel Neil M. Matzger has been assigned to Headquarters XVth US Army Corps (Reserve) as the Adjutant General. He comes to the headquarters from Washington, D.C., where he served since June 1955 in the AG Personnel Information Branch and as Chief, Personnel Records Branch.

A veteran of over 17 years in the Army, Colonel Matzger received his commission in March 1937 through the ROTC program at the University of Washington. During World War II, he served in the European Theater. In 1952 and 1953 he was stationed in Japan and Korea, where he was assigned to Headquarters 7th Infantry Division, and later to the Second Major Port command.

In addition to holding a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Washington, Col. Matzger has a Master of Arts degree from the American University in Washington, D.C.

His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Promoted to CWO

A veteran of 18 years Army service, Warrant Officer Murdoc C. Munn, the 30th Artillery Group Missile officer, was promoted to Chief Warrant, W2 on 18 Sept. Drafted in 1941, Munn served five years, left, was recalled for the Korean Conflict, left service again in 1952 and reentered the Army in 1954 to work in the field of guided missiles.

Named Top Soldier

With only eight months in the Army, Pvt. Rodney T. Vacek was chosen Soldier of the Month for the 4th Msl. Bn.

The 19-year-old Computer Operator for Btry D at Newark won a three-day pass and $25 to help him survive time away from the base.

Army Assigned Missile Booster Priority Project

Washington (AFPS) — The nation's latest high-priority project for space flight—building a missile booster with a 1.5 million-pound thrust—has been assigned to the Army.

The "go" order to speed construction of a liquid propellant engine, which will have about eight times greater thrust than the largest existing U.S. propulsion unit, was assigned by the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

The booster, missile nomenclature for the first stage of a multi-stage rocket, will be built under technical supervision of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

The Army said the booster will consist of a cluster of currently tested rocket motors "packaged into a single unit according to proven engineering concepts."

Main element of the cluster of rocket engines will be a motor similar to that used in the Jupiter and Thor intermediate range missiles and the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

This approach, the Army explained, to development of a "super booster" through a combination of existing motors being used in military missile programs is "considered the quickest and least expensive means of placing very large payloads," which could include manned space vehicles, into orbit. No date for the super booster engine to be ready was disclosed.

Army work on the cluster will be carried out under a $2 million contract with the Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation Corp. Rocketdyne also is building an engine of "over a million pounds thrust" for the Air Force. The development of a single-chamber engine in the million-pound class, officials said, will make a cluster of six for six-million-pound thrust "relatively easy."

Mail Them Early!

Fred Stohan, Employee Utilization Representative, received $50 for suggesting an amendment to CPR N1 7-5, which deals with requiring the overseas command to furnish the retention group and credits of an employee exercising his reemployment rights to a position in the Continental United States.

Another Employee Utilization Representative, George McCaffrey, received $10 for suggesting removal of a driving hazard on Lincoln Blvd.

Mrs. Ann McFarland, S4 Procurement Clerk, received $50 for suggesting the consolidation of monthly delivery orders for petroleum oil and lubrication products.

For suggesting that a single project number be used on all correspondence and documents pertaining to engineer requests, Mrs. Clara Brock, a secretary in the Post Engineer Section, received $50.

Mrs. Marie Scott received $30 for her suggestion for consolidating intelligence directives, and Clarence Jones, Jr., received $25 for suggestion that portable trash boxes be used in the Quartermaster Sales Store.

'Package Unit' From Barry Will Train To Use Hercules

The first "Package" of 27 Nike-Hercules missile-men-to-be, from this area, will leave next month for Fort Bliss, Texas, where they will train on the new Nike-Hercules guided missile. The course of instruction runs for eight weeks. The men are part of Battery A, 2d Missile Bn., (Nike-Ajax) 51st Artillery, formerly 9th AAA Msl. Bn. The Battery site is at Fort Barry at the north end of the Golden Gate bridge. It is commanded by Capt. Albert F. Baenzinger. The leader of the group going to Fort Bliss is Sfc. Jessie L. Myrick, Jr.

At the orientation the women's group was informed how they might assist the Army Air Defense Command's units in communities defended by 6th Region. Gen. McGaw and members of his staff presented the orientation, which was followed by a review at the PSF Parade Ground.

AROUND-THE-CLOCK sentinel for 17 years, Military Policemen have been the Army's law enforcement officers since 26 September 1941. This striking night shot of the Presidio Military Police office in their new location at the junction of Lincoln and Presidio Blvds., proves that MP's are on duty 24-hours-a-day to serve the soldier.

Local Units Will Mark Corps' Bright History

Although the official birthday of the Military Police Corps dates back but a brief 17 years (26 September 1941), the role of the Military Policeman has been a vital part of the Army since the infancy of this nation.

To celebrate the Corps' official anniversary, as well as revere the traditional, historical service, local MP's will join members of the Sixth U.S. Army Provost Marshal's Office today for cake and coffee at 1500 in Bldg. 36.

Otherwise, it will be "business as usual," according to MP officials, in keeping with the around-the-clock security and protective mission of the Corps.

This anniversary, incidentally, will mark the first during which the Post Military Police Office has been housed in its new quarters (Bldg. 558) at the junction of Lincoln and Presidio Blvds. and O'Reilly Ave.

One of the features of the new location and building is that it has given MP's an opportunity to apply new technical techniques. One of the more outstanding is installation of a Post-wide alarm system, covering every area of the Presidio, which can be controlled by a panel placed near the Desk Sergeant.

Historically, the Revolutionary ancestor of today's MP was a mounted soldier who was paid a $20 enlistment bonus for a three-year hitch in the Marechausse Light Dragoons—a unit authorized by a Congressional resolution of 27 May 1778.

Through the War of 1812, the lengthy Indian Campaigns and the Mexican War, commanders detailed men and officers from their units to perform MP duties.

With the outbreak of the Civil War, the stature of the Provost Marshal was considerably revised and enhanced; however, strictly MP functions continued to be delegated by commanders and some permanent MP's were recruited from the Invalid Corps for light duty.

In World War I, traditional detailing of military policemen continued until the last month of the war, when a Military Police Corps of the American Expeditionary Force was organized. But, shortly after the Armistice it was disbanded.

However, AEF Provost Marshal Brig. Gen. Harry H. Bandholtz prepared a report, which bears his name, in which he stressed the requirement for a full-time, highly-trained MP Corps for peacetime and wartime. But, only the agitation of pre-World War II crisis brought about—17 years ago—the permanent Corps so strongly urged by Brig. Gen. Bandholtz.

$7,540 To Army Civilian; Suggestion Cash Awarded Military Personnel Here

Six civilian employees received the Army's highest civilian awards for outstanding achievements in fiscal year 1958 during a special ceremony at the Pentagon, yesterday. Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker made the awards.

One of the employees, William E. Schaem of North Arlington, Va., received a cash award of $7,540.

Schaem, supervising structural engineer in the office of the Army Chief of Engineers, won his award for an original proposal for a practical and economic method of reinforcing rigid concrete girders with high strength steel bands. After thorough tests were conducted on this novel method, it was approved by the American Concrete Institute. To date Mr. Schaem's suggestion has saved the Army approximately $6 million in construction costs. The amount of $7,540 awarded to Mr. Schaem is the highest ever presented to a civilian employee of the Department of the Army.

The other five employees who received exceptional civilian service decorations were: Charles E. Hollis of Columbus, Ga.; Francis E. Fitzpatrick of Gallup, N. M.; Naomi R. Benjamin of Washington, D. C.; Dr. Martin Schilling of Huntsville, Ala., and Wilbur S. Hinman, Jr., Falls Church, Va.

All of the employees were selected on the basis of outstanding achievements through the submission of constructive ideas and exceptional civilian service to the Army.

June and July Department of the Army military suggestion award winners received Suggestion Certificates and checks at a ceremony at the Presidio this week.

Colonel Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Executive Officer, presented an award to M/Sgt. James E. Jones, U.S.A. Dispensary at the Presidio, who was awarded $15 for his suggestion on the inclusion of plastic syringes in doctors' bags.

Sgt. John C. Craig, Sixth Army Adjutant General's Printing Plant, received $25 for his suggestion on simplifying the operation of the Acro-Feed Automatic Book Collator which saves an annual $600.

A group suggestion, submitted by Pvt. Charles E. Richardson Jr., and Pvt. Charles Wiener, 56th MRU, brought them $25 and Suggestion Award Certificates for a suggestion concerned with the Daily Machine Utilization Record Form.

Wins RA Commission

Second Lieutenant John R. Osterland, a member of D Battery, 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty, Angel Island, last week was integrated into the regular Army during a ceremony at the Bn. Hdqs.

A distinguished military graduate from Florence State College, Florence, Ala., Lt. Osterlund received his commission in the Ordnance Corps primarily because of his collegiate background in technical fields.

His present assignment in the Air Defense Command is to fulfill his required two year tour on "troop" duty, necessary for all newly commissioned regular Army officers.

DREAMS OF TOYLAND come true as Pat Cooper inspects the shining new stuffed animals in the Toyland, building 1243, at Fort Scott which opens tomorrow when Santa Claus arrives via helicopter at 0945.

To Host Grand Opening Of Fabulous Toyland

Even though Christmas is still three months away, Santa Claus is flying from his North Pole home via Army helicopter and will arrive here tomorrow.

No sneaking down the chimney for him. Ole Santa has scheduled his whirlybird sleigh to flutter down to the main parade ground at Fort Scott exactly at 0945. And instead of trying to surprise the children like he usually does, Santa sent a special telegram to the Star Presidian:

"OPENING NEW TOYLAND TOMORROW. STOP. PLEASE INVITE ALL BOYS AND GIRLS TO BE THERE. STOP. WILL BE GIVING AWAY FREE CANDY. STOP. NOW IS THEIR CHANCE TO TELL ME WHAT THEY WANT FOR CHRISTMAS FROM THE BEAUTIFUL NEW TOYLAND. SORRY NO REINDEER. STILL TOO WARM. STOP. SANTA CLAUS."

Tomorrow's welcome for Santa Claus will be slightly extraordinary. As soon as they heard he was coming, the Sixth Army Band volunteered to strike up with a few pre-Christmas numbers, probably to make the old boy feel at home. The fire department plans to drive Santa from his helicopter right down Ruckman Avenue to building 1243 where approximately 6,000 square feet has been filled with thousands of shining new toys.

The ribbon will be cut by Colonel Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, or his designated representative, and Santa will ascend to his throne where he will talk with the children and give them free candy.

A photographer will be there to take a picture of the children with Santa. Georgia Reuss, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. George Reuss, will present Santa with flowers.

Twenty boy scouts, under the command of CWO Henry Stephens, will be there to keep law and order. And in the event that any children (over one thousand are expected) become lost, the check-out stand is the place for them to go and wait for their parents.

In addition to the thousands of dolls, stuffed animals, trains, bikes, and kiddies furniture, Christmas cards and tree decorations will also be on sale. Parents will be happy to hear that you can pay one-third down now and the rest up until Christmas.

More Need Every Day

The Bay Area gets more people every day. People bring their problems with them. So the United Crusade must ask for more money to pay for more medical and psychiatric help, more appealing youth activities, more care for neglected children.

Hulu Expert Here

At a meeting of the Teenage Club tonight at 2015, M/Sgt. Michael Bray will give a lecture on Ancient and Modern Hawaii. A native of Hawaii, M/Sgt. Bray is considered an expert in his field. There will also be present a group of dancers who will demonstrate some of the traditional dances of the island.

160 NDR Visitors View Nike Sites During SF Tour

About 160 persons who attended a series of lectures given by the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at the National Defense Resources Conference in San Francisco this month visited three of the Nike batteries this week.

Half the number were senior Reserve Officers on active duty for two weeks, and half were "senior citizens" from leading business, industrial, labor, financial, educational, agricultural, service and civic organizations attending in a privileged status as interested civilians.

Sites visited were: A Btry., 4th Msl. Bn. 61st Arty.; B Btry., 4th Msl. Bn. 61st Arty.; and D Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn. 51st Arty.

Program Here Will Celebrate National 'Day Of Prayer'

A National Day of Prayer will be held on 1 October in accordance with a presidential proclamation.

Prayers for the nation will be said at the Post Chapel between 1200 and 1300 next Wednesday. Sharing in the services will be Chaplains (Col.) Herman H. Heuer, (Lt. Col.) Theodore E. Curtis, Jr., (Lt. Col.) Dayton D. Drake, and (Capt.) Paul M. Pease.

Chaplain (Capt.) Albert D. Bull will celebrate the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and conduct a Holy Hour at Chapel of Our Lady at 1200.

Members of the military, their dependents and civilian personnel are welcome to attend these services.

New Designation Gives Unit Topflight Battle History

The 740th AAA Msl. Bn. (Nike) (Continental) has been inactivated and redesignated with the same strength and composition and is now the 4th Msl. Bn. (Nike-Ajax) 61st Arty.

Battery A, 61st Coast Artillery, was organized in 1808 as a Company of light Artillery. It participated in the War of 1812 and fought in the Battles of Queens-town Heights, Canada, in 1812, Stony Creek, New York, in 1813, and Plattsburg, New York, in 1814.

During the Seminole War it took an active part in battles in Florida and won honors in the Mexican War at Cerro Gordo, Hacienda de Oka Lake, San Antonio Contreras, Churubusco, City of Mexico and Pass La Haya.

In the Civil War Battery A participated in 22 major campaigns and saw action in the Battle of Bull Run and the Siege of Yorktown and Fredericksville.

In 1901 Battery was changed back to Coast Artillery and stationed at Fort Monroe until 1916, when it moved to the defense of Chesapeake Bay through 1917. It was then redesignated and became Battery E, 60th Artillery, CAC and was shipped to France, where it saw action in St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

The Unit was returned to the United States in 1919 for demobilization. It was reconstituted and consolidated with Battery A, 61st Artillery Battalion, which had been formed in 1918.

Headquarters Battery, 61st Coast Artillery, was organized in 1907 at Fort Howard, Md., and demobilized in 1918. It was immediately reconstituted as Coast Defense of Baltimore and later transferred to Fort Monroe, Va. In 1924 it became Headquarters, 61st Coast Artillery, and has served honorably since as an Artillery Regiment in World War II and the Korean Conflict.

Units of the 61st Artillery Regiment during World War II served in Iceland in 1942, England in 1944, Normandy, Northern France, Rheinland, Ardennes-Alsace, Central Europe. They were awarded the Distinguished Unit Streamer embroidered ST VITH, cited in the Order of the Day of the Belgian Army for action in defense of Antwerp and Antwerp Harbor. They were awarded the Belgian Fourragere in 1940.

The Unit saw action in Korea in the CCF intervention, the first UN counteroffensive, the CCF spring offensive and the UN summer-fall offensive. They received the Republic of Korea Presidential Unit Citation, embroidered KOREA.

The plan to establish the Combat Army Regimental System, which was approved by the Secretary of the Army in January, 1957, is a direct attempt to devise a workable method of maintaining continuity in the existence of traditional units.

The Coat of Arms of the 61st Coast Artillery (AA) was approved by the War Department on 25 October, 1921. The shield is silver and black, a thunderbolt penetrating the Chariot Wheel of Helios winged Chariot, with 2 inverted wings bathed in sun.

The Crest shows a Golden Eagle's head on a silver and black wreath. The motto is Latin, "Non est ad astra molles e terris," and means "The way to the stars is not an easy one."

The aims and purposes of the 61st Artillery are told in pictorial form by the story of Greek Mythology of the winged chariot of Helios which was brought to earth by a bolt of lightning thrown by Zeus. This is the first historical record of a hit being scored against an aerial target.

The 740th AAA Msl. Bn. (Nike) (Continental) is transferred to the control of the Department of the Army. All colors and guidons belonging to the 740th will be retained by the 4th Msl. Bn. (Nike-Ajax) 61st Arty. until receipt of new and appropriate colors and guidons. The Battalion will remain under the command of Lt. Col. C. P. Samson.

Fellowship Meeting Set

Presidio's Protestant Youth Fellowship will resume its Fall activities Sunday at 1700 in the Post Protestant Chapel.

A short worship service will be followed by a talk by Lt. Col. Fred Zehrer, Chief of the Psychological Clinic, LAH.

This will be the first on a series of talks called Personality and Development, and all high school students are urged to attend.

The Fellowship Group obtains many qualified speakers during the year to discuss teen age interests.

They visit other city's churches and groups and also invite other groups here. They plan to have a retreat at one of the church recreation centers near San Francisco.

Anyone desiring further information should contact Chaplain Paul Pease or Pfc. Allan Schell, Ext. 2110.

movie roundup

PEYTON PLACE—Reviewed last week. Theaters: No. 1—Today; No. 3—Monday; No. 4—Tuesday.
I MARRIED A MONSTER FROM OUTERSPACE—(M), Tom Tryon, Gloria Talbot. A highly imaginative tale of a race of monster-aliens who invade earth, take over the bodies of humans and marry their girls. Theater: No. 1—Tomorrow.
THE BARBARIAN AND THE GEISHA—(M), (Color), John Wayne, Eiko Ando, Sam Jaffe. The film depicts the problems of the first U. S. ambassador to Japan, then strongly resisting the intrusions of Western culture, and his romance with a geisha, who helps him solve some of his difficulties. Theaters: No. 1—Sunday and Monday; No. 3—Wednesday; No. 4—Thursday.
VILLAGES—(M), (Color), Cesar Romero, Brian Keith, Margia Dean. These are the early episodes in famous Pancho Villa's career in Mexico. The film deals with Villa's transition period from bandit to patriot, the period when the revolutionary Army which was to sweep Porfirio Diaz from office was being formed. Theaters: No. 1—Tuesday; No. 3—Friday.
THE REVENGE OF FRANKENSTEIN—(M), Peter Cushing, Eunice Gayson. With the assistance of another doctor, Frankenstein transplants a dwarf's brain into another body. The newest creation is a killer; worse, a cannibal who vainly seeks help from his only friend. Theater: No. 1—Wednesday.
A FAREWELL TO ARMS—(M), (Color), Jennifer Jones, Rock Hudson, Vittorio De Sica. Based on the best selling novel, the picture retains all of the depth, pathos, humor and humanity of Hemingway's story of love amongst the chaos of war. Theater: No. 1—Thursday and Friday.
THE DECKS RAN RED—Reviewed last week. Theaters: No. 4—Sunday.

"ROLLING ALONG" song and dance number The Good Old Days will be executed by these five Army hams Tuesday when the world-touring show comes to the Presidio. The showmen are (l to r) Pfc. Jose Escobosa, Pfc. Barry Christy, Sp4 Jerry Holmes, Pvt. Myles Kavanaugh, and Pvt. Leonard Kavanaugh.

Top Army Talent Show Due Here This Tuesday

"Rolling Along," the show which features winners from the All-Army Contest in world-wide competition, will give two performances at the Presidio Tuesday, 30 September, at 1400 and 2015.

The 90-minute musical revue will be performed at Presidio Service Club. It features a 10-piece show band and 13 performers, including three Sixth Army boys. Pfc. Leonard and Myles Kavanaugh will execute some skilled song and dance routines, and Pfc. Barry Christy will demonstrate fiery baton twirling ability.

In addition there is a top vocal group, a comic impressionist, an electric guitarist, and several other singers and dancers.

All the major Army commands who participated in the Entertainment Contest Grand Finals are represented in the touring soldier show which is designed to provide entertainment for troops and stimulate the production of soldier shows in the field. The unit began its tour with the world premiere at Ft. Belvoir, Va., 20 August and will roll up approximately 200 performances around the world before it disbands on 10 April, 1959, at Fort Jay, New York.

"Rolling Along" will return to this area after a tour of the Pa-

Park Department Farce Due Staging At Presidio Club

A three act comedy farce, "Stray Cats" will be presented by the Recreational Arts Drama group of the San Francisco Recreation and Park Department at the Presidio Service Club tonight at 2015.

The play is about three nephews who have been willed four million dollars by a maiden aunt on the condition that they be married by a certain date. If they don't get married, the money goes to a home for stray cats.

To find out what happens, come to the Service Club tonight and enjoy an evening of laughter.

Jewish Services Set

To make it possible for Jewish personnel at the Presidio to observe Sukkot, the Feast of Tabernacles, a Sukka will be erected adjacent to the Religious Activities Center building 682, and a Worship Service ushering in the festival will be held on Sunday, 28 September at 1700.

Rabbi William Z. Dalin, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Sixth Army Auxiliary Chaplain, will officiate.

All military personnel of the Jewish faith and their dependents are cordially invited to attend this Worship and the Festival dinner which will follow which is sponsored by the San Francisco office of the Jewish Welfare Board.

with Christine Johnson

Here is a preview on the October U.S. Lady of the Month. She has been at the Presidio since August and already has stepped into her role as Publicity Chairman of the Women's Club.

Mrs. John A. Peters, better known as Lylas, says "You never go on a tour where you don't know someone." This maxim probably works in the reverse when Mrs. Peters is concerned. Everyone knows her.

But whether or not Mrs. Peters had ever been selected as U.S. Lady of the Month her fame would have still gone far and wide.

She was president of the Armed Forces Hostess Association, the only volunteer group established without dues on a world wide volunteer basis. Mrs. Peters worked in this organization, which has 700 neighborhood hostesses to welcome all incoming officers' wives, in three capacities: Chairman of Publicity, Chairman of the Zone of Interior Information Files, and President. During her last season in Washington, she held all three positions at once.

As a result of Lylas

Peters' efforts, the Zone of Interior files contain complete information on every Army, Navy, Air Force, Coast Guard and Marine installation in the country. Any wife, being sent to a new base, had only to write to Mrs. Peters for information on everything from housing to baby sitters.

An accomplished journalist (she holds a B.A. in English from the University of Washington), Mrs. Peters wrote two columns for the Pentagon News, a bimonthly publication for the Armed Forces in the Military District of Washington. "What's Doing" dealt with things of interest that service people might not know about, art museums, concerts, where to take the children on a Sunday afternoon; "What's Doing in Washington" dealt with clubs and social activities.

Her pen, never ceasing to be prolific, contributed a series "Post of the Month" to U.S. Lady. This was a result of the extensive research she did which was necessary in preparing her Zone of Interior files.

A marvellous sense of humor and an indefatigable working spirit are perhaps two reasons why Mrs. Peters could survive an enormous project like "Operation Clothesline."

During the Korean War her husband, Lt. Col. John A. Peters, now Assistant Chief, Services Division, G4, sent a letter home saying, "I wonder if some of those women in the clubs you belong to would have any children's old clothing I could have for these orphans?" That was all it took for Mrs. Peters to organize what turned into a near nation-wide project. Daily, hundreds of parcels were delivered to her basement where she and friends repacked them and sent them off to Korea.

The ambitious accomplishments of Mrs. Peters demand too much depth to be handled in detail here. Let it simply be said that she is a superb representative of "a host of wonderful women who are devoted to making the military community a happier place to live in."

Is LIMITED WAR the challenger to American strategy? In this book, by R. E. Osgood, answers this and gives facts on the problem of how the U.S. can utilize its military power as a rational and effective instrument of national policy in the atomic age, and prepare for limited war as the only alternative to universal destruction.

An informative but fictional account of a future war has been written by R. B. Rigg, and is called WAR—1974. The book is based on present known facts about weapons and machines in use or being tested in which strategic and tactical mobility are shown to be keys to the problem of limiting warfare.

How much do you know about SAC: THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND? In his new book R. G. Hubler not only gives a history of the command, but describes its organization, development into a global force, weapons, and training of men in new concepts of warfare.

FIVE DOWN AND GLORY, a history of the American air ace, is a panoramic story of the ace fighter pilots of the U.S. Air Forces from World War I through the Korean War, often in their own words, with a detailed sampling of the air battles in which they fought. The author of this account is Gene Gurney.

In his book, CLAY PIGEONS OF ST. LO, G. S. Johns gives an account of an American infantry battalion and its commander in combat in Normandy during June and July, 1955.

On the library shelves this week in the field of journalism is EDITING THE DAY'S NEWS, by G. C. Bastian. This is an introduction to newspaper copy editing, headline writing, illustration, make-up and small magazine production.

Committee To Meet On Military Sports Plan

MRU Wins 5th Straight As LAH Ties Army Hq Co

With the local six-man touch football season a scant three weeks old, no clear-cut powerhouse has yet loomed on the horizon.

The 21st Engineers in the Engineer League garnered their third straight win as they swamped Hq. 30th Engineers, 20-6.

In the second quarter, the 30th upstaged the defending post champion 21st when Sp4 Tom Skinner scampered 60 yards for a tally. But, in the closing minutes of the first half, the 21st's Sp4 Bodine Shultz carried for 45 and six points. Sp4 Brownie Cummins converted to put the 21st into the lead, 7-6. From there on out it was Katy-bar-the-door as Sp4 Cummins passed 20 yards for a score in the third quarter and then in the final quarter, he tallied again.

Most of the football action this week was in the Presidio League.

Sixth Army Hq. Co. and Letterman battled to a 6-6 tie, with both teams showing strong defenses while their offensives floundered. LAH scored early in the game, but it was not until late in the fourth quarter that Sixth Army was able to knot the score on a 40-yard pass play from Bill Chapman to Jim Lloyd.

MRU gained its fifth win by burying C Co., USAG, 32-7. During the parade of tallies, Pfc. Bill Baxter, 1st Lt. Jim Frankenberg, Pfc. Andy Abrate, Pfc. Don Southworth and Sp4 John Coniglio crossed the goal stripe. Conversions were made by Pfc. Dick Kashare and 1st Lt. Frankenberg.

In another landslide, Hq. Co. USAG dumped the Teenagers, 33-0. Pfc. Ken Carroll scored in the first quarter on a 30-yard pass from Sp4 Warren Fannin. Pfc. Carroll scored again in the next quarter on a 10-yard run. In the third quarter, Sp4 Bob Ashley raced 30 yards for six points and Sp4 Fannin converted. In the same quarter, Pvt. Stuart Blue returned a punt 45 yards for a tally, and again Sp4 Fannin converted. In the last quarter, Sp4 Fannin hit Pfc. Carroll with a 40-yard pass for a score and Sp4 Ashley's conversion made the final total 33-0.

Despite a last minute rally, the 4th Msle. Bn., 65th Arty. team from L.A., representing the defending champion 6th ARADCOM, failed to overtake 1st ARADCOM's crackerjack crew and dropped a narrow 9-7 decision to garner runner-up honors in the All-ARADCOM Softball Tournament at Ft. Sheridan, Ill.

REIGNING SUPREME at the Junior Olympics here last Saturday were Queen Charlotte Stephens and King Jan Londahl. More than a hundred youngsters from six through the teens competed in activities ranging from track to the hula hoop.

Junior Olympics 'Very Large' With Youngsters

More than 175 youngsters ranging in age from six years through the teens turned out Saturday to vie in the Presidio Service Club No. 1 Junior Olympics.

When the shouting was all over, youngsters who gained the first three places in each event were awarded gold cups.

In addition, 10 cups went to contestants in the mass Hula Hoop contest.

Service Club officials extended thanks to 2d Lt. Bill Neider, Sfc. John Queen and Pfc. Joe Savoldi for assisting in the competitions and half-time demonstrations. Bouquets also were passed to the Presidio-Letterman fencing team for a demonstration and two members of the Enlisted Council for their services.

First place winners in each event were:

PRE-TEENS — Zig-Zag Walk, Steve Londahl; 40-Yard Dash for Girls Under 12, Linda Padua (small) and Betsy Cardell (tall); 60-Yard Dash for Boys Under 12, Mike Malone (small) and Butch Helderman (tall); Barrel Race for Boys, Manuel Pangan; Rolling Target Shoot, Pamela Esleek (girls) and Mike Malone (boys); Standing High Jump, Pamela Esleek (girls) and Butch Helderman (boys); Hand Wrestling, Maggie Merrick (girls) and Butch Helderman (boys); and Bicycle Obstacle Course, Linda Padua (girls) and Tex Orth (boys).

TEENAGERS — Shot Put, Jan Londahl; 100-Yard Dash, Skipper Amos; 40-Yard Dash for Girls, Sharon Harrison; Hand Wrestling, Lance Whalin; Bicycle Obstacle Course, Art Malone.

Duck Shoot Set

Here's a reminder that the two-day Ducks Unlimited shoot and rally at the Pacific Rod and Gun Club, Lake Merced, opens tomorrow. Registration tomorrow and Sunday will begin at 0800, and firing will start an hour later on both days.

Pac Summer League Near Finals Winter Leagues Going Full Steam

With one week to go, the leading Sixth Army Hq. Co. No. 3 keggers need but two points to clinch the Pacific Summer Bowling League crown.

However, the runner-up Regioners cannot be counted out. As of the next-to-last week of play, Sixth Army has posted a 53-27 season record and the contenders stand at 50-30.

Should Sixth Army drop either three or four points next week, giving them either 54-30 or 53-31, and should the Regioners cop four markers for a 54-30 first place could be tied up or go to the underdog Regioners.

In a bid to put a clamp on the top spot, Sixth Army No. 3 swept four points from its rival Sixth Army Hq. Co. No. 2. Wilmoth rolled a 600-213 for the winners, while the losers' leader was DeGraff with 490-177.

Bay Area Interservice Sports Program Sought

By Sp3 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer will go to Travis Air Force Base Tuesday to sit in on a planning session to form a multi-sport Bay Area Armed Services Sport League.

Representatives from 14 other nearby military installations are also expected to attend.

"There's not much doubt that the league will materialize," Mr. Fischer said this week. "It is about the same as an old league we used to have around here."

The new league would be a counterpart of the existing Women's Interservice Recreational League.

Primary purpose of the proposed confederation, according to Mr. Fischer, "is to encourage maximum participation by installations in a variety of sports."

Then, at the end of the year a trophy would be presented to the installation with the highest number of points, based on both wins and participation.

Among sports to be considered will be bowling, handball, volleyball, golf, swimming and diving, track and field and wrestling, as well as the more conventional tennis, baseball, basketball, football (touch and tackle), softball and boxing.

4th Missile Volleyball Team Tangles With Tough Travis AFB

Highnetters from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery last night faced a rival volleyball six from the Embarcadero "Y". Results of the game were not available at press time.

The local players, who have been doubling as the Post Toreros, did not compete in a scheduled match with Travis Air Force Base because of a player shortage, but four of the 4th Battalion men went to Fairfield Saturday to work with the airmen in a 10-game scrimmage.

Next on the agenda for the Missilemen is another crack at the Embarcadero "Y" next Thursday night.

Hunter Safety Award

The California Fish and Game Department this year received the top national award for its "out-standing" hunter safety program. The program, only four years old, is credited with reducing hunting casualties from 132 in 1955 to 79 in 1957.

Series Special Set

On October Classic, a special half hour edition of "Twentieth Century," sportswriter Red Smith and Sportscaster Phil Rizzuto trace World Series history, this Sunday. Films will be shown of eight memorable moments, selected by Smith, from past Series games: Babe Ruth calls his home run shot in 1932; Joe DiMaggio's base running skill helps the Yankees sweep the 1939 series; catcher Mickey Owen's muff of a third strike pitch in 1941 proves catastrophic; in 1946, Enos Slaughter scores from first on a single; Cookie Lavagetto spoils Floyd Bevens' no hitter and wins a 1947 game; Al Gionfriddo's 1947 catch robs DiMaggio of a home run; in 1954, Willie Mays makes a spectacular catch and finally Don Larsen's perfect game in the 1956 Series. Host and introducer of the show, 1530 on channel 5, will be Walter Cronkite.

The Regioners, however, helped Pins, 6-6; Alley Rats, 4-8; and SFAADS, 0-12.

Following is a summary of this week's results:

Recruiters over Islanders, 4-0—Biendenbender, 573-205, and Saito, 476-183. Shatters over Alley Rats, 4-0—Opozda, 538-190, and Havrilla, 493-173. Keystone Kops over SFAADS, 4-0—Beveridge, 604-233, and Wilcox, 473-195. 60th CI tied King Pins, 2-2—Gregor, 508-175, and Dennis, 519-205.

Over in the Missileers Handicap Bowling League (2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty), the Islanders unceremoniously dumped the Oozlefinches, 4-0, and cut of a tie for the lead. In other games, the Angels bumped the Five Niners, 4-0, to move within a single point of the second-place Oozlefinches. The losers fell to fifth place. Baenziger's Rangers, now in fourth place, blanked the hapless last-place Rafael Nike Strikers, CI Detachment. Next are the King 4-0.

Fifth - place AAA Sparks dumped the Honor Guard, 4-0, in a forfeit. Larson, however, rolled a 482-181 for the Sparks.

In the young Presidio Winter Bowling League, three teams are tied for first place and two are knotted for the runner-up position. Leading are the Keystone Kops, Shatters and Recruiters, all with 8-4 records. In second place, with 7-5, are the Islanders and the 60th CI Detachment. Next are the King 4-0.

WAC Sextet Needs Coach Could Prove Area's Best

The Presidio's "Blue Chip" six—the highly-vaunted Torera basketball sextet—is shaping up in preseason scrimmage as "probably the best team we ever had," said player-manager Sfc. Mary Phillips this week.

With seven returning veterans from last year's hoopsters, who boasted an 18-2 season record and were undefeated in service play, and a lot of strong newcomers, the girls expect to be in top form for the season's opener against Ft. Mason on 16 October.

Returnees expected to help the Toreras breeze through a 12-game Women's Interservice Recreational League schedule are forwards Sfc. Georgia Kelly, Sp4 Diana Kinsel, Cpl. Florian Vierra and Sfc. Phillips and guards Sp4 Molly Edwards, Sgt. Theresa Silva (also a forward) and Sp4 Peggy Harris.

To bolster the Old Guard are freshmen Pvt. Barbara Bennett, Pfc. Neva Horst, Pvt. Marie Levering, Pvt. Roberta McAllister, Pfc. Mary Murphy, Pfc. Fumika Uyeda and Sp5 Irma Collins.

The Toreras only two losses last year came at the hands of strong amateur teams. They dropped a 68-50 game in the opening round of the Northern California Women's Invitational Tourney to the Santa Rosa Jesters and bowed 56-51 to the Berkeley Clefs.

Biggest problem facing the 1958-59 Toreras is "Who's going to coach?" Current coach, Sp5 Arleen Patt is due to leave the Presidio 10 October, just six days before the regular season opens. A lot of names have been bandied about, but as yet no successor to Sp5 Patt has been named.

At present, the Torera expect to play seven home games at Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium.

Other teams in the league include Ft. Mason, Ft. Ord, Hamilton Air Force Base, Travis Air Force Base, Letterman Army Hospital and Mather Air Force Base.

Although the league did not exist last year, the local WAC's played most of the same teams during their service competition.

Torero Opener Set

The Presidio Torero basketball team will open the 1958-59 season 3 November against the San Francisco Chinese at the Chinese Recreation Center, Washington and Mason Sts. The game will start at 215; no admission will be charged. Other games have not yet been firmed, according to coach Hal Fischer.

Torero Cagers Tested By Top Pick-up Quintet

Five top local basketballers—one of them a former soldier and player here—gave the 1958-59 Torero aspirants a rugged workout during a scrimmage this week at Letterman gymnasium.

Leading the visitors was ex-Presidian Mike O'Neill, former University of California guard and all-AAU ace, who was a mainstay of the Toreros in 1955 and 1956 and twice named to Sixth Army teams.

With O'Neill were Jim Moyer, current USF guard; John Burton, captain of the SF State quint two years ago and all-time high scorer there; George Hatzis, former Pepperdine guard; and George McLaughlin, former Seattle forward who now plays with the AAU Seattle Yukons.

Named Rec Secretary

Sfc. Mary Phillips, stellar player-manager of the Presidio Torera basketballers, has been named Secretary for basketball of the Women's Interservice Recreational League. Commissioner for basketball is Ft. Ord's Sgt. Doris Hampton. They are the only two officers for basketball in the league formed earlier this year.

Hot Kid Kegler Carries Heavy Wood On Top Team

"Bowlin' and wimmin" sugar the life of a red-hot 15-year-old kegler whiz kid here whose steady 500-plus series have earned him a niche on the front-running Keystone Kops five, which won the summer Monday night bowling league at the Presidio.

He's Bobby Mahon, son of M/Sgt. Charles Mahon. First Sergeant of the 163d Military Police Company and another stalwart of the Kops keglers.

We don't know what his average is with the gals; but Bobby's now carrying a 168 in the local league, and not long ago posted a torrid 236. Twice recently he has been top roller on the team.

Bobby, whose practice time has been cut during the week by classes at Galileo High School, broke into the lineup last year when the Kops were a man short and after a few hot nights earned a regular niche.

But the 5 foot 8½ inch, 145 pounder has yet to equal a personal high he posted when he was only 12 years old. In 1955, on the Presidio alleys, he chalked up a 247—a mark that very few of the old pros here can claim.

Bobby can't claim all the family honors. In the same league, his dad carries a 173 average to best the younger half by five points.

Some historians are of the belief that the most primitive game, after running, jumping, throwing and wrestling, is lawn bowls.

Sample Defaulted In Pacific Coast Tournament play

Presidio's "Mister Tennis," Capt. Frank Sample, lost out on his chance to compete in the 69th annual Pacific Coast tennis tournament now underway at Berkeley.

Capt. Sample said that a schedule mix-up caused his default in the first round. Originally picked to begin playing the second day of the tournament, Capt. Sample later was scheduled for the opening day.

He was not notified of the change and his opponent, given a choice under tourney rules, declined to meet the Presidio ace in a rescheduled match.

WAC Basketball Sked

Following is the Presidio Toreras' schedule in the Women's Interservice Recreational League (Basketball):

- 16 Oct.—Ft. Mason, 1900, at LAH
- 25 Oct.—Ft. Ord, 1300, at LAH.
- 31 Oct.—at Hamilton AFB, 1900.
- no date—Travis AFB.
- 11 Nov.—at Mather AFB, 1800.
- 25 Nov.—At LAH, 1900.
- 2 Dec.—Ft. Mason, 1900, at LAH
- 9 Dec.—at Ft. Ord, 1800.
- 16 Dec.—Hamilton AFB, 1800, at LAH.
- no date—Travis AFB.
- 16 Jan.—Mather AFB, 1900, at LAH.
- 27 Jan.—at LAH, 1900.

BOSS WRANGLER Hal Fisher found a lot of empty jerseys in the ol' basketball corral when he checked up on his team potential this week. However, there was one bright prospect hanging in the coach's cupboard. He's Pfc. John Vesevich, only returning veteran to the team that garnered top national and regional casaba honors in the past two years. Anyone interested in filling those empty suits can contact Coach Fisher at Ex. 3968.

Ping Champ Still Has Pong After Tight Title Play

Angel Island's table tennis threat, M/Sgt. John H. Lundahl, successfully defended his title in 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery ping pong circles Tuesday when he copped a best-out-of-five set from challenger Sp4 Bill Love (Battery B) and thrust himself in the role of 30th Artillery Group defending champion.

M/Sgt. Lundahl, stationed with D Battery, last year won the Battalion title and went on to take 30 straight games to earn the Group crown. The Group tourney this year will be held next month.

In gaining his second Battalion championship, M/Sgt. Lundahl overpowered Sp4 Love 21-6 in the first game; dropped the second 18-21; and then took the next two games handily, 21-16 and 21-11.

Third place honors went to Sgt. Royster Miles, also of D Battery, who whipped Battalion Commander Lt. Col. Burton T. Beam in the quarter finals, 21-16 and 21-17.

Keg Meet Tonight

Bowlers have been asked to meet tonight at Presidio Service Club No. 1 to set up a Winter Wednesday Night Mixed Bowling League. The session, during which officers will be elected, is scheduled to begin at 1930.

Men and women, both military and civilian, are eligible to enter individually or as a team. For further information, contact Miss Mary Stanton, XV U.S. Army Corps, Ext. 2023.

'Copter Tour For UBAC Chief Launches Military Campaign

Shoot the Moon is appropriately the theme of Bay Area Army installations in the United Crusade which opened Monday with a helicopter tour for Campaign Chairman W. W. Davison and KCBS radio reporters and KTVU television cameramen. The excursion launched a five county campaign to collect $11,750,000 which will be distributed among more than 250 separate agencies of the community.

Maj. Gen. R. L. Howze, Deputy Commanding General, Sixth Army, saw the Crusade party off at Crissy Field at 0930. On hand at takeoff to report on plans for the Presidio campaign were Col. George O. Pearson, acting Commanding Officer of the Presidio, and Col. H. M. Brown, comptroller and chairman of the Presidio "one big give" drive.

Col. Richard J. Stillman, Deputy G1, accompanied Davison and his entourage of newsmen during the morning hop to Hamilton Air Force Base, Alameda Naval Air Station and Battery A of the Fourth Missile Battalion at Fort Funston.

Representatives from the Coast Guard came to meet Mr. Davison before he toured other service installations. They were Lt. Lee W. Bothell and Miss June Pierre, from Coast Guard headquarters and Patrick Molder, EN 3, from Fort Point.

Crew for the Crusade flight were Capt. Jack H. Gerber, pilot, Maj. Robert R. Stanfield, copilot, and Pvt. Richard L. Hill, crew chief.

When their helicopter put down at Hamilton Field, the party was greeted by Col. Rupert C. Welch, commander of the 78th Air Base Group and Crusade campaign chairman at Hamilton, Lt. Col. John M. Carney.

Next they flew to Alameda

Naval Air Station where Davison spoke with Capt. James H. Mills, Commanding Officer, Capt. L. H. Daniel, Crusade chairman, and Lt. Col. Richard Morrissey, commander of the Marine detachment at Alameda.

Capt. Jack McGurk greeted the helicopter when it arrived at Fort Funston. A Red Cross station wagon, equipped with two large coffee urns, was pulled up to the Nike missile installations of Battery A where four Red Cross hostesses served donuts and coffee.

The helicopter returned to Crissy Field at 1145. Radio and television descriptions of the tour were broadcast on KCBS and KTVU Monday night.

4th Msle Bn's Btr C Wins Outstanding Unit Citation

The Outstanding Firing Battery Certificate—first of its kind initiated in the Sixth Region USARADCOM—was awarded Battery C, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, Fort Scott, it was announced this week.

Eligibility for an "Outstanding Firing Battery" award is based on a record of Excellent or better in all phases of the Annual Command and Command Maintenance inspections, as well as an attainment of an average of 85% or higher at annual service practice.

The battery commander makes application for nomination of his unit through written request to the regional headquarters. Included with his letter of nomination must be the written reports covering inspection ratings accrued by his battery over the fiscal year and an account of programs credited with the stimulating re-enlistment, self-education, community relations, manpower savings and morale factors affecting the unit as a whole.

Letters of nomination and the overall achievements of batteries entering the competition are analyzed and evaluated at Sixth Region USARADCOM Headquarters, Fort Baker, before the Outstanding Firing Battery award is approved.

West Pointer To Head 30th Artillery Group

Colonel Iver A. Peterson, former Deputy Chief of Staff of 6th ARADCOM at Ft. Baker, has moved up the hill to Ft. Barry, where he took command of the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense).

He replaced Lt. Col. C. M. Banks.

Col. Peterson had served on the 6th ARADCOM staff since returning from a tour in Formosa (Chief, AAA Advisory Team) in August 1957.

A 46-year-old graduate of West Point (Class of '38), Col. Peterson has served primarily in Artillery since his first assignment with the 6th Coast Artillery at Ft. Scott.

In 1939, Col. Peterson transferred to the 64th AAA Regiment in Hawaii, later served on the staff of the 4th AAA Command and completed courses at the Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth.

In 1944 he took command of the 63d AAA Gun Battalion in Seattle and went with the unit to Okinawa. While in Okinawa, he also served as Executive Officer of the 136th AAA Group and was later named to the Ryukyus Command staff.

Col. Peterson attended the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., in 1947 and received a Masters Degree in Engineering in 1950 after two years' study at Johns Hopkins University.

From 1950-53 he worked in the office of the Deputy for Guided Missiles at Department of the Army; next, he went to Ft. Bliss, Tex., where he commanded the Second Guided Missile Group.

AUSA Meet Fees Set

Washington (ANS) — Members of the Association of the United States Army may register in advance for the AUSA's Annual Meeting to be held in the Nation's capital, 20-22 October. AUSA Registration in $1.00 for military and $3.00 for civilians, with extra charges for the Reception ($2.50 military; $3.50 civilian), Luncheon on 21 October ($4.00 military; $5.00 civilian), and the banquet on 22 October ($7.50 military; $10.00 civilian). Checks should be made payable to AUSA and reservation forwarded to AUSA, 1529 Eighteenth St., N.W., Washington 6, D.C.

Black Shoes for WACs

Washington (ANS)—All active duty female Army personnel will be required to have one pair of black field shoes 1 July, 1960. According to recently-published DA Circular 670-29, personnel may dye the shoes at their own expense or purchase new black ones.

Will Reduce Manpower In Overcrowded Specialities

Washington (AFPS)—The Army, which halted mandatory retraining in topheavy MOSs last January, has taken new steps to adjust manpower levels in skills having substantial overages.

To reduce over-strengths, according to a 16 Sept. letter to major commands from the Adjutant General, the following controls will be invoked immediately:

- No grade E-5, E-6 and E-7 personnel will be trained or classified into 28 MOSs with surpluses.
- Promotions to and within these grades in the over-manned fields will be suspended until further notice.
- Officers reverting to enlisted status will not be awarded MOSs in any of these specialties.

The occupational fields frozen in three grades are: 113, 161, 162, 313, 321, 421, 551, 553, 555, 621, 622, 631, 632, 714, 716, 717, 719, 762, 763, 764, 767, 768, 941, 942, 943, 951, 073 and 074.

Shortages of personnel still exist in some 36 critical occupational specialties, the Army said, adding that individuals who are in surplus fields must be encouraged to volunteer for retraining at service schools in order to acquire skills in short supply.

The advantages of this to soldiers in surplus categories, the Army said, are: (1) non-surplus MOS areas will continue to receive priorities over fields with overages in enlisted promotions and (2) as the new proficiency pay program progresses, non-surplus skill areas will receive "first priority both in time phasing and in the proportion of the total payments made."

Commanding Officer Selected For TRAINFIRE

Vol. 7, No. 19

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 3 October, 1958

Will Head New Program At Army Training Center

One of the nation's leading experts in marksmanship, Colonel Charles G. Rau, Armor, now serving as Commanding Officer of the Presidio of San Francisco, has been selected to be the Assistant to the Deputy Commanding General of the U.S. Army Training Center, Infantry, at Fort Ord, California. Due to Colonel Rau's extended experience and competence in the field of marksmanship, he will be particularly charged with the development of "TRAINFIRE" marksmanship which is a radical change from the present bull's-eye target system in use.

Colonel Rau, who has served in his present assignment since 1 July 1957, will report to his new position on 10 October. His successor will be named in the very near future.

In his new capacity at Fort Ord, Colonel Rau will be responsible for a marksmanship training program that Continental Army Command has termed "a vital contribution to the future success of the American rifleman in combat."

Last week (Friday, 26 September) Fort Ord became the first U.S. Army Training center to adopt TRAINFIRE as a standard program. This followed the construction and activation of eight new ranges and another six are nearing completion. TRAINFIRE was initially developed as the result of studies of battlefield conditions by the Human Research Center at Fort Benning, Georgia, and offers a completely new concept in the training of riflemen.

All Presidio personnel and those of Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army extend to Colonel and Mrs. Rau best wishes as they depart for the Colonel's new assignment. Mrs. Rau is currently serving as president of the Presidio's Women's Club.

Charles Guthrie Rau was born in Seattle, Washington, on 26 September, 1905. He graduated from Franklin High School in Seattle in 1924 and attended the University of Washington for a short while before entering the United States Military Academy in 1925, from which he graduated 13 June, 1929, and was commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry.

One of his first assignments was as a company officer with the 30th ("San Francisco's Own") Infantry Regiment at the Presidio of San Francisco, where he served from 1930 to 1932. From 1932 to 1935 Colonel Rau served as a company officer in the 57th Infantry (Philippine Scouts), Fort McKinley, P.I. (In 1934 he was coach of the Philippine Rifle Team for the Xth Far Eastern Games, held in Manila.)

In 1938, 1939 and 1940 Colonel Rau was Team Captain of the U.S. Infantry Pistol Team, winner of the National Pistol Championship

To New Post
Col. Charles G. Rau

in 1938 and 1940 and runner-up in 1939.

In 1941 Colonel Rau was named Executive Officer of the 66th Armored Regiment of the 2nd Armored ("Hell on Wheels") Division at Fort Benning, Georgia. He went overseas with the regiment and as a Battalion Commander participated in the campaigns for French Morocco and Sicily, making the assault landing at Licata, Sicily.

His next assignment was in the dual capacity of commander of the 7th Armored Group and Armor Officer, Headquarters XIX Corps, serving through the campaigns of Normandy, Northern France, Ardennes and the Rhineland. He then commanded Combat Command "R" and subsequently, Combat Command "B" of the 13th Armored Division during the campaign for Central Europe and in the United States until inactivation of the division in 1946.

In May of 1946 Colonel Rau returned to the Presidio of San Francisco as Chief of the Organized Reserve Corps Division of the G3 Section, Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army. In this capacity he was primarily responsible for coordinating establishment of the postwar concept for United States Army Reserve training within the Sixth Army.

In October 1948, he again went abroad, this time to Ankara, Turkey, where he was initially Director of Instruction in the Turkish Tank School, and in 1950 he was named Chief, Armor Section, U.S. Army Group, Joint American Military Mission for Aid to Turkey.

In August 1950, Colonel Rau

Pay Directive Submitted To Budget Bureau

Washington (AFPS) — The directive establishing a uniform policy for awarding proficiency pay throughout the services has been submitted to the Bureau of the Budget for approval, according to the Defense Department.

Once the proposed funding is cleared there, the program then must receive sanction of the Armed Forces Policy Council, after which the Secretary of Defense will sign the instruction to the service.

As a "permissive" provision in the 1958 pay legislation, Congress gave the Defense Secretary the option of making proficiency awards not to exceed 15 per cent of the enlisted strength of the services over the next four years, either by grade advances or monthly supplemental payments.

The new directive will fix the amount and system by which proficiency payments will be made Armed Forces-wide as well as the number to receive the incentive awards from the money available.

Win Reup Trophy

For the second successive quarter C Btry, 4th Msle. Bn., 67th Arty., has won the Commanders Award for Re-Enlistment Achievement. At a special ceremony on 6 September, Lt. Col. Roy H. Lundgren, Commanding Officer of the 4th Msle. Bn. presented the award to Capt. Sylvanus Woolridge. If C Btry. wins one more time, the award will remain permanently with them.

Medal of Honor Winner Passes At Army Hospital

One of the nation's most highly honored men, M/Sgt. Louis C. Mosher—a Congressional Medal of Honor winner—died this week at Letterman Army Hospital. He was 78.

Military funeral services will be held this afternoon at 1300 at the Presidio Post Chapel. Burial will be at San Francisco National Cemetery.

A veteran of 33 years military service, Sgt. Mosher was among guests present at the internment of the Unknown Soldier of World War II and Korea at Arlington National Cemetery on Memorial Day.

Sgt. Mosher served with the 1st Cavalry Regiment at the Presidio following the earthquake and fire of 1906.

He won his country's greatest honor during a clean-up campaign against the savage and fanatical Moros at Bagsak Mountain, Jolo, P.I., in 1913 when he was a Philippine Scout under the command of the late General John J. Pershing.

In fierce hand-to-hand fighting against the enemy, armed with German Mausers and native bolo knives, the young soldier climbed over the dead in his unit, entering no-man's-land unescorted and uncovered, to carry back a wounded man fallen 20 yards from enemy lines.

He was subsequently promoted to a Captain in the Scouts and later served as Deputy Governor of Davao, P.I.

Until his death, Sgt. Mosher was Chaplain of the American Legion George Washington Post 114.

Mrs. Mosher died earlier this year.

Rocky Shoals Advance Party To Camp Roberts

Moving day for Army and Navy personnel of the joint planning staff for Exercise Rocky Shoals from the Presidio to Camp Roberts, has been set for mid-October with a 15-man advance detail leaving 6 October.

Winding up five months of preparation and planning, Maneuver Headquarters, which consists of 191 officers and enlisted men, will cease operations at the Presidio 13 October and begin business at Camp Roberts the same day. Movement will be accomplished by motor convey.

At the completion of the amphibious exercise, the joint planning staff will return to the Presidio to complete their final report and phase out of existence in February 1959.

'Hire Handicapped' Drive Will Start Here Next Week

The President has designated the week of 5 to 11 October as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

There are approximately 28,000,000 handicapped people in the United States. And each year about 340,000 people suffer permanent impairments as a result of disabling injuries in the home, on the highways, or on the job.

In an extensive survey of physically handicapped workers in 109 manufacturing concerns, comparison was made between the work performance of 11,000 impaired and 18,000 matched unimpaired workers subject to the same job factors and incentives and exposed to the same hazards. The results showed that properly placed physically handicapped workers were equally as productive as properly placed unimpaired workers.

Here at the Presidio every effort is made to provide opportunity for the physically handicapped.

There's One

In Every Crowd!

The wise guy is ever with us.

He's the fellow that knows everything and needs no one.

He lives on the island of his own ego and boasts of his ability to get by, no matter what.

He wouldn't think of giving time or effort to anything other than his own interests.

Charity? That's for the birds. After all, doesn't charity begin at home. Doesn't God help those who help themselves.

Usually our wise guy is very young and very selfish. Sometimes he is just the embittered individual who feels that since society has been unkind or neglectful of him, he has no obligation to anyone other than himself.

Most of the time he is so stuffed up with selfpity that he fails to see that it is his own shortcomings and nearsightedness that produce this aberration.

Last year he was the guy that turned in a blank envelope in the annual United Bay Area Crusade. Sometimes he embellished his "donation" with a nasty crack.

You're right, he is more to be pitied than censored. For it is just such as he that will holler loudest and longest should the community fail him in his hour of need.

And this hour will come, it always does!

Rings on her fingers . . .

Came The Dawn

This is the story of a T.I. wife who had rings on her fingers and rocks in her head. At least, that's how she described herself when she got into a bad jam and went to a United Crusade agency for help.

Dorothy Brown's rings were a matching engagement-wedding set which she bought when her husband was at sea. She was window-shopping with the children one afternoon when a fast-talking cut-rate jeweler got her to sign the contract. She was sure it would be all right, because once Jim had promised that "someday" he would get her a really good set of rings.

After a few payments, Dorothy knew they'd never be able to make it. And she just couldn't write Jim and confess what she'd done. Of course, she tried to take back the rings, but the store manager threatened to sue.

There was a real explosion when Jim found out and had the rings appraised. Then they learned that Dorothy had paid $900 for two rings that were actually worth less than the $140 the jeweler had allowed her for the old ones.

Jim agreed to forget about the rings, but they began to quarrel constantly about bills and other things. Then, another TREASURE ISLAND wife suggested the Legal Aid Society.

"Legal Aid will help you straighten out your bills and . . . maybe get a divorce, if that's what you want. And they don't charge anything either," the friend said.

David A. Silver, Legal Aid's chief counsel, first went to work on the rings. After calling in three expert appraisers, he demanded that the cut-rate store return the old rings and take the new ones back. When the owner refused, Legal Aid sued for fraudulent misrepresentation.

The ring case made legal history, because the judge decided in the Browns' favor. Before that, Bay Area buyers generally had been held to contracts, regardless of fraud. Right away, private attorneys began suing in cases similar to the Browns'.

Best of all for the Browns, their marriage straightened out. And how do they feel about the help they got?

"We're completely sold on Legal Aid and the United Crusade," both Browns say. Hundreds of other service people probably feel the same, because every month the Legal Aid Society helps at least 20 servicemen and another 50-some people connected with the services.

Two Army officers, Lewis and Clark, led the now famous expedition named after them and arrived at St. Louis on September 23, 1806, after an absence of two years, four months and ten days. This was the completion of a successful mission of western exploration that covered 8,000 miles.

The greatest single mass troop operation in history was launched September 26, 1918. For 47 days of the Meuse-Argonne offensive more than 1,200,000 American troops pushed forward on a 90-mile front.—The Army Almanac.

Dixon Cal Soldiers Write Own Saga Of Togetherness

From kindergarten play days to post-Army hey days reads the history of two soldiers released this week after having spent their tours of duty accidentally and continuously in almost identical assignments.

Sp4 Alan Schmeiser and Sp4 Mervin Parkhurst were presented with Certificates of Achievement for meritorious service while assigned to the Sixth Army Color Guard at a ceremony this week by Col. Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer of the Presidio.

Both men are from Dixon, Calif. They went through school together. After high school graduation, they separated. Alan went off to the University of California at Berkeley where he studied Business Administration. Mervin studied sociology at Cal Aggie in Davis.

In October 1956 they volunteered for the draft together, and together they were sent to Fort Carson, Colo., for basic training. From there they went to Fort Ord, then to Fort Lewis, where for the first time they were separated into different outfits. Alan was in the 22nd Infantry, Mervin in the U.S. Army Garrison.

Then, once again, as had happened in the past, the two men accidentally were sent to the same post together.

Sp4 Schmeiser was assigned as senior rifleman-in-charge of the Sixth Army Color Guard on 15 April 1957. Sp4 Parkhurst was assigned as color bearer on 5 July 1957.

Now the two men, just released from the Army, are returning home. Mervin thinks he might do some graduate work. Alan is planning to go into business.

But judging from the fortuitous events of the past, these Certificate of Achievement winners and friends for eighteen years might as well assume that they will still be seeing a lot more of each other.

Labor, Youth Prime Targets For Communist Infiltration

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

(Fourth of a six-part series on international communism.)

Infiltration of the labor movement and subversion of youth—particularly in the field of education—are two major aims of the Communists who seek world political and economic domination.

In every country, whether industrialized or not, the Communists try to establish party cells within labor unions. These cells form the nucleus for agitation among the workers. Party members attempt to stir up grievances against the government, employers and even the non-Communist union leaders.

Party activity is often designed to manipulate the unions, not in the interests of the workers themselves, but in the interests of the Communists and, ultimately, of the Soviet Union.

Just as important to the Communists as the labor union is the education of the young. Though the tactics vary from country to country, the aim is always the same: to overthrow the existing social order.

No area is immune, and the end purpose in every area is the same, however reasonable some of the methods used appear. Students are especially prone to radical ideas and if Communist ideas are continually drummed into a student's brain while all other ideas (especially those at the other end of the political and social spectrum) are kept from him, he is bound to become a believer, if only from lack of anything else to believe in.

Labor unions and education are not, nor were they ever intended to be, instruments of the state.

Labor unions are for the protection of the workers: they are not set up as convenient gimmicks to enable any government to advertise its political wares.

The workers and the students of the world must concentrate on clarifying their picture of economic and political ideas so they are able to distinguish between what is really good for them and what they are told is good for them.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Barnett

At the Brussels World Fair are exhibits which are intended to represent our country and our way of life. Daily thousands of people see these exhibits and, one way or another, an impression of America has been made upon them. This week we chose to ask

THE QUESTION: What would you choose to exhibit at the Brussels World Fair as most representative of the American way of life.

ANSWERS

Pvt. Richard Moore, Sixth Army Special Troops: That's a pretty tough question trying to stereotype something that can't be stereotyped. You're trying to form a compilation of all the scenery, modes of living from a country that is more diversified than any other in the world and it cannot be done. You aren't going to find anything singularly representative. The United States exhibit has an impossible task. Russia didn't because it's a mass country. America is a feeling and you just can't exhibit a feeling.

Sgt. John Zgola, C Btry, 2d Msle Bn, 51st Arty: How about a nice automobile! That makes sense to me. It represents freedom. You can go and come as you please. Of course, there are a lot of privileges, but I think that is representative. My idea of being free—going where you want to go—that's one of the American ways of life. The American flag represents freedom. I can't think of a better exhibit.

Maj. John W. Boyle, Sixth Army Special Troops: From what I've read of the Brussels World Fair there isn't one thing to be sent over that would be apropos of the American way of life as we Americans know it. I think the exhibits we sent were not only isolated but also the glamorous things. There is no better way we can sell the American way of life than through examples in our daily contacts with the people of western Europe, either as military assigned there or as civilian tourists. I'm talking about all Americans. Whether we are aware of it or not every American visiting a foreign country is in diplomatic service. Although the Brussels World Fair is a fine institution in itself, it is only one method of showing some of our accomplishments.

Pvt. Tom Peacock, Sixth Army Special Troops: Of the American way of life? Hmmm . . . The Alley Theatre from my home town (Houston) put on a theatre in the round. But a should think putting a humorous play of American life would be a good thing. I think the American teenager would be important in the play. He influences American thought. The teenager is very progressive. He is well informed because he receives good lectures in high school and college.

Sfc Donald E. Janke, D Btry, 2d Msle Bn, 51st Arty. Wow! I would say something representing the freedom we have. Religion. An exhibit representing that or perhaps our freedom of speech. Show a poor driver arguing with a cop, or Adams having a fight with Ike. It would represent freedom. Did you ever hear anyone talk back to an SS Trooper? Maybe a judge and jury, or a ballot with the list of various parties and political issues. That would represent our freedom.

"The Army must act as a deterrent to general and local war by maintaining strong combat-ready forces overseas."—DA PAM 360-1.

"Just as the initial Army development of NIKE-AJAX anticipated the growing enemy air threat more than ten years ago, the development of NIKE-HERCULES anticipated the capabilities of higher performance aircraft than those currently operational."—Army Information Digest.

Forty Years Ago (October 8, 1918): Practically unassisted, Sgt. Alvin C. York, American hero of the A.E.F. of World War I, captured 132 Germans in the Argonne Forest after his patrol had been cut off by a force that outnumbered it more than ten to one.

Organization Day Readied At Scott

ORGANIZATION DAY for the 30th Engineer Battalion, 3 October, will bring to mind the multi-missions of the Battalion as reflected in this painting —from printing and building sheet and relief maps to surveying from the Alaskan tundras to the California desert.

30th Engineers To Mark 19th Anniversary Today

Troops of the 30th Engineer Battalion will mix military proficiency with recreation today, during traditional Organization Day activities when they commemorate the advent of the Battalion's 19th year.

Most of the morning will be devoted to company events and highlighting the afternoon session will be a softball game in which the officers and NCO's will pit their skill against the other ranks.

Currently included in the Battalion's mission is photomapping, topographic survey and map reproduction.

changed his branch of service from Infantry to Armor.

Colonel Rau returned to the United States in April 1951, for duty as Chief, Policy Planning Branch, Plans Division, Office of Assistant Chief of Staff G3, Department of the Army, where he remained until June 1953. (In 1952 he was Executive Officer and Coach of the U.S. International Shooting Team which participated in the 35th World Championships held at Oslo, Norway, and Coach of the U.S. Team which participated in the Olympic Games held in Helsinki, Finland, that same year.)

From July 1953 to August 1955, Colonel Rau was assigned as Executive Officer, National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, and Director of Civilian Marksmanship, Department of the Army. (During this tour of duty he served as Executive Officer and Pistol Coach of the U.S. 1954 International Shooting Team which participated in the 36th World Championships held in Caracas, Venezuela, that year. In 1955 he was Captain, Designate, of the shooting contingent of the team chosen to represent the United States in the 1955 Pan American Games held in Mexico City.)

In November 1955, Colonel Rau joined the Army Maneuver Test and Evaluation Group as Senior Tactical Evaluator for Exercise SAGE BRUSH held in Louisiana, and in February 1956 returned to the Presidio of San Francisco for his third tour of duty.

From March 1956 to July 1957, Colonel Rau served as Executive Officer for the Presidio, succeeding as Commanding Officer on 1 July, 1957.

Colonel Rau has been awarded the Silver Star, Soldier's Medal, Bronze Star Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, Purple Heart and the Combat Infantryman Badge. His foreign decorations include the French Croix de Guerre with Palm, and the Netherlands Order of Orange-Nassau with Swords, Degree of Commander.

He was four times awarded the Army "Excellence-in-Competition" Badge in pistol marksmanship and in 1939 was designated a Distinguished Pistol Shot by the Army. He is a lifetime member and currently serving as a director of the National Rifle Association of America.

Colonel Rau and his wife, Gladys, have two children. John G. Rau is a student at the University of California, Riverside, California, and their daughter Janis (Mrs. George F. Kettle) resides in Falls Church, Virginia.

Colonel Rau is the son of Lt. Colonel John F. Rau, USA, Retired, 5035 43rd Avenue South, Seattle 18, Washington.

Fire Prevention Week Starts Sunday

Last year over 11,000 Americans were killed by fire.

That same vicious orange flame hungrily lapped up nearly a billion dollars worth of property.

Sometimes fires start spontaneously. But more often than we care to think about, fires start through some careless action of an ordinary person who, unthinkingly, does not wet his campfire thoroughly, does not quite kill that last spark of his cigarette, does not take care of that overloaded wiring.

Everyone of the 170 millions Americans is eligible for carelessness. You, your neighbor, your small child . . . all of us are, at one time or another, careless.

Undetermined origin is not as undetermined as we think.

There is always a reason why a fire started. The tragic history of most fires is that they never should have happened in the first place. It is easier to prevent a fire from starting than it is to put one out.

Fire Prevention Week begins Sunday and lasts from 5 to 11 October. Now is the time to remind ourselves of the causes of fires. But it is always the time to prevent fires.

• Lighted cigarettes dropped into waste baskets and boxes filled with ordinary combustible material create favorable conditions for burning. A smoldering cigarette tossed by some careless person from a moving vehicle will readily ignite dry grass and bush.

• Old newspapers, discarded clothing and unused furniture also provide fuel for a fire started by a cigarette.

• Don't smoke in bed. Smoking in bed is a leading cause of fatalities in fires.

Barfoot Boy—With Calorie Count

Norfolk, Va. (ANS)—Sfc. Rodrick Barfoot, the Food Service NCO for the 3d Air Defense Artillery Group, has inaugurated a new "calorie count" service designed to keep the Group's members "lean."

Posted daily alongside the menu outside each mess-hall is the calorie count of each item being served. Everything from roast beef which has a whopping 551 calories per serving to lettuce wedges with only 12 calories will be listed.

Says the Group: "Anyone who really cares to take a few pounds off through dieting can certainly watch those calories now."

Elbow Grease Plus

A 1000 Pounds Of Materials

Would you wax your car once a month if it took more than 18 hours to do the job?

Drivers of the 50 buses in the Presidio Motor Pool spend that much time monthly to keep the mammoth vehicles sparkling—and a lot more besides.

They also have to wash the giants inside and out once a day, steam clean the motors monthly and keep 37 windows clean all the time.

And, they still have time to make scheduled runs and a lot of others that are not scheduled.

The waxing job alone has to be spread over three or four days. Drivers sandwich in a side here, a roof there when the time allows.

To facilitate them, the Motor Pool has installed two wash-polish racks which can accommodate four buses at one time. Waxing requires more than a half-ton of equipment each year—400-plus pounds of wax and 600 pounds of rags.

"There never is a day the racks aren't busy," a Motor Pool spokesman said. "To keep 50 buses shining means as soon as the fleet has been done once, it's time to start all over again."

• Keep plenty of ash trays available—large and noncombustible ones—and use them.

• Don't leave pot holders on top of the stove where an electric plate or gas flame could ignite them.

• Keep matches in closed tins, and always keep them out of the reach of children.

• Check wiring in your house.

Above all, remember this. There is always some reason why a fire starts. Be sure that reason isn't your carelessness.

Wins Commendation

Lt. Col. Joseph A. Tringali, Chief of the Plans and Operations Division, 6th Region Army Air Defense Command, was presented the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, Regional Commander.

Col. Tringali received the award for his outstanding contribution to the operational readiness of the Nike missile defenses on the West Coast. He is being reassigned to Germany after having been with 6th Region since July 1956.

WEEKEND WASHERS of nifty sportscars might get a trifle discouraged trying to keep this huge Army bus spotless; but, it's all part of a day's work to Fred Cordova, driver for the Post Motor Pool. As a bus driver, Mr. Cordova is responsible for keeping the mammoth vehicle shining inside and out—it takes him about 18 hours a week, staggered over four days, just to wax the exterior.

"Drivers," he continued, "are responsible for their own vehicles and are given time after each run to clean them. The men have to wash them each time they are used and do the windows and interiors whenever necessary—and that's usually every day."

Some of the buses are in service daily from 0700 to 0130 the following morning. They make hourly trips to Presidio points and to Fort Scott, Fort Baker, Fort Barry and Fort Cronkhite, as well as off-Post trips, as required.

Seek Qualified Civilians To Fill Key Positions Here

The Civilian Personnel Office has announced the following positions are vacant. Applications may be submitted to that division in Building 227 and further information may be obtained by telephoning extension 2349 or 4233.

Two years experience is required for a Personnel Clerk, GS-203-4, at Presidio Headquarters. The pay is $3755 and clearance is required.

A Clerk Stenographer, GS-312-4, at $3755 per annum is needed at Headquarters Sixth Army. Clearance is required.

At Headquarters XV Corps for duty in Ukiah, California, an Administrative Clerk, GS-301-5, is needed. Clearance is required for the $4040 per annum position.

Betterman Army Hospital needs a Librarian, GS-1410-5. The salary is $4040 per annum.

ATTENTIVE STUDENTS listen to their instructor, Sfc. Alvin Alvin, cramming several years of education into a special 30-day session. These 15 men of the 4th Msle. Bn., 61st Arty., have been placed on TDY at Sharp Park for their speedy high school prep courses.

'Back To School' Days Big Draw At 61st Arty

Fifteen men of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, have proved that it's never too late.

Wins Driver Award

Driver of the Month at the Presidio is Fred Cordova, 49, who has been at the wheel of Post vehicles for 16 years and has chalked up 286,000 miles without an accident. Currently driving a bus, Mr. Cordova was selected because of his reliability and dependability.

Modern Day Miracle

Davidsonville, Md. (ANS)—Acting Secretary of the Army Hugh Milton II said, during the recent dedication of the Nike-Hercules installation here, that one of the miracles of warfare has been achieved in the development of the Nike missile system for its ability to accommodate progressive improvements to the system.

"This great capacity for growth, inherent in the Nike System," Mr. Milton declared, "means tremendous savings to the American taxpayer and at the same time it continually gives the Nation the best there is in defensive weapons."

Earliest Presidians

Earliest known dwellers of the San Francisco Bay area were the Costanoan Indians. They lived close on the beaches and waterways and took their food from the sea. Shortly after the arrival of the Spanish in 1769, they disappeared almost overnight.

Eleven hospitals in San Francisco and the East Bay give free and part-pay clinic and hospital care to patients unable to pay full costs. Your United Crusade pledge helps provide this care.

Late Settlement

More than 200 years elapsed between Juan Cabrillo's discovery of Alta (upper) California in 1542 and its settlement in 1769.

To a young serviceman away from home, the USO means his own clubhouse in a strange town, maybe a dance with a pretty girl, a camp show. Your United Crusade pledge will help USO run 267 clubs throughout the U.S. and overseas, three in the Bay Area.

They have gone back to school in a special area chosen at Sharp Park, equipped with a class room and sleeping quarters, where for the next 30 days under concentrated instruction they will complete courses preparing them to enter high school.

When Lt. Col. C. P. Samson, Battalion Commander, learned several weeks ago that there was a group of men who had completed less than eighth grade, he felt they should have the opportunity to raise their level of education. But since the men were from isolated sites in Newark, Sharp Park and Ft. Funston transportation to the Presidio Education Center was difficult.

The problem was solved when Sfc Albert Alvin, Radar Maintenance Chief at Btry. C, Sharp Park, volunteered to instruct these men and to coordinate the make-up of the new school with M/Sgt. Bartholomew of the Presidio Education Center.

Sfc Alvin, who holds a Masters in Education from Columbia University, obtained text books from the Presidio. Capt. Monroe, Commanding Officer of Btry. C, set aside an area in the billets for sleeping quarters and converted another area into a pleasant, well-lighted class room.

The 15 men were placed on TDY to Btry. C, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. for a period of 30 days. During that time Sfc Alvin will help them catch up on the education they never had time to complete, and in short notice the ten o'clock scholars will be ready to study for their high school certificate.

Your Aid Needed!

A child can be orphaned by neglect and indifference as well as by death. Your gift to the United Crusade can help such orphans who are being cared for in Crusade-supported foster homes and institutions.

The Salvation Army fights human despair caused by neglect, poverty, disaster, spiritual defeat. Your United Crusade pledge will arm the Army for its work with prisoners, alcoholics, unwed mothers and underprivileged youngsters.

Knew What He Wanted

Jimmy Joel Smith's Big Day

There is one man in the Army who asked for and got exactly what he wanted.

Pvt. Jimmy Joel Smith, in talking to his recruiting officer, believed what he heard and enlisted specifically for assignment to the 4th Msle. Bn., 61st Arty. at Fort Scott.

The cause of all this was a new regulation, AR601-238, entitled "Personnel Procurement" for USARADCOM Units. It stated, in part, that a qualified civilian could enlist in the Army for the Metropolitan Area of his choice.

With this new regulation under his arm, the Career Counselor from the 4th Msle. Bn., 61st Arty. (then 740th AAA Msl. Bn. Nike) visited the Recruiting Station on Geary Blvd. to see if they had any prospects interested in going Nike and being stationed in San Francisco.

Just about that time, Jimmy appeared. He listened, he thought, he thought again.

At the invitation of the Recruiting Officer, Jimmy visited the launching site at Btry. B, Fort Funston. He met some of the officers and men. He talked with Lt. Col. C. P. Samson, Commanding Officer of the 4th Msle. Bn., who assured Smith that under the new AR it was possible for him to enlist, take basic training at Ft. Ord, and then be assigned to the 4th Msle. Bn., 61st Arty. at Fort Scott.

That did it. Jimmy Joel Smith quit his job at the Emporium, said goodbye to his parents and fiancée, packed his bag, and was sworn in. Lt. Col. Samson was there to shake hands with the first man from the San Francisco area to join under the new AR.

Since his enlistment, Pvt. Smith has been married. And tomorrow he graduates from San Francisco Army Air Defense School.

Then he reports to Btry. B, 4th Msle. Bn., 61st Arty., at Fort Scott.

Pvt. Jimmy Joel Smith is one soldier who got exactly what he wanted.

"She mothered a fleet!"

No Nautilus She

Intelligent Whale

NEW YORK (AFPS)—As dumpy as the atom-powered Nautilus is sleek, as stubborn as the Skate is submissive to her mighty engines—that's the Intelligent Whale.

She is the great-great-grandmother of today's submarine. Almost 100 years old, she is not only berthed at the New York Naval Shipyard in Brooklyn, she is bedded there—in concrete.

Before condemning the Intelligent Whale in 1872, the Navy spent eight years trying to teach the iron brute to surface as well as submerge.

The primitive sub, designed by Cornelius S. Bushnell, was shaped like a football of iron half an inch thick. Intended for a crew of 10, hand-operated, with screw-propeller and heavy elevator fins, she measured 28.8 feet long and nine feet deep and was rated at four knots.

After the Whale was built at a cost of $60,000, Navy Secretary George M. Robeson appointed a board of officers to give her tryouts in the Navy Yard.

Intelligent? She proved as ornery as Moby Dick—she'd go down all right but she had to be hauled up!

It cost the Navy an additional $30,000 before it decided to beach the sub where it rests as a familiar landmark today.

The first Antiaircraft Artillery units were constituted on 10 October, 1917, according to the "Army Almanac."

Manpower is not measured solely by counting noses, says the "Army Reservist." The other important measure is QUALITY.

Army Air Defense School Set For Second Year Of Service

Tomorrow is the first anniversary of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School.

Since its inception a year ago, the School has grown from nothing to four buildings, 49 trained instructors and supervisor, 22 courses of instruction, and has graduated two women and over 1200 men.

The San Francisco Army Air Defense School was born of necessity. It had become apparent that the Air Defense

School at Fort Bliss, Tex., could not retrain all the men who were entering the guided missile field from other branches of service. So it was decided to establish a School that would serve the units in the San Francisco-Travis AFB area.

The school was patterned after the one at Fort Bliss but tailored to meet the individual needs of the local defense. Battery B of the then 740th AAA Msl. Bn. was designated the support and training battery for the School.

The first class of instruction was given by M/Sgt. John A. Arthur on 7 October 1957 and the first class was graduated on 2 November 1957.

The School was begun under the direction of Maj. Raymond E. Siegrist, then the S-3, 30th Arty. Gp., and Maj. Harold Utly, the School's first commandant. M/Sgt. Harold Blasingame was the School's First Sergeant.

The first anniversary will be observed with a Family Day at the School at Fort Winfield Scott.

Don't You Be Victimized!

Pickpockets and stealthy burglars in the night are not the only thieves to pilfer and plunder a dishonest harvest from someone else's fields.

Did you know that 3,835 arrests were made last year involving thefts from mail receptacles, particularly home mailboxes?

Each year this number grows. Think how easy it would be for a lone operator or a gang of thieves to ransack the mail boxes of an entire neighborhood, particularly where there are large apartment buildings which have mailboxes clustered together in the lobbies.

Often recipients of regular government allotment or pension checks are victimized and their checks are stolen, forged, and cashed.

So beware! If you receive regular checks or cash in the mail, remove the envelope from the box immediately. The innocent bystander is often not as innocent as he appears.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

Something of a combination between avocation, vocation, and life's calling is juxtaposed, in a young reserve soldier currently working in Headquarters XV Corps.

Pvt. Michael Moore, not yet 19 years old, is doing just what the proverb says to do. Instead of burying his talents, he is opening them up wide and daily seeing them multiply.

Mike is known around here for rolling out some solid tones on the piano up at the Service Club. On his free evenings he plays both jazz and classical piano.

On Sundays he leads the choir at the San Francisco Ward Chapel of the Church of the Latter Day Saints. Last Wednesday he sang two baritone solos for National Prayer Day at the Presidio and Fort Scott Chapels.

Even back home in Salt Lake City this extraordinary dichotomy of talent was evident. When he wasn't taking an active part in the music of his church, Mike was leading his own jazz combo and singing with his brother and a friend in a trio on the local TV station and in nightclubs.

Mike has been playing the piano for about eight years. He likes all kinds of music but says, "There sure is a difference between jazz and classical music. They are entirely opposite. Jazz can come natural, you have to listen to other people. But classical music, and religious music, too, take a lot more practice."

When he finishes with his six months REFA duty, Mike plans on returning to the University of Utah to study music and psychology. And sometime in the future, Mike hopes to spend two years as a missionary in New Zealand for the Mormon faith. There again he knows that his music will help him.

Whether an avocation or a life's calling, music is leading Mike Moore straight ahead into a busy future. And judging from his past accomplishments, Mike's future promises to be a great success.

MARHABA—American Land Forces personnel in Beirut, Lebanon, are treated to an Arabic word each day in their newspaper "The Cedars." To acquaint its readers with the sight and sound of the Arabic language, the paper runs the English word, the Arabic equivalent, and the phonetic spelling, such as English, HELLO; Arabic, MARHABA; Phonetic, MAR'HABA.

CURB SERVICE—Firemen at Huntsville's Redstone Arsenal got "all shook up" recently when a civilian driver hauling roofing tar drove up to the station house with his vehicle in flames. The startled firefighters quickly recovered and put out the fire. And the driver? He got there unsinged but the rear tires of the truck were burned off the rims.

REUPS UP—More than one in three eligible enlisted men in Northern Area Command, Frankfurt, Germany, either or re-enlisted in the Army during the first six months of this year, according to figures released recently by the NACOM recruiting office.

He Came. He Saw. He well worth viewing

According to Pfc. David T. Rolzinski, Hq. Btry., 30th Arty. Group, all you have to do is decide what you want and go after it. Ask a man who knows, and Rolzinski will tell you that it can be done.

In August of 1957 he began his military service with basic training at Fort Carson, Colo. He spotted a subject that interested him, reenlisted for another year and got exactly what he wanted . . . a guided missile unit near San Francisco.

Rolzinski, who in private life was a high school music teacher, began thinking in another vein and applied for and received an eight week course at the Army Information School.

Still looking toward the future and more than willing to use the educational advantages offered by the Army, Pfc. Rolzinski made his biggest decision of all. He decided to go for a commission. He applied, was accepted and ordered to the NCO Academy at Fort Ord. After being there only a week, Rolzinski was sent directly to Fort Sill, Okla., where he is now attending the Artillery and Guided Missile Officer Candidate School.

Ask Rolzinski and he would probably say that all you have to do is go after what you want. The opportunities are there, but it's up to you!

New Music Series

A new series of western music and dancing begins tonight at the YMCA, 166 Embarcadero "The Moonshiners" with their guitars and fiddles provide the music. Everyone is welcomed to come.

For those folks who don't like western dancing too much, old fashioned regular dancing goes on every Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday nights.

Ballet LAH Club

Selections from the "Swan Lake" ballet will be performed at a luncheon of the Letterman Women's Club next Thursday, 9 October, by dancers from the San Francisco Conservatory of Ballet. The luncheon, held in the LAH Officers Club, will begin at 1230. Reservations must be made by noon on Tuesday, 7 October, by telephoning 4288. ## Protestant Women's Group Will Hold First Meeting Here

The initial meeting of the Protestant Women's Group recently formed at the Presidio will be held at the Religious Activities Center next Thursday, 9 October, from 0930 to 1130.

Speaker at the meeting will be Mrs. Horace W. Ryburn, a teacher at Bangkok Christian College in Thailand. Her husband is a field representative in Thailand for the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

In addition to teaching English at Bangkok Christian College, Mrs. Ryburn is on the faculty of Watana Wittaya, a Presbyterian mission school. She also has classes in progressive education at the government university and is active in women's work in the Bangkok churches. Rev. and Mrs. Ryburn have been living in Thailand since 1947.

Top Hypnotist Will Test Soldier Reflex Response

Have you ever been hypnotized? Or have you ever seen the penetrating eyes of a hypnotist in action?

Dr. Zarro, who has been featured on many radio and television programs including the Bob Hope Show, will give two performances at the Presidio this week-end.

Saturday night he will appear in the Presidio NCO Club. The show begins at 2100 and afterwards everyone is invited to stay on for dancing. Admission is free for members and their guests.

On Sunday, 5 October, at 2015 Dr. Zarro will appear at the Presidio Service Club No. 1.

For an evening of thrills and chills filled with an inexplicable fascination, don't miss Dr. Zarro!

"No mere outlay of money or physical resources will buy a day, an hour, a moment of freedom," Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker has said. "Its price is vigilance, sacrifice and service on the part of each one of us, and strict adherence in the conduct of our individual lives and our national affairs to the fundamental ideals and principles which are the roots of our American heritage."

LAH To Host Qualifying Round For Mex-Cal Meet

Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium will be the scene of furious fencing next Friday and Sunday when foilsmen from all over the United States compete here in the qualifying rounds for the Mexico-California International Tournament slated for November in Mexico City.

Simultaneously, a similar qualifying round will be held in Southern California.

Fencers will vie for three starting and three alternate positions in the saber and the foils.

Presidio-Letterman fencers, under the leadership of coach William O'Brien will be entered.

Mr. O'Brien said he expects at least "20 to 25 entries in each class, but there may be a lot more."

"We have already received entries from as far away as New York City," he continued, "and once before when we had a similar match here, more than a hundred fencers showed up."

On Friday, 10 October, tryouts for the saber will begin at 2000; Sunday, 12 October, foils competition will start at 1300.

Presidio-Letterman also will send a nine-man team to Mexico City to test fencers south of the border in a match separate from the international meet.

Hq. Co. Takes Pac Bowl Title Compt-Rollers Edge Regioners

The Pacific Summer Bowling League ended this week with the favored Hq. Co. Sixth Army No. 3 capturing the title, but the predicted runners-up got a nasty jolt and dropped to third place.

Expected to finish second were the Regioners, but they dumped four straight by the Compt-Rollers and the Rollers edged into the Number Two spot.

Final standings were not secure until the last night of bowling. Before the last match, the Regioners mathematically could have clinched first place; in fact, they needed only one point to finish second.

In other games, the League champs blanked the AAA Sparks, 4-0; the Honor Guard shut out Sixth Army No. 2; the Mail Maulers took a 3-1 decision from the Retorts.

When trophies were passed out for top performances throughout the season, two members of the championship team were on the receiving end. M/Sgt. Robert Wilmoth took High Individual Average with 178 and teammate Sfc. Tom Ross had the High Individual Series with 604.

High Individual Game was a 242 posted by Pfc. Tom DeGraff of Sixth Army No. 2

Three 4-0 shutouts marked the third week of bowling in the new Bay League. MRU dumped Sixth Army, the JAGS bested Sixth Army Signal and G1 decisioned the Compt-Rollers. In the other League game, U.S.A. Garrison outgunned the Triple Aces, 3-1.

The WAC's have formed an inter-company league of four teams; and after three weeks of play, the teams stack up in the same order in which they are numbered—with Team 1 in first place, etc. The girls bowl at 2030 each Monday.

Streetcar Named . . .

New Type Fishing Reef

Six old streetcars were dumped into 60 feet of water off the Redondo-Palos Verdes coastline recently to form the third artificial fishing reef established by the California Department of Fish and Game.

The new artificial reef was created in an area where diving surveys by biologists of the Department's Marine Resources Operations had shown the ocean floor to be almost barren of fish and plant life or shelter for fish.

The sunken streetcars are intended to attract many of the marine organisms on which game fish feed, and in turn provide food and shelter for fish.

Earlier artificial reefs were formed by dumping 20 old automobile bodies off Paradise Cove, near Malibu, and by dropping rocks in an area off Huntington Beach.

AG Golfer Posts Top Score To Win Presidio Crown

Presidio lady golfer, Major Rayna Anderson, Chief of Sixth Army AG Administrative Branch, this week became the first service woman to win the women's golf championship at the Presidio Golf Club.

In the 37th championship match here, Maj. Anderson had to come from behind to best Mrs. Don Wilson, one up. Trailing by four after nine holes, Maj. Anderson pulled even on the back nine and went ahead on the 18th hole.

HG Loses To 537th Beat Training Group

The Honor Guard's six-man touch football team took the field twice this week in Engineer League play and had to settle for a split, beating USA Training Group, 13-7, and dropping a 12-7 decision to the 537th Engineers.

The difference in the Training Group game was the Honor

Guard's Pfc. Wes Stock. In the first quarter, he dashed seven yards to make the initial tally of the game.

During the second quarter, Training Group's Pfc. Joe Savoldi tried to counter by completing five straight passes, but the rally fell short and the Honor Guard took over on its own eight when the half ended.

Pfc. Stock repeated his scoring performance with a five yard sprint in the third quarter. In the last quarter, he sparked his team goalward again, but one of his aeriels was intercepted by Sfc. Don Roberts who lateraled to Pfc. Dale Berge. Pfc. Berge raced 60 yards for a TD. A pass from Pfc. Savoldi to Pfc. Berge added the conversion point.

In losing to the 537th Engineers, the Honor Guard, behind the passing of Pfc. Stock, managed to get the first TD. Just

Presidio, 7 Others Plan Bay Area Competition

When sports directors from 14 local military installations finished hashing out an interservice athletic program during a meeting Tuesday at Travis Air Force Base:

- Eight major installations (including Presidio) banded together to form the Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League.

- Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer was named League Commissioner.

- Six smaller installations have proposed a Class B league similar to the Bay Area group.

In the Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League, installation representatives will meet again next Friday, 10 October, at Travis to set final plans for getting competition underway in basketball and bowling, perhaps by the first of November.

Besides Presidio, the League includes seven Air Force bases Hamilton, Travis, McClellan, Mather, Castle, Beale and Fairfield.

The smaller installation confederation includes Letterman Army Hospital, Two Rock Ranch Station, Oakland Army Terminal, Ft. Mason, Sharpe General Depot and Sacramento Signal Depot.

Other sports in which members of the Bay Area League will vie, in addition to basketball and bowling, are touch football, swimming and diving, golf, volleyball, tennis, softball, baseball, track and field and boxing.

In addition, a minor sports carnival will be set to determine the League's aces in handball, pool, table tennis, horseshoes, two-man volleyball and badminton.

At the end of the major sports' seasons, the top two teams will clash with the top two teams in the corresponding 12th Naval District league in a double-elimination tournament to select the mythical Bay Area interservice champions.

Fischer emphasized that the new League is intended to spur maximum participation in a variety of sports. At the end of each year, it is planned that the installation which amasses the greatest number of points (based on participation and wins) will be awarded a trophy.

Locally, Fischer said that "every effort" will be made to field Post teams in each major sport and, entries in all minor sports contests.

"WELCOME BACK" is the greeting given to 6th ARADCOM's swimming Capt. Frederick A. Dodd by his dog, Fang. Capt. Dodd is shown here completing a preparatory workout for his bid Sunday to cross the Golden Gate with other members of the San Francisco South End Rowing Club. The 35-year-old captain has been practicing regularly and recently made the trip across and got three-quarters of the way back.

ARADCOM Distance Swimmer Will Challenge Tricky Tides

Sunday, lanky Capt. Frederick A. Dodd of 6th ARADCOM Headquarters will be among 40 distance swimmers from the South End Rowing Club of San Francisco who will attempt to officially conquer the mile and a quarter from Ft. Point to Cavallo Point on the opposite shore.

Recently, the 35-year-old West Pointer (Class of '46) swam the course under the Golden Gate Bridge and three-quarters the way back, as well.

He credits his staying power during his last outing to the prodding and coaching of three Ft. Baker soldiers who paced him by boat—Capt. David Hughes of 6th ARADCOM G3 Radar and Missile Division, M/Sgt. Louis Matticola of 6th ARADCOM G1 Section, and Pfc. Joachim Kirchenbauer of the 561st Engineer Company.

Every evening, after finishing his duties in 6th ARADCOM G3 Section, Capt. Dodd swims a mile and a half in the local Aquatic Park pool.

"When I began in July," he said, "I really questioned my ability to swim that distance, but by mid-September I had convinced myself I could do it."

To prep for the race across the neck of San Francisco Bay, Capt. Dodd had to get information on tides and incidental currents from other members of the South End Rowing Club.

Now swimming for pleasure and a hobby, Capt. Dodd was a life guard while a youngster, as well as a member of the Berkeley High School swimming team. Later, he swam on the Military Academy team.

Capt. Dodd, who has also mastered skin diving, summed up why he enjoys swimming as a hobby:

"I know of no more exhilarating feeling than . . . reaching shore after swimming through a tidal body of cold salt water."

Capt. Dodd also is an enthusiastic, as well as proficient folk dancer.

Presidio-LAH Fencers Big In Tucson Meet

Presidio-Letterman fencers this week brought home six of the even dozen medals awarded in a seven-team invitational meet at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, near Tucson, Ariz.

The locals scored two wins, three seconds and a third in four events.

Copping both firsts was the father-daughter team of Col. Laurance and 18-year-old Shon Brownlee who took top honors in the men's and women's foils.

Col. Brownlee also placed as runner-up in two other events—the epee and saber.

The other second place was gained in foils by M/Sgt. Severo Pasol. The versatile Letterman NCO also accounted for the team's remaining point by registering a third in the saber.

Scoring fourth places, but winning no medals, were Ed Purdy (epee) and Sp4 William Beaver (saber). Also participating was neophyte Pfc. Don Rutek.

Col. Brownlee and Sp4 Beaver represented the Presidio, while Shon Brownlee, M/Sgt. Pasol, Mr. Purdy and Pfc. Rutek competed for Letterman.

Other teams were from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base (hosts), Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, Tucson, University of Arizona and Arizona State College.

Distaff Softball Champs Slated For Top Awards

Presidio's championship lady softballers will be awarded the first-place team trophy for copping the 1958 Women's Interservice Recreational League crown during ceremonies tomorrow at 1000 in the NCO Open Mess.

Accepting the award from Softball Commissioner 1st Lt. Joyce Eslick of Oakland Army Terminal will be Torera captain Sgt. Terry Silva.

In addition, three Toreras who were named to the League All-Star Team also will receive trophies. They are centerfielder Sp4 Peggy Harris, rightfielder Sp4 Molly Edwards and third baseman Sfc. Mary Phillips.

The local WAC's posted a season record of 10-2 to edge runner-up Ft. Ord (9-3). During tomorrow's awards session, Ft. Ord will get the team second-place trophy.

Toreras Will Test Quintet On Tuesday

Presidio's star-studded Torera basketballers will get a chance to strut their stuff Tuesday night during a practice game with the reputedly "tough" Hamilton Air Force Base lady quintet.

The pre-season warmup is scheduled to begin at 1845 in Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium.

Two newcomers have broken into coach Sp5 Arleen Patt's probable starting lineup. They are freshman guards Pvt. Marie Levering and Pfc. Fumika Uyeda, who will team with veteran Sp4 Molly Edwards to provide the local's defense.

Spearheading the Torera's attack will be forward Sfc. Georgia Kelly, whose 21.8 point average per game last year topped the WAC team. With her will be Sfc. Mary Phillips (15.5 point average) and Cpl. Florian Vierra (16 point average).

Also expected to see a lot of action as forward is Sp4 Hazel Moody, a newcomer who teammates describe as having "a terrific one-hand push shot."

The starting forwards are the same who opened last year's season by drubbing Hamilton 72-44, behind the dead-eye accuracy of Sfc. Phillips, who chalked up 42 points in that game.

Last year starting guard, Sp4 Peggy Harris, will miss Tuesday's game, but is expected to be on hand for the season's Women's Interservice Recreational League opener 16 October against Ft. Mason.

A Torera spokesman said that Hamilton has a new, much-improved squad this year, but the local's should win.

Scheich Double Winner In 61st Arty. Swim Meet At LAH Pool

Big fish at the recent 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery swimming meet at Letterman Army Hospital pool was Pvt. Charles B. Scheich, double-winner from C Battery at Sharp Park.

Pvt. Scheich copped both the 100-yard free style and the 100-yard breaststroke.

Taking the medley event was a strong team from Battery B at Ft. Scott, headed by Battery Commander 1st Lt. Edward H. Redline and including 2d Lt. Phineas K. Morrill and anchor man Sfc. Bobby L. Bixler.

2d Lt. Morrill also won the low-board diving meet.

Volleyball Team Upsets Barc Y For First Time

Highnetters from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery last week dumped the Embarcadero YMCA's strong volleyballers to mark the first time the local six has been able to best the Y's in five encounters during the past year.

Led by veteran spiker Sp4 David Rhem, the 4th Battalion dropped only one of five games. Scores were 15-12, 15-10, 11-15, 15-13 and 15-11.

Player-coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio praised newcomer Sp4 James Morse, set man who failed to make last year's squad. "He seems to be in shape now," M/Sgt. Ignacio said, "and shows a lot of promise."

The coach also commended the strong spiking of Pfc. Allen Kincaid and Pfc. James McLin.

With this impressive win over the 1956 national champions, M/Sgt. Ignacio said his scrappy volleyballers should equal or better the record of last year's 6th ARADCOM champs.

'Iron Man' Pangle Once Starred On Famous Oregon State Eleven

Lt. Col. Harold J. Pangle, new G4 at XV Corps here, was one of the eleven famed Oregon State College "iron men" who in 1933 snapped a 25-game winning streak of a steam-rolling, highly-vaunted Southern Cal squad by holding the gridiron greats to a 0-0 tie.

In the historic game, USC fielded starters and substitutes galore, but State's first eleven battled the 60 full minutes without a breather to cut off one legend and build their own.

Lt. Col. Pangle quarterbacked Oregon State from 1932 to 1934. Concentrating as a blocking back, he earned an all-American honorable mention in his senior year.

For the next four years, he played half-back for the pro Chicago Cardinals, then brought his career to a close after one more season with the Los Angeles Bulldogs.

During his playing days, the 5-foot, 10-inch star tipped the scales at 210. Now, however, he reports that he's down to 196.

Though he was assistant coach in 1940 at Willamette University in Salem, Ore., and in 1947 coached the Army team at Nurnberg, Germany, Lt. Col. Pangle reports that his football days are all over—"I've had all the football I want; I'm not even interested in coaching anymore."

NEW DRONE TARGET RP-76, propelled by a solid fuel, is equipped with a two-stage parachute recovery system and during its initial use at Red Canyon, N. M., travelled at approximately 425 knots.

New Drone In Debut Meets Nike - Blo-o-mm!

A newly designed drone target, launched at the Red Canyon firing range in New Mexico, was blasted from the sky in its first engagement by a Nike guided missile, Lt. Gen. Charles E. Hart, Commanding General, United States Army Air Defense Command, announced this week.

The rocket target, the 10-foot long RP-76 with a five-foot wing span, was annihilated by Btry. C, 1st Msl. Bn., 56th Arty. from the Los Angeles defense area during its annual practice firing session at the range.

The RP-76, with an altitude capacity in excess of 40,000 feet, travels about twice as fast as the drone targets in use by USARADCOM for the past several years.

In its initial use at Red Canyon, the RP-76 was traveling at approximately 425 knots, or just under the speed of sound. It was intercepted and hit by Nike Ajax at 25,000 feet altitude.

The RP-76, which was designed for the Army by Radioplane, a Division of Northrop Aircraft, Inc., at Van Nuys, Calif., will soon replace the targets now in general use at Red Canyon.

Propelled by a solid fuel, the drone is equipped with a two-stage parachute recovery system. The fast vertical descent is said to virtually eliminate the possibility of its drifting off-range, thus preventing hazard to inhabited areas or to civil aircraft operating near the range.

Your Help Needed!

When you give to the United Crusade you help families in trouble, needy children, the old, the sick, the handicapped. Pledge your fair share of happiness!

New Commandant

Captain Robert W. Wagers is the new commandant of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School. He replaces Captain Louis G. Spizirri who is now the Asst. S-3 training officer for the 30th Artillery Group. Capt. Wagers is a member of the Quartermaster Corp presently serving with the Artillery in order to become acquainted with the functions of a combat arms.

Reup Pamphlet Out

Washington (ANS)—It pays to Stay In—a new Pamphlet (DA PAM 355-177)—is now being distributed Army-wide. It explains the pay act of 1958, and lists prestige, advancement, and retirement as other reasons why it pays to stay in Service. Says the Pamphlet, "There is no more important career challenge than participation in the defense of our Nation."

Many people give to the United Crusade in installments. That means they can give "enough" to go around to "all" 250 agencies that depend on this one Bay Area campaign.

PWC Will Sponsor Special Briefing On U.S. Global Policies

All Army wives in the Bay Area are invited to attend a briefing on "U.S. Global Policy and the Sixth U.S. Army's Role in Support Thereof" which will be presented by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General of Sixth Army, and his staff on Monday 27 October at 1030 in the Post Theater.

Four interesting points will be discussed: The World Situation—Its Post World War II Development to the Present; The "Trouble Areas"—Mid East, Formosa, Malaya, and Korea; U.S. Global Policies: General, NATO, SEATO; and the U.S. Army's and Sixth U.S. Army's Roles in Support of the U.S. Global Policy.

The presentation will be sponsored by the Presidio Woman's Club.

Top Speakers Slated For Annual Meeting Of AUSA This Month

"The United States Army, Ready for Action—Any Kind, Any Time, Any Place" is the theme of the annual meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army which will be held in Washington, D.C., 20 through 22 October.

Principal speakers at the meeting will be Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker, General Maxwell Taylor, Chief of Staff, and General Bruce C. Clarke, Commanding General, U.S. Continental Army Command.

Other speakers will include Lt. Gen. C. E. Hart, Commanding General, Army Air Defense Command; Lt. Gen. A. G. Trudeau, Chief of Research and Development; Admiral Antoine M. Sala, Naval Deputy of NATO; Roger Hilsman, Library of Congress, and Dr. Robert Osgood, University of Chicago.

SUGGESTION AWARD certificate and $50 check is presented to Mrs. Ann C. McFarland, S4 section, P&C Division, by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Executive Officer of the Presidio. Mr. Herbert Hockley, contracting officer, looks on.

Will Visit Here

Stagecoach Caravan To Trace Original Route In Stamp Run

A horse and buggy caravan, retracing as nearly as possible the original Butterfield Overland Mail route from Tipton, Mo., to San Francisco, will arrive here on Friday, 10 October.

The Presidio, in cooperation with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and several historical groups which are sponsoring the centennial celebration, will provide accommodations for the 25 member party, their animals and vehicles.

The caravan will pick up souvenir mail at each of its original 200 stops along the route from Tipton to San Francisco.

The Butterfield Overland Mail route was a significant development in the United States postal service a century ago when it speeded mail between the more settled Eastern areas of the country and the Pacific Coast.

The commemorative stamp will feature a scene of an overland mail coach under attack. The coach and team of horses is superimposed on a map of the southwestern part of the United States with the route of the Butterfield Overland Mail shown between Tipton and San Francisco.

Surrounding the major portion of the design, in a flat oval in a designed lettering combining the characteristics of Girder - Beton type, is the inscription "U.S. Postage *1858* Overland Mail *1958." The value, in larger lettering, appears in the lower right corner.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes to Postmaster, San Francisco 1, together with money order remittance to cover the cost of the stamps.

Pay Check Speedup

Springfield, Mass (ANS) — An advance in automation, pioneered at Springfield Armory here, will soon be in use Army-wide to speed preparation of employees' pay checks. The method, developed by the Armory's Data Processing Branch and the Finance and Accounting Branch, uses "Continuous Punch Card" checks and high speed punch card equipment to effect substantial savings in manpower, equipment and time.

NATO Visitors Here

Huntsville, Ala., (ANS)—Some 35 high-ranking military and civilian representatives of five North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries are visiting the U.S. Army Ordnance Missile Command here this week for a briefing on the activities of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency.

Aid Recreation Plans

Washington (ANS)—With a record of more than 80 million visitors last year, recreational areas of the Corps of Engineers' Civil Works projects are slated for $750,000 worth of improvements this fiscal year.

There are 138 such projects, located in 35 states. Improvements planned include access roads, parking areas, water supplies, sanitary facilities, picnic and campsite improvements and other works designed to increase the safety, sanitation and greater usefulness of the facilities.

Nike-Zeus Program

Washington (ANS) — Responsibility for the design of buildings, structures and utilities supporting the Army's Nike-Zeus (the weapons system designed to provide protection against ballistic missiles) has been assigned to the Mobile, Ala., District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

A Can Is A Can Is . . .

STRATEGICALLY SITUATED Trash Can has been placed at the west entrance of the Fort Baker-Fort Barry tunnel near the Presidio where a light stops traffic for six minutes. Realizing that motorists are tempted to empty ash trays and throw out lunch bags while waiting, M/Sgt. Gilbert G. Whaite, Hdq. Btry., 30th Arty. Gp. (Air Defense) and his sign painter, Pfc. Jack Self, painted about the fanciest trash can ever. If the black, red, and gold design of the Army Air Defense Command shoulder patch doesn't do the trick, M/Sgt. Whaite has threatened that the next one will be chrome plated.

Reservists May Soon Train As Pilots For Cargo Helicopters

Washington (ANS) — Enlisted members of the Army Reserve will be able to volunteer for cargo helicopter pilot training next year, according to the Army Reservist.

"The Army plans to assign cargo helicopters to USAR transport helicopter organizations and is preparing to train enlisted Reservists as pilots, and will promote those who successfully complete the course to warrant officers," the magazine reported.

It said that a change to AR 611-85 will be published, authorizing the reservists to apply beginning in July 1959.

When You're Old

Your United Crusade pledge will help old people, like those who are finding new friends, learning new things at senior citizens' clubs. Other old people, who are "chronically ill" are being cared for and rehabilitated at United Crusade agencies.

the STAR-PRESIDIAN

Vol. 7, No. 20

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 10 October, 1953

Troops Wear Green First Time As CO Takes Final Review

Today at 1600 Colonel Charles G. Rau will review his last parade while Commanding Officer of the Presidio before he assumes his new assignment as Assistant to the Deputy Commanding General of the U.S. Army Training Center, Infantry, at Fort Ord.

This will be the first time the men have worn their new green uniforms in parade.

Lt. Col. Grant W. Allison will be Commander of the Troops. The Adjutant will be Capt. James T. Pooler. Maj. William W. Byrum will serve as First Battalion Commander. Maj. Robert Martin will be Second Battalion Commander. Third Battalion Commander will be Maj. Ranald Steiner.

Wins Special Award

A Certificate of Achievement was presented to Mrs. Blanche M. Parsons, manager of the Thrift Shop, at a recent ceremony by Col. Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer of the Presidio.

Mrs. Parsons volunteered her services in 1953. Since then all the income of the Thrift Shop has been profit, and these thousands of dollars have played a major role in financing the activities of the local Boy and Girl Scouts, Little League Baseball, and the Teen Age Club.

Name New Commander

Colonel Farrell P. Hyatt has been named to command the Bay Area Army Terminal Center at Fort Mason. He succeeds Col. Carroll K. Moffatt, recently named Deputy Commander of the Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific.

A veteran of 18 years' active duty, Col. Hyatt has been stationed in the Bay Area since 1935 where he has served as Chief of Passenger Division, Director of Operations, and Deputy Commander of the local Army terminal organization.

Near Quota Record

Hq, 6th Rgn ARADCOM announced today that the latest reports show achievement of 59% of the San Francisco Army Air Defense Area quota in the United Bay Area Crusade. Hq, 6th Rgn, Fort Baker, has reached 85% of quota. Unofficial reports show that an East Bay battery, B of the 4th Bn, 67th Arty, has made 100%.

Solar Furnace Started

Natick, Mass. (ANS) — The nation's largest solar furnace began operations here last week at the Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command. Designed for laboratory testing of QM materials for protection of the soldier against thermal effects of nuclear and other weapons, the furnace is expected to produce temperatures near 5000 degrees Fahrenheit.

ATTENTIVE FATHER Sp3 Jose Ballogdajan listens while his hard of hearing son Cleon takes language lessons from Mrs. Charles Duff at the Hearing and Speech Center Nursery, a UBAC participating agency.

He'll Hear Again Because You Gave

The United Bay Area Crusade, launched with a bang less than three weeks ago, has not ascended as rapidly as some predictions had hoped.

To date, Army contributions in the Bay Area have reached only 27 per cent of its goal.

There is one Presidian who even a month ago could not have heard that initial bang, could not hear an airplane flying over, couldn't even hear his father, Sp3 Jose Ballogdajan of the 16th Base Post Office, call him for dinner.

Cleon Ballogdajan is four years old, but he has only been hearing and learning to speak for four weeks.

Little Cleon is what the specialists term "hard of hearing." That means that he is deaf, but because he has "a good residual" he is daily learning to hear new sounds with the help of a hearing aid, furnished him by the San Francisco Hearing Society, a UBAC participating agency.

This is one example of help being there when you need it. Indirectly, everyone on the Presidio who has given to UBAC is helping Cleon Ballogdajan to hear and to speak.

About a year ago, when the Ballogdajans were stationed in Germany, it became apparent that something was definitely not right about Cleon's developing. The anxious parents took him to the 97th General U.S. Army Hospital in Frankfurt. After examining the boy, doctors suspected he was deaf, but they had no instruments for testing.

Upon request, Sp3 Ballogdajan was sent on a compassionate assignment to the Presidio. Cleon was tested at Letterman and found deaf.

Letterman and the Army were unable to provide a hearing aid. The Ballogdajans were unable to buy one.

But the San Francisco Hearing Society dipped into a special

Army Secretary Says:

Won't Need U.S. Troops On Quemoy

Ft. Benning, Ga. (AFPS)—"No U.S. troops are needed to defend Quemoy from attack by Communist China," said Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker in a talk before the Conference on Civilian Aides to the Army Secretary here.

Just returned from a Far Eastern tour which included visits to Formosa, India, Pakistan, Thailand, Republic of Viet Nam, Korea and the British Crown Colonies of Singapore and Hong Kong, Secretary Brucker obtained first hand information on the defensive capabilities of the Chinese Nationalists.

"The Nationalist Chinese have over 600,000 strong, well trained ground forces," Mr. Brucker pointed out. "They have a very strong defense on Quemoy. They could use some guns and ammunition, but no U.S. soldiers are needed on Quemoy," he declared.

In addition to the Nationalist Chinese forces, Mr. Brucker stated that there are two million in uniform in the countries he visited who are allied to the U.S.

Discussing President Eisenhower's firm stand on the Formosa situation, the Army Secretary said, "They (U.S. Allies in the Far East) are waiting to see if the U.S. would stay with them. They have been told we are a paper tiger, one with big talk and no bite. That's why the President's strong statement was issued."

Secretary Brucker termed the Sept. 12 pronouncement by the President as "the strongest state-

DOD Issues First Quotas To Average $30 A Month

Washington (AFPS)—First Defense Department quotas under the new incentive pay system will give some 80,000 enlisted personnel, primarily in critical skills, proficiency increases of $30 a month during Fiscal Year 1959.

The long awaited retention incentive plan, approved by President Eisenhower as announced by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, provides the proficiency hikes for approximately 29,000 Army, 20,000 Navy, 3,000 Marine Corps and 25,000 Air Force members in certain occupational fields prior to next June 30.

Although no definite date for pro payments to start was set in Mr. McElroy's policy guideline, a Defense spokesman said the separate service regulations will be ready in a "matter of days" and should be in effect before the end of the calendar year.

With the exception of the Marine Corps, which includes troops in grade E-3 with more than two years service, personnel selected for pro pay will be in grade E-4 or above with 90 per cent of the payments being made in occupational fields where shortages exist.

Overall allocations of the awards in these categories are:

- 48,000 to repairmen and operators in electronics specialties—practically all the AF personnel will be in these fields;
- 13,000 to selected Army and Marine Corps ground combat skills such as combat engineers and artillerymen;
- 11,000 to non-electronic mechanical and repairmen skills,

Honor New Ord CG

Major General Carl F. Fritzsche, on his way to assume his new assignment as Commanding Officer of Fort Ord, was honored at a 13-gun salute and Honor Guard ceremony yesterday morning in the parking area north of building 50.

Gen. Fritzsche, formerly Fifth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, is a West Point graduate (Class of 1928.) He replaces Maj. Gen. William M. Breckinridge who has been reassigned to the Eighth U.S. Army, Korea.

Some Officers Asked To Change Army Jobs

Washington (AFPS)—The Army is encouraging officers in over-strength grades to seek transfers to several branches where vacancies exist.

The eight branches in which the shortages are most acute are: Adjutant General Corps, Artillery, Chemical, Engineer, Finance, Military Police, Ordnance and Signal Corps.

Circular 614-3, now being distributed, lists officer grades needed by the various branches and also outlines the qualifications desired.

FORMOSA STRAIT—This sketch shows the close proximity of the Quemoy Island area to the Communist Chinese mainland. Nationalist troops on Quemoy number 70,000 while intelligence estimates say a force of 200,000 Communist soldiers is deployed along the nearby coast.

ment that's been made" since WWII in the effort to keep the Communists from starting a full scale war.

"Certainly the Communists have up to now been very aggressive. This shelling (of the off-shore islands) has not been a coincidence. It can have one of two purposes—to open up a real blast or to open up the way to a summit conference," he added.

Emphasizing that the President and Congress have drawn the line at Formosa, Mr. Brucker said that words would be backed up if the Chinese Communists fail to heed the message in the President's declaration and attack Formosa.

Concerning future Army moves in the Middle East, Mr. Brucker said, "We don't make policy, we execute it."

Top military and civilian leaders attended the conference at the Infantry School here, which is held annually to orient the 46-man aide group on the modernized Army.

... the good fight

A Great Heart Stops

Someone once said that in death Man achieves his highest dignity.

Today, as the world dries its tear-stained face following the death of the most beloved man of our century, this theory has been dramatically refuted.

For it wasn't in dying that Pius XII achieved immortal greatness—it was in living.

From the beginning Eugenio Pacelli was not physically strong—a fact that almost cost him his chance for the priesthood—yet his indomitable spirit would never countenance the demands of his body.

Even as he lay dying, this same great heart, which he had shared with the world for 19 years, refused to concede and he fought gallantly to continue to carry out his responsibility to the living.

Time and the experts will total up his ecclesiastical accomplishments. As for us, we can share now in the glowing example of a magnificent spirit and great heart, a life that dedicated its very existence to all peoples and creeds.

Truly, Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Pius XII, could say with St. Paul—"I have fought the good fight, I have run the true course. . . ."

Back-to-UBAC

How's Your Hand?

Members of The Army establishment living in the San Francisco Bay Area—military and civilian—are fortunate indeed. Bret Harte had some fine praise for the old San Francisco in his poem on the view from Lone Mountain, "Queen City by the Golden Gate." Modern San Francisco received a similar accolade recently from another distinguished author, James Mitchener, who termed it: "... this magnificent, this varied, this challenging city."

We—particularly the military, who are among the great transients of modern history—have it made. We have a lovely community and Lady Luck "locked." Or, as the poker players put it—"aces, back-to-back."

But to just "live" in a community is not sufficient. An Army man, or woman, must be OF the community, as well, to enjoy fully all of its benefits and to reciprocate the hospitality shown by the "natives." In San Francisco's case, "the natives are friendly."

It is not essential for one to love San Francisco and the Bay area. The present writer, in travels throughout this Nation and in lands across both great oceans, found in his entire experience only one Army member who expressed dislike for it. Most Army people eagerly look forward to duty here, and many to retirement in this area.

But, as in the case of many famous beauties past and present, there are flaws—if one looks for them. We may not enjoy coming under the highest cost of living index in the country, or the highest traffic accident rate. We may dislike other things.

But who among us—men and women of conscience—can turn their backs on, the grey areas of this bright city—its poor, its sick, its aged and needy—and say "Let the community care for its own?" If we are OF the community, these people are also OUR own. The contributions of dollars which we make to the cause of the United Bay Area Crusade is small enough repayment for the hospitality we enjoy. Our dollars, invested otherwise, could not buy one small segment of the wonderful living we are privileged to enjoy in this area. And we enjoy it "for free."

We, who have luck and wonderful living locked "back to back," should certainly give a goodly share, in dollars, back to UBAC.

"A Fair Share" is the campaign's current slogan. We consider it a rare privilege to be able to live in this community. A foreigner's share, we consider, should be far more than merely a "fair share." (J. C.)

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army has announced that there has been no relaxation in the present policy requiring active duty personnel to own one Army Green uniform by 1 October 1958

Says Headquarters, Second United States Army: "The best defense against enemy verbal attack is preparation, both mentally and physically. . . . The body of the enemy may be broken without breaking his spirit, but the warrior who captures the spirit of the opponent can simply walk in and take over!"

Missile Safety Conference Set For Colorado Springs

Missile system safety problems will be the basis of a US Army Air Defense Command conference in Colorado Springs, 23-24 October.

Some 45 conference representatives from major Army commands in the U.S. and overseas will include Colonel Henry G. McFeely, 6th Region G1.

The conference concerns safety problems of Army air defense command missile operations in the U.S. Overseas commands were invited to send representatives because some of them are also engaged in employment of surface-to-air missile systems.

Safety matters for consideration in the conference include a discussion of USARADCOM Nike missile system operations and the relationship between the Zone of Interior Armies and Air Defense units.

Red Military Might No Bluff, States R & D's Gen. Trudeau

Columbus, Ohio (ANS)—Pointing out that the Soviet Army has about 175 line divisions which could be expanded to 300 within a month's time, Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau (Army Chief of Research and Development) said this week that, to his mind, the Communist military threat is very real—it is not a bluff.

Addressing the National Security Policy Seminar at Ohio State University here, he emphasized that the Communists resort to coercion, subversion, infiltration, indirect aggression and any other means they can employ, when such will advance their ambitions.

"They also use naked force when they believe that it is necessary," he declared. "They have stated that peace can exist only in a classless world and that any means used to achieve that goal are justified."

Why People Become Communists

(Fifth of a six-part series on communism)

Why do people become members of the Communist Party? Mainly because some aspect of the organization appeals to them. Contrary to popular belief, the majority of the people with whom the Communists have had their greatest successes come from the educated, middle-class level of society.

Communism appeals to the idealism of youth. Later, when they grow older and begin to face life in a more realistic manner, they are likely to be so enmeshed in its folds that they are unable to shake off the yoke of the party.

The natural rebel is another type of person that is easily won over to the cause of communism. It is right that there should be people who are alert to injustice and who will speak out against it. The Communists exploit this feeling to the utmost and through "indoctrination" procedures steer the rebel according to their own purposes.

It appeals to the weak in spirit as it gives them a sense of belonging to something bigger and stronger than themselves. In this modern world, there are a great many people who feel they do not belong anywhere at all. In their driftings through life, they are misled by the constant voicing from Moscow that the Communists are all for peace and against atomic war.

Communism draws on a man's loyalty to a cause, but in a peculiar manner. It uses his hatred, his desire for revenge, for retribution on a society which he feels has cheated him or has cheated others. His frustrations are exploited to the nth degree.

It takes the idealists, the embittered, the dreamers, the rebels and those from similar walks of life and molds them into an instrument of conspiracy. For communism is a philosophy that turns into a conspiracy and every Communist becomes a conspirator.

However, they are losing ground rapidly. With education in the present day, people are learning that the Communist Doctrine advocates overthrow of all other ways of life, by violent means if necessary. The revolt in Hungary that was suppressed with tanks and troops hurt the party, and untold numbers were disillusioned and defected from the organization.

Nevertheless, communism remains a force to be reckoned with, and will stay that way until people recognize it for what it is—a conspiracy to suppress the free people of the world.

INQUIRING REPORTERS

Johnson-Barnett

This week we've taken a turn into fantasy. There isn't one among us who doesn't occasionally like to read a bit of poetry, or who in school days gone past was led by the ear into a volume of Longfellow. Remembering how some people felt in those days, we thought to ask:

THE QUESTION: Who is your favorite poet and what lines of his poetry do you remember?

THE ANSWERS:

Mrs. Josephine Ripley, Assistant Reference Librarian: William Cullen Bryant is probably my favorite poet, and Thanatopsis is my favorite poem. It seems to me that that poem has more inspiration than any I remember. Although I like Edna St. Vincent Millay for a modern poet. The lines that I like best from Thanatopsis are, "... so live that when thy summons comes to join that innumerable caravan . . . go not like a quarry slave scoured to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

First Sergeant George Van Kirk, Sixth Army Honor Guard: Oh, I'd say Rudyard Kipling is my favorite poet. Of his poems I like best "If" and "Gunga Din," but I certainly don't remember any lines. I guess I like the rhythm he writes with, the way everything flows along so smoothly. I particularly like the message in "If," what it meant to me . . . stop worrying about what you couldn't do and remember what you could do and you'd find out that you could make out pretty well. "Gunga Din" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade" by Tennyson carry me back to my childhood. I wish I could remember the lines, but it's been too long.

Chaplain Paul M. Pease, Presidio Chaplain: I don't know if you'd call him a poet, but I like Kahil Gibren very much. I discovered him by accident one day while browsing in a bookstore. He is from the Middle East and writes against that background about the customs and times of Jesus and that period. One of the ones I like best, the Philosopher speaks about Jesus . . . "though He knew the depth of beauty, He was ever surprised by its peace and majesty, and He stood before the earth as the first man had stood before the first day."

Pfc. Charles R. Smith, G2, Headquarters Sixth Army: I'm not much of a poetry reader, but I like "Casey at the Bat." First of all, I like it because I like to play baseball, and because it was the first poem I ever learned. It has two parodies to it, "Casey's Revenge" and "Casey Twenty Years Later." The last four lines are the best . . . "Oh somewhere in this favored land the bands may play and children laugh and people shout, There is no joy in Mudville today for Casey, mighty Casey, has struck out." I think that kind of applies to a lot of things. When Casey hit the ball he was a hero. When he struck out, he was a bum. That's life.

Distance Swimmer Finishes Sixth In "Gate" Contest

Capt. Frederick A. Dodd, "hobby" swimmer from 6th ARADCOM's G3 Section, placed sixth in last weekend's Golden Gate splash sponsored by the San Francisco South End Rowing Club.

He finished the mile and a quarter from Ft. Point to Cavallo Point in 55:45, but was 16:05 behind winner Jim Lee, former Olympic swimmer who now is a local automobile salesman.

The 35-year-old former Berkeley High and West Point swimmer appeared pleased with his standing among the estimated 50 entries, however.

He attributed much of his success to the rough waters, which he said tended to give him an advantage over many contestants because he had been practicing in the choppy bay.

Another Army man, Pvt. Eddie Plum of Ft. Ord, finished 13th in the race.

LAH Downs Mason 3-1 In Keg Matches

Letterman Army Hospital keggers this week dumped a visiting Ft. Mason five, 3-1, at the LAH alleys.

Last night, the medics met Two Rock Ranch Station here, but results were not available at press time.

In the Fort Mason match, marking the second week of bowling in the Northern California Military Sports Association season, high man for the winners was Sfc. George Alberts, who posted a 211-549. Individual high game, however, went to his teammate, Sfc. Maynard Matthiesen, with a 221-543.

Highnetters Draw In Pair; Need Strong Conditioning

Missileer highnetters fought to two draws this week, as a time limitation forced cancellation of a deciding game in both matches.

Last Thursday, the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery squad came from behind to deadlock a four-game match with Embarcadero "Y."

After dropping the first two games, 5-15 and 12-15, the Presidians slammed to 15-13 and 16-14 wins before the clock ran out.

Tuesday night, the locals split with a strong Oakland "Y" team, 7-15, 15-11, 15-12 and 8-15.

Team coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio said that the Oakland meet is typical of his major problem. "The boys weaken after the third or fourth game. They're going to need conditioning to be ready for tournament play later in the season."

Brightest prospect on the team, M/Sgt. Ignacio said, is spiker Sp4 Richard Chute. "He's the most improved player for the amount of time he has been in the game that I have ever seen," the coach added.

The 4th Battalion team met Embarcadero "Y" again last night, will battle Travis Air Force Base tomorrow, and next Tuesday will again face Oakland "Y."

M/Sgt. Ignacio also issued a call for players. Anyone who is interested, with or without experience, should attend one of the practice sessions held each Monday in the Ft. Scott gymnasium.

IN AND OUT is all super-fisherman Edward Nassare, 18, of 131 14th Ave., San Francisco, had to do with his bug-eye jig to land these two four-pound strikers at Ft. Point last week. Already having one for himself, he gave these two to M/Sgt. Andrew Horne (l.), Senior Launcher Area Instructor at SFAADS, and Sfc. Harry A. Berggren, also a Launcher Area Instructor at SFAADS.

Toreras Beat Hamilton In Pre-Season Meeting

Presidio's Toreras tamed a "tough" Hamilton Air Force Base sextet, 41-31, this week in a pre-season tangle at Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium.

The local lady basketballers, warming up for their Women's Interservice Recreational League opener next Thursday against Ft. Mason on the LAH court, jumped to a quick lead in the first quarter and kept the Hamilton girls trailing by at least six for the rest of the game.

In the first half, the sharp-shooting combination of forwards Sfc. Georgia Kelly, Sfc. Mary Phillips and Cpl. Florian Vierra kept the local way out in front. At half time, the Presidians boasted a nine point lead, 23-14.

Sfc. Kelly and Sfc. Phillips tied for scoring honors with 13 points apiece; Cpl. Vierra also hit the double figures with 10 points.

At the end of the third quarter the visitors pulled to within six points of the WAC's, 28-22, but were unable to keep up the pace in the final round.

Coach Sp5 Arleen Patt cleared the bench to give every member of the squad a chance to see action.

Main weakness of the Toreras was one of their strong points last year—free throws. They hit for only 7 of 18, or 38½ per cent.

PSF-LAH Foils Men Trounce Balboa Club At Local Matches

Presidio-Letterman fencers last week trounced swordsmen of the Balboa Fencer's Club of San Francisco, 13-7, during an all-foils meet at the LAH gym.

In a simultaneous women's foils match, Diana Preddy and Donna Temple of the locals topped three girls from the visiting Balboa club to post a 5-1 win.

Competing for the Presidio-LAH men's team were M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, Sp4 William Beaver, Ed Purdy, Charles Driscoll and 1st Lt. Eugene Hardy.

Change Trophy Date

WAC team and individual softball awards for the 1958 Women's Interservice Recreational League season will be presented tomorrow at 1000 in the Presidio NCO Open Mess.

The presentations were originally scheduled for last Saturday, but were postponed by League officials.

Presidio's Toreras will get the first-place team award and three team members—centerfielder Sp4 Peggy Harris, rightfielder Sp4 Moley Edwards and third baseman Sfc. Mary Phillips—will receive trophies as members of the League all-star team.

Swimmers Will Vie

Natadors of the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command will compete at the Letterman Army Hospital pool Monday through Wednesday to determine the conference champions who will vie in 6th ARADCOM swimming and diving meet later this month.

Nation's Top Casaba Reps Will Test Here

By SP3 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Some 60 top Army basketball artists will flock to the Presidio in February to prep for interservice and Pan American Games competition in 1959.

Department of the Army has set tentative dates for training here from 10 February through 11 March.

Besides Presidio, eight other training sites for boxing, wrestling, volleyball, track and field, swimming and diving, baseball, tennis and golf were announced.

Other Army training camps will be held at the following installations (dates are tentative):

• Boxing—Ft. Benning, Ga., 1-30 March.

• Wrestling—Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., 1-30 March.

• Volleyball—Ft. Riley, Kans., 26 March-24 April.

• Track and Field—Ft. Lee, Va., 15 May-13 June.

• Swimming and Diving—Ft. Rucker, Ala., 1-30 July.

• Baseball—Ft. Carson, Colo., 15 July-13 August.

• Tennis—U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., 5 July-3 August.

• Golf—Ft. Meade, Md., 25-29 September.

It is expected that Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium will be used for practices.

Presidio will furnish a project officer, as well as billeting, messing, training and local transportation facilities for players. Other expenses and officials will be borne and furnished by Department of the Army.

No coaches have been named yet. Players will be selected on the basis of over-all season performance. Intrasquad competition during the post-season training will determine which players will represent the Army in interservice and higher level play.

Among national championships which are used to pick U.S. teams for the Pan-Am Games is the AAU meet.

There is no limit on the number of players that can be recommended to Department of the Army for participation in basketball trials here.

Shuffleboard Champs Vie In ARADCOM Tourney

Missileer shuffleboard artists are expected to wind up a five-day tourney here tomorrow to determine the 6th ARADCOM champions for 1958.

At press time, no scores were available.

Representing the host San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command are local champs, Sp4 T. J. Robinson, a supply clerk with B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, and Sp4 William S. Godsey, fire panel operator from C Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery.

They finished first and second, respectively, in the recent San Francisco-Travis meet. Sp4 Godsey also teamed with another member of his battalion, Pfc. Terry D. Munro, a launcher crewman from A Battery, to win the doubles crown.

Other teams in the 6th ARADCOM tourney represent the Los Angeles and Seattle areas.

Competing from Los Angeles are 1st Lt. James R. Kaplan and Sfc. Sherman Davis, Jr., both of Battery D, 3d Missile Battalion, 57th Artillery. Representing Seattle are Sp4 William E. Weder of B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 4th Artillery, and Pfc. Samuel E. Calhoun of D Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 43d Artillery.

A single elimination tournament will determine the singles champion and the doubles winner will be determined from a double elimination.

Bag limit is four birds.

537th Engineers Return From White Mt Survey

Forty enlisted men of the 537th Engineer Company have returned to the Presidio after spending over four months in the field doing a survey project in the White Mountain area of California and Nevada.

The project called for an extensive mapping survey of the 225 square miles of the McAfee Ranch quadrangle, including the recovery of existing control, running of new level lines, picture point control and some triangulation.

After completing this quadrangle, all existing control in four other quadrangles in the area were identified.

The operation was supported by one fixed wing aircraft flying out of the commercial airfield at Bishop and piloted and maintained by 30th Engineer aviation personnel.

Low Wins Certificate

Captain Thomas Lew was awarded the Certificate of Achievement by Col. Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, this week.

The award was presented for meritorious service from 5 August 1957 to 1 July 1958 while assigned as Signal Advisor, 1st Field Division and 16th Light Division, MAAG, Vietnam.

Lot Of Training

Jacksonville, Fla. (ANS)—The Florida Reservist reports this last summer has been one of the busiest in the history of the Army Reserve. According to the paper, more than 247,000 Reservists attended summer camps for their Reserve training during May through August.

Association Meet Set

Washington (ANS) — The Association of the United States Army, at its Annual Meeting to be held October 20-22, will present 16,000 square feet of exhibits in 112 booths illustrating the latest industrial developments in military fields. The exhibits, as well as the meeting, will be in Washington's Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Permanent Testing Policy

Career Management Policy Set

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has shaped the long-range career management plan for soldiers, which, for the first time, establishes a permanent testing system and charts a fixed course for competitive promotions.

Developed after two years of study by manpower experts as the Enlisted Management Program, the plan aims to enhance career opportunities in the ranks by:

- Setting up a system to evaluate enlisted personnel against Army-wide standards;
- Providing extra awards for greater proficiency;
- Centralizing assignment methods for top-two-grade NCOs; and
- Offering college training in scientific, technical and administrative fields at government expense to some 1,200 soldier-students over the next four years.

The new Army program hinges on an Enlisted Evaluation System to be operated primarily through a center at Ft. Harrison, Ind., which will monitor some 859 uniform tests being prepared for every skill level of each MOS. Tests will be phased in as they are completed. Notice in each case will be made to the field 60 days in advance of the test date.

fund. The boy's case was considered an emergency because he might never have learned to speak without an aid.

Now Cleon attends classes three days a week at the Hearing and Speech Center Nursery. The school requires that at least one parent always accompany the child, and at least once a month both parents must attend special classes where they learn about psychological effects of hearing loss and the anatomical basis for deficient hearing.

At first Cleon complained about the weight of his hearing aid. Then he developed an allergy and had to be refitted.

But now everything is running smoothly. He is gradually learning to speak. He is overcoming his shyness. He can hear the call for dinner. He is learning how to live a normal life.

Thanks to his new hearing aid, Little Cleon will no longer be handicapped.

If it were not for the San Francisco Hearing Society, a UBAC participating agency, Cleon Ballogdajan might never have been able to hear or speak.

He is just one of the reasons why we must all raise the score from 27 per cent to 100 per cent.

United Crusade contributions help several national health foundations which are doing research into the causes of the cripples—heart disease, cancer, cerebral palsy, arthritis, mental illness and multiple sclerosis.

Post Scout Troops Will participate In Safety Drive

San Francisco will be deluged by thousands of brochures tomorrow when every Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer will mobilize for a mass distribution of the civil defense "Handbook for Emergencies" as their final project in the 1958 National Safety Good Turn suggested to the Boy Scouts of America by President Eisenhower.

Troop Pack and Post 77 and 178, sponsored by Headquarters Sixth Army, will join their fellow scouts in tomorrow's national distribution which locally is under the leadership of Rear Admiral A. G. Cook, USN (Ret.), Director of San Francisco Disaster Council and Corps who is chairman of the San Francisco Scouts' home safety program.

More than 35 million copies of the booklet on family preparedness will be distributed.

In addition to the handbook, local Scouts will also deliver 290,000 leaflets entitled "Get-Out-The-Vote," and 3,500,000 copies of an extra leaflet containing safe driving tips designed by the Walt Disney Studios under the guidance of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

You can give happiness when you give to the United Crusade. Not one but dozens of agencies will use your gift to brighten the lives of young and old in the Bay Area.

Employees Needed

The Office of Civilian Personnel has announced three vacancies at the Presidio. For detailed information telephone 2349 or 4233.

• Headquarters Sixth Army needs a Telegraphic-Typewriter Operator, GS-385-4. Applicants for the $3755 per annum job must have had six months general experience and six months specialized experience. Clearance is required.

• There is a vacancy for a Time, Leave and Payroll Clerk at Presidio Headquarters. Two years experience and clearance is required for the $3755 per annum job.

• A General Engineer, GS-801-11, is needed at Presidio Headquarters. The salary is $7270 per annum.

New Traffic Recorder To Ft. Huachuca Tests

A recently developed device for recording the number of telephone calls placed at an Army field switchboard will be delivered next month to the Combat Development Department of the U.S. Army Electronic Proving Ground by the Applied Research Laboratory of the University of Arizona.

Pro Pay Set

typical of which are electrical and communications equipment specialists, Navy machinist mates, etc.;

• 4,000 in other technical fields—for example, medical technicians, intelligence specialists and other technicians in short supply;

• 1,000 in the fields of craft skills, including Navy quartermasters, signalmen, ship fitters, etc.

In addition, there will be some 1,000 in administrative categories in the Navy and Marine Corps and some 400 in service skills such as food service, commissarymen and ships servicemen, also Navy.

No occupational specialty is specifically excluded from pro pay in the Defense directive, although the Military Departments are required to allot at least 85 per cent of the awards to listed critical skills. The balance may go to servicemen with records of outstanding performance in any field.

By grade, the service breakdown against these Defense Department quotas are:

Army—E-4, 10,440; E-5, 8,640; E-6, 6,280; E-7, 3,440.

Navy—E-4, 6,850; E-5, 5,280; E-6, 4,500; E-7, 2,940.

Marine Corps—E-3, 1,480; E-4, 2,690; E-5, 1,830.

Air Force—E-4, 7,310; E-5, 10,160; E-6, 4,960; E-7, 2,090; and E-8, 730, for the only super-grade awards.

Pro pay selections will be based on performance ratings, technical tests and "other screening procedures" established by the separate services.

Awards for proficiency are not permanent, Mr. McElroy's instructions point out, and will be subject to performance checks at least every 12 months. On the other hand, the awards will not necessarily be cancelled by promotions.

Servicemen advanced to a higher grade will receive the added money until the next evaluation of eligibility, when it will be determined if the payments continue.

Provision also is made for those re-classified from one critical skill to another to retain the award, if authorized in the new specialty. Conversely, where assignment is made to duties not requiring the skill upon which proficiency pay is based, the award terminates.

SECOND TIME RE-ENLISTMENT AWARD WINNING C Company, U.S. Army Garrison representatives, accept plaque and permanent trophy from Colonel Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer of the Presidio. They are (l. to r.) Capt. Robert Apt, Commanding Officer of C Company; M Sgt. William J. Tehan, Re-enlistment NCO of C Company, and M Sgt. Laurence House, Post Re-enlistment NCO.

History Revisits Old Fort Point

Top TV, Newsmen Hosted In Promotion Production

The hands of time slipped backwards 85 years Tuesday at old Ft. Point when once again yellow-scarved cavalymen clomped about its windswept cloisters and the clatter of horses' hooves shattered the silence of many years.

Amidst the flurry of yesteryear soldiers and bearded scouts and pretty girls, some 25 local newspaper critics and reporters got a glimpse of outpost life in the early days of the Old West as a prelude to reviewing a new TV series based on the exploits of famed Indian fighter Col. Ranald S. MacKenzie.

The series, produced by KPIX-TV (Channel 5) here, is scheduled to begin a year's run Saturday, 18 October, at 2200. Starring Richard (I Led 3 Lives) Carlson, the filmed Western will be shown in major localities throughout the United States.

Reconstruction of the bygone era, prompted by KPIX and encouraged by the Army, was handled adroitly by students and faculty from the Drama Departments of San Francisco City and State Colleges, as well as several Presidio soldiers.

After a tour of the Fort, members of the press, Army Information officers and KPIX officials enjoyed a luncheon at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess and a subsequent showing of the first film in the series.

Col. MacKenzie, top graduate of West Point (Class of 1862) and thrice-wounded Civil War hero who earned a brevet brigadier at the age of 24, gained considerable reputation while Commander of the "Fightin' Fourth" Cavalry based at Ft. Clark, Tex., in the 1870's. The TV series will bear another nickname of the 4th Cavalry—"MacKenzie's Raiders."

One special guest at Tuesday's festivities was James Warner Bellah, noted author who wrote the story and screenplay "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon." Mr. Bellah authored the scripts for "MacKenzie's Raiders."

30th Arty's Top Soldier

Soldier of the Month for the 30th Artillery Group at Fort Barry is Sp3 Richard J. Beltz. He is a fire control technician for the 2d Msl Bn, Marin Nike unit. A native of Minnesota, Beltz entered the Army in 1956 and trained at Fort Hood and Fort Bliss, Texas before coming to this area.

Noted Author

YUP, THEY'RE OURS. Hard to tell, though, from the uniforms. These men are from the Sixth Army Pipe Band and the Presidio Honor Guard, but they shucked their "greens" for the old Cavalry blues to help KPIX-TV publicize its new serial about "MacKenzie's Raiders." Trooping the Ft. Point parade ground are (l. to r.) Pfc. Michael Reed, Honor Guard; Sp4 John Donaldson and Sp4 William McErlane, Pipe Band; and Pfc. Theodore Hasara.

TERRENCE O'FLAHERTY, noted San Francisco "Chronicle" and national media TV critic, and Sixth Army Information Officer Col. Harold C. Lyon, crowd the foreground as critics, TV producer and PIO's pose at the Presidio Officer's Open Mess. The columnists were lured to the Post when KPIX-TV, to publicize a new serial, recreated scenes of the Old West at Ft. Point. A luncheon followed at the Open Mess. Also shown here are (l. to r.) Bill Fiset of the "Oakland Tribune," Sixth Army Deputy Information Officer Lt. Col. James Chesnut, Dwight Newton of the San Francisco "Examiner," and KPIX-TV General Manager Lou Simon.

"COME UP TO my dungeon sometime," saith the Thespian to Captain, but an old flame doth protest. Two aspiring actresses from San Francisco State College Drama Department ham it up with Radio-TV Instructor Ted Hoffman during an interlude in Tuesday's promotion activities at Ft. Point for the forthcoming KPIX-TV series on "MacKenzie's Raiders." The two young ladies, incidentally, are (l. to r.) 18-year-old sophomore Zita Schwab and senior Donna Brecht, 21.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

There sits behind a desk in G3, classified control point, a soldier with dark, nearly black hair, who speaks with quiet precision. He looks neat and efficient.

Then look at his hands. It is here you gain a first clue to an exciting personality.

Pfc. Irving Petlin is an artist. Dilexi Gallery, at 471 Broadway, is currently running his first one man show. His hands are thin, they look strong with great agility.

One would never expect to find an artist behind the desk at a classified control point. What happens to his aesthetic soul? His temper tantrums?

Petlin is not like the traditional image that some people have of artists. And for those of you who are curious, he is about the farthest thing from a beatnik in existence.

Before he was drafted, Pfc. Petlin graduated from the Art Institute of Chicago and did a year's work at Yale. He has only to write a thesis for his Master of Fine Arts. Irving has always painted. There was never any beginning. He was pleased to be assigned to the Presidio because it meant regular working hours.

Now Petlin maintains a studio in the famous Monkey Block, a sort of historical landmark on the corner of Washington, Columbus, and Montgomery, where in years past, as today, it is known as an artist rendezvous. There, for little money, an artist can rent a large, almost empty room with plenty of good natural light. Which is all an artist needs.

Irving, who paints at every opportunity . . . which amounts to every night after work and all weekend . . . says, "Painting is like public speaking. A man gets up, he faces a void, and he begins to fill it. He takes this responsibility upon himself to fill it. . . . It's a type of reflection. You almost find yourself mirrored, but in altered form."

We can only be ignorant whether or not Irving Petlin is a great artist. Such a sobriquet is determined by time. But this much is apparent. Petlin works assiduously at his painting. He works alone. He talks with no one while he works. He lists to no music. Petlin's talent isn't mythical or potential. He has already done much more than many so-called talented people. His talent is something real because he devotes himself to his life . . . painting.

"In a way, painting doesn't require an explanation. I can't be analytical about my own. It has to do with the amount of involvement. A verbal counterpart escapes me. It isn't that I don't want to commit myself. I am committed in my paintings."

Recently Assigned Candlelight Party

A former college basketball player who is itching to join an intramural casaba quintet here was recently assigned as Special Projects Officer in the Sixth U.S. Army Finance and Accounting Section.

He is Capt. DWIGHT L. GRONINGER, forward and center from 1949-52 on the Presbyterian College (South Carolina) squad who mixed books with basketballs and earned a Regular Army commission for being a Distinguished Military Graduate.

Capt. Groninger entered active duty about a month after earning his bachelor's degree in Business Administration, Class of 1952.

The following summer, he went to Korea to serve in Company F of the 224th Infantry Regiment, 40th Infantry Group. In July 1954 he returned to the States and was assigned to the faculty and staff at the Finance School, Fort Benjamin Harrison. Three years later, he transferred to the Finance Center, also at Fort Benjamin Harrison, where he remained until coming here.

While at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Capt. Groninger played intramural basketball and in 1957 was on the post 22 Caliber Rifle Team which competed in Fifth U.S. Army matches.

He and his wife, Carole (Kathy), now live in San Francisco.

Capt. ROBERT E. CAMPBELL, 32, for the past two and a half years a Company Commander and S4 in Fort Lewis' 1st Battle Group, 22d Infantry, has been assigned to the Visitors Bureau in the Office of the Sixth Army Secretary General Staff.

Capt. Campbell, who enlisted in the Army Air Corps in 1943 and rose to the grade of staff sergeant, but the position of Sergeant Major of the 1st Battalion, 188th Airborne Infantry, 11th Airborne Division, served in the Philippines in late 1945 and on occupation duty in Japan until he was released from service in 1946.

After attending Ohio State University, Capt. Campbell reentered the service on 3 March 1948, but as a commissioned officer. In Korea from January to June 1949, he transferred to Japan but went back to Korea at the outbreak of war as a ground liaison officer (8th Army G2) with the "Mosquito" Squadron.

Back in the States in July 1951, he was assigned as an instructor in the OCS at Fort Riley, Kansas, and later in the Army Intelligence School there.

In March of 1953, he went to the Army Language School to study Persian and then after later completing Infantry Officers' Advanced Course at Fort Benning, Ga., he served from April 1955 to April 1956 in Iran.

He next was assigned to Fort Lewis, where he remained until coming here.

Capt. Campbell now lives on Post with his wife, Lorraine, and their children, David, 5; Mark, 3; and Cathy, 2.

Citizen Soldier Series

CITIZEN SOLDIER, a new series filmed in cooperation with the Dept. of the Army and the Dept. of Defense, will be seen for the first time on channel 7 at 2200 Tuesday.

The 39 half hour films will be dramatized accounts of the greatest events and most outstanding stories of World War II, and will tell of the exploits of the "Citizen Soldier," the backbone of the Armed Forces.

This week's program will be the story of Sgt. Pemberton, the "Invisible Soldier."

Open Mess Will Stage Big Halloween Fete

The Fort Baker Service Club will be lit with about a million candles Sunday night when all those born in October attend their joint birthday party. The cake and coffee celebration will begin at 2000 and everyone, even though you may have been born in another month, is invited to attend.

The newly painted Service Club will host a Western Night on Thursday at 2000. In addition, all camera enthusiasts are urged to bring their equipment because volunteer models will be there.

History Revisits Old Fort Point

Top TV, Newsmen Hosted In Promotion Production

The hands of time slipped backwards 85 years Tuesday at old Ft. Point when once again yellow-scarved cavalymen clomped about its windswept cloisters and the clatter of horses' hooves shattered the silence of many years.

Amidst the flurry of yesteryear soldiers and bearded scouts and pretty girls, some 25 local newspaper critics and reporters got a glimpse of outpost life in the early days of the Old West as a prelude to reviewing a new TV series based on the exploits of famed Indian fighter Col. Ranald S. MacKenzie.

The series, produced by KPIX-TV (Channel 5) here, is scheduled to begin a year's run Saturday, 18 October, at 2200. Starring Richard (I Led 3 Lives) Carlson, the filmed Western will be shown in major localities throughout the United States.

Reconstruction of the bygone era, prompted by KPIX and encouraged by the Army, was handled adroitly by students and faculty from the Drama Departments of San Francisco City and State Colleges, as well as several Presidio soldiers.

After a tour of the Fort, members of the press, Army Information officers and KPIX officials enjoyed a luncheon at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess and a subsequent showing of the first film in the series.

Col. MacKenzie, top graduate of West Point (Class of 1862) and thrice-wounded Civil War hero who earned a brevet brigadier at the age of 24, gained considerable reputation while Commander of the "Fightin' Fourth" Cavalry based at Ft. Clark, Tex., in the 1870's. The TV series will bear another nickname of the 4th Cavalry—"MacKenzie's Raiders."

One special guest at Tuesday's festivities was James Warner Bellah, noted author who wrote the story and screenplay "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon." Mr. Bellah authored the scripts for "MacKenzie's Raiders."

The TV series is based on a novel of the same name by Col. Russell P. (Red) Reeder, former Presidian and seven-times football coach of the Black Knights of West Point.

30th Arty's Top Soldier

Soldier of the Month for the 30th Artillery Group at Fort Barry is Sp3 Richard J. Beltz. He is a fire control technician for the 2d Msle Bn, Marin Nike unit. A native of Minnesota, Beltz entered the Army in 1956 and trained at Fort Hood and Fort Bliss, Texas before coming to this area.

YUP, THEY'RE OURS. Hard to tell, though, from the uniforms. These men are from the Sixth Army Pipe Band and the Presidio Honor Guard, but they shucked their "greens" for the old Cavalry blues to help KPIX-TV publicize its new serial about "MacKenzie's Raiders."

Trooping the Ft. Point paradeband are (l. to r.) Pfc. Michael Reed, Honor Guard; Sp4 John Donaldson and Sp4 William McErlane, Pipe Band; and Pfc. Theodore Hasara.

TERRENCE O'FLAHERTY, noted San Francisco "Chronicle" and national media TV critic, and Sixth Army Information Officer Col. Harold C. Lyon, crowd the foreground as critics, TV producer and PIO's pose at the Presidio Officer's Open Mess. The columnists were lured to the Post when KPIX-TV, to publicize a new serial, recreated scenes of the Old West at Ft.

"COME UP TO my dungeon sometime," saith the Thespian to Captain, but an old flame doth protest. The two young ladies, incidentally, are (l. to r.) 13-year-old sophomore Zita Schwab and senior Donna Brecht, 21.

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

There sits behind a desk in G3, classified control point, a soldier with dark, nearly black hair, who speaks with quiet precision. He looks neat and efficient.

Then look at his hands. It is here you gain a first clue to an exciting personality.

Pfc. Irving Petlin is an artist. Dilexi Gallery, at 471 Broadway, is currently running his first one man show. His hands are thin, they look strong with great agility.

One would never expect to find an artist behind the desk at a classified control point. What happens to his aesthetic soul? His temper tantrums?

Petlin is not like the traditional image that some people have of artists. And for those of you who are curious, he is about the farthest thing from a beatnik in existence.

Before he was drafted, Pfc. Petlin graduated from the Art Institute of Chicago and did a year's work at Yale. He has only to write a thesis for his Master of Fine Arts. Irving has always painted. There was never any beginning. He was pleased to be assigned to the Presidio because it meant regular working hours.

Now Petlin maintains a studio in the famous Monkey Block, a sort of historical landmark on the corner of Washington, Columbus, and Montgomery, where in years past, as today, it is known as an artist rendezvous. There, for little money, an artist can rent a large, almost empty room with plenty of good natural light. Which is all an artist needs.

Irving, who paints at every opportunity . . . which amounts to every night after work and all weekend . . . says, "Painting is like public speaking. A man gets up, he faces a void, and he begins to fill it. He takes this responsibility upon himself to fill it. . . . It's a type of reflection. You almost find yourself mirrored, but in altered form."

We can only be ignorant whether or not Irving Petlin is a great artist. Such a sobriquet is determined by time. But this much is apparent. Petlin works assiduously at his painting. He works alone. He talks with no one while he works. He listens to no music. Petlin's talent isn't mythical or potential. He has already done much more than many so-called talented people. His talent is something real because he devotes himself to his life . . . painting.

"In a way, painting doesn't require an explanation. I can't be analytical about my own. It has to do with the amount of involvement. A verbal counterpart escapes me. It isn't that I don't want to commit myself. I am committed in my paintings."

"... faces a void"

Recently Assigned Candlelight Party

A former college basketball player who is itching to join an intramural casaba quintet here was recently assigned as Special Projects Officer in the Sixth U.S. Army Finance and Accounting Section.

He is Capt. DWIGHT L. GRONINGER, forward and center from 1949-52 on the Presbyterian College (South Carolina) squad who mixed books with basketballs and earned a Regular Army commission for being a Distinguished Military Graduate.

Capt. Groninger entered active duty about a month after earning his bachelor's degree in Business Administration, Class of 1952.

The following summer, he went to Korea to serve in Company F of the 224th Infantry Regiment, 40th Infantry Group. In July 1954 he returned to the States and was assigned to the faculty and staff at the Finance School, Fort Benjamin Harrison. Three years later, he transferred to the Finance Center, also at Fort Benjamin Harrison, where he remained until coming here.

While at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Capt. Groninger played intramural basketball and in 1957 was on the post .22 Caliber Rifle Team which competed in Fifth U.S. Army matches.

He and his wife, Carole (Kathy), now live in San Francisco.

Capt. ROBERT E. CAMPBELL, 32, for the past two and a half years a Company Commander and S4 in Fort Lewis' 1st Battle Group, 22d Infantry, has been assigned to the Visitors Bureau in the Office of the Sixth Army Secretary General Staff.

Capt. Campbell, who enlisted in the Army Air Corps in 1943 and rose to the grade of staff sergeant, but the position of Sergeant Major of the 1st Battalion, 188th Airborne Infantry, 11th Airborne Division, served in the Philippines in late 1945 and on occupation duty in Japan until he was released from service in 1946.

After attending Ohio State University, Capt. Campbell reentered the service on 3 March 1948, but as a commissioned officer. In Korea from January to June 1949, he transferred to Japan but went back to Korea at the outbreak of war as a ground liaison officer (8th Army G2) with the "Mosquito" Squadron.

Back in the States in July 1951, he was assigned as an instructor in the OCS at Fort Riley, Kansas, and later in the Army Intelligence School there.

In March of 1953, he went to the Army Language School to study Persian and then after later completing Infantry Officers' Advanced Course at Fort Benning, Ga., he served from April 1955 to April 1956 in Iran.

He next was assigned to Fort Lewis, where he remained until coming here.

Capt. Campbell now lives on Post with his wife, Lorraine, and their children, David, 5; Mark, 3; and Cathy, 2.

Citizen Soldier Series

CITIZEN SOLDIER, a new series filmed in cooperation with the Dept. of the Army and the Dept. of Defense, will be seen for the first time on channel 7 at 2200 Tuesday.

The 39 half hour films will be dramatized accounts of the greatest events and most outstanding stories of World War II, and will tell of the exploits of the "Citizen Soldier," the backbone of the Armed Forces.

This week's program will be the story of Sgt. Pemberton, the "Invisible Soldier."

The Fort Baker Service Club will be lit with about a million candles Sunday night when all those born in October attend their joint birthday party. The cake and coffee celebration will begin at 2000 and everyone, even though you may have been born in another month, is invited to attend.

The newly painted Service Club will host a Western Night on Thursday at 2000. In addition, all camera enthusiasts are urged to bring their equipment because volunteer models will be there.

Open Mess Will Stage Big Halloween Fete

An old-fashioned Halloween costume party is being planned for the Presidio Officers' Open Mess on Friday, 31 October, from 2000 to 0100 hours. Starting time is made late purposely to accommodate parents of young children planning the traditional "trick-or-treat" sorties.

The committee in charge of the event, headed by Colonel Seymour A. Potter, Jr., Sixth US Army Engineer, announces that costumes will be obligatory and that a large turnout of club members, their ladies, and guests is expected. Costume prizes will be awarded. Reservations for groups will be governed by a maximum of 10 persons per table.

PERRY MASON fans won't want to miss the "Case of the Sardonic Sergeant" tomorrow at 1830, on channel 5 as Sgt. Joseph Dexter asks Perry to represent him at a general court martial where Dexter must answer a charge of murder. But when Mason arrives at the Army post, he finds his client dead.

Included in the cast will be Raymond Burr, Barbara Hale and William Hopper.

New PX Opened

A new PX was opened recently at Headquarters, 4th Msle Bn, 67th Arty (San Pablo Ridge Nike Site). The 20 by 40 foot store was designed to fill the needs of a double firing site (C Btry), Battalion Headquarters, and the 36 families living in recently completed MCA Housing.

Distance Swimmer Finishes Sixth In "Gate" Contest

Capt. Frederick A. Dodd, "hobby" swimmer from 6th ARADCOM's G3 Section, placed sixth in last weekend's Golden Gate splash sponsored by the San Francisco South End Rowing Club.

He finished the mile and a quarter from Ft. Point to Cavallo Point in 55:45, but was 16:05 behind winner Jim Lee, former Olympic swimmer who now is a local automobile salesman.

The 35-year-old former Berkeley High and West Point swimmer appeared pleased with his standing among the estimated 50 entries, however.

He attributed much of his success to the rough waters, which he said tended to give him an advantage over many contestants because he had been practicing in the choppy bay.

Another Army man, Pvt. Eddie Elum of Ft. Ord, finished 13th in the race.

LAH Downs Mason 3-1 In Keg Matches

Letterman Army Hospital keggers this week dumped a visiting Ft. Mason five, 3-1, at the LAH alleys.

Last night, the medics met Two Rock Ranch Station here, but results were not available at press time.

In the Fort Mason match, marking the second week of bowling in the Northern California Military Sports Association season, high man for the winners was Sfc. George Alberts, who posted a 211-549. Individual high game, however, went to his teammate, Sfc. Maynard Matthiesen, with a 221-543.

Highnetters Draw In Pair; Need Strong Conditioning

Missileer highnetters fought to two draws this week, as a time limitation forced cancellation of a deciding game in both matches.

Last Thursday, the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery squad came from behind to deadlock a four-game match with Embarcadero "Y."

After dropping the first two games, 5-15 and 12-15, the Presidians slammed to 15-13 and 16-14 wins before the clock ran out.

Tuesday night, the locals split with a strong Oakland "Y" team, 7-15, 15-11, 15-12 and 8-15.

Team coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio said that the Oakland meet is typical of his major problem. "The boys weaken after the third or fourth game. They're going to need conditioning to be ready for tournament play later in the season."

Brightest prospect on the team, M/Sgt. Ignacio said, is spiker Sp4 Richard Chute. "He's the most improved player for the amount of time he has been in the game that I have ever seen," the coach added.

The 4th Battalion team met Embarcadero "Y" again last night, will battle Travis Air Force Base tomorrow, and next Tuesday will again face Oakland "Y."

M/Sgt. Ignacio also issued a call for players. Anyone who is interested, with or without experience, should attend one of the practice sessions held each Monday in the Ft. Scott gymnasium.

IN AND OUT is all super-fisherman Edward Nassare, 18, of 131 14th Ave., San Francisco, had to do with his bug-eye jig to land these two four-pound stripers at Ft. Point last week. Already having one for himself, he gave these two to M/Sgt. Andrew Horne (L), Senior Launcher Area Instructor at SFAADS, and Sfc. Harry A. Berggren, also a Launcher Area Instructor at SFAADS.

Toreras Beat Hamilton In Pre-Season Meeting

Presidio's Toreras tamed a "tough" Hamilton Air Force Base sextet, 41-31, this week in a pre-season tangle at Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium.

The local lady basketballers, warming up for their Women's Interservice Recreational League opener next Thursday against Ft. Mason on the LAH court, jumped to a quick lead in the first quarter and kept the Hamilton girls trailing by at least six for the rest of the game.

In the first half, the sharp-shooting combination of forwards Sfc. Georgia Kelly, Sfc. Mary Phillips and Cpl. Florian Vierra kept the local way out in front. At half time, the Presidians boasted a nine point lead, 23-14.

Sfc. Kelly and Sfc. Phillips tied for scoring honors with 13 points apiece; Cpl. Vierra also hit the double figures with 10 points.

At the end of the third quarter the visitors pulled to within six points of the WAC's, 28-22, but were unable to keep up the pace in the final round.

Coach Sp5 Arleen Patt cleared the bench to give every member of the squad a chance to see action.

Main weakness of the Toreras was one of their strong points last year—free throws. They hit for only 7 of 18, or 38½ percent.

PSF-LAH Foils Men Trounce Balboa Club At Local Matches

Presidio-Letterman fencers last week trounced swordsmen of the Balboa Fencer's Club of San Francisco, 13-7, during an all-foils meet at the LAH gym.

In a simultaneous women's foils match, Diana Preddy and Donna Temple of the locals topped three girls from the visiting Balboa club to post a 5-1 win.

Competing for the Presidio-LAH men's team were M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, Sp4 William Beaver, Ed Purdy, Charles Driscoll and 1st Lt. Eugene Hardy.

Change Trophy Date

WAC team and individual softball awards for the 1958 Women's Interservice Recreational League season will be presented tomorrow at 1000 in the Presidio NCO Open Mess.

The presentations were originally scheduled for last Saturday, but were postponed by League officials.

Presidio's Toreras will get the first-place team award and three team members—centerfielder Sp4 Peggy Harris, rightfielder Sp4 Moley Edwards and third baseman Sfc. Mary Phillips—will receive trophies as members of the League all-star team.

Swimmers Will Vie

Natadors of the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command will compete at the Letterman Army Hospital pool Monday through Wednesday to determine the conference champions who will vie in 6th ARADCOM swimming and diving meet later this month.

Nation's Top Casaba Reps Will Test Here

By SP3 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Some 60 top Army basketball artists will flock to the Presidio in February to prep for interservice and Pan American Games competition in 1959.

Department of the Army has set tentative dates for training here from 10 February through 11 March.

Besides Presidio, eight other training sites for boxing, wrestling, volleyball, track and field, swimming and diving, baseball, tennis and golf were announced.

Air Force will host the 1959 interservice basketball tilt from 26 through 28 March; the Pan-Am Games are slated for 27 August-7 September in Chicago.

Army casaba schedules, and area playoffs, will be finished in January to free athletes for the tourney warm-ups here. Last year, most teams competed through February and then vied in sectional tournaments in early March.

It is expected that Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium will be used for practices.

Presidio will furnish a project officer, as well as billeting, messing, training and local transportation facilities for players. Other expenses and officials will be borne and furnished by Department of the Army.

No coaches have been named yet. Players will be selected on the basis of over-all season performance. Intrasquad competition during the post-season training will determine which players will represent the Army in interservice and higher level play.

Among national championships which are used to pick U.S. teams for the Pan-Am Games is the AAU meet.

There is no limit on the number of players that can be recommended to Department of the Army for participation in basketball trials here.

Other Army training camps will be held at the following installations (dates are tentative):

- Boxing—Ft. Benning, Ga., 1-30 March.
- Wrestling—Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., 1-30 March.
- Volleyball—Ft. Riley, Kans., 26 March-24 April.
- Track and Field—Ft. Lee, Va., 15 May-13 June.
- Swimming and Diving—Ft. Rucker, Ala., 1-30 July.
- Baseball—Ft. Carson, Colo., 15 July-13 August.
- Tennis—U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., 5 July-3 August.
- Golf—Ft. Meade, Md., 25-29 September.

Kegler Meet Slated; Presidio Team Plan Will Be Discussed

Presidio kegglers will meet tonight (1900) at Presidio Service Club No. 1 alleys to decide how to form a Post bowling team to compete in the Bay Area Armed Forces League.

Conducting the open session will be Sfc. Donald Andresen, who this week attended a League meeting at Travis Air Force Base. At present, no schedule has been set for bowling; but, it is anticipated that a schedule will be drawn up at the next League conference 3 November.

Shuffleboard Champs Vie In ARADCOM Tourney

Missileer shuffleboard artists are expected to wind up a five-day tourney here tomorrow to determine the 6th ARADCOM champions for 1958.

At press time, no scores were available.

Representing the host San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command are local champs, Sp4 T. J. Robinson, a supply clerk with B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, and Sp4 William S. Godsey, fire panel operator from C Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery.

They finished first and second, respectively, in the recent San Francisco-Travis meet. Sp4 Godsey also teamed with another member of his battalion, Pfc. Terry D. Munro, a launcher crewman from A Battery, to win the doubles crown.

Other teams in the 6th ARADCOM tourney represent the Los Angeles and Seattle areas.

Competing from Los Angeles are 1st Lt. James R. Kaplan and Sfc. Sherman Davis, Jr., both of Battery D, 3d Missile Battalion, 57th Artillery. Representing Seattle are Sp4 William E. Weder of B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 4th Artillery, and Pfc. Samuel E. Calhoun of D Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 43d Artillery.

A single elimination tournament will determine the singles champion and the doubles winner will be determined from a double elimination.

Bag limit is four birds.

537thEngineersReturn From White Mt Survey

Forty enlisted men of the 537th Engineer Company have returned to the Presidio after spending over four months in the field doing a survey project in the White Mountain area of California and Nevada.

The project called for an extensive mapping survey of the 225 square miles of the McAfee

Ranch quadrangle, including the recovery of existing control, running of new level lines, picture point control and some triangulation.

After completing this quadrangle, all existing control in four other quadrangles in the area were identified.

The operation was supported by one fixed wing aircraft flying out of the commercial airfield at Bishop and piloted and maintained by 30th Engineer aviation personnel.

fund. The boy's case was considered an emergency because he might never have learned to speak without an aid.

Now Cleon attends classes three days a week at the Hearing and Speech Center Nursery. The school requires that at least one parent always accompany the child, and at least once a month both parents must attend special classes where they learn about psychological effects of hearing loss and the anatomical basis for deficient hearing.

At first Cleon complained about the weight of his hearing aid. Then he developed an allergy and had to be refitted.

But now everything is running smoothly. He is gradually learning to speak. He is overcoming his shyness. He can hear the call for dinner. He is learning how to live a normal life.

Thanks to his new hearing aid, Little Cleon will no longer be handicapped.

If it were not for the San Francisco Hearing Society, a UBAC participating agency, Cleon Ballogdajan might never have been able to hear or speak.

He is just one of the reasons why we must all raise the score from 27 per cent to 100 per cent.

United Crusade contributions help several national health foundations which are doing research into the causes of the cripples—heart disease, cancer, cerebral palsy, arthritis, mental illness and multiple sclerosis.

Permanent Testing Policy

Career Management Policy Set

Washington (AFPS)—The Army has shaped the long-range career management plan for soldiers, which, for the first time, establishes a permanent testing system and charts a fixed course for competitive promotions.

Developed after two years of study by manpower experts as the Enlisted Management Program, the plan aims to enhance career opportunities in the ranks by:

- Setting up a system to evaluate enlisted personnel against Army-wide standards;
- Providing extra awards for greater proficiency;
- Centralizing assignment methods for top-two-grade NCOs; and
- Offering college training in scientific, technical and administrative fields at government expense to some 1,200 soldier-students over the next four years.

The new Army program hinges on an Enlisted Evaluation System to be operated primarily through a center at Ft. Harrison, Ind., which will monitor some 859 uniform tests being prepared for every skill level of each MOS. Tests will be phased in as they are completed. Notice in each case will be made to the field 60 days in advance of the test date.

Fundamentally, EES is a relative rating of the proficiency of troops in the same grade and MOS worldwide through the written and performance tests plus a "job effectiveness" report made by unit commanders.

This composite score of records, the Army said, will insure the selection of the best qualified men and women service-wide for advancement, proficiency pay and "further career development through education and training."

Another facet of improvement in career service is the recently resumed permanent grade warrant which involves no actual rank changes but gives new measures of assurance against cutbacks to outstanding eligible NCOs and specialists.

Although the specific skills and MOSs to be included in the Fiscal Year 1959 cycle of 29,000 $30-a-month proficiency awards allotted to Army enlisted grades has not been announced, the final pro pay plan has been submitted for Defense Department approval and "early implementation is anticipated," officials said.

To guarantee "timely" use of the skills and raise the prestige of some 14,500 NCOs and specialists slated for promotion to E-8 and E-9 by 1961, super grade assignments will be controlled by the Department of the Army in typical of which are electrical and communications equipmentspecialists, Navy machinist mates, etc.;

- 4,000 in other technical fields—for example, medical technicians, intelligence specialists and other technicians in short supply;
- 1,000 in the fields of craft skills, including Navy quartermasters, signalmen, ship fitters, etc.

In addition, there will be some 1,000 in administrative categories in the Navy and Marine Corps and some 400 in service skills such as food service, commissarymen and ships servicemen, also Navy.

No occupational specialty is specifically excluded from pro pay in the Defense directive, although the Military Departments are required to allot at least 85 per cent of the awards to listed critical skills. The balance may go to servicemen with records of outstanding performance in any field.

By grade, the service breakdown against these Defense Department quotas are:

Army—E-4, 10,440; E-5, 8,640; E-6, 6,280; E-7, 3,440.

Navy—E-4, 6,850; E-5, 5,280; E-6, 4,500; E-7, 2,940.

Marine Corps—E-3, 1,480; E-4, 2,690; E-5, 1,830.

Air Force—E-4, 7,310; E-5, 10,160; E-6, 4,960; E-7, 2,090; and E-8, 730, for the only super-grade awards.

Pro pay selections will be based on performance ratings, technical tests and "other screening procedures" established by the separate services.

Awards for proficiency are not permanent, Mr. McElroy's instructions point out, and will be subject to performance checks at least every 12 months. On the other hand, the awards will not necessarily be cancelled by promotions.

Servicemen advanced to a higher grade will receive the added money until the next evaluation of eligibility, when it will be determined if the payments continue.

Provision also is made for those re-classified from one critical skill to another to retain the award, if authorized in the new specialty. Conversely, where assignment is made to duties not requiring the skill upon which proficiency pay is based, the award terminates.

Army Medical Service Boasts New R & D

Washington (ANS)—The Army Medical Service has established a new Research and Development Command here, which will serve as a focal point for the direction of a world-wide program to provide the Army with better preventive medicine measures as well as more effective and rapid treatment techniques. Problems related to ionizing radiation, communicable diseases (of importance to troops overseas), burns and wounds, and physiological and neuropsychiatric problems will be among the Command's studies.

A further inducement provides that 20 per cent of all temporary promotions to the new super grades be made from among "outstanding" men and women who have eight to 15 years' service, rather than hold the line on time-in-grade requirements established in earlier directives.

This presents the aggressive young NCO with an opportunity to get ahead faster, as well as recognizing the "value of experience for the majority of promotions," the Army said.

SECOND TIME RE-ENLISTMENT AWARD WINNING C Company, U.S. Army Garrison representatives, accept plaque and permanent trophy from Colonel Charles G. Rau, Commanding Officer of the Presidio. They are (l. to r.) Capt. Robert Apt, Commanding Officer of C Company; M Sgt. William J. Tehan, Re-enlistment NCO of C Company, and M Sgt. Laurence House, Post Re-enlistment NCO.

Fencers Vie Tonight In LAH Tourney For Mex.-Cal. Play

Nine Presidio - Letterman fencers will vie for slots tonight and Sunday during the qualifying rounds for the Mexico - California International Tournament scheduled for November in Mexico City.

Tonight, tryouts for the saber will begin at 2000 in LAH gymnasium; Sunday, epee competitions will start at 1300.

Next Saturday, swordsmen will meet for foils berths.

Three team members and three alternates will be selected in each class. Similar qualifying rounds are being held in Southern California.

All Presidio-LAH fencers, except Charles Driscoll, will enter each class. Driscoll will complete in only the saber. Other local entries are team coach William O'Brien, Col. Laurance Brownlee, Ed Purdy, Sp4 William Beaver, M/Sgt. Bert Sheck, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, 1st Lt. William Coleman and Don Rutek.

Lundahl Sweeps Play ADC Ping Pong Tourney Second Straight Year

Ping Pong whizz M/Sgt. John H. Lundahl of D Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, retained his San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command title this week by sweeping all opposition for the second straight year.

Copping the doubles crown were the Number One and Two men of the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery—1st Lt. Joseph A. Zanghi, Commander of Headquarters Battery, and 2d Lt. Nick Tinios, IFC Platoon Leader in C Battery.

Not shown are another badminton ace, Sp4 Floyd Speck, also of Battery C, and horseshoe pitcher Pfc. Jeo Little of A Battery.

Unit Basketball Teams Ready Season Openers

Presidio intramural basketball is scheduled to get underway about the 17th of November, according to Sports Director Hal Fischer.

Preceding the opening play, a casaba clinic has been slated for 10 November in the Post theater. Open to all coaches, managers and players, it will feature an explanation of the 1958-59 rules by Ernie Felberti of the Northern California Officials' Association.

Tips on offensive basketball by Ross Guidice, assistant coach at University of San Francisco, also is on the program. Mr. Fischer will discuss basketball fundamentals and defensive plays. Following the talks, a movie will be shown on highlights of the 1957-58 season.

The group then will move to Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium for practical demonstrations.

Intramural teams may practice at the Fort Scott gymnasium, but must contact the Presidio Sports Office (3968) to reserve the court.

Letterman Is First Winner Of Military Sports Trophy

Letterman Army Hospital recently became the first recipient of the annual Northern California Military Sports Association trophy.

Since the Association was founded on 10 February 1958 to band area military installations with fewer than 500 military personnel, LAH has amassed 77 points based on final standings in various inter-installation competitions.

The other five teams in the Association finished as follows:

Fairfield Air Force Station, 65; Oakland Army Terminal, 64; Two Rock Ranch Station, 57; Sacramento Signal Depot, 53; and Ft. Mason, 18.

Representatives of each installation held their monthly meeting this week at the Ft. Mason Officers' Open Mess.

Two Tourneys Set

On deck for athletes in the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery this month are two tourneys to determine Battalion representatives in forthcoming San Francisco-Travis badminton and volleyball meets.

Fourth Battalion badminton aces will vie 22 October at Oakland Army Terminal sports arena, and the volleyball matches will be held 28 October at Headquarters Battery.

Top Teams Take 'Magic' Wins Alley Kats, Powder Puffs In

Coincidence ran amok in the Presidio Bowling League this week as the top four teams dumped the bottom four, all by scores of 3 to 1.

The Recruiters and Shatters, tied for first place after five weeks of rolling, beat the sixth-place 60th CI Detachment and the last-place SFAADS, respectively.

High man for the Recruiters was Bolton, with a 199-576; for the Shatters, Opozda with a 191-513. Ogle led his CI teammates with a 190-538 and top man for SFAADS was Wilcox, 150-447.

The runner-up Keystone Kops, behind the 224-577 of C. Mahon, handily beat the seventh-place

Alley Rats. Reinders was top scorer for the losers with 175-517.

The Islanders, led by the 186-526 of Saito, beat the fifth-place King Pins, whose best bowler was Tracy, with 204-531.

In the Bay Bowling League, G1 continued way out in front after besting the Triple Aces, 3-1. The winners' best kegler was Lowe, with 226-605; Blumenfeld, 186-539, was high for the losers.

The second-place JAGS breezed by Sixth Army, 3-1, behind the 181-495 of Hood. Stable's 204-514 was the losers' best effort.

Even though Kiersztian posted a 206-534, his U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters five came out on the short end of a 3-1 decision by the Compt-Rollers. Morgan's 180-515 paced the winners.

MRU and Sixth Army Signal split, 2-2, as respective high men were Gnat, 201-560, and Perham, 220-525.

In the WAC's four-team intra-company league, teams Number Three and Four added a little class to their kegling by coming up with more distinctive names—they are now the Powder Puffs and the Alley Kats.

But, the less chic teams Number One and Two continue to dominate play, the first being in first place with a 14-2 record and the second runner-up with 7-9. The Alley Kats have moved from last place to third, with 6-10, while the Powder Puffs tumbled to the cellar on a 5-11 performance.

Training Group Upsets 99th; Engineers KO Special Services

Intramural six-man touch football here this week was marked by one surprise upset, but in other games the strong leading teams coasted to relatively easy victories.

The upset came in the Engineer League when the injury-riddled USA Training Group dumped the previously un-

The 99th, in another game, reversed the one point decision and bested Hq. 30th Engineers, 13-12.

Ye Old Crystal Ball

As the half way mark in the current Presidio intramural six-man touch football season approaches, local armchair quarterbaks think a prediction on final standings is in order.

So, from the crystal ball here are the readings:

Presidio League—Letterman and Sixth Army are best bets to tie for the crown, though MRU is now sporting a 6-0 record. LAH and Sixth Army met early in the season and fought to a 0-0 standstill, giving them each 4-0-1 records. But, they are both expected to down MRU and battle again in a playoff. Final winner—Sixth Army.

Engineer League—Though last year's champs, the 21st Engineers, are out in front, the Honor Guard should come through for the title. Runners-up, surprisingly, will be the 537th Engineers, with the 21st sliding into the third slot.

The crystal ball hasn't yet picked a Post champion, but a wild guess favors Sixth Army.

ever, both have their records marred by a tie; they fought to a 0-0 deadlock early in the season.

Sixth Army showed real power in overwhelming Hq. U.S.A. Garrison, 26-7. Myron Brumberg scored the first two touchdowns for the victors, one on a 20-yard pass from Joe Gascon and the other on a 32-yard pass interception runback. Brumberg tallied again in the third quarter, and Sixth Army gained its last TD on a pass from Pfc. Jim Lloyd to Pfc. Joe Ferrara. Garrison scored in the second half.

LAH continued to roll by past- points when 2d Lt. McNamara got tagged in the end zone.

MRU had little trouble staying undefeated when it crushed the Teenagers, 39-0. Passes to Pfc. Bill Baxter and 2d Lt. Mike Starling counted for the first two touchdowns; then, in the second quarter, SP4 John Coniglio sped 50 yards for another score. Also in the second quarter, Pfc. Frank Kohler crossed the goal line to make the halftime score, 27-0. Pfc. Kohler tallied again in the third quarter and in the last quarter Pfc. Al Vollmer added the final TD.

Blaik's 'Bazooka' Boys Set For Notre Dame

West Point football coach Earl Blaik hopes that his new mystery offensive formation will pull the wool over the eyes of old rival Notre Dame and reverse last year's close (21-23) loss to the Fightin' Irish when they meet at South Bend tomorrow.

Coach Blaik sprung a surprise on the 1958 football world by replacing his time-tested straight T formation with a perplexing unbalanced line that he last used in 1942.

This year's new look features end Bill Carpenter positioned 15 yards out from either side of the formation, causing opponents to spread out their defensive alignment. As a result of the weakened forward wall of the other team, Army's quarterback can manipulate his line to the advantage of either a running or aerial play.

Both tackles and the flankers are on the strong side of the unbalanced line. Mystery surrounds the flanking end. Although 15 yards from the team and never entering into the huddles, he still seems to know what play is being called and when the pigskin will be hiked.

Bordering on the wide open brand of football, Blaik is concentrating more on deception and faking so that the aerial game can be as effective as the familiar bread-and-butter plays.

West Point downed the Nittney Lions last week.

Scores Presidio Ace

Brig. Gen. R. E. Haines (Ret.) scored a hole-in-one Tuesday at the Presidio Golf Club. He used a 5-iron on the 152-yard sixth hole. Witnesses were three retired colonels, E. V. Smith, H. C. Waterman and S. E. Nortner.

Third Army Mil Districts Consolidated XII, IV Corps

Consolidation of the seven military districts in the Third Army area into two U.S. Army Corps (Res.) was announced this week by the Department of the Army.

The districts of North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia will become the XII Army Corps (Res.) with Headquarters at Atlanta, Ga. The districts of Florida, Alabama and Mississippi will become the IV Army Corps (Res.) with Headquarters at Birmingham, Ala.

The XII Army Corps (Res.) will be commanded by Maj. Gen. Frank S. Bowen, who has been in command of the Georgia Military District since last August and previously served as Chief, Military Assistance Advisory Group, Taiwan.

The Commander of the IV Army Corps (Res.) will be Maj. Gen. Stanhope B. Mason, former Chief of Staff, U.S. Continental Army Command who has commanded the Alabama Military District since last July.

Communists Step Up Radio 'Propaganda' Operations Abroad

Washington (ANS) — Communist China doubled its propaganda broadcasts to Western Europe and Latin America during the first six months of this year, according to U.S. Information Agency reports released this week.

During the same period the Agency said, total Communist broadcasts to the Arab world increased 17 per cent.

The reports also noted a "burst of activity" by Communist clandestine stations which in the past few years have been rather dormant, and pointed out that two new clandestine stations — one broadcasting in Turkish and the other in Greek—have gone on the air.

'Snake' Under Tests

Fort Belvoir, Va. (ANS)—An improved version of the World War II mine clearing "Snake" is being developed by the U. S. Army Engineer Research and Development Laboratories, here, and is undergoing tests by troops in the field. The "Snake" will be towed by tank to a minefield, pushed over the field and detonated to clear the area. One complete "Snake" is over 400 feet long.

ALMC's Fourth Year

Fort Lee, Va. (ANS) — The Army Logistics Management Center, here, will celebrate Founders Day with a banquet on the eve of its fourth birthday—11 October. The center now puts approximately 2,000 students a year through supply management paces, stressing that it is their job to "Manage our resources wisely."

Army Hour Series

Washington (ANS)—The Army Hour will present a special program dedicated to the 40th anniversary of World War I's Armistice, scheduled to be broadcast over the Mutual Network 11 November. Advanced reviews indicate this will be one of the finest shows produced in the Army Hour series. The program is a tribute to Army Veterans of World War I.

18th Birthday Fete

Fort Knox, Ky. (ANS) — The U.S. Army Armor School celebrated its 18th birthday 1 October. Since its founding, nearly 161,000 officers and enlisted men have been graduated from its courses of instruction.

New Lightweight Nav System Sent To AEPG Testing

The first of ten new lightweight automatic navigational systems for Army planes was delivered to Ft. Huachuca recently for testing by the Aviation Department of the U.S. Army Electronic Proving Ground.

The new system, based on the Doppler radar for ground scanning, continually scans the ground over which the plane is flying and the information obtained is computed to determine ground speed, drift angle, and present position.

This new type self-contained inertial navigator weighs approximately 65 pounds. Its anticipated accuracy is expected to be within three to five miles from the predetermined destination after one hour of flight under the worst conditions and with no corrections introduced during such flights.

Army Lets Million Dollar Contract As Zeus Moves Ahead

A $135,000,000 research and development contract award to the Western Electric Company of New York will continue the rapid development of the Nike Zeus Anti-missile missile system, the Department of the Army announced this week.

The Nike Zeus will be a third generation surface-to-air missile system designed to give the United States an anti-missile defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles armed with nuclear warheads.

Approximately $21,000,000 of the contract is earmarked specifically for research and development while the remainder is primarily for procurement of experimental supporting equipment and missiles.

Latest Radiological Control Center Team Idea Gets Green Light

Fort McClellan, Ala. (ANS)—A small team-type organization called the Radiological Control Center has been developed by the U.S. Army Chemical Corps School here to plot and predict radioactive fallout and to evaluate radiological monitoring and survey data in a combat zone.

Announced this week by the Army, the units — called "RADC's"—will be composed of one officer and four enlisted men, and will be established at Field Army, Corps, and Division levels.

Functioning with speed, accuracy and skill, each unit will predict fallout from enemy weapons, as well as evaluate and disseminate radiological data for its area based on readings taken and reported by ground and aerial monitors.

Chaplain To Retire

Washington (ANS) — Chaplain (Major General) Patrick J. Ryan, Chief of Army Chaplains, will retire 31 October. He will be succeeded by Chaplain (Brigadier General) Frank A. Tobey, who will be promoted to Major General.

Too Much Starch!

Fort Jackson, S. C. (ANS)—One of the troops here had a good (?) excuse for missing reveille recently. According to the Jackson Journal, the trooper had too much starch in his pants and couldn't button them in time to make the formation. "At least," reports the newspaper, "his trousers were standing tall, even if he wasn't!"

Nike Safeguard Group Set

A committee appointed by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker had its first meeting this week to review safeguards at Army Air defense sites.

The itinerary of the group included inspections and briefings at Field Command of the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project at Sandia Base near Albuquerque, N. M.; the U.S. Army Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo.; and the Davidsonville Nike Hercules site at Maryland. Following their tour, the committee met in sessions at the Pentagon.

Members of the committee are: Clifford E. Hood, president of the U.S. Steel Corporation, Chairman; Charles A. Cary, former vice-president and now member of the board of directors, DuPont de Nemours Company; Dr. Charles G. Lauritsen, professor of physics, California Institute of Technology; Dr. William Yant, director of research, Mine Safety Appliance Corporation; and Milton Karr, assistant chief engineer, Consolidated Western Steel Division, U.S. Steel Corporation, Technical Advisor to the committee.

New 2nd Bn., 51st Arty.

Inherits Colorful Unit History

The 9th AAA Missile Battalion has been redesignated the 2d Bn., 51st Arty., and with this change of name goes a colorful history.

The Ninth came into the San Francisco scene in 1951 with the 120mm gun as its primary weapon. It occupied such well known landmarks as Fort Scott, the Olympic Club, and parts of Golden Gate Park.

On 1 October 1954 the Ninth Antiaircraft Battalion was redesignated the Ninth Antiaircraft Artillery Missile Battalion and became the second Anti-aircraft Battalion in the San Francisco defense to be equipped with the Nike guided missile.

Although the Ninth Missile Battalion has ceased to exist as an active Army unit, the men of the old Ninth will still be performing their around-the-clock air defense mission. The new redesignation is part of the Department of the Army's policy of redesignating units under the Combat Army Regimental System. This is done in an effort to perpetuate the glories and tradition of the old artillery regiments and give the new Army a sense of continuity and linkage to the history of the

ARADCOM Plans 'Red Carpet' Treatment For New Personnel

A newly-launched "red carpet" reception for incoming 6th Region USARADCOM officer and enlisted personnel and their families is being initiated by the regional headquarters, Fort Baker, this week.

The welcome mat treatment includes appointment of a headquarters sponsor who will write an informal letter to the newly-assigned family member, inviting his advance request for advice and information relative to his new post. This communication is to be submitted the same time as an official letter of welcome sent out by the Command section.

Other duties of the sponsor include making reservations for billets, establishing time of arrival and mode of travel, and meeting the incoming family on arrival.

Section chiefs are to allow time for the sponsor to assist in arranging for living quarters for the family (Government, Wherry, or Civilian), and to escort the assignee to his new place of duty during the initial visit. Information concerning mess halls, schools, medical care, PX and Commissary, transportation, engineer, and Finance will also be provided by the sponsor, as well as procedure on securing Bridge passes, laundry and dry cleaning, theaters, PX service stations, domestic help, auto registration, pet registration, and recreational facilities.

Clarke Talk Expected To Be Key Highlight At AUSA Meeting

Washington (ANS) — General Bruce Clarke, the former Commanding General of the Seventh Army in Europe and now the Commanding General of the United States Continental Army Command at Fort Monroe, Va., will deliver one of the principal addresses at the Annual Meeting of the Association of the United States Army, in Washington, D.C., 20 to 22 October.

Speaking on "STRAC — The Army's Capabilities for Limited War," General Clarke's presentation will perhaps, because of World conditions today, be the most timely talk on the program. It is expected to be widely quoted in the civilian press and reprinted in detail in the December issue of the Association's magazine, Army.

ARMY POWER—KEY TO PEACE

"HERE'S MY FAIR SHARE," says Charles D. Palmer III to Sasha Varakin, United Bay Area Crusade poster girl. "Choppy" is the three and one-half year old son of Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Charles D. Palmer, commanding general of the Sixth U.S. Army and chairman of the military section of UBAC. Following an abbreviated

"Come-See" tour at the Community Children's Nursery, a Crusade-supported day home that cares for some 45 children, including Sasha, from 17 different nationalities. "Choppy" handed Sasha a check drawn on the resources of his own piggy bank.

UBAC Drive Lagging To Date Urge Keymen Step Up Returns

With only 15 days remaining in the UBAC campaign, Army contributions in the Bay Area are still far behind the anticipated goal.

At a meeting for keymen held this week, Col. H. M. Brown, Presidio campaign chairman, reminded the solicitors to stress in their section campaigns that although pledges should be made before the close of the crusade, 31 October, payments may be made at convenient intervals any time thereafter.

Everyone is asked to give, but it is particularly hoped that everyone will give his fair share, or one day's pay. That way, and only that way, will the goal of 100% potential be reached.

Of the more than 250 participating agencies in the Bay Area, several are known to be of direct and specific benefit to the military.

In 1958, it is expected that the Legal Aid Society caseload will reach 6,000. A conservative estimate is that 20 servicemen apply directly to the Society each month and that 50 dependents or families of servicemen apply monthly. Legal problems of the men or their dependents are often complicated and include delinquency in payments, installment contracts, notes on loans, sales contracts, and divorce contracts.

At the Northern California Service League approximately 44% of the general caseload are servicemen.

The International Institute estimates that annually about 200 military personnel or their dependents receive service. Foreign born wives are referred to the Institute for the services offered which include marriage counseling, help in interpretation, learning how to market, and assistance in getting children placed in schools.

During the last year, nine young women known to have military service connections were accepted for care at the Florence Crittenton Home. Plans for the women were made by the military in conjunction with the Crittenton Home prior to their discharge.

There is always someone who benefits from UBAC. It is hoped that in the few remaining days the spirit which has moved some sections to give 100% participation and 100% potential will pervade into all the military installations of the Bay Area and the goal . . . one day's pay . . . per person will be accomplished.

Listed below are those staff sections which have scored the highest to date:

He Needed Help

Homemaker Proves Life Saver

There is a couple at the Oakland Army Transportation Center—we'll call them the Greens—who really know what Crusade help means.

"We were up a tree and had no one to turn to except the Crusade," Jim Green says. Jim is a civilian employee at the Transportation Center. And one day he found himself in sole charge of a house and five small children. Something had gone wrong during his wife Nancy's pregnancy, and she'd have to be in the hospital a few weeks, the doctor said.

Jim couldn't possibly take off work, and they had no relatives or friends to call on. So he went to a parish priest, who telephoned Catholic Social Service. Immediately Catholic Social Service sent out a trained homemaker. And she gathered up all the loose ends—cleaned house, shopped, cooked and got the family's clothes in order. Even more important, she comforted and mothered the five little ones.

"She even finished up our new baby's layette and some curtains I was making. And still she found time to play with the children," Mrs. Green recalls.

It was a long pull for the family,

Army Plans To Start Pro Pay in November

Washington (AFPS)—An interim plan with a November target date has been set by the Army to start proficiency payments to 7,000 soldiers in top priority military occupational specialties.

The interim plan governs awards between November, 1958, and February 1959. The first will go into critical skill fields arranged in order of priority.

Payments under the long range plan will start 1 March, 1959. A total of 28,800 individuals will be authorized pro pay by 30 June, 1959.

Selection of personnel to receive pro pay under the interim plan will be on a best qualified basis, the Army said, and go to about 50 per cent of those eligible in a critical specialty.

Balance of the payment schedules in these specialties will be spread out between March 1959 and 30 June 1959. The extra pay will go to enlisted men whose eligibility has been established as a result of skill tests given under the Enlisted Evaluation System (EES).

Those receiving pro pay in the interim plan must qualify under the provisions of EES when that system goes into effect, the Army said.

The first proficiency tests under EES will begin in January 1959. Those who establish eligibility as a result of the exam will begin receiving payments in March 1959.

With few exceptions, the Army said, all enlisted specialties will ultimately be included in the proficiency pay program.

The long-range proficiency pay plan will cover a four year period. The Army said additional skills will be incorporated into the program in order of specialty priority.

The United Bay Area Crusade unites five counties' community health and welfare drives. That means you can give where you work and still help people where you live.

3 AADC Units Hit 100% In Bay Crusade Campaign

Fort Baker, Calif.—Three units of the San Francisco Defense, 6th Region Army Air Defense Command, have turned in 100% of their potential in the United Bay Area Crusade, according to reports received here.

Headquarters and Headquarters Battery of the 4th Battalion, 61st Artillery, Fort Scott, San Francisco County, Headquarters and Headquarters Battery of the 2nd Battalion, 51st Artillery, Fort Baker, Marin County, and Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 4th Battalion, 67th Artillery, Berkeley, Alameda County, are all well in excess of their quota.

Lieutenant Colonel Calvin B. Leek, UBAC Chairman for the Bay Area Army Nike command, reported that the Army air defense units were already well above

50% of potential at the half-way mark in the campaign. Some units were already over their quotas. Reports have been based on cash turned in.

Officers concerned in the Army Nike units participating in the crusade state that they will hit their top potential by the close of the campaign which extends through the October 31st payday.

The Greens had never asked for help before. And they were determined to repay Catholic Social Service, at least in part. "But we took only a token payment and convinced them that they shouldn't bankrupt themselves," a CSS counselor said.

United Crusade spends the largest part of its budget on services for families and children. And Crusade helped pay the Green's homemaker.

Hawk Here

destroy invaders even at tree top level. The Hawk's unique radar system makes it possible for the first time for a missile to pick out the reflection from a moving target at low altitude—in the blind zone of conventional radar—from a mass of signals reflected from ground objects such as hills, buildings and tree tops.

It is the first missile in mobile field use to employ these advanced radars successfully and, as a result, the first with superior very low altitude capability. Its extreme mobility and simplicity make it the most versatile surface-to-air missile available. Units of the system, including launcher, loader and missiles, can be quickly airlifted. It can be transported on highways, using a minimum of vehicles, by helicopter and aircraft.

Hawk missiles will not be fired from their on-site positions except in the event of enemy air attack.

Site selections for emplacement of Hawk weapons have been initiated in New York City and the Washington-Baltimore areas. In addition to site selections being conducted on the West Coast in the San Francisco area, other surveys will take place in the Los Angeles, Long Beach, and Seattle-Tacoma areas.

Research and development studies were begun on the Hawk in June, 1954, by an Army-Industry team, including U.S. Army Ordnance Corps and Raytheon Manufacturing Company.

recent tests at the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico. The Hawk is capable of carrying modern warheads and destroying attacking planes at low altitudes.

Site Selection For New Missiles To Start Soon

The versatile Army Hawk surface-to-air missile has been ordered to the Bay Area for defense duty.

Within the next fortnight, experts will begin selecting sites for the low-altitude capability missile, according to a joint announcement this week by Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army and Major General E. J. McGaw, Commanding General, 6th Region, Army Air Defense Command.

Hawk, Homing All the Way Killer, is considered a key defender of American cities. A versatile air defense missile system designed to provide a very low-altitude capability, it will complement the defense against high-altitude air attack provided by the Army's Nike system.

Hawk sites will be selected on the basis of least disruption to the local economy and community. In choosing possible sites, representatives of the Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters emphasized the fact that the Department of Army policy is to use the least amount of land for the Hawk installations.

Final determination of the exact locations will not be made until necessary surveys have been completed and approved by the Department of the Army in Washington.

Only enough acreage necessary to emplace, operate, and administer the Hawk system and to afford adequate safety protection will be acquired. Land requirements for a typical Hawk battery consist of about 50 acres in easement and 12 acres in fee. These figures may vary depending upon terrain, safety factors, utilities and access roads.

Where possible, the Hawk sites will be placed on Federal, state and county-owned land.

Safety is a prime consideration in the establishment of a Hawk site. The Army has incorporated the experience gained over the past five years with Nike air defense sites, in planning the Hawk sites, according to General McGaw.

The troops who man the Hawk installations will be highly skilled and qualified personnel. A high percentage of them will be electronic specialists who have had about 10 months' special training at the U.S. Army Air Defense School at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Dependent upon the requirement of the defended locality, typical Hawk deployment will consist of six launchers, with each launcher holding three missiles. Hawk is about 16 feet long and 14 inches in diameter and uses a solid-fuel propellant.

The Hawk system uses guidance techniques unusually successful in hunting down and destroying the attacker. Its radar "eye" ignores stationary objects, but speeds instantly toward a threatening moving aerial target. The missile has outstanding ability to seek out and

Sixth Army Urges Renewed Vigor In Polio Campaign

Only one person under the jurisdiction of Sixth U.S. Army has been a victim of polio since the inception of the highly successful Spring vaccination campaign.

In a recent letter to the installation commanders, Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, noted that the Salk inoculation program "has been more successful than any other similar military or civilian effort."

"Each of us," he continued, "can be proud of his command's participation. This Army has been spared the ravages of poliomyelitis during the past summer. There has been but one case in an unimmunized dependent child in the entire command."

But, Maj. Gen. Binns said it is important that each station make further positive effort to complete the immunizations previously begun and cautioned that the least well immunized group is that of preschool age children.

"The goal at this time," Maj. Gen. Binns concluded, "is 100 per cent protection against poliomyelitis for all military personnel and their dependents in this command."

A report this week by the Presidio Surgeon revealed that from 1 March through 30 September approximately 2,819 polio injections were administered to military personnel here—1,314 first injections, 978 second injections and 527 third injections. However, only about 31.6 per cent of Post military personnel under age 40 have been inoculated twice.

During the same period approximately 2,850 inoculations were administered to military dependents—1,123 to adults, 1,727 to children.

To attain 100 per cent participation

AADC Has Shortage In Major, Warrant Officer Personnel

The United States Army Air Defense Command has announced that shortages still exist within guided missile units throughout the command for personnel in the grades of major and warrant officer.

Presently the command is short 86 majors with Military Occupation Specialty (MOS) 1181, and 61 warrant officers with MOS 1182.

Department of the Army has announced that transfers to fill these vacancies from overstrength grades in various branches are being encouraged. Qualification for transfer to the Artillery is an acceptable military record and an adequate mathematical background.

Army AG To Retire

Washington (ANS)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker announced this week that the Army's Adjutant General, Major General Herbert M. Jones, will retire 31 October, and will be succeeded by Major General Robert V. Lee, now the Deputy Adjutant General.

Annual Reserve Confab Will Start Here Today

Presidio will host the Sixth U.S. Army's annual Reserve Forces Conference which will open this morning at the Ft. Scott branch of the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

Expected to attend are 23 general officers on active duty and in reserve status who are integral in National Guard representatives can iron out mutual problems in connection with annual active duty for training during the current fiscal year.

In addition, such training in Fiscal Year 1958 will be reviewed. Following is the agenda: Friday—0800 to 1130, National Guard Conference; 1300 to 1630, Joint National Guard and Army Reserve Conference. Saturday—0800 to 1130, Army Reserve Conference.

The conference, which will be held all day today and tomorrow morning, will be primarily a coordination meeting in which Sixth Army staff section chiefs and National Guard and Army Reserve

Former Executive Officer Now Commanding Presidio

Colonel Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Executive Officer since 1 February, has been named Commanding Officer of the Presidio. He succeeds Col. Charles G. Rau, who left for Ft. Ord last week.

Col. Ratliff came to the Presidio from Korea where he had served as Executive Officer of 7th Division Artillery and Chief, Operations and Training Division, G3, Eighth Army.

Prior to his Far East tour, he was a Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Arkansas State College.

During World War II, Col. Ratliff served as G2 in the China-India-Burma Theater and as Liaison Officer with the British 14th Army and S3 of the Intermediate Section.

Other assignments have included Staff and Faculty, Artillery School, Ft. Sill, Okla., and duties in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, War Department General Staff, Washington, D.C.

Col. Ratliff holds an A.B. and LL.B. from the University of Oklahoma and entered the Regular Army as an honor graduate in 1933. He also is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School and the Artillery Officers' Advanced Course.

His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal.

He and his wife, Ann, reside on Post with their three sons, Frank, Robert and John.

Holdout Signs Up!

Holdout Bill Blank finally signed up. Bill, who has consistently refused to ink the dotted line since he got his contract on 22 September, slid in just 13 days under the deadline.

His agent told us Bill's big objection was that he was being asked to give up too much. "But, I had a long talk with Bill and showed him how he would wreck a high scoring team if he stayed away."

"The squad's big enough without me," grumbled Bill. "They'd never miss me."

"I had a heck of a time then," the agent confided.

"Finally, the only way I could get him to grab his pen was to hammer home that he didn't have to give up very much—only his fair share."

"And the clincher was that he could spread his loss over as much as a whole year if he wanted to."

Are you on the UBAC team with Bill? If so, don't be a holdout—sign your contract today!

Pressing Your Luck?

A polio inoculation only costs if you don't get one.

Five mornings a week Presidio medics are ready to make the painless injection that may prevent your being crippled for life—and it's absolutely free.

Only one case of polio was reported in Sixth U.S. Army this past summer, but that was probably a matter of luck.

For example, here at the Presidio only about 30 per cent of the military personnel under 40 have taken advantage of the Salk saver.

Throughout the Sixth Army, inoculations of the worst danger group—pre-school age children—lags way behind the desired rate.

That short walk from your quarters or your office to the Post Dispensary could keep you on your feet for the rest of your life.

United Nations Day

Thirteen is not always an unlucky number. Oct. 24 this year marks the 13th birthday of the United Nations; a date that has an intimate meaning for all men and women in the Armed Forces.

On the future growth and vitality of the U.N. rests the world's best hope for peace. It's as simple as that.

The U.N. has its critics. Probably it always will have. Some of them are sincere patriots like the "isolationists" of the 1930s. Others would belittle and sabotage the organization for ulterior motives.

But however much they snipe at its aims and methods, they cannot be blind to its steady growth. The U.N., which had 51 member nations in 1945, has 81 today.

The goal of the U.N. has never wavered: to maintain international peace and security. Since the founding of the U.N., the world has seen the development of new weapons that, in the awfulness of their destructive power, could make WWII the end of civilization.

So it becomes the mission of the U.N. to find a way—in the words of President Eisenhower—"by which the miraculous inventiveness of man shall not be dedicated to his death, but consecrated to his life."

It stands for a world governed by men of good will. (AFPS)

'Potomac Post' Study

Army Wives Council Meet Pushed Forward Two Weeks

Washington—The next meeting of representatives to the Army Wives' Council, originally set for 5 November, will instead be held on 19 November, according to an announcement made by the Council president, Mrs. Hoy D. Davis, Jr. It will be conducted at Patton Hall, Fort Myer, Virginia, at 10 a.m.

Meanwhile, members of the Potomac Post Committee are working out the details of a proposed charter, which will be presented to the Council's representatives at the November meeting. Council representatives are in the interim surveying the thousands of members of the some 40 affiliated clubs for their opinions and suggestions on the Potomac Post.

"Potomac Post" is the tentative name for a combined apartment town club and home with nursing care which it is proposed to establish in the Washington area. The home would serve widows and unmarried daughters of deceased Army officers; the apartments and other "town club" services would additionally be available to retired Army couples and wives and daughters of all Army officers.

The committee, whose membership is equally divided between Council members and non-members, is studying the details entailed in drawing up a charter that will result in a non-profit corporation to operate Potomac Post, which it is hoped will also be declared tax free.

Although the establishment of Potomac Post is still in the study and proposal stage, an encouragingly large number of small individual donations to help in the defrayment of initial administrative expenses are already being received by Army Wives' Council, National Executive Office, Box 9608, Washington 16, D.C. Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor, honorary president of the AWC, is receiving mail from all over the world encouraging her to continue her efforts for this project.

To kids in Scouts, boys' clubs, the Y's and youth centers, these United Crusade programs are something to do for fun. But adults agree that growth of character goes hand in hand with the fund and companionship.

Employee Code Approved

A ten-point code of ethics to govern the conduct of employees and officials of the Federal Government has been recently approved by Congress. Supporters of the resolution believe it will set a moral pattern of conduct for individuals on the Federal payroll in all branches of the Government.

The Code provides that any person in Government should:

- Put loyalty to the highest moral principles and country above loyalty to persons, party or Government department.
- Uphold the Constitution, laws, and legal regulations of the United States, and of all governments therein and never be a party to their evasion.
- Give a full day's labor for a full day's pay—giving to the performance of his duties his earnest effort and best thought.
- Seek to find and employ more efficient economical ways of getting jobs accomplished.
- Never discriminate unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges to anyone, whether for remuneration or not; and never accept for himself or his family, favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of his governmental duties.
- Make no private promises of any kind, binding upon the duties of office, since a Government employee has no private word which can be binding upon public duty.
- Engage in no business with the Government which, either directly or indirectly, is inconsistent with the conscientious performance of governmental duties.
- Never use any information coming to him confidentially in the performance of governmental duties as a means of making private profit.
- Expose corruption wherever discovered.
- Uphold these principles, ever conscious that public office is a public trust.

what they said

When Polonius asked Hamlet what he was reading, the young prince answered, "Words, words, words." We like Hamlet, daily read words. A word is a group of letters. It only becomes something when there is a concomitant thought. When there are many words, we have a book. If there is a good thought in the book, our minds are affected. All of which led us to ask this week:

The Question: What book has had the most profound influence and effect on your life?

ANSWERS:

Elizabeth de la Torre, Service Club Director: I've read so many books, it's hard to say. I don't think any one book has had that much influence on my life. It depends upon what I was studying or doing at the time. A book might currently influence me, but then I change. Books that generally tend to interest me and temporarily influence my thinking are books that go into a study of personal relationships, for example, sociology books. One book I reread is Father Keller's book on the Christians. You might call it a book on positive thinking or looking for the good. I used to read five or six books a week, but they were never fiction books.

Col. C. A. Schrader, Comptroller, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army: I'd say the New Testament has had the most profound influence on me. Like most people, you don't read it until you're scared and need spiritual help. I read the New Testament for the first time when I was in Guadalcanal. I was pretty scared at that time, and I got a lot out of it. The spiritual guidance I received from the New Testament made me certainly more confident and satisfied with my life at the time. Everyone was filled with doubt and uncertainty about how long we'd be away from home, when we would return home, if ever. That was when I read the New Testament.

Pfc. Donald Topliff, Sixth Army, AGP: You asked the wrong person! I can count the number of books I've read on one hand. I've worked two jobs all my life and done very little reading. I haven't done any because I'd rather play baseball. Yes, I agree. I suppose people can be influenced by books . . . especially people with imagination who get more involved. I think people influence me more than books. Certain people's experience, their way of life will influence. I find people much more interesting than books. That's why I like being a salesman.

Pfc. Dennis Peterson, Chaplain Assistant: Well, I guess in the long run, I imagine the Bible has had the most actual influence in my life. I come from quite a religious family and the Bible always played an important part in all our activities. I was a missionary in Sweden for two years, and of course the Bible was the weapon of our faith. That book was a constant companion.

Titans Battle; LAH Nudges MRU

KERSPLAASH! 2d Lt. Phineas Morrill makes like a big bird as he demonstrates the form he hopes will capture springboard honors in today's meet at Letterman pool between his San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command natadors and the visiting mermen from Seattle's 31st Artillery Brigade. 2d Lt. Morrill, three year center back on the West Point water polo team, also will compete in the 200-yard breast stroke and the 100-yard back stroke. When not in the pool, he is a Launcher Platoon Leader in Battery B, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery.

SF-Travis Swim Meet Sets Finals Tests Today

San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command natadors today will wind up a two day swimming meet with Seattle's 31st Artillery Brigade to determine which team will meet the 47th Artillery Brigade from Los Angeles in the second annual 6th ARADCOM swimming and diving championships.

The 6th ARADCOM finals will begin Tuesday at the Hacienda Hotel pool in San Pedro, Calif., and run through Friday. The Los Angeles team, as defending champion, is hosting the four-day meet.

Carrying the hopes of the local missilemen in yesterday's and today's competition in the Letterman Army Hospital pool are:

100 yard freestyle—Pvt. Charles Scheich, C Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Art., and Pfc. James Triolo, C Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Art.; 200 yard freestyle, Sp5 Joseph Keyes, A Btry., 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Art., and Pfc. Triolo.

Members of the San Francisco-Travis team were selected after local competitive meets Monday and Tuesday at the Letterman pool.

LAH WACs Meet On Tuesday

Letterman Army Hospital WAC basketballers, fielding their first team in the Women's Interservice Recreational League, will open regular play 21 October at Mather Air Force Base.

At present, none of the 12 girls on the squad have been assigned positions or named to the starting lineup. Coach Sgt. Mike Hogan, assisted by player-manager Sgt. Sp4 Mahaney is not expected to be on the court for another six to eight weeks, because of a severe ankle sprain.

Set Giant Keg Fest To Select Post Team

Presidio and Ft. Scott bowling alleys will be the setting this weekend and next for an 18-game elimination roll-off to select a seven-man team to represent the Post in the newly-formed Bay Area Armed Forces League (bowling).

Local keggers may vie for the team spots by signing up with Sfc. Donald Andresen (2208), MRU.

The dual sessions tomorrow and Sunday, as well as next Saturday and Sunday, will begin at both alleys at 1300.

No schedule has yet been set, but it is expected to be firm up at the next League meeting, 3 November at Travis Air Force Base.

Sfc. Andresen, who represented the Presidio at the last session, recommended to post representatives that keggers bowl six games every two weeks against the various installations because of the distances involved. Another plan would call for weekly competition of only three games.

Bad Day (For Ducks) As Army Deadeyes Take Rodeo Lagoon

Duck season got off with a bang here Saturday as four Presidians reported kills at the Special Service blinds in Rodeo Lagoon, near Ft. Cronkhite.

Best individual bag was a mallard drake and a widegeon knocked down by Maj. William J. Suenkel of Sixth Army AG Section.

Two Letterman Army Hospital officers, Capt. Walter L. Pelham and Capt. Robert Neill, dropped two mallards while firing from the same blind but are not sure just who got what.

Sfc. Fred Coleman of the Presidio QM Parachute Maintenance shop killed one mallard.

Blinds may be reserved through the Post Sports Office (Ext. 3968).

McNamara's Extra Point Toss Is Winning Margin

By Sp4 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Last week's Star Presidian Sports Editor prediction that Letterman Army Hospital six-man football squad would dethrone previously unbeaten, untied MRU came true as the medics turned on a third quarter drive to edge the game machine men, 7-6.

LAH quarterback 2d Lt. Bob McNamara unleashed two big passes which counted in the scoring. His first, during the first half, was intercepted by MRU for the initial tally of the game.

The LAH win pushed them into a very precarious first place with 6-0-1. Sixth Army, favored to win the Presidio League crown, is hot on their heels with a 5-0-1.

Sixth Army this week buried the Teenagers, 63-6. But, not without an opening surprise. On the first play of the game Teenager quarterback Jan Londahl rifled a 40-yard TD pass to Marvin Lupo past an overconfident Sixth Army defense. After that, it was an entirely Sixth Army show, with Pfc. Billy Logan crossing the goal line three times and Pfc. John Andre, Pvt. Oliver Baker and Pfc. Robert Scott each scoring two. Eight of nine extra points counted.

Earlier, Sixth Army also swamped C Company, U.S.A. Garrison, 41-7. The winners led 27-0 at halftime. In the scoring parade, the following accounted for the tallies: Pfc. Myron Bromberg (3), Pvt. Bill Chapman (1), Pvt. Jan Lloyd (1) and Sp4 Ken Reynolds (1).

Highlight of next week's play will be Monday's clash between MRU and Sixth Army.

Over in the Engineer League, the 537th Engineer Company did not make a liar out of the ouioui board when it stomped Headquarters Company, 30th Engineer Battalion, 35-6, and then edged U.S.A. Training Group, 13-12. Last week, this writer picked the 537th to finish second behind the Honor Guard.

In the first game, quarterback Sp4 Frank Zamora flipped four TD passes and in the final quarter sprinted 15 yards for another score. Sp4 Zamora hit Sp4 Arnold Wickham with a 30-yarder to tie the score in the first quarter after Headquarters crossed the goal early in the game.

Four Presidio Fencers Win Mex-Cal Berths

Four Presidio-Letterman Army Hospital fencers gained half of the 12 team slots in saber and epee for the November international tournament between California and Mexico to be held in Mexico City.

Tomorrow at 2000 at LAH gym, eliminations to select three foils team members and three alternates will be held.

Local fencers took third, fourth and fifth places in saber matches last Friday at the LAH gym, with Col. Laurence H. Brownlee, M/Sgt. Severol Pasol and coach William O'Brien scoring in that order.

In epee, last Sunday, Ed Purdy's second place was tops for the locals, while M/Sgt. Pasol took third and Col. Brownlee was sixth.

M/Sgt. Sheck and Sp4 Beaver also competed in saber but were eliminated in the preliminaries.

The infield baseball "diamond" actually is a square.

Pfc. Dan Marcus was the other half of a 50-yard TD play and Pfc. Wayne Collins added the third first half tally on a 40-yard pass. Sp4 Zamora then hit Pfc. Bob Keim in the third quarter and legged it for the final TD in the fourth quarter.

Margin of victory for the 537th over Training Group was a single extra point and the final gun when Training Group was on its 1-foot line. Pfc. Joe Savoldi got things started for Training Group when he rifled a 60-yard TD pass. The 537th's Sp4 Wickham tied it up by returning a kick off 80 yards for a score. Sp4 Zamora's pass to Sp4 Wickham netted the extra point and a 7-6 lead.

Training Group bounced back in the second quarter when Pfc. Savoldi scored on a 30-yard pass and added the single point. The Zamora - Wickham team went to work again and clicked on a 60-yard pass play to tie it up and Sp4 Zamora then tossed the extra point.

In other Engineer League action, the newcomer 194th Ordnance bowed to XV Corps, 19-2, in its debut. The winners scored in each quarter except the third and the 194th's lone two-point safety came in the third.

Favored To Garner Pentathlon Honors

The United States pentathlon squad, an all-soldier quartet, will carry America's hopes for the international title when they vie Sunday at Aldershot, England, in the world championships.

The four men, all stationed in Texas, are 1st Lt. Jack T. Daniels of Missoula, Mont.; M/Sgt. Richard G. Ellis of Attleboro, Mass.; Cpl. Richard M. Stoll of Minneapolis, Minn.; and Pfc. Leslie F. Bleamaster of Downey, Calif.

Headquarters Keglers Tie For Top In Pac Play

The new Pacific Winter Bowling League got off to a fast start this week as Sixth Army Headquarters teams No. 2 and 3 both blanked their opponents and pushed them into a first place tie after the first week of rolling.

Team No. 2, behind the 179-483 of Millner, whipped the Retorts, 4-0. High man for the losers was Lapiana, with 142-407. The No. 3 team beat the Missileers, 4-0, while Browning posted a 224-535. Leading the Missileers was Swingle's 172-425.

Toreros Loaded; Fischer Predicts Title Sweep

Says Balance, Speed, Power Should Blast Military Foes

Balance, speed and experience are components of the "loaded" 1958-59 Presidio Torero quintet which coach Hal Fischer predicts will sweep all area Interservice basketball honors.

Here is the squad which Fischer said "definitely should beat all area Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard competition if it stays together all season":

- Pfc. John Vesevick, 25, of MRU—6'4½" hard driving center who has been named team captain. Formerly played for North Idaho Junior College and University of Oregon. Only veteran of last year's team, on which he was top rebounder.

- 2d Lt. Ed Fine, 25, Presidio Pharmacy Officer—6'5" forward and rebounder from University of Montana. Good defensive player.

- Pfc. John Perry, 21, of Honor Guard—6' fast break artist from San Jose State College.

- Pfc. Frank Zechel, 23, of 16th BPO—6' forward with good one-handed set shot from Carroll College, Wis.

- 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho, 24, of 30th Arty. Gp.—6'5½" 230-pound all-Pacific Coast every-position player from University of San Francisco. High scorer while at USF and expected to furnish scoring punch for Toreros. Has grace and speed of little man.

- Pfc. Joe Gascon, 19, of Sixth Army Hq. Co. — 5'11" guard specializing in jump shot. Played last year for East Los Angeles Junior College.

- Pfc. Mike Diaz, 23, of Hq. 30th Engr. Gp.—6' former University of California guard and Northern California all-Star while in high school. Has good jump shot.

- Pvt. Harry Lux, 24, of 30th Arty. Gp.—5'9" guard from Michigan State who was all-Michigan in high school. Hard driving floor man.

- Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe, 23, of MRU—6'5" all-American honorable mention from University of Connecticut who was third draft choice of New York Knickerbockers. Has good jump shot and is good rebounder.

- Pfc. Joe Savoldi, 22, of U.S.A. Tng. Gp.—6'5" 245-pounder who gained fame as Michigan State decathlon and hurdles star. Is team "muscleman" and a good rebounder.

- Sp4 Tom Timmons, 20, of 16th BPO—6'6" former Army player in Far East.

SS Quintet Leads Intramural Play In LAH League

Special Services continued to dominate Letterman Army Hospital intramural basketball play this week by dumping the Adjutants, 29-20, in a practice tilt and edging the Teenagers, 32-25.

In other league action, the runner-up Adjutants squeaked past the Interns, 33-30, as Pfc. Joe Borennies paced the winners with 14, matching the performance of Intern 2d Lt. John Myers. Earlier, 2d Lt. Myers' 18 markers led the Interns to a 39-32 win over Surgery.

Shuffleboard Doubles Title To 67th Arty.; Singles Go To Seattle

Local missileer shuffleboard stickmen copped the 6th ARADCOM doubles title here last week but all the singles honors went to visitors from Los Angeles and Seattle.

Winning doubles combination was Sp4 T. J. Robinson, supply clerk with B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, and Sp4 William S. Godsey, fire panel operator from C Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery.

Dennis Tops League Play High Game On Two Teams

The front-running Recruiters in the Presidio Bowling League this week relied on the pin-topping of Burmeister, with 202-533, to down the third-place Keystone Kops, 3-1. Top man for the Kops was Beveridge, 204-555.

The Islanders, tied for third with the Kops, coasted to an easy 4-0 victory over the hapless, cellar-dwelling SFAADS keglers. Saito's 188-538 paced the winners, while Wilcox's 167-536 was the best effort for SFAADS.

The Alley Rats pulled to a fifth-place tie with 60th CI Detachment by dumping the Intelligence men, 3-1. Havrilla led the way for the winners with 199-538; Ogle's 182-480 paced the losers.

Dennis' high game and series for the League this week, 213-580, only aided his King Pins teammates in earning a 2-2 split decision with the runner-up Shalters. High man for the Shalters was Du-Bois, 203-528. Over in the Bay League, G1 stayed out in front by besting the last-place Sixth Army Headquarters Company keglers, 3-1. Allison posted a 209-536 to pace the victors, while Stabile's 181-508 was high for Sixth Army.

Also in the Bay League this week, top bowler was Dennis, whose 232-593 led third-place MRU to a 3-1 win over the fourth-place Comptrollers. Marlow, with 191-496, was high for the losers.

By belting the Triple Aces, 4-0, the second-place JAGS knocked the losers into a two-way tie with Garrison for the fifth spot. Pacing the JAGS was Burman, 205-528; the Triple Aces, Blumenfeld, 179-506.

Garrison, meanwhile, dropped the sixth-place Sixth Army Signaleers, 3-1, behind the 221-567 of Mahon. For the Signal five, high man was Perham, 200-484.

"A BRAS OUVERTS" (With Open Arms) might be an apt title for this muscular ballet. Rising gracefully to defend against an unidentified Oakland "Y" spiker are (l. to r.) Catalino Ignacio, Allen Kincaid and James McLin, all members of the crack 4th Msl. 61st Arty. volleyball team that took top honors in the big round-robin tournament at Ft. Scott last week. Prize action photo was taken by M/Sgt. Bill Howell.

LAH Keglers Lead League Following Two Rock Defeat

Red hot Letterman Army Hospital keglers last week upset more than 2700 pins to wrest the Northern California Military Sports Association bowling lead from previously undefeated Two Rock Ranch Station.

In burying the Two Rockers, 4-0, in the third week of competition, LAH pin-knockers chalked up a scratch 976 in the first game and then went on to each score a series higher than 500.

Sp2 Mel Oliver took top honors in series and game with 585-225; the bowlers posted series, as follows: Sfc. Maynard Mathiesen, 565; Sfc. Frank Kessler, 545; Sfc. George Alberts, 537; and Sfc. Chuck Vernon, 512.

The win gave LAH a record of 9-3 and dropped runner-up Two Rock to 8-4.

The LAH quintet was slated to meet Fairfield Air Force Station at Travis Air Force Base alleys last night.

Highnetters Take First In Fort Scott Tourney

Demonstrating championship form which makes them odds-on favorites in the forthcoming 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.) volleyball tourney, local highnetters from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, battled down to the wire last Saturday to win a four-team, round-robin clash at Ft. Scott gym.

In an evenly-matched playoff, the missileer sextet just squeezed by Oakland "Y" by one game in a nip-and-tuck struggle for first place. Other entrants, Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases, were close behind.

Final standings were: 4th Missile Battalion (5-3), Oakland "Y" (5-4), Hamilton (3-4) and Travis (3-5).

Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, 39-year-old veteran set man of last year's undefeated all-ARADCOM champions, praised the team effort and especially pointed up the power hitting of spiker Pfc. Allen Kincaid. Three other spikers' consistent performances also contributed to the tourney win—Pfc. Jim McLin, Sp4 David Rhem and Sp4 Dick Chute.

Sharing setting tasks with M/Sgt. Ignacio was Sp4 James Morse, while veteran set man Sp4 Robert Mendez continued to ride the bench because of an ankle injury. Last night, the 4th Battalion highnetters met Embarcadero "Y", with a match set Tuesday at Oakland "Y" and a rematch scheduled Thursday with Embarcadero.

Toreras Meet Mason
The Presidio Torera basketballers opened play in the Women's Interservice Recreational League last night against Ft. Mason at the Letterman Army Hospital gym.

Final score was not available at press time.

Starting for the local ladies were coach Sp5 Arleen Patt's last week's sextet which dropped Hamilton Air Force Base, 41-31; forwards Sfc. Georgia Kelly, Sfc. Mary Phillips and Cpl. Florian Vierra and guards Pvt. Marie Levering, Pfc. Fumika Uyeda and Sp4 Molly Edwards.

Twice Tops Maurice Dennis

Military Personnel Win Three Suggestion Awards

Two privates . . . one a WAC . . . were awarded first and second prize in this month's military suggestion contest at Post Headquarters this week.

Pfc. Dimitry A. Millerup, a typist at the Post Dispensary, won $25 for his suggestion that signs be placed at strategic points throughout the dispensary to guide examinees through the complicated corridors.

The WAC winner was Pfc. Margaret Thrower Kramer, a telephone operator at the Post Signal Section, who was awarded $10 for her suggestion to improve courtesy reports on the Pentagon and lease lines.

CWO Monte J. Anderson, Post personnel officer, was presented two certificates commending him for developing two suggestions which have been adopted by the AG Section. His suggestions involve a chart for military leave computations and another computation chart for efficiency reports. The presentations were made by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio.

Extend Flight Program

Washington (ANS)—The Army's Reserve Officers' Training Corps Flight Training Program has been extended to include 70 colleges and universities, with a total enrollment, this year, of 625 senior cadets.

Begin in 1956 at 25 colleges, the program has already graduated 656 Army ROTC Cadets. Aims of the program are to urge college students to seek a career in Army aviation, to screen applicants for Army Aviation training, to act as a career incentive in the Regular Army, and to create a reserve pool of qualified aviators.

AUSA Meeting Starts Monday Will Air Top Military Views

The 1958 annual meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army will be held Monday through next Wednesday, 20 to 22 October, in Washington, D. C.

Highlight of the meeting will be the Army's unique capabilities in warfare which are expressed in this year's theme, "The United States Army, Ready for Action — Any Kind, Any Time, Any Place."

Two principal speakers at the meeting will be Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker and General Maxwell Taylor, Chief of Staff.

Presentations include STRAC—"The Army's Capabilities for Limited War," ARADCOM — "The Army in Air Defense of the United States," SEATO and NATO.

Other speakers include Lt. Gen. C. E. Hart, Commanding General, Army Air Defense Command; Lt. Gen. A. G. Trudeau, Chief of Research and Development; Admiral Antoine M. Sala, Naval Deputy of NATO; Roger Hillsman, Library of Congress; and Dr. Robert Osgood, University of Chicago.

Civilian industry will exhibit in 112 booths the latest developments in the military fields while the Army will also have a display of its latest equipment and material including experimental and prototype models.

Conservation Talk Will Stress Needs For Spartan Effort

A million dollars a year is literally "going down the drain" in Army installations throughout the world.

Economy-mindedness and the vitally essential requirement for making the most Spartan, efficient use of resources and manpower will highlight a mandatory lecture next week for all soldiers and civilian personnel under the jurisdiction of the Commanding Officer, Presidio.

Presented under the direction of the Post Comptroller, the talk will be held Wednesday and Thursday at the Post Theater. On each day, sessions will begin at 1315 and 1515.

On Wednesday commanders and staff section chiefs will send half of their military personnel to each of the lectures. On the following day civilian employees will attend in similar proportions.

Introductory remarks will be made by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, followed by a detailed analysis of conservation and the prudent use of resources.

Commanders of headquarters, units and detachments and staff section chiefs will maintain rosters of attendance and submit a one-time report to the Commanding Officer, Presidio, Attn.: AMNPR-COM, giving the number of personnel present for duty, number who attended and effectiveness of the program.

Current Army Strength

Washington (ANS)—Army strength as of 31 August, was 897,524. Procurement during August totaled 30,801, including 10,488 inductions through Selective Service, together with 11,849 recruits, re-ups of 7,914 and 550 reservists entering upon active duty.

Fire Prevention Week Is Big Success

Fire Prevention Week was climaxed Saturday when more than 900 boys and girls of Presidio and LAH military personnel were guests at a gala open house held in the Presidio Fire Station.

Fire Chief George Geller was host to the children and their parents, but reminded all those who attended that the occasion was more than a party. Fires always have a cause, he reminded them. Be sure that you are not the cause.

The parents attending the open house were reminded that last year cigarettes were the cause of more fires than any other factor.

At the party candy bags, including Assistant Fire Marshal badges and rings, were given to all the children, in addition to realistic red fireman hats. The children saw movies and cartoons and the party was concluded with a ride around the post on the fire truck.

Service Pins Soon

Civilian employees who have completed ten to fifty years of satisfactory service will soon receive their length of service emblems.

A purchase order has been submitted through local procurement channels. The exact date of delivery is still unknown. As soon as these Army emblems are available employees will be notified of presentation plans.

New Typing Class Will Start Locally On 27 October

A new eight week course in beginning and advanced typing open to all military and civilian personnel without charge will begin 27 October. Classes will be held from 0900 to 1100 daily, Monday through Friday, in Bldg. 252 under the direction of a certified civilian instructor from the Adult Division of the San Francisco City Schools.

Unit or section commanders wishing to assign personnel for training will be given attendance and progress reports. All interested may contact the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, or telephone 2974 or 4449 for further information. Students may report directly to the classroom the first week without pre-registration.

Another Army First

The cushion-sole sock developed by the Army during World War II proved to be such a great improvement over other socks—it absorbs more perspiration and cushions the feet—that it is now widely used by farmers, laborers, policemen, and others who spend much of their time on their feet.

Promotion Plan Progress

Progress is being made locally on the new promotion plan which goes into effect throughout the Department of the Army and all other Federal agencies on 1 January 1959. The draft of a tentative plan is now ready for reproduction. Copies of this draft will be distributed for the purpose of obtaining the opinions and suggestions of employees. The final plan will not be issued until all ideas of employees have been given full consideration.

Key Suggestions Have Saved Army $29,064 To This Date

Suggestion awards totaling $285 were presented to nine Presidio of San Francisco civilian employees by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, this week.

The suggestions for which the awards were won have resulted in an estimated savings of $29,064 in their first year of adoption.

Largest of the awards was presented to Dan Dougherty, leaderman foreman at the Post Ordnance Section's guided missile shop. Mr. Dougherty received $130 for his plan to improve the lubrication process for key parts in missile launcher systems. His suggestion resulted in the bulk of the $29,064 savings.

Other awards were as follows: Ronald E. Button, Signal Section repairman, $55 award for teletype repair test set.

Anton J. Nachbaur, Signal Section inspector, two awards of $10 each for photographic equipment improvements.

Burbank Jung, Signal Section repairman, $15 award for equipment modifications resulting in more efficient repair methods.

Mrs. Nels D. Martin, Ordnance Section typist, $15 for an improved method of vehicle status reporting.

Anthony Pagno, Signal Section repairman, $15 for a suggestion resulting in prolonged life to electric coils.

Ermen Rozzi, Signal Section teletypewriter installation and repair foreman, $15 award for the invention of a tool for cleaning.

CS Entrance Exam

The Federal Service Entrance Examination has been scheduled for Saturday, 15 November, 1958. Applications must be filed by 30 October. For application forms and additional information contact the receptionist, Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227. This examination is a requirement for certain promotions at the GS-5, 6, and 7 levels.

Traffic Meet Slated

The Military Traffic Management Agency will hold a meeting of west coast military and top civilian transportation officers from 28 to 31 October at the Naval Supply Center, Oakland.

Over 120 officers and key civilians are expected to attend the four day meeting at which major topics will include recent developments in military traffic management and a discussion of systems for control of transportation during mobilization periods.

EUS Details Out Soon

Washington (ANS)—Additional details of the Enlisted Evaluation System and of the MOS Proficiency Tests will soon be available Army-wide as AR 611-205 and DA Circular 611-22, both dated September 1958, go into distribution this week. Army regulations governing the award of proficiency pay and temporary appointments will be published and distributed in the near future, according to an official announcement.

CERTIFICATE of Achievement for his outstanding work at Headquarters USAREUR was presented to Lt. Col. Edward Farmer, Provost Marshal Section (right) by Col. Harold A. Davenport, Sixth Army Provost Marshal, Chief of the Operations Division. Col. Farmer formerly served in Europe as Provost Marshal at Headquarters USAREUR, and as Assistant Deputy Chief of the Special Activities Division. ## Closed Circuit TV Aids Army Missile Training

Washington (ANS)—The Army said, this week, it is now using closed-circuit television to further instruction on guided missiles.

Telecasting of a two-hour course has been inaugurated from the U.S. Army Ordnance Guided Missile School at the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., to the U.S. Army Armor School at Fort Knox, Ky., according to the announcement.

Use of closed-circuit television by the Army over such long distances (as between Huntsville and Fort Knox) is the outgrowth of more than seven years' study by the Army Signal Corps and other military agencies.

Courses to be televised deal mainly with the use of preventive maintenance "indicators"—methods and mechanisms used to subject missiles and their intricate components to exhaustive efficiency tests at regular intervals to insure their immediate availability in the event of an emergency.

Through the medium of closed-circuit TV, missiles and equipment costing tens of millions of dollars and presently available at the Missile School can become available for instruction anywhere in the United States, the Army explained.

At the annual meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army 20 to 22 October in Washington, D.C., Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, Commanding General, U.S. Continental Army command, will be one of the principal speakers. The theme of the meeting will be "The United States Army, Ready for Action—Any Kind, Any Time, Any Place."

Seek Nominees In Annual Flemming Award Contest

Nominations are invited for the 11th Annual Arthur S. Flemming Awards which are presented annually by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Washington, D. C., to ten male employees, five in scientific or technical fields and five in administrative and executive fields, who have performed unusual and outstanding work in these fields.

Any male civilian employee of the Federal Government under 40 years of age is eligible. Selection is made on one of two bases:

• A specific accomplishment during the preceding fiscal year, for which the nominee is primarily responsible, resulting in a material improvement in service, or in a substantial financial savings to the government, or in significant social or technological progress.

• Outstanding executive, scientific, or technical ability or performance displayed by the nominee during the preceding fiscal year. Recommendations should be submitted in sextuplicate to S1, Civilian Personnel Officer, by 23 October. Further information can be obtained from that officer.

A sense of duty will lead a man to endure extreme hardship. From Valley Forge to Korea this has been a virtue often demanded of the American Soldier.—(DA Pam 16-5).

Photomapper Named Best Soldier At 30th Engineer Bn.

Sp4 Gene P. Rexrode of Hq. & Hq. Det. has been selected as the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month. He serves in the photomapping and reproduction branch of battalion operations as senior map editor. For his achievement, Rexrode received a certificate of achievement from Lt. Col. Lloyd W. Stromgren, who was acting as Battalion Commander in the absence of Lt. Col. Underwood; he will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days, and he will receive a three-day pass.

A native of Louisville, Ky., Rexrode attended the University of Louisville, where he majored in Civil Engineering. He was employed by the Corps of Engineers in Louisville, prior to his induction into the Army. Rexrode completed basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky., and was assigned directly to the 30th Engineers. After his release from the service he plans to remain in the engineering profession.

Ten Presidio Civilians Win Performance Awards

Eleven hundred dollars worth of incentive was presented to ten Presidio civilian employees this week in the form of sustained superior performance awards.

Winner of a check for $200 was John Laster, an auto mechanic in the Presidio Ordnance Section, who has been a civil service employee since 1949.

The other winners, all women, each received $100 awards, based on extraordinary performance in their various jobs. They are Mrs. Sonia D. Getman and Miss Laura Marshall, both of the Provost Marshal Section; Mrs. Sharon Olah, Mrs. Della Spry and Mrs. Mildred Noblet, all from the Signal Section; Mrs. Franzella W. Stallions, Mrs. Alice P. Boyette, and Mrs. Constance Swift, of the Adjutant Section; and Mrs. Mildred Sasse, Claims Examiner in the Judge Advocate Section.

Iowa Girl Wins Top WAC Honors

WAC of the Month for D Company, Sp4 Diane Kinsel, has traveled a long way since she left her home town of Dunkerton, Iowa.

She came to the Presidio in October of last year and is currently working at the Post Communications Center. But besides bringing her to the city by the Golden Gate, the Army has taken Diane to Ft. McClellan, Ala., where she took basic training, then to Ft. Gordon, Ga., where she learned how to be a teletype operator.

Her next move was quite a change from Dunkerton sunk in the cornfields of Iowa. She was sent to Maison Forte, France, where the corn doesn't grow quite so tall.

With four years and three months in the Army and one year left to go, Diane is debating whether or not to reenlist. But meanwhile she keeps busy with sports.

Last year she was on the undefeated Presidio WAC basketball team, and last night played in the league opener against Fort Mason in the LAH gym. She is also on Bowling Team Number One of WAC D Detachment.

This WAC of the Month, who was elected for her co-operation, neatness, cheerful man-

"A Trumpet Calling" may sound like Reveille to some soldiers, but to a certain young man, released from the Army today, that phrase means more than the abrupt call to morning formation.

During the last 14 months, Sp4 Richard Lane has devoted every free moment to composing what he terms "a drama with songs." About 27 pieces of music, scored for solo voices and chorus, were written by Lane as a background to a dramatic play "A Trumpet Calling," based on Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter."

Now he and the playwright, Abel Plenn, are awaiting word from several recording companies. If past accomplishments are a sign of potential success, Richard Lane shouldn't be too worried about his new drama with songs.

Two years ago, Mercury Records released a new disc with a plain cover that read simply "Four Songs . . . Texts by Mark Van Doren, Music by Richard Lane." This record represents two significant accomplishments. A well known poet asked Lane to compose original music for his poems. That music was recorded and successfully released by a top company.

It was through Mark Van Doren that the team of Plenn and Lane came together. Abel Plenn, whose book reviews appear frequently in the New York Times, was looking for a man to set his play "A Trumpet Calling" to music. Van Doren recommended Lane.

Since then the two, although separated when Richard entered the Army, have been working together on their "serious musical comedy." Every night after work, Richard would trek up to the Service Club and with the concentration of a mystic, which was requisite to shut out the sound of billiard games and TV sets, he sat at the piano and gradually filled sheet after sheet of music until the score was completed. He periodically sent tape recordings of the latest songs to Plenn.

The music is in spots reminiscent of the seventeenth century. Its style is controlled and simple, not with the grandiose flourishes of the later romantic period. All this, Richard feels, is suitable to the story set against a puritan New England background.

Now "A Trumpet Calling" is completed. The days of work as an administrative clerk in the Comptroller Section of Sixth Army are ended, and Mr. Richard Lane leaves shortly for the east.

A holder of two degrees from the famed Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., Richard plans on doing some teaching but ultimately to devote himself to composition, with opera as the magnum opus.

STRESSING IMPORTANT meeting Col. Charles C. W. Allen, Deputy Chief of Staff for Public Affairs, Sixth Army, urges all wives of military and civilian personnel to attend a briefing given by the Sixth Army Staff on "U.S. Global Policy" on 27 October. He spoke to key representatives of various women's groups this week.

Army, Civilian Wives Offered 'Big Picture'

All wives of the military and civilian personnel at the Presidio and peripheral areas are invited and urged to attend a briefing on the "U.S. Global Policy and Sixth U.S. Army's Role in Support Thereof" which will be given by the Sixth Army Staff on 27 October in the Post Theater at 1030.

The purpose of this briefing is not only to correlate the important events of the post world war era but also to present the really important events affecting the military and to show exactly the Sixth Army's contributions in carrying out our national global policy.

At a recent meeting, Col. Charles C. W. Allen, Deputy Chief of Staff for Public Affairs for Sixth Army, urged military and civilian wives to attend and said:

This presentation is being offered to you to enable you to better understand just how you, your husbands and the Army fit into national and world affairs that exist today. In short, it is an opportunity for you to better understand how world events affect your husband's work."

On the day of the briefing, special buses leave Wherry Housing and Fort Scott at 9:45 and will stop at the Presidio Nursery where women may leave their children during the meeting.

The briefing on "U.S. Global Policy" is sponsored by the Presidio Woman's Club. All women are urged to attend. This is the opportunity to learn exactly how important is your husband's work.

'59 Program Set

Washington (ANS)—Details of the 1959 "All-Army Entertainment Contest" have just been announced by the Department of the Army in DA Circular 28-11, which is currently being distributed.

Competitions in the contest will include "live" performances at all levels in such classes as Vocal Soloist, Instrumental Soloist, Individual Speciality Group Nonmusical, and Team Production Numbers. The circular also provides for competition in ten other classes which require "live" performances only at Installation, (and sometimes Area) levels of command.

Set Kiddie Spook Show

A kiddies' party, All Hallow's Nite, will be held at the Fort Baker Service Club on Halloween from 1900 to 2200. Everyone is urged to wear a mask, and if you already have them, costumes will make the party twice as much fun.

A door prize will be given, and also a prize will be given to the child with the best costume. Games have been planned with plenty of food for everyone. In addition to the children from all areas, children from the Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo have been invited. A visiting magician will give a show.

New Color Film Set

West Point, N.Y. (ANS)—"Fitness for Leadership," a new 13½-minute Technicolor sound film describing the physical education program of the United States Military Academy is now being given nationwide distribution to junior and senior high schools.

The picture, produced by the Gillette Safety Razor Company as a contribution to the President's Council on Youth Fitness, is designed to give students and teachers alike ideas and inspiration toward setting up more effective youth fitness programs on the local level.

Hey, free Chicken!!

A free chicken and baked beans barbeque and a White Elephant auction are slated for Fort Baker NCO Open Mess this Sunday, beginning at 1400 hours.

The White Elephant auction will be in aid of the Women's Auxiliary of the Fort Baker NCO Mess. The club opens at noon on Saturday and there will be dance music by one of the better-known name bands. Parents are invited to bring their children to the barbeque.

Ghouls, Girls Welcome

BOO! . . . EEE! . . . SCREEEM! Are you easily frightened? Have you always wanted your hair to turn white over night? Well, now you have that chance. All witches, ghosts, and goblins are invited to dance around the smoldering cauldron at Sterns Grove on Thursday night, 30 October.

Presidio Service Clubs One and Two and the Mobile Club are sponsoring this horrific event. Who knows what will happen when you dunk for an apple? You might find a frog instead!

All spooks and ghosts are welcomed. Red Cross Junior hostesses will be there. The party begins at 2000.

Dance Marathon Tonight

The Teenage Club is holding a Dance Marathon tonight beginning at 1800. All members of the club are invited to attend. A buffet supper will follow the marathon. The chaperones are Chaplain and Mrs. Dayton Drake and Col. and Mrs. Laurance Brownlee.

Sgt. Tozier, director of the club, reminds the teenagers that they must have a signed consent from their parents in order to participate in the marathon.

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

Compliments are fine and dandy—but not if they're left-handed. You know how it is. You intend to say something nice and make the other person feel good. But you try too hard, or you don't use the right words, and as a result you end up sounding insincere and patronizing.

Foreign peoples welcome the good things you have to say about them. But "left-handed compliments" set off a chain reaction of cynicism and disbelief in anything that you as an American—and all Americans—have to say.

This is but one approach; you may have another that's worth writing about in this year's Freedom's Foundation contest, "My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom."

Closed Circuit TV Aids Army Missile Training

Washington (ANS)—The Army said, this week, it is now using closed-circuit television to further instruction on guided missiles.

Telecasting of a two-hour course has been inaugurated from the U.S. Army Ordnance Guided Missile School at the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., to the U.S. Army Armor School at Fort Knox, Ky., according to the announcement.

Use of closed-circuit television by the Army over such long distances (as between Huntsville and Fort Knox) is the outgrowth of more than seven years' study by the Army Signal Corps and other military agencies.

Courses to be televised deal mainly with the use of preventive maintenance "indicators"—methods and mechanisms used to subject missiles and their intricate components to exhaustive efficiency tests at regular intervals to insure their immediate availability in the event of an emergency.

Through the medium of closed-circuit TV, missiles and equipment costing tens of millions of dollars and presently available at the Missile School can become available for instruction anywhere in the United States, the Army explained.

Seek Nominees In Annual Flemming Award Contest

Nominations are invited for the 11th Annual Arthur S. Flemming Awards which are presented annually by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Washington, D. C., to ten male employees, five in scientific or technical fields and five in administrative and executive fields, who have performed unusual and outstanding work in these fields.

Any male civilian employee of the Federal Government under 40 years of age is eligible. Selection is made on one of two bases:

- A specific accomplishment during the preceding fiscal year, for which the nominee is primarily responsible, resulting in a material improvement in service, or in a substantial financial savings to the government, or in significant social or technological progress.

- Outstanding executive, scientific, or technical ability or performance displayed by the nominee during the preceding fiscal year.

Recommendations should be submitted in sextuplicate to S1, Civilian Personnel Officer, by 23 October. Further information can be obtained from that officer.

A sense of duty will lead a man to endure extreme hardship. From Valley Forge to Korea this has been a virtue often demanded of the American Soldier.—(DA Pam 16-5).

Photomapper Named Best Soldier At 30th Engineer Bn.

Sp4 Gene P. Rexrode of Hq. & Hq. Det. has been selected as the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month. He serves in the photomapping and reproduction branch of battalion operations as senior map editor. For his achievement, Rexrode received a certificate of achievement from Lt. Col. Lloyd W. Stromgren, who was acting as Battalion Commander in the absence of Lt. Col. Underwood; he will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days, and he will receive a three-day pass.

A native of Louisville, Ky., Rexrode attended the University of Louisville, where he majored in Civil Engineering. He was employed by the Corps of Engineers in Louisville, prior to his induction into the Army. Rexrode completed basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky., and was assigned directly to the 30th Engineers. After his release from the service he plans to remain in the engineering profession.

Fabulous "Auntie Mame" of the footlights turns out to be, of all things, an AF wife whose husband is Col. John Coulter, commander of the 20th Air Defense Div. He's married to long-time actress Constance Bennett, starring in a national touring company of the hit play.

Singer Steve Lawrence, taking basic training at Ft. Dix, N. J., got a holiday . . . thanks to TV's Ed Murrow who person-to-personed Steve and his wife Eydie Gorme.

Tops in Pops . . . The "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits has a new leader in "It's All in the Game" as disked by Tommy Edwards. It nudges into second place the perennial "Volare" in the versions of Domenico Modugno and Dean Martin. The other eight: "Bird Dog" (Everly Brothers); "Rock-In' Robin" (Bobby Day); "Little Star" (Elegants); "Tears on My Pillow" (Little Anthony and the Imperials); "Susie Darlin'" (Robin Luke); "Patricia" (Perez Prado); "Near You" (Roger Williams) and "Tea for Two Cha Cha" (Tommy Dorsey Orchestra).

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

Compliments are fine and dandy—but not if they're left-handed. You know how it is. You intend to say something nice and make the other person feel good. But you try too hard, or you don't use the right words, and as a result you end up sounding insincere and patronizing.

Foreign peoples welcome the good things you have to say about them. But "left-handed compliments" set off a chain reaction of cynicism and disbelief in anything that you as an American—and all Americans—have to say.

This is but one approach; you may have another that's worth writing about in this year's Freedom's Foundation contest, "My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom."

Toreros Loaded; Fischer Predicts Title Sweep

A BRAS OUVERTS (With Open Arms) might be an apt title for this muscular ballet. Rising gracefully to defend against an unidentified Oakland "Y" spiker are (l. to r.) Catalino Ignacio, Allen Kincaid and James McLin, all members of the crack 4th Msl. 61st Arty. volleyball team that took top honors in the big round-robin tournament at Ft. Scott last week. Prize action photo was taken by M/Sgt. Bill Howell.

LAH Keglers Lead League Following Two Rock Defeat

Red hot Letterman Army Hospital keglers last week upset more than 2700 pins to crest the Northern California Military Sports Association bowling lead from previously undefeated Two Rock Ranch Station.

In burying the Two Rockers, 4-0, in the third week of competition, LAH pin-knockers chalked up a scratch 976 in the first game and then went on to each score a series higher than 500.

Sp2 Mel Oliver took top honors in series and game with 585-225; Sfc. Maynard Mathiesen, 565; Sfc. Frank Kessler, 545; Sfc. George Alberts, 537; and Sfc. Chuck Vernon, 512.

The win gave LAH a record of 9-3 and dropped runner-up Two Rock to 8-4.

The LAH quintet was slated to meet Fairfield Air Force Station Travis Air Force Base alleys last night.

Highnetters Take First In Fort Scott Tourney

Demonstrating championship form which makes them odds-on favorites in the forthcoming 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.) volleyball tourney, local highnetters from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, battled down to the wire last Saturday to win a four-team, round-robin clash at Ft. Scott gym.

In an evenly-matched playoff, the missileer sextet just squeezed by Oakland "Y" by one game in a nip-and-tuck struggle for first place. Other entrants, Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases, were close behind.

Final standings were:

4th Missile Battalion (5-3), Oakland "Y" (5-4), Hamilton (3-4) and Travis (3-5).

Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, 39-year-old veteran set man of last year's undefeated all-ARADCOM champions, praised the team effort and especially pointed up the power hitting of spiker Pfc. Allen Kincaid. Three other spikers' consistent performances also contributed to the tourney win—Pfc. Jim McLin, Sp4 David Rhem and Sp4 Dick Chute.

Sharing setting tasks with M/Sgt. Ignacio was Sp4 James Morse, while veteran set man Sp4 Robert Mendez continued to

Says Balance, Speed, Power Should Blast Military Foes

Balance, speed and experience are components of the "loaded" 1958-59 Presidio Torero quintet which coach Hal Fischer predicts will sweep all area Interservice basketball honors.

Here is the squad which Fischer said "definitely should beat all area Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard competition if it stays together all season":

- Pfc. John Vesevick, 25, of MRU—6'4½" hard driving center who has been named team captain. Formerly played for North Idaho Junior College and University of Oregon. Only veteran of last year's team, on which he was top rebounder.
- 2d Lt. Ed Fine, 25, Presidio Pharmacy Officer—6'5" forward and rebounder from University of Montana. Good defensive player.
- Pfc. John Perry, 21, of Honor Guard—6' fast break artist from San Jose State College.
- Pfc. Frank Zechel, 23, of 16th BPO—6' forward with good one-handed set shot from Carroll College, Wis.
- 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho, 24, of 30th Arty. Gp.—6'5½" 230-pound all-Pacific Coast every-position player from University of San Francisco. High scorer while at USF and expected to furnish scoring punch for Toreros. Has grace and speed of little man.
- Pfc. Joe Gascon, 19, of Sixth Army Hq. Co. — 5'11" guard specializing in jump shot. Played last year for East Los Angeles Junior College.
- Pfc. Mike Diaz, 23, of Hq. 30th Engr. Gp.—6' former University of California guard and Northern California all-Star while in high school. Has good jump shot.
- Pvt. Harry Lux, 24, of 30th Arty. Gp.—5'9" guard from Michigan State who was all-Michigan in high school. Hard driving floor man.
- Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe, 23, of MRU—6'5" all-American honorable mention from University of Connecticut who was third draft choice of New York Knickerbockers. Has good jump shot and is good rebounder.

Special Services continued to dominate Letterman Army Hospital intramural basketball play this week by dumping the Adjutants, 29-20, in a practice tilt and edging the Teenagers, 32-25.

In other league action, the runner-up Adjutants squeaked past the Interns, 33-30, as Pfc. Joe Borennies paced the winners with 14, matching the performance of Intern 2d Lt. John Myers. Earlier, 2d Lt. Myers' 18 markers led the Interns to a 39-32 win over Surgery.

Shuffleboard Doubles Title To 67th Arty.; Singles Go To Seattle

Local missileer shuffleboard stickmen copped the 6th ARADCOM doubles title here last week but all the singles honors went to visitors from Los Angeles and Seattle.

Winning doubles combination was Sp4 T. J. Robinson, supply clerk with B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, and Sp4 William S. Godsey, fire panel operator from C Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery.

Dennis Tops League Play High Game On Two Teams

The front-running Recruiters in the Presidio Bowling League this week relied on the pin-topping of Burmeister, with 202-533, to down the third-place Keystone Kops, 3-1. Top man for the Kops was Beveridge, 204-555.

The Islanders, tied for third with the Kops, coasted to an easy 4-0 victory over the hapless, cellar-dwelling SFAADS keggers. Saito's 188-538 paced the winners, while Wilcox's 167-536 was the best effort for SFAADS.

The Alley Rats pulled to a fifth-place tie with 60th CI Detachment by dumping the Intelligence men, 3-1. Havrilla led the way for the winners with 199-538; Ogle's 182-480 paced the losers.

Dennis' high game and series for the League this week, 213-580, only aided his King Pins teammates in earning a 2-2 split decision with the runner-up Shatters. High man for the Shatters was Du-

SUGGESTION AWARDS are presented to three happy recipients by Col. Frank F. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio. They are (l. to r.) Pfc. Dimitry A. Millerup, Pfc. Margaret Kramer and CWO Monte Anderson.

Military Personnel Win Three Suggestion Awards

Two privates . . . one a WAC . . . were awarded first and second prize in this month's military suggestion contest at Post Headquarters this week.

Pfc. Dimitry A. Millerup, a typist at the Post Dispensary, won $25 for his suggestion that signs be placed at strategic points throughout the dispensary to guide examinees through the complicated corridors.

The WAC winner was Pfc. Margaret Thrower Kramer, a telephone operator at the Post Signal Section, who was awarded $10 for her suggestion to improve courtesy reports on the Pentagon and lease lines.

CWO Monte J. Anderson, Post personnel officer, was presented two certificates commending him for developing two suggestions which have been adopted by the AG Section. His suggestions involve a chart for military leave computations and another computation chart for efficiency reports.

The presentations were made by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio.

Current Army Strength

Washington (ANS)—Army strength as of 31 August, was 897,524. Procurement during August totaled 30,801, including 10,488 inductions through Selective Service, together with 11,849 recruits, re-ups of 7,914 and 550 reservists entering upon active duty.

Fire Prevention Week Is Big Success

Fire Prevention Week was climaxed Saturday when more than 900 boys and girls of Presidio and LAH military personnel were guests at a gala open house held in the Presidio Fire Station.

Fire Chief George Geller was host to the children and their parents, but reminded all those who attended that the occasion was more than a party. Fires always have a cause, he reminded them. Be sure that you are not the cause.

The parents attending the open house were reminded that last year cigarettes were the cause of more fires than any other factor.

At the party candy bags, including Assistant Fire Marshal badges and rings, were given to all the children, in addition to realistic red fireman hats. The children saw movies and cartoons and the party was concluded with a ride around the post on the fire truck.

Service Pins Soon

Civilian employees who have completed ten to fifty years of satisfactory service will soon receive their length of service emblems.

A purchase order has been submitted through local procurement channels. The exact date of delivery is still unknown. As soon as these Army emblems are available employees will be notified of presentation plans.

AUSA Meeting Starts Monday Will Air Top Military Views

The 1958 annual meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army will be held Monday through next Wednesday, 20 to 22 October, in Washington, D. C.

Highlight of the meeting will be the Army's unique capabilities in warfare which are expressed in this year's theme, "The United States Army, Ready for Action — Any Kind, Any Time, Any Place."

Two principal speakers at the meeting will be Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker and General Maxwells Taylor, Chief of Staff.

Presentations include STRAC—"The Army's Capabilities for Limited War"; ARADCOM—"The Army in Air Defense of the United States"; SEATO and NATO.

Other speakers include Lt. Gen. C. E. Hart, Commanding General, Army Air Defense Command; Lt. Gen. A. G. Trudeau, Chief of Research and Development; Admiral Antoine M. Sala, Naval Deputy of NATO; Roger Hilsman, Library of Congress; and Dr. Robert Osgood, University of Chicago.

Civilian industry will exhibit in 112 booths the latest developments in the military fields while the Army will also have a display of its latest equipment and material, including experimental and prototype models.

Conservation Talk Will Stress Needs For Spartan Effort

A million dollars a year is literally "going down the drain" in Army installations throughout the world.

Economy-mindedness and the vitally essential requirement for making the most Spartan, efficient use of resources and manpower will highlight a mandatory lecture next week for all soldiers and civilian personnel under the jurisdiction of the Commanding Officer, Presidio.

Presented under the direction of the Post Comptroller, the talk will be held Wednesday and Thursday at the Post Theater. On each day, sessions will begin at 1315 and 1515.

On Wednesday commanders and staff section chiefs will send half of their military personnel to each of the lectures. On the following day civilian employees will attend in similar proportions.

Introductory remarks will be made by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, followed by a detailed analysis of conservation and the prudent use of resources.

Commanders of headquarters, units and detachments and staff section chiefs will maintain rosters of attendance and submit a one-time report to the Commanding Officer, Presidio, Attn: AMNPR-Inductions through Selective Service, together with 11,849 recruits, re-ups of 7,914 and 550 reservists entering upon active duty.

Promotion Plan Progress

Progress is being made locally on the new promotion plan which goes into effect throughout the Department of the Army and all other Federal agencies on 1 January 1959. The draft of a tentative plan is now ready for reproduction. Copies of this draft will be distributed for the purpose of obtaining the opinions and suggestions of employees. The final plan will not be issued until all ideas of employees have been given full consideration.

Key Suggestions Have Saved Army $29,064 To This Date

Suggestion awards totaling $285 were presented to nine Presidio of San Francisco civilian employees by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, this week.

The suggestions for which the awards were won have resulted in an estimated savings of $29,064 in their first year of adoption.

Largest of the awards was presented to Dan Dougherty, leader-man foreman at the Post Ordnance Section's guided missile shop. Mr. Dougherty received $130 for his plan to improve the lubrication process for key parts in missile launcher systems. His suggestion resulted in the bulk of the $29,064 savings.

Other awards were as follows: Ronald E. Button, Signal Section repairman, $55 award for teletype repair test set.

Anton J. Nachbaur, Signal Section inspector, two awards of $10 each for photographic equipment improvements.

Burbank Jung, Signal Section repairman, $15 award for equipment modifications resulting in more efficient repair methods.

Mrs. Nels D. Martin, Ordnance Section typist, $15 for an improved method of vehicle status reporting.

Anthony Pagno, Signal Section repairman, $15 for a suggestion resulting in prolonged life to electric coils.

Ermen Rozzi, Signal Section teletypewriter installation and repair foreman, $15 award for the invention of a tool for cleaning.

CS Entrance Exam

The Federal Service Entrance Examination has been scheduled for Saturday, 15 November, 1958. Applications must be filed by 30 October. For application forms and additional information contact the receptionist, Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227. This examination is a requirement for certain promotions at the GS-5, 6, and 7 levels.

Traffic Meet Slated

The Military Traffic Management Agency will hold a meeting of west coast military and top civilian transportation officers from 28 to 31 October at the Naval Supply Center, Oakland.

Over 120 officers and key civilians are expected to attend the four day meeting at which major topics will include recent developments in military traffic management and a discussion of systems for control of transportation during mobilization periods.

New Typing Class Will Start Locally On 27 October

A new eight week course in beginning and advanced typing open to all military and civilian personnel without charge will begin 27 October. Classes will be held from 0900 to 1100 daily, Monday through Friday, in Bldg. 252 under the direction of a certified civilian instructor from the Adult Division of the San Francisco City Schools.

Unit or section commanders wishing to assign personnel for training will be given attendance and progress reports. All interested may contact the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, or telephone 2974 or 4449 for further information. Students may report directly to the classroom the first week without pre-registration.

Another Army First

The cushion-sole sock developed by the Army during World War II proved to be such a great improvement over other socks—it absorbs more perspiration and cushions the feet—that it is now widely used by farmers, laborers, policemen, and others who spend much of their time on their feet.

CERTIFICATE of Achievement for his outstanding work at Headquarters USAREUR was presented to Lt. Col. Edward Farmer, Provost Marshal Section (right) by Col. Harold A. Davenport, Sixth Army Provost Marshal, Chief of the Operations Division. Col. Farmer formerly served in Europe as Provost Marshal at Headquarters USAREUR, and as Assistant Deputy Chief of the Special Activities Division. Prior to leaving Europe, he was Acting Deputy Chief of the Division.

Holdout Signs Up!

Holdout Bill Blank finally signed up. Bill, who has consistently refused to ink the dotted line since he got his contract on 22 September, slid in just 13 days under the deadline.

His agent told us Bill's big objection was that he was being asked to give up too much. "But, I had a long talk with Bill and showed him how he would wreck a high scoring team if he stayed away."

"The squad's big enough without me," grumbled Bill. "They'd never miss me."

"I had a heck of a time then," the agent confided.

"Finally, the only way I could get him to grab his pen was to hammer home that he didn't have to give up very much—only his fair share."

"And the clincher was that he could spread his loss over as much as a whole year if he wanted to."

Are you on the UBAC team with Bill? If so, don't be a holdout—sign your contract today!

Pressing Your Luck?

A polio inoculation only costs if you don't get one.

Five mornings a week Presidio medics are ready to make the painless injection that may prevent your being crippled for life—and it's absolutely free.

Only one case of polio was reported in Sixth U.S. Army this past summer, but that was probably a matter of luck.

For example, here at the Presidio only about 30 per cent of the military personnel under 40 have taken advantage of the Salk savor.

Throughout the Sixth Army, inoculations of the worst danger group—pre-school age children—lags way behind the desired rate.

That short walk from your quarters or your office to the Post Dispensary could keep you on your feet for the rest of your life.

United Nations Day

Thirteen is not always an unlucky number. Oct. 24 this year marks the 13th birthday of the United Nations; a date that has an intimate meaning for all men and women in the Armed Forces.

On the future growth and vitality of the U.N. rests the world's best hope for peace. It's as simple as that.

The U.N. has its critics. Probably it always will have. Some of them are sincere patriots like the "isolationists" of the 1930s. Others would belittle and sabotage the organization for ulterior motives.

But however much they snipe at its aims and methods, they cannot be blind to its steady growth. The U.N., which had 51 member nations in 1945, has 81 today.

The goal of the U.N. has never wavered: to maintain international peace and security. Since the founding of the U.N., the world has seen the development of new weapons that, in the awfulness of their destructive power, could make WWII the end of civilization.

So it becomes the mission of the U.N. to find a way—in the words of President Eisenhower—"by which the miraculous inventiveness of man shall not be dedicated to his death, but consecrated to his life."

It stands for a world governed by men of good will. (AFPS)

'Potomac Post' Study

Army Wives Council Meet Pushed Forward Two Weeks

Washington—The next meeting of representatives to the Army Wives' Council, originally set for 5 November, will instead be held on 19 November, according to an announcement made by the Council president, Mrs. Hoy D. Davis, Jr. It will be conducted at Patton Hall, Fort Myer, Virginia, at 10 a.m.

Meanwhile, members of the Potomac Post Committee are working out the details of a proposed charter, which will be presented to the Council's representatives at the November meeting. Council representatives are in the interim surveying the thousands of members of the some 40 affiliated clubs for their opinions and suggestions on the Potomac Post.

"Potomac Post" is the tentative name for a combined apartment town club and home with nursing care which it is proposed to establish in the Washington area. The home would serve widows and unmarried daughters of deceased Army officers; the apartments and other "town club" services would additionally be available to retired Army couples and wives and daughters of all Army officers. The committee, whose membership is equally divided between Council members and non-members, is studying the details entailed in drawing up a charter that will result in a non-profit corporation to operate Potomac Post, which it is hoped will also be declared tax free.

Although the establishment of Potomac Post is still in the study and proposal stage, an encouragingly large number of small individual donations to help in the defrayment of initial administrative expenses are already being received by Army Wives' Council, National Executive Office, Box 9608, Washington 16, D.C.

Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor, honorary president of the AWC, is receiving mail from all over the world encouraging her to continue her efforts for this project.

To kids in Scouts, boys' clubs, the Y's and youth centers, these United Crusade programs are something to do for fun. But adults agree that growth of character goes hand in hand with the fund and companionship.

Employee Code Approved

A ten-point code of ethics to govern the conduct of employees and officials of the Federal Government has been recently approved by Congress. Supporters of the resolution believe it will set a moral pattern of conduct for individuals on the Federal payroll in all branches of the Government.

The Code provides that any person in Government should:

- Put loyalty to the highest moral principles and country above loyalty to persons, party or Government department.
- Uphold the Constitution, laws, and legal regulations of the United States, and of all governments therein and never be a party to their evasion.
- Give a full day's labor for a full day's pay—giving to the performance of his duties his earnest effort and best thought.
- Seek to find and employ more efficient economical ways of getting jobs accomplished.
- Never discriminate unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges to anyone, whether for remuneration or not; and never accept for himself or his family, favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of his governmental duties.
- Make no private promises of any kind, binding upon the duties of office, since a Government employee has no private word which can be binding upon public duty.
- Engage in no business with the Government which, either directly or indirectly, is inconsistent with the conscientious performance of governmental duties.
- Never use any information coming to him confidentially in the performance of governmental duties as a means of making private profit.
- Expose corruption wherever discovered.
- Uphold these principles, ever conscious that public office is a public trust.

what they said

When Polonius asked Hamlet what he was reading, the young prince answered, "Words, words, words." We, like Hamlet, daily read words. A word is a group of letters. It only becomes something when there is a concomitant thought. When there are many words, we have a book. If there is a good thought in the book, our minds are affected. All of which led us to ask this week:

The Question: What book has had the most profound influence and effect on your life?

ANSWERS:

Elizabeth de la Torre, Service Club Director: I've read so many books, it's hard to say. I don't think any one book has had that much influence on my life. It depends upon what I was studying or doing at the time. A book might currently influence me, but then I change. Books that generally tend to interest me and temporarily influence my thinking are books that go into a study of personal relationships, for example, sociology books. One book I might reread is Father Keller's book on the Christophers. You might call it a book on positive thinking or looking for the good. I used to read five or six books a week, but they were never fiction books.

Col. C. A. Schrader, Comptroller, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army: I'd say the New Testament has had the most profound influence on me. Like most people, you don't read it until you're scared and need spiritual help. I read the New Testament for the first time when I was in Guadalcanal. I was pretty scared at that time, and I got a lot out of it. The spiritual guidance I received from the New Testament made me certainly more confident and satisfied with my life at the time. Everyone was filled with doubt and uncertainty about how long we'd be away from home, when we would return home, if ever. That was when I read the New Testament.

Pfc. Donald Topliff, Sixth Army, AGP: You asked the wrong person! I can count the number of books I've read on one hand. I've worked two jobs all my life and done very little reading. I haven't done any because I'd rather play baseball. Yes, I agree. I suppose people can be influenced by books . . . especially people with imagination who get more involved. I think people influence me more than books. Certain people's experience, their way of life will influence. I find people much more interesting than books. That's why I like being a salesman.

Pfc. Dennis Peterson, Presidio Chaplain Assistant: Well, I guess in the long run, I imagine the Bible has had the most actual influence in my life. I come from quite a religious family and the Bible always played an important part in all our activities. I was a missionary in Sweden for two years, and of course the Bible was the weapon of our faith. That book was a constant companion.

Bad Day (For Ducks) As Army Deadeyes Take Rodeo Lagoon

Duck season got off with a bang here Saturday as four Presidians reported kills at the Special Service blinds in Rodeo Lagoon, near Ft. Cronkhite.

Best individual bag was a mallard drake and a widgeon knocked down by Maj. William J. Suenkel of Sixth Army AG Section.

Two Letterman Army Hospital officers, Capt. Walter L. Pelham and Capt. Robert Neil, dropped two mallards while firing from the same blind but are not sure just who got what.

Sfc. Fred Coleman of the Presidio QM Parachute Maintenance shop killed one mallard.

Blinds may be reserved through the Post Sports Office (Ext. 3968).

San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command natadors today will wind up a two day swimming meet with Seattle's 31st Artillery Brigade to determine which team will meet the 47th Artillery Brigade from Los Angeles in the second annual 6th ARADCOM swimming and diving championships.

The 6th ARADCOM finals will begin Tuesday at the Hacienda Hotel pool in San Pedro, Calif., and run through Friday. The Los Angeles team, as defending champion, is hosting the four-day meet.

Carrying the hopes of the local missilemen in yesterday's and today's competition in the Letterman Army Hospital pool are:

100 yard butterfly, Pfc. Scheich; 100 yard breast stroke, Sfc. Bobby Bixler, B Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Art., and Sp5 Keyes; 200 yard breast stroke, 2d Lt. Phineas Morrill, B Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Art.; 100 yard backstroke, 2d Lt. Morrill; 200 yard backstroke, Pfc. Scheich; 400 yard individual medley, Sfc. Bixler; one meter springboard diving, 2d Lt. Morrill.

Members of the San Francisco-Travis team were selected after local competitive meets Monday and Tuesday at the Letterman pool.

LAH WACs Meet On Tuesday

Letterman Army Hospital WAC basketballers, fielding their first team in the Women's Interservice Recreational League, will open regular play 21 October at Mather Air Force Base.

At present, none of the 12 girls on the squad have been assigned positions or named to the starting lineup. Coach Sgt. Mike Hogan, but assisted by player-manager Sgt. Josie Stallings, is training each of the femmes to play both forward and guard.

Local keggers may vie for the team spots by signing up with Sfc. Donald Andresen (2208), MRU.

The dual sessions tomorrow and Sunday, as well as next Saturday and Sunday, will begin at both alleys at 1300.

No schedule has yet been set, but it is expected to be firm up at the next League meeting, 3 November at Travis Air Force Base.

Sfc. Andresen, who represented the Presidio at the last session, recommended to post representatives that keggers bowl six games every two weeks against the various installations because of the distances involved. Another plan would call for weekly competition of only three games.

Two Tied In Msl. Bn. Bowling Play

Across the Bay, in Berkeley, the Guided Muscles and the Eightballers are knotted at 7-1 for first place in the two-week-old 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery Bowling League.

The Guided Muscles boast the number two men in high individual game and series to date—Sp5 Thomas E. Manning, 215, and M/Sgt. Leslie G. Heath, 568.

Sp4 Sammy Nakedhead of the Eightballers has high game in the League with 233 and top series belongs to CWO Raymond R. Burns of the Chabot Lakers with 690.

Other players on the LAH roster are Sp4 Fanny Bailey, Sp5 Hester Derryberry, Pfc. Geraldine Fevella, Sp5 Mary Groseclose, Sp4 Louie Henry, Sgt. Hilda Melenyk, Sp4 Mary Newell, Pfc. Mary Otilar, 2d Lt. Edna Smith and Sp5 Carrie Wynne.

McNamara's Extra Point Toss Is Winning Margin

By Sp4 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Last week's Star Presidian Sports Editor prediction Letterman Army Hospital six-man football squad would dethrone previously unbeaten, untied MRU came true as the medics turned on a third quarter drive to edge the game machine men, 7-6.

LAH quarterback 2d Lt. Bob McNamara unleashed two big passes which counted in the scoring. His first, during the first half, was intercepted by MRU for the initial tally of the game.

The LAH win pushed them into a very precarious first place with 6-0-1. Sixth Army, favored to win the Presidio League crown, is hot on their heels with a 5-0-1.

Sixth Army this week buried the Teenagers, 63-6. But, not without an opening surprise. On the first play of the game Teenager quarterback Jan Londahl rifled a 40-yard TD pass to Marvin Lupo past an overconfident Sixth Army defense. After that, it was an entirely Sixth Army show, with Pfc. Billy Logan crossing the goal line three times and Pfc. John Andre, Pvt. Oliver Baker and Pfc. Robert Scott each scoring two. Eight of nine extra points counted.

Earlier, Sixth Army also swamped C Company, U.S.A. Garrison, 41-7. The winners led 27-0 at halftime. In the scoring parade, the following accounted for the tallies: Pfc. Myron Bromberg (3), Pvt. Bill Chapman (1), Pvt. Jan Lloyd (1) and Sp4 Ken Reynolds (1).

Highlight of next week's play will be Monday's clash between MRU and Sixth Army.

Over in the Engineer League, the 537th Engineer Company did not make a liar out of the ouiji board when it stomped Headquarters Company, 30th Engineer Battalion, 35-6, and then edged U.S.A. Training Group, 13-12. Last week, this writer picked the 537th to finish second behind the Honor Guard.

In the first game, quarterback Sp4 Frank Zamora flipped four TD passes and in the final quarter sprinted 15 yards for another score. Sp4 Zamora hit Sp4 Arnold Wickham with a 30-yarder to tie the score in the first quarter after Headquarters crossed the goal early in the game.

UBAC Drive Lagging To Date Urge Keymen Step Up Returns

With only 15 days remaining in the UBAC campaign, Army contributions in the Bay Area are still far behind the anticipated goal.

At a meeting for keymen held this week, Col. H. M. Brown, Presidio campaign chairman, reminded the solicitors to stress in their section campaigns that although pledges should be made before the close of the crusade, 31 October, payments may be made at convenient intervals any time thereafter.

Everyone is asked to give, but it is particularly hoped that everyone will give his fair share, or one day's pay. That way, and only that way, will the goal of 100% potential be reached.

Of the more than 250 participating agencies in the Bay Area, several are known to be of direct and specific benefit to the military.

In 1958, it is expected that the Legal Aid Society caseload will reach 6,000. A conservative estimate is that 20 servicemen apply directly to the Society each month and that 50 dependents or families of servicemen apply monthly. Legal problems of the men or their dependents are often complicated and include delinquency in payments, installment contracts, notes on loans, sales contracts, and divorce contracts.

At the Northern California Service League approximately 44% of the general caseload are servicemen.

The International Institute estimates that annually about 200 military personnel or their dependents receive service. Foreign born wives are referred to the Institute for the services offered which include marriage counseling, help in interpretation, learning how to market, and assistance in getting children placed in schools.

During the last year, nine young women known to have military service connections were accepted for care at the Florence Crittenton Home. Plans for the women were made by the military in conjunction with the Crittenton Home prior to their discharge.

Army Plans To Start Pro Pay in November

Washington (AFPS)—An interim plan with a November target date has been set by the Army to start proficiency payments to 7,000 soldiers in top priority military occupational specialties.

The interim plan governs awards between November, 1958, and February 1959. The first will go into critical skill fields arranged in order of priority.

Payments under the long range plan will start 1 March, 1959. A total of 28,800 individuals will be authorized pro pay by 30 June, 1959.

Selection of personnel to receive pro pay under the interim plan will be on a best qualified basis, the Army said, and go to about 50 per cent of those eligible in a critical specialty.

Balance of the payment schedules in these specialties will be spread out between March 1959 and 30 June 1959. The extra pay will go to enlisted men whose eligibility has been established as a result of skill tests given under the Enlisted Evaluation System (EES).

Those receiving pro pay in the interim plan must qualify under the provisions of EES when that system goes into effect, the Army said.

The first proficiency tests under EES will begin in January 1959. Those who establish eligibility as a result of the exam will begin receiving payments in March 1959.

With few exceptions, the Army said, all enlisted specialties will ultimately be included in the proficiency pay program.

The long-range proficiency pay plan will cover a four year period. The Army said additional skills will be incorporated into the program in order of specialty priority.

3 AADC Units Hit 100% In Bay Crusade Campaign

Fort Baker, Calif.—Three units of the San Francisco Defense, 6th Region Army Air Defense Command, have turned in 100% of their potential in the United Bay Area Crusade, according to reports received here.

Headquarters and Headquarters Battery of the 4th Battalion, 61st Artillery, Fort Scott, San Francisco County, Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, of the 2nd Battalion, 51st Artillery, Fort Baker, Marin County, and Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 4th Battalion, 67th Artillery, Berkeley, Alameda County, are all well in excess of their quota.

Lieutenant Colonel Calvin B. Leek, UBAC Chairman for the Bay Area Army Nike command, reported that the Army air defense units were already well above 50% of potential at the half-way mark in the campaign. Some units were already over their quotas. Reports have been based on cash turned in.

Officers concerned in the Army Nike units participating in the crusade state that they will hit their top potential by the close of the campaign which extends through the October 31st payday.

The Greens had never asked for help before. And they were determined to repay Catholic Social Service, at least in part. "But we took only a token payment and convinced them that they shouldn't bankrupt themselves," a CSS counselor said.

United Crusade spends the largest part of its budget on services for families and children. And Crusade helped pay the Green's homemaker.

destroy invaders even at tree top level. The Hawk's unique radar system makes it possible for the first time for a missile to pick out the reflection from a moving target at low altitude—in the blind zone of conventional radar—from a mass of signals reflected from ground objects such as hills, buildings and tree tops.

It is the first missile in mobile field use to employ these advanced radars successfully and, as a result, the first with superior very low altitude capability. Its extreme mobility and simplicity make it the most versatile surface-to-air missile available. Units of the system, including launcher, loader and missiles, can be quickly airlifted. It can be transported on highways, using a minimum of vehicles, by helicopter and aircraft.

Hawk missiles will not be fired from their on-site positions except in the event of enemy air attack.

Site selections for emplacement of Hawk weapons have been initiated in New York City and the Washington-Baltimore areas. In addition to site selections being conducted on the West Coast in the San Francisco area, other surveys will take place in the Los Angeles, Lompoc, and Seattle-Tacoma areas.

Research and development studies were begun on the Hawk in June, 1954, by an Army-Industry team, including U.S. Army Ordnance Corps and Raytheon Manufacturing Company.

recent tests at the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico. The Hawk is capable of carrying modern warheads and destroying attacking planes at low altitudes.

Site Selection For New Missiles To Start Soon

The versatile Army Hawk surface-to-air missile has been ordered to the Bay Area for defense duty.

Within the next fortnight, experts will begin selecting sites for the low-altitude capability missile, according to a joint announcement this week by Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army and Major General E. J. McGaw, Commanding General, 6th Region, Army Air Defense Command.

Hawk, Homing All the Way Killer, is considered a key defender of American cities. A versatile air defense missile system designed to provide a very low-altitude capability, it will complement the defense against high-altitude air attack provided by the Army's Nike system.

Hawk sites will be selected on the basis of least disruption to the local economy and community. In choosing possible sites, representatives of the Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters emphasized the fact that the Department of Army policy is to use the least amount of land for the Hawk installations.

Final determination of the exact locations will not be made until all necessary surveys have been completed and approved by the Department of the Army in Washington.

Only enough acreage necessary to emplace, operate, and administer the Hawk system and to afford adequate safety protection will be acquired. Land requirements for a typical Hawk battery consist of about 50 acres in easement and 12 acres in fee. These figures may vary depending upon terrain, safety factors, utilities and access roads.

Where possible, the Hawk sites will be placed on Federal, state and county-owned land.

The Hawk system uses guidance techniques unusually successful in hunting down and destroying the attacker. Its radar "eye" ignores stationary objects, but speeds instantly toward a threatening moving aerial target. The missile has outstanding ability to seek out and

Sixth Army Urges Renewed Vigor In Polio Campaign

Only one person under the jurisdiction of Sixth U.S. Army has been a victim of polio since the inception of the highly successful Spring vaccination campaign.

In a recent letter to the installation commanders, Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, noted that the Salk inoculation program "has been more successful than any other similar military or civilian effort."

"Each of us," he continued, "can be proud of his command's participation. This Army has been spared the ravages of poliomyelitis during the past summer. There has been but one case in an unimmunized dependent child in the entire command."

But, Maj. Gen. Binns said it is important that each station make further positive effort to complete the immunizations previously begun and cautioned that the least well immunized group is that of preschool age children.

"The goal at this time," Maj. Gen. Binns concluded, "is 100 per cent protection against poliomyelitis for all military personnel and their dependents in this command."

A report this week by the Presidio Surgeon revealed that from 1 March through 30 September approximately 2,819 polio injections were administered to military personnel here—1,314 first injections, 978 second injections and 527 third injections. However, only about 31.6 per cent of Post military personnel under age 40 have been inoculated twice.

During the same period approximately 2,850 inoculations were administered to military dependents—1,123 to adults, 1,727 to children.

AADC Has Shortage In Major, Warrant Officer Personnel

The United States Army Air Defense Command has announced that shortages still exist within guided missile units throughout the command for personnel in the grades of major and warrant officer.

Presently the command is short 86 majors with Military Occupation Specialty (MOS) 1181, and 61 warrant officers with MOS 1182.

Department of the Army has announced that transfers to fill these vacancies from overstrength grades in various branches are being encouraged. Qualification for transfer to the Artillery is an acceptable military record and an adequate mathematical background.

Army AG To Retire

Washington (ANS)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker announced this week that the Army's Adjutant General, Major General Herbert M. Jones, will retire 31 October, and will be succeeded by Major General Robert V. Lee, now the Deputy Adjutant General.

Annual Reserve Confab Will Start Here Today

Presidio will host the Sixth U.S. Army's annual Reserve Forces Conference which will open this morning at the Ft. Scott branch of the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

Expected to attend are 23 general officers on active duty and in reserve status who are integral in National Guard representatives can iron out mutual problems in connection with annual active duty for training during the current fiscal year.

In addition, such training in Fiscal Year 1958 will be reviewed. Following is the agenda:

Friday—0800 to 1130, National Guard Conference; 1300 to 1630, Joint National Guard and Army Reserve Conference, Saturday—0800 to 1130, Army Reserve Conference.

Former Executive Officer Now Commanding Presidio

Colonel Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Executive Officer since 1 February, has been named Commanding Officer of the Presidio. He succeeds Col. Charles G. Rau, who left for Ft. Ord last week.

Col. Ratliff came to the Presidio from Korea where he had served as Executive Officer of 7th Division Artillery and Chief, Operations and Training Division, G3, Eighth Army.

Prior to his Far East tour, he was a Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Arkansas State College.

During World War II, Col. Ratliff served as G2 in the China-India-Burma Theater and as Liaison Officer with the British 14th Army and S3 of the Intermediate Section.

Other assignments have included Staff and Faculty, Artillery School, Ft. Sill, Okla., and duties in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, War Department General Staff, Washington, D.C.

Col. Ratliff holds an A.B. and LL.B. from the University of Oklahoma and entered the Regular Army as an honor graduate in 1939. He also is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School and the Artillery Officers' Advanced Course.

His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal.

He and his wife, Ann, reside on Post with their three sons, Frank, Robert and John.

★ ★ ★ Sets Areawide Program In Dollar Conservation

Commanders throughout the eight Western state area which comprises Sixth U.S. Army this week launched vigorous programs to drive home to all military and civilian personnel the continuing demand for conservation of manpower and equipment resources.

Locally, the Presidio Commanding Officer, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, and members of his staff conducted dual sessions here Wednesday and Thursday for soldiers and civilians, respectively.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander, expressed concern about the need for conservation and maximum utilization of "limited resources made available to this command."

In a personal statement, Lt. Gen. Palmer described the Sixth Army Command Management System as an "efficient tool" by which the commander can measure the things his command is consuming.

"He (each commander) must use this tool," Lt. Gen. Palmer continued. "Each of his officers and men must assist him, because, in the final analysis, resources are consumed by the individual officer, civilian and soldier."

In concluding, Lt. Gen. Palmer made the point that "conscientious application of directives and meticulous follow-up on accomplishment of instructions have no substitute in the attainment of success."

With the emphasis on preventive maintenance and efficient personnel utilization, commanders are concentrating on known, but little discussed areas of conservation such as "hot-rodding" in Army vehicles and extended coffee breaks which cost the Government $1,000 for every 3,000 employees who take an extra five minutes of nonproductive time.

Some other things rarely considered are the cost of negative reports or the administrative workload created by alibi documents covering matters which really could be handled by telephone; hoarding of supplies and equipment mean command stocks have to be increased; equipment failures many times can be traced to the cowboy operator who blows more tires, shears more pins, twists more axles.

"Our military effectiveness today depends on control and adequacy of labor and material support; if they are misused, there can be no support—no military effectiveness," officials said.

Honor Today

An eleven gun salute will honor Brig. Gen. Edgar T. Conley, Jr., today at 6900 in the parking area north of bldg. 20. The Sixth Army Band and Honor Guard will be present at the ceremony for the Commanding General of Camp Irwin.

DOD To Support Science Month Plan

A nation-wide program, known as National Science Youth Month, aimed at inspiring and informing American youth in scientific and technological fields, has been endorsed by the Department of Defense.

Acting Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles, in a letter to Dr. Howard L. Bevis, Chairman of the President's Committee on Scientists and Engineers, said the Armed Forces welcomed the opportunity to support and participate in the program.

Mr. Quarles said the plan "will surely help to promote student interest in the sciences" and also give citizens a better insight into how much national security depends on progress in this field.

Wins Commendation

The Commandant of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Scott, Capt. Robert W. Wagers, was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with metal pendant by Col. M. M. Irvine, Chief of Staff of the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

Captain Wagers distinguished himself by meritorious service while serving as Executive Officer of B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, and as training officer at the Air Defense School from April 1957 to September 1958.

Non-Regular Army Warrants Face Release After 20 Years

Washington (AFPS)—Non-regular Army warrant officers who have completed 20 years' active Federal Service, including five years in a WO or commissioned status, will be released from active duty unless they are selected for retention, according to the Army.

Releases will become effective on the last day of the month following the month they complete 20 years of active service. However, as such warrant officers are qualified for retirement, they may apply for voluntary retirement to be effective not later than their scheduled release date.

Warrant officers scheduled for release under the new policy will be notified of their selection for retention or release at least six months prior to their scheduled release date.

Those warrant officers who have, or will have, completed 20 years' active duty by 30 April, 1959, will be released not later than 31 May, 1959.

However, personnel in the above category who have dependent children attending school after 31 May will have their release date extended to no later than 30 June, 1959. The school exception applies to the above group only and will not be granted to those scheduled for release at a later date, the Army said.

The program will not affect non-regular warrant officers who will complete 30 years' service during calendar year 1959 but will affect any who will complete 30 years after 31 December, 1959.

Selections for retention will be based on over-all individual personnel records and qualifications, along with the needs of the Army. The Department of the Army Active Duty Board will make the selections.

Non-regular warrant officers who are selected for retention can expect to remain on active duty until they complete 30 years' active service or reach the mandatory retirement age (males 62 and females 55), whichever is earlier.

XV Corps Sector Conference Starts At Harmon Hall

A two-day conference for XVth Corps Army Reserve Sector and Area Commanders opened yesterday in Harmon Hall with remarks by Major General John W. Harmony, Corps Commander.

Those attending the conference represent Army Reserve advisory groups in the states of California, Arizona, and Nevada.

Subjects to be covered included the personnel field, Army Command Management, Army Training Tests, Medicare, G2 operations, Reserve training operations, Reorganization of the Army Reserve, and G4 operations.

Rickover, Gruenther Win Special Roosevelt Medal

Two of the nation's outstanding military leaders have been named recipients of the Theodore Roosevelt Distinguished Service Medal for 1958.

The Army's retired Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther and Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover will receive the medal on Monday, 27 October, the 100th anniversary of the birth of the nation's 26th president, honoring them for their contributions to the national defense.

Gen. Gruenther, now president of the American Red Cross, capped a long and brilliant military career with his service as NATO commander-in-chief. Adm. Rickover, still on active duty, is known as the "father of the atomic submarine."

New Huachuca CG Here

There will be an honor guard ceremony here Monday at 0900 for Brig. Gen. Frank W. Moorman, new Commanding General of the Electronic Proving Ground at Fort Huachuca.

During the day, he is expected to pay a courtesy call on the Command Group and confer with various staff chiefs.

Two In Area Make Grade In College Plan; Others On Standby

Two Sixth U.S. Army soldiers are among the 122 enlisted men who are attending 38 universities and colleges in the United States and Hawaii under the Army's new school program for enlisted men.

Neither is from the San Francisco area.

However, none of the 57 applications submitted from men throughout the command have been disapproved. "All are on a standby basis," a spokesman for Sixth Army AG Schools Section said.

Army-wide, it is predicted that one out of every 12 applicants will attend school this year. An estimated 1,500 applications have been received to date.

CERTIFICATE OF PROMOTION to the grade of E-8 is presented by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, 6th Region Commanding General, to M/Sgt. Grant J. Nethaway, chief clerk in the 6th Region USARADCOM headquarters, G-3 Schools Section, Fort Baker. M/Sgt. Nethaway's new grade was one of four already awarded to noncommissioned officers in the 6th Region.

Test Yourself

Are You An SS?

Are you a social shirker?

Do you turn your back on your community responsibilities?

Are you like the magpie—large in yak, small in do?

No. Well, read no farther then . . . hey, wait just a doggone minute! Not so fast. Maybe you had better take our test before you leave. Just to be sure.

If you can answer yes to all the following questions, not only are you out of the "social shirker" class, you're a real GMTHA (Good Man To Have Around). Wanna try?

1. Do you contribute a certain amount of your spare time toward making your community a better place to live in?
2. Do you occasionally visit the sick?
3. Do you aid the poor?
4. Comfort the distraught?
5. Are you a volunteer whenever a community crisis arises?
6. Can you be depended on, at all times, to give specialized assistance to those with special health, welfare or youth problems?

Well, how did you do? Don't let it throw you. Only the "ideal" citizen could make even a "fair" score in such a demanding test; however, here's a one-question out. If you can truthfully answer yes to the following question, all your sins are forgiven. You'll still be a "good man to have around."

Have you given your fair share to the United Bay Area Crusade?

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

The daily headlines tell the story—the world-over struggle between the ideas of free men and despots.

How does it involve you? You have "A Part in Winning Friends for Freedom," but have you decided exactly what it entails?—how you can best serve America's cause abroad?

And have you written a letter about it for the Letter Writing Awards Program, Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa.? The Nov. 1 deadline is close. Remember—a letter of not more than 500 words may bring you an award of as much as $1,000.

Write Right Now

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union . . ."

The familiar words of our Constitution's Preamble bring back memories of grammar school and trying to put all the right words in the right places as we woodenly recited them for the edification of our classmates.

Memorizing was a much feared chore in those days, but the teacher's word was law (at least until three o'clock) and if she said memorize, we memorized. We didn't ask why.

Today, with elections in the near future and grammar school carefreeness in the distant past, it's time to ask why.

What we mechanically memorized was the introduction to a document drawn up by a group of men with an idea for the future. They predicted great things for this country and put their faith entirely in the people to accomplish this greatness.

The best method for doing this, these men felt, was to give the new nation representative government and let the people make the required choices.

In the 182 years since the founding of the United States we have undeniably become great. But, at times, we demonstrate a disturbing complacency. A big vote banishes complacency and reaffirms our belief in the wisdom we memorized in our moppet days.

Remember how that Preamble continues? ". . . to establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity. . . ."

Why vote? Need anyone ask???

Communist Record Belies 'Sweet Talk'

(By Armed Forces Press Service)
(Last of a six-part series on international communism)

A prime technique of Communist states the world over is to alternate between bellicose sword-rattling and dovelike trillings about peace. It is effective because the first alarms the smaller free nations while the second gives them the wistful hope that the Communists mean what they say.

The free nations, large or small, work for a peaceful world and mankind's general betterment. The Communists—when it serves their ends—pretend to speak the same language. But do they practice what they preach?

Look at the record since WWII. When the war ended in 1945, idealists the world over looked toward a new era of peace and progress in which Russia would join freedom-loving peoples to rebuild on the rubble of war.

But in that same year Russia was demanding Turkish bases and territory. In 1946 she refused to withdraw her troops from Iran, and her Red satellites aided the Communist guerrillas fighting to take over Greece.

In 1947 Communists were striking to sabotage the Marshall Plan for European Recovery. In 1948 they took over Czechoslovakia by coup and tried to drive the Allies out of Berlin with a blockade that was thwarted only by an epic airlift. And in 1949, in the Far East, Chinese Communists drove Nationalist forces off the mainland.

Peace? Progress? In 1950 Communist North Koreans slammed across the 38th Parallel and set the peninsula aflame, to be followed by hordes of Red Chinese "volunteers." The bloody conflict raged until 1953.

In 1954 the Communists shifted their attack south and forced a division of Indochina, and in the same year stepped up their shelling of the Nationalist-held offshore islands.

In 1955 the Soviets agreed to supply arms to Egypt. In 1956 they brutally crushed a revolt by Hungarian patriots.

And in 1958, 13 years after the end of the greatest war in history, the Communist pattern is unchanged. Russia threatens intervention in the Near East while Red China waves the war flag in Asia.

That is the record, the plain facts. Communists cannot change them; they can only deny them.

The Communist olive branch, subjected to scrutiny, turns out to be poison ivy. A poison compounded of hate, greed, oppression and a ruthless ambition to conquer the free world and remake it into one single giant police state.

Colorado Springs, Colo. (ANS)—Sentry dogs have been adopted by the United States Army Air Defense Command as one of the means of increasing security at Nike guided missile sites. Other means being used were not announced, but a spokesman said that because of their keen scent range of 200 yards, the dogs will be used for guard duty during the night. Teams of dogs and trainers, he said, are already being assigned to selected Nike Hercules sites.

U.S. Far East Policy

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

United states policy of nonrecognition of Communist China "proceeds from the conviction that such recognition would produce no tangible benefits to the U.S. or to the free world as a whole," the State Department has declared.

In reiterating U.S. policy regarding Red China, the State Department also pointed out that recognition would help the Chinese Communists extend dominion throughout Asia.

The reaffirmation of U.S. policy came in a comprehensive memorandum sent to all U.S. diplomats abroad.

The memorandum said that the first need in the Far East is to deter Communist aggression, "else the free nations will be in grave danger of succumbing to Communist pressures before they have gathered the strength with which to resist them."

The memorandum added that U.S. policy in Asia, as elsewhere, was aimed at promoting "the domestic welfare and strengthening the independence of free nations."

It further stated that such a policy can only be promoted "if the Communist threat is neutralized."

Events in the Far East, said the memo, confirm the U.S. view that "its interests and those of the free world are best served by withholding diplomatic recognition from Peiping."

what they said

In retrospect, we sometimes can name certain events which had determining effects on our lives. Or sometimes events have impressed us more than they have determined any actions. We were wondering this week if any of you could pinpoint a specific occurrence so we asked:

THE QUESTION: What single news event has had the greatest impact on your life?

ANSWERS:

Col. Harold A. Davenport, Sixth Army Provost Marshal: Pearl Harbor had the greatest effect on me. It changed my whole life. I had been a school teacher, and at the time of Pearl Harbor was on one year active duty as an instructor in infantry training at Camp Wheeler, Ga. My one year was extended on and on, and I was eventually integrated into the regular Army. One of the greatest effects Pearl Harbor had was on our own country. Prior to that time, we were very complacent. The saying "Remember Pearl Harbor" caused the country to become united. It took something like that to make our people realize that whether or not we like war, we had to mobilize to destroy the demigods. The American is a funny individual. It takes something of that sort to awaken him, but once awakened, you can't stop him.

Mrs. Laura Farrell, Engineering Section, Sixth Army: I think I was most affected by the news of a train carrying National Guardsmen from the vicinity of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania when it was involved in an accident and nearly 200 were killed. I knew some of their families. It seemed so strange. They were close to home, almost at their destination. Then to go like that, so needlessly, not in action. I guess it was an act of fate. We never know why these things happen. It's so strange.

Pfc. Robert Hoffman, Administrative Assistant, Post QM: I can't say that I've been particularly affected by any one single news event. But the great technological improvements made recently have certainly given me food for thought. They all seem to be geared toward destruction, not toward the improvement of men. Even the satellites are aimed toward the control of the earth. It makes me think we are trying to conquer each other rather than living with each other. When Sputnik was launched I felt like we had been beaten. In trying to reach the moon, I wonder what our purpose is. We are trying to conquer space instead of conquering the problems of the world itself.

Gerald C. Whitney, Sixth Army Transportation: The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor probably had the greatest effect on my life. Think of the impact on this nation . . . the movement of the people, the change in economy . . . we were all picked up like straws in the wind and tossed here and there. The most important effect was that it threw all the resources of the United States into the fray. It resulted in tremendous industrial expansion, spurred the development of latent resources, and caused the population to shift. I think it is still too soon to determine its full effect on history. There is no question but that Pearl Harbor did spur the growth of communism and resulted in further subjugation of the individual to his nation.

All-EM Retreat Parade Welcomes New 61st CO

Lieutenant Colonel Ernest J. Whitaker took command of the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Artillery, at Fort Scott this week, replacing Lieutenant Colonel C. P. Samson, who had been in command 18 months.

A Change of Command ceremony was held yesterday on the Fort Scott parade grounds. It was an all enlisted man retreat parade with cannon salute and the Sixth Army Band.

Col. Whitaker was graduated from the West Point Military Academy in 1941. In World War II he participated in six major campaigns in Italy and Europe. Under the Army School's program, Col. Whitaker received his MRA from the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University.

He served in Korea with Hq. 24th Inf. Div. Arty. and after two major campaigns went to Japan where he served with the Logistics Command.

In 1954, Col. Whitaker graduated from the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth and was assigned to the Office, Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, Department of the Army. He remained there until 1958 when he attended the first NIKE Universal Officers Qualification Course at Fort Bliss, Tex.

In eight major battles in two wars, Lt. Col. Whitaker has earned five overseas bars, and 12 ribbons medals, among which are the General Staff Identification, the Army Commendation Ribbon, the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Legion of Merit.

Col. Whitaker, his wife and six sons live in Marinwood, Marin County.

Late Flashes

Washington (ANS)—THE BIG PICTURE's extraordinary film presentation, "The General MacArthur Story," will be televised by 346 stations during the first week of December. After the preview, one critic commented: "In this feature, the name General Douglas MacArthur does not fade away, but shines brilliantly on the TV screen with a glow of the soldier's tremendous personal integrity."

Washington (ANS)—Frescanar, the Army's new "Three-dimensional" radar which detects airborne targets at extreme range and simultaneously computes distance, bearing and altitude, has been called one of the most important advances made in electronic detection since the development of radar, itself. It is the eyes of "Missile Monitor," the Army's air defense guided missile fire distribution system for mobile use with a field army.

Fort Benning, Ga. (ANS)—"The role of the American Soldier will not diminish even if we do hit the moon," General Bruce C. Clarke, Commanding General of the U.S. Continental Army Command told the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference here last week. "There will never be a time in our country when the American Soldier is obsolete."

Washington (ANS)—The Army announced this week the award of a contract to Chrysler Corporation, of Detroit, Michigan, in the amount of $2,092,000 for the JUPITER Missile program.

Washington (ANS)—A special pamphlet entitled, "Why the U. S. Stands Firm on Not Recognizing Red China," will soon be distributed Army-wide. The pamphlet supports the Troop Information objective of providing Army personnel with accurate and timely information on important and international events and policies.

The United States Army must have the means to suppress local conflicts quickly, since their continuation may lead to the great atomic war which it is our purpose to avoid.—The Army Information Digest.

New High Court Rule

Defendants before general courts-martial may no longer be represented by persons who are not lawyers, the U.S. Court of Military Appeals has ruled.

Judge Homer Ferguson, speaking for the court, said "The price paid for incompetence and lack of professional ability is too dear to permit an accused's life and liberty to rest in the hands of one untrained in the law."

"Be jabbers, man!"

'We're all Army, what else'

Three handsome Irishers doing Army chores,
Another signed up, and then there were four.

Line them up in a row and what do you see?

Four soldiers, four redheads, four Mollahans! But three of them wear skirts!

The quartet became complete this week when Dominica raised her right hand and was sworn into the Women's Army Corps, thus joining the rest of her family.

Big brother John is a sergeant at Fort Hood, Texas. But the sisters, both privates first class, are right here at the Presidio. Margaret, who is Dominica's twin, is a medical assistant and receptionist at the Post Dispensary. Rose, the twenty year old "eldest sister" of the trio, is assigned to the Machine Records Unit.

When Recruit Mollahan left by plane this week to begin her basic training at Fort McClellan, her two red-headed Army sisters were there to wave goodbye. No doubt the Mollahans are hoping that someday they will all be stationed at the same base.

Chem Center Volunteers Must Apply By Thursday

Volunteer applications by male enlisted personnel for the Medical Research Volunteer Program conducted at the Army Chemical Center, Mayland, must be submitted through normal channels on DA Form 1049 to Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, Attn.: AMNPR-PER. Applications must be in by next Thursday, 30 October.

The following requirements must be met:

- Aptitude Area GT Score of 90 or higher.
- Completed Basic Training.
- Physical profile category A or B.
- Age 17 to 35 years.
- Minimum of five months remaining service as of date of application.
- Security clearance: No adverse information in local intelligence files.

Those volunteers who are accepted will be placed on temporary duty at the Army Chemical Center, Maryland. When the 30-day period is ended, the volunteer will return to his parent unit. The volunteer is not subject to fatigue or special details and at all times will be entitled to the customary pass and recreational facilities and privileges.

From the Army Almanac for November: Protected against Indian raids by Army Troops, workers on the California Southern Railway drove the last spike at Cajon Pass on November 9, 1885.

Vice C/S Says Communist Danger To Last Long Time

Williamsport, Pa. (ANS)—"The Communist bloc gives every indication of being able to perpetuate the cold war indefinitely," General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, the Army's Vice Chief of Staff, told members of the West Branch Manufacturers' Association here last week. "The danger we face is not a thing of the moment."

Addressing the manufacturers' fall banquet on "The Challenge to National Security," General Lemnitzer pointed out that the Soviet Union:

- Has an army which, with the possible exception of its Communist Chinese ally, is the world's largest.
- Has a very real and formidable submarine force.
- Has a substantial atomic stockpile and a growing fleet of long-range aircraft.
- Continues its efforts to acquire intercontinental ballistics missiles.

"With such impressive military force, the Soviet Union certainly has the capability to launch all-out nuclear warfare on a global scale," the General explained. "It also has the capability to wage limited war."

The General also stressed that ever since the Communist Revolution (more than 40 years ago) determined expansion through the most callous military aggression has been a routine device of the Communist regimes.

"Of the various conflicts which could be classified as little wars which occurred between World War I and II, the Soviet Union participated in no less than six. Since the end of World War II there have been 17 such conflicts, with the Communist bloc nations participating in nine," he said.

He also pointed out that Communist strategy includes economic aggrandizement, propaganda warfare, subversion, infiltration, and the coup d'etat, as well as the massive military threat. Then, he declared:

"If past behavior can be taken as an indication of future intentions, the Communists have left no doubt either of their aims or of the means they are willing to resort to in order to achieve them."

Army Has 18

BARC Now Unit Operational

Washington (ANS) — For the first time this summer, the Army's huge, tested, BARC (Barge, Amphibious, Resupply, Cargo) is being operated on a "unit" basis.

The 554th Transportation Platoon (BARC) today is playing a valuable role in transporting necessary supplies "over the beach" at difficult landing sites at Greenland, and in support of Air Force operations in the Far North.

The BARC (capable of transportation of up to 80-ton military payload from ship to shore, over-the-beach and inland to a depot or transfer point in one continuous operation) is designed to carry heavy and bulky items of equipment, such as tanks, crawler cranes, trucks and artillery pieces.

On land, each of the BARC's four wheels is independently powered by one of the vehicle's four 165 HP diesel engines. On entering the water, twin screws are engaged with each being powered by one pair of the same engines that are used for the land drive. The BARC can be steered by its engines if the rudder becomes inoperable. Giant 36.00 x 41 tires, standing nine and one half feet high reduce ground bearing pressure sufficiently to permit the vehicle to travel over difficult terrain.

Overall dimensions: length, 61 ft., 8 inches; width, 27 ft., 9 inches; height, 17 ft., 6 inches. Cargo space dimensions: length, 38 ft., 3 inches; width, 14 ft.; height, 5 ft., 6 inches. The vehicle weighs approximately 100 tons.

Developed by the Army Transportation Corps in 1951, the BARC was for a period of years given exhaustive testing which proved it so satisfactory that the Army now has 18 such craft.

The crew of a BARC is composed of 8 men, including a SFC crew chief, an operator, two engineers, two senior crewmen, and two crewmen.

BEST GIRL SCOUTS selected to attend the 1959 Senior International Roundup at Colorado Springs are (l. to r.) Judy Gambort and Martha Still. Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, and Mrs. James Enneier, leader of Troop No. 5, look over the letters carrying the news.

Presidio Scout Pair To Attend Big Meet

Two Presidio Senior Girl Scouts have been selected from fifty troops to attend the 1959 International Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Colorado Springs next July.

Martha Still and Judith Grambort will be among the 7500 girls from the United States and foreign countries at the week long roundup. "A mile high and a world wide" is the theme of the international gathering. The girls will camp out and exchange ideas and experiences with other girls from many nations.

Martha and Judith participated in a competitive weekend of camping at Camp Merced where they were scored on camping skills, personality traits, adaptability, and ability to represent the Girl Scouts of America at the international meeting.

Martha is the daughter of M/Sgt. Paul Still (6th RAADCOM) and Judith is the daughter of Lt. Col. Everett Grambort (6th RAADCOM). They are members of Presidio Girl Scout Troop No. 5.

Win High Praise

Master Sergeant and Mrs. John D. Vekich recently received a Certificate of Appreciation for their outstanding contribution to youth activities at the Presidio.

M/Sgt. Vekich has served as a class leader in the Presidio Junior Rifleers and in off-duty time trained more than 150 boys and girls in the safe handling and shooting of guns.

Mrs. Vekich volunteered her services in maintaining the records and statistics required for each member.

Vet Pensions Not Based On Old Age Factors Alone

No veterans' pension based solely on age is authorized for veterans of World War I, World War II, or the Korean conflict, Mr. J. Glenn Corbitt, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in San Francisco, said recently in answer to numerous queries.

However, Mr. Corbitt said, pensions may be granted veterans of World War I, World War II, or the Korean conflict who are permanently disabled from non-service-connected causes.

Mr. Corbitt pointed out that such veterans must have been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions after at least 90 days' active service. However, service of 90 days is not required if the veteran was discharged for disability incurred in line of duty.

"Non-service-connected disability pension to a World War I, World War II, or a Korea veteran," Mr. Corbitt emphasized, "is payable only if the veteran's other income does not exceed $1,400 if single, or $2,700 if he has a wife or minor child."

The monthly pension rate is $66.15. The rate is increased to $78.75 after 10 years or when the permanently and totally disabled veteran reaches the age of 65, Mr. Corbitt added.

Cake Sale Planned

There will be a cake sale at the Winfield Scott School sponsored by the PTA next Friday, 31 October. The children will have a Halloween parade in costume beginning at 1330. Coffee and cake will be served to the parents.

During the next 10 years the world's requirements for electric power are expected to double, according to the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Language Course Plan

Military personnel interested in an accelerated foreign language program which will enable them to acquire a speaking, understanding, and writing facility in one new language are requested to contact the Education Center, extension 4445 or 2974.

Under consideration for an experimental program are French, Spanish, German, Russian, and Italian. Whichever course is selected will be on the college level and will carry college credit for successful completion. If enough people are interested, classes will begin on or about 1 November.

Officers Recently Assigned

New Chief of Sixth U.S. Army's G3 Training Branch (Training Division) is Lt. Col. HARRY H. ROBERTSON, Purple Heart veteran of the Battle of the Bulge during World War II.

Lt. Col. Robertson came to the Presidio after a three year tour in the J3 Operations and Training Division, Alaskan Command Headquarters.

After having enlisted in April 1939 and serving in the 15th Infantry Regiment, he was commissioned a second lieutenant on 31 January 1942. For the next two years he was an instructor in various Infantry replacement training centers before joining the 75th Infantry Division as Commander of I Company, 289th Infantry Regiment.

In addition to the Purple Heart, he was awarded the Combat Infantry Badge for his service in Europe.

In 1946, Lt. Col. Robertson went to the Far East as Purchasing and Contract Officer for Korea Base Command. A year later he was released from active duty and joined the Spice Islands Company in San Francisco.

Thirteen months and 13 days after his release (and on the 13th of December 1948) Lt. Col. Robertson was recalled to active duty and named Commander of the 1st Battalion, 9th Infantry Regiment, 2d Infantry Division, Ft. Lewis.

In May 1950 he went to Eighth Army Headquarters in Japan but with the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, he went there with an advance Eighth Army unit to help set up Headquarters, Eighth U.S. Army, Korea (EUSAK).

He returned to the States in February 1952, bringing with him the Air Medal with Cluster and the Bronze Star.

For the next three years, Lt. Col. Robertson served as Senior Army Advisor and later ROTC Affairs Officer in Headquarters, Southern California Military Sub-District, at Ft. MacArthur. He then assumed his position in Alaska.

Lt. Col. Robertson graduated from the Basic Reserve Officers' Refresher Course (Rifle and Heavy Weapons) at Ft. Benning, Ga., in 1942. Eleven years later, he completed courses at the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.

Having attended the University of San Francisco for a year and a half, he currently is enrolled in the San Francisco State extension program here.

Lt. Col. Robertson lives in San Rafael with his wife, Donna, and their four children, Harry, 10; Donna, 9; Christopher, 8; and Grace, 3½.

A native San Franciscan recently was named Chief of Sixth Army Transportation's Motor Transportation Division.

He is Lt. Col. ARTHUR J. LAIB, JR., who for the past three years has been Deputy G4 for Headquarters, Base Section, U.S. Army Communications Zone, Europe, in Poitiers, France.

Born here 46 years ago, Lt. Col. Laib attended Grant School and Lowell High School before matriculating to Stanford University. His son, Arthur, 11, was born in Letterman Army Hospital.

At present, his wife, Yvette, and son live with him in Parkmerced, San Francisco.

Lt. Col. Laib entered active duty in May 1942 as a second lieutenant and until 1944 was stationed at Ft. Mason. In that year, he attended the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., and then joined GHQ Southwest Pacific for a five-year tour which took him through New Guinea and the Philippines and on to Japan. While with GHQ he was in G4 Section and earned the Bronze Star.

A freight traffic manager in San Francisco prior to entering the Army, Lt. Col. Laib was assigned in 1949-50 to study freight traffic management activities with United States Steel Corp., which required travelling more than 22,000 miles to visit principal USS subsidiaries throughout the country.

From September through December 1950, he was with the Pacific Transportation Zone Office, Salt Lake City, Utah, but when that office closed he went to Ft. Eustis, Va., as member of the faculty and staff, Transportation School. Thirteen months later, he transferred to the Office of the Chief of Transportation, Department of the Army, as a Traffic, Plans and Policy Officer.

In January 1955, he attended the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., completing his courses in July.

Sent to Europe, he was S3 of the 11th Transportation Terminal Command B at Rochefort, France, before assuming his most recent assignment.

Maj. JOHN C. BOLEYN, 38, has been assigned to the Troop Program Branch, Sixth Army G1 Manpower Division, after 15 months' service with the Training Section of 7th Infantry Division Headquarters in Korea.

Enlisting in 1941, he was appointed to the Military Academy shortly thereafter and graduated in the Class of 1945. Upon leaving the Point, he served three years in Germany and Austria with the 16th Infantry Division, earning the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his performance there.

After completing the Advanced Infantry Officers' Course at Ft. Benning, Ga., in 1949, he spent the next three years as an ROTC instructor at the University of Kentucky and then returned to Europe.

In Germany, he worked in the office of the Secretary General Staff, Headquarters, U.S. Army, Europe, for a year and a half and then spent another year there with the 26th Infantry Regiment, 1st Infantry Division.

Before going to Korea in early 1957, he served in the G1 Section, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

He now lives in San Francisco with his wife, Helen, and their daughters, Margaret, 11, and Linda, 9.

The United States assumed formal jurisdiction over Alaska on 18 October, 1867.

Navigation Course Set

A series of classes in Air Navigation will begin next Thursday, 30 October. Classes will meet every Tuesday and Thursday in Bldg. 258 from 1900 to 2100.

A course in Meteorology and a class in Aircraft Engines will commence after Christmas. These classes are part of a series which will be completed in June. Certificates will be awarded and college credits will be granted.

Futher information may be obtained at the Education Center, extension 2974.

Getting to be a habit . . .

Makes Soldierly Bearing Pay

With some people, it's habitual.

Sp3 Richard Beltz evidently just can't help it. This is the third,third, third time he's been chosen Soldier of the Month.

Sp3 Beltz is from A Btry., 2d Bn., 51st Arty. He entered the service in 1956 and took his basic training at Fort Hood, Tex., and attended a Fire Control Maintenance School at Fort Bliss, Tex. Sp3 Beltz came to A Btry. in September 1957 and plans on making the Army his career.

The three time winner has received a total of $75 from the 30th Artillery Group, plus a total of $15 from Murray Circle Cleaners at Fort Baker. He has a three day pass in his pocket, free tickets to the Esquire and United Artists theaters, three bowling lines downtown, and 30 gallons of gasoline.

Sp3 lives with his wife and new baby boy in Mill Valley. No triplets?

THREE TIMER as soldier of the month is Sp3 Richard Beltz who accepts a check from Col. Iver A. Person, Commanding Officer of the 30th Arty. Gp.

with Christine Johnson

She might have said, "The quality of mercy is not strain'd, it droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven upon the place beneath."

But this lady lawyer, unlike Shakespeare's Portia, said "I don't know what makes a person want to be a lawyer. I took one of the Stanford Preference tests about three times and each time it said . . . be a lawyer!"

So this week the Presidio had its first lady lawyer, as Capt. Ann Wansley began a tour of duty in the Post Judge Advocate section.

Capt. Wansley graduated from the University of California with a degree in economics. She then entered Boalt School and in three years earned her LL.B. There followed a brief period with the Federal District Court in San Francisco before she entered private practice in San Diego, her home town.

In a so-called man's profession, is there any discrimination against women? "There is no discrimination that you can feel. I assume there is a certain amount of client resistance, but one never knows. If they don't want a woman lawyer they don't come. As far as discrimination from lawyers and courts, there is none."

In 1953 Capt. Wansley entered the WACs as a first lieutenant. She served for a year and a half as instructor in Military Justice at Fort McClellan, Ala., then was sent to Kaiserslautern, Germany. Her next assignment was in Orleans, France, where first she was Executive Officer and later Commanding Officer of the WAC Detachment.

When Capt. Wansley speaks of the law, it is easy to see why she chose that profession. She becomes intent on what she says, she thinks deeply, and doesn't say a word unless she clearly means it. When asked which part of the law she prefers, Capt. Wansley said, "Trial work is more fun, but it is also more of a strain."

"In the first place, a man is entitled to counsel whether he is guilty or innocent. In the second place, it is not the lawyer's job to judge the man. The lawyer's job is to represent the man to the court and to the jury. Nobody, even including the judge, knows whether the man is guilty or innocent until after the jury has decided that fact. Only the jury is entitled to determine an individual's guilt or innocence."

"Even after the verdict is rendered, the lawyer may still not be 100% sure of all the facts. In the only murder case I defended, a shooting had occurred at a party. Five witnesses gave five different stories. The jury rendered a compromise verdict of second degree murder. At the time, I was convinced of his innocence, but now I'm not sure and I'll never be sure."

"But as you can see, it is not the lawyer's business to decide whether or not the client is guilty."

STRENGTHENING THE UNITED NATIONS contains the text of the 10th report by the Commission to Study the Organization of Peace. This report grew out of the reports of 12 study committees and contains the recommendations for maintaining international peace and security, protecting human rights and fundamental freedom, and developing international cooperation.

The basic physics that underlies electron devices including both electron tubes and transistors is explained in FUNDAMENTALS OF ELECTRON DEVICES. In this book K. R. Spangenberg has used physical rather than mathematical terms, with emphasis on their similarities rather than their differences.

Top Briefing Set For Area Ladies

A briefing on the "U.S. Global Policy and the Sixth Army's Role in Support Thereof" will be held Monday, 27 October, in the Post Theatre at 1030.

The program will be given in four parts. Following opening remarks by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth Army, a talk on "The World Situation, Its Post War II Development to the Present," and "The Trouble Areas—Mid-East, Formosa, Malaya, and Korea," will be given by Capt. Richard M. Anderson of the Secretary General Staff.

"U.S. Global Policies: General, NATO, SEATO" will be discussed by Maj. Joseph Hynes, of the G1 Section.

"The U.S. Army's and Sixth U.S. Army's Roles in Support of the U.S. Global Policy" will be discussed by Capt. Charles C. Miller from the G3 Section.

All wives of military and civilian employees or female civilian employees at the Presidio and outlying areas are urged to attend. The purpose of the briefing is to correlate the events of the post world war era and to present the really important events affecting the military and to show exactly the Sixth Army's contributions in carrying out the national global policy.

The program is sponsored by the Presidio Woman's Club. Buses will be provided by the Post Transportation and will leave Wherry Housing and Fort Scott at 9:45 and will continue on their special routes through the Presidio to the Nursery to discharge the children. The buses will then go on to the Post Theatre. At the close of the program, the buses will return on the same route.

Army To Host Orphans

About 50 children from the Sunny Hills Orphanage and Farm will be entertained by the dependent children at All Hallows Nite next Friday, 31 October, at the Fort Baker Service Club.

The costume party will begin at 1900 and continue to 2200. Prizes for the best costumes will be awarded. A visiting magician will give a show and a combo from the Teenage Club will provide music.

Wins Crafts Title

In the recent crafts contest on the 6th Region Army Air Defense Command first prize was awarded to Sfc. Harvey W. Bogardus, Btry. C, 4th Msle. Bn., 61st Arty., at Sharp Park, for his work on a hand-tooled walnut stock and refurbishing of an old Springfield rifle. Second prize went to Pfc. Walter Crow, Btry. A, 4th Msle. Bn., 65th Arty., Los Angeles, for his hand carved oak candlesticks. Pfc. George K. Endo, Btry. B., 1st Msle. Bn., 56th Arty., La Canada, took third prize for his hand-carved painted bird group.

M/Sgt. Grant J. Nethaway, recently appointed to E-8 at Fort Baker Headquarters, represented the military in a group of five civilians judging the contest.

Customer Comment

A newly developed "Customer Comment" program has been set up at the Bay Area exchange. Customers are encouraged to use the suggestion box placed in the main exchange and the forms available at all exchange activities to express requests and suggestions for improvements.

Baker Spooks Meet

There will be a big Halloween costume dance at the Fort Baker NCO Open Mess next Friday night from 2100 to midnight. Prizes will be given for the most original and funniest costumes. Dance music will be provided by Ernie Bala and his band. The evening is planned as a UBAC benefit.

UNITED NATIONS DAY is celebrated locally tonight at the Presidio Service Club when a folk dance group will present dances of many nations. Wearing authentic foreign costumes, the group will perform, among the dances, the Neapolitan Tarantella, the Jarabe Tapiato, and the Zillertaller. Everyone is invited to attend the program, which will begin at 2015.

99th Engineers Upset Honor Guard

Missile High Netters Win First, Drop Next

Volleyballers from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, split this week with two steady rivals, dropping a 2-4 decision to Oakland "Y" and besting the "Y-men" from Embarcadero.

Against the Oakland sextet, the local lost their usual spiking power and succumbed 8-15, 15-12, 15-8, 13-15, 12-15 and 8-15.

Earlier, the local highnetters reversed the trend of weakening at the end and, after dropping the first game to Embarcadero "Y," 10-15, rebounded to smash the highly vaunted seawallers three straight, 15-13, 15-8 and 15-8.

Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, describing the spiking of Pfc. James McLin as "sensational," said the team "is getting in good enough shape so we can take on a heavier schedule and increase skull sessions."

To Test Opponents In AADC Badminton Play

Badminton hopefuls from 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery for the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command title play Monday at Fort Scott gym will be Sp4 William Godsey of C Battery and Pfc. Terry Munro of A Battery.

Sp4 Godsey and Pfc. Munro finished one-two in the Battalion singles elimination this week at Fort Scott.

Pfc. Munro also teamed with battery-mate Sp4 Robert Given to take the doubles championship. The runner-up team from Headquarters Battery was Sp4 James McCutcheon and Pfc. Jerry Helms.

Keg Action Stays Hot & Heavy; Orbits, Brewmasters In Play

G1 keggers in the Bay Bowling League this week relied on Ross' 591-232 to keep a firm grip on the League lead as they belted Garrison, 4-0. High man for the losers was Kiersztian, with 544-203. The loss kept Garrison in a tie for sixth place with the Triple Aces.

The Triple Aces meanwhile took it on the chin, 4-0, from the fourth place Compt-Rollers. Leading the winners was Routen, 520-203, while Goettl, 484-173, paced the losers.

Third-place MRU gave G1 an assist by dropping the runner-up JAGS, 3-1, behind the 546-198 of Gnat. Top man for the JAGS was McAfee, 554-199.

In the only other League game, the fifth-place Sixth Army Signal took a 3-1 decision from cellar-dwelling Headquarters Company Sixth Army. On top for the victors was Perham, 498-181; best effort for Headquarters was Maybee's 472-168.

Over in Berkeley, leading the pack after three weeks' play in the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery League are the Guided Muscles, with an 11-1 record. Right on their heels, however, are the Eightballers, 10-2.

Five best bowlers in the eight-team League thus far are CWO Raymond Burns, Chabot Lakers, 190 average; Pfc. Johnathan Alee, Beerkeggers, 175; M/Sgt. Forrest Johns, Eightballers, 174; M/Sgt. Leslie Heath, Guided Muscles, 174; and Sfc. John Jones, Eightballers, 170.

Names are busting out all over in WAC bowling circles. Following

LAH Keglers Hold Top League Spot

Letterman Army Hospital keggers this week held on to first place in the Northern California Military Sports Association by dumping a supposedly strong Fairfield Air Force Station quintet, 3-1.

Sfc. Maynard Matthiesen's 226 game put him in a three-way tie with two Ft. Mason bowlers for high-game in the four-week-old league. Posting the high series for the locals was Sfc. George Alberts, with 553.

LAH was scheduled to meet Sacramento Signal Depot at the Letterman alleys last night, but results were not available at press time.

Locals Win Ten Slots On Cal Fencing Team

Lights burned in the Letterman gym until well after 0200 last Sunday morning as fencers vied for final slots on the California team which will meet Mexico 14 November in Mexico City.

Presidio-Letterman foilsmen garnered four of the six positions in foils making a total of 10 of 18 team places taken by the locals.

Winners in epee and saber were determined the previous weekend.

The top three men in each event will represent California, while the other three will stand by as alternates.

Local placers in all three categories are:

Foils—M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, 2d; coach Bill O'Brien, 3d; 1st Lt. Bill Coleman, 5th; and Carl Dorman, 6th.

Epee—Ed Purdy, 2d; M/Sgt. Pasol, 3d; Col. Laurance H. Brownlee, 6th.

Saber—Col. Brownlee, 3d; M/Sgt. Pasol, 4th; and Mr. O'Brien, 5th.

Prior to the California meet, Presidio-Letterman fencers will meet Mexico 12 November.

SCORING PUNCH for Sixth Army's high-riding touch football team was provided this week by Sp4 Myron Bromberg (L) and Pfc. Joe Gascon, both of whom scored three times in two games. Pfc. Gascon also added a conversion.

Sixth Army Wins Pair; 194th Ord Surprises

By Sp3 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

The crystal ball has been shattered.

Touch footballers in the Engineer League knocked the pins from under at least one of your sports editor's predictions.

But play in the Presidio League went according to Hoyle, and the big battle for Post champions, scheduled to begin on or about Wednesday, still may shape up as predicted.

In the Engineer League, the favored Honor Guard six may be counted out because of a 7-0 upset at the hands of the 99th Engineers, knotting both teams in third place.

Big gun for the giant-killers was quarterback Sp4 Ed Shum, who legged it over the goal from five yards out in the second period.

The way things stand now, the 21st Engineers (picked for third) occupy the top slot, with 5-0, but the 21st still has to face the Honor Guard and the 99th.

In second place, as predicted, the 537th Engineers is pressing hard with a 6-1 record.

The crystal ball picked a tie between Sixth Army Headquarters Company and Letterman Army Hospital, and entering the final week of play both teams boast a 7-0-1 and have to face the same team—194th Ordnance—in their final games. Both should win, throwing the League championship into a tie.

Sixth Army this week belted MRU (picked for third), 27-6, in a hard fought contest on the PX field. Days later, they knocked off XV Corps, 19-0.

In the clash with MRU, the losers tallied first but Sixth Army's Pfc. Joe Gascon crossed the chalk twice before the first half ended on 29 and 45 yard passes. Sp4 Myron Bromberg added the other Sixth Army tallies in the third and fourth quarters.

Netting the scores for Sixth Army against XV Corps were Pfc. Gascon, Sp4 Bromberg and Pvt. Jan Lloyd. Pfc. Gascon added the single conversion.

The 194th Ordnance, which must face Letterman and Sixth Army to finish the season, smothered Garrison Headquarters Company, 33-13, in a display of power which surprised local pundits.

Pfc. Steve Brock ran eight yards and pulled in a 25-yard pass to score twice for the winners. Pfc. Rallo Warren added another for the 194th and Sp4 Malcom Ornduff tallied twice.

4th Msl. Bn. Opens Oakland Terminal Bowling League

A new 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery bowling league got underway recently when Battalion Commander Lt. Col. Roy H. Lundgren rolled the first ball at the Oakland Army Terminal bowling alleys.

Each battery has furnished two teams, as follows:

Headquarters, Eightballers and Space Dogs; A Battery, Chabot Lakers and Beer Keggers; B Battery, Ridge Runners and Ridge Rocks; C Battery, Missile Masters and Guided Muscles.

After the first week of competition, the five top bowlers are M/Sgt. Leslie G. Heath, Guided Muscles, 189; Pfc. Jonathan Alee, Beer Keggers, 187; M/Sgt. Forrest Johns, Eightballers, 181; CWO Raymond R. Burns, Chabot Lakers, 177; and Sfc. Everett F. Skinner, Jr., Chabot Lakers, 166.

The top seven men will represent the Battalion when and if outside matches are scheduled.

Annual Sports Meet Due Here Next Month

Presidio will host the annual Sixth U.S. Army Sports Conference scheduled for 19-21 November, it was announced here this week.

Henry Gustafson, Sixth Army Sports Director, will head the three-day parley with the assistance of Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer.

Meetings will be held in Presidio Service Club No. 1.

Topping the agenda will be a discussion of the current Department of the Army sports participation policies and implementation of an allied Sixth Army policy.

A tentative program also calls for a series of informative talks ranging from costs and budgets to coaching trends and care of equipment.

As in previous years, emphasis will be placed on gaining maximum participation in installation sports programs and development of intramural competitions.

Also expected to be discussed are the role of the Armed Forces in Pan American and other international meets and a preview of the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Mr. Gustafson said that letters announcing the conference were forwarded this week to installations concerned.

LAH Drops Opener To Mather 23-48

The Letterman Army Hospital WAC basketball team dropped its season opener in the Women's Interservice Recreation League, 23-48, to a taller, more accurate Mather Air Force Base sextet.

Letterman's ladies will journey to Travis Air Force Base Tuesday for their second League encounter.

Leading the locals in pointmaking in the first game Tuesday at Mather AFB was Sp5 Mary Grose-close, who netted 10 markers. Others who hit the scoring column were Pfc. Mary Otilar, 6; Pfc. Geraldine Fevella, 5; and manager Sgt. Josie Stallings, 2.

Getting the nod as best defensive player was Sp5 Carrie Wynne.

61st Arty. Volleyball Crown to 'B' Battery

C Battery of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, for the second straight year has won the interbattery volleyball crown by wresting the championship from a strong runner-up B Battery.

B Battery, behind the spiking of Sp4 Alan Alexander and Pfc. Don Hubbell, surprised the defending champs, 14-16, 15-11 and 16-14, in the first round of the finals to force a playoff. Relying on two members of the Battalion team, Pfc. Allen Kincaid and Pfc. John Sadler, C Battery came back to take the crown, 15-5, 12-15 and 15-5.

A, D and Headquarters Batteries also participated.

EVERYBODY PLAYED as the Toreras overwhelmed a green Ft. Mason WAC basketball sextet, 89-18, last Thursday night at Letterman gym. Seeing action were (l. to r.): First Row—guard Sp4 Molly Edwards, forward Cpl. Florian Vierra, forward Sfc. Mary Phillips, forward Sfc. Georgia Kelly (holding mascot "Peanuts"), forward Sgt. Terry Silva, guard Sp4 Diana Kinsel and guard Pfc. Fumika Uyeda. Second Row—coach Sp5 Arleen Patt, forward Pfc. Evelyn Yaggie, forward Sp4 Hazel Moody, guard Pvt. Roberta McAllister, guard Sp4 Marjorie Rinke, guard Pvt. Marie Levering, forward Pvt. Barbara Bennet, guard Sp5 Irma Collins and forward Pfc. Mary Murphy. Not shown are guard Sp4 Peggy Harris and forward Pfc. Claudette Schleman.

Vierra Dunks 23 Points As Toreras Crush Mason

Ft. Mason's WAC basketballers came to Letterman gym last Thursday night to absorb a crushing 89-18 pounding from a smooth, experienced Presidio Torera sextet but left the floor at the game's end with every spectator's admiration.

Trailing by anywhere from 10 to 71 points throughout all but the opening minutes of the game, the scrappy visiting six—though badly outclassed in every respect save sportsmanship—never gave a hint of resignation to defeat, never quit in the face of insurmountable odds.

Nothing clicked for the neighboring ladies as the veteran Toreras poured in point after point unchecked to rack up a record victory. Classy Cpl. Florian Vierra hooked and set and rebounded to pace the locals with 23. Close behind was last year's high scorer, Sfc. Georgia Kelly, who posted 21.

During the scoring parade which saw every Torera forward tally, Sgt. Terry Silva got 10; Pfc. Claudette Schleman, 9; Pfc. Evelyn Yaggie, Sfc. Mary Phillips and Sp4 Hazel Moody, 8; and Pfc. Mary Murphy, 2.

On the short end of height and experience, the Ft. Mason forwards were unable to cope with Torera guards, especially Sp4 Peggy Harris and newcomer Marie Levering.

But the visitors never stopped trying, despite the disappointment of time after time losing the ball to ball-hawking Torera defenders.

Previous high game for the locals was their lopsided win last year over the Hamilton Air Force Base WAFs, 72-44.

On Tuesday night at Letterman gym, the Toreras continued their winning way by dumping the Pittsburg Comets, 42-29, in a non-League tilt which once again found the emphasis on defense.

Against the usually high-scoring Comets, the margin of victory proved to be the aggressive ball-hawking of standout defenders Sp4 Edwards and Pvt. Levering.

The scrappy Comets proved tough on defense, too. Using a tight zone defense and controlling the inside, they stopped hook shot artist Cpl. Vierra with 5 and forced the Presidians to shoot from outside.

Setting from behind the foul line Sfc. Kelly bucketed 22 to pace the Toreras. Also hitting the scoring column were Sfc. Phillips, 7; Sp4

30th Arty. Volleyball Tourney Due At LAH

The 30th Artillery Group volleyball tournament has been set for 3-8 November at the Letterman Army Hospital gym and shapes up as a struggle between the mis-sileers of 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery and 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery.

A slight edge goes to men of the 4th Battalion, who have had a heavy outside schedule.

The 6th RAADCOM finals will be held here 29 November through 2 December.

Basketball Clinic Set

The annual Presidio basketball clinic will be held 10 November at the Post Theater and Letterman Army Hospital to prep intramural coaches and players on latest casaba rules and techniques.

From 0900-1130, enthusiasts will hear talks from well known Bay Area referees, coaches and athletic directors, as well as watch a movie on highlights of last season's professional play.

The afternoon session will move at 1245 to the Letterman gym for court demonstrations.

Beale AFB Will Host 10 Hunters Each Day

Presidians with a yen for fresh deer meat or a plump pheasant now may hunt within the boundaries of Beale Air Force Base, near Marysville.

But, only 10 Post enthusiasts per day may take advantage of the Air Force's hospitality; and hunters must be armed with a special permit from the Presidio Sports Office, as well as current California hunting licenses.

Of special interest to fowl fanciers is that although the regular pheasant season runs from 15-30 November, a special season at Beale AFB has been scheduled from 1 November through 14 January.

The following also may be shot there from 1 November through 1 January: quail, rabbits and squirrels. Deer season closes 26 October.

Hunters must pay a $1.00 fee which will authorize hunting until 1 September 1959. Private automobiles also must be registered with the base Provost Marshal, as must weapons.

No guns or shells are available at the Air Force base. Billeting and messing facilities are available, but only at the individual's expense.

Visiting hunters will be allowed to enter and leave the post only between the hours of 0600 and 2300 daily.

Turkey Shoot Set Pistol Range Site

Presidio Dan'l Boones can have Thanksgiving dinner as good as on the table if they sign up for the Post Gun Club's annual Turkey Shoot scheduled for 22 and 23 November here.

Open to everyone, the shoot will feature skill and lucky target events with .22 and .45 calibre pistols and .22 rifles and every winner gets a turkey.

Presidio pistol range (near the Motor Pool) will be the site. Firing will be held from 1300 to 1700 on the 22d and on the following day, from 0900 to 1700. Weapons and ammunition will be furnished by the Gun Club.

Tickets are now available from any member of the Gun Club.

Night baseball was introduced into the major leagues on May 23, 1935.

Finalist Meet Tomorrow In Post Team Roll-Off

Tomorrow afternoon top Presidio keglers will vie at the Service Club alleys in the final six games of an 18-game roll-off designed to select a Post bowling team to compete in the Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League.

Naming of the seven-man team, however, will be delayed until Sunday afternoon when several bowlers make up games not rolled during the scheduled competition.

At the completion of two-thirds (12 games) of the roll-off, nine men shape up as the chief competitors for slots on the Torero team.

Leading the pack is Sfc. Donald Andreson, whose 2264 total pins gives him a 188.8 average. But close behind is Sfc. Ed Johnson, with a 188.1 and 2256 pins.

Less than one percentage point separates the next three hopefuls: M/Sgt. Charles Mahon, 182 and 2194; Pvt. Stan Bowlds, 181.9 and 2181; and Sfc. Theodore Krencicki, 181.1 and 2173.

Lined up in sixth place is Col. Harold Browning, with 178 and 2139; next is Capt. Neil W. Sanders, 176 and 2116, followed by Capt. Edward Rusek, 175 and 2100, and Sfc. Glen Bolton, 174 and 2088.

Dates for the opening of some California waterfowl shooting areas were announced recently by the State Department of Fish and Game. Three areas definitely will open 11 October: Grizzly Island area in Suisun Bay; Honey Lake in Lassen County; all units of the Imperial Area in Imperial County.

SF-Travis Natators Take Three Firsts

San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command natators had to sit out the 6th ARADCOM swimming championship meet which ends today at Hacienda Hotel pool in San Pedro, Calif.

Instead, splashing against the defending titlists of the 47th Artillery Brigade of Los Angeles are mermen from Seattle's 31st Artillery Brigade who swamped the local hopefuls, 52-36, at the Letterman pool last week in a meet to determine which team would take the trip South.

Only three San Francisco-Travis swimmers, all from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, placed first in the 10-event meet. Diver 2nd Lt. Phineas Morrill of B Battery took top honors in the one meter springboard class; Pvt. Charles Scheich of C Battery paced the field with 3:26 in the 200 yard breast stroke; and Pvt. Craig Winn of D Battery posted a 3:32 to cop the 200 yard backstroke.

2nd Lt. Morrill also placed second in the 100 yard butterfly and the 200 yard freestyle; Scheich was 2nd in 100-yd. freestyle.

AREA CONFEREES to the Sixth US Army annual Reserve Forces Conference held Friday at Fort Scott, California, gather with Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth US Army, and Major General Robert L. Howze, Deputy CG, Reserve Forces. Gains made in training in National Guard and US Army Reserve Force units during the past year were discussed along with plans for 1959.

Marines Lead Services; Army Drive Needs Fire

Competitive Exams For CG Academy Set For February

As usual, it was the Marines who had landed and had the situation well in hand, this week, at least their portion of it. Mid-campaign totals in the military section of the United Bay Area Crusade shows the Leathernecks way in front with a solid 92% of their projected potential.

The Army stood second best with 58%; the Navy at 48%; the Coast Guard with 43%, and low service team on the totem pole was the Air Force with 25%.

Breakdown of the Army by installations and units gave the SF Ordnance District a resounding 152%; Army Chemical Procurement, 127%; Army Audit Agency, 103%; SF District Engineers, 83%; XV Corps (Reserves), 80%; Letterman Army Hospital, 63%; Alameda Administrative Center, 62%; South Pacific Engineers, 61%; 6th ARADCOM, 60%; Pacific Transportation Center, 59%; Army-AF Exchange, 55%; Camp Stoneman, 53%; Presidio, 48%, and Army Recruiting, 23%.

At his staff meeting this week, Maj. Gen. J. J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, urged keymen to stress the outstanding and varied work done by the 250 agencies of UBAC.

"Many people don't give their fair share because they have not personally visited some of these fine volunteer organizations. Where they can, it would be a wonderful thing for the donor, and the Crusade as well, if they could see just what was going on. Keymen and section chiefs should make a special effort to get these people to one or more of these activities."

At the Presidio, every effort was being made to push the potential mark higher. Keymen were being urged to recanvass their area and "hard sell" the need for increasing donations to the "fair share" potential.

Army contributions, although higher than last week, are still far from the established goal. Stressed once again was the convenience of pledging now and paying later, with payments spread over a period of time.

Listed below are Sixth Army and Presidio staff sections which have scored the highest and the lowest. Farther down the list are Sixth Army and Presidio units and their high and low scores. The per cents were figured as of 22 October.

Sixth Army staff sections which to date have scored the highest are listed below:

Nationwide competitive examinations for cadet appointment to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy will be held 24-25 Feb., 1959. Unmarried servicemen between 17 and 22 years who are high school graduates are eligible to compete in the annual examinations. The tests will be available to military candidates in Europe and the Far East as well as in the U.S.

Complete information on the cadet program may be obtained by applying to: Commandant (PTP-2) U.S. Coast Guard, 1300 E Street, N.W. Washington 25, D.C.

Language Facility Opened At Ft. Hood

A new Army language training facility to maintain and improve the skills of Army linguists opened recently at Fort Hood, Tex.

The school is one of three planned by the Army. The other two will be at Ft. Bragg, N. C., and Ft. Meade, Md.

In addition to an electronic laboratory accommodating 48 students, the facility includes a tape library, a reference library with books in 27 languages, film and record room, classrooms, recording rooms and a maintenance shop.

New Civilian Agency Takes On Key Projects

Washington (AFPS)—The scientific satellite programs, planned lunar probes and super-thrust rocket engine development have been shifted from Armed Forces projects to the nation's new civilian space agency.

Activated 1 October by Act of Congress, the National Aeronautics Space Administration, an independent government agency, by Executive Order of the President has taken over:

- The Army's future Jupiter C "baby moon" launchings, calling for putting into orbit two inflatable spheres 12 feet and 100 feet in diameter and a cosmic ray satellite.

- The four lunar shoots authorized for the Air Force and the Army by the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

- The Navy's Project Vanguard, which has announced four additional satellite firings.

- Air Force programs for developing nuclear and fluorine engines and the million-pound thrust single-chamber rocket booster.

In addition to these undertakings previously assigned to the Military Departments, NASA also has absorbed the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, a civilian-government agency devoted for the past 43 years to aeronautical research.

Scout Rallies Start

Tomorrow morning "Roundup Rallies" sponsored by the Boy Scouts, will be held in all parts of the city. This is the chance for any interested boys to find out about the program and perhaps join up.

The rallies will be held from 0930 to 1200 and will feature games and skill competitions. The Roundup Rally nearest the Presidio will be on the Marina Green at the foot of Fillmore Street.

Top 100% Mark

Two Air Defense units here were honored this week in San Rafael for having topped the 100 per cent mark in the current United Bay Area Crusade.

They were Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, and Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery.

Another unit, Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, also has had perfect participation in the fund drive, but its report of fulfilling the goal was received too late for its inclusion in the San Rafael UBAC meeting.

'Best' Plaques Given

At ceremonies on Fort Scott parade ground this week, Col. Iver A. Peterson, Commander of San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command, awarded "Best" plaques to the 4th Bn., 61st Arty. These covered performance for the first quarter of the fiscal year 1959.

Winners were: Best Craft Shop, A Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Fort Funston; Best Launcher, B Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Fort Scott; Best Security, A Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Fort Funston; Best Engineer Equipment, B Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Fort Scott; Best Supply, A Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Fort Funston; Best Re-enlistment Achievement, 4th Bn., 61st Arty., Hq. at Fort Scott.

Going To Be Away?

Absentee voting for the 4 November election is now in progress at the City Hall. Voters who expect to be away on election day may vote on the voting machines set up in Room 158, City Hall.

Paper ballots will be mailed to persons physically unable to go to their polling place, or to persons who are leaving the City and are unable to vote now at the City Hall. Requests must be signed by the voter and give his registered address as well as the address to which the ballot should be mailed.

Absentee voting closes 30 October and applications must be received by 1700 that date.

Things Can Be Rough

When A Crippler Hits Your Home

"Sometimes a very sick person needs more psychology than nursing," says the Oakland Visiting Nurse Association.

An Oakland Army captain's wife agrees with this. She's one of the many service people being helped by this United Crusade agency. We'll call her Kay Jackson, although that's not her real name.

Life is pretty rough for Kay Jackson. A few years ago she came down with multiple sclerosis, and now she spends all her days in bed or a wheel chair. Thecrippler MS is painful too, and science doesn't hold out much hope for Kay.

Letterman Hospital referred the Jacksons to Oakland VNA because the 250-some United Crusade agencies are for service people and civilians alike. Since late 1956, VNA has been sending a nurse to the Jackson home three times a week and has taught their housekeeper practical nursing.

Kay Jackson needs the VNA nurse more than ever now. Her husband was transferred from the Bay Area a short time ago, and this leaves her alone with their eight-year-old son and the housekeeper.

"So the most important thing we can do is keep up the mother's spirits," says the nurse. She is Mrs. Kimmie Sato, a graduate of Stanford University. Like other VNA nurses, she has a degree in public health and training in psychology.

"I honestly don't know what I'd do without her—lose my mind, I guess," Kay Jackson says.

This is just one of the many cases of Service families helped by VNA. United Crusade also has Visiting Nurse Associations in San Francisco and San Mateo Counties.

College Courses Open; 10 November Deadline

Four new on-post college courses have been announced by the Army Education Center beginning in mid-November. Enrollment deadline is 10 November. The classes will include:

● Psych. 140—Social Psychology (3 units). Monday and Wednesday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1131, starting 17 November. An investigation of the development of the individual in a cultural context. Exploration of factors contributing to personality. Theories of personality as they apply to understanding individual behavior in social settings. Communication as a psychological problem between groups and individuals. Prejudice analyzed as a psychological phenomenon. Propaganda and public opinion in a democracy. A look at some social myths as they relate to ability to maintain contact with reality. Perception as a psychological problem and the implications in terms of human behavior when perception is distorted. Opportunity to do research in the field during the semester. Satisfies the General Education requirement in Psychology.

● Engl. 6.1—Basic Communication (3 units). Tuesday and Thursday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1131, starting 18 November. This course is designed to increase the student's ability to write and read. It provides exercise in various prose types, such as description, exposition, argument and narrative. Classes will be run as far as possible by informed discussion of reading materials and the written work of students in the class. Materials will be both traditional and modern. Reading will cover essays, poetry, short stories, and the novel. Satisfies college requirement in oral and written expression.

● Geog. 125—Economic Geography (3 units). Monday and Wednesday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1101, starting 17 November. Economic Geography is concerned with the arrangement and location of economic activities on the earth's surface. Economic activities of consumption and production and their functions are analyzed and delimited geographically. The structure of an economic region is developed in the concept of an economy, which is defined as a system of production and its geographically associated features of consumption. Economic regions are studied on a world basis. May be applied to either Geography or Economics upper division social science major field.

● I. R. 124—International Organization (3 units). Tuesday and Thursday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1101, starting 18 November. The state system and the development of international institutions. The traditional approach to this aspect of international affairs is expanded to reflect the deepening cohesiveness between realistic political maneuvers and formal organizational procedures. The processes of venting national aspirations, accommodating national actions, and channeling national desires for cooperative endeavor are studied from an international point of view. The United Nations system, including the regional and defense organizations for which it provides, and the specialized agencies which have been drawn into it, is studied both as a historical-political process and as a functional framework for international activity of all kinds. May be applied to General Social Science major.

Enrollments for above classes will close 10 November, 1958. Students shall call at the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, or telephone Extension 3189 to register prior to closing date. Holidays during above semester will be 27 November and 19 December-5 January.

From the Army Almanac: The first American Artillery shot in World War I was fired October 23, 1917, by a gun under the command of Sergeant Alexander Arch in the Lunenburg sector.

USER-DRIVER OF THE MONTH Floyd Williams accepts letter of commendation from Capt. James Bradley, Motor Division, Post Transportation.

High School Classes Set

High school classes leading to a diploma will begin next Thursday, 6 November. Classes in General Science will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1800 to 2100 in Bldg. 252. English and Literature classes will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays. These classes will meet for eight weeks.

Classes in General Mathematics and U.S. History and Government will be offered in February. High school diplomas will be awarded to students who complete all four courses.

Personnel who may not be sure of their high school eligibility should contact the Education Center, extension 2974.

His Own Two Feet

When Help Was Badly Needed

Little Ricky Brown can stand on his two feet now, thanks to the Marin Red Cross Chapter, a part of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Ricky is the son of an airman at Hamilton Air Force Base. That's not his right name, but he's a real boy living in Novato.

Ricky's troubles began when he was four months old. He suddenly developed a bone condition and needed a brace for one of his legs. His family couldn't pay for it, and they had no place to turn except to the Red Cross. Red Cross, which is supported by United Crusade donations, could pay and did.

"And Red Cross really put us back on our feet, too," says an airman for one of the Marin NIKE sites.

The NIKE man and his wife got into a bind last spring when she was pregnant and something went wrong. He took her to Marin General Hospital and then sent his mother-in-law money so that she could come out from the East.

"Then I was almost flat broke—didn't even have money for food or taxi fare to visit my wife at the hospital," he says.

Red Cross straightened things out by paying the hospital admission charge and lending the airman more money to live on.

And who else calls on Red Cross? Last year the San Francisco chapter reported 789,800 different services to military people. And the 10 other Red Cross chapters in the United Crusade helped many thousands more service people.

OK Green-Dacron For WAC Wearing

Washington (AFPS)—A new green cotton-dacron cord uniform has been approved for wear next summer by women in the Army.

The Shade 160 service greens will take the place of the present WAC taupe cotton summer dress as replacement is required.

Under a plan phased through 1962, sales and issue of the new uniform to recruits will start at the beginning of the 1959 summer season, with further wear of cotton taupe unauthorized two years later.

WACs will be required to purchase the green dacron from their clothing allowance as the taupe cottons become unserviceable during the wear-out period, the Army said.

Ask Keymen, Unit Chiefs To Reach Top Potential

Keymen here are sharpening their pencils and their wits today in a last ditch effort to push their respective units and sections over the top in the waning days of the 1958 United Bay Area Crusade.

A few—five to be exact—could rest on their laurels since they've already "shot the moon" in percentage of participation and potential, but it's a safe bet the same drive that sparked them to initial success will keep them hammering until the last minute.

Seven other keymen have registered 100 percent participation but have fallen short in the dollars and cents column. With today the last official campaign day, and a military pay day to boot, those fellows are sure to make a final pitch for the bacon.

As one keyman put it, "I've got three pay days and three types to work on—'not again'... 'what do you mean, my fair share,' and 'gosh, I can't afford it.' I think I've got the right answers for all three."

But, it could all boil down to a matter of pride. The Army is languishing in a weak second place among the military with only 71 percent of potential while the local Leathernecks need only 2 percent more to reach the top. Close behind is the Coast Guard with 60 percent, while the Navy has registered 58 percent and the Air Force only 37 percent.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander and head of the UBAC military section, has stressed the need for "intelligent and personal leadership by unit commanders and section chiefs." He said that an appeal to the individual's "pride in the team effort" should do much to raise lagging groups to their top potential.

Win Performance Cash

Two civilian employees in Sixth U.S. Army Secretary General Staff Office recently received $100 each for "Outstanding" ratings.

Miss Marguerite Worsley, a secretary, has more than 16 years of Federal service. Mrs. Sally Minnear, a clerk and assistant to the OIC, came to the Presidio in 1951.

Wins New Driver Award

The first man to be awarded a letter of commendation in the newly established User-Driven of the Month by Post Transportation is Floyd Williams.

A driver for the Post Signal Section, Williams has driven seven years with 250,000 accident free miles. He was selected on his driving proficiency, appearance of vehicle, quality of performing maintenance, courtesy, and personal neatness.

Out of 320 vehicles maintained by Post Transportation, 50 are User-driven.

Win Performance Cash

Two civilian employees in Sixth U.S. Army Secretary General Staff Office recently received $100 each for "Outstanding" ratings.

Miss Marguerite Worsley, a secretary, has more than 16 years of Federal service. Mrs. Sally Minnear, a clerk and assistant to the OIC, came to the Presidio in 1951.

Set Retreat Ceremonies For Today

Vol. 7, No. 23 PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday 31 October, 1958

8,200 Army Pro Pay Awards Due By Feb. 1

Washington (AFPS)—Service-wide quotas under the Army's interim pro pay plan authorize more than 8,200 awards of $30 a month in specific skills through next 1 February.

Part of the new Enlisted Management Program, proficiency payments will start 1 Nov. for 2,056 selected in six critical MOSS, with additional awards to be made in designated fields on the first day of the succeeding three months.

A breakdown of the November quota, by occupational specialty and MOS code number, is:

- Service-to-Air Missile Electronic Assembler: 223.1 (12 awards); 223.2 (140); 223.6 (176); 223.7 (144).
- Surface-to-Surface Missile Electronic Assembler: 224.2 (3 awards); 224.3 (1); 224.6 (44); 224.7 (21).
- Surface-to-Air Missile Fire Control Crewman: 227.2 (121 awards); 227.6 (264).
- Central Office Supervisor: 333.6 (363 awards).
- Medical Laboratory Specialist: 931.1 (171 awards); 931.2 (147); 931.6 (200).
- Voice Interceptor: 988.1 (203 awards); 988.2 (28); 988.6 (18).
- The later allotments will be December—1,598; in 23 skill levels and 10 MOSS; January—2,203 in 29 skill levels and 12 MOSS; and February—2,354 in 17 skill levels and five MOSS.

• Proficiency pay selections under the long-range plan, which is based on the Enlisted Evaluation System, will start March 1, 1959, to bring the number of awards to 28,800 by next June 30.

Some of the displays include diving equipment, mobile dental van, and bookmobile. Lunch will be served at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, the Non-Commissioned Officers' Open Mess and Enlisted Messes. There will be a retreat parade at 1600.

Some 1500 retired personnel are expected to attend.

Delfinger Awarded

Harry L. Delfinger, Jr., Sixth U.S. Army Ordnance Electronics Engineer, this week was awarded the Army's second highest civilian award, the Meritorious Civilian Service Certificate, by Sixth Army Chief of Staff Maj. Gen. John J. Binns.

Mr. Delfinger also received a silver lapel pin and $200 during the ceremonies.

At the Presidio for the past three years, he previously had been awarded $300 for compiling into a single volume all technical material relative to maintenance of the Nike-Ajax missile.

Complete AADC Tour

Completing a three-week observation schedule of U.S. military installations and facilities, Maj. Gen. Chung-yang Lo, Maj. Gen. Siao-yu Chiang and Col. Ke-chuang Liu, officers in the Chinese Nationalist Air Force, visited units of the 6th Regional U.S. Army Air Defense Command here this week.

Internal Revenue Bulletin 1958-37 states in effect that an employee (serviceman) need not report on his tax return expenses for travel and similar purposes paid for the benefit of his employer (the service) if he is held accountable to his employer or if it comes as reimbursement.

An employee, says the bulletin, will be deemed to have made such an accounting if he received a mileage allowance of not more than 12½ cents per mile or a per diem allowance of not more than $15 per day. These exempted rates exceed normal government allowances within the U.S.

Set Refresher Course

A refresher Intelligence Training course for military and civilian personnel who are in sensitive positions or who have access to classified materials will be held next Wednesday, 5 November, in the Post Theater at 1100. Another class will be held on Wednesday, 19 November.

Three Will Take Parade Eight More End Careers

Nine Presidians will bring their Army careers to a close here today when they retire in tradition on the last day of the month. Three of them will be honored during parade ceremonies at 1600 on the main parade ground. They are: Col. George O. Pearson, Presidio S4, who will be awarded the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit. A veteran of the South Pacific and mid-Pacific Campaigns during World War II, Col. Pearson later commanded the 508th Regimental Combat Team at Ft. Benning, Ga., and in 1953 was named Deputy Commander of the Berlin Command, Germany. In June 1954 he assumed the identical position in Southern Area Command, Munich, Germany; 20 months later he became Chief of Staff of Allied Land Forces, Denmark, in Copenhagen, where he remained until coming to the Presidio.

coming to the Presidio was as Commander of the 82d Ordnance Battalion at Kaiserslautern, Germany. Maj. Ziesing plans to go into the coin business in Paradise, Calif., after retirement.

CWO Knut E. Lossbom, Assistant Chief of the Sixth Army G2 Management Office since December 1956. Beginning his career shortly before Pearl Harbor with the 7th Field Artillery at Ft. Ethan Allen, Vt., he remained with the unit throughout World War II, during which time it was redesignated the 25th Field Artillery. CWO Lossbom, who has held a number of intelligence posts in the United States and Europe, served after World War II in Germany and then returned to the States for duty with the Joint Intelligence Objectives Agency of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Returning to Germany in 1952, he served in Heidelberg with U.S. Army Headquarters, Europe, until coming to the Presidio in 1955. He plans to travel following his retirement.

Other Presidians who will retire but who will not participate in today's ceremonies are: M/Sgt. Douglas B. Sheridan, Presidio Range NCO and former mainstay of Post marksmanship teams. One of 11 men on active duty to hold the Distinguished Marksmanship Badges for both rifle and pistol, the sharpshooter will return to his home in Phoenix, Ariz., as a civilian marksmanship instructor for the Air Force.

M/Sgt. Henry C. Hager, a mess steward with the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery. Beginning his service in 1935 at Ft. Bragg, N. C., he served with the 6th Air Corps and 45th Cavalry (Mech.) during World War II. His post-war assignments were in Korea, Japan

Civilian Job Openings

The office of civilian personnel has announced two vacancies which must be filled. For detailed information on the openings telephone extension 2349 or 4233.

A clerk, GS-301-4, is needed by Presidio Headquarters with duty in Sausalito. Clearance is required and the salary is $3,755 per annum.

A management analyst (manpower utilization and control) is needed at Headquarters XV Corps. The pay is $5,985 and clearance is required.

TOP TROPHIES for military bands from South San Francisco's Golden Jubilee Parade on 19 October are presented to the Sixth U.S. Army Band by Mr. John D. Keser, assistant parade chairman. In front of the massed band are (l. to r.) Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, First Sgt. Edmond Gedrocz, holding the Sixth Army Band's second place trophy, Mr. Keser, Sgt. Alvin Pierce, holding the Sixth Army Pipe Band's first place trophy, and CWO Louis Ferraro, Band Commander.

Assault On Angel Island

Angel Island succumbs to invasion! One hundred students from the Richardson Bay School will invade the island today at 1330 and will scamper up hills and down dales on a tour of inspection.

The students, in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades, will be divided into three groups and taken in buses and trucks over the island, to the hobby shop, and the assembly area. An M boat will motor them to and from the island.

Four teachers and the school principal will accompany them. Capt. James O. Earnes, Delta Btry., 2nd Msle. Bn., 51st Arty., is in charge of the tour.

The principal objectives of the conferences are to stimulate and enhance chaplain reserve training and recruiting.

The courses will include subjects such as "The Chaplain as Counselor," "The Chaplain in the Pentomic Concept," "The Post Chaplain," and "Army Program System," and "The Revised Character Guidance Instructional Program."

Chaplains of the National Guard have been invited to attend.

XV Corps To Hold Two Conferences For Area Chaplains

Two conferences for Army Reserve chaplains will be held in November.

The first of the two-day sessions will start on November 17 in the Southern California Sector, XVth US Army Corps (Reserve) at Fort MacArthur. The second conference will begin on November 20 in the Northern California Sector of XVth Corps at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Junior Grade Success

"How many skeletons are here?" squeaked an excited voice into the ear of the big sergeant. "Sergeant . . . I think I felt a ghost!" whispered another.

The children stood before gloomy Fort Point, looking at it incredulously. They were like the approximately 400 other school children who have visited the Presidio since June of 1958.

They squeal and stare their way through the tour and stop longest at the old wonderful favorites . . . the cannons, the mess hall, the barracks, and old Fort Point.

This week a letter came to the Sergeant at the Sixth Army Public Information Office. It was written in pencil on blue lined paper half the size of a desk top. "We wish to thank you for showing us around the Presidio. We enjoyed visiting Fort Point, the Officers Club, and the helicopter. We thank you again for being so nice to us."

Attached to the letter was a crayon drawing. A strip of blue across the top was the sky. The sun, with eight long arms and an enormous smile, beams down on a red outlined hangar. Plunging down from the sky comes a small green airplane, evidently headed straight for the ground which is a strip of solid brown at the bottom of the paper. And in the hangar sits a helicopter. Its body is green. It has a purple engine and a long black tail.

We wish to thank the children for coming and for being so nice to us and sending us that pretty picture.

The Military Mind

"The Military Mind"—you hear so much about it. But what is it?

Probably it is the most overworked and misleading phrase ever to distort the public's idea of the Armed Services. To an ambitious, intelligent young man it pictures a service career as a bleak life of lockstepping conformity.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Today's ideal military man is the man who uses his mind as more than a filing cabinet for the rigid precepts of others. He thinks critically. In the words of a famous general recently retired, he represents "intelligent non-conformity."

Discipline is an indispensable factor in the military; no nation in history has ever been successfully defended by a mob. But the disciplined man is not necessarily the regimented one. He trains his mind to be tough, flexible, receptive to new ideas. Facing a critical situation, the solution of which can't be referred to texts or manuals, he tackles it with wits and logic—and comes out on top.

Such a man is nobody's patsy. He can't be summed up in any tired old chestnut. (AFPS)

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

Ever hear of "The Texan Who Conquered Russia"? He's 23-year-old Van Cliburn, winner of Moscow's International Tchaikovsky Piano Competition. Overnight he became an idol for millions of Soviet citizens.

An American idol, mind you—in 1958.

Few of us can be keyboard wizards, but many servicemen abroad have varied talents that can help win the friendly respect of others. If you have ability as a musician, dancer, artist or entertainer, don't confine it to your duty station. People are the same almost anywhere in their appreciation of others with such gifts.

Your own experiences abroad may have proved this. Why not recall them in a letter on the theme "My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom" for the Letter Writing Awards Program of Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. Keep it under 500 words and mail before Nov. 1.

Nickel foolish... pound wise!

Numismatist or not, you had better hold on to that nickel! S/Sgt. Marvin Childers, a coin collector, discovered that sometimes a nickel can be worth a lot more than five cents. He has one nickel that is worth about $10,000. It's a 1913 "Liberty Head" variety, one of the five coins minted in 1913 before the U.S. Mint switched to the buffalo design.

Childers found it one day while browsing through his collection and can't remember where or when he picked it up. His discovery means that four of the five nickels have been located, leaving one still in circulation.

Gotta nickel, buddy?

Late Flashes

Washington (ANS) — All military personnel on active duty for 90 days or more may compete this year in the 1959 All-Army and 8th Interservice Photography Contest, according to DA Circular 23-18 which is now being distributed. Competition will be in two groups: Group I, black and white single photographs and Group II, color transparencies. The Department of the Army level of competition will be judged in May, 1959, with local competition coming somewhat prior to that time, and the interservice contest during June.

Washington (ANS) — Spotting and tracking of nuclear clouds with a relative degree of accuracy by means of radar may now be possible, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Tests made by the U. S. Army Signal Corps show that the Army's advanced weather radar systems, ordinarily used to detect storms and aid in forecasts, may also help to warn soldiers and civilians of probable areas of radio-active fallout from nuclear explosions.

Proved highly effective during high-yield nuclear tests, the Army's radar equipment measured the size and plotted the course of "hot" clouds. During the tests, the first photographs of a radar scope showing the nuclear mushroom were made with a special camera. Successive film exposures showed the formation, rise and drift of the characteristic cloud. The nuclear clouds were tracked for as long as two hours.

Washington (ANS) — "Soldiers' Heritage" (Title of the Army's TV series, THE BIG PICTURE, scheduled for showing about 11 November) is a tribute to veterans. A warm salute to the soldiers who have fought in this Nation's wars, the film will present an intimate look at their part in the history of the United States Army, with dramatic moments of their bravery and their relaxations.

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army, this week, directed all Army agencies and commands using the domestic mails to adjust their mailing schedules for bulk distribution of pamphlets, books and similar matter to reduce the load to a minimum during the period from 1 to 26 December. "Matter of this type," states DA Cir 341-23, "being heavy and bulky, seriously interferes with the handling of the holiday mails and often causes damage to Christmas parcels."

Wersburg, Ger. (ANS)—Stressing that nothing boosts the morale of a soldier in the field like a package from home, the Information Office of the 3d Infantry Division reports that one Pfc. got just what every man on maneuvers needs—a bowling ball. A buddy did even better. He received three boxes filled with maternity clothes for his wife.

what they said

Just as sure as some people have brown hair and others have red, everyone has a certain and particular way of talking. Speech habits and choice of words are determined by many factors . . . early environment, education, and geographical situation. This week, we wondered how aware people are of their own speech habits, so we asked

THE QUESTION: What expression or colloquialism do you use most often?

ANSWERS:

Mrs. Rae Rasmussen, Clerk, Post QM: I stay away from colloquialisms. It's just not my nature to use them. I prefer better grammar. I don't think you can generalize about a person's speech by where he comes from; it depends on what group you come from. I've travelled a little bit so I haven't picked up any particular way of speaking. I feel that poor grammar is inexcusable. I think it represents not caring. Any person can manage to use acceptable grammar. Speaking of surface things, grammar is one of the most important.

Mary K. Bair, Stenographer, Hdqs. XV Corps: I probably say "Oh, phooeeey!" Being a Southerner, I must have picked it up there. A lot of them use it. I'm from Georgia. I say "You'all," but I'd hate to commit all Southerners to my southern accent. I don't think I'll ever lose my southern accent, because I'm going to move back to Florida. I'll probably get more of an accent as time goes on. Really I don't know how to spell these so called colloquialisms, but I guess you might say I say "un-huh" quite a bit!

Tom Conroy, Signal Section, Sixth Army: Well, I'm originally from Oklahoma then Kansas City, Missouri. I like a southern accent. I use "sorry about that." I don't know where I got that. To tell the truth, I've never heard anyone else use it, but I'd hate to take the credit! I never say "you-tall" . . . I'm not that far south. I think an accent is like a personality. It should be strong. I've heard some people with phony accents. I guess that represents a little bit of insecurity. And I'd say mostly bad grammar was being a little lazy.

Mrs. Eileen Wishart, Clerk, Engineering Section, Sixth Army: Well, to be very honest with you, I don't know what expressions I use. But I must use some. I'm from New York where there are plenty of slang expressions. New Yorkers never lose their accent and consequently they are always teased about it. I personally was born in Brooklyn. They say thoihty-thoid street. But I don't. I think in New York we often slur words like dropping "ing" or not using an "r" in the middle of a word. For example, I say New Yawk and cah instead of car and chahter instead of charter. I'm used to jive talk with two teenage daughters. You know, everything is a blast, jazz or real crazy.

How much do you know about the theory of military tactics in eighteenth-century France? THE BACKGROUND OF NAPOLEONIC WARFARE, written by R. S. Quimby, traces the changes in tactics and battle formations and the ideas advanced by Guibert, Saxe, Mazeroy, Pirch, Folard and Mesnil-Durand.

H. S. Ashmore has recently published, in Little Rock, AN EPITAPH FOR DIXIE. In his book the editor of the Arkansas Gazette, a native southerner, states his reasons for his unpopular stand on the crisis in that town and why he believes the South is eventually going to end its segregation policies.

PRACTICAL OFFICE TIMESAVERS, by A. H. Gager, gives simplified work procedures, initiated and tested by member companies of the National Office Management Assn., in such areas as accounting, billing, filing, layout, forms, personnel, payroll, reproduction and typing.

A country by country review of its political, economic and social development since 1953, BIG CHANGE IN EUROPE, by E. B. Bolles, is told mainly in terms of its leading personalities, and spotlights several significant trends.

Problems of American policy are told in DEFENSE OF THE MIDDLE EAST, by J. C. Campbell. This appraisal of recent American policy and current and future problems advocates a national strategy in which military, political and economic factors are interwoven in a consistent pattern, in defense of that region against Soviet encroachment.

Taylor Telford's MARCH OF CONQUEST tells of the strategy and efficiency with which Germany overran Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and France; and the schism between Hitler and his generals which was the source of the final defeat.

Hughes, Air Force Hand LAH Ladies 2nd Straight Loss

Letterman's ladies couldn't stop a gal named Hughes, and that's the crux of the Hospital WAC basketballers second loss in two Women's Interservice Recreational League tilts.

Hughes (rest of name unknown) proved to be the secret weapon of a previously unheralded Travis Air Force Base sextet as she poured in 30 points to almost outscore the locals and head her squad to a 45-34 homecourt victory.

Looping the hoop for Letterman, behind the 16 point effort of Pfc. Mary Otiliar, were Sp5 Mary Groseclose (8), 2d Lt. Edna Smith (7), Sgt. Josie Stallings (2) and Pfc. Geraldine Fevella (1).

The Hospital belles held their own in the second half, outscoring the host team, 23-18, but the late rally couldn't bridge a 15-2 lead Travis took in the first period and followed up in the second quarter with 11-7.

Defensive standouts for Letterman was Sgt. Hilda Melenyk.

Tuesday at 1800 in the LAH gym, the local WACs will meet Hamilton Air Force Base in another League match.

Evangelho Tops

30th Artillery Group Special Services Officer and Presidio Torero basketball 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho this week took top honors in another sports field—he copped the Group singles badminton crown by defeating Sp4 L. J. Daigle of A Battery, 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery.

But, teamed with Pfc. Norman Osburne, also of Group Headquarters, he placed only second in the doubles behind the winning combination of Sp4 Richard Frerkes and Joe Nunan of the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery.

Toreros Meet Chinese In Season Opener Monday

Presidio Basketball Coach Hal Fischer this week named his starting lineup for the Torero's 1958-59 opener against the San Francisco Chinese.

The game is scheduled for 2015 on Monday night at the Chinese Recreation Hall, Washington and Mason Sts.

Taking the floor at the opening tip-off will be:

Forwards 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho, 24-year-old all-Pacific Coast high scoring artist from University of San Francisco and Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe, 23, all-American Honorable Mention from University of Connecticut.

Center and team captain Pfc. John Vesevick, 25, veteran of last year's squad, or Pfc. Joe Savoldi, 24, 245-pounder who is best known for his track feats at Michigan State.

Guards Pvt. Harry Lux, 24, also of Michigan State, and Pfc. John Perry, 21, fast break man from San Jose State.

Big game for the locals, however, is the home opener and first Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League clash at Letterman gym 12 November against a rugged Hamilton Air Force Base quintet. In that game, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, will toss up the ball to start the game. The Sixth Army Band will entertain.

Open Competition Set For Presidio Shooters

Next week Presidio marksmen will vie during dual individual-team meets for slots on the Post rifle and pistol teams slated to compete in Sixth Army matches in late March.

Pistoleers will fire 10 November on the range near Crissy Field, followed on Thursday and Friday by the riflemen at Ft. Barry range. All firing will begin at 0700.

To spur competitors, awards will be presented to the top three firers in pistol and rifle and the first and second place teams will earn trophies (as well as medals for each team member).

M/Sp. D. R. Dunsmoor said this week that "plenty of equipment is available" and guns and ammunition can be requisitioned from Post Ordnance through normal supply channels. M1 rifles and .45 calibre pistols will be used; personal weapons will be acceptable.

In pistol, the Cp. Perry Course will be fired, except that the slow fire will be from 25 yards rather than 50. Riflemen will follow the National Trophy Match Course, except that 500-yard firing will replace that at 600 yards.

Units expected to enter teams and individuals are U.S.A. Garrison, Sixth Army Special Troops, Armed Services Police, 60th CI Detachment, 30th Engineer Battalion, 16th Base Post Office, 194th Ordnance, 561st Engineer Company and U.S.A. Veterinary Detachment.

Navy Warns Skin Divers On Use Of Momsen Lung

Washington (AFPS)—A sharp warning has been issued by the Navy that the Momsen lung, a submarine escape device, is unsafe for skin diving. "Death from suffocation can result," the Navy warned, if the unit is used improperly.

Momsen lungs now being sold as surplus property will be mutilated in the future to prevent their use in the skin diving sport.

The lung, designed to take trapped submariners from sea depths to surface, is being replaced in the submarine service, according to the Navy.

A more modern method of escape involves the use of a life preserver which lifts a man to the surface while he "breathes out."

The mutilated surplus lungs will be sold for material content only.

"Mr. Experience"

Will Lead Presidio Players

By Sp4 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

New Torero basketball captain, Pfc. John Vesevick of MRU, is "Mr. Experience" on coach Hal Fischer's 1958-59 quintet.

Only returning veteran from last year's championship squad, the 25-year-old Chicagoan is going to have to carry the load until mentor Fischer can blend sprinters, rebounders and defense artists from all over the country into a smooth-running five.

It will be John's main job to direct floor play in the 50-odd offensive and defensive combinations which have made possible Presidio's enviable reputation of the past.

"We should do pretty well," said John recently of the 10-man squad. "It's just a matter of time before we'll be working together like we had played on the same team a couple of years."

Standing 6'4½", John gained a lot of acclaim last year as a rebounder with a hard driving lay up shot. Though a forward on the 1957-58 quintet he is expected to move to center this season.

After high school ball in Chicago, John moved to North Idaho Junior College in 1951, where over the next two years he chalked up a 25 point average. Back in Chicago in 1954, he played on the CYO all-Stars there and the following year transferred to the University of Oregon on a basketball scholarship.

Ineligible to play his first year, John competed in AAU ball around Oregon and posted a respectable 18 points a game. Before he was able to work with the University varsity, however, he was drafted in December 1956. He is due for discharge next March.

John, who lives in the Richmond District with his wife, Jeraldine, and their 10-months-old daughter, Carri, plans to coach in San Francisco when he leaves the Army.

At present, he is working weekends as an athletic director for the San Rafael Department of Parks and Recreation.

Sixth Army Takes League Crown

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS of the winning teams in the Presidio and Engineer Leagues reach for that big Post Champions trophy being held by Maj. Ben Kvityk, Post Special Services Officer. Holding their trophies for the one and two spots in either League, and hoping for the best in the four-team Post playoff now underway, are (l. to r.): Sp4 Stanley March of runner-up 537th Engineers and Pfc. Larry Davenport of the first place 21st Engineers in the Engineer League; Maj. Kvityk; and Presidio League's Sp4 Eugene Sullivan of the Number One Sixth Army Headquarters team and Pfc. Don Williams of runner-up Letterman Army Hospital.

Key Area Sports Leaders To Meet Here This Month

The Sixth U.S. Army Sports Conference, slated for 19-21 November at Presidio Service Club No. 1, has taken on a tri-service flavor as invitations were extended recently to military and civilian sports leaders of Bay Area Navy and Air Force installations.

Featuring a six-point program, the Conference will bring together sports directors from throughout Sixth Army for briefings on latest Army and command athletic policies and programs.

Specifically, on the agenda are:

- Discussion and interpretation of 1959 Sixth Army policy and program.
- Discussion of DA program and local implementation in support of 1959 Pan-American Games and 1960 Olympics.
- Intramural program — guidance and maximum participation.
- Training in latest methods of conducting programs in selected sports subjects.
- Development of high professional standards.
- Stimulation of physical fitness in support of President's Youth Fitness Program.

SS Quint Favored In Monday Play

With play in the Letterman Army Hospital intramural basketball loop due to end after final games Monday night, the Special Services quint is heavy favorite to take top honors this year.

Boasting a 6-0 record, as opposed to the 4-2 of the runner-up Adjutants, Special Services earned a bye in last week's clashes.
